Caution: Poison Claims 4,000 A Year

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

More than 4,000 Americans will die from accidental poisoning this year and more than 200,000 will suffer a disabling illness. About half of all such accidents will involve children age 5 or less and 96 percent of these accidents are preventable.

Among the accidental poisoning cases brought to Seminole Memorial Hospital emergency room in the past year were children who had swallowed such things as roach tablets, furniture polish and bleach, according to hospital officials.

Dr. Vann Parker, Sanford pediatrician credits the "childproof" caps now used on medicine bottles with preventing many potential poisonings. Prior to their use, he said he saw an average of a case a week of aspirin poisoning, but now it is down to one every three to four months.

In observance of National Poison Prevention Week (March 18-24) the regional Poison Control Center at Orlando Regional Medical Center has launched a campaign to make parents and young children more aware of the potential hazards.

They are introducing a lifeline character by the name of "Officer Uggs" who will be appearing in schools and shopping centers throughout Central Florida to educate children on poison prevention.

Sheets of stickers with Officer Uggs' picture which parents may use to mark common poisonous substances found in every household and accompanying brochures are available free by calling 841-5283.

These stickers also contain the poison Control Center's emergency only phone number 841-5222 which may be called in the event a poisoning occurs.

The Poison Control Center received 915 calls in the last three months of 1978, an average of 10 calls a day. The most prevalent problem was that of poisonous chemicals and 40 percent of the accidents were related to the ingestion of chemical products, detergents, cleansers and insecticides.

The next most frequent was 35 percent were medications followed by plants, 10 percent; snake and insect bites, 10 percent; food poisoning, 3 percent and miscellaneous, 2 percent.

"Spring cleaning could save your child's life. In fact, it might have saved the lives of over 2,000 children last year alone," said Jerry B. Karlin, R.Ph., Director of Health Services.

"National Poison Prevention Week, exists to remind parents that potential poisons are everywhere," he continued. "It takes only a moment for a small child to satisfy his or her curiosity and the contents of a container . . . and a few minutes longer for some poisons to kill. So the time to clean out cabinets is before, not after, an accident occurs."

John Anderson, 3, of Sanford demonstrates how curiosity can be dangerous for children.

"It takes only a moment for a small child to satisfy his or her curiosity and the contents of a container . . . and a few minutes longer for some poisons to kill. Some common household products involved with poisoning include aspirin, detergents, cleansers, drugs, oil of wintergreen, and many others. See POISONINGS, Page 2A

Israel Reports Treaty Signing Monday In D.C.

JERUSALEM (UPI) — The cabinet today overwhelmingly accepted the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty, giving its approval to the first pact of its kind between Arab and Jew and clearing the way for its presentation to parliament where endorsement seemed certain.

The Israeli radio said the treaty will be signed in Washington next Monday. The cabinet vote accepting the nine-article treaty was 15-2.

The cabinet decided in addition to establish a committee to draw up proposals for Palestinian self-government in the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip prior to negotiations with Egypt on the plan, Naor said.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin will head the committee and it will start work following the treaty signing, Naor said. He said no concrete decisions were made at the session about the autonomy plan.

Deputy Prime Minister Yigael Yadin said several problems remained in bilateral relations, apparently between the United States and Israel, and that they will be solved.

"The road is clear provided the Knesset will approve the treaty, and I hope it will," he said.

The army will resume its withdrawal from Sinai Sunday, defense ministry sources said. The military began withdrawing non-combat equipment in the fall but halted the operation when the treaty negotiations ran into a deadlock.

With Knesset approval all but certain, the government already made final plans for the ceremony in Washington where President Carter, Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and King Hussein are to put their signatures to the treaty.

Begin and an Israeli delegation are to leave for Washington Friday.

The favorable cabinet decision did not come as a surprise and was made during a five-hour special session.

The treaty will go before the Knesset (parliament) Tuesday and its debate was scheduled to go through Wednesday following an overnight break. Nearly 90 of the 120 Knesset members were expected to vote for the document.

Seminole Firm Is Subject Of Consumer Fraud Probe

By MAX ERKLETTIAN
Herald Staff Writer

Officers of a Seminole County home repair firm will be ordered to show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court in Orange County one week from Tuesday in connection with charges stemming from a probe of the company's practices by the consumer fraud unit of the Orange County State Attorney's office.

The firm, Statewide Insulation and Solar Systems Inc., 711 Live Oak Blvd., Casselberry, is charged with having defrauded individuals in a scheme to perform unnecessary home repairs, according to Bill Lipham, of the consumer fraud unit.

Both John Franta, president of the firm, 51, of Oak Harbor Condominium, Altamonte Springs, and his brother Robert Franta of 1101 Australia Ave., Daytona Beach, have been charged with contempt and grand theft.

In connection with home repair fraud, each brother is free on $1,000 bond on the contempt charges and they are awaiting arraignment on the grand theft charges, according to Lipham.

Not only are both free, but they continue to operate their business, according to Lipham.

The grand theft charges stem from an incident last November when Robert Franta, allegedly representing himself as Robert Rich, offered to do minor touch up work on a concrete block house owned by Jack Gaipa, 1820 Pineview Circle, Winter Park, Lipham said.

Rich reportedly informed Gaipa the repairs needed were greater than originally estimated and represented the repair work, according to information in the case file against the firm.

Gaipa became suspicious when workers employed by the firm reportedly did not remove wood the brothers said was damaged. Gaipa then contacted the consumer fraud division of the Orange County State Attorney's office which began the investigation that resulted in the arrest of the two men.

The investigation of that incident led to a check on back cases which revealed the two brothers had been charged with grand theft in a similar set of circumstances. That charge issued in 1974 resulted in a court injunction prohibiting the two brothers from operating in Orange County for five years, Lipham said.

The contempt charges against the brothers allege they began working in Orange County in 1978 with the Gaipa case, one year before they were supposed to under provisions of the injunction. In Gaipa's case, he reportedly paid $2,000 on the $5,000 job, and the amount accepted led to the grand theft charges, Lipham said.

The victim in the 1974 case was Beulah Calhoun, a retired school teacher in her 70s. The firm allegedly misrepresented the condition of her home in the College Park section of Orlando by telling her she had a bad roof and termites, according to Lipham.

Mrs. Calhoun is still suing the firm in civil court. At that time the brothers operated a company under the name of Econ-Craft.

The Seminole County State Attorney's office is monitoring the progress of the case against the firm, according to Lipham. Several inquiries about the firm have come from individuals in Seminole County, noted Lipham.

"Now that we know we're onto him in Orange County, like Seminole," said Lipham.

"Anyone with information on the activities of the firm is being urged to contact the consumer fraud division of the Orange County State Attorney's office by calling 420-3880," Lipham added.

In Seminole County Funding Cut Threatens School For Handicapped Kids

By JOAN MADISON
Herald Correspondent

A bolt of lightning hitting her wouldn't have jolted Teena Willard, director and administrator of Threshhold School in Goldenrod, as much as learning that Mental Health funding for the day treatment center for multihandicapped children may be withdrawn.

"We'll have absolutely no dollars as of June 30. On July 1, our day program will be dead," she said.

Threshhold had been expecting $40,000 for the school, which serves the tri-county area of Seminole, Orange, and Osceola, from the Community Mental Health Board of Central Florida, Inc., District VII-A.

However, Wednesday the board members "ignoring a staff recommendation" voted to give $30,000 of the funds earmarked for Threshhold to We Care instead, and "not to do anything with the other $10,000," according to Mrs. Willard.

"Threshhold is in every single budget, with a $2,000 yearly increase," says Mrs. Willard. However, We Care, which was not included in the budget, "was well represented at the meeting. They were lobbying there; they were there putting on pressure. We were the ones easier to knock at that moment," says Mrs. Willard, adding, "I don't know if We Care go under either."

Threshhold relied heavily on the Community Mental Health funding which provided the majority of the $70,000 required to run the school, $25,000 yearly in matched-dollar funds came from the Edyth Bush Charitable Foundation and even that is no more. "Our Edyth Bush money is gone," she adds.

It's not that the school, which has an outstanding reputation throughout the state and is considered a model throughout the country, is considered underserving.

"No one is disputing that," says Mary Thomas, secretary to Executive Director of the Community Mental Health Board of Central Florida, located in Casselberry.

"But," she continued, "the board took a vote — that was not unanimous — and it passed. We do as the board tells us to do."

However, she adds, "It's not concrete." The budget has to be approved by the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services and by the county commissioners. The board — who just approved the mental health budget is appointed by the county commission and consists of 13 members from Orange, four from Seminole and one from Osceola, and one from determined by population of the county.

Mrs. Willard explained that the decision was made in part because "we only serve five children, but in the past three years we have served 18 children. Some don't take that long. They come in and we get them to follow simple directions, and get the behaviors under control and then they can go into the public school system."

"Ninety-eight percent of our dollars go for direct services. It sounds like a tremendous amount of money, but if you look at the cost of Sunland, it's $17,000 a year for custodial care," she says.

The administrator talked about the children who entered the school with self-destructive behavior, with few or no skills in the areas of self-care, self-feeding, and language, only to be able to leave custodial care and enter foster homes and the public school system within months. This is attributed to the intensive one-to-one behavior management program prescribed individually for

"We think there is a possibility of getting a CETA grant if we can get that through the county commissioners, it would furnish our house parent and two teachers. We could serve on foster care money. We'll know at the end of April," said the administrator.

McCumber Joins Golfdom's First-Timers

MIAMI (UPI) — Mark McCumber's "take on a time" approach to the PGA tour proved successful Sunday when the power-hitting Irishman celebrated St. Patrick's Day weekend with his first tour win, collecting $45,000 for the Doral Open golf tournament title.

McCumber's dedication to his plan underwent its most severe test on the 18th hole, when he nearly doubled bogeyed, which would have forced a playoff with Bill Rogers.

"What was I going to do if someone was in trouble, settle for a double bogey?" He didn't. He knocked his third shot six feet past the hole and accepted caddy Rich Volding's advice: "Just play it like any other put. Just hit it as good as you can. That's all you can do."

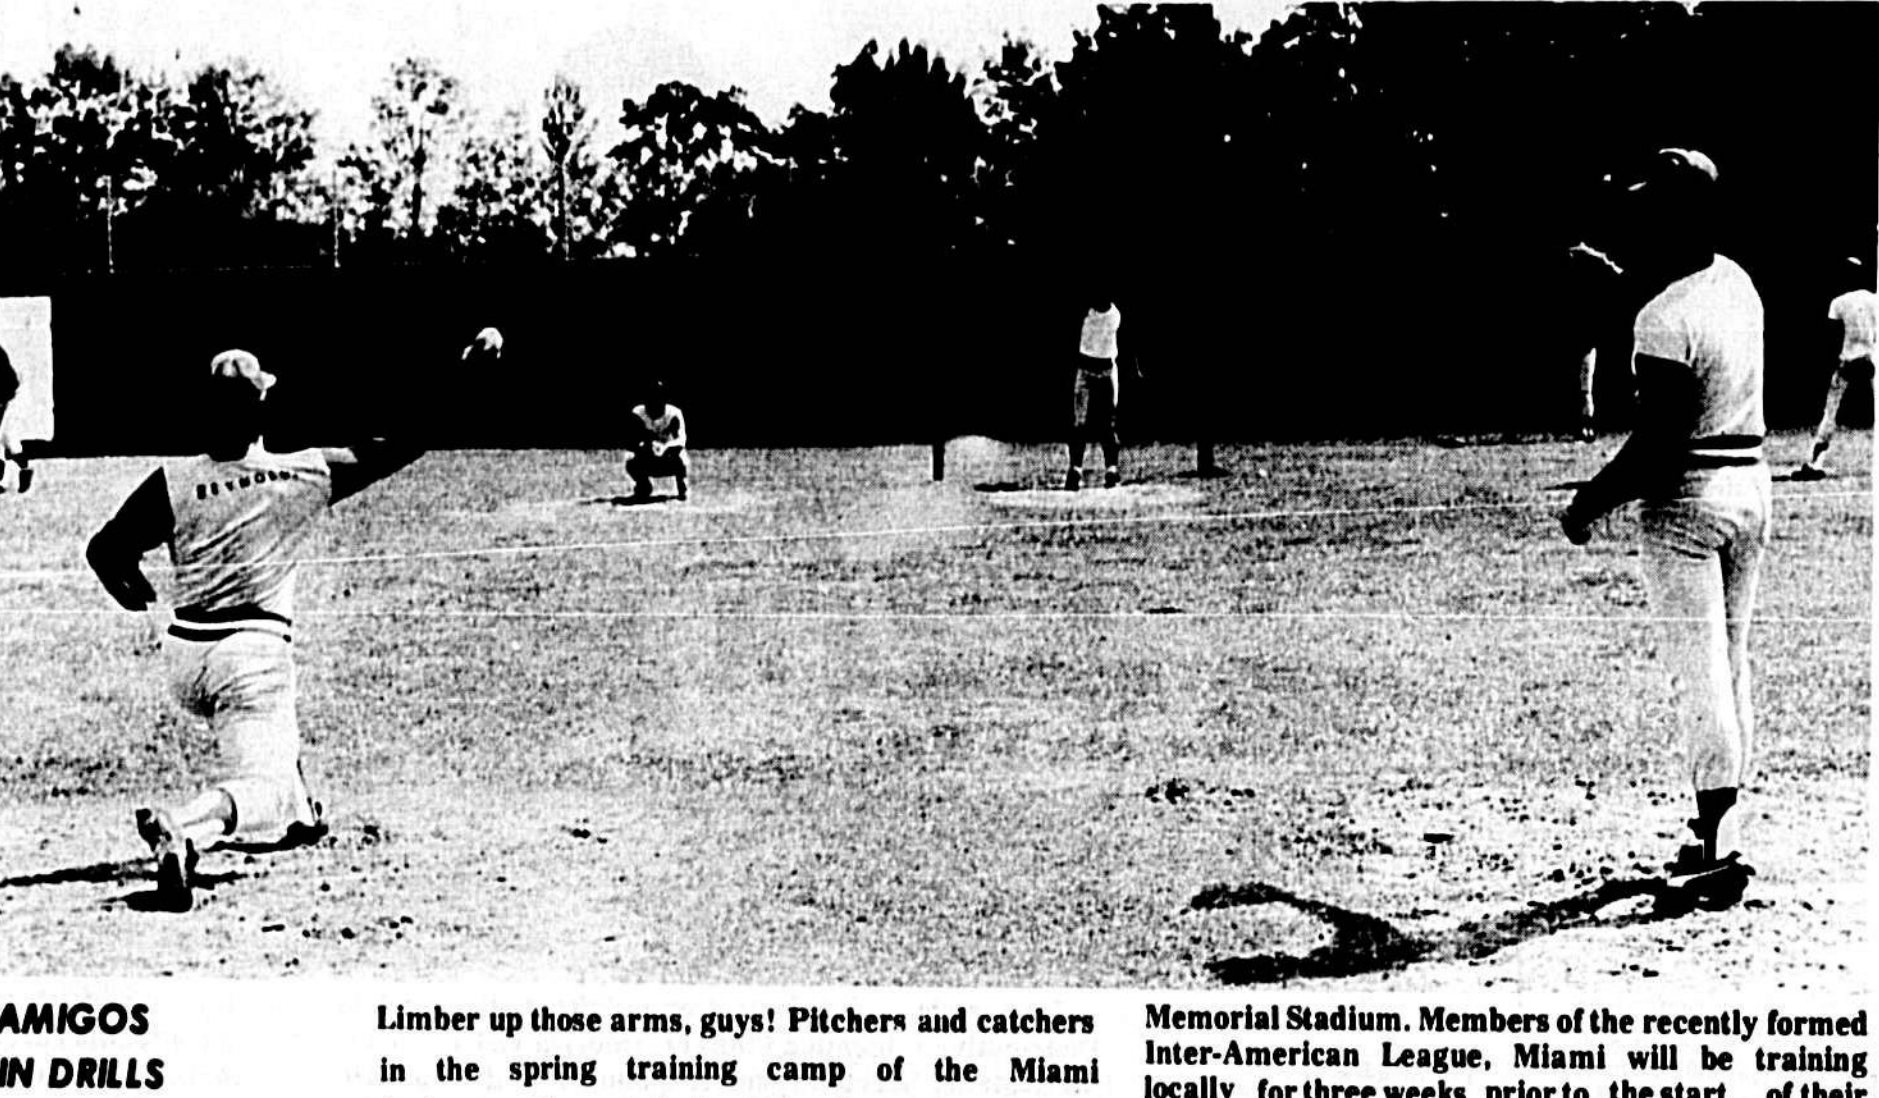

"I was very depressed by that shot. Then I had to regroup myself. I started to look back down the fairway (where the ball over a television camera in its path and land anywhere near the pin.

Rogers was waiting to hit his second shot) to see if anyone was in trouble. But then I said, 'Don't be stupid.'

McCumber jumped into the air and hugged his caddy. Then he had to wait for Rogers, but the slender Texan hit the grandstand and had to scramble for par, making McCumber the PGA's first first-time winner in a row.

Farr Continues To Lead Altamonte Major League

Farr Insurance continued its winning ways last weekend in the Altamonte Springs Little League.

The Bluejays won their fourth straight game without a setback in stopping pitcher Barbecue Fairville, 10-3, as Mark Whitington and Steve Hattell combined to pitch a five-hitter and Troy Conway slammed out a pair of doubles for the winners.

John Wagner and Teddy Pryor each added two hits for the winners. In other major league games, Green Bay won a four-hit effort from winning pitcher Keith Wallace in a 6-3 triumph over A.P.O. Jeff Palmer had three hits for the winners.

Milwaukee Kiddie Corps Shake Growing Pains, Win

United Press International. The Milwaukee Bucks' "Kiddie Corps" have finally shaken their growing pains and are starting to sprout quickly.

One of the youngest teams in the National Basketball Association, the Bucks started the season slowly but have been playing with great intensity lately and are giving every indication that they will be a team to be reckoned with next season.

Flyers Take On New Look

United Press International. The Philadelphia Flyers have a new look. And it's not bad at all.

The Flyers, who defeated the St. Louis Blues 5-3 Sunday night to post their fifth straight victory, did something they had never done before: They played an entire game without taking a penalty.

Sebring: No Surprises As Porsche Posts Win

SEBRING, Fla. (UPI) — The fact a Dick Barbur Racing Team car won the 12 Hours of Sebring endurance race Saturday didn't surprise many race experts. He had three of the fastest cars in the race.

Barbur's other cars came in third and fourth with a Porsche Carrera fifth. The number three car was driven by last year's winner Bob Garretson, Bob Bonard and Gary Becker, with the fourth car driven by Rolf Stommelen, Rick Meers and Barbur.

Rose Snaps Slump; Yankees Still In One

United Press International. Pete Rose finally made a hit, and that's a lot more than the world champion New York Yankees can say about their slugger.

Rose, the Philadelphia Phillies' millionaire first baseman, singled in the fifth inning for his first hit of the spring. Sunday, but it wasn't enough to prevent the Phillies from losing to the Toronto Blue Jays, 12-6. Rose had gone to the plate 18 times without a hit before connecting off reliever Jason Laffman.

Ford TD Club Man Of Year

WIN AT BRIDGE
By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sonsteg
Oswald: "Alvin Roth played this hand some years ago in an important match against a really great player in the East seat and a fine player with a somewhat devious mind in the West. He never got a complete count because East's one discard made on the fourth spade was a low club."
Alvin: "From what I know of Alvin he made the hand and West must have given something away to him."
Oswald: "That is just what West did. Alvin started out by running the four spades. West had to make two discards. The first one was very painful, but West finally parted with a low diamond. The second was a low club accompanied by even greater distress."
Alvin: "So Alvin decided that West just couldn't have that club queen."

TEENAGE DAUGHTER
FACES SKIN PROBLEM
DEAR DR. LAMB - As common as this problem may sound, I have yet to get any helpful advice for it, and I would appreciate any you may have.
My daughter is 12 now and is moving into teenage skin problems. I have tried several of the skin products on the market advertising for teenage problems but nothing seems to work. My daughter washes her hair every day since most of the problem is in her forehead-and-around her hairline. She also uses alcohol after washing her face. Is there anything she can do to help keep blemishes under control until she outgrows this problem?
DEAR READER - As you know, acne or pimples and such related conditions commonly occur at puberty in both boys and girls. It is severe more frequently in boys than in girls, but both sexes have their problems. It's directly related to the active sex glands and the hormonal changes that are beginning at that stage of life. The skin undergoes a lot of changes. Literally, parts of it get a lot greater because the oily skin glands start secreting a lot of oil. These oil glands are really sex glands. And you're right, the forehead area is a favorite location. It sounds to me like you're doing about as much as you can expect to accomplish on your own. For additional help, you will probably have to take your daughter to a doctor. There are basically three approaches to solving these problems, all of which may be necessary in difficult cases.
The first is to try to prevent the oily skin glands from secreting so much oil. I would, again, strongly advise that you take your daughter to the doctor so she can have medical supervision in controlling her skin problem. Adequate treatment at this age can prevent scarring and problems that could concern her for the rest of her life.

Egyptian Premier Blasts Begin's Speech
United Press International
Israel Prime Minister Menachem Begin called on his Parliament today to approve the peace treaty with Egypt and to expel Israel from the West Bank and Gaza Strip. Begin served notice that "Israel will never return to the borders of June 4, 1967," and said a Palestinian state "will never arise" in the West Bank and the Gaza Strip.
In Cairo, Khaili rebuffed Begin's declaration and immediately summoned U.S. Ambassador Hermann F. Eilat to a previously unannounced meeting for consultations on Begin's remarks.
Khaili insisted that Israel should evacuate all occupied Arab lands, including Old Jerusalem, and the Palestinians be allowed to determine their destiny.
In statement issued to reporters, Khaili said Begin's declarations were an "unambiguous opening for a new era in which we had hoped that all would work for laying down the sound foundations of a just and durable peace."
"What Mr. Begin said violates the peace framework reached at Camp David and corrupts the atmosphere we hoped would prevail at the time of treaty signing," Khaili said.
Khaili said Israel's withdrawal to the Egyptian border "is an honest application of the U.N. Security Council's resolution 242, in all its provisions and objectives."
"Foremost is the principle of the inadmissibility of territorial acquisition by war," Khaili said. "This principle applies to all occupied lands, particularly Arab (East) Jerusalem."
In another development Iraq called today for urgent meetings of Arab foreign and economic ministers to discuss action against Sadat.
The state-owned Iraqi news agency said the meetings will be held in Baghdad starting March 27, after Sadat signs the peace treaty with Israel in a Washington ceremony set for Monday.

To Protect Informants
Polk: 'I'd Go To Jail First'
By MAX ERKILETTIAN

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk has vowed to go to jail to protect confidential informants used in criminal investigations.
"I'd go to jail first," Polk said in a statement after a legislative appearance before a committee examining legislation on public records Monday in Tallahassee.
The sheriff's legislation was made in support of legislation that would clarify controversy over what records in a criminal investigation should be made public.
Opponents of the bill argue that a 1976 lower court ruling currently being brought before the Florida Supreme Court for re-hearing allows public access to all records of a criminal investigation.
Under the 1976 case, called the Waits decision, Polk said he could ask to see confidential law enforcement files containing information on any investigation.
"We're not just talking about the news media," claimed Polk. "Anyone could come in here if the Waits decision stands and say, 'are you working on a case on me?' and we'd have to show them what we have."
However, Polk said he would never open files on an investigation before that investigation is complete. Even if a matter came to a hearing in court, Polk maintained he would not obey the court order.

Decision Delayed On Seniors Site
By DONNA ESTES

Seminole County Commissioners delayed their decision today on whether they will cooperate with the city of Casselberry in building a senior citizens complex.
Purpose of the delay is to gain information on the owners of the proposed tract on Sunset Drive in Casselberry selected for purchase as the location of the facility and to determine whether more than one appraisal for the site should be made.
County Commissioner Bill Kirchoff suggested a work session and his colleagues agreed to a work session on the first Monday in April when additional information should be available from Casselberry.
Casselberry representatives said the city next Monday night will make its final decision on whether to approve purchase of the Sunset Drive property.
Kirchoff said his request for additional time to make sure reasonable and realistic and that the proposed complex is neither too large or too small.
Other county commissioners — Sandra Glenn, Dick Williams, Bob French and Bob Stumm — said they favor the purchase unless additional information proves something is wrong.
Casselberry planning technician Bruce Furno, in answer to a question from Kirchoff, said if the county decides not to participate, "The city will build anyway. We are committed to our senior citizens. Even if the city goes along because of the federal funding we will not limit its use to Casselberry senior citizens."
Carl A. Heintz, who said he has worked as a senior citizen toward acquiring property sufficient in size for the three facilities by authorizing an appraisal of a 16-acre tract, located both east and west of Sunset Drive.
Casselberry resident, James Lortman appraised the land and reported to the city today its value is $222,500. Asking price from Chicago landowners is $220,000.
Only 4.8 acres of the tract is needed for the senior citizen complex to be financed in large part by anticipated federal funding through Title V of the Older Americans Act.

Rotary Club Cancels Sanford Air Show
By JANE HARBERRY
Herald Staff Writer
The Rotary Club of Sanford has cancelled plans for its sixteenth annual Central Florida Air Show scheduled for the date on the Sanford-Central Florida Airport.
"Air Show Chairman Jim Gensell said the decision to cancel the annual charity event was made after the committee was unable to get a military jet precision team to take part."
The Air Force Thunderbirds demonstration team was scheduled to perform this year, but withdrew because of internal problems. "The new team leader scheduled to take over was transferred out of the unit and the old leader had a back problem," explained Gensell. "They will be unable to perform until May 15 and they are completely booked for the date on."
Efforts to replace the Thunderbirds with the Navy's Blue Angels, who were the major attraction at last year's Central Florida Air Show, also failed.
"The Blue Angels were already committed and although they had an April cancellation, they declined to come because they already have seven shows scheduled in Florida," said Gensell.
The Sanford Rotary Club raised $19,000 for Central Florida charity projects through last year's successful air show.
"We evaluated it carefully before making the decision to cancel and we are sorry," said Tom Hunt, "Comparing the year when the 'T-Birds' were only available for one day with other years (the club barely broke even that year). Even without the Thunderbirds we would have had a performance fee liability of $13,000 with total expenses between $21,000 and $23,000. If we bombed out we would have to pay it back somehow."
"Because of high liability and no certainty of success, we were forced to cancel," he said.

Firefighter Overcome
Seminole County Firefighter Mike James, 23, 1510 Pelican Street, Longwood, was overcome by heat and smoke while fighting this brush fire on State Road 434 near Sand Lake Road Monday afternoon. James collapsed and was administered oxygen at the scene by fellow firefighters before being transferred to Florida Hospital-Altamonte. There he was treated and sent home, according to fire unit commander Mike Millard. The fire was extinguished a short time after James collapsed.

It's The Season To Be Prepared - Tornado Season
By MAX ERKILETTIAN
Herald Staff Writer
It's a rainy day. The air turns thick and humid. High above masses of warm and cold air collide. Clouds billow, thunderstorms ignite and suddenly a spout of wind spirals to the ground raising havoc where it touches earth.
In an office building, noted Kaiser, people should assemble in an interior hallway.
In an automobile, one should drive at right angles to the tornado, said Kaiser, to avoid being struck by the twister.
April through early fall is the primary season for tornadoes, noted Kaiser. Several reports of tornado damage were in the news recently in Seminole County, according to Kaiser. However, no twisters were actually spotted, he said.
Florida has been hit with 919 tornadoes in the last 29 years, according to the Insurance Information Institute. Forty-seven people were killed in tornadoes in that same time period, according to information supplied by the Institute.
Tornadoes are not the only severe-storm prevalent in the summer months, according to Kaiser.
Hurricanes also threaten lives and property, he noted. The latest storm to strike Seminole County was "Dennis" in 1969. That storm originated in the Gulf of Mexico and moved inland dumping water on many of the low lying areas in the southern portion of the county and blowing 120-mile-an-hour winds.
"One of the things we worry about is that so many new people have moved into the area since Donna hit and they either don't know about hurricanes or think it will never happen to them," said Kaiser.
When a natural disaster strikes, Kaiser noted, the main problem is transportation.
"Unfortunately people still have heart attacks and all the other problems they normally have on top of the disaster," said Kaiser. "Our problem is getting in to help them."
To combat the problem, the county two years ago established tactical squads that swing into action at the first signs of severe weather.
Members of the squads wear pagers and are notified to report to designated fire stations when bad weather threatens, according to Kaiser. They are then sent out in units equipped with foul weather gear, chain saws and emergency life-saving articles. Those units were called out 29 times last year.
"The tactical units have really worked well so far, but you can't say we can do everything," said Kaiser. "The tactical units afford us the capability to provide the extra protection we need."
