Park Protest in Lake Mary

Concerned residents of Lake Mary will gather at 4:30 p.m. Monday, April 3, 2000, at the southeast corner of Lake Mary Boulevard and County Club Road in Lake Mary to express their concern about a recent decision by the Lake Mary City Commission concerning approval of a local park.

Citizens are angered about the commission's decision to return an $865,000 grant from the State of Florida to be used to purchase five acres of land just south of Lake Mary Boulevard. The site was to be set aside as a passive park.

Participating in the rally will be former Park's Advisory Board member Lisa Patterson, who, with three of her colleagues, resigned because of the actions by the Commission.

Navy memorial planned for airport

By Bill Korne
Staff Writer

SANFORD — A vintage World War II era plane may be placed at the Orlando Sanford Airport in a memorial to the airport's heritage as a Naval Training Station.

From 1942 through 1967, the airport served as a U.S. Naval Training Station. The proposed memorial will honor those who lost their lives during training exercises at the base, and others who died while fighting foreign wars.

This is not the first attempt to create a memorial at the airport. Similar efforts were made by veterans 15 years ago, but failed because of a lack of funding.

A committee being organized through the Sanford-Seminole County Chamber of Commerce hopes for better results.

"This is huge for Sanford," said Chamber director Ron Rose. "The role of the chamber is to revitalize this important project to honor those people in the Navy who trained at the airport as lost their lives, either here or while fighting wars."

Victor White, director of the Sanford Airport Authority, said that the cost of acquiring an airplane and shipping it to the airport could be about $100,000.

Then, there would be additional costs for placing the plane on a pedestal, and wiring the memorial for lighting.

"I would love to see it happen," White said. "The airport authority is strongly behind it. This time, I think it's going to happen."

The memorial would be placed near the main entrance of the airport, although an exact location has not yet been determined, White said.

The memorial is still in the planning stages, and a committee working with the Sanford Chamber is looking into cost estimates. In addition to the vintage airplane, efforts are also underway to place a plaque at the airport as part of the memorial.

Alicia Clarke, curator of the Sanford Museum, said she is concerned that the heritage of the airport could be lost amid rapid growth.

"Many wonderful things are happening at the airport today," Clarke said. "Many people who live here now might not know that the airport used to be a Naval Training Station."

So far, $2,000 in private donations have been raised for the memorial. Money raised will be placed in a special fund through the cooperation of the airport.

'America's Most Wanted' criminal in Seminole jail

By Bill Korne
Staff Writer

SANFORD — A suspected con artist, who once eluded authorities for 30 years and was wanted in five states, is back in the Seminole County Jail to face local charges.

Oscar Thrash, 89, was brought back to Seminole County this week to face robbery, aggravated battery and burglary charges as well as charges for impersonating a police officer.

The charges stem from Jan. 6, 1998, when Thrash is accused of robbing 85-year-old Christine Raynor of Midway. He claimed to be a law enforcement officer and accused Raynor of passing counterfeit money at a nearby

Publix grocery store, according to the Seminole County Sheriff's Office.

Deputies were called to the scene, and Thrash was treated at a local hospital before being booked into the Seminole County Jail under the alias of Thomas Murrell. Thrash went to court, had his bond set at $5,000, which was later posted and then fled Seminole County.

Seminole County Investigator Rob Hommert led the national search for Thrash for the next 14 months. He was able to get "America's Most Wanted" interested in the case, and it featured

Aiming to please in Winter Springs

VFW arm cops with stuffed animals

By Russ White
Staff Writer

WINTER SPRINGS — There are those in Winter Springs who insist that a police squad car isn't fully equipped without a couple stuffed animals aboard.

For the last two years, the city's Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5405 has supplied the Winter Springs Police Department with stuffed animals that the officers give to special children.

Marilyn Mayo, the president of the VFW Auxiliary, recently presented 61 new cuddly animals to Officer Allison Smith. "We believe this is a good project," Smith said. "Many times our officers respond to incidents where children are involved — domestic violence, fires, accidents. Whatever the reason, we have something we can give to a child to hold onto as a security blanket."

Smith told a story of how an officer was eating lunch one day while on duty and a family came into the restaurant. The little boy, who had the chicken pox, was frightened to talk to the officer. After his meal, the officer went to his patrol car and came back with a stuffed

Thrift Store relies on volunteerism

Habitat builds a wardrobe even faster than a home

By Russ White
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Many items donated to the Habitat Thrift Store and Lovely Boutique are sold within minutes after their arrival.

"Customers come to see what's new in the morning and come back later to see if anything else has come in," Store Manager Marianne Van says. "They know no one can beat our prices."

Just as Habitat helps families build homes, its thrift store can build a handsome wardrobe at a minimum cost. It also supplies people with tools, antiques, collectibles, washing machines, refrigerators and furniture.

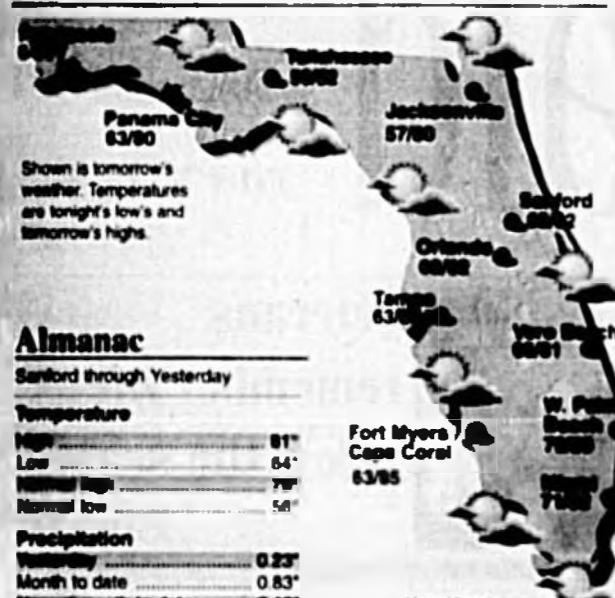

Located across from SunBank on U.S. Highway 17-92 and Airport Blvd., the thrift store serves hundreds of people, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Van is assisted by church and community volunteers — and welcomes others who would help sort and price merchandise, hang clothing and run registers. In fact, volunteers are in short supply at the store.

April — the most enchanting month of all

You'll be pleased to know that I'm not going to give you an opinion on: (1) Elian Gonzalez, (2) Jean Metts, or (3) Erin Brockovich.

This is a far more important matter: April.

April happens to be the most enchanting month of the year. I'd like it to be April every other month. My calendar would go this way: April, February, April, May, April, June, April, September, April, October, April, December.

April is Opening Day, real play in the NBA, new shows on Broadway. When April showers come our way, they bring the flowers that grow in May. April is a tender kiss of spring, sunshine on the shoulder, a barefoot walk in the park.

I've had some very nice Aprils. One was in Paris, another on Capri. I've experienced the Cherry Blossoms in Washington, D.C., and watched spring replace winter in old Montreal. My wife and I began dating in April of 1966 — my favorite April of them all.

There are some sneak snow storms in April. I remember once when the Boston Red Sox had to postpone Opening Day because Fenway Park was a playground of white. Some of the players threw snowballs at the left-field fence known as the Green Monster. That afternoon, they trodled at a candlestick bowl-ing lane a block away.

The first springs I recall are the ones when I was growing up. We'd start playing ball in spring. Workup games. There were a dozen of us — sometimes more. Two or three would hit, the others in the field. You worked your way up to bat. If the left-fielder caught a fly, he replaced the hitter.

What was neat about workup — as compared to Little League or the like — is that a boy was able to bat 40 or more times a day.

"We all became good hitters," the late and legendary pitcher Eddie Lopat told me. "The kids today don't get to do that. They're fortunate to get a couple good pitches to hit in Little League games."

To this day I not only recall the first workup games but the scent and sound of Aprils past. Everything was so bright and fresh. Sometimes, I'd be breaking in a new baseball glove — a Christmas or birthday present. I'd have slept with the glove for months and at last really get to break it on the field. Instead of dreaming of great catch, I would be making them.

Later, when our sons were old enough, we would go to the same field where I had played ball. Sharing their April was even better than the Aprils of my youth. Todd and Jason would invite their friends along. We'd start a game of workup.

Either Todd or Jason would ask if I wouldn't throw as hard — but later begged me to throw harder.

The boys are grown now, gone from home. I realize today, as I enter the September of my years, that my Aprils are dwindling down to a precious few. I might take the wife to a movie today or to the Miss Seminole County Pageant on Sunday. My wife takes care of our taxes each April. I've never had the time.

Russ White's column appears daily in the Seminole Herald.

Our View

Image is everything Group spreading the word about the good things in Sanford

Image is important. Especially for municipalities who use it to attract business, commerce and people to their area. Likewise, a bad image can cause a city to suffer.

Although people living in Sanford know the truth, the outside world's image of Sanford has not always been positive. They can't think of reasons why they would want to visit, live or work in what was once "The City Substantial."

But, one local group is giving them reasons. They are spreading a message — people like living in Sanford. They like working here and they have a good time when they come to visit.

A group of prominent Sanford leaders and business people, including Cal Conklin, Bill Colbert, Bill Kirchoff, Sylvia Bauer, Tom Ball, Central Florida Regional Hospital, Paul Porter, Jim Dunn, Sara Jacobson, Eoghan Kelley, Bill Painter, Jeno Paulucci, Tony Russi, Doug Stenstrom, Leo Trepant, Bobby Von Herbulis, Bev and Arnie Westgaard and Rami Yosefian say they are tired of Sanford getting a bad rap. They realize by improving Sanford's image, the entire community — through business and property values — will benefit. So the group reestablished The Sanford Advertising Co-Op.

The Sanford Advertising Co-Op was created in 1994 by Sara Jacobson for the sole purpose of creating cooperative advertising to help build a better image for Sanford. The group raised enough money to regularly run a Sanford television commercial highlighting different points within the city. However, the original incarnation of the Co-Op became inactive in 1996 due to lack of support.

However, in February, the group reawakened when a local businessman commented that it would be nice to see the Sanford commercial once again on television. Twelve people joined forces and invested $1,000 each to bring the commercial back to television.

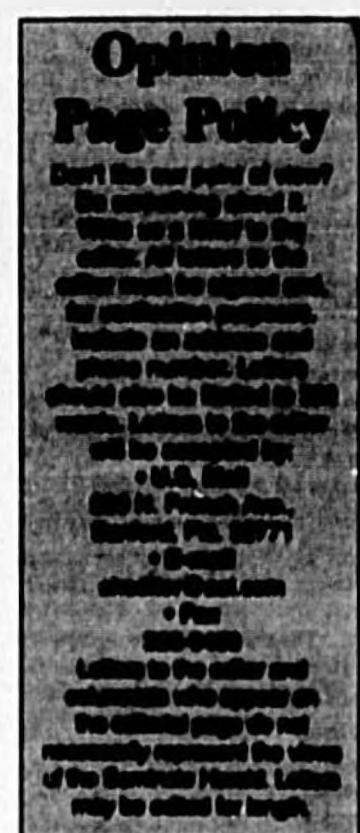

The leaders of the Co-Op agreed to launch a full-scale campaign within the Sanford community. The campaign proposes image building for all of Sanford. It will broadcast as many of Sanford's attributes as funding will allow beginning with the Downtown area. The ultimate plan is to buy 60-second spots where the Co-Op can recognize all of the city's virtues.

The first 30-second commercial will air on Channel 9, WFTV in some very prime slots. People can see it in the morning between 6 and 8:30 a.m., and then between noon and 12:30 p.m., and finally between 4 and 6 p.m. The commercial features "The Shoppes of Sanford — Florida's Fastest Growing Antiques Marketplace." The Co-Op decided to begin its advertising campaign with the downtown area for one very good reason — if you build a better downtown, you build a better city.

As funds develop, the group said the commercial will expand to 60-second spots where the focus will be on various city attributes, including the waterfront, the railroad system, area activities, recreation, events and the its location between some of the major hot spots in Central Florida.

But, to do this, the Co-Op needs new advertisers to join their campaign. Residents who believe in their community, own property or own a business in Sanford can only benefit from this program. A good image for Sanford can only mean good things will happen for all of us.

If you would like to help in the Sanford advertising campaign, you can contact Sara Jacobson at 407-322-0948.

Revenge of the hatchbacks — almost

You couldn't turn on a TV news show this weekend without hearing about gas prices. The topic actually was "soaring" gas prices, the adjective now immovably connected to the phrase in jargonese, like "raging" fire, "bitter" cold, "stunning" upset and "grinding" halt.

The price passed $2 a gallon in the Bay Area recently, prompting general grumbling and front-page coverage. I don't know. When we regularly spend $2.25 for a cup of coffee and $1.50 for a few gulps of bottled water, we might face just the slightest credibility problem in whining about $2 for a gallon of gas.

For many people, however, soaring gas prices have brought an unexpected pleasure. The long-simmering resentment toward sport utility vehicle drivers has burst into a glorious full boil. "SUV driver" is the new shorthand for self-centered, image-obsessed, new-money gluttons on cell phones.

It matters not at all whether it's true. Every culture in every time finds enemies within, and we have shown enmity to many in recent years — minorities, immigrants, welfare recipients. But there's nothing quite as satisfying — or as safely politically correct — as feeling superior to people richer or more famous than we are. (I personally am enjoying the current backlash against the gay-baiting Dr. Laura, who has surpassed Howard Stern and Rush Limbaugh as the most-listened-to radio talk show host in America. People! She's a bigot and a shrew! Rush is Leo Buscaglia in comparison! Listen to music!)

Now that gas prices have us envisioning another 1970s crisis, when we vied for our turn at the gas pump, it's open season on SUV drivers. Sometime in the past month, as prices began their 36-cents-a-gallon climb, SUVers officially joined the ranks of cigarette-smokers as a class of people we are allowed, even encouraged, to disdain, the ones who serve to make the rest of us feel nobler. Think of the story of the bichon frise who was tossed into traffic by an enraged driver in San Jose earlier this month. The dog-killer was invariably described as the "SUV driver" even after a description of the vehicle had been established in the story.

"The bump threw the SUV driver into a rage," wrote the Associated Press, in a typical example.

And many readers surely thought, "Well, of course. An SUV driver." One can't imagine the story referring constantly to the "station-wagon driver" or the "hatchback."

people will play this continental board game in the most obvious way, by picking his vice president from this partisan

"Kashmir."

I predict Bush will pick Pennsylvania Governor Tom Ridge first, because of geography, history (he rose from a working class background to attend Harvard and win a pair of Bronze stars in Vietnam) and personality (Bush once confessed that he wants a running mate who "likes me"). Apparently his fellow governor does.

Gore cannot play the same game for the simple reason that, with the possible exception of Illinois senator Dick Durbin, none of the disputed industrial states boasts a Democrat of sufficient stature to fill Gore's vice presidential shoes. Not Pennsylvania. Not Ohio. Not Michigan.

So the vice president needs to try a different gambit. He needs to win those big states in the upper middle of the country with a ticket that packs a wallop from coast to coast. He needs a veep who, by his current position and political resume, outranks even the man he's running against.

driver."

The greatest satisfaction for SUV bashers, of course, is listening to the bing-bang of the pump as drivers rack up $50 tabs filling their enormous tanks. They seem finally to be getting the comeuppance that non-SUVers always knew would come.

Except it's not true. The SUV drivers aren't suffering any more than the rest of us. In most cases, they're suffering less, relatively speaking.

The New York Times recently compared the cost of driving a Chevrolet Suburban versus a Ford Taurus mid-sized sedan. If both traveled the same number of miles in a year, the Suburban would burn 53 percent more gas. But because the typical Suburban owner earns 75 percent more than a Taurus owner ($44,700 versus $34,100), higher gas prices actually have a greater impact on the Taurus owner.

In other words, the average SUV driver's grocery budget is not going to feel the pinch of a few more cents at the pump.

But that's no reason to quit dumping on SUV drivers. Somebody's got to carry the villain load for the culture, and they've got the cargo space.

Campaign 2000 actually territorial board game

President Clinton's trip to India, Pakistan and Bangladesh offers a bizarre preview of the race to succeed him here at home. I say this because the map of South Asia, with its Muslim states to the west and east and giant Hindu-dominated nation in the center, copies the political geography here at home. In America, it's the Democrats who own the coastal real estate west and east. California, Oregon and Washington comprise the U.S. equivalent of Pakistan. That contiguous group of states from Maine to Maryland is the apple pie parallel to Bangladesh. Meanwhile, the great middle of the country, from the Rockies to the Carolinas, is Republican country. The fight this November will focus on who controls the industrial states stuck in between: Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Michigan. This is the disputed territory of partisan America. Democratic and Republican strategists now eye this area with the same mix of lust and jealousy that militant Indians and Pakistanis view Kashmir.

Both want it. Both think they need it. Both believe if the other side gets it, they win the game.

I predict that George W. Bush and his peers will play this continental board game in the most obvious way, by picking his vice president from this partisan

"Kashmir."

I predict Bush will pick Pennsylvania Governor Tom Ridge first, because of geography, history (he rose from a working class background to attend Harvard and win a pair of Bronze stars in Vietnam) and personality (Bush once confessed that he wants a running mate who "likes me"). Gore cannot play the same game for the simple reason that, with the possible exception of Illinois senator Dick Durbin, none of the disputed industrial states boasts a Democrat of sufficient stature to fill Gore's vice presidential shoes. Not Pennsylvania. Not Ohio. Not Michigan.

So the vice president needs to try a different gambit. He needs to win those big states in the upper middle of the country with a ticket that packs a wallop from coast to coast. He needs a veep who, by his current position and political resume, outranks even the man he's running against.

That candidate is Governor Gray Davis, 58, of California. A graduate of Columbia law, he carries Ivy League credentials, as does Gore. He matches Ridge's Vietnam-won Bronze Star with one of his own. As governor of the country's largest state, Davis leapfrogs Bush's relentless bragging about being governor of the "second-largest state."

Most important, Gore-Davis would carry the heft of a truly continental ticket, a vice president running with the country's No. 1 governor.

For extra credit, a Gore-Davis ticket would provide the Democrats with the party's most formidable fund-raiser. It would make California the immovable anchor of the Gore campaign, turning out a huge Latino vote for the chance to make Lieutenant Governor Cruz Bustamante the state's top executive.

Most important, it would make Al Gore look like a political heavyweight by refusing to fight over a single portion of the 2000 electoral map, the industrial Midwest, but instead choosing to sweep the board.

So much choice but so little time

One thing that experience teaches a person is that things are rarely what they seem. From the actual take-home amount of that first paycheck to your first personal encounter involving rudity, there are always disappointments.

Red Green

ments and compromises that must be made on a mutual basis.

I've also been shocked to learn that although having no choice in life is a bad thing, and having some choice in life is a good thing, having lots of choice in life is a horrible thing.

Think of your life decisions as movies in a video store. You want to pick from maybe five alternatives: drama, action, comedy, classic or even a musical if you have no minimum level. You don't want to be faced with the thousand options they have staring at you. Instead of being able to make a decision and move forward, you'll spend your life looking at the choices and eating free popcorn.

Too much choice is a bad thing. That's why ugly people do better in a small town.

GARBAGE IN GARBAGE OUT

I'm not sure exactly when I figured out that people are made up of chemicals, but my guess would be sometime in the '80s.

We are all complex mixtures of the various chemicals that make up our beings. A change in the chemicals makes a change in the person. Hydrogen and oxygen make water. That's it. Anything you add makes a huge difference. You can't also throw in a load of Bunker C Crude and still have water, as everyone at Exxon now knows.

So we should all be aware of the chemicals we are putting in our bodies on a daily basis. The more chemicals, the more chemical reactions. The more chemical reactions, the less chance of you making new friends or being allowed back into the hot tub.

You'll need to do a lot of your own research on this because everyone's different, but as a general rule, never mix carbonated overproof alcoholic fruit drinks with any type of cheese derivative having a pH above 9.

Caller: Equipped youngsters with begging bowls

Odds and ends that don't warrant a column all to themselves, but which deserve the brief attention of two or three paragraphs apiece:

We are indebted to an elderly female caller on the Rush Limbaugh show recently for one of the most brilliant campaign ideas in many a moon.

Recalling that in 1996 the Democrats sent someone costumed as a cigarette (representing Big Tobacco) to every Gore rally, she suggested that this year the GOP should send to every Gore rally a few high-spirited youngsters dressed in the saffron robes of Buddhist monks, each carrying a begging bowl. They wouldn't have to beg or protest; they could even be equipped with Gore placards. But their high-visibility presence — which the TV cameras would find almost impossible to ignore — would be a constant reminder to everyone there of Gore's notorious visit to that illegal fund-raiser in the Los Angeles

William Rusher

Buddhist temple, for organizing which his good friend Maria Hilda has just been convicted on five felony counts.

If the Republican National Committee doesn't leap on this one, it deserves to lose in November.

While we're at it, here's another suggestion for the Bush strategists:

The words "campaign-finance reform," applied to the McCain-Feingold bill, are of course a grotesque misnomer.

The bill would forbid Republicans to raise "soft money" from businesses, but leave labor unions free to spend tens of millions of dollars (much of it extorted from Republican union members) on behalf of Democratic candidates. But who can possibly be against campaign-finance reform? Republican efforts to even things up by including "paycheck protection" provisions in the bill on behalf of dissident union members are routinely dismissed by the media as hypocritical, on the ground that the Republicans know President Clinton would veto any bill containing them, even if the Democrats in the Senate didn't filibuster it to death.

But a Republican president and Congress would be able to pass an even-handed law. So why can't Governor Bush propose (and invite Senator McCain to endorse) "balanced campaign-finance reform"? Just adding that one word — "balanced" — neatly makes the point that badly needs to be made. And just how could Al Gore oppose balanced campaign-finance reform?

A good many years ago (well before "Jurassic Park") I wrote a column suggesting that, since mammoth carcasses 10,000 years old were constantly being unearthed in the Siberian tundra, modern science might soon be able to clone one of the beasts from the viable DNA in one of the carcasses, implanting the genetic material in the womb of a modern elephant.

I was cautious enough to check first with one of the science writers at the New York Times. He scoffed at the idea, but I persisted anyway.

Now comes news that one group of scientists, having discovered a nearly intact mammoth that has been frozen solid for ten millennia and transported it to an ice cave where it will stay frozen, is thinking about doing exactly that. Verily, a prophet is not without honor, save in his own country.

UNITED STATES ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY INVITES THE PUBLIC TO COMMENT ON THE PROPOSED CLEAN-UP PLAN FOR OPERABLE UNIT No. 1 (SOIL) OF THE SANFORD GASIFICATION PLANT SITE SANFORD, FLORIDA

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) announces the opening of a 30-day comment period on the Proposed Plan and preferred alternative in response to the risk posed by contamination at the Sanford Gasification Plant Site located in Sanford, Florida. As part of the public comment period, EPA will hold a public meeting on April 10, 2000, at 7:00 p.m. at the West Sanford Boys and Girls Club located at 1019 South Persimmon Avenue in Sanford.

Prior to final selection of a remedy, EPA will consider oral and written comments from the public and provide responses to those comments. The comment period begins on April 4, 2000 and ends on May 4, 2000. Interested citizens are encouraged to attend the public meeting and to review the Administrative Record in the information repository located at the North Branch Library, 150 North Palmetto Avenue, Sanford, Florida, and at EPA's Superfund Records Center, 61 Forsyth Street SW, Atlanta, Georgia. The Administrative Record contains documents supporting EPA's proposed plan and the information repository has other documents relevant to the site and the Superfund Program.

As the lead agency for the site, EPA conducted a remedial investigation (RI) to assess the nature and extent of contamination at the Site. A baseline risk assessment, comprised of a human health and an ecological risk assessment, and a feasibility study (FS) also were conducted. The results of these studies are summarized in the Remedial Investigation Report, the Baseline Risk Assessment Report, and the Feasibility Study Report.

Based upon the results of the RI/FS report, EPA prepared a Proposed Plan, which describes the cleanup alternatives and provides EPA's rationale for recommending this cleanup. EPA evaluated the following alternatives:

Alternative 1: No Action

The National Oil and Hazardous Substances Contingency Plan requires EPA to evaluate a No Action Alternative to establish a baseline for comparison with other remedial alternatives. Under this alternative, no further remedial action would be taken to address the source areas.

Alternative 2(a)

Alternative 2(a) includes the removal of surface and subsurface soil and hot spots to risk-based levels, groundwater monitoring, and transportation of the removed soil to an off-site permitted solid waste facility for thermal treatment.

Alternative 2(b)

Alternative 2(b) includes the removal of surface and subsurface soil and hot spots to cleanup goals, groundwater monitoring, and transportation of the removed soil to an off-site location for landfill disposal.

Alternative 2(c)

Alternative 2(c) includes the removal of surface and subsurface soil and hot spots to cleanup goals, groundwater monitoring, and transportation of the removed soil to an off-site Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA)-permitted Subtitle C landfill for disposal.

Alternative 3

Alternative 3 includes construction of a soil cover over the contaminated soil and groundwater pumping system and monitoring.

Alternative 4(a)

Alternative 4(a) includes removal of soil to the water table, in situ (in place) cement stabilization of subsurface hot spots, groundwater monitoring, and transportation of the removed soil to an off-site permitted solid waste facility for thermal treatment.

Alternative 4(b)

Alternative 4(b) includes removal of soil to the water table, in situ (in place) cement stabilization of subsurface hot spots, groundwater monitoring, and transportation of the removed soil to an off-site landfill for disposal.

Alternative 5(a)

Alternative 5(a) includes removal of soil to the confining unit, groundwater monitoring, and transportation of the removed soil to an off-site permitted solid waste facility for thermal treatment.

Alternative 5(b)

Alternative 5(b) includes removal of soil to the confining unit, groundwater monitoring, and transportation of the removed soil to an off-site landfill for disposal.

Alternative 5(c)

Alternative 5(c) includes removal of soil to the confining unit, groundwater monitoring, and transportation of the removed soil to an off-site RCRA-permitted Subtitle C landfill for disposal.

EPA recommends Alternatives 2(a) and 2(c). Remove Surface Soil and Subsurface Soil to Risk-Based Levels, Remove "Hot Spots" and Groundwater Monitoring with Off-Site Thermal Treatment Disposal for Removed Soil, after determination of soil waste characterization. The combination of these two alternatives would be the most effective remedial strategy taking into consideration effectiveness versus cost and attempting to minimize the impact to residents.

EPA encourages interested citizens to review the Proposed Plan and other materials in the information repository and to attend the public meeting on April 10, 2000, to provide EPA with your input. Based on public comment, EPA, in consultation with the Florida Department of Environmental Protection, will select the remedy for the Site after considering all public comment.

Written comments on the Proposed Plan and preferred remedy should be postmarked on or before May 4, 2000, and mailed to:

Pan Am looks to lease fuel farm

By Bill Kems
Staff Writer

SANFORD — Pan American Airways continues to expand its services at the Orlando Sanford Airport.

On Tuesday, the Sanford Airport Authority will consider approval of a lease with Pan Am to operate an aviation fuel farm that was recently vacated.

Pan Am is requesting a 10-year lease for the airport's 11,300 square-foot fuel farm. Total annual rental of the land and facilities would be $14,931.

The airline began daily service between Sanford and Pittsburgh this week, adding to service that includes Portsmouth and the Chicago-Gary Airport.

By the end of April, Pan Am is expected to add service to St. Louis through the Mid-America Airport. Pan Am officials say that the Sanford airport is the airline's most popular destination.

"Pan Am's business has increased so much in the few short months that it has been here," said Victor White, director of the Sanford Airport Authority. "They want to make sure of the availability of fuel when they need it. They want to store the fuel here and buy it elsewhere."

Pan Am resumed regular service in October 1999. The first scheduled passenger flight for Pan Am since February 1998 provided Sanford's airport with its first regularly scheduled domestic service. The airline also operates a maintenance facility at Sanford's airport.

Airline officials say they are looking into additional expansions, including starting a charter service with possible flights between Sanford and locations such as Key West, Fort Myers and Tallahassee.

In order for Pan Am to use the fuel farm for fueling of its aircraft, the facility must be expanded and brought up to a higher technical standard. White said the Airport Authority can utilize an existing Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) grant in the amount of $100,000 for this work.

The project will include upgrades to the current facility to meet Federal Aviation Authority (FAA) standards for airline fueling and the installation of an additional 20,000-gallon fuel tank. The grant provides 50-50 funding, and Pan Am would pay the remaining 50 percent of the total amount.

Pan Am would only be permitted to fuel aircraft it owns or leases.

White will recommend on Tuesday that the Airport Authority terminate an existing lease for the fuel farm with JettAire Group Inc., which has gone out of business.

Meanwhile, efforts to achieve charter service from Sanford continue. Representatives from Pan Am and British tour operators met with business leaders in Fort Myers on March 7. Pan Am purchased ten J-31 charter aircraft during March.

From March 1 to March 29, Pan Am conducted 94 operations in and out of Sanford. The inbound flights from Portsmouth to Sanford had a total of 3,328 passengers, for a load factor of 93 percent. Flights out of Sanford to Portsmouth carried an average load of 93.6 percent, with 3,348 passengers.

Flights to Sanford from the Chicago-Gary airport carried a total of 1,843 passengers, or averaging 51.5 percent of load capacity. Outbound flights from Sanford to Chicago averaged 39.2 percent capacity, for a total of 1,403 passengers.

Pan Am is owned by Guilford Transportation Industries, a Portsmouth-based railroad operator and owner of paper mills.

The original Pan Am filed for bankruptcy in 1991, and the second Pan Am also filed for bankruptcy. This is the third incarnation of the airline.

Indian company negotiates leases with Authority

By Bill Kems
Staff Writer

SANFORD — A Virginia-based aviation company with strong ties to India is proposing to expand the North terminal facility at the Orlando Sanford Airport.

Cambata Aviation International has agreed to purchase the former JettAire Group leasehold to the North terminal facility. JettAire has filed for bankruptcy.

Airport Authority staff and Cambata have negotiated three new leases of up to 30 years totaling about 1.2 million square feet of land and ramp space on the northside of the airport at an annual rental of $165,968.

Cambata expects to invest about $2 million to improve the facility. The leases contain land with room for expansion within the next five years.

The facility would be run as a Fixed Base Operator (FBO), providing for the refueling of airplanes.

"We're excited about our new tenant for the north terminal facility," White said. "This is sure to enhance the airport. It's quite an opportunity."

Nelson Cambata, president of Cambata Industries, said he is hoping to turn the facility into one of the leading Fixed Base Operators in the nation.

Subject to Airport Authority board approval, the closing on the deal is expected to take place on Tuesday. At closing, Cambata will pay the Authority $80,224, which represents unpaid rent over the term of the JettAire lease.

In addition, Cambata will pay the Airport Authority up to $40,000 for attorney fees. Cambata will also pay Spolski General Contractor $597,896 for services, plus $2.4 million to pay off the bonds and up to $75,000 for attorney fees and costs incurred by the trustee of the bonds, US Trust Bank.

National Association

Cambata will be using the business name of "StarPort" for its operations on the airport. They have requested that the street, which provides access to their property off of U.S. Highway 46, be renamed as

"StarPort Way"

Currently, the Cambata group of companies has more than 3,000 employees worldwide.

Cambata's primary business involves the operation of a commercial aircraft support and service business in India currently handling 14 international airlines, including Swissair and Lufthansa.

About 90 percent of all executive and general aviation traffic through Bombay and Delhi Airports in India are regularly handled by Cambata Aviation.

Other business interests include restaurants, a travel agency, music stores, and the largest movie theater currently in operation in India.

U.S. Chamber wants changes in benefits

From staff reports

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce has called on Congress to protect workers' benefits and amend the Fair Labor Standards Act to exclude income from stock option programs from hourly employees' overtime pay calculations.

"As the nation's labor shortage intensifies, stock options are becoming an increasingly critical tool for companies to attract and retain good workers and a popular employee incentive to increase worker productivity," said Bruce Foster, U.S. Chamber executive vice president. "The only way to ensure that employers will continue to offer—and hourly workers continue to enjoy—these benefit programs is for Congress to pass legislation to exempt them from base pay calculations."

The Department of Labor and members of Congress have agreed to protect the stock option benefit, after concerns were raised when a Department of Labor advisory letter suggested stock options were to be used for overtime pay calculations. Without legislation, employers would be forced to engage in a complex recalculation of overtime pay or, more likely, would decline to offer stock options to hourly employees, according to the Chamber.

Companies increasingly are offering stock options and other employee ownership plans, traditionally reserved for executives, to their rank and file employees to help attract and retain workers in a tightening labor market and to help boost worker productivity and build team spirit, according to the Chamber.

A 1998 survey by Hewitt Associates found that more than two-thirds of large U.S. companies offer stock option plans to non-executive, including 26 percent that offer stock options to 100 percent of their workforce.

He told the boy that chicken pox made the boy special just like the "spotted" dog he gave him.

The boy smiled and thanked the officer.

"Thanks to the continual supply of stuffed animals provided by the Winter Springs VFW, we can put smiles on many children's faces," Smith said.

Mayo said that she and her husband, retired Navy Commander William Mayo, have lived in Winter Springs the past four years and are both involved in VFW activities.

"The stuffed animal project is fun for everyone involved," she said. "We collect the nicest ones we can find and bring them to Allison Smith. She puts them into plastic bags to keep them clean and distributes them to the officers on patrol."

and Van said she is in desperate need of help.

Unlike inside the stores at the mall, the Habitat shop often rocks with laughter and cheerfulness.

"Recently when a group of students from another area stopped in we gave them a better time than they imagined," Van said.

Knowing that the group on the school bus was going to be visiting Disney World, Habitat Volunteer Paul Lane reached for a pair of Mickey Mouse ears that someone had donated to the store. When she had them on, Lane and the others at the thrift shop sang the Mickey Mouse song to the visitors.

"Who's the leader of the club it was a riot," Van said.

"Everyone loved it. No one's afraid to be themselves here. There's always something good happening."

Van said that a 4-piece dining room set sold for $1,000 at the store. "That's about the most any certain thing ever sold here," she said. "We have a gorgeous love seat (emerald green) for $300. But the majority of items are very inexpensive. You can buy a pair of shoes for 25 cents, a suit, tie and shirt for 25 cents apiece. I don't know where you can get anything like what we have for less than a dollar."

The Way We Were: Not sure what to make of a young Elvis

The March issue of the magazine "Florida Living" has a fascinating 20-page section on "Florida's Legends of the 20th Century." According to the editor, a panel of experts were consulted with the results being extensive and sometimes surprising.

The section is filled with pictures and interesting information about most of the choices. I had never heard of many of the selections, so much was learned about our state.

There are too many to list here, but I thought I'd name some of the legends that either have a tie to this area or with whom I had a somewhat personal experience.

Florida Duke of the Century was the election of Suford Catts as governor. He was a Baptist minister who ran on the Prohibition Party ticket. A relative unknown prior to the 1916 election, Catts is said to have visited the Governor's Mansion during the western Florida Baptist Conference in 1915. He asked Governor Trammell how much it cost and the reply was that it was provided rent free by the taxpayers of Florida. A few weeks later, Catts announced his candidacy.

Grace Marie Stinecipher

So how does Governor Catts relate to Sanford? Well, on Sunday Jan. 17, 1918, he preached at both morning and evening services at First Baptist Church and stated that it was an honor and a privilege to be pastor at First Baptist of Sanford for one day.

Florida's Political Race of the Century was Pepper v. Smathers U.S. Senate Democratic Primary. This match up occurred in 1950 between incumbent Claude Pepper and George Smathers.

Became caught with immendor Pepper lost the election, but returned to Washington in 1962 as a member of the House of Representatives.

I well remember this race as probably many of you do. I was an eighth grader at Sanford Junior High and were a brother, but that I still have. We students were just as emotional over the race as were our parents.

Red Barber was selected as Florida Voice of the Century. He was known as "Mr. Baseball" who brought the sport to life for millions of radio listeners.

The information on him comes from his attending the University of Florida, but does n't say that he was from Sanford. Walter "Red" Barber graduated from Sanford High School in 1926. I found him on the 1924 football team along with Sam Byrd, another notable SHS alumnus. Even without color pictures in the 1926 Salmagundi, one can tell why Walter was nicknamed "Red" since his curly mop of hair is very distinctive. The sports he was involved in while at SHS included three years of football, four years of baseball, and has football manager. He was also active in the H.O.Y., was class treasurer and was in the senior play.

His mother, Selena Barber, was principal of Southside Primary School and later Sanford Grammar School. I know that my mother, Marie Stenner Stinecipher, taught under her at Sanford Grammar during the late 1920s. Red's dad was William L. he is listed as an Al Engenier in the 1924 city directory. They lived at 131 Palmetto across from Southside Primary.

The Florida Actor of the Century was Bert Reynolds. Bert grew up in Riviera Beach and attended Florida State University on a football scholarship. Several Sanford residents attended FSU with him from 1940. Mr. Buck Metts and Bubba Robins were actually on the football team with him.

You will be interested to know that the Florida "Kitsch" of the Century is Pink Flamingos!

Another Florida Duke of the Century was Snow in Dade County. This occurred Jan. 19, 1977, the only time snow was recorded in south Florida.

I was teaching at SHS at the time and this is etched on my memory. I even recorded the Sanford temp on my calendar. I have written "Snow" on Jan. 18 with temps ranging from 25 to 52 degrees. On the 19, the temperature only reached a high of 39 degrees and we sat huddled in classrooms with no heat. School was closed on Jan. 20, but it wasn't nearly as cold that day as the previous one.

The Florida Rancher of the Century was Andrew Duda. I wrote a sketch on him not long ago. He began by establishing a small farm in Okeechobee in 1949 which expanded into an agricultural empire. In the 1940s the Duda family entered the cattle industry, supplying beef for troops overseas during World War II. Today, the company owns cattle operations in Florida and Texas.

The Florida Performance of the Century was none other than Elvis Presley. In 1955 before he became famous, he visited Florida as part of a star-studded national tour. Stops included Daytona Beach, Orlando and Jacksonville.

His most memorable stop was on May 13, 1957, at the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville. Here after the concert, several girls stormed the locker room in search of Elvis. In a frenzy they grabbed, screamed, and fainted leaving Elvis centered in the showers, stunned. It was the beginning of the Elvis craze.

My dad, Martin Stinecipher, was an avid country music fan. My mother and I attended a concert with him at the Peabody Auditorium in Daytona during the summer of 1955. The on the program included Berlin.

AL EAST: Yankees have new dynasty

By H.W. Siner

The American League East is probably the best division in the major leagues. Only Tampa Bay seems unable to keep pace.

Going into the 2000 season, this is how the teams shape up:

1. NEW YORK YANKEES

Coming off their 25th world championship, the Team of the Century has a new dynasty. The Yankees have won three of the last four World Series.

Manager Joe Torre's pitching staff was tied for first in the AL in saves and was second in ERA.

Mariano Rivera (1.83 ERA, 45 saves) is the bullpen ace.

Key N.Y. starters: Orlando Hernandez (17-9, 3.12), David Cone (12-9, 3.44), Roger Clemens (14-10, 4.60) and Andy

Joe Torre

Pettitte (14-11, 4.70).

The offense features SS Derek Jeter (.349, 24 HRs, 102 RBIs, 134 runs), CF Bernie Williams (.342, 25, 102), RF Paul O'Neill (.285, 19, 110), 1B Tino Martinez (.263, 28, 105) and 2B Chuck Knoblauch (.292, 120 runs, 28 RBIs).

2. BOSTON RED SOX

Unanimous Cy Young winner Pedro Martinez (23-4, 2.07, 313 strikeouts) is Boston's best.

Despite hitter-friendly Fenway Park, pitching carried the Sox. But ailing Bret Saberhagen (10-6, 2.95), the only other winner in double figures, is out until July. So Ramon Martinez has to step up.

SS Nomar Garciaparra (.357,

Pedro Martinez

27, 104) is the star of manager Jim Williams' batting order. LF Troy O'Leary (.280, 28, 103), 1B Brian Daubach (.294, 21 HRs) and 2B Jose Offerman (.294, 107 runs) contribute. Import CF Carl Everett (.325, 25, 108 for Houston) can add some needed power.

3. TORONTO BLUE JAYS

The Blue Jays will contend if the pitchers do as well as the hitters.

Volatile RF Raul Mondesi (33 HRs, 99 RBIs, 36 SBs for Los Angeles) is the top newcomer. He joins 1B Carlos Delgado (.272, 44, 134), 3B Tony Batista (.285, 26, 79), LF Shannon Stewart (.304, 102 runs, 37 SBs), 2B Homer Bush (.320, 32 SBs) and C Darren Fletcher (.291).

ACE David Wells (17-10, 4.82, 231.2 innings) was the winningest AL left-hander. Billy Koch (3.39) set an AL rookie record with 31 saves. Manager Jim Fregosi has high hopes for starters Roy Halladay and Chris Carpenter.

4. BALTIMORE ORIOLES

Manager Mike Hargrove (busted from Cleveland) was hired to spark the motley, high-priced, under-achieving O's after a pair of sub-.500 seasons.

Mike Mussina (18-7, 3.50) tops what can be a good starting staff. Scott Erickson (15-12, 4.81) and Sidney Ponson (12-12, 4.71) are next. But closer Mike Timlin (3.57, 27 saves) had better get help in the bullpen.

SS Cal Ripken (.340) and 1B Will Clark (.303) are coming off injuries. RF Albert Belle (.297, 37, 117), CF Brady Anderson (.282, 24, 81), LF B.J. Surhoff (.308, 28, 107) and DH Harold Baines (.312, 25, 103) are productive.

5. TAMPA BAY DEVIL RAYS

Eighteen players spent a total of 863 days on Tampa's disabled list in 1999. So a healthy team is manager Larry Rothschild's first priority.

His drawing cards are DH Jose Canseco (.279, 34, 95) and 1B Fred McGriff (.310, 32, 104), along with LF Greg Vaughn (45 HRs, 118 RBIs for Cincinnati) and 3B Vinny Castilla (33 HRs, 102 RBIs for Colorado).

Closer Roberto Hernandez (3.07, 2 wins, 43 saves) took part in 45 of Tampa Bay's 69 victories. But none of the Devil Ray hurlers won in double figures. Juan Guzman (11-12, 3.74 for Baltimore and Cincinnati) is welcome.

AL CENTRAL: Indians still dominate

By H.W. Siner

With five straight American League Central titles, Cleveland remains dominant.

No other club in the division had a winning record last season.

Going into the 2000 season, this is how the teams shape up:

1. CLEVELAND INDIANS

Not since 1948 have the Indians won the World Series. They fell short after winning AL pennants in 1995 and 1997. Playoff ousters during the past two years hurt even more. No wonder Charlie Manuel is the new manager.

With an AL-best 1,019 runs, the '99 Tribe was powered by RF Manny Ramirez (.333, 44 HRs, 165 RBIs), 2B Roberto Alomar (.323, 24, 120, 138 runs, 37 SBs), 1B Jim Thome (.277, 33, 108) and DH Richie Sexson (.311 HRs, 116 RBIs).

Free-agent Chuck Finley (12-11, 4.43 ERA in Anaheim) was signed because Cleveland went 10-22 during the regular season vs. the other AL playoff teams. He joins starters Bartolo Colon (18-5, 3.95) and Charles Nagy (17-11, 4.95).

2. CHICAGO WHITE SOX

During the 1990s, the ChiSox had the fourth-best winning percentage (.526) in the major leagues. They finished second in the AL Central for the past four seasons. Now manager Jerry Manuel is guiding a youth movement. Veteran DH Frank Thomas (.305, 15, 77) must rebound from a sub-par year. Young RF Magglio Ordonez (.301, 30, 117) and 1B Paul Konerko (.294, 24, 81) are emerging. 2B Ray Durham (.296, 109 runs, 34 SBs) is in his prime.

Mike Satriano (11-13, 4.00) had the second-lowest ERA among AL lefties. James Baldwin (12-13, 5.10) also starts. Bob Howry (3.59 ERA) had 28 saves.

3. DETROIT TIGERS

After six losing years in a row, the Tigers have a new stadium, Comerica Park, a new manager, Phil Garner, and a new slugger, RF Juan Gonzalez (.326, 39, 128 for Texas). But they won't go far without better pitching.

Juan Gonzalez joins 3B Dean Palmer (.263, 38, 100), 1B Tony Clark (.280, 31, 99), 2B Damion Easley (20 HRs, 83 runs) in the middle of the batting order. DH Luis Polonia hit .324. C Brad Ausmus (.275) was Detroit's only AL All-Star.

Dave Mlicki (14-12, 4.60) and Brian Moehler (10-16, 5.04) lead the starters. Todd Jones (3.80, 30 saves) and Doug Brocail (2.52 ERA) relieve.

4. KANSAS CITY ROYALS

The Royals scored more runs than ever before (856) while giving up more than

Opening Day 2000

NL CENTRAL: Junior's Reds are hottest

By H.W. Siner

The National League Central features sluggers Mark McGwire, Sammy Sosa and Jeff Bagwell. Plus import Ken Griffey Jr., who lifts Cincinnati to No. 1.

Going into the 2000 season, this is how the teams shape up:

1. CINCINNATI REDS

Even before the arrival of CF Junior Griffey (245, 48 HRs, 134 RBIs, 121 runs, 24 SBs) for Seattle and LF Dante Bichette (248, 34, 133 for Colorado), the Reds were solid. Only a final-day loss to the N.Y. Mets halted them.

Key hitters: 1B Sean Casey (332, 25, 99), C Ed Taubensee (311, 21 HRs), SS Barry Larkin (293, 108 runs, 30 SBs) and 2B Polley Reese (285, 36 SBs).

The NL Rookie of the Year was pitcher Scott Williamson (12-7, 2.41 ERA, 19 saves). Manager Jack McKeon's starters include Pete Harnisch (16-10, 3.68), Danny Neagle (9-8, 4.27) and Steve Parris (11-4, 3.50).

2. ST. LOUIS CARDINALS

For a record fourth straight year, 1B Mark McGwire (278, 65, 147) hit at least 50 homers. Plus 3B Fernando Tatís (298, 34, 107, 104 runs, 21 SBs) turned into a star. SS Edgar Renteria (92 runs, 37 SBs) sets the table.

Manager Tony LaRussa's Cards draw a St. Louis record 3.2 million fans.

Kent Bottensfield (18-7, 3.97) turned into an ace. The revamped pitching rotation now includes Pat Hentgen (11-12, 4.79) for Toronto, Andy Benes (13-12, 4.61) for Arizona and Darryl Kile (8-13, 6.61) for Colorado.

Import Dave Veres (5-14, 31 saves for Colorado) is the new closer.

3. HOUSTON ASTROS

The Astros have won three division flags in a row for manager Larry Dierker. Now Houston opens Penn Field in the face of stiffer competition.

LB Jeff Bagwell (304, 42, 126, 143 runs, 30 SBs) and 2B Craig Biggio (294, 16, 73, 123 runs, 28 SBs) form a star duo. LF Moises Alou (career 295) returns from a season-long knee injury. The new CF is Roger Cedeno (313, 66 SBs for the N.Y. Mets). Third-baseman Ken Caminiti (296) must stay healthy. Jose Lima (21-10, 3.58) and Shane Reynolds (16-14, 3.85) are the leading starters. Billy Wagner (4-1, 1.57, 39 saves) is a top-notch closer.

4. CHICAGO CUBS

Call him Mr. Cub II. RF Sammy Sosa (248, 63, 141, 114 runs) is Wrigley Field's new Emile Banks. First-baseman Mark Grace (309, 16, 91, 107 runs) and LF Henry Rodriguez (304, 26, 87) have supporting roles. Newcomers are 2B Eric Young (281, 51 SBs for Los Angeles) and SS Ryne Gutiérrez (from Houston).

Veteran manager Don Baylor is another new arrival in Chicago.

Starter Kerry Wood, the 1998 NL Rookie of the Year, sought to return from elbow surgery. Jon Lieber (10-11, 4.07), Kevin Tapani (6-12, 4.83) and Luis Valdez (9-14, 3.98 in L.A.) are starters. Rick Aguilera (3.69) closes.

5. PITTSBURGH PIRATES

Four Pirates (a club record) had over 20 homers, including CF Brian Giles (315, 39, 115) and 1B Kevin Young (298, 26, 106). But Pittsburgh was still 12th in the NL in runs. Plus it was 14th in batting average. Losing catcher Jason Kendall (ankle injury) for the second half of '99 really hurt.

Manager Gene Lamont's pitchers were stink in the NL in ERA. Starter Todd Ritchie (15-9, 3.49 ERA) was the big surprise. Jason Schmidt (13-11, 4.19), Kris Benson (11-14, 4.07) and Francisco Cordova (8-10, 4.43) were also in the rotation. Closer Mike Williams (23 saves) needs help in the bullpen.

6. MILWAUKEE BREWERS

Rookie manager Davey Lopes takes over a club that hasn't been to the playoffs since 1982. The Brewers haven't even had a winning year since 1992.

RF Jeremy Burnitz (270, 33, 103), CF Marquis Grissom (267, 20, 83, 92 runs) and LF Geoff Jenkins (313, 21, 82) form a good outfield. But Milwaukee was 14th in the NL in batting average and walks last season.

Closer Bob Wickman (3.39 ERA) set a team record with 37 saves. But the rest of the bullpen is so-so. Only Steve Woodard (11-8, 4.52) returns to the starting rotation. However, the newcomers don't seem very promising.

TEAM RECORDS in 1999: HOUSTON, 96-67; CINCINNATI, 96-67; PITTSBURGH, 76-83; ST. LOUIS, 75-86; MILWAUKEE, 74-87; CHICAGO, 67-91.

NL WEST: Dodgers have wealth of talent

By H.W. Siner

The wealthy Los Angeles Dodgers figure to revive and win the National League West for the first time since 1995.

But Arizona won't just fold. Going into the 2000 season, this is how the teams shape up:

1. LOS ANGELES DODGERS

Coming off their worst finish since 1992, the Dodgers have something to prove. Manager Davey Johnson has enough talent on hand to build a winning team.

RF Shawn Green (309, 42 HRs, 123 RBIs in Toronto, with 134 runs, 20 SBs) can ease LA's hitting woes. He joins LF Gary Sheffield (301, 34, 101, 103 runs), 1B Eric Karros (304, 34, 112) and 3B Adrian Beltre (94 runs).

Costly starter Kevin Brown (18-9, 3.00 ERA, 252 1/2 innings pitched, 221 strikeouts) earns his pay. Darren Dredge (13-13, 4.79) and Chan Ho Park (13-11, 5.23) back him up. The closer is Jeff Shaw (2.78 with 34 saves).

2. ARIZONA DIAMONDBACKS

In their second year, manager Buck Showalter's Diamondbacks won 100 games and made the postseason sooner than any expansion franchise ever. Arizona's batters were first in the NL in runs and its pitchers were second in ERA.

Key hitters: 3B Matt Williams (.303, 35, 142), 2B Jay Bell (.289, 38, 112), CF Steve Finley (264, 34, 103), LF Luis Gonzalez (.336, 26, 111).

NL Cy Young winner Randy Johnson (17-9, 2.48, 271.2 innings pitched, 364 strikeouts) is the ace. Next come Omar Daal (16-9, 3.65) and Todd Stottlemyre (6-3, 4.09), back from a shoulder injury. Matt Mantel (2.76, 32 saves) closes.

3. SAN FRANCISCO GIANTS

For S.F. to succeed in new Pacific Bell Park, manager Dusty Baker's pitchers have to do as well as his batters. S.F. stood pat in the off-season.

Five Giants hit more than 20 HRs. LF Barry Bonds (262, 34, 83), RF Ellis Burks (282, 31, 96), 1B J.T. Snow (274, 24, 98), 2B Jeff Kent (290, 23, 101) and SS Rich Aurilia (281, 22, 80). CF Marvin Benard scored 100 runs.

ACE Russ Ortiz (18-9, 3.81)

can dominate. Kirk Rueter (15-10, 5.41) and Shawn Estes (11-11, 4.92) join him in the rotation. Livan Hernandez (8-12, 4.64) must beat down. Closer Robb Nen (3.98, 37 saves) had elbow surgery.

4. COLORADO ROCKIES

Finishing last didn't bring joy to the Rockies. New manager Buddy Bell has a Colorado roster that's nearly 50 percent different from last year's.

Hometown hero Larry Walker (379, 37, 115) led the NL in batting, slugging (.710) and on-base percentage (.458). First-baseman Todd Helton (320, 35, 113) also returns. Third-baseman Jeff Cirillo (326, 15-88 for Milwaukee) tops the new hitters.

Hard-throwing Pedro Astacio (17-11, 5.04) is the returning ace. Brian Bohanon (12-12, 6.20) is back, too.

Masato Yoshii (12-8, 4.40 for the N.Y. Mets) and Scott Karl (11-11, 4.78 for Milwaukee) help. The bullpen is a mess.

5. SAN DIEGO PADRES

To jazz up the weak offense, 1B Ryan Klesko (297, 21, 80) and 2B Bret Boone (20 HRs, 102 runs) were acquired from Atlanta. They'll help 2B Phil Nevin (24 HRs, 85 RBIs) drive in nearly 40-year-old RF Tony Gwynn (.338).

San Diego was last in the NL in batting and next to last in runs and homers.

Manager Bruce Bochy gets relief from high-priced closer Trevor Hoffman (2.14, with 40 saves). Starters Sterling Hitchcock (12-14, 4.11), Woody Williams (12-12, 4.41) and Matt Clement (10-12, 4.48) didn't overwhelm.

6. ARIZONA DIAMONDBACKS

For S.E. to succeed in new Pacific Bell Park, manager Dusty Baker's pitchers have to do as well as his batters. S.E. stood pat in the off-season.

NL EAST: Mets enter brave new world

By H.W. Siner

Look for the New York Mets to replace the Atlanta Braves as the champion of the National League East. And as the NL pennant winner, too.

Going into the 2000 season, this is how the teams shape up:

1. NEW YORK METS

Playing in the postseason for the first time since 1998, the Mets lasted until the 11th inning of Game 6 vs. Atlanta in the N.L. Championship Series.

Imported ace Mike Hampton (22-4, 2.90 ERA for Houston) is a big plus. He joins starters Al Lester (13-12, 4.21) and Rick Reed (11-5, 4.58), Armando Benítez (18-5, 22 saves) and John Franco (2.88, 19 saves) top the bullpen.

2. ATLANTA BRAVES

If Curt Schilling (15-6, 3.54) doesn't recover soon from his shoulder injury, the Phillies might suffer. His absence late last season hurt the team's pitching. Paul Byrd (15-11, 4.60) was a bright spot. Import Andy Ashby (14-10, 3.80) can help. Mike Jackson (39 saves in Cleveland) is the new closer.

Manager Terry Francona's young squad has C Mike Lieberthal (30, 31, 96), 3B Scott Rolen (26, 26, 77), RF Bobby Abreu (315, 21, 93, 118 runs, 27 SBs) and CF Doug Glanville (325, 101 runs, 34 SBs). LF Ron Gant (26, 17, 77, 107 runs) is a threat. So is 1B Rico Brogna (278, 24, 102).

3. PHILADELPHIA PHILLIES

If Curt Schilling (15-6, 3.54) doesn't recover soon from his shoulder injury, the Phillies might suffer. His absence late last season hurt the team's pitching. Paul Byrd (15-11, 4.60) was a bright spot. Import Andy Ashby (14-10,

4. MONTREAL EXPOS

New ownership may finally bring a bit of improvement. So hopes veteran Expos manager Felipe Alou. Reliever Ugueth Urbina (3.69 ERA with an NL-high 41 saves) and RF Vladimir Guerrero (316, 42, 131) can be the foundation.

Dustin Hermanson (9-14, 4.20) is supposed to become the ace, with backing from Mike Thurman (7-11, 4.05) and Hideki Irabu (11-7, 4.84) for the N.Y. Yankees. Urbina took part in 69 percent of Montreal's victories.

Manager John Boles (9-14, 4.20) is supposed to become the ace, with backing from Mike Thurman (7-11, 4.05) and Hideki Irabu (11-7, 4.84) for the N.Y. Yankees. Urbina took part in 69 percent of Montreal's victories.

Time to strap on the pads

Firemen to play charity football game

By Dean Smith
SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD - Have you been feeling empty since the end of the football season?

Are your Sunday's just not the same?

Then have we got a game for you.

Next Saturday night at University High School in Orlando the 4th Annual Firefighters Charity Bowl Football Game.

The game features a team from Seminole County Firefighters taking on a squad of Orange County Firefighters.

Among those expected to play for the Seminole County team are former Lyman High School and Seminole Community College basketball player Craig Radatz and World Class Master Skier Mike Salter.

In April of 1999, over 3,000 spectators attended the 3rd Annual Firefighters Charity Football Bowl and more than $6,000 was raised for the Missing Children Center, Inc.

This year's game will begin at 7 p.m. and once again all proceeds from the event will benefit the Missing Children Center, Inc. located in Seminole County and over $2,100 have been raised from sponsors and pre-ticket sales.

Schulte's shot boosts Oviedo by Seminole

By Tony DeBormer
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

"Just" four home runs, 15 RBI, and a .307 average.

Add another home run and two RBI to the total.

Schulte launched a two-out, two-run home run in the bottom of the seventh inning Friday night to cap Oviedo's rally from a 3-0 deficit for a 4-3 win over the visiting Seminoles at Paul Milder Field.

"He [Seminole losing pitcher Chris Krall] just kept throwing me fastballs," said Schulte. "I was lucky enough to get one out over the plate where I could get a good swing at it."

Lake Mary stuns Lake Brantley with two-run final inning rally

By David Gaines
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

LAKE MARY - It was deja vu for Lake Brantley and Lake Mary Friday night. It was just in reverse this time.

The two Seminole Athletic Conference baseball giants confronted each other in front of a packed house at Lake Mary High School and just like the last time these two teams met the winning team mounted a huge seventh inning rally to win the game.

When the Patriots and Rams met at Lake Brantley last month, the hosts scored six runs in the bottom of the last inning to defeat the Rams 6-5.

But the case was reversed this time as it was the Rams coming up with the last inning heroics to steal the win from the Patriots, 2-1.

This game was a defensive battle throughout as both teams shut each other down.

Lake Mary's defense was led by its starting pitcher, Adam Sambra, who only allowed two hits, one earned run, and struck out nine Lake Brantley batters.

Sambra proved right from the start that he was going to be tough in this game as he struck out the side in the first inning.

Lake Brantley starting pitcher Ian Holmen also retired Lake Mary in order in the bottom of the first and the Patriots threatened to have a big inning in the top of the second when, with two outs, they loaded the bases on walks to John See Rams, Page 2B

Submarine vets treasure duty beneath sea

By Russ White
Staff Writer

Norman Kurz did more than go to sea in a ship to serve his country — he went beneath it.

Enlisting in the Navy in 1942, Kurz requested submarine duty.

When he received that call in 1957, Kurz was a salty 15-year veteran with a score of World War II medals. Yet, he was just as eager as a kid for life on a sub.

"I'd do it all over again, same way," 76-year-old Kurz of Debary said. "How many of us get exactly what we wish for? And live to tell about it?"

Kurz is a member of the Central Florida Submarine Veterans who swap sea stories each month at the Fleet Reserve Center in Sanford. He said there are 34 active members.

"I'm the oldest guy," he said. "But we all share one thing in common. We've known the dangers of the deep, the depths of the ocean. That makes us brothers."

To have surfaced as he did after a 26-year Navy tour, Kurz said, he was to be extremely blessed. There were plenty of close calls, not only in World War II, but later in the Korean Conflict and while doing sub duty during the Cold War years.

Before retiring as a chief machinist's mate in 1968, Kurz served on just about every kind of naval craft worthy of sea duty. He was on a transport ship in the World War years. He was later on the battleship Missouri and the destroyer R.K. Huntington.

His most treasured moments were those in submarine service — aboard the Tilefish, Diodon, Theodore Roosevelt and Halibut.

"The Navy is selective about who gets sub duty," Kurz said. "And no one serves without being trained and qualified."

Referred to as the "Silent Service," U.S. Submarine Service is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year — the National Submarine Centennial.

During World War II, Hollywood made a number of sub-

Norm Kurz (showing patches from the submarines he served on) and Guy Blades (left) are members of the Submarine Veterans who swap stories each month at the Fleet Reserve Center in Sanford. Together the two served nearly 50 years at sea. To qualify for submarine duty, each had to endure intense psychological and physical examinations in New London, Conn. U.S. Submarine Service is celebrating its Centennial Year in 2000. Kurz lives in Debary. Blades in Sanford.

Anchors Away

Rusty Keeling: From sub duty to Navy recruiting

Make no mistake about it, Rusty Keeling, first class electronic technician, SS, is All Navy. From the day he entered the service in 1991, Keeling has served proudly at sea aboard the nuclear submarine U.S.S. Hyman G. Rickover (SSN 709) and presently as a Navy recruiter in Altamonte Springs. Last year he was honored as the No. 1 Navy recruiter in Central Florida. Keeling, 27, is a native of Sanford and a Seminole High School graduate. He spent a year and a half at New London, Conn., before reporting to the U.S.S. Rickover. He says that the Navy is looking for good men to go into submarine duty. Sorry, gals, the Navy is still working on a way for women to join the submarine service.

Keeling recently talked to ex-Navy journalist Russ White about Navy recruiting at the start of the new millennium.

Q. How is Navy recruiting today?

A. Excellent. We're averaging more than 160 recruits a month in our district — basically, the Central Florida area. Those are better numbers than the other service branches are getting. That's because I believe the Navy has more to offer in both education and travel. Joining the Navy today could mean as much as $50,000 for college classes. We call this, "Navy cash." You go to class while in the service.

Q. You spent 4 1/2 years in submarine service. Is the Navy looking for more submariners?

A. Yes, there's a critical need for men to serve in submarine service. The Navy needs nuclear engineers, sub-electricians and computer specialists.

Q. You spent 4 1/2 years in submarine service. Is the Navy looking for more submariners?

I'd encourage recruits to consider this service. It pays more and it's exciting. The crews are smaller — 135 men to a boat — there's terrific camaraderie.

Submarine duty was everything I expected it to be plus some. It's a proud service.

Q. There are no women on subs yet. Why?

A. The Navy is working on that. The subs aren't equipped for men and women together as of now. I expect the day when it happens isn't far away. There are no women in the Navy SEALs (Sea, Air and Land) as of now. That, too, may soon change.

Q. Women have become admirals, though, haven't they?

A. I work for one of the women admirals — Rear Admiral Barbara McGann. She heads the Naval Recruitment Command. She's based in Millington, Tenn.

Q. What kind of men and women are the Navy looking for?

A. We encourage all recruits to have received a high school diploma and to have a clean record — no felonies. Each recruit has to take an ASVAB test — Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery. Each recruit must pass a physical. Recruits can be between the ages of 17 and 34. Officer candidates must have

Lifesaving in theory is not same as lifesaving in fact

DEAR ABBY: I think I'm losing my sanity -- or am I being extremely sensitive?

My husband of nine months and I were having a discussion recently regarding a newspaper article we had read about a man who drowned trying to save his wife in the ocean.

Unable to swim, he dove in, trying to save the life of his love, and they both drowned.

I foolishly asked my husband if he would try to save me if I was drowning, and got a very unexpected response. He told me that if it appeared that both of us would drown, he would not jump in to save me.

We have one child together, and he is the stepfather to my three children. When I asked him if he'd jump in to try to save his infant son, he immediately replied, "Yes." When I asked him to explain why he wouldn't die trying to save the love of his life, he stated that in all lifesaving classes, people are taught to evaluate the situation (i.e., make sure the rescuer wouldn't also die) before trying to save another life.

I'm sorry, but I would die trying to save my four children or him, for that matter, even if I had less than a 1 percent chance of living through the ordeal. I wouldn't be able to live with myself if I didn't at least try to save a loved one.

Please tell me I'm not crazy.

Maybe I'm just a hopeless romantic, but something seems very wrong here.

HURTING HEART

DEAR HURTING HEART: You are neither crazy nor hopeless. However, you should be aware that it is impossible for a person to project accurately for what he or she "would" do in a life-threatening emergency. In other words, if your husband were to see you going down for the third time, there's no telling for certain that he wouldn't throw caution to the wind. And as you're the mother of four children, there's also no guarantee that you'd jeopardize your own safety to pull him from a burning building.

My advice to you, for the sake of your marriage, is to stop playing "What if?"

DEAR ABBY: My question concerns two stray cats, one male, one female, who appeared at my back door within the last year or so. Both are somewhat timid, but look as though they are in good health, aside from being very hungry. They don't bother my other cats, and it's no problem for me to feed and shelter them.

Here's the problem: Neither of these animals has been "fixed." I have made numerous attempts to find the owners, with newspaper ads and walking the neighborhood, but no one has come forward. I would like to take them both to the vet, but since I'm not sure there is an owner, I don't know if this is the "proper" thing to do.

I hate to think of the number of unwanted kittens that could be created because of this type of neglect, but do I have the right to do this to an animal that isn't really mine?

KITTY LOVER

DEAR KITTY LOVER: If you are feeding and sheltering the cats, and no one in the neighborhood knows to whom they belong and no one has answered your newspaper ad — then the cats were probably dumped or left behind by their owners. By all means have them neutered. You'll be doing your little furry friends an enormous favor — not to mention acting like a responsible and generous adoptive parent. Bless you!

Couple celebrates 45th wedding anniversary

Manley L. and Mary Lou Ruso, of Sanford, recently celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary. They were married March 12, 1955, in Clayton, N.Y.

The couple were honored at a buffet reception March 12 at the Apopka home of their daughter, Susan Greenberg, and her husband, Dr. Andrew Greenberg. Twenty-five guests attended the anniversary observance.

Other daughters of the couple include Sheri Morris, Melbourne; Cindy Hagemann, St. Mary's, Ga.; and Cathy Sierra, Orlando. There are 12 grandchildren.

Ruso is retired from Southern Bell and Mary Lou is a retired Seminole County school teacher.

The Rushos have lived in Sanford for 31 years, having arrived here from New York. Mary Lou said they visited her sister in Daytona Beach, fell in love with the area and Manley requested a transfer with the Bell System, which he was granted.

While Manley is busy caring birds, Mary Lou serves as president of the Seminole Education Association Retired. She taught at Idylwild Elementary and Wilson Elementary, both in Sanford, and takes courses at Seminole Community College in her spare time.

The couple attend Upsala Presbyterian Church and baby-sit their grandchildren frequently. They also travel and made a wonderful trip to Alaska last year.

Would Mary Lou marry Manley all over again?

"Oh, yes," she said. "We have a beautiful family with our 12 grandchildren. We have four daughters and four wonderful sons-in-law."

Assisting Gayle as hostesses were Evelyn Yates, Sherrill Thomas, B.J. Reaves, Shirley Givens and Avis Bodin.

A lace-covered table held apple juice and raspberry tea and was centered with a bride doll cake designed and baked by the honoree's cousin, Glynnia Hood of Sanford. Other food items included muffins, breads, sausage biscuits, quiche, toasted pecans and fruit.

Links event celebrates International Trends and Services

"Linking into the Millennium Together" was the theme of an afternoon of International Trends and Services presented by the Altamonte Springs chapter of The Links Inc.

Mistress of ceremonies for the elegant affair was Carolyn M. Fennell, director of public affairs for the Greater Orlando Aviation Authority.

Highlighting the opening ceremony was the parade of flags and the Angklung Ensemble. Flag bearers represented various international countries. Musical renditions were presented by the Last Chapter, a group of young men who are students at Forest Lake Academy. The group is dedicated to their talent of singing Christian music. Their great harmony and fresh new sound makes you remember the music.

The Angklung Ensemble treated guests to instrumental sounds and folk dance. It was the second year the ensemble has performed at the event. The ensemble is a 37-member group from the Fil-Am Church and includes young people between the ages of 6 and 18.

Angklung is believed to have originated from Indonesia. Their 27 instruments, which are made from miniature bamboo, were made and refined in the Philippines. These talented children desire to teach the youth of today by letting them know about Jesus. The ensemble is under the direction of Nancy De La Cruz.

Link Elizabeth Saunders, the chairperson of the International Trends and Service, welcomed more than 150 guests. Link Sherry Grace, vice president, gave the invocation and scripture of love from First Corinthians. President of Link Celeste Hurley brought greetings with a most appreciated quote, "Let there be peace on earth and let it begin with me."

International student advisors of the three schools represented were Susie Robertshaw, Rollins College, Bliss Thompson, Valencia Community College, and Michelle Ver Way, Seminole Community College.

A pageant of global linkage from various international students from Rollins College was given by Dhenje Julietta Frances of the Commonwealth of Dominica and Heeral Nate Singhrappa of Kenya.

Seminole Community College was represented by Patricia Bellini of Brazil, Vivian Padilla of Costa Rica and Marco Senna of Columbia.

Valencia Community College was represented by Winifred Brewster of Barbados, Catheena Burrows of the Bahamas, Alexandre Funaki of Brazil and Saw Kalayar "Clair" of Burma.

After an afternoon of cultural global linkage, the ceremony linking each one to another was led by Link Elizabeth Saunders and Jeanette Williams.

To close a splendid afternoon, Link Sherry Grace and the Last Chapter singers sang, "Love in Any Language" with the audience. It made for an afternoon of sharing, togetherness and love — a language frequently spoken all over the world.

The International Trends and Services began in 1970 when it was separated from National Trends and Services. In 1975, the Links joined the celebration of International Woman's Year and was represented in the International Women's Decade Conference. The Links and friends responded to the call.

Over the years, they have contributed many voluntary hours of service, as well as financial support, to people in various countries throughout the world, including the Caribbean, Germany, Israel and Africa. The Links in the Altamonte Springs chapter continue to implement programs that create awareness and promote understanding of world issues.

After the program, the guests enjoyed the reception and tasted foods from an international cuisine.

Officers and members of the Altamonte Springs chapter of Links Inc. say thanks to all of the participants and guests in helping to link each of them into the new millennium.

Church, Impact Ministries, Grove Counseling Education Center, Norris Jennings, Seminole Herald columnist Marva Hawkins, Eloise Rochester, and Providence Church.

APRIL
(March 21 - April 19)

Your Birthday Today, April 2, 2000 Past experience will arm you with the ability to gratify your material desires in the year ahead — if you don't repeat old mistakes. In fact, you could be quite fortunate in this area.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Need your innate intuition, as well as the obvious information that is available to you, and collectively they could make you pretty sharp in the commercial world today. Aries, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and SASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this news paper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your Zodiac sign.

Taurus (April 20-May 19) Don't hesitate to offer advice to an associate today when asked. What you have to say may be more helpful to this person than you realize.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Because today you'll demonstrate that once you give your word you'll follow through on whatever it is you promised to do, your reputation will soar in the eyes of your peers.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Whether it be someone you need to get in touch with or someone you've neglected, this is an excellent day to contact these people. Something very good will come out of it.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) In situations where you are motivated to succeed, you can expect to be both clever and persistent today. Concentrate your efforts on these ambitions, regardless of the obstacles involved.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You'll be better equipped to handle tough issues today than usual, and this will have a secondary benefit. Probing around for the answers enhances your mental faculties.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Since you're inclined to view conditions realistically today, you're not likely to expect anything for which you don't work or to which you are not entitled. This attitude brings contentment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 22) The best way to handle a person with whom you're closely involved but who is often hard to please is to make the few minor concessions called for. It will help you with the relationship.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Pick up the pieces today and tie the loose ends together concerning a matter another has bungled. You'll win over this person for life. It pays to have good allies.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Others with whom you're involved today will have as much faith in your ideas and concepts as you do because of the way you'll present them. Success is in the winds.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Capitalize on minute opportunities, because you're capable of making much out of little. If you put your mind to it, today could be personally profitable for you.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) No matter how tough it may be to do so, you'll have the fortitude to say what must be said to those who need to hear it. Instead of taking unkindly to it, they'll appreciate the truth.
