FP&L 'Radio Watch' To Help Fight Crime

Sanford police welcome the crime-fighting help they'll be getting soon from workers at Florida Power and Light Co., Chief Steve Harriett says.

About 3,000 workers at the company, which serves Sanford and parts of Seminole County, will begin using radios in their service vehicles to report accidents, crimes and suspicious activity to the police, according to Bruce Berger, FP&L district general manager.

Called "FP&L Radio Watch," the program will cut down criminal activity, Harriett said in a press release.

"We're pleased that companies like FP&L are taking an active interest in preventing crime. Criminal acts are often acts of opportunity. Crime watch programs are designed to reduce that opportunity," Harriett said.

The program was started in July and is expected to get in full swing this month. FP&L workers will be trained by crime watch agencies and police on how to identify the telltale signs of criminal activity and how to report it as they perform their daily duties, Berger said.

Harriett said an FP&L worker fixing a power line 30 feet high is in a good position to see suspicious activity in a patrol car cannot.

FP&L's 3,100 radio-dispatched vehicles are also being marked with "Radio Watch" decals, Berger said.

"That way, these vehicles can be spotted easily by someone who may need help in reporting or relaying emergency messages," he said.

The program has been started in 11 counties in Florida, Berger said.

Pilot Crashes Plane In Longwood Yard

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A Casselberry pilot coaxing his sputtering one-engine plane towards Sanford Airport fell miles short of the strip and crashed the low-on-gas craft into the backyard of a Longwood home Monday night. The plane sliced two powerlines cutting off electricity to about 650 homes.

Randall Alan Reda, 23, of 1007 Gator Lane, walked away uninjured from his wrecked Cessna 210. The plane dropped down at about 9:30 p.m. in the backyard of the home of Dave and Maureen Williams, 439 Longwood Circle, according to Capt. Terry Baker of the Longwood police.

"I really couldn't believe it," Baker said. "I thought the dispatcher was fooling around. I was kind of surprised and shocked. It's the first (plane crash) we've had here," he said.

Electricity was cut to Florida Power customers when the plane clipped a transmission line and a distribution line. Power was off for about two hours, according to Tracy Smith, spokesman for the power company.

While the Federal Aviation Administration is still investigating the crash, a preliminary finding indicates the plane ran out of fuel, Baker said.

Reda, who recently moved to Casselberry from Pennsylvania, was southbound on a business trip from Jacksonville to Orlando Executive Airport when the plane's engine began to misfire, he told police. At the time, Reda's small plane was at 2,000 feet. He was six or seven miles south of Sanford Airport and about 12 miles from the Orlando airport, he said. Reda said he turned the craft northward and tried to fly his plane to Sanford but the engine steadily lost power. Sanford air controllers were not involved in the drama since the tower closes at 9 p.m., a spokesman said. Landing lights at the Sanford

Sanford Woman Run Over On Beach

Anna Shea, 45, wife of Sanford police Capt. Herb Shea, escaped with minor injuries Sunday after she was run over by a car in a hit-and-run incident on New Smyrna Beach.

Mrs. Shea, 107 Kingswood Court, was released Sunday from Fish Memorial Hospital in New Smyrna Beach.

Earlier that day she had been walking in the surf along the beach near the hotel where she and her husband are vacationing when she saw a car sliding towards her in about five inches of water. According to Lori Johns, of the New Smyrna Beach Police Department, Mrs. Shea scrambled to get out of the way, but fell and the car ran over her legs. The car sped away, leaving Mrs. Shea floundering in the surf.

A 22-year-old man also driving on the beach yelled at the driver to stop. William Brent Robitzsch, of New Smyrna Beach, got a description of the driver and vehicle and took it to a nearby police officer while his companion, Kimberly Anne Bonnell, Matland, stayed with Mrs. Shea, police said.

Bishop Tutu Defies Police

'Nothing Can Stop Our Freedom'

DAVEYTON, South Africa (UPI) — Bishop Desmond Tutu, standing defiantly before hundreds of armed security forces called out to block an illegal mass funeral, today proclaimed his willingness to go to jail to defend his beliefs.

"Nothing can stop our freedom," the Nobel Peace Prize laureate proclaimed as he stood in brilliant purple vestments amid dozens of dancing, chanting women who turned out for the planned funeral of four recent victims of police shootings.

"I do not want to go to jail," said Tutu, the bishop of Johannesburg. "but if I have to go to jail for preaching the gospel of Our Lord Jesus Christ, so be it."

"Our people do not want to fight," added the bishop. "Our people want a share of the land that God gave them."

Hundreds of heavily armed police and soldiers sealed off Daveyton township to prevent the mass funeral, parking armored personnel carriers at all entrances to the dusty settlement 30 miles east of Johannesburg and at every intersection along the dirt road that serves as its main street.

Scores of additional blue-fatigued security forces patrolled the township in anti-mine armored trucks known as Buffels and Casspirs, and mounted officers galloped past sending up clouds of red dust. Two army helicopters hovered overhead.

The officers were called out to enforce rules declared last week to prevent the mass funerals that have become an increasingly important forum for black opposition to the white minority

John Sauls ... 'We were amazed. We never heard of a bomb that could destroy an entire city.'

Sanford Veterans Recall Day Atomic Bombs Dropped

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

American troops stationed in the Pacific when atomic bombs were dropped on two Japanese cities 40 years ago today were surprised and overjoyed because it meant the war would end, two Sanford veterans said.

John Sauls, 64, of 824 Escambia Drive, and Ponce Elmore, 71, of 205 Vinewood Drive, were both stationed at Okinawa, 325 miles south of Japan, when they got word of the bombings.

Sauls said an aircraft maintenance man told his squadron U.S. planes "dropped something on Japan and the flames were shooting up 10,000 feet. We thought he'd gone Asiatic (an infectious cholera)."

"We were amazed. We never heard of a bomb that could destroy an entire city. That was just as foreign to us as flying to the moon backwards."

Elmore, a 31-year-old aircraft maintenance crew chief at the time, said he did not learn of the bombings until he read a story about it in the San Francisco Chronicle three or four days after they were dropped. He said a pilot would bring the latest editions of

Wind Shears May Have Struck Down Delta Jet

GRAPEVINE, Texas (UPI) — A storm-born downdraft too sudden and isolated to register on warning monitors may have awaited Delta Flight 191 to earth on its approach to Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport, federal investigators say.

Adm. Patrick Bursley, a National Transportation Safety Board member, said Monday night investigators were "not in any position yet to fix the cause of the crash" but the situation Friday was "very ripe" for the airliner to be downed by wind shears as it tried to set down in a thunderstorm.

Friday night's crash of Flight 191 from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., — the fifth-worst disaster in U.S. aviation history — killed 133 people, injured 31 others and littered a quarter-mile path with cargo and pieces of the Lockheed L-1011. The dead included a motorist decapitated by the jumbo jet.

Sixteen of the injured were still hospitalized early today, six in critical condition.

Bursley said air controllers had issued no storm advisories and no incoming pilot reported trouble to the tower. On the jet's cockpit voice recorder, "Conversation between the pilot and co-pilot did not indicate any

Newer Radar Might Have Prevented Crash

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Advanced radar that can quickly detect violent wind downdrafts — and which some experts say might have prevented last week's Delta Airlines crash — will not be installed at any airport for three more years.

The administration has opposed funding the installation of the Doppler radar system until at least 1987, and first installation is set for September 1988.

Industry and passenger safety groups such as the Air Line Pilots Association are lobbying Congress to free money to install the $4.5 million system sooner.

The Doppler system detects deadly wind downdrafts — known as wind shears or microbursts — farther away and over a larger area than existing radar by reflecting on a different frequency after hitting a moving object.

When it strikes violent, stormy air, it can detect whether that air is advancing or receding and at what rate, in much the same way as the sound of a locomotive changes as it approaches, passes and departs — a phenomenon known as the Doppler effect.

The existing low-level sensory radar system, now used at 70 airports and soon to be installed at 40 more, is less effective in spotting wind shears early. It also has gaps because it relies on wind sensors placed around the airport.

Wayne Williams, former Air

Force pilot and founder and president of the National Transportation Safety Association, said Monday he believes the use of a Doppler system might have prevented the crash of Delta Flight 191 Friday at the Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport, which killed 133 people.

"I think the pilot would have had a much better warning of wind shear conditions ... and that he might well have diverted" to another airport, he said.

Investigators have not yet determined whether wind shears were the cause of the Delta crash, but a National Transportation Safety Board spokesman said it is "a major significant alarm or concern, though they did talk about the rain," he said.

The isolated storm developed suddenly within four or five minutes with "no rain preceding it and no rain trailing it," Bursley said.

The spot wind shear warning monitors installed to alert pilots of turbulence at the ends of the runways activated 12-14 minutes after the plane had gone down but the wind shears may have been in the storm all along, Bursley said.

"I'm having few problems (with this probability) given the fact there was just one cell (in the area)," he said. He said the thunderstorm blew up east of Flight 191's assigned landing runway and drifted westward as a well-defined dark column packing thunder, lightning and torrential rains.

Whatever hit the plane apparently did so as it punched through the storm because engine tests showed the pilot opened up to almost full throttle to compensate, Bursley said.

The air traffic controller spotting the plane emerge from the wall of rain saw it was dangerously low, skimming only 50-100 feet above the ground, and instantly ordered, "Delta, go around!" — directing the pilot to abort his landing and gain altitude, but Bursley said the order came too late.

"The control of the airplane was pretty much something beyond recovery," he said.

He said investigators continued to analyze recorders recovered from the wreckage, including one giving the pilot a voice alert when a plane is too close to the ground or diving too fast.

Bursley said the automatic voice control warned, "Pull up, pull up, pull up" moments before the controller issued his order.

Who's Minding The Store?

Sanford Mayor Bettye Smith is attending a public speakers convention in Washington D.C. and will be back next week. In her absence, Commissioner David Farr is serving as acting mayor, but he's out of town, too, according to the city manager.

Farr is attending a church training seminar near Eustis. He is scheduled to return Friday, his secretary said.

As usual, City Manager Frank Faison is handling the day-to-day affairs of the city, said Farr's executive secretary Janet Stuart. Farr will probably be needed only on Friday to sign checks.

City Clerk Henry Tamm is also on vacation and will be back in a week.

Commissioners Robert Thomas, John Mercer and Milton Smith are all in town. The commission usually meets the second and fourth Monday each month. But since January it has also met in workshop sessions the first and third Mondays of the month, but since January has held work sessions every first and third Monday. The Sanford City Commission did not meet Monday because of Mayor Smith's absence and because it had no "pressing matters" to take up, said Commissioner Thomas.

The commission is scheduled to meet Monday at 7 p.m. in the commission chambers.

IN BRIEF

Reagan Says Nose Cancer Unrelated To Colon Tumor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan says a small blemish scraped off the right side of his nose last week was a common form of skin cancer and not related to the malignant tumor removed from his intestine nearly a month ago.

In a 25-minute, wide-ranging session in the Oval Office, Reagan said Monday the irritated patch of skin removed last week in a brief procedure as a "basal cell carcinoma... which is the most common and the least dangerous kind."

The president said the growth was caused by exposure to the sun and is similar to a skin cancer removed from Nancy Reagan's upper lip in December 1982, which required no further treatment.

"They're very commonplace," he said of such growths. "They do not betoken in any way that you are cancer-prone."

He said the skin cancer requires "no further examination, no further treatment of any kind," beyond vigilance against excessive exposure to the sun.

Challenger Homeward Bound

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) — Challenger's exuberant astronauts packed up for the long glide home today in the final chapter of a mission that began with a launch emergency and wound up on a "dazzling" note of triumph.

America's 50th manned space flight, the 19th in the shuttle program, was scheduled to end at 3:45 p.m. EDT with the spaceplane's touchdown on a runway in the Mojave Desert after a high-speed dash north across southern California.

Commander Gordon Fullerton, co-pilot Roy Bridges, flight engineer Story Musgrave and scientists Karl Henize, Anthony England, Loren Acton and John-David Bartoe spent a week in orbit collecting enough valuable data about the sun and cosmos to keep researchers busy for years.

At 4:21 a.m., a giant egg-shaped cosmic ray detector was turned off and Challenger's cargo of astronomy instruments was silent at last, earning the crew a "hearty thanks" for a job well done from ground controllers in Houston.

Mission scientist Eugene Urban said Challenger's 13 major experiments probably achieved between 80 percent and 85 percent of the science objectives.

'Use Your Own Ingenuity'

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — Arthur Walker told federal agents that his brother John Walker, a suspected master spy, advised him that the key to success in espionage is to "use your own ingenuity," a disputed confession says.

The government today enters the second day of trial in its case against Arthur Walker, contending he used his know-how to obtain military secrets for sale to the Soviets from his employer, a Chesapeake, Va., defense contractor.

Walker, 50, is the first of four current and former Navy men charged with conspiring to participate in what the government contends may have been one of the most damaging spy rings in the United States in 30 years.

Authorities believe John Walker, 48, a retired Navy warrant officer, may have been giving the Soviets secrets for up to 20 years.

They also suspect he may have recruited his brother Arthur, his son Michael, 22, a sailor last assigned to the aircraft carrier Nimitz, and a former Navy buddy, Jerry Whitworth, 45, into his shadowy world.

'No More Hiroshimas'

Thousands Mark Anniversary Of First Atomic Bombing

HIROSHIMA, Japan (UPI) — Temple bells tolled, doves filled the sky over Hiroshima and men wept today, remembering the world's first atomic bombing. Thousands prayed it would never happen again.

Mourners jammed the riverside Peace Memorial Park as Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone and Hiroshima Mayor Takeshi Araki, a survivor of the bombing, presided at an emotional ceremony marking the 40th anniversary of the city's destruction.

The theme was "No more Hiroshimas."

Police said 30,000 people jammed the park and 20,000 more thronged the surrounding streets. Among them were nearly 13,000 "hibakusha" — people who survived the bombing, many of them afflicted with radiation-induced ailments.

At 8:15 a.m., the minute the first nuclear device exploded on Aug. 6, 1945, thousands around the memorial pool and cenotaph joined in a minute of silent prayer.

Outside, several hundred pacifist protesters wearing white robes lay down in the streets in a mock "die-in."

Temple bells tolled through the now-rebuilt city's tree-lined streets. Air raid sirens trilled and ceremony organizers released 1,500 white doves, a symbol of peace.

Middle-aged men wept as hundreds joined spontaneously with a choir's rendition of a peace song composed for the occasion.

"I strongly desire, as prime minister of the world's only nation which suffered from the catastrophe of nuclear weapons, the ultimate destruction of nuclear weapons and for eternal peace for the world," Nakasone said.

At one end of the park — near the center of the blast zone — sat the skeletal "atom bomb dome," the city's former chamber of commerce and industry building, left un-repaired as a grim reminder of what happened to the city on that August morning four decades ago.

The first atomic bomb, dubbed "Little Boy," was dropped on Hiroshima from an American B-29 as the United States attempted to end the Pacific war. The bomb leveled 90 percent of the city. The first day casualties totaled 120,000.

Another bomb destroyed the port of Nagasaki three days later, killing 70,000, and Japan surrendered on Aug. 15, 1945.

More than 2,000 police, many in riot gear, stood watch during today's ceremony.

As a band played requiems, bomb survivors, mourners and foreign visitors placed yellow and white chrysanthemum wreaths at the foot of the saddle-shaped cenotaph, where bound volumes are kept with the names of bomb victims.

Araki added three volumes with lists of 25,410 bomb victims who died or were identified during the past year. The list of known dead now totals 138,690.

At a news conference, Nakasone said he supported a ban on nuclear testing but suggested a unilateral moratorium by the Soviets, which began Tuesday, fell short because it did not guarantee verification.

The United States said it would not accept a Soviet proposal for a bilateral test freeze for the same reason.

Nakasone said the government's first census of bomb victims in October is to determine "what needs to be done for them."

Officials estimate some 37,000 hibakusha are still alive across Japan. Many have demanded a special medical plan for bomb-related ailments.

McGruff Lights Up

McGruff, the crime fighting dog, gets an affectionate pat from Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett during a visit to Sanford to say "lights on" for an upcoming crime prevention program. Lt. Mike Rotundo was on hand to tell residents that McGruff will be on duty in Sanford Aug. 13, which has been designated as "Night Out," a national program calling for citizens to turn on outdoor lights and sit in their front yards to demonstrate support for neighborhood safety efforts. Block parties, costume contests and neighborhood decorating all fit into the plans for the safety night. To participate contact your Neighborhood Watch leader. If you don't belong to a Neighborhood Watch group, contact the police department at 323-3030 for information on getting one started.

'We're Really Hoping It's Regina'

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Riding on the fragile wings of hope, Bob and Donna Armstrong flew across the country to help find their 6-year-old daughter, who was abducted from Orlando nearly two months ago.

"We need something to grab onto," Bob Armstrong said Monday from the police station where the search is being coordinated. "We'll stay here as long as it takes."

What brought Armstrong and his wife to Los Angeles was eyewitness reports last week that a girl resembling their daughter, Regina, was seen in the San Pedro area with a suspicious-looking man.

Since then, police have conducted an extensive street-by-street search, circulating photos of the girl and composite drawings of the man.

Armstrong, a 30-year-old water softener installer, said he was optimistic about the reports, but "it won't be reality until she's standing here. We're really hoping it's Regina."

Regina was last seen June 18.

Disfigured Teen Tells Of Acid Attack

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (UPI) — A 16-year-old girl, her disfigured face hidden by bandages, sometimes gasped for breath but spoke in a calm, clear voice as she told jurors how a man who offered her a ride to school tried to rape her, then poured sulfuric acid on her face.

Cheryl Bess, 16, in her first court appearance since the Oct. 24 attack, had difficulty hearing questions Monday through her damaged ears.

A stocking-like bandage covered her head and neck. A white cap covered her scarred scalp and sunglasses masked her blinded eyes. A large picture stood a few feet away, showing her as she looked before the attack. The empty acid jug sat on a table.

The former San Bernardino High School student frequently dabbed at her face with a handkerchief and pressed her fingers to a tube in her throat that helps her breathe.

Bess and her mother, Norma, testified in the third day of the trial of the girl's accused attacker, Jack O. King, 65, a convicted rapist and maintenance worker at their apartment building.

King, who sat motionless through the testimony, is accused of kidnapping, assault with attempt to commit murder, attempted rape, forcible oral copulation, assault with a corrosive liquid, assault with a deadly weapon and mayhem.

Bomb Threat Forces Evacuation Of Eastern Jet

MIAMI (UPI) — An Eastern Airlines jet carrying 316 people was forced to land in the Turks and Caicos Islands while flying from Miami to Puerto Rico because of a bomb threat, leading to an evacuation and search.

No bomb was found aboard the L-1011, an Eastern spokesman said.

Flight 504 was en route to San Juan when a man with a Spanish accent phoned in the threat to one of Eastern's offices in Miami at 11:15 a.m. Monday, said spokesman Dick McGraw.

The plane landed 15 minutes later at the closest airport, on the tiny island of Providenciales in the Turks and Caicos chain, about 600 miles southeast of Miami.

Passengers slid down inflatable chutes from the plane because the airport had no facilities to handle unloading, McGraw said.

High Rate Of MS To Be Probed

KEY WEST (UPI) — Crippling multiple sclerosis strikes more people per capita in Key West than any other place in the country, and scientists want to know whether "Mount Trashmore," the city dump, is responsible.

Dr. Matthew Zack, medical epidemiologist with the federal Centers for Disease Control, said Monday his agency and the Florida Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services would begin studying Key West MS victims in-depth in a few weeks.

Zack said investigators will study whether mercury levels at the dump are linked to a multiple sclerosis rate he labels "twice what we would expect in the United States and three times that for this latitude."

Multiple sclerosis, a central nervous system disease that causes muscle deterioration, primarily afflicts people in northern climates, Zack said. It is virtually unknown in the South except among people who migrated south after age 15, he said.

Zack said investigators will examine migration patterns among Key West MS victims, and study the dump to determine whether there has been an "excess of exposure" to mercury vapor.

Americans Say Threats Won't Halt 'Boat Ride For Peace'

United Press International
Thirty-one Americans vowed to go ahead with plans to launch their "boat ride for peace" today along a southern Nicaraguan river, despite warnings they would be met by gunfire from U.S.-supported rebels.

Members of the Witness for Peace group, an American ecumenical Christian organization, left Managua Monday for San Carlos, where they plan to begin a 60-mile journey down the San Juan River to protest U.S. policy in Nicaragua.

Witness for Peace is dedicated to ending Reagan administration support for Contra rebels trying to overthrow the Sandinista government.

Rebel leader Eden Pastora, whose Democratic Revolutionary Alliance guerrillas are active along the river, said he has given his fighters "the order to shoot at the wolves disguised in sheep's clothing."

The San Juan River serves as part of the border between Nicaragua and Costa Rica, where Pastora is reportedly based.

3 Arab Students Arrested

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israel arrested three Arab students it said were major "terror activists" in the occupied West Bank and ordered the deportation of nine of 1,150 released Arab prisoners, the army said today.

It was the second arrest of suspected Arab terrorists in a week and came two days after the cabinet decided on a crackdown on anti-Jewish terror.

The military said the three Arabs, who are students at the An-Najah University in Nablus, represented Palestinian guerrilla groups, incited terror and organized civil disturbances.

The three students were placed under administrative detention, a six-month arrest by military order which can be extended indefinitely without court order.

The military said the three led factions of Fatah, the Popular Front and the Democratic Front for Liberation of Palestine at the university. It said the university had become "a front for terrorist organizations."

Two Israeli soldiers were killed and two were wounded in a firefight with guerrillas in southern Lebanon Monday — the first Israeli combat deaths since Israel announced completion of its withdrawal from Lebanon in June.

Defectors 'Endured For Freedom'

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — Two Soviet defectors said they trudged for 17 nights through the Kola peninsula — a Soviet military fortress — in a daring escape to the West.

The two men — ages 25 and 28 — said they made their way across the sparsely populated Soviet peninsula to Finland, where they hitched a ride to Sweden.

The men, who asked that their names not be used, said they were from the Soviet republic of Estonia on the Baltic coast. They said they planned their escape for years.

The men said they took a train a month ago to Murmansk on the Kola peninsula, the Soviet nuclear fortress that harbors the world's largest naval base.

Equipped with a compass, a pair of binoculars and food for 12 days, they said they headed west in a restricted zone, walking at night and sleeping under bushes during daytime. For the last five days of their grueling trek, they ate only leaf buds from birch trees.

"We endured it all for freedom," said one. Finland has a bilateral agreement with the Soviet Union under which defectors are returned. But Sweden routinely grants asylum to defectors from the Soviet bloc.

Correction

Because of a reporting error in Monday's Evening Herald, the date of the first confrontation between groups of kids that led to the shooting of a Sanford youth early Saturday was incorrect. The first confrontation between the kids occurred July 26, not June 26 as reported.

AREA FORECAST: Today partly cloudy with scattered afternoon and evening thunderstorms. High lower 90s. East wind 5 to 10 mph. Rain chance 50 percent. Tonight and Wednesday partly cloudy with scattered afternoon and evening thunderstorms. Low mid 70s. High lower 90s. Wind east 5 to 10 mph. Rain chance 20 percent tonight and 50 percent Wednesday.

NATIONAL REPORT: Floods up to 3 feet deep shut down several roads and soaked hundreds of suburban basements in the Chicago area early today as storms hurled heavy rain and strong winds at the nation's midsection. Thunderstorms today reached from Michigan to the Dakotas and south to Kansas. Other storms were reported in Oklahoma and Arkansas, while rain doused the Rockies, the Mississippi and Tennessee valleys and the Southeast. More than 2 1/2 inches of rain pelted Chicago and its northern suburbs early today, prompting the National Weather Service to issue a flash flood warning. Up to 3 feet of standing water forced police to divert traffic from a section of the Edens Expressway in Chicago. Several suburban streets were blocked off, and Skokie police reported at least 200 homes with flooded basements. A tornado touched down Monday night in Hastings, Neb., and a wind gust of 104 mph was clocked on Lake Michigan by a ship, southeast of Kewaunee, Wis. On land, winds of up to 70 mph raked Fairfield, Neb., and Rapid City, S.D. Trees were blown over at Kearney, Neb., and homes and power lines were damaged by winds in the Oklahoma towns of Holdenville, Ada, Wewoka and Sasakwa.

82-Year-Old Woman Raped

An 82-year-old Altamonte Springs woman raped in her bed by an intruder early Monday was not injured. Seminole County sheriff's deputies have a suspect in the case, but the investigation continued early today and no arrest has been made.

The woman was asleep at about 4 a.m. when the man used a brick to force the handle out of a window to reach inside and open the front door of the North Street home, a sheriff's report said.

He entered the home, woke the woman and raped her. The woman was restrained by a pillow and she didn't attempt to resist, sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said.

After the attack the suspect fled. He left the brick at the scene, the report said.

The woman was examined at a hospital and the assault was confirmed, Spolski said.

UNEASY RIDER

A Sanford man was arrested and charged with disorderly intoxication early Friday after causing several cars to swerve on U.S. Highway 17-92 in Sanford.

A Sanford police report said the man, riding a bicycle on the highway at 11:51 p.m., caused several cars to swerve in order to avoid hitting him.

An officer told the man to get out of the highway, but the man refused, saying his bicycle was a vehicle and he had the right to ride it on the highway.

The officer smelled alcohol on the man's breath and when the man started cursing at the officer he was arrested.

Charged was John Gregory Buzenke, 30, of 2810 S. Park Ave., Sanford. He was released from the Seminole County jail early Saturday on $100 bond.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

A 1981 Honda motorcycle worth $1,500 was stolen from Lil Champ on Bear Lake Road in Forest City. The cycle belongs to George C. Atchison, 20, of 1091 Darvarian Way, Apopka. It was stolen Sunday, sheriff's deputies reported.

Robert Lee Bushong, 30, of 767 Balsa Drive, Altamonte Springs, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $200 revolver, handcuffs, $20 cash and other items were stolen from his car while parked at his home around 3 a.m. Sunday. A suspect was chased from the scene. A police tracking dog was called in, but the suspect wasn't found, a sheriff's report said.

Dennis Dean Malloy, 38, of 610 Long Meadow Circle, Longwood, reported his boat, which was parked at the Sabal Point boat parking lot, Longwood, was stolen between July 28 and Friday. Ski gear worth about $500 was stolen, a sheriff's report said.

A $500 stereo and a $200 shotgun were stolen from the home of Bill Clifton Crosby, 36, of Route 2, Box 21, Sanford, between July 15 and Saturday, deputies reported.

Two ficus plants with a combined value of $250 were stolen from the front of the Church of the Nativity on County Road 427 at County Road 15, Lake Mary. Church housekeeper Dorothy Palmer reported the theft to sheriff's deputies. A window of the social hall of the church had been broken. The theft was reported to deputies Sunday.

Humphrey E. Horn, 21, of 47 Castle Brewer Court, Sanford, told deputies someone who may have taken his car keys during a disturbance at the Delux Bar, Southwest Road, Sanford, may have stolen the car from the bar's lot between Friday and Sunday. The car is a 1977 Monte Carlo valued at $3,340.

A 1985 Yamaha motorcycle worth $2,118, was stolen from the screened rear porch of Charles Perry, 23, of 18 Bayridge Drive, Apopka, on Friday or Saturday, deputies reported.

Robert Zorelle Jr., of 710 Fiesta Lane, Altamonte Springs, said a radar detector and an equalizer with a combined value of $228 stolen from his car on Friday or Saturday, a sheriff's report said.

sheriff's report said. The man was arrested at 1:10 a.m. Sunday at his home. Stephen Eugene Cartier, of 240 Oxford Road #11, has been charged and was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

ROBBED AT MOM'S

An 18-year-old Winter Springs man told Seminole County sheriff's deputies he was threatened with a hammer and robbed by a former Orlando co-worker as he left his mother's Fern Park home at about 10 p.m. Sunday.

William Stelling, of 26 Summerwood Trail, was leaving his mother's apartment at 525 E. Semoran Blvd., #504, when the robber jumped from some bushes and brandished a hammer, a sheriff's report said.

The man allegedly threatened Stelling with the hammer, and took $7 cash from his wallet. He also took a $15 digital clock from Stelling's car, the report said.

Stelling pursued the man on foot, but could not catch him. Deputies arrived and found the clock broken in the driveway of the apartment complex. A tracking dog was used in the search, but the suspect wasn't found, the report said.

No arrest has been made in the case, but both Stelling and his mother say they can identify a suspect, the report said.

LEG TWISTER

An Oviedo man accused of twisting his wife's legs and threatening her with a knife has been charged with battery spouse abuse and has been released on $500 bond.

The man allegedly assaulted Albertina Bass by twisting her legs, causing her knees to swell, during an argument at their home at 410 Reed Ave. around midnight Saturday. They left their home and continued arguing at the home of Andrew McIneal on Harrison Street, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

At that home the suspect allegedly threatened Mrs. Bass with a knife and McIneal disarmed him, the report said. Mrs. Bass reported the attack to Oviedo police and deputies made the arrest at 12:39 a.m. Sunday, the report said.

William Howard Bass, 34, was arrested at his home and is scheduled to appear in court Aug. 14.

CARDBOARD BURN

Seminole County Chief Fire Inspector Ray Pippin is investigating two Longwood shopping center fires, which occurred at about 7 p.m. Sunday.

A bundle of cardboard was set afire behind Publix at Hunt Club Corners, and trash in a dumpster behind Ross' at Shoppes of Wekiva was also set afire at about the same time, a Seminole County sheriff's report said.

The Publix fire did about $1,000 damage to the rear of the building, the report said.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Henry Lee Collee, 25, of Bldg. 630, Noble Hill Apartments, Winter Park, was arrested at 4:07 a.m. Sunday after his car was clocked speeding on State Road 426, Oviedo. He was also charged with speeding and having an improper driver's license.

—Herman Jeter Jr., 42, of Os-teen, at 11:30 p.m. Saturday after his car was involved in an accident on Celery Avenue, Sanford.

—Terrance S. Cawley, 31, of 5819 Bear Lake Drive, Apopka, at 1:10 a.m. Sunday after his vehicle ran off Magnolia Avenue in Altamonte Springs.

—Annette Weber Jacobus, 42, of 203 Hidden Lake Drive, Sanford, at 1:39 a.m. Sunday after her car failed to maintain a single lane on Winter Park Drive, Casselberry.

—Theodore Roberts, 47, of Box 254, Dodd Road, Goldenrod, at 4:15 a.m. Saturday on Howell Branch Road, Goldenrod, after his car was seen weaving.

—Jonathan Ray Kuntson, 19, of 181 Magnolia Ave., Altamonte Springs, at 10:59 p.m. Friday after his car was seen weaving on State Road 434, Longwood. He was also charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and drug paraphernalia, a sheriff's report said.

—Joe Russell Mangham, 22, of 184 Floyd Ave., Lake Mary, at 12:15 a.m. Saturday after his car was clocked traveling 68 mph in a 45 mph zone on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford. His vehicle also hit the curb several times.

—Steven Ray Dellinger, 19, of Orlando, at 1:45 a.m. Saturday after his car was involved in an accident on Celery Avenue, Sanford. He was also charged with careless driving.

Ideological Circus Show

What was billed as an international women's conference turned into a tiresome, anti-West propaganda jamboree reminiscent of an average day at the U.N. General Assembly.

The conference held in Nairobi marked the close of the U.N.'s Decade of Women. Opening the Decade conference in Mexico City in 1975 was as futile as the ending in Nairobi. Delegates from 89 nations supported a declaration calling for the establishment of a new world economic order and denounced Zionism as a barrier to women's progress.

Delegates concluded a midpoint conference in Copenhagen by equating Zionism with racism and urging that U.N. aid be funneled to Palestinian women through the PLO.

The Nairobi confab was disoriented from reality. The Vietnamese delegate criticized "American Imperialism" and South Africa's Congress outlined U.S. support of apartheid. Syria alluded to U.S. terrorism in the Middle East and the Soviet delegate slammed President Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative. Then, Arab, African, and East-bloc countries disrupted a speech by the Israeli delegate.

The conference was an ideological circus, politicized by the same nations that routinely mock the spirit and principles of the United Nations.

Although women worldwide have legitimate concerns and interests, the Nairobi fiasco demonstrates again the apparent impossibility of addressing women's problems on a worldwide scale. The problems of women, for example, in Ethiopia are vastly different from those almost anywhere else. One wonders if the disparities of interest and politics can be bridged among the women of Asia, Europe, and North America.

It's ironic, for example, that much of the conference's anti-Zionist noise came from nations in which women don't have the right to marry freely, divorce, vote, own property, or inherit wealth.

It would be a good thing, of course, if the conference could reconcile worldwide womanhood instead of magnifying differences. But that original intent, like so many other noble U.N. goals, seems further from realization than ever.

Carryon Baggage

Proposed limits on carryon luggage in airliners could help make the passenger areas of airplanes safer and less congested.

The rules, which are being considered by Federal Aviation Administration officials, also could require changes in the travel habits of people who avoid the time-consuming and sometimes undependable practice of checking their bags and, instead, pack light and use soft luggage that can be carried aboard the plane.

Under the proposed rules, a passenger could carry no more baggage than he could store in the 9-by-6-by-20-inch space under the seat. One possible exception would be a hanging garment bag, but only if space is available.

"We've seen people bringing on computer terminals, truck tires, stained glass windows and Christmas trees," said a spokesman for the Association of Flight Attendants.

Better security is one argument used in favor of the changes. Fewer carryon bags would mean fewer items to be screened or searched at airport gates.

A spokesman for the Air Transport Association, which represents major airlines, said the new restrictions are not needed. The association said the restrictions would cause problems for passengers and add to the cost of air travel.

But if the restrictions do go into effect some airlines have only themselves to blame. The long delays at the baggage pickup counters have encouraged passengers to take as much luggage on board as possible.

Reagan's Terrorist Hit List Mystifying

The more I have pondered President Reagan's recent listing of what he says are the world's five terrorist nations, the more it has seemed to me that he is playing politics with the issue of terrorism. His choices are suspiciously and superficially selective.

In his speech to the American Bar Association, Mr. Reagan identified five nations as perpetrating international terrorism as "acts of war against the government and people of the United States." Included on that list were Cuba, North Korea and Nicaragua, along with Iran and Libya. One can only wonder why these nations were selected and others excluded.

In the last decade, the major terrorist acts that have cost American lives have all taken place during the Reagan administration and have all occurred in Lebanon or El Salvador, two major bombings of our Beirut Embassy and the killing of 241 marines at the Beirut airport, plus the more recent killing of seven Americans on the street in El Salvador's capital. At the time of the Lebanese bombings, administration officials pointed a finger of suspicion at the Syrians as being implicated in those bloody bombings. Were they involved? If so, why are they not at the top of the terrorist list?

And if our policy makers found Vietnam to be an aggressor nation of such danger as to justify the sacrifice of 58,000 young Americans in a failing effort to stop the Vietnamese revolution, why is Vietnam not on the list? And even more to the point, after Pol Pot killed an estimated 2 million of his fellow Cambodians, why do we continue to recognize his faction at the United Nations as the legitimate government of Cambodia?

Questions also need to be raised about some of the nations on Mr. Reagan's list. It is said that Syria was omitted from the list because Syrian President Assad helped to arrange for the release of passengers on the TWA hijacked plane in June. If that is true, why was Cuba not also omitted? In recent years, Cuba's Fidel Castro has cooperated with the United States on hijackings. Each time a plane and its passengers have been seized and taken to Cuba, Castro has arrested and jailed the hijackers and promptly sent the plane, its crew and its passengers back to the United States.

In view of U.S. policy toward Cuba in the last two or more decades, isn't it a little hypocritical to point the finger at Havana for "acts of war" against the United States? In 1961, the CIA orchestrated the Bay of Pigs Invasion of Cuba and followed it up with a series of assassination attempts against Castro, as well as hit-and-run terrorist attacks on facilities along the Cuban coast. U.S. spy planes have regularly flown in Cuban airspace. Where is the evidence of comparable Cuban terrorism directed at the United States?

All Americans share the president's expressed concern over the increase of terrorism during his administration. But a poorly conceived, politically inspired anti-terrorist hit list is an substitute for a careful analysis of the causes of terrorism against the United States and possible corrective steps that go beyond political oratory.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Worthy Start For Meese

Attorney General Edwin Meese has begun his administration of the U.S. Justice Department with a praiseworthy attack on what has come to be known as money laundering. He has persuaded Sen. Strom Thurmond (R-SC) and Rep. Bill McCollum (R-FL) to introduce legislation to make money laundering a crime.

The word means the transfer and exchange of funds so that illegal funds can't be traced and "clean" money is made available to the criminals who initiate the process. It is a process relied upon by the drug dealers, income tax evaders, vice lords, and other criminal types.

That it isn't a crime will surprise many Americans, who properly regard it as an activity associated with clever and often well-educated criminals. However, existing law is inadequate. It only covers the reporting of large cash transactions. Even these transactions are inadequately scrutinized.

The legislation recommended by Attorney General Meese would cover anyone who launders money and has reason to know that the funds came from illegal activity.

This legislation is overdue. The spread of the drug and pornography culture has generated vast sums in dirty money. The law-abiding American is doubly a victim of these criminal and corrupt activities. Society is poisoned by the traffic in degraded material. Then, the funds generated escape taxation as they disappear as the result of intricate financial transactions. If the Thurmond-McCollum legislation is enacted into law, the criminal types will find it very hard or impossible to hide their ill-gotten money. Supposedly respectable financial institutions will understand the peril in treating shady types as respectable customers.

Before he was sworn in as attorney general, Mr. Meese promised to take strong action against organized crime. The anti-laundering legislation he has launched is an important and valuable first step. Additional measures are needed inasmuch as organized crime is deeply entrenched in American society. It's been about a quarter of a century since Congress conducted in-depth hearings into the activities of crime syndicates. It is to be hoped that Attorney General Meese will continue to press for tough new action against sophisticated criminals.

Action against the Teamsters and other unions with organized crime links has to come from the highest echelons of the federal government. Mr. Meese's commendable action against the money launderers gives the U.S. public reason to hope that hoodlum-dominated unions soon will be on the Justice Department agenda for action.

Bad Irrigation Project Won't Go Away

By Jack Anderson and Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — A problem with federal budgets is that they often include modest items for preliminary research or "feasibility studies" that are destined to grow into billion-dollar boondoggles in succeeding budgets.

Even this year, when Congress and the White House are desperately looking for ways to trim unnecessary items from the budget, one unprioritized but egregiously unworthy project appears likely to make it into the final list of necessities. That's because its initial demands are so piddling — a mere $8 million for a feasibility study.

The Cendak Irrigation project would crisscross six counties in South Dakota with canals, bringing Missouri River water to 474,000 acres of farmland and nearby towns. The ultimate cost is estimated at $1.3 billion.

Even Cendak's backers concede that it is a reincarnation of the earlier Oahe water project, which was killed by the united opposition of South Dakota farmers — whom the project was supposed to help. They realized it would cost them both money and land.

Now a coalition of 2,000 farmers is battling Cendak for the same reason — and pointing out that for the cost of this dubious irrigation project, the debts of all the state's farmers could be wiped out.

The project has even aroused the derision of federal engineers from the Bureau of Reclamation, assigned to make it look good. After contemplating the staggering drainage problems that Cendak would entail, the engineers began circulating humorous memos when their objections were ignored.

Here are some of the serious problems raised by Cendak critics: — A Reclamation Bureau draft report estimates benefits of $1.02 to $1.29 for every dollar spent. "The creative genius necessary to come up with that benefit-cost ratio will boggle your mind," states the Drain Wars memo. In fact, the official draft acknowledges that it used unapproved methods to arrive at the figures.

— The supposed benefits include $9.5 million for South Dakota's ailing railroads for hauling the extra crops farmers will grow. Opponents criticize this back-door method of subsidizing railroads.

— In a preliminary study, the Army Corps of Engineers estimates

WASHINGTON WORLD

Votes Hint At Plans

By Steve Gerstel

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two totally unrelated votes, one by Sen. Edward Kennedy and one by Sen. Gary Hart, are under the closest scrutiny by politicians and others already eager for some clues to the 1988 presidential campaign.

With about three years left before the Democrats assemble for the party's convention, nothing concrete in the way of presidential politics is publicly available.

Such an oasis of solid information inevitably leads to speculation, fed, in this case, by the Kennedy and Hart votes.

Ever since Hart, the Colorado Democrat, finally accepted the inevitable and bowed out of the 1984 race during the San Francisco convention, there has been endless speculation about his political future.

There have been only two scenarios, neither of which include the possibility that Hart might not go after the 1988 nomination.

One scenario has Hart seeking and winning re-election to the Senate in 1986 and then, almost immediately, beginning his run for the nomination.

The other scenario has Hart bypassing the Senate election next year, leaving him free to pursue the presidency on a fulltime basis.

A Hart vote on gun control legislation, cast some weeks ago, was interpreted widely as a signal that the Colorado senator would not seek another term in the Senate.

Hart voted, along with a small minority of his colleagues, against a bill that would weaken gun control legislation. A vote by a Western state senator for — in effect — strong federal controls on firearms is considered out of character.

It is agreed, generally, that the vote is not one that would help Hart in a Colorado campaign — it might in a bid for national office.

Kennedy stirred even more intense speculation recently when he came out, voice and vote, for the line item veto. He was not merely content with a vote against the filibuster, which blocked action but spoke out very strongly for the legislation that would allow President Reagan to veto specific items in all appropriations bills.

The Massachusetts Democrat went even farther, suggesting that if the line item veto worked on the money bills, it could be extended to tax legislation and perhaps other areas.

As in the case of Hart, the Kennedy vote was considered a political indicator — a signal that he was moving away from the liberal wing of his party and to the center in anticipation of a presidential campaign in 1988.

Legal System A Fraud

Everyone knows that the American legal system has become a joke, utterly unable to protect the law-abiding citizen against casual violence, but the size of the joke sometimes becomes especially clear. Three recent cases prove it all once again.

Case Number One, a Brooklyn man named Christopher Thomas on Palm Sunday a year ago killed the following people by shooting them in the back of the head: Eddie Lopez, 7; Carmen Perez, 20; Noel Perez, 3; Maria Perez, 10; Migdalia Perez, 34; Alberto Perez, 5; Virginia Lopez, 24; Betsy Bermudez, 14; and Juan Lopez, 4. For some reason in this shooting orgy, Christopher Thomas neglected to kill an infant who was also in the apartment.

Thomas thought his wife was having an affair with Mr. Bermudez, who was not in the apartment. All the other people, unfortunately for them, were.

In a civilized society, Christopher Thomas would have been convicted of murder on the uncontested facts of what he had done and promptly dispatched to the electric chair.

This is not happening. Why? Because New York State has no capital punishment. Governor Cuomo promising to veto any move in that direction. And Mr. Thomas was convicted of manslaughter, not murder.

Amazing. The reason is a catch-22 provision of the law. Thomas is a cocaine addict and the jury considered him to have been crazed by frequent use of the drug. For a murder conviction most U.S. jurisdictions require that "intent" must be proven. But the jury held that Thomas' cocaine-crazed mind did not satisfy the criteria of intent because the cocaine had induced "extreme emotional disturbance."

That is the absurd mess this society has reached. After shooting himself up with drugs Thomas shot two adults and eight children up with lead — and is not guilty of murder.

Now Thomas was not forced to take cocaine by Josef Mengele. He took it himself. He therefore should be held fully responsible for whatever he does under its influence. If you kill someone while driving in a drunken stupor, your drunkenness is hardly a mitigating circumstance.

Logically, Thomas should have been convicted of murder.

Thomas could still go to prison for life, serving ten consecutive manslaughter sentences, but don't bet the ranch on it. The law is an ass.

Case Number Two. At about the same time as the Thomas verdict came the news that two children of Sunny von Bulow are suing Claus for $56 million, charging that he sent their mother into an irreversible coma in an attempt to kill her and gain her fortune.

Now Claus von Bulow was first convicted of the crime, won an appeal, and then was exonerated by a second jury. The joker in the deck, however, is that the second jury never heard about some key evidence that had much impressed the first jury. The evidence was barred because it had been obtained by "illegal means."

It did not matter, legally, that such evidence bore upon the issue of Claus von Bulow's guilt or innocence. Newspaper readers know more about the evidence than the second jury did. Von Bulow may or may not have committed the crime, but that is not what the case was about. It was really about a legal technicality.

Formally, it's known as a legal system. I call it a fraud.

Hawks Fall Short Of Berth In National Tourney

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

After working on hitting the two weeks leading up to the ASA Southeast Regional Tournament, the Seminole Hawks turned in their best hitting performance of the summer this past weekend.

However, the one thing that carried the Hawks to Gadsden, Ala., and the Southeast Regional, the defense, had its lapses and the Hawks wound up finishing fifth in the tournament, just missing a berth in the ASA Nationals.

"We outlived the opposition in every game," Hawks' manager Larry Risse said. "I was really proud of that since all season we had been relying on defense. The hitting improved tremendously but the defense didn't maintain its normal standing. Except for two bad games, we played excellent ball. Of the four teams ahead of us, on a given day, I thought we could have beaten any of them."

The fifth place finish in the region ended what was a sensational summer for the Seminole Softball Club's 12 and under all-star team. The Hawks qualified for the Southeast Regional for the first time and made a respectable showing in Gadsden.

In game one, Friday night, the Hawks dropped a tough 8-7 decision to the Montgomery Tigerettes after Seminole had a 6-4 lead going into the seventh inning.

Heather Golden and Missy Martinez started off

Softball

Impressive tournaments at the plate as Golden was 2 for 4 with a home run and Martinez 1 for 3 with four RBIs. Kelly Hartman added two hits.

"Our defense kind of let down that game," Risse said. "We made four errors. We didn't perform to our utmost."

The loss Friday put the Hawks in the losers' bracket and they came back strong Saturday morning with a 12-2 rout of the Mobile Cardinals.

The Hawks pounded out 13 hits in the game while winning pitcher Christine Risse held Mobile to four. Martinez led the offense with two hits including a home run and drove in three runs. Nicole Gadoury was 2 for 3 with a triple and two RBIs while Hartman and Sherry Adams contributed two hits each.

"We made some substitutions in the outfield to put a little more defense in and that helped us," Risse said.

In its second game Saturday, Seminole came away with a 9-4 victory over Birmingham. The Hawks built up a 9-0 lead to wrap up the win early and the defense played tough including a 6-4-3 double play in the fourth inning.

Seminole continued to sizzle at the plate with 14 hits including two each by Hartman, Michelle Davis, Dena Morasch and Adams. Golden was 1 for 4 with her second homer of the tourney and Tania Lewis was 1 for 2. Risse was again the winning pitcher.

In its third game of the day Saturday, Seminole blanked the Steele (Ala.) Raiderettes, 8-0, as Risse and Renee Sanville combined on a two-hitter.

The Hawks rapped out 12 hits in the game and turned their second double play of the tournament. Martinez continued to swing the hot bat as she went 2 for 4 with a home run and four RBIs. Golden had three hits including her third homer and drove in two runs. Risse was 2 for 2 with an RBI triple and Davis was 2 for 4 with a double.

The Hawks were then forced to play another game Saturday night, which started about 11. Seminole couldn't keep the momentum going though as it was shutout by Palm Beach Gardens, 6-0, on six hits.

The score was 0-0 after five innings but three consecutive errors in the sixth did the Hawks in. Seminole had its chances in the first inning when its first three hitters, Hartman, Davis and Golden singled to load the bases. But the Hawks came up empty when the next hitter popped out and the following hitter flew out to center and the runner from third was doubled off at the plate.

"We weren't really prepared for the kind of time schedule we had. We were playing at 12 our time one night," Risse said. "But we gave it a good try and made a good showing for ourselves."

Heather Golden
...Three homers

Missy Martinez
...12 RBIs

For the tournament, three players for the Hawks had 8 hits in 17 at bats for a .471 average. They included Hartman, Golden (who hit three homers) and Davis. Martinez was 7 for 15 (.467) with two homers and she drove in 12 runs.

CORRECTION — Tampa Magic was the champion of the 15 and under Southeast Regional Tournament this past weekend in Boca Raton, not the Coombs Angels of Alabama. Tampa Magic went unbeaten in the tourney including two wins over the Angels.

District 14 Upendes Texas

By Chris Flater
Herald Sports Writer

ORLANDO — San Antonio had its trouble producing runs Monday night as it stranded seven baserunners in the first three innings. Finally, Kyle Whitaker showed how it was done. Unfortunately for San Antonio, Whitaker plays for the District 14 all-stars.

Hitting from the eighth spot in the lineup, Whitaker drove in three runs with a pair of clutch singles as District 14, a team comprised of Central Florida players, claimed a 5-4 victory in the Big League Southern Regional Tournament at the University of Central Florida.

District 14 advances to tonight's winners' bracket game at 7:30 against Bristol, Va., which came away with a 7-4, 16-inning victory over Jacksonville in Monday's first game.

In a losers' bracket contest tonight, San Antonio takes on Jacksonville at 5. Jacksonville survived by eliminating Augusta, Ga., 3-1, in a late game Monday night.

Whitaker's heroics were not surprising to District 14 manager Max Westgate.

"Kyle doesn't handle the bat that bad," Westgate said. "He proved under extreme conditions that he could do it."

It was Whitaker's two-run single in the bottom of the fourth that broke up Keith Kaiser's no-hitter and gave District 14 a 3-2 lead. San Antonio scored twice in the top of the sixth to retake the lead but Whitaker came through with a two-out single in the bottom of the sixth that tied the score at 4-4.

Kaiser then gave District 14 the lead when he tried to pick pinch-runner Clint Baker off third but uncorked a wild throw.

"It's pretty tough to play a team like Texas that has already won 12 games when you're playing from scratch," Westgate said. "Conditioning helped a lot and we got the hits and made the plays when it counted."

It was San Antonio that had ample opportunities to break the game open in the early going but could not come up with the clutch hit.

In the top of the first, Lance Hilliard sliced District 14 starter Joe Cardwell's first pitch into center field for a base hit. After a popped up bunt and a fly out to right field, Cardwell walked Kaiser and Dwayne Ratcliff to load the bases. The hard-throwing southpaw then went 3-2 on Scott Stolle before coaxing him to ground out to Whitaker at second for the third out.

In the bottom half of the first Kaiser, a big right hander, gave up a one-out walk to Mike Davis. Davis then stole second but Kaiser caught Todd Maufroy looking at a third strike for the second out. Then, with cleanup man Jeff Morgan at the plate, Kaiser picked Davis off second base for the third out.

San Antonio took advantage of two District 14 errors to score once in the top of the second, but again could have come away with more. Cardwell walked Sonny Gomez to lead off and then threw wild to second on Mike Vasquez' bunt. Jeff Cottrell then bunted the runners up to second and third.

With the infield in, Hilliard hit a hard one-hopper to Morgan at shortstop. Unwisely, Gomez tried to score on the play and was nailed at the plate for the second out. District 14 had a chance to get out of the inning without a run scoring but Morgan booted Mike Bains' grounder, enabling Vasquez to score for a 1-0 lead. Cardwell then balked to move the runners to second and third but retired Billy Spivey on a fly out to center for the third out.

District 14 got its first two hitters on in the bottom of the second as Kaiser walked Morgan and Kevin Bass. David Westgate then stepped up and smashed a long drive over the fence in left, but foul. After the long strike, Kaiser came back to fan Westgate, got Jason Andrews to line out to center and Whitaker to hit into a force play to end the inning.

San Antonio stranded two more runners in the third as, with men on first and second and one out, Cardwell smoked a pair of third strike fastballs by Gomez and Vasquez.

District 14 went down in order in the bottom of the third with a fine running catch by Ratcliff on Cardwell's drive to deep left center saving a lead off double.

San Antonio's Mike Vasquez (above) dives in head first with the game's first run as District 14 catcher Todd Maufroy stops the throw from the outfield. Below, Maufroy takes a swing and a miss at a Keith Kaiser fastball. Kaiser had District 14 shutout on no hits through three innings but Kyle Whitaker's two-run single in the fourth broke it up. Whitaker drove in three runs Monday as District 14 upended Texas, 5-3, in the Big League Southern Regional Tournament at the University of Central Florida.

Herold Photos by Chuck Larrabee

San Antonio upped its lead to 2-0 in the top of the fourth with a run on two hits. With one out, Hilliard ripped a single to center and scored on a two-out double to the gap in right center off the bat of Spivey.

District 14 battled back with three runs on just one hit in the bottom of the fourth. Maufroy drew a walk to start off the inning and, with one out, Bass reached on a San Antonio error. Westgate then ripped a grounder to third baseman Spivey who stopped the hard shot and got the force at third for the second out.

Kaiser then glanced a pitch off Andrews' hand to load the bases and Bass scored the first run of the inning on a wild pitch. Kaiser quickly fell behind Whitaker and, with the count 3-1, the District 14 second baseman smacked a single up the middle to drive in Westgate and Andrews for a 3-2 lead. Cardwell was robbed for the second time when Spivey made a nice stop of his grounder near the third base bag and threw him out at first as San Antonio got out of the inning without any further damage.

After Cardwell walked Ratcliff to lead off the top of the fifth, Westgate went with Mike Pasarella in relief. The 6-2 right hander out of Bishop Moore High came on and set the next three hitters down in order, striking out two.

Showers Dampen NSB Racing

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — Intermittent showers dampened Saturday night's racing action at New Smyrna Speedway. At 10 p.m., as per the track's rain date policy, a vote was taken among all the drivers who opted for cancelling the program.

All races in the late model, thundercar, street stock, four-cylinder and roadrunner divisions, along with the 100-lap Enduro for street cars, will be run this coming Saturday night, Aug. 10th, at 8.

A Giant Detroit Demolition, during which herds of gas-guzzling hogs will be eliminated from road use and The Great American Sack Race, where the drivers wear large shopping bags over their helmets, while front seat passengers give directions, will also be presented that same night.

The current point standings show former late model track champion Joe Middleton of South Daytona, an unsponsored independent, on top of the late model point chase.

Providing that the heavily sponsored teams do not dominate all the action on the high-banked half-mile oval, another low-budget independent, Tommy Patterson of Scottsmoor, a carpenter by trade, leads the thunder standings.

Consistent Doug Howard of Lake Helen, in the Dynamic Paving Nova, is on top of the season-long point chase for the street stock division.

Leading the tallest for the four-cylinder class is Bobby Sears of Osgreen, the division's defending champion, who is now sponsored by Skip's Shoes and Western Boots.

Two Longwood residents, John Hack and Mike Kubanek, are running first and second in the roadrunner standings, with only 130 points separating the scrapping pair.

POINT STANDINGS (UP TO AUG. 10)

Late Models: Joe Middleton, So. Daytona, 5,622; 2. David Rogers, Orlando, 5,128; 3. John Massey, New Smyrna Beach, 4,958; 4. Don Heasell, So. Daytona, 4,514; 5. Greg Froemming, Orlando, 3,904; 6. Barring Miracle, Baseball Strike Starts Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — Players and owners, bending to a last-ditch plea from Baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberroth, will hold an informal meeting today. But prospects of major-league baseball being played tonight were virtually zero.

"This is the next closest thing to a strike. I don't want to say miracles are impossible, but it does look that way," Don Fehr, head of the players' union, said just before midnight Monday.

Fehr said there was little hope of achieving a breakthrough that would avert the second baseball strike in five seasons.

Ueberroth's request for another meeting came after the two sides ended another fruitless session, deadlocked on the issues of pension money and salary arbitration.

Ten days earlier, Ueberroth had vowed he "would not allow a strike." But his widely anticipated move into the talks came not in the form of an ultimatum or threat. It was a simple plea for the sides to keep talking.

Baseball

"The fans deserve the last ounce of everyone's energy to resolve the current impasse," Ueberroth said in a statement delivered to Lee MacPhail, head of the owners' negotiating committee.

Whether Ueberroth will use the "best interests of baseball" powers stated in Rule 12 (a) of the Major League Agreement to impose a settlement or in some way prevent a strike today remained to be seen.

Should the strike last long enough to force the remainder of the regular season to be canceled, the teams currently in first place would most likely be declared champion. They include the Toronto Blue Jays in the AL East, the California Angels in the AL West, the Los Angeles Dodgers in the NL West and the New York Mets in the NL East.

The strike may shatter the Blue Jays' dream of becoming the first club to host a World Series game outside the United States.

In 1981 when the strike lasted 50 days, a split-season format was developed but that came under heavy criticism from the Players Association and management. There is not enough time left in the season for that setup to be devised.

For the record, Minnesota pinch hitter Randy Bush popped out to Oakland second baseman Donnie Hill for the final out in the A's 5-1 victory over the Twins in what would be the last game of the 1985 season.

Tuesday's meeting is "the only hope we have," said player representative Don Baylor of the New York Yankees.

A settlement "has to happen by 4 o'clock tomorrow (today)," he said. "After 4 o'clock, I know some of our players have flights at 7 o'clock tomorrow night."

In Washington, President Reagan said players and owners should remember their obligation to the fans. "I do think that all parties really should sit down there with the fans in their minds and their obligation to the baseball fans," he said in response to a question at a news conference.

Guidry Improves To 14-4

NEW YORK (UPI) — If the 1985 season ends Tuesday, Ron Guidry would be a leading candidate for the American League Cy Young Award, Monday night, he again demonstrated why.

"Whatever happened with the strike, I can't control," said Guidry, who scattered nine hits to lead New York to a 7-3 triumph over Chicago. "But this I could control. It's a little frustrating to be having good season and lose it to a strike, but if I have to give up part of my season for what this is about, I'll do it."

Guidry, 14-4, struck out seven and walked none in notching his ninth complete game.

"Tonight I concentrated on the game," he said. "To me, it was just another game in August, not the last game of the season."

Don Mattingly homered for the fourth time in four games. He staked the Yankees to a 1-0 lead off loser Floyd Bannister, 5-9, in the first inning with an RBI double and he drilled his 16th home run in the fifth, following Rickey Henderson's 17th home run. Both homers were on the first pitch and it was the seventh time this season the Yankees have hit back-to-back homers.

"Honestly, I'm not alibing, but my mind was not on the game," Bannister said. "I was on the phone all day, and if you really want the truth, I couldn't concentrate on the game."

In the fourth, New York reached Bannister for three runs. Dave Winfield led off with a single and scored when Don Baylor doubled to left. Willie Randolph walked and Andre Robertson singled to score Baylor and send Randolph to third. Randolph scored on Butch Wynegar's sacrifice fly.

"The atmosphere wasn't good," White Sox manager Tony LaRussa said. "I told them we'd play tomorrow, and to be optimistic, and that seemed to buoy them, but obviously we didn't play very well."

Carlton Fisk ruined Guidry's shutout bid in the ninth with a three-run homer. It was Fisk's major-league leading 29th homer of the season.

In other games, Detroit defeated Kansas City 8-4, California knocked off Seattle 3-1 and Oakland decked Minnesota 5-1.

In the National League, it was New York 7, Chicago 2; Montreal 5, Pittsburgh 2; Los Angeles 6, Atlanta 1; Cincinnati 8, San Diego 7; Philadelphia 9, St. Louis 1, and Houston 7, San Francisco 5.

Tigers 8, Royals 4
 At Kansas City, Mo., Chet Lemon doubled home two runs in the seventh and Kirk Gibson and Lance Parrish belted back-to-back homers in the eighth to lift the Tigers. Lou Whitaker clipped in with a two-run homer to help offset two homers by the Royals' Steve Balboni. Walt Terrell, 11-6, was the winner.

Angels 3, Mariners 1
 At Anaheim, Calif., Mike Witt hurled a five-hitter and the Angels turned Seattle pitcher Bill Swift's throwing error on a potential double play grounder into two unearned runs to defeat the Mariners. Witt improved to 9-7 and Swift dropped to 3-6.

A's 6, Twins 1
 At Oakland, Calif., Tim Lincecum allowed six hits over 8 2/3 innings and Bruce Bochte had three hits and drove in two runs, lifting the A's. Birbaas, 8-2, struck out seven and walked three before giving way in the ninth to Jay Howell.

Ripened Strawberry Blasts Cubs

CHICAGO (UPI) — Just when Darryl Strawberry seems to have ripened, he may be out of season.

In what looks like the final day of the major league baseball season because of an impending baseball strike tonight, Strawberry hit three home runs Monday and knocked in five runs in helping the New York Mets defeat the Chicago Cubs, 7-2.

The victory enabled the Mets to take over first place in the National League East by one-half game over the St. Louis Cardinals, who were beaten 9-1 by the Philadelphia Phillies. The Mets made up three games on the Cardinals in three days.

If there is no more baseball in 1985, the Mets have won a division title.

"It's a shame to have a day like this and know that you may be on strike tomorrow," said Strawberry, who hit a three-run homer in the first and added solo blasts in the third and seventh. He also had a single in the ninth and was intentionally walked in the fifth.

It marked the first time this season in the NL that a player hit three home runs in a game and it was the fourth time in Mets history it has been accomplished. Claudell Washington in 1980, Dave Kingman in 1976, both against Los Angeles, and Jim Hickman in 1965 against St. Louis were the others.

Ed Lynch, 9-5, scattered seven hits over 7 2/3 innings to notch his fifth straight victory.

"It's just ridiculous to have this situation," Lynch said. "I've never pitched better. I've won five in a row, the team is in first place and now we have to go out."

Jody Davis drove in the Cubs' first run with a solo homer in the fifth. It was his 10th — and possibly the last — by a Cub this season.

At St. Louis, Ozzie Virgil slammed two home runs and John Russell added another to help Shane Rawley and the Phillies to victory. It gave the Phillies three victories in the four game series with St. Louis.

N.L. Baseball

"I don't want to strike," Russell said. "It's a shame a strike would come now just when we're starting to jell as a team. We're starting to come together."

Rawley, 8-5, struck out six, allowed five hits, and walked two to earn the decision. He said all the impending news about a possible strike affected him early.

"It was a little hard to concentrate out there," Rawley said. "It was sucking gas the first two innings but then I settled down. We're really playing some good baseball right now."

St. Louis manager Whitey Herzog agreed.

"I don't know how you can print it but we got a good old fashioned tall kicking tonight," Herzog said. "They took three out of four and if it hadn't been for that missed pop the first game they might have won all four."

Elsewhere in the NL, Los Angeles beat Atlanta 6-1, Montreal topped Pittsburgh 5-2, Cincinnati edged San Diego 8-7 and Houston defeated San Francisco 7-5.

In American League games, New York downed Chicago 7-3, Detroit topped Kansas City 8-4, California beat Seattle 3-1 and Oakland defeated Minnesota 5-1.

Dodgers 8, Braves 1
 At Atlanta, Steve Sax drove in three runs with a pair of singles and Jerry Reuss and Tom Niedenfuer combined on a five-hitter to give the Dodgers their victory. The Dodgers hold a five-game lead over Cincinnati in the NL West.

Expos 5, Pirates 2
 At Pittsburgh, Andre Dawson smashed a two-run homer and doubled in a ninth-inning tie-breaking run to lead the Expos to victory. Hubie Brooks singled in two more insurance runs in the ninth to tag the loss on reliever Jim Winn, 2-4. Tim Burke, 6-0, was the winner with Jeff Reardon notching his major-league leading 28th save.

Reds 6, Padres 7
 At Cincinnati, Dave Parker went 4-for-5, including a homer, to lead an 11-hit attack that paced the Reds to victory. Tom Hume, 2-3, recorded the last out of the fifth inning to earn the victory. Cincinnati player-manager Pete Rose went 1-for-4 and needs 24 hits to break Ty Cobb's career record of 4,191.

Astros 7, Giants 5
 At Houston, rookie Glenn Davis drove in three runs with a pair of singles and Kevin Bass had two RBI to lead the Astros to their fourth victory in a row. Bob Knepper, 9-9, snapped a personal five-game losing streak with his first victory in more than a month. Chris Brown, Bob Brenly and Joel Youngblood homered for the Giants.

Waller Squeeze In 16th Lifts Bristol Over Jax

ORLANDO — David Waller laid down a perfect squeeze bunt in the top of the 16th inning to snip a 4-4 tie and Bristol, Va., added a pair of insurance runs en route to a 7-4 victory over Jacksonville in Monday's first game of the Big League Southern Regional Tournament at the University of Central Florida.

The marathon game started Monday afternoon at 1 and ended some five hours later, causing the next two games Monday to be pushed back over an hour.

Kaiser continued to baffle the top of District 14's batting order as he struck out lead off man Mark Merchant and got both Davis and Maudroy to ground out to Spivey.

San Antonio reclaimed the lead with two runs in the top of the sixth but left the bases loaded. Cottrell reached on a bloop single to right to start it off and Hilliard dragged a bunt down the first base line for a single. The runners advanced on a sacrifice bunt by Hains.

After getting a pair of called strikes on Spivey, Passaila threw up four straight balls to load the bases. He then walked Kaiser on four straight to force in Cottrell to tie the score at 3-3. Passaila came right in with his next pitch and Raticoff smashed it past a drawn in infield to score Hilliard for a 4-3 San Antonio lead.

Passaila then forced Spivey at the plate when pinch-hitter Stewart Guthrie bounced back to the mound and to out of the inning when first baseman Bass made a nice dig of Whitaker's low throw on a grounder by Gomez.

"The pitching was erratic at times," manager Westgate said. "But Joe (Cardwell) and Mike (Passaila) came through pretty well. Passaila kept the ball down low where they (San Antonio) couldn't drive it."

District 14 put together a two-out rally to take the lead in the bottom of the sixth. Kaiser got Morgan to ground out to short for the first out then got Bass on a deep fly to the warning track in left.

Westgate kept the inning alive when he inside-outted a single to right. Andrews followed with a walk and Baker went in to pinch run for Andrews. Whitaker then came through again when he singled up the middle to drive in Westgate to tie the score at 4-4. Baker, who took third on Whitaker's single, then scored on Kaiser's wild pickoff attempt.

In the top of the seventh, pinch-hitter Danny Sosa reached on an error to lead off but Passaila came back to get the next three hitters in order to preserve the District 14 victory.

"We were tremendously nervous at first," manager Westgate said. "But the guys hung tough. I think it was better for us to start off with a game like this than to have a lopsided score either way."

Jacksonville came back to play Monday night around 9:30 and hung on for a 3-1 win over Augusta, Ga., in a losers' bracket contest.

Schiedel-Mann Vows Spoken

Roxane Lynn Schiedel of Longwood, and Rick F. Mann of Casselberry, were married June 8, at 7:30 p.m., in the St. Mary Magdalen Church, Altamonte Springs. Father Art Bendixen performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald F. Schiedel, 2181 S. Terrace Blvd., Longwood. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Mann, 718 Osceola Drive, Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows an elegant formal ivory satin gown fashioned along the A-line silhouette. The fitted bodice featured a basque waist, Juliet sleeves and a high crown collar. Pearl-trimmed reembodyered lace appliques lavishly embellished the skirt enhanced with a sculptured hemline that extended into a sweeping cathedral train highlighted with open cameos. A dainty halo of silk flowers held her fingertip veil of imported illusion, sprinkled with pearls. She carried a crescent outlined in miniature lights and delicately arranged with silk ivory roses, dusty rose pansies and burgundy orchids with trailing lily-of-the-valley and showered with ivory silk ribbons.

Donna Denticle attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a burgundy gown and a burgundy rose interspersed with baby's breath in her hair. She carried a heart-shaped arrangement of silk burgundy and white roses, dusty rose orchids and lily-of-the-valley outlined with tiny lights.

The bridesmaids, Beth Smith, Pam Epstein, Michele Lyle, Rosemary Rose, Margie Johnson and Susan Mann, sister of the bridegroom, wore dusty rose gowns and carried arrangements identical to the honor attendant.

The bridegroom's father was the best man. Groomsmen were Barry Schiedel, brother of the bride, Scott Ryerson, Bill Sagues, Craig Langford, Rob Molnar and Darryl Chauk. Flower girl was Stephanie McQueen and flower boy was Ryan Warzinski. Ryan Schiedel, nephew of the bride, was the ringbearer.

Following a reception at the University Club, Winter Park, the newlyweds departed on a wedding trip to Acapulco, Mexico.

They are making their home in Casselberry. The bridegroom is a sales agent for National Standard Insurance, Sanford, and the bride is employed as merchandising manager by Good Vibrations, Altamonte Springs.

Son's Snuggling Voted Down

DEAR ABBY: My mother and I have a difference of opinion over the following matter: I am a 16-year-old boy and I am well respected by my relatives, teachers and friends. I do not have the problems that many teenagers have (alcohol, drugs, sex, etc.) My girlfriend is also 16 and she is a respectable young lady.

Most of our dates consist of staying home and watching movies or TV. On occasion my girlfriend and I "snuggle up" under a blanket on the couch. Between my little brother and my mother, we are usually never alone for more than 30 minutes.

My mother feels that it is improper for us to lie on the couch together because it creates temptations. I understand what she means, but I think she's being a little old-fashioned. What could possibly happen in my house that couldn't happen in a car?

My mother and I have decided that what you say goes.

THE SNUGLER

DEAR SNUGLER: Snuggling under a blanket while lying on a couch is Step One, which usually leads to Step Two and so on in the case of two normal, healthy people of the opposite sex. I am sure you and your girlfriend are both "respectable," but you would be wise to minimize the temptation.

I vote with your mother. You asked: "What could happen in my house that couldn't happen in a car?" Nothing. That's what worries your mother.

DEAR ABBY: This is for Peggy, who wanted to know how she came to be called Peggy when her name is really Margaret.

The British are great ones for rhyming names, as in George Porgy. Thus William became Will or Willy, or Bill or Billy. Robert is called Robby, or the rhyming Bobby or Bob. Edward became Ed or Eddie or Ted or Teddy. Richard became Rich or Rick and finally Dick. (Are you getting the hang of it?)

Margaret became Maggit, Meggy, and then the rhyming Peggy.

How do I know all this? Because when I was born, my parents named me Peggy after the Irish son "Peg O' My Heart." Two weeks later I was baptized Margaret because according to the Catholic Church, all children have to be named for saints. There was no Saint Peggy, but there was a Saint Margaret, so everybody calls me Peggy, but I am —

Dear Abby

LEGALLY MARGARET

DEAR MARGARET: Sounds logical to me. But many readers wrote to tell that the Gaelic name for Margaret is "Maighread" or "Peig," whence came "Peggy."

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a wonderful man I have known for a little less than a year. Ours is a very loving relationship and we communicate well, but he is very vague about his past. This makes me wonder if maybe he is married.

How can I find out (without his knowing) if he was ever married in Tennessee, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Alabama, Missouri, Kansas or Kentucky? Our wedding date is getting closer, and I am becoming more and more nervous.

NERVOUS IN ILLINOIS
DEAR NERVOUS: Marriages are a matter of public record, but it will take you some time to gather the information from each state unless you engage a private investigator. (They don't come cheap.)

If yours is really a "loving relationship" and you communicate well, a direct "Are you married?" is not an unreasonable question to ask your fiancé. And if his response still leaves you with doubts, I urge you to postpone your marriage until you have this "wonderful" man checked out thoroughly.

DEAR ABBY: A friend gave me these definitions of the various forms of government, and I thought you might want to share them with your readers.

COMMUNISM You have two cows. The government takes both of them and gives you part of the milk.

SOCIALISM You have two cows. The government takes one and gives it to your neighbor.

FASCISM You have two cows. The government takes both cows and sells you the milk.

NAZISM You have two cows. The government takes both of them and shoots you.

BUREAUCRACY You have two cows. The government takes

Service Center Offers Fine Arts

Dolly Creates And Forrest Collaborates

The Service Center at 119 Elm Ave., Sanford, is truly a "mom and pop" business owned and operated by Forrest and Dolly Foggin.

They share a shop where Dolly designs and creates beautiful folk art and handcraft items for display in her handmade country-crafts showroom. Her husband collaborates by cutting out the wooden items on which Dolly applies her artistic touches. He also creates handsome country style furniture, either doll-size, child-size or regular size.

On display in her shop are her creations—adorable dolls, wall plaques, comforters, quilted pillows, clothes for Cabbage Patch Dolls, and all sorts of crafts. They will custom make gift items to your specifications and make routed wooden signs.

In his precision sharpening center, Forrest has a collection of equipment to sharpen scissors, shears, clippers, knives, lawn mowers, power and hand saws and chain saws and does precision grinding.

He also repairs small electrical small appliances, beauty/barber shop equipment, and radio-controllers for model boats.

The Foggins have lived and operated various businesses in Sanford since 1967 and formerly operated the Hobby Depot here. They opened The Service Center in March.

"I got into crafts when we had the Hobby Depot," said Dolly. "I've always done needlework."

As for Forrest, he became involved making things from wood while recuperating from an illness, she said.

During the summer The Service Center is closed on Monday and opened Tuesday through Friday, 9:30 to 4 and Saturday, 8 to 2:30. Phone 323-3966.

Tighter Regulation Urged For Financial Planning Firms

DALLAS (UPI) — The ease with which anyone can set up shop as a financial planner these days has led to so much abuse that two states are considering legislation to tighten regulations governing the industry.

California and Hawaii are taking the lead in licensing the profession and it appears it may not be long before other states join in the effort. Respectable financial institutions are finding the industry's existing self-control may be inadequate in the current climate of deregulation.

One Dallas institution has welcomed the effort in California and Hawaii and thinks government intervention may be necessary to protect the public from con artists and scam operators masquerading as financial planners.

Martin Cohen, president of Balanced Financial Corp. and president of the Dallas Society of the Institute of Certified Financial Planners, said the public is the ultimate victim of growing abuse in the profession.

Cohen said the problem stems from the fact that there is no agency or instrument to regulate the use of the title financial planner.

"The public today is being bombarded by everybody in the world calling himself a financial planner all the way from the respected people to the scam people," he said. "What some of them are doing has no relationship to financial planning at all. Even in the case of respectable people, they are just selling a product and that is not financial planning."

Cohen said the College of Financial Planning in Denver is the accredited to confer the title of Certified Financial Planner after a student has completed a two-year course on various disciplines of financial planning.

"In most professions, like accounting, law or medicine, you cannot use a title unless you are certified by an accredited institution. Within that discipline you may have the good or bad ones but at least one has the minimum qualification," Cohen said.

He said a qualified financial planner must be able to understand and implement all the financial goals and objectives of a client.

"The planner should have the capability to put together a broad picture for a client without promoting any one product, provide risk management, investment management, map out strategy to track and monitor the elements of a client's financial picture and relate them constantly to the client's goals. A financial planner must never dictate his own feelings but understand what the client wants and lay out the alternatives."

He said financial management is the fastest growing profession today and the money the planners handle runs into tens of billions of dollars, thereby creating temptation for abuse.

Cohen said most financial planners are licensed either by the Securities and Exchange Commission or the National Association of Securities Dealers but there are no hard and fast regulations on use of the title financial planner.

"There is no definitive agreement on how we should be regulated. Financial planning is a new ball game for the regulators. The California and Hawaii legislation has not been enacted. State regulation is needed and there should be one common examination so that we have some uniformity."

UPS INTRODUCES TWO NEW OVERNIGHT PRIORITY SERVICES

LETTER $10.50 INCLUDES ENVELOPE

PAK $15.50 - 1 LB. PAK

PAK $16.50 - 2 LB. PAK

OVERNIGHT DELIVERY TO ALL 48 STATES, Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

Liz McDonald's Pac N' Send offers UPS' overnight priority mail service

Whatever Your Shipping Needs: Pac N' Send Can Take Care Of Them

Pac N' Send at 304 E. Commercial Street in downtown Sanford is a convenient place to take advantage of United Parcel Service's new overnight priority mail services. Thanks to the addition of 10 jet cargo aircraft to UPS' fleet, Pac N' Send is now able to offer the Next Day Air Letter in a self-sealing container for $10.50 and Next Day Air Pak for one pound (non-breakable), $15.50, two pounds, $16.50, with overnight delivery to 48 states, Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

Heading back to college? An economic way to ship your books and clothes back to school—if the package is under 70 pounds and 108 inches in length and girth combined—is via UPS, according to Pac N' Send owner Elizabeth "Liz" McDonald.

Liz can package and ship larger items for you by truck motor freight, air freight, and bus. She can handle articles up to 200 pounds.

She has equipment to package and safely send your most fragile items. Come in and see how the Innapack Foam System for protecting breakable items works.

Liz does specialty gift wrapping and packing supplies.

Even though summer is the off-season for shipping citrus you can still order gifts of delicious tropical fruit for your friends and relatives around the country from Pac N' Send. G&S Packing Company guarantees the fruit to be the finest quality and will arrive in perfect condition. Summer fruits of the tropics include pineapple, mango, avocado, limes, peaches and coconut.

Liz loves a challenge, bring her your difficult custom packaging jobs. She has packaged and shipped everything from lab samples to a 15-foot wind surfer.

"Call on us with your special packaging needs," said Liz, "and if we can't do it we'll try to refer you to someone who can."

This is Liz's sixth year in business. Ask Liz about her new pick-up service. Pac N' Send is open Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Saturday, 9 a.m. to noon. Call 323-1137.

Reagan: Sanctions Would Hurt Blacks In S. Africa

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, whose administration two weeks ago condemned the state of emergency in white-ruled South Africa, now says the action is "a governmental reaction to some violence" in that troubled nation.

In a 25-minute Oval Office meeting with reporters, Reagan also refused to say whether he would sign a bill that would impose economic sanctions on Pretoria's white-minority government, but says sanctions would only hurt the black majority in South Africa.

"I never say what I am going to do until the thing gets to my desk," Reagan said Monday. "But I'm going to say in principle what I've said, that our continuation of our present program is the way that can be of help to the black citizens of South Africa."

While some parts of the legislation "could be helpful," Reagan said, sanctions would be "harmful" to black South Africans and to surrounding nations with economies that depend on South Africa.

On July 26, the administration called for an end to the state of emergency. White House spokesman Larry Speakes then said: "We are deeply concerned when civil liberties are suspended anywhere in the world. This is certainly the case in South Africa where violence and repression will not solve the country's problems." Under the state of emergency, which was declared July 21 to curb the racial violence that has killed 500 people in the past 11 months, authorities can detain people without charges.

More than 20 people have died during the state of emergency and more than 1,300 blacks have been arrested.

Reagan stoutly defended his policy of "constructive engagement," in which the United States maintains economic and diplomatic ties but tries to pressure Pretoria quietly to change its policies.

"I believe the results that we've had in this constructive engagement with South Africa justifies our continuing on that score. Obviously, and as we've made very plain, we all feel that apartheid is repugnant," said Reagan.

The measure providing for economic sanctions was passed by the House last week in an effort to pressure Pretoria to end its apartheid policies of racial separation. The Senate is scheduled to act on the bill when Congress returns from its recess next month.

The bill would ban the import of South African gold, Kruggerand coins, prohibit new U.S. bank loans and nuclear technology transfers and curb computer sales.

Rich Couple Accused Of Keeping Slaves

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A wealthy couple has been charged with holding four Central American women as virtual slaves, moving them between homes in Hawaii, Las Vegas, Mexico and Southern California, the FBI says.

Kenneth K. Kimes, 67, and his wife, Santee, 41, were arrested during the weekend at their home in the exclusive suburb of La Jolla, the FBI said Monday.

The Kimes, who also have residences in Honolulu, Las Vegas, Anaheim, Calif., Washington, D.C., and Cancun, Mexico, were charged in a federal criminal complaint issued in Las Vegas with conspiring to keep the women in "a condition of involuntary servitude," a violation of U.S. slavery laws.

Kimes is affiliated with Kimes Motels Inc. and Mecca Motels Inc. of Anaheim. The couple appeared Monday before a federal magistrate in San Diego who ordered them taken to Las Vegas for a detention hearing.

The affidavit said the couple beat and imprisoned a cleaning lady who traveled with the family to Hawaii and was not paid, allowed to use the telephone or write to anyone.

Another woman told agents she was burned with an iron, her papers were taken away and she was threatened with return to her native El Salvador, where she claims she would be imprisoned.

The affidavit detailed an intricate plot by which Mrs. Kimes used fictitious names to obtain the names and addresses of young women from an employment agency in Santa Ana, Calif.

In the affidavit, an FBI special agent said the couple conspired with "other persons whose identities are unknown" to keep the four women in servitude.

One of the women, Adela Sanchez-Guzman, told the FBI she "lived in a recreational vehicle, traveling from place to place" and that she was locked in the trailer whenever the couple left. She also said she was beaten several times by Mrs. Kimes.

Another woman, Maria Vasquez, disappeared June 4 from Santa Ana and was later able to call her sister collect from a telephone in the Kimes' La Jolla home. Agents traced the phone number and freed her on Saturday when they arrested the couple.

NBC Dominates Emmy Nominations

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — For the first time in its five-year history, "Hill Street Blues" did not lead the pack in Emmy nominations, but it did win NBC show "Miami Vice" grabbed 15 as the network received more nominations than ABC and CBS combined.

The 37th annual Prime Time Emmy Award nominations were announced Monday, and NBC received 42 of the 247 bids — 42 percent. CBS had 75 nominations and ABC had 41, barely nosing out PBS, which had 39. There were 12 syndication nominations and five for Operation Prime Time.

The number of nominations does not match the networks' ratings. CBS won the prime-time race last season for the sixth year in a row. NBC was second and ABC third.

"Hill Street," which led in nominations every year since it first aired in 1981 and has won more Emmys than any dramatic series in history, was nominated 11 times for its 1985 season. When the awards are telecast Sept. 22 from the Pasadena Civic Auditorium, "Hill Street" could become the most-honored program of any kind, needing only one Emmy to tie "The Mary Tyler Moore Show" and its 26 trophies.

Four of the five comedy series nominations went to NBC, with "Cheers," "The Cosby Show," "Family Ties," and "Night Court." CBS's "Kate & Allie" took the final nomination in the category.

The Academy of Television Arts & Sciences did not nominate Bill Cosby, honoring his position that actors should not compete among each other.

Along with "Miami Vice," the shows nominated for best drama series were "Cagney & Lacey," "Hill Street Blues," "Murder She Wrote" and "St. Elsewhere." "Cagney & Lacey" was the only non-NBC show to receive more than seven nominations, getting 10.

Three actors received posthumous nominations: Nicholas Colasanto, who played "Coach" Ernie Pantusso in the "Cheers" series for outstanding supporting actor in a comedy series; Selma Diamond for her supporting role in "Night Court," and Richard Burton as supporting actor in a limited series or special for his role in "Ellis Island."

Allstar Cooke was voted the Governors Award, the academy's highest honor, for a four-decade body of work that is "extraordinary and universal in nature."

THANKSGIVING NOVENA
TO ST. JUDE. On Holy St. Jude, Apostle, Martyr, great in virtue and rich in miracles, dear kinsman of Jesus Christ, faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need, to you I have recourse from the depths of my heart and humbly beg of you whom God has given such great power to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause to be invoked. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys, 3 Glorias, for 9 consecutive days. Publication may be promised St. Jude, pray for us all who invoke you, never AMEN. [This novena has always been known to fail] SEK

Fetus Sampling Fast But Not For Everyone

DEAR DR. GOTT - There is a new test being done at eight weeks' gestation that will tell a woman if the fetus is deformed. Exactly what is this test? Does it replace amniocentesis, as far as safety and accuracy are concerned?

DEAR READER - The test is called chorionic villus sampling. It is complicated and is not generally available.

The sampling is carried out between nine and 11 weeks' gestation. Using sonographic guidance, the doctor passes a catheter through the cervix and into the placenta. He must be careful not to rupture the amniotic sac. Tissue is obtained by suction. The physician samples chorionic villi, the branched terminals of the fetal circulation in the placenta. The specimen can be immediately examined for chromosomal, biochemical and DNA abnormalities.

Although the test is quite new, the degree of information obtained from it seems to compare favorably with amniocentesis. Its main advantage is that it can be performed early in the pregnancy (16 weeks is the earliest for amniocentesis) and therefore gives the family vital data in time to explore various options if the fetus shows genetic defects. In addition, the results can be obtained directly in a few days, whereas one to two weeks may be required for amniocentesis.

The complications are the same as those from amniocentesis: the possibility of premature labor and infection.

Neither test is appropriate for the average woman with an uncomplicated pregnancy. The sampling methods are suggested only for mothers who have a high risk of fetal abnormalities. Chorionic villus sampling is the first reliable and reasonably quick test for first-trimester fetal genetic diagnosis.

DEAR DR. GOTT - I understand that there is a new venereal disease called chlamydia, which is really serious. What is this?

DEAR READER - Chlamydia infection is a new epidemic. It affects 3 to 5 million new patients a year, twice the number who contract gonorrhea. It is a venereal disease that may produce few, if any, symptoms in women. It can result in pelvic inflammatory disease, sterility, miscarriage and the infection of newborns.

Chlamydia can be diagnosed by culture tests or by antibody tests. It can be easily treated with antibiotics once it has been diagnosed, but its victims may often not be aware that they are infected until there is physical damage. This venereal disease is common in all socioeconomic levels.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

This week the Summer North American Championships are being held in Las Vegas. I wonder how many of the contestants will make three no-trump if they are confronted with today's deal.

Remember, you can see all four hands, but the declarer has the privilege of seeing only his own cards and the dummy.

With just seven tricks on top, declarer has no easy task. The simplest solution is merely to hope for a singleton king of diamonds, but that just doesn't happen in the real world. The approach finally taken by declarer was sensible. He ducked the opening heart lead.

When the suit was continued, he won the king and immediately led a low club. The defenders continued with a third round of hearts. South was now ready to put his plan into effect.

He stripped his hand of every high card, playing off the A-K of spades, the A-K of clubs, and the ace of diamonds. Then he played his low diamond. West, who held the diamond king, was bereft of black cards. He could win the king and cash the fourth heart, but now he had to give up the last two tricks to dummy's good diamonds.

Notice that this approach works with other distributions of the defenders' cards. If East had started with only two spades and with four diamonds to the king, he would be the defender forced to surrender the last two tricks.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY AUGUST 7, 1985

Success is likely in the year ahead if you are discriminating regarding your objectives. Be sure you truly want that for which you'll be striving.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Major achievements are possible today, provided you don't do things the hard way. Look for the line of least resistance, not the most testy one. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be extra mindful of what you say to others today and how you phrase it. Thoughtless comments won't get a gracious reception.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)

Prudence is a must today in the management of your financial resources. Live within your means and don't buy now, hoping to pay later.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Ideas or issues about which you feel strongly could be opposed by others today. Nothing will be resolved if you try to force them to comply with your views.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll be more prone to do things for others today if you feel you are doing them of your own volition. You won't appreciate commands or demands.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Generally you conduct yourself well in social situations, but today you might not be as accommodating and your behavior could rub others the wrong way.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This is one of those days where you may not perform too well under pressure. Don't put yourself in awkward situations, nor allow others to do so.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 19) Guard against tendencies today to repeat old mistakes. Profit from your past experiences, instead of suffering penalties from them once again.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) If you're trying to be of assistance to another today, make it a point to work with his resources. Show this person how to depend upon himself or herself.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) When dealing with companions on a one-to-one basis today, don't anticipate their behavior in a negative way. Your attitude will influence their reactions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Strive to keep abreast of your duties and responsibilities today. Anything you let pile up now will be more difficult to handle later.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It's best not to be too set upon having your own way today in your involvements with friends. Let the majority rule and go along with the group.
