County, Sanford To Negotiate On Water, Sewer Pact

Maryann L. Cross
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County and Sanford will negotiate on the possibility of the county buying water and sewer services from the city for a large-scale, multi-million dollar development west of Sanford.

However, if the city and the county don't reach an agreement within six months, the county will provide the 400-acre General Sanford Estates project with its own water and sewer services.

The General Sanford Estates project is planned to lay adjacent to Sanford, off the southwest corner of County Road 46A and Airport Blvd. Plans call for the project to have almost 1,500 housing units, a clubhouse, approximately 200,000 square-foot of commercial space, and 80,000 square-foot of office space. The first phase of the development is expected to be completed in 1990.

The East Central Florida Regional Planning Council Wednesday refused to take an appeal (and subsequent modification) of Seminole County's development order for the housing project that would have allowed the city to negotiate directly with the developer if a wholesale arrangement could not be reached between the city and the county. The council decision was based on the fact that members did not feel the provision of water and sewage services for this project was an issue of regional impact.

Membership on the council and its project review committee includes government officials, developers and private citizens from Seminole, Orange, Osceola, and Brevard counties.

According to comments made by the council, an issue is of regional significance when it affects more than one county. The General Sanford Estates project is located in Seminole County only and members of the council said sewer service for this project is therefore a local issue.

Sanford's City Planner Jay Murder said he felt the council members reversed themselves (by this decision) to the detriment of the council. Because of the size and impact of the development on the surrounding community, the housing project itself is considered by the council to be a development of regional impact.

As such, the project was reviewed by the council's Project Review Committee on March 12 and recommendations were made to the county for consideration when the county prepared its development order.

One of the recommendations made by the council was that the housing project should ob-

History Books: Dull And Dumb

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

A federally financed study says history textbooks designed for children raised on TV are dull and dumb, but Jeff Moore, Seminole County's Social Studies teacher of the year, said that's not necessarily true.

The study released Tuesday, titled "American History Textbooks: An Assessment of Quality," says the texts have been loaded down with graphics and sidebars and fail to tell a story in a clear and compelling fashion. The report cites one history book that covers Abraham Lincoln in two paragraphs and introduces World War II with the heading "Another War."

"Books have been dumbed-down and neutralized," said Gilbert T. Sewall, author of the report based on a review of 11 widely used history textbooks.

"Too often texts are overwhelmed by graphics in a misguided attempt to catch and hold the attention of television-addicted children and adolescents. The result is fragmentary accounts with sidebars and charts that make kids scratch their heads after reading, wondering, 'Where's the story?'" he said.

"We should go back to storytelling that makes history come alive and excites the reader with compelling tales, be they poignant or tragic."

Moore said however, that books used by themselves to teach a subject might become somewhat boring to a student, but only if the text is not supplemented with other types of instruction. "You can't exclusively use a book to teach a

Angels 'Meet' Bundy In Orlando

From Staff And Wire Reports

Wearing white pants, an open shirt and a smile, serial sex killer Ted Bundy, appeared in an Orlando courtroom today for the first time in eight years for a hearing on his mental competency during one of his murder trials. Outside the federal courthouse, Guardian Angels protested Bundy's stays and called for his execution.

Inside the Federal Courthouse, U.S. District Judge G. Kendall Sharp scolded Bundy's attorney for claiming he wasn't prepared and swiftly refused motions to allow Bundy go to back to his death row cell and to postpone the hearing.

At issue is whether Bundy was competent to stand trial for the 1978 murder of 12-year-old Kimberly Leach, the youngest of his victims. The appeal, filed late last year, got Bundy his third stay of execution.

Bundy entered the crowded federal courtroom in the company of four uniformed prison guards and at least three plainclothes U.S. marshals, who took seats surrounding him.

Security was heavy at the courthouse and a Sanford Herald photographer who wandered into a secured area near the courtroom was briefly detained by U.S. marshals. Photographers and television crews were not allowed in the courtroom though quick-sketch artists were allowed into the courtroom to record the event.

Iran Retaliates With Kuwaiti Attack

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — A missile believed to be an Iranian Silkworm blasted an oil loading facility off the Kuwaiti coast today, setting it ablaze for two hours and causing several injuries, the Kuwaiti Defense Department and witnesses said.

Oil executives said the terminal was heavily damaged in the attack but Kuwait's oil flow was not hampered.

"I am afraid they cannot use the terminal for the time being," one senior oil executive said.

Pentagon spokesman Cmdr. Bob Prueha confirmed the attack and said there was no U.S. military involvement in the incident.

A Kuwaiti Defense Ministry spokesman said, "Iran this morning committed another aggression against Kuwait by firing a Silkworm missile at an industrial island for loading oil, causing a fire and wounding a number of workers."

Shipping executives said the attack on Sea Island, an oil terminal some 9 miles from the Kuwaiti coast, occurred at about 10:49 a.m. (3:49 a.m. EDT). The island is in the same area where Iran fired two similar missiles that damaged two U.S.-linked oil tankers in Kuwaiti waters Thursday and Friday.

Lloyd's of London shipping intelligence unit said the missile was a Silkworm and said no oil tankers were alongside the terminal at the time of the attack.

Witnesses said firefighters brought the fire under control within two hours of the attack.

At the Strait of Hormuz, a southbound convoy of two re-flagged Kuwaiti tankers guided by four U.S. warships approached under cover of darkness, steaming past the area in the central Persian Gulf where the Navy earlier shelled an Iranian oil platform.

The 80,000-ton petroleum product carrier Ocean City led the line of vessels late Wednesday on a course expected to skirt the destroyed Ras Hadat oil platform before heading into "Silkworm Alley" — named after Iran's Silkworm missile sites on the shores of the strait.

The 12th U.S.-escorted convoy left Kuwait Tuesday morning, less than 24 hours after the U.S. attack on the armed Iranian oil rig in retaliation for last week's Iranian missile strike on the U.S.-flagged Sea Isle City in Kuwaiti territorial waters.

Iran denied the platform was used as a forward military base for attacking neutral shipping and vowed to deliver a "fatal blow" to U.S. forces in the gulf.

In response to remarks this week by Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger that Washington does not "seek further confrontation with Iran," Iranian Prime Minister Mir Hossein Musavi warned Wednesday that Tehran "will not stop the war. We shall retaliate militarily."

An Iranian military commander said Iran planned to announce a "general mobilization" next week.

Cars Hits Girl At School, Airlifted To Hospital

A Lake Howell High School senior was in serious condition at mid-day following an auto accident in front of the high school around 7 a.m. today.

Rosa Camacho, 17, was struck while crossing the street, according to Lake Howell Principal Richard Evans.

"Apparently she was first hit by a car traveling westbound on Dyle Road and thrown into a car traveling east," said Evans.

The girl was taken by helicopter to Orlando Regional Medical Center in Orlando. A preliminary examination at the emergency room at ORMC showed the girl to be suffering from several breaks to her left leg and an internal head injury.

Details of the accident were not available from the Florida Highway Patrol who had a trooper assigned to the hospital at mid-day.

Evans said the accident was "inadvertent" and that one of the drivers involved in the accident was a student from Lake Howell High School.

Lake Mary May Pick Public Works Chief

The Lake Mary City Commission is expected to select from at least six applicants a new city superintendent of public works during its regular meeting tonight at 7:30 p.m.

The public works superintendent position is responsible for the upkeep and maintenance of city property, buildings and equipment. The interim superintendent Stanley Welling said the position is responsible for "just about anything the city owns."

The superintendents job pays between $22,293 and $33,439 per year, according to the city's pay scale. The Lake Mary 1987-88 budget has $24,700 allocated to pay the person who ultimately gets the job.

Two weeks ago the commission decided not to hire Stanley Welling for the position without advertising the position once again. Welling is still one of the six final applicants that will be considered for the position tonight.

Welling has been in the position since former superintendent Jim Orioles left the city staff to work for a private Lake Mary firm. During his time spent at the position Welling has worked to update the public works

DER Seeks $310,000-A-Day Fine

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

The Florida Department of Environmental Regulation is seeking a $310,000-a-day fine against the former owner of a Sanford business for alleged improper procedures regarding the handling and storing of hazardous wastes.

The Florida DER has filed suit against Superior Aircraft Refinishing Inc. and its former president and owner, Phil Gardner. The current owner of the airplane-painting company, Bruce R. McCampbell Jr. of Winter Springs, is not a party to the suit.

McCampbell, contacted today, said the business is in compliance with DER regulations and that the waste problem was cleaned up a year ago. He said the main contention between Gardner and the DER is the amount of the fines they want him to pay.

The DER maintains in the suit that Gardner did not cleaned-up 89 rusting and leaky drums of hazardous waste at the business' airport site, 1682 Hangar Road. The waste is the by-product of stripping paint off airplanes, cleaning the stripped surface, and repainting the airplanes.

The DER states in the suit that when Gardner owned the business liquid and solid wastes from the operation were allowed to reach drains that eventually empty into Lake Jeap.

The liquids included various alcohols, toluene, methyl ethyl keton, xylene, and small amounts of chromium, lead, cadmium, zinc, copper, titanium, nickel and aluminum, according to the DER. The solids, basically stable paint chips and flakes, contain chromium, lead cadmium and zinc.

The DER also states that during Gardner's ownership, the company also had no emergency procedures to deal with a chemical spill, had no spill containment equipment, and did not train employees to handle the wastes properly.

The DER also states the company did not label See FINE, page 7A

POLICE

IN BRIEF

Man Doesn't Follow Directions, Nabbed On License, Pot Charges

Longwood police reported directing to Lake Mary Boulevard a man they saw driving at Baywood Business Center, on Applewood Avenue, at about 12:15 a.m. Wednesday.

Police followed the man's car along County Road 427 to a Circle K near Lake Mary Boulevard, where police saw the man stop and apparently make a phone call. Police returned to Baywood Business Center and within about five minutes reported spotting the suspect's car there again.

He was confronted and said he worked there and that he had called his girlfriend for "better directions." Police determined he had a suspended driver's license and arrested him on that charge.

In a search of the car of Charles David Roberts, 25, of Orlando, police reported finding a small quantity of marijuana. A charge of possession of marijuana was added against him. He was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

Pawned Silver Leads To Jail

A portion of $8,000 in sterling silver flatware, stolen in a burglary of the home of Jewel Gonzalez, 1019 S. Myrtle Ave., Sanford, was pawned at Longwood Pawn Shop, U.S. Highway 17-92, Longwood.

Sanford police reported that $200 was given for silver items pawned there Sept. 28, and $225 was paid for additional silver pawned there on Oct. 2. On Oct. 14, the victim identified some of that silver as hers.

On Oct. 18, two pawn shop workers reportedly picked out a suspect in a police photo lineup. That led to the 10 a.m. Monday arrest at his home of Albert DeMendoza, 30, of Apt. 9, 3301 S. Sanford Ave., Sanford. He was charged with grand theft and dealing in stolen property and was being held in lieu of $2,000 bond.

Car Burglary Seen; Arrest Made

A witness who allegedly saw a man break the rear window of the car of Michael Fisher on Saturday to steal a box containing $100 worth of tools, told Fisher what she had seen, despite the suspect having warned her not to tell, Sanford police reported.

That led to the arrest at 11:10 p.m. Monday of Russell Shane Gallaher, 20, of 500 W. Airport Blvd., #1508, Sanford. Gallaher has been charged with burglary to a conveyance and released on $1,000 bond to appear in court Nov. 9.

Driving Under Influence Arrests

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

-Michael Raymond Lowery, 24, of 300 Sheoah Blvd., #1104, Winter Springs, was arrested at 2:44 a.m. Tuesday on Sheoah Boulevard after police spotted him driving erratically with one tail light out on his car.

-Jerome Avery Smith, 33, of Lot 35, 901 E. Wildmere St., Longwood, at 1:50 a.m. Tuesday on U.S. Highway 17-92, Cannonberry after he failed to dim the bright lights of his car, which was weaving.

-Jerry Wayne Taylor, 40, of 304 W. Second St., Sanford, at 10:29 p.m. Tuesday after his car was seen weaving on S. Sanford Avenue, Sanford.

Burglaries And Thefts Reported

Jeffrey Allen Smith, 32, of 1638 S. Pine Ridge Circle, Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that at about 2:45 a.m. Tuesday he was robbed of $20 at knife-point by a hitchhiker that he picked up in Fern Park. When Smith stopped on North Street in rural Altamonte Springs to let the woman out of his vehicle, he said she brandished a steak knife, put it to his throat and demanded $20.

He handed over the cash but grabbed the woman's purse — which contained crack cocaine, the knife, keys and scissors — as she fled to join a group of men standing on a corner, a sheriff's report said. No arrest has been reported.

Man Opens Home To 2, Is Robbed

Two men persuaded a Sanford man to let them into his home Tuesday, then stole his money.

Ferdinand Cooper, 77, 619 E. 10th St., told police that at 11:50 a.m. Tuesday two men stopped at his house, got out of their car and approached him on his property. Cooper reported he thought the driver was in the medical profession because the man asked him about his health.

When they went inside Cooper's home, the driver asked Cooper to empty his pockets and lay face down over the chair. The driver asked Cooper to stay there while he went outside. The men then took $40 and left in a light blue or light green car.

Other actions investigated by the Sanford Police Department include:

•Barbara Aquino, 34, 211 Woodmere Ave., reported her house was burglarized between 1 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. Tuesday. Aquino told police a box containing two tapes was taken from her daughter's room. $250 was taken from her bedroom dresser, and a portable television was taken from another bedroom. The burglar, who entered the home by forcing open a south bedroom window, left through the kitchen door. The total value of the items stolen was $520.

•Mary Williams, 27, 1210 Lincoln Court, reported to police she stopped by the home of Larry Thompson, 1013 W. 12th St., Monday at 8 a.m. to pick up her daughter's shoes. Williams said while she was there, Thompson allegedly hit her several times with his fist on the back, bit her on the back and kneed her in the stomach.

Williams told police she left and went to the County Health Clinic, 240 W. Airport Blvd., to seek medical attention. According to Williams, Thompson followed her and tried to get her into his car. When she refused, Thompson allegedly grabbed her purse containing $20 and fled the scene. Police Chief Steve Harriott said a warrant has been requested for Thompson's arrest.

•Three men reportedly knocked out the passenger window of a car belonging to Clive Williams, 27, 1671 S. Monroe St., between 11:30 p.m. and 11:35 p.m. Monday and took $1,000 from the glove box. Williams told police he and a friend heard the noise and looked out the front door of the apartment. According to Williams, one or more of the men opened fire on the door with a handgun. The police report said two bullet holes were in the glass of the door.

•Sharon Jackson, 36, 412 Bay Ave., told police someone broke into her 1982 Dodge between 3 p.m. Monday and 5:15 a.m. Tuesday, stealing $260 and two .22-caliber handguns. —Maryann L. Croce

Knife, Gun Attacks Lead To 2 Arrests

By Susan Loden Herald Staff Writer

In unrelated cases, two Sanford men have been arrested in connection with attacks Tuesday on two other Sanford men.

In the first case, Sanford police report that Wayne Burke, 50, of 1700 W. 12th St., allegedly stabbed Johnell Brewington, 40, of 66 William Clark Court, in the stomach during an argument at Sunshine Liquor, 1610 W. 13th St., at about 10 a.m.

After police found the wounded Brewington outside the liquor store, he was transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford for treatment of his stomach wound. Police said the wound was inflicted with a pocket knife that was recovered at the scene.

Burke has been charged with aggravated battery and was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

In the other incident, Valentino Bryant, 22, of 1418 W. Seventh St., was shot at as he walked on West 13th Street at about 11 p.m. Sanford police patrolling in the area reported they were following closely behind the car in which the gunman was traveling. Reportedly, police stopped that car and arrested the accused gunman after Bryant flagged down police and said he had been shot at with a single round.

Inside the suspect's car police reported finding a .25-caliber automatic pistol that was loaded with four rounds.

Bryant reportedly identified a suspect, but he could give no motive for the attack. He was not injured.

Gary Francis Bickford, 25, of 2533 Georgia Ave., was arrested on charges of aggravated assault and carrying a concealed firearm. He has been released on $1,000 bond to appear in court Nov. 9.

Van Cuts Off Man; Stickup Gets Pickup

By Susan Loden Herald Staff Writer

Lawrence T. Sennello, 23, of Sanford reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that as he drove along Bungalow Boulevard at Southwest Road, Sanford, at about 12:45 p.m. Tuesday, a black van stopped in front of his pickup truck and blocked the road.

Five men got out of the van. One brandished a handgun and demanded the keys to the truck of Robert W. Whitaker, 49, of Sanford, which Sennello was driving. The bandits also took the victim's $25 wallet and a $150 camera and fled, with one driving away in Whitaker's 1985 Dodge pickup truck.

Two hours later Sanford police reported to sheriff's deputies that they had stopped a black van on Lake Avenue near 13th Street. Five men were in the van and a .22-caliber revolver was found about 10 feet away from the van.

Sennello called to that scene, reportedly made positive identification of one of those men, who he said was one of the bandits.

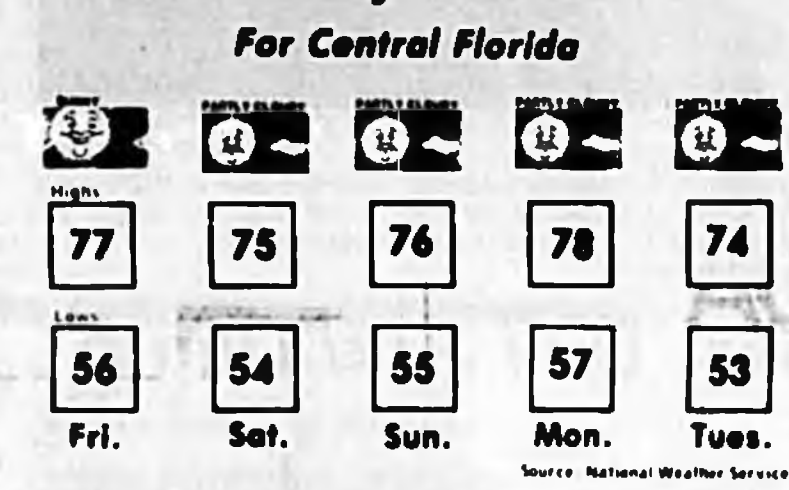

The case is being investigated by Seminole County sheriff's deputies. There was no report of an arrest.

Pilot Of Crashed Fighter Faces Victims' Families With Comfort

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — The pilot of a crippled Air Force fighter says he was trying to glide his jet toward a grassy field when he ejected, only to watch in horror as the warplane whirled into the lobby of an airport hotel, killing nine people and injuring seven others.

"Please understand I did everything humanly possible to prevent this," Maj. Bruce Teagarden said in a statement Wednesday to the families of those killed and injured a day earlier, when his A-7D Corsair crashed into the lobby of the airport Ramada Inn about a half-mile from Indianapolis International Airport.

"My prayers are with you all," said the pilot who parachuted to safety when he knew the unarmed attack jet with a "flamed out" engine would not reach to runway.

As the investigation began into Tuesday's crash, Air Force and Federal Aviation Administration officials defended the pilot's efforts to land the Vietnam-era fighter after it lost power near the airport.

Reagan To Hold News Conference

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, holding his first nationally televised news conference in five months tonight, seems upbeat about the rebound of a jittery stock market and once again not quite as interested in compromise with Congress on the budget deficit.

"It sounds as if someone discovered that the economy is still rather sound," the president, in a happy mood, said to reporters, adding that it appeared the market crisis might be over, with half of Monday's massive loss recovered. The Dow climbed 186.84 points to 2027.85 Wednesday, according to an unofficial tally, topping the day-old record climb of 102.27 set Tuesday.

At the 42nd news conference of his presidency, scheduled for 8 p.m. EDT in the White House East Room, Reagan is expected to applaud a market rebound after its historic 508-point plunge — and he also appears likely to repeat his strong opposition to new taxes as a way to reduce the federal deficit.

Final Bork Debate To Detonate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Battle lines were drawn quickly as final Senate debate began on Robert Bork's crumpled Supreme Court nomination, opponents assailing his "extremist" views and supporters decrying a "smear" campaign against him.

Only six senators had not announced which way they would vote when the much-delayed floor action was opened: Democrats Sam Nunn of Georgia, William Proxmire of Wisconsin and John Stennis of Mississippi and Republicans Frank Murkowski of Alaska, William Roth of Delaware and John Warner of Virginia.

Their decisions appeared moot, however, the debate began with Bork's defeat a virtual certainty because 54 of the 100 senators had voiced their opposition.

Out-Of-City Residents May Be Charged Marina Fees

By Maryann Cross
Herald Staff Writer

People who do not live in Sanford soon may be charged a fee for trailer parking and boat launching at the Sanford Marina.

The issue of marina parking was discussed by the city commission in a workshop session Monday. Commissioner A.A. McClanahan said when he checked the parking lot of the marina this past weekend, only three of the 27 vehicles parked there had Seminole County license plates. McClanahan said the remainder had plates from five different counties.

Mayor Bettye Smith recommended that non-residents be charged a fee for using the parking lot and boat launching ramp at the marina. Commissioner "Whitey" Eckstein asked what impact these people have financially on Sanford. A marina representative replied that 95 percent of those non-residents who use the marina facilities already have food, beverages and boat supplies when they come to the marina.

In a report to the commission, Bill Simmons, Sanford's director of parks and recreation, said there is a limited amount of parking space at the Sanford Marina, which creates a problem on weekends and holidays. Simmons pointed out that the layout of most existing parking on the Marina has been designed to handle either cars or trucks pulling boat trailers, the latter of which use two parking spaces.

Simmons said parking problems reported on weekends and holidays suggest that some changes are needed in policy and procedures. At present, overflow parking from the Marina, is handled by the municipal parking lot, which appears to be the best place to handle the additional parking requirements.

Simmons recommended the city employ an on-site boat launching supervisor for weekends and holidays only, who also would collect parking and launching fees. The exact hours for a supervisor could coincide with the heavy boating activity periods, and a launching fee could be collected by that individual to defray the costs of the position, as well as possibly partially supporting the costs of maintenance of the boat ramp itself and cleaning of the area.

The commission agreed with Simmons and asked him to find out how much it would cost the city to hire someone to supervise the boat launching area and collect fees. Simmons said the fee amount could be determined based on the supervisor's salary. He also recommended creating a special annual pass, at a relatively low cost, for city residents.

Simmons said since boat trailer parking on the island is clearly inadequate on weekends and holidays, perhaps the best approach would be to prohibit boat trailer parking on those days except in the 12 long parking spaces near the boat ramp along Palmetto Avenue. All other boat trailers would have to use the municipal parking lot.

Seminar Tips On Chemical Abuse

By Richard Whittaker
Herald Staff Writer

Local health care, guidance and counseling professionals got a chance to pick up some extra tips on the signs, effects and dangers of "chemical dependency" during a day-long seminar Tuesday, sponsored by Care Unit Inc. of Lake Mary and Seminole Community College.

The seminar focused on ways of recognizing the symptoms of a chemical abuse problem and getting the proper professional help to an individual with an addiction. The event also looked at ways an addict's family is affected by a chemical abuse problem, ways of better diagnosing, and referral of chemical abusers to appropriate professional counseling and medical treatment.

"We (Care Unit) not only work on the patient's problem, but we also work with the patient's families as part of our program," Harlow said. In many cases, the home environment has a significant impact on the reason for an individual's problem, as well as his chance for successful treatment.

More than twice the number of Americans that were killed in the Vietnam war die of alcohol and drug abuse every year, according to Care Unit's information. While the organization claims the problem is well-documented, it says that only 15 percent of the country's people with a dependency ever receive qualified treatment.

The seminars could increase the chances of area children and adults getting the help they need to live a drug-free life, Harlow said.

Care Unit, a 55,000-square-foot facility for the treatment of adults and adolescents' drug and alcohol addictions, opened last May at cost of $8.5 million. The building is located on a 11.6-acre site on Sand Pond Road.

The residential treatment center features the capability to handle as many as 104 patients at one time. Henry Harlow, Care Unit's director of community relations said the center presently has 48 patients involved in treatment — 31 adults and 17 adolescents. "We were only scheduled to have 27 patients here by this time," Harlow said.

The cost for a one-day stay for the center is $325 per day for adolescents and $275 per day for adults.

For people with abuse problems that can't afford Care Unit, Harlow said the center had an excellent referral system going with some other local centers that weren't as expensive.

Care Unit has a staff of about 80 people, Harlow said. He said there are three counselors with masters degrees training to work with adolescents in their treatment and four counselors with similar experience to deal with the center's adult patients.

Defense Says Teenage Stripper's Suicide Threats Was School Joke

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — A 17-year-old stripper who killed herself was promiscuous, rebellious and talked frequently of suicide, defense witnesses testified in the landmark child abuse trial of the girl's mother.

Attorney Kenneth Whitman opened his defense of Theresa "Terry" Jackson by presenting two teenage witnesses who knew her daughter, Tina Mancini, before the girl killed herself last year with her mother's pistol.

Prosecutors contend Jackson provoked her daughter's suicide by forcing her to work as a nude dancer just a few weeks before she killed herself. Jackson, 40, is charged in the landmark case with aggravated child abuse, procuring sexual performances by a child and forgery.

Friends of Mancini testified Wednesday the girl had sex with several boys, once wore a witch costume to school, kept a pet iguana and talked so often of committing suicide that it became a joke among her classmates.

Stipanovich: System 'Licked Me'

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — J.M. "Mac" Stipanovich, who has resigned as chief of staff to Gov. Bob Martinez, was philosophical about his experience with a governmental system that he concedes "licked me."

Stipanovich met with reporters Wednesday afternoon in his office just next door to the one occupied by Martinez. His tenure, not counting an interruption of a few days, lasted just 10 months. His resignation takes effect Nov. 5.

"It licked me," he said of the system. But "it works in a very real way. It prevents impetuous people like myself from doing unintended harm."

Can 'Upbeats' Be 'Bystanders?'

Ding dong, the yuppie's dead, the yuppie vote is dead.

So says an exhaustive new survey of the American electorate commissioned by the Times Mirror Corp. and conducted by The Gallup Organization. "There is no separate, single political type that describes the stereotypical yuppie," the pollsters write. "The presumed existence of a yuppie vote is shattered by our findings."

People who fit the yuppie description are scattered among four distinctive groups. Some reside among what the pollsters labeled "60s Democrats" and "Democrat-leaning seculars", others are "Republican enterprisers" and "GOP-leaning upbeats."

The labels, despite the trendy tone, are quite useful. They describe 11 voter groups.

"The upbeats," for example, are a young, optimistic group whose members believe strongly in America. They are middle-income, 94 percent white and most have little or no college education.

They generally lean Republican, but are "markedly uncritical of government's role in society." They enjoy rock music and romance novels. The upbeats make up 9 percent of the adult population, 7 percent of the electorate.

Then there are "the bystanders," who make up 11 percent of the adult population, zero percent of the likely electorate. The bystanders are young, poorly educated and "distinguished by an almost total lack of interest in current affairs." A high percentage are unmarried, 82 percent are white and 13 percent are black. Going to clubs and discos is a favorite activity. The bystanders are what the pollsters call "non-participants in the democratic process."

Republicans are not just Republicans. Democrats are not just Democrats. The pollsters divide Republicans into "enterprisers" and "moralists." Democrats are "60s Democrats," "New Dealers," "the passive poor," and "the partisan poor." Independents, most of whom lean one way or another, are listed in five categories.

The obvious conclusion to be drawn from all this is that the American people are much more complex than our traditional labels—Democrat-Republican, conservative-liberal—would indicate. A successful candidate cannot be marketed as the candidate of the yuppies or the candidate of the moralists; those categories are too broad. The analysts note, for example, that Ronald Reagan was successful because he appealed to four distinct groups without turning one group against another.

And he did it, we suspect, by being himself. The candidate who tries to tailor an image to target a particular group—Joe Biden's "new-collar vote" as defined by pollster Pat Caddell comes to mind—runs the risk of missing some subtle distinction.

More seriously, the candidate runs the risk of inauthenticity. With the possible exception of "the followers," not many admire a manufactured phony. Even fewer would vote for one.

Time Nears To Begin Paying The Piper

An alarming article about America's economic future appears in the October issue of The Atlantic under the title "The Morning After." Written by Peter G. Peterson, the article diagnoses the strains on the American economy and warns of the storm ahead. I hope that all presidential contenders and members of Congress read this important piece.

Mr. Peterson warns that "Americans are about to wake up to reality...."

The realities Peterson sees include the following:

1) In manufactured goods, the United States had a trade surplus of $17 billion in 1980, but in 1986 we had a trade deficit in manufactured goods of $139 billion;

2) The domestic increase in imports over exports in the last three years has resulted in upwards of two million factory workers being squeezed out of jobs by foreign competition;

3) Our inability to compete as we once did in international markets stems from "the incalculable damage we have inflicted on our economy in recent years."

Peterson believes the root of our problem is our preference for consumption over investment — a tendency encouraged by the Reagan administration. Reagan has replaced Democratic "tax and spend" policies with "borrow and spend."

During the Reagan years we have witnessed a series of unintended results:

1) A feeble productivity growth of 0.6 percent annually in the 1970s has become even feeble, dropping to 0.4 percent.

2) Both private domestic investment and public investment in our national infrastructure of bridges, roads, streets, transit, water and sewage facilities are down from the 1970s. Far from increasing our savings and investment percentages as supply-side policies were supposed to do, "the 1980s have turned out to be the most consumption-based 'demand side' decade experienced by any major industrial country during the postwar era."

3) Mr. Reagan promised less federal spending and a balanced budget. But in 1986 federal spending claimed 23.9 percent of our GNP compared to 20.5 percent in 1979.

Having nearly tripled the national debt during the Reagan years, we are faced with annual debt interest costs that reached $136 billion in 1986.

Mr. Peterson summarizes: "So there we have it: a conservative Republican Administration that promised us high savings, high productivity, highly competitive economy, with trade surpluses, and gave us instead a torrid consumption boom financed by foreign borrowing, an overvalued currency, and cuts in private investment, with debt-financed hikes in public spending and huge balance of payments deficits."

In years gone by many Americans consoled themselves by arguing that we need not worry about the national debt because "we owed it to ourselves." But two factors have changed in the last six years: The national debt has tripled, and we now owe $400 billion, not "to ourselves," but to foreigners.

Only six years ago the United States was a net creditor to the world with a positive balance of $141 billion. The negative balance of $400 billion we will hit at the end of 1987 means that we have "burned up" over $500 billion in liquidating foreign assets and borrowing from foreigners.

What Market Means

Isn't it about time for the NBC Today Show's Bryant Gumbel to start asking assorted experts "what the stock market is trying to tell us"?

Back in 1982, when the market, responding to the recession, was understandably sluggish, NBC treated it with almost religious reverence, as an important indicator of economic trends. Gumbel interviewed one liberal economic quack after another, all of whom agreed that the market's behavior reflected its conviction that Reaganomics was bad news for America.

Then, of course, came the longest sustained economic boom in the postwar history of the United States. The bull market has roared on for five years, during which the Today Show has wandered the globe disconsolately, from Moscow to Peking and even Australia, but has shown extremely little interest in what the stock market here at home has been trying to tell us.

Now, however, that there have at last been some dramatic down-dips in the stock market's performance, NBC may decide to restore the market to its former dignity as a prophet and bring on a few carefully selected "experts" to read Ronald Reagan's doom in the tea leaves once again.

One can almost sympathize with the liberals' longing for a little bad economic news. Practically every economic indicator is favorable, and Election Day is barely a year away. Only the budget deficits remain grimly intractable, and who can be sure that if the American people suddenly decided to worry about those they would turn to the Democrats to solve the problem?

So a few "Black Mondays" on Wall Street, followed by a general recession, or even another Great Depression, would appear to be exactly what the Democrats need, strictly as a political proposition. The trouble is that the stock market is far too unreliable a weathervane to enable anyone to forecast such an outcome on the basis of its current behavior.

As I warned readers of this column back in 1982, the stock market isn't a dependable indicator of anything. More than anything else, it resembles a hysterical little dog that overreacts to both good developments and bad ones.

NRC Keeps Investigators On Short Leash

By Jack Anderson
And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — The Nuclear Regulatory Commission is supposed to keep a tight leash on the nuclear power industry to prevent safety lapses and corner-cutting that could lead to a Chernobyl-style disaster. Instead, the agency's industry-friendly commissioners have been keeping a tight leash on their own investigative bloodhounds.

In the process, the five commissioners have said one thing in public and another thing in private. They promised Sens. John Breaux, D-La., and Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., at a recent hearing that they would never, never do anything to block or interfere with the work of the NRC's Office of Investigations. The office and its 34 investigators are independent, they assured the senators.

Behind closed doors, however, it was a different story. Our associate Stewart Harris obtained a transcript of the commissioners' private meeting last July 29. There, they suggested that the agency investigators should be "team

ROBERT WALTERS

The Primary Maze

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (NEA) — The contenders for the 1988 Democratic presidential nomination almost certainly will want to enter the delegate-rich New York primary next spring — but that's easier said than done.

To qualify for the primary ballot, each presidential hopeful must collect the signatures of 10,000 registered voters endorsing his candidacy. They can't all be gathered, however, at the same midtown Manhattan street corner or busy suburban shopping mall.

Instead, candidates must comply with an intricate state formula linked to New York's 34 congressional districts. Petition circulators must go into hall of them and gather the signatures of at least 100 registered voters in each of the 17 districts.

The qualifying requirements for Republican candidates haven't been resolved yet, but if past practice is a reliable guide they will be similar to the Democratic procedures.

In some states, presidential candidates are automatically placed on the primary ballot if they are generally acknowledged to be serious candidates. In others, however, candidates must comply with filing demands almost as intricate and elaborate as those in New York. Some examples:

(BU) Pennsylvania requires presidential candidates to present petitions containing the signatures of 2,000 registered voters, while people seeking to be convention delegates must submit petitions with the signatures of 250 registered voters.

(BU) Montana wants petitions bearing the endorsements of 1,000 registered voters from each of its two congressional districts — and those signatures must be verified by the clerk of the county in which they were obtained.

(BU) Illinois demands petitions containing the signatures of not less than 3,000 — but not more than 5,000 — registered voters. They must be submitted to state officials not more than 85 — but not less than 62 — days prior to the primary.

(BU) Filing fees in most states are either nominal ($100 or less) or non-existent — but West Virginia insists upon a qualifying payment equal to 1 percent of the president's annual salary or $2,000.

Further complicating the matter are the early deadlines for the contenders to submit their official declarations of candidacy and formally designate their slates of delegates.

The first filing deadline comes in New Hampshire on Dec. 18, followed by Nevada on Jan. 1, New Mexico on Jan. 2, Texas on Jan. 4, Florida and Arkansas on Jan. 5 and Maryland and Illinois on Jan. 11.

By the end of February, filing deadlines will have come and gone in 23 of the 50 states.

Early and varying filing deadlines and elaborate requirements for fashioning delegate slates are important reasons why virtually all of the politicians — Republican and Democratic — who this year considered a late entry into the presidential race eventually decided not to run.

News accounts of those decisions rarely mentioned the barriers posed by eligibility requirements, emphasizing instead such factors as the would-be candidates' lack of money, endorsements and field organization.

The Story Of AIDS Epidemic

By Jan Ziegler
UPI Science Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On April 12, 1983, Health and Human Services Secretary Margaret Heckler tried to reassure a House appropriations subcommittee.

"I really don't think there is another dollar that would make a difference, because the attempt is all out to find the answer," she said.

That same day, Don Francis, a researcher at the Centers for Disease Control, wrote a memo unwittingly contradicting the testimony, asserting that "our government's response to this disaster has been far too little."

"The inadequate funding to date has seriously restricted our work and has presumably deepened the invasion of this disease into the American population."

In three years, it sometimes seems little has changed. Researchers still accuse the government of financial negligence, while the administration says that everything possible is being done.

This is typical of the contradictions and ironies that allowed AIDS to progress from a few isolated cases to an epidemic of national proportions while nearly everyone, it seemed, looked the other way, according to Randy Shilts, investigative reporter and author.

"Year in and year out, the story never changed. The band played on," Shilts said in a telephone interview. "Everyone wanted to go on with business as usual."

"And the Band Played On" is the title of Shilts' new book, which traces the disease from one of its earliest known victims in Africa, through discovery of the virus that causes it, to President Reagan's first speech on the subject last spring.

Shilts believes the United States allowed AIDS to happen. The government, including large research institutions, the media, and even homosexuals, among whom the disease has continued to hit hardest, ignored early warnings of the few visionaries who saw what the new disease could mean.

"The homosexual community was slow to respond," he said. "On the other hand, just about anything good that happened in the first five years of the epidemic happened because of the homosexual community's efforts."

and I don't expect that it ought to be very often at all — have a short paper come up to the commission and you decide it," he said to his bosses.

"That sounds fine to me," said Zech. "I don't see anything wrong with that."

Hayes and his deputy director, Roger Fortuna, saw plenty wrong with it. Hayes explained that without the power to continue an investigation, he lives in constant danger of having the rug pulled out from under him by the commissioners.

"That has a hell of a chilling effect," Fortuna told the commissioners.

Commissioner Kenneth Carr, a firm opponent of an independent investigative office, was plainly offended by Hayes' request that he be allowed to operate without interference from the front office.

"It boils down to if Ben wants to be a team player, we'd like to know where you play on the team, Ben," Carr said. "Are you going to be an individual, or are you going to be the coach?"

The struggle over investigative independence has been going on for several years. During that time, the commissioners tried to put their own candidates on the investigative staff, prompting suspicions that they were actually planting spies in the office. The commissioners also set up a review board to screen tips before they were given to the Office of Investigations. When Hayes tried to circumvent the board, commissioner Thomas Roberts threatened to fire him. The board was dissolved after six stormy months.

The Office of Investigations would win its long-sought independence under one provision of legislation proposed by Sen. John Glenn, D-Ohio, setting up an inspector general for the NRC. But Breaux and Simpson claim Glenn is invading their legislative turf, and he may have to leave the Office of Investigations under the control of the commission to get his bill through. That means the NRC commissioners would still be able to damp down any incendiary tendencies of the agency's investigators.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Russian 'Social Parasite' Named Nobel Winner For Literature

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) — Exiled Russian poet Joseph Brodsky, branded a "social parasite" and kicked out of the Soviet Union, today won the 1987 Nobel Prize in Literature.

The Swedish Academy said it awarded the record $340,000 prize to Brodsky, 47, for his "all-embracing authorship, imbued with clarity of thought and poetic intensity." His style is classical, and his work focuses on the moral and historical aspects of life.

In citing Brodsky as one of the youngest authors ever to win the coveted prize, the academy said, "A sign of the luminous intensity of his writing is that he has already been translated into more than a dozen languages."

Brodsky was arrested in 1963 and convicted the following year as a "social parasite" because he did not have a steady job. He was sentenced to five years hard labor in Siberia, but was released after 18 months and returned to Leningrad.

Shultz Opens Talks On Summit

MOSCOW (UPI) — Secretary of State George Shultz today opened two days of talks with Soviet Foreign Secretary Eduard Shevardnadze that are expected to center on arms control and a superpower summit later this year.

The talks opened in the sprawling Foreign Ministry guest house in Moscow an hour after Shultz's special train rolled into Moscow, which has been shrouded in pea-soup-like fog since Monday.

Also taking part in the talks on the Soviet side was Anatoly Dobrynin, former long-time ambassador to the United States and now a special adviser to the Kremlin on foreign affairs.

Natives Protest, Warn Americans

PANAMA CITY, Panama (UPI) — More than 10,000 American military personnel and civilian workers were advised to stay out of Panamanian cities today during a national work stoppage and mass demonstration threatened by opposition leaders.

The warning followed a government media report that authorities would arrest hundreds of protesters if the banned demonstration is held and would immediately deport any foreign citizens caught "in subversive or terrorist acts."

The organizers said the protest would push demands for political liberty and "proclaim the end of the regime of Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega," who is widely perceived to be the power behind the civilian government.

Accused Anti-Chinese Arrested

BEIJING (UPI) — Authorities in Tibet have arrested dozens of people accused of involvement in anti-Chinese protests and clamped down on travel by foreigners in the Himalayan region, witnesses and local officials say.

The reports of a crackdown came as China increased its criticism of alleged U.S. congressional support for the dalai lama, Tibet's self-exiled spiritual leader.

"Police have arrested many people in their homes since Oct. 15," said a French traveler in Lhasa, the capital of Tibet, who was reached by telephone Wednesday from Beijing. He was referring to the expiration of a deadline set by authorities for participants in an Oct. 1 riot to turn themselves in and "beg for leniency."

Suspect In Rape Cases May Get More Charges

By Jane Caselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood Police by the end of the week hope to bring charges of a Longwood woman's rape against the suspect, being held in Osceola County without bond in another case.

Robert Becker Power, 27, of 2220 W. Vine St., Kissimmee has been charged by Kissimmee Police with two counts of kidnapping, two counts of sexual battery, one count of burglary to an occupied dwelling and one count of possession of a firearm in committing a felony in the case of two Kissimmee sisters, 12 and 16, who were kidnapped from their home and sexually assaulted.

Lt. Jack Bisland said independent witnesses are being interviewed in conjunction with the Sept. 23 sexual assault of a Longwood woman. A rapist used the victim's car to flee the scene. The car was found early the next day by Kissimmee police looking for a prowler and possible suspect in the kidnapping and rape of the two pairs of young sisters.

Bisland said he still is waiting for the results of tests being conducted at the Crime Lab in Orlando. Latent fingerprints recovered in the Longwood investigation are being compared to those of the suspect, and a court order will be sought to obtain samples from the man for comparison in serology tests.

Power is also a suspect in the kidnap and rape of two other young Kissimmee sisters, Lt. Ren Taylor of the Kissimmee Police Department said he hopes to charge Power in that case as well. He said since the suspect is in jail without bond in the similar case, there is plenty of time to accumulate evidence before filing charges in the second case.

Taylor said this is also the case in Orange County where Power is a suspect in the Oct. 6 kidnap-murder of 12-year-old Angela Bare in south Orlando. Power has been identified by Orange County Deputy Richard Welley as the man who got the drop on him with a 9-mm automatic and forced him to hand over his .357 magnum service revolver when he responded to a report that Angela was being held by a gunman.

Woman To Face Charges Of Battery On Deputy

A woman who allegedly got a death grip on the crotch of a Seminole County sheriff's deputy during a confrontation on North Street, rural Altamonte Springs, is scheduled to appear in court Nov. 2 to face charges of assault and battery on a policeman, resisting arrest with violence and disorderly conduct.

Adonna Burkhead, 20, of 4758 Pankan Drive, Apopka, was arrested after a violent struggle with the sheriff's deputy at about 11 a.m. Oct. 14.

The sheriff's deputy reported that as he drove past Burkhead as she stood alone on a street corner she allegedly shouted obscenities and threats at him.

As he confronted her, she refused to calm down and began struggling with the deputy, a sheriff's report said.

The deputy put Burkhead in a headlock and she grabbed his crotch. The deputy couldn't break her grip and she allegedly threatened that if the deputy didn't release her, she would kill him.

The deputy hit Burkhead two times in the ribs with a police club to break her grip. He radioed for backup assistance from other lawmen. Before other deputies arrived, the lone deputy continued to struggle with Burkhead in an attempt to handcuff her. A crowd of 10 to 15 people gathered, cheered Burkhead on and threatened the deputy until other officers arrived to help handcuff her and transport her to the Seminole County jail.

Burkhead was released on $1,000 bond.

Navy Stiffens Drug Penalty

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy has toughened its policy against illicit drug use, ruling that sailors ranked first class petty officer and above will be discharged if found to have abused drugs, the service said Wednesday.

Effective since Friday, the new policy for the first time includes first class petty officers among sailors who would be dismissed immediately for drug use.

Previously, that headline policy applied only to those ranked chief petty officer and above.

AIDS Studies Need Chimps

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — A top AIDS researcher says a shortage of chimpanzees is hindering the war against the deadly disease.

Dr. Robert Gallo, one of the discoverers of the AIDS virus, said at a cancer symposium that some studies of the deadly disease have been slowed because of a lack of lab animals.

Chimpanzees are the only lab animal that can be infected with the AIDS virus by researchers looking for an AIDS vaccine, but they cannot be taken from the wild because they are on the endangered species list.

National AIDS Cross Network Announced

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — The creation of a nationwide computer network to speed up transmission of vital information about AIDS was announced at a conference of public health officials.

AIDS-Net will include computer terminals in 50 state and 25 local government offices to provide a variety of data, and will be coordinated by the non-profit Public Health Foundation trade organization based in Washington, D.C., officials said Tuesday.

World Panel On AIDS Crisis Established

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — World health officials have announced the establishment of a Global Commission on AIDS to help tackle up to 3 million new cases of the deadly disease expected in the next five years.

Dr. Halfdan Mahler, director-general of the World Health Organization, Dr. Jonathan Mann, director of WHO's special program on AIDS, and U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop were among the officials presenting the latest findings Tuesday.

The United States proposed a global program to make "the world's blood supply safe for transfusion" by 1991.

Unlikely Hero Hammers Twins

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — In a season of unlikely heroes for the St. Louis Cardinals, the most improbable one of all has gotten them even with the Minnesota Twins in the World Series.

Tom Lawless, a seldom used utility player whose previous greatest claim to fame was that he was the only person ever traded for Pete Rose, hit a clutch three-run homer Wednesday night to spark the Cardinals to a 7-2 victory over the Twins that squared the Series at two games apiece.

Tom Who? L-a-w-l-e-s-s, the same guy Reggie Jackson poked fun at the other day by saying he didn't even know how to spell his name. The same Tom Lawless who had hit one previous major league home run. The same Tom Lawless who had two hits during the regular season and batted .080.

Lawless, playing only because third baseman Terry Pendleton is hurt and can't bat right-handed, connected off left-hander Frank Viola in the fourth inning to highlight a six-run uprising that broke the game open for the Cardinals.

"I thought I hit the ball pretty well, but this is a big ballpark and I didn't think it was going to go out," Lawless said. "There were runners on first and third at the time and I just stood there because I knew if it was going to be caught, it was going to be a sacrifice fly and I couldn't pass Jose [Oquendo, the runner on first]. Then I saw the ball go over the wall and I said to myself, 'Holy Cow, it went out.' My mind went blank for a moment because I couldn't believe it went out. I flipped the bat. I guess, but I don't remember."

Lawless' only previous major league homer came three years ago when he was with the Cincinnati Reds. He hit it off current teammate Ken Dayley, who saved Wednesday night's game, who was then with the Atlanta Braves.

"He's reminded me of it for the last three years," Dayley said.

Lawless not only contributed mightily with his bat, he also turned in a sparkling fielding play in the fifth inning that helped choke off a potential big inning for the Twins.

With runners on first and third and one out, Kirby Puckett hit what appeared to be a sure double down the third base line. Lawless dove to his right and knocked the ball down, holding Puckett to a single.

The Cardinals then got two more standout defensive plays in succession to get out of the inning. Shortstop Ozzie Smith dove to his right and turned Gary Gaetti's hard grounder into a force play and left fielder Vince Coleman made a tumbling shoestring catch of Tom Brunansky's liner to end the inning.

"The play Smith made was a great play," Gaetti said. "I couldn't believe he got to it. The last time I looked he wasn't even in my peripheral vision. I really admire a great defensive play. You see him do it on This Week in Baseball all the time, but when you see it in front of you it's unbelievable." Unless, of course, you've seen it done repeatedly as has Cardinals Manager Whitey Herzog.

Tom Lawless, left, slugged a three-run homer and Ken Dayley pitched out of a bases-loaded jam to help St. Louis even the World Series.

District Dust May Settle In 2 Weeks

The next two weeks will have a major bearing on who wins both District 5A-4 and 4A-7.

In 5A-4 action Friday, Lake Mary (3-0 in the district) faces one of its biggest battles of the year in Lake Howell (1-1). This is the first time in three years the teams have been in the same district.

Lake Mary, which has district wins over Lake Brantley, Spruce Creek and Lyman, won the district two years ago and was second last year. Lake Howell won its first district game last week against Brantley and also has a loss to DeLand.

Lake Brantley (0-2) can put itself right back in the race with a victory over DeLand (2-0) on Friday. The Patriots have been playing pretty well the past few weeks and figure to give DeLand a run for its money.

DeLand is defending district champion and can put itself in good position to win it again with a win over Lake Brantley. It is almost a must win situation for DeLand since the Bulldogs go up against Lake Mary the following week.

Lyman (0-2) and Spruce Creek (1-1) will try to stay afloat in District 5A-4 as they battle each other Friday night. The Greyhounds have played well in both district losses (Lake Howell, Lake Mary) while the Creek opened with a win over Mainland (0-3) before tumbling to Lake Mary.

The game that will most likely be for all the marbles in District 4A-7 will be played next Friday, Oct. 30, as Seminole High hosts Oviedo. Seminole can clinch the district title with a win as it already owns victories over Orlando Edgewater and Leesburg (in the four-team district. Oviedo has a district victory over Leesburg but has yet to play Edgewater.

PICKS — The Fearless Fister Forecast continued to soar with a 7-3 record last week, including 3-0 in prep predictions. For the season, the record stands at 43-17-2.

This week, Oviedo Outlook prognosticator and Oviedo sports guru Mickey Norton will put his 72 percent accuracy against the Forecast's 71 percent. I'm sweating bullets, Mickey.

Lake Mary at Lake Howell
Norton says Lake Mary will win decisively, by 14 points, over the Silver Hawks.

Last year, Lake Howell sheared the Rams, 27-0, en route to the Seminole Athletic Conference title. Harry Nelson's Lake Mary team is rarely embarrassed twice in a row, though, and the Rams should keep their conference and district unbeaten records alive... Lake Mary by 7

Spruce Creek at Lyman
Norton says this game is pretty much a toss up but gives the host Greyhounds a three-point edge.

Lyman's defense came of age in a 10-6 victory over Oviedo last week and will be hungry for a shutout Friday night. The offense should do better this week against a Spruce Creek defense that gave up 35 points to Lake Mary... Lyman by 12

Lake Brantley at DeLand
Norton believes that DeLand will be too tough for Lake Brantley and picks the host Bulldogs by 10.

Lake Brantley has got its offense in high gear now and proved that by scoring 19 points and running for over 250 yards on a tough Lake Howell defense last week. The Patriots should be able to come up with enough defense to hold on for the victory... Lake Brantley by 6

Winter Park at Boone
Norton picks Winter Park weekly so it will be included even though we both agree it will be a rout. Norton says Winter Park by six touchdowns and Fister says the Wildcats by seven TDs.

COLLEGES — In college football action this weekend it should be Miami by 48 over Cincinnati, UCF by 30 over Northwest Missouri State, Oklahoma by 38 over Colorado and, in an upset, Indiana by 1 over Michigan.

PROS — Since the seas are gone I will resume picking professional games. In an upset, the Bucs over the Bears by 2 and the Bills over the Dolphins by 7.

UF Initiates Preparation For Auburn

United Press International

With no game scheduled for this weekend, the University of Florida football team began working against Auburn's base offense and defense Wednesday as the Gators prepare for the Oct. 31 contest at Auburn.

"We had a pretty good practice today," coach Galen Hall said. "We were thinking about Auburn and were getting some things accomplished out there."

A statement concerning the condition of Rhondy Weston was issued by UF team physician, Dr. Pete Indelicato. Weston, a junior defensive tackle, has broken his jaw.

"Everything has progressed as well as could be hoped for at this point. It is too soon to make a decision on his potential to play in the Auburn game. We probably won't know until the middle of next week, as it is still very much a day-to-day matter. Efforts are being made to design a mouthpiece and face mask to protect his jaw."

In other news, it was announced Wednesday that the Florida-Auburn game will be televised nationally by ESPN at 7:30 p.m. EST. This marks the fourth national cable TV appearance this season for Florida.

Elsewhere, the University of Miami football team worked out for two hours and 45 minutes in full pads Wednesday in preparation for Saturday's game at Cincinnati in Riverfront Stadium.

"We had a good smooth Wednesday workout," coach Jimmy Johnson said. "We'll move down to the baseball team's Mark Light Stadium tomorrow to get some work in on the (artificial) turf. The team is in good spirits."

Frustration To Elation

Andre Raines, top, appears ready to take out his frustration on father Tim Raines during the Seminole-Lake Brantley football game. Neither Raines was too satisfied with the loss to Brantley, but their spirits perked up a week later when the 'Noles whipped Leesburg in a big district game. Seminole has Friday off before an Oct. 30 showdown with Oviedo. A Seminole victory clinches the District 4A-7 championship and a spot in state playoffs.

Texas-Rigged Shrimp Offers Angler Limitless Possibilities

There are few fishermen who have not used shrimp for bait at one time or another. Not many saltwater fish can ignore a fat, fresh shrimp, and these baits are easily obtainable at almost any bait shop.

There are many ways to fish a live shrimp, but have you ever heard of a "weedless" shrimp? One of the woes of most anglers is getting snagged in the rocks. How would you like to fish a live shrimp where other fishermen would fear to tread?

The method is very simple and employs the same concept that is involved with the Texas-rigged plastic worm. First of all, thread a bullet-shaped worm weight on your line. (The amount of weight you need will be determined by the water depth, amount of current, etc.) Next, tie on a 1/0 worm hook to your line.

Out of habit, many anglers would now pick up a plastic worm and hook it on the rig we have just completed, but this is where the new wrinkle comes in. Instead of threading a plastic worm on the hook, you Texas-rig a live shrimp. Simply cut off the tail of the shrimp and insert the point of the hook at the tail and thread it all the way to the base of the head. Pull the point out, turn it around 180 degrees and insert the point in the head of the shrimp, making sure that it is buried.

Voila! You now have created a Texas-rigged shrimp and are ready for action. Simply cast out your new creation and allow it to settle to the bottom. The hook point should ride up on the retrieve.

Like fishing the plastic worm, there are many ways you can fish this weedless shrimp rig. You can bump it slowly across the bottom, let it lie motionless, or jig it in the same place.

The Texas-rigged shrimp is particularly deadly on the flats when fishermen are sight fishing for redfish and other species. Fish on the flats are typically spooky and hard to catch with an artificial. Jig this rig across their nose and it will be inhaled almost every time.

When a fish takes your shrimp, don't strike immediately. Instead, lower the rod tip and give the fish more time to mouth the bait as the hook is buried inside the shrimp. After a few seconds delay, take up the slack line, set the hook, and reel in your meal.

The Texas-rigged shrimp offers limitless possibilities for the imaginative fisherman. How can you use this rig to improve your catch?

SHUPE'S SCOOP — Live shrimp are much harder than most people suspect. They can be kept alive for long periods of time in a moist, cool environment. Cool, damp moss in an ice chest with only a small amount of water will keep dozens of shrimp alive for hours.

WEEKEND CAST — Rick Rawlins from Highland Park Fish Camp reports that speck fishing is really good, but high winds have hampered fishing on Lake Weiruff. Look for limit catches when the winds subside. Bass fishing is steady with wild shiners fished near cover in the river and in Lake Weiruff. Dell Abernethy at Osteen Bridge Fish Camp reports that speckled perch are red hot! Many anglers are getting their limits and he sold out of Missouri minnows last weekend. Frankie Dodson took his two children out and they caught 40 specks in one hour at the Government

The imagine fisherman can catch success with a Texas-rigged shrimp.

Cut. Look for specks at Brickyard Slough, the old river channel, and other deep holes. Specks are probably biting in Lake Monroe, but high winds have prevented fishing. Bass fishing is holding up in spite of the water being up a foot or so. Eddie Bussard has been bringing in steady catches.

Sebastian Inlet has been good for redfish and snook. Most of the reds have been over the 27 inch size limit, but they are fun to catch. Many snooks are also being caught, but most of them are on the small side, from 6 to 13 pounds. Live bait has been the best producer for the reds and the snook. The Inlet is packed with finger mullet, so catching live bait is no problem.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral said that the ocean has been unfishable, even for the head boats. Strong north winds have been blowing steadily for 3 weeks. Inside the Port, flounder, sheepshead, mangrove snapper, jack crevalle, and bluefish have been keeping anglers busy. Redfish and trout are active in the Bananae and Indian rivers. Look for good action on the flats and use a top-water plug or a small gold spoon.

Waves are still breaking over the New Smyrna Jetty and only a few brave souls have been able to fish. Sheepshead, flounder, redfish, drum, whiting, and bluefish are waiting to be caught when the seas calm down somewhat.

Mary's Boys, Lady Pats Control Sharidan Meet

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Mary's boys and Lake Brantley's girls were the dominant teams Wednesday at a quadrangular swimming meet at Longwood's Sharidan Aquatic Center. Seminole High and Orlando Bishop Moore also competed.

In the boys division, Lake Mary won all but one event en route to a score of 163 compared to 101 for Lake Brantley, 53 for Seminole and 50 for Bishop Moore.

Individual firsts for the Rams included Scott Vincent in the 200 freestyle (2:00.84), Steve Kostowicz in the 50 free (22.76), Wes Simecek in the 100 butterfly (55.41), Joe Rosser in the 100 free (53.32), Jaime Bojanowski in the 500 free (4:58.01), Brad Bridgewater in the 100 backstroke (58.01) and Mark Russell in the 100 breaststroke (1:08.86).

The Rams also won both relays as the team of Kostowicz, Karl Kuchnia, Simecek and Bojanowski won the 200 medley (1:48.24) and the foursome of Rosser, Rob Baker, Chris Sively and Bridgewater took the 400 free (3:39.4).

"We didn't expect this meet to be too much trouble so we swam the kids in their off events," Lake Mary coach Walt Morgan said. "The kids are right where I want them to be at this time and they are excited about going up against Lyman in the conference meet."

The only event Lake Mary didn't win Wednesday was the 200 individual medley where Lake Brantley's Scott Bridges was first in 2:14.62.

For Seminole High, Matt Chock was second in the 100 breaststroke (1:15.24), David Johnson was third in the 500 free (6:14.98) and the 200 medley relay team of Johnson, Chock, Jeff Belford and David Higginbotham was third at 2:09.8.

Swimming

"Everyone did their season best times and quite a few went lifetime bests by two or three seconds," Seminole coach Tony Ackerson said. "We're in real good shape going into the taper period."

In the girls division, Lake Brantley compiled 152 points compared to 130 for Lake Mary, 73 for Bishop Moore and 40 for Seminole.

The Lady Patriots won all but one event with individual firsts going to Manda Davis in the 100 fly (1:04.05) and 100 breaststroke (1:16.86), Dani Ohnsman in the 200 free (2:03.61), Kristen Pauley in the 50 free (25.58), Lisa Moon in the 100 free (56.23), Jolene Lake in the 500 free (5:20.34) and Christy Bridgewater in the 100 back (1:03.41).

Brantley also won the 200 medley relay as the team of Jennifer Moon, Davis, Lake and Kathy Spiller combined for a 1:57.75.

The only event the Brantley girls didn't win was the 200 IM where Lake Mary's Kelley Wise took first place. Wise was also third in the 500 free.

"Kelley (Wise) looked good in the IM," Lake Mary coach Sandy Brown said. "She held steady throughout the race, then came right back and did a good job in the 500 free."

For Seminole, Cissy Burgess finished second in the 200 free with a time of 2:07.18.

McMahon Fine; Ready For Bucs

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (UPI) — Chicago Bears quarterback Jim McMahon said Wednesday he is prepared to play this week, 10 months after undergoing career-threatening shoulder surgery.

McMahon said he will play Sunday against Tampa Bay and feels "fine." McMahon spent the first part of the season on the injured reserve. He underwent surgery for a torn rotator cuff last Dec. 12.

McMahon went through a final exam by his surgeon, Dr. Frank Jobe, in Los Angeles Tuesday night.

"I took a hit from the Fridge while going in for a layup during the strike," McMahon said of 300-plus defensive tackle William "Refrigerator" Perry. "If I could survive being hit that hard, I'm ready. It hurt like hell for a second but it's fine."

McMahon added he was flattened by the Fridge's hit.

"No foul, I guess," he said. "No blood, no foul."

Although McMahon, who came off injured reserve this week, is ready to play against the Buccaneers, Chicago Coach Mike Ditka likely will start Mike Tomczak. Tomczak, who won a quarterback battle in preseason, directed the Bears to a pair of opening victories before the NFL players' strike.

"I didn't do anything before I got hurt to lose the job. The job is mine," McMahon said. "Tomczak's playing well. He's getting better. But I don't deserve to be demoted."

McMahon had hoped to start the season as the starter. But he developed soreness in his arm during training camp and Chicago opted to place him on IR.

"I wanted to start the opening game but it was unrealistic on my part," McMahon said. "I was shooting for Week 7 and that's where I'm at."

SPORTS

IN BRIEF

Connection, Six Flags Continue Winning Ways in Men's Softball

Tim Raines Connection and Six Flags Nursery, the pre-season favorites in the Sanford Men's Softball League, continued to run neck and neck Wednesday as both picked up victories.

TRC improved to 3-0 with a 22-0 romp past Bridgewater (0-2) and Six Flags improved to 2-1 with a 9-2 victory over Wrecking Crew (0-2).

Club owner Tim Raines, moved to his more comfortable leadoff position, responded with a three-run homer, single and double for TRC. Eddie Jackson also powered a three-run later.

Sam Raines slapped three singles. Rodney Turner had a pair of doubles while Bob Jacobs and Greg Hardy each added a two-run double. Billy Griffith and Ned Raines stroked two hits each while Tommy Raines chipped in a double.

Winning pitcher Burnett "Slim" Washington tossed a three-inning perfect game, retiring all nine Bridgewater batters in order.

In Wednesday's first game, Dave Richarde singled and doubled to drive in two runs as Six Flags used a four-run third inning to beat Wrecking Crew. Jim Clements and Clancy Wallace each had two hits. Clements and Tony Dunkinson each drove in a run.

Mark Songer and Hal Posey drove in the Crew's runs. Songer and Chris Nickles had two hits apiece.

P. Turgeon Nets 2, Sabres Lose

United Press International

Pierre Turgeon earned the right to call Mom first Wednesday night.

Turgeon, the top pick in this year's draft, scored his first two NHL goals against his brother Sylvain's team, the Hartford Whalers, but the Buffalo Sabres suffered a 5-3 setback.

"We won the game and that was the most important thing for us because we had a tough start," Sylvain Turgeon said of the Whalers, who had lost their first five games of the season. "Maybe the fact that I was playing against him might have loosened Pierre up. He was at the right spot at the right time."

Elsewhere, Montreal drubbed Toronto 10-3. Calgary stashed the New York Rangers 5-4. New Jersey clipped Pittsburgh 5-4. Chicago smacked Detroit 5-1. Edmonton dumped Los Angeles 6-2 and Boston bumped Vancouver 5-4.

Sloan Likes Freshmen Forwards

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — After one week of practice, University of Florida basketball coach Norm Sloan has mixed feelings on his team's performance to date.

"We've had some good days and then we've had some not so good days," Sloan said. "We need to concentrate on staying in game conditions while practicing, not practice conditions."

"I'm particularly pleased, though, with the play of two of our freshmen, Dwayne Davis (a 6-8 forward, from St. Petersburg) and Livingston Chatman (a 6-7 forward from Lakeland). They have both gone up against our veterans with confidence, and it shows. They have both looked very solid."

Fitzgerald, Pernfors To Face Off

TOKYO (UPI) — Australian John Fitzgerald scored a 6-3, 6-1 upset of fourth-seeded Jimmy Connors Thursday to advance to the quarterfinals of a $375,000 men's tennis tournament.

Top-seeded Ivan Lendl, second-seeded Stefan Edberg and No. 3 seed Boris Becker all advanced easily.

Lendl swept past American Robert Seguso 6-2, 6-0 in a 55-minute match.

Mikael Pernfors of Sweden turned back American Sammy Gammalva, Jr. 6-3, 6-2 and will meet Fitzgerald. Eric Jelen of West Germany came from behind to topple Broderick Dyke of Australia 3-6, 6-3, 6-2. He will play Lendl in the next round.

Perkins, Bell Boost Bulldogs, 7-0

Travis Perkins' 5-yard touchdown pass to Dwayne Bell turned out to be the only score of the game Wednesday as the Bulldogs blanked the Cowboys, 7-0, in Sanford Recreation Department Flag Football action at Chase Park.

The victory improved the Bulldogs to 2-1 for the season while the Cowboys also stand at 2-1 and the Wildcats, idle Wednesday, are 0-2.

The Perkins to Bell scoring strike came in the first half and the Bulldogs added the conversion for a 7-0 lead. Neither team could get anything going in the second half.

Jordan Knocks Off Garrison

BRIGHTON, England (UPI) — Kathy Jordan captured the last eight games Wednesday to defeat Zina Garrison 6-7 (4-7), 6-2, 6-0 in the first round of a $200,000 women's tennis tournament.

Garrison, 23, from Houston, Texas, struggled from the start, coming back from a 3-5 deficit to win the first set on a tie-break. Jordan, 27, from King of Prussia, Pennsylvania, broke service early in the second set, and from up 4-2, swept the next eight games.

Knutson Spikes Kowgirls

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Volleyball

Oviedo captain Jill Knutson has been a pretty big thorn in the side of Kissimmee Osceola this season.

In an earlier match, Knutson had 10 kills as the Lady Lions cruised and, Wednesday night, the senior standout lassoed the Kowgirls again with five good spikes in each game as Oviedo claimed a 15-12, 15-10 victory in nonconference action at Oviedo High.

The Lady Lions improved to 14-2 overall going into tonight's big Seminole Athletic Conference match at home against Lake Howell. Oviedo and DeLand are tied at 8-2 for the SAC lead and the Lady Lions need a win tonight to set up a winner-take-all match with DeLand next Thursday.

"The girls were a little down after the loss to Lake Brantley," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "They talked about it and said we still can win the conference if we win two games. They're looking forward to playing Lake Howell."

Knutson, who had an off game hitting but set superbly against Lake Brantley, got almost everything she hit in Wednesday night against Osceola. Juniors Suzanne Hughes and Anne Wolary also had strong performances at the net for Oviedo.

"Jill (Knutson) has had two of her best games hitting against Osceola," Carlson said. "Tonight she was jumping and hitting the ball hard instead of standing and trying to drive it."

In other Seminole Athletic Conference matches tonight, Lake Brantley (15-7 overall, 7-4 in the SAC) puts a four-match winning streak on the line as it hosts Lake Mary (8-9, 5-6) while Lyman (1-12, 0-11) looks for its first SAC win at DeLand. In nonconference action, Seminole (5-11) is at district foe St. Cloud.

Ex-Coaches: McDowell Steers UCF Football Toward Big Time

Three years ago, Gene McDowell took over a football program that was flailing with mediocrity.

Today, the University of Central Florida program is flirring with greatness.

McDowell, an overachiever who has confidence oozing from his pores, has successfully transferred UCF from one of the worst teams in Division II, to one of the best.

"I know that we are headed in the right direction," McDowell, who took over at UCF in 1985 after Lou Saban and interim coach Jerry Anderson combined for a 1-9 season, said. "We are growing, and UCF is starting to get the kind of respect it deserves."

The Knights (4-2) are no longer the "Rodney Dangerfields" of the state. UCF is currently enjoying its best season ever. The Knights are ranked No. 13 in the NCAA Div. II Poll and have a legitimate chance at making the Div. II playoffs if they win the rest of their games.

UCF will try to up its mark to 5-2 when it hosts Northwest Missouri State in its homecoming game on Saturday afternoon at 2. The rock group Air Supply will play immediately after the game.

UCF winning its five remaining games may not be an easy task, but McDowell feels that his team is up to it. "I truly believe that we can make the playoffs," McDowell said. "We are playing the best football that I have seen since I've been here."

Had it not been for a pair of losses to Div. I-AA powers Eastern Kentucky and Georgia Southern, the Knights, who were ranked No. 2 earlier in the season, would be much higher in the poll. "I think that we are proving that we are one of the best Div. II teams in the country," McDowell said. "We have to finish in the top eight in the country, so that means we have to move up one place each week. And that is a good possibility."

Scott Sander

Two people that keep close tabs on the UCF program, former head coaches Don Jonas and Sam Weir, both said that they feel that the UCF program is stronger than ever.

"The operation has come a very long way," Jonas, whose career record at UCF stands at 14-12-1, said. "They are on the verge of going over the top."

"This is a very critical season for UCF," Jonas said. "Gene (McDowell) has done an excellent job, and I think that he has gotten people to recognize UCF."

McDowell, a former Florida State assistant to Bobby Bowden, is shooting to break Jonas' victory total. Last week's 52-14 thrashing of West Georgia was his 14th victory in 28 games.

Weir, who coached one season at UCF, concurred. "Gene has really done a super job," Weir, coach at Orlando Edgewater, said. "The program is getting bigger, and I wish them all the luck in the world."

Weir's only season was not a very successful one as the Knights went 0-10. After UCF played its first three seasons in Div. III, Weir got the ominous job of taking over the team when it was moved up to the Div. II level. Week after week, the Knights played teams of much better quality and numbers.

He said that he hopes UCF takes it time as far as moving up to Div. I-AA goes. "I hope that they don't rush anything, because it could be a mistake," Weir said. "It is certainly better to be one of the best Div. II teams around than to be an average I-AA team."

Jonas said that he thinks moving up to I-AA is still down the road. "A lot of it has to do with the financial aspect of things," Jonas, who does the radio commentating for the UCF games, said. "Once we get out of debt, we'll be able to get the scholarships and compete with these bigger schools."

Despite UCF's success in the past few years, its fan support has been relatively small. The Knights, who play in a 50,000-seat stadium, are averaging a paltry 11,500 fans per game. Some of the area's better high school rivalries have attracted close to 10,000 fans, yet a college that has the second best passing offense in the country in the nation can only attract 11,500 fans.

"I can't believe that more people aren't coming to the games," Jonas said. "If are looking for an exciting game, you'll get one at a UCF game."

McDowell also said that he would like to see more fans. "I'd like to see more people out there," McDowell said. "And if we keep winning, more people will be showing up."

Jonas said that one of the reasons that UCF has been so successful is that McDowell has surrounded himself with an excellent coaching staff. "Gene has put the best possible people around him," Jonas said. "The coaching staff is excellent."

Jonas said that UCF defensive coordinator Perry Moss, who coached for the Chicago Bears, Buffalo Bills, and Green Bay Packers in the NFL, said that the UCF staff is one of the best with which he has been associated. "I went out to the school and I asked Perry what kind of staff this was," McDowell said. "He told me that it was absolutely excellent."

In addition to his NFL experience, Moss has coached at Florida State, Kentucky, Louisiana State, Wisconsin, Miami, and Washington. Moss, a quarterback in college, also helped Tulsa to an Orange Bowl victory and Illinois to a Rose Bowl win.

The rest of the UCF coaching staff consists of assistant head coach Rick Stockstill, defensive back coach Bruce Bennett, assistant coach Melvin Flournoy, offensive coordinator Mike Kruczek, offensive line coach Paul Lounsberry, and linebacker coach Randy Romero.

"People just have to be patient," Jonas said. "The program is definitely on the uprise."

NOTE — Jonas recently gave Seminole high school quarterback Jeff Blake a fine compliment. Jonas said that if there was one player that he would be anxious to have on his team, it would be Blake.

"The kid is a natural passer," Jonas said. "He is the best around." Blake is the leading passer in Central Florida with 855 yards. The rifle-armed senior has thrown seven touchdown passes.

Tie Keeps Favored Auburn On Treadmill

United Press International

No. 6 Auburn is heavily favored Saturday to move to just a half game off the lead in a Southeastern Conference race involving a half dozen nationally ranked teams. But it appears the Tigers are on a treadmill.

Auburn's problem was created by last month's tie at Tennessee. The Tigers can wind up with an unbeaten season and still not catch No. 4 Louisiana State, which also has a tie — but with outsider Ohio State. Since Auburn and LSU don't meet this season, the Tigers need help from one of their conference neighbors — and that help is not expected.

LSU, which has an open date this weekend, is favored for its three remaining conference games — against Ole Miss, Alabama, and Mississippi State — and thus expected to repeat as SEC champions.

Auburn (5-0-1) figures to have an easy time Saturday while hosting Mississippi State (3-3) as 27-point favorites. In other intra-SEC action, No. 13 Georgia (5-2) hosts Kentucky (4-2) and

Football

Ole Miss (2-5) hosts Vanderbilt (1-5).

In non-conference regional play, No. 16 Tennessee (4-1-1) hosts Georgia Tech (2-4), No. 3 Miami (4-0) is at Cincinnati (2-4), No. 20 South Carolina (4-2) hosts East Carolina (4-3), Memphis State (3-3) hosts Southern Miss (3-3), and Tulane (3-3) hosts Virginia Tech (1-5).

No. 5 Florida State (6-1), No. 11 Florida (5-2), and No. 18 Alabama (5-2) join LSU (6-0-1) on the sidelines Saturday.

Auburn Coach Pat Dye says he's concerned about Saturday's game with Mississippi State, both because of its location on the schedule and the condition of his squad.

"When you look at what we have coming up after this week (Florida, Florida State, Georgia and Alabama), you see why we have to work overtime to keep everyone's attention on Saturday's game," said Dye. "Also, we're more beat up after a game (against Georgia Tech) than we have been all year and some of our players have had to miss practice time."

One of those was wide receiver Freddy Weygand, the SEC's leading punt returner, who underwent surgery this week for a shoulder separation which is expected to keep him out of action for up to five weeks.

Auburn's running game, traditionally one of the best in the nation, is a distant last in the SEC this season, but the Tigers have taken up the slack with outstanding defensive play and the passing of Jeff Burger, who is ranked No. 2 nationally after completing 105 of 154 for 1,314 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Georgia vs. Kentucky shapes up strictly as a running duel. The two are 1-2 in the SEC in rushing with Georgia featuring tailbacks Lars Tate and Rodney Hampton, who have 716 and 557 yards respectively, and Kentucky with Mark Higgs and Ivy Joe Hunter at 734 and 426.

Georgia quarterback James Jackson, who injured his ankle last week at Vanderbilt, was back at practice this week and a possible starter for Saturday's game. But Hampton, a freshman, missed some work after having fluid drained from his knee.

Georgia trainer Warren Morris said Hampton's condition was not expected to keep him out of Saturday's game. Neither was that of Georgia Coach Vince Dooley, who Tuesday underwent a procedure to open a blocked artery that could have caused a heart attack.

Redskin Regulars Keep Negative Feelings Under Surface

United Press International
Any negative feelings the Washington Redskins and New England Patriots had toward their replacement players never surfaced on the practice field Wednesday.

The Redskins regulars and their strike-breaking substitutes practiced together for the first time Wednesday in Herndon, Va., without incident and Coach Joe Gibbs said two replacements could play Sunday against the New York Jets.

The Redskins retained 13 players on their active roster and four on injured reserve from their replacement team that posted a 3-0 record. The Redskins, 4-1, lead the NFC East.

The replacement players sensed some tension, but no incidents occurred.

"There is a little bit of tension here and there, but for the most part it's been real smooth," said rookie safety Steve Gage. "It felt nice to walk through the front door, not being ushered in by the cops. That makes you feel a little bit better."

Gibbs said he does not anticipate any problems with acceptance of the new players, particularly because they were one of only three undefeated teams during the strike.

"I think we try to pick good people and good people will work things out," Gibbs said. "If there's something there, it will get worked out."

"The good thing is that the replacement guys held status quo or even better than that and we don't have to come back and say we lost a couple of games."

At Foxboro, Mass., the Patriots' replacement players and returning veterans practiced together for the first time and there today. There was laughter. What we're trying to do now is forget."

Meanwhile, at Jets camp in Hempstead, N.Y., tension was evident in the locker room on a day in which the team released a veteran because of the progress of a replacement player.

Nose tackle Don Smith, a nine-year veteran, was waived. Jets Coach Joe Walton said Smith became expendable because of the emergence of Scott Mesereau, who was a standout on the Jets' substitute team during the strike.

Smith's release in favor of Mesereau sent a message to the players that some substitutes will be taking jobs from regulars. The Jets have retained 15 players from their non-union team.

"A lot of guys are concerned about people being let go," said receiver Kurt Sohn, the Jets' player representative.

Washington was the lone NFL team not to have a veteran cross the picket line to play in substitute games. The Jets had 10 players defect.

At Orchard Park, N.Y., the strike has put the Buffalo Bills in a tenuous financial position.

"Things could get a lot worse," Bills General Manager Bill Polian said of the team's losses during the 24-day work stoppage. "We could be in a heavy red-ink situation."

Despite the fact the Bills did not have to pay hefty player salaries during the walkout, the club lost a potentially large gate Sunday when the defending Super Bowl champion New York Giants visited Rich Stadium.

The 80,290-seat stadium had been sold out since the summer for the Giants game, but an announced crowd of only 15,737 attended.

agreed the healing process had begun.

"We've started talking and understanding where each other is coming from," said defensive end Garin Veris, who remained loyal to the union.

"We're not hugging and kissing out there," said running back Most Tatupu, who also stayed out for the full strike, "but we're doing what we have to do. When we go out on the field, that [possible animosity] is not on our mind."

Tony Collins, the first veteran to break ranks, said his teammates treated him no differently than before the strike.

"Everything was like an ordinary practice," he said. "No one was cold to me. It was fun out player representative.

ADAMS: OILERS UNDECIDED
HOUSTON (UPI) — Houston Oilers owner Bud Adams said Wednesday he is still undecided on whether to move the NFL team to Jacksonville and does not know when he will make an announcement.

Officials with the Oilers and Houston Sports Association have resumed talks after a month-long stalemate, prompting reports they are close to an agreement that will keep the Oilers in Houston.

But Adams said Wednesday the rumors are false.

"Someone told me they heard last night we had come to an agreement," Adams said. "We have not come to an agreement. We will not make an announcement today or tomorrow."

Adams said the latest HSA proposal was encouraging, but that he also is considering taking a second trip to Jacksonville.

Lawless Provides Dayley With 2nd HR To Remember

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Tom Lawless Wednesday night provided Ken Dayley with another home run to remember.

Lawless smacked a three-run homer in the fourth inning to spark the Cardinals to a 7-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins that squared the World Series at two games apiece.

It was only the second career homer for Lawless. His first came April 25, 1984, when he played with the Cincinnati Reds and Dayley pitched for the Atlanta Braves.

"He's never let me forget it either," said Dayley, who recorded a save Wednesday. "On our stat sheets, it has the last home run you hit and that one has been on there for Tom. He leaves it in my locker."

"He has the ball and he says he's going to bring it down for me to sign. He also has a tape of his radio announcer calling it."

Dayley remembers the homer Lawless hit despite the passage of time.

"He fouled off three or four pitches and it was a full count," Dayley said. "It was either the 10th or 11th pitch and we were in Atlanta when he hit it out. He's been pounding it in me ever since."

At first, Lawless said he did not believe the ball would clear the fence in left. He just stood at home plate, admiring the flight of the ball.

When he knew it was a home run, Lawless flipped his bat and began to circle the bases.

"I didn't know if it was going out," Lawless said. "I've hit a lot of balls good in this park and they've been outs. I'm a little guy and I don't hit many homers."

"When it went over the wall I thought, 'Holy cow, it went out.' I went blank. I don't remember flipping the bat."

St. Louis Manager Whitey Herzog said he appreciated the Lawless home-run act.

"I'd put it up there with anything Reggie's (Jackson) done," Herzog said.

Lawless plays both infield and outfield and can catch.

"He's done a super job in his role," Herzog said. "He gives me a lot of options. We've got him signed already next year and I'm glad he is."

Lawless did not have an RBI this year until his homer but he said he knows and understands his place on the Cardinals.

"It doesn't bother me to sit. I'm in the big leagues," Lawless said. "I could be playing every day in the minors."

Prior to the home run, Lawless said he talked with the injured Jack Clark about his upcoming at-bat.

"I talked with Jack Clark and he told me to look the ball over," Lawless said. "Frank had me in stitches trying to get a hit. I went up determined to see the ball and react to it. I got results."

Lake Mary Cruises To Sweep

By Chris Pister
Herald Sports Writer

Lake Mary cruised to its first dual meet victory ever over Winter Park's Wildcats Wednesday as the Rams finished with a team score of 20 compared to 35 for the 'Cats in the annual dual at Lake Mary High.

"We basically ran it as workout for the Boone meet," Lake Mary coach Mark McGee said. "I told the kids to start out easy and pick it up the second mile. And even though they weren't really exerting that much, they all ran pretty good times."

Senior Brad Smith led Lake Mary as he took first with a time of 16:02 while senior Eric Petersen was second at 16:18.8. Winter Park's Bob Melvin was third (16:29.5) with Lake Mary's Matt Sutliff fourth (16:56.5) and Scott Plyler fifth (17:39.1). Rounding out Lake Mary's varsity team was Bob Robertson (eighth at 18:10.1).

"Brad (Smith) ran a 16:03 at the Lake Mary Open running hard," McGee said. "Today, on the same course, he ran 16:02 and was basically jogging. I was pleased that Brad and Eric (Petersen) ran that fast of times while not really trying hard."

In the junior varsity race Wednesday, Lake Mary and Winter Park wound up in a 27-27 tie but Lake Mary won the race as it had the better sixth runner. The Rams' JV team included Paul Evans (second at 18:54.3), Chad Driscoll (fourth at 19:33.9), Tom Henning (sixth at 19:45.3), Dave Finard (seventh at 19:49.5) and Mark Roberts (ninth at 20:51.6) and the number six runner was Alex Green (11th at 24:35.3). Also running for the JV Rams was Eddie Hernandez (12th at 24:43.1).

Viola Relearns Lesson Of Lost Control

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Get behind in the count against hitters and you're liable to find yourself behind in the score.

Minnesota starter Frank Viola relearned that lesson Wednesday night when he kept throwing more balls than strikes to a lot of hitters and eventually served up a three-run home run to Tom Lawless.

The Lawless home run keyed a six-run fourth that helped the St. Louis Cardinals take a 7-2 victory and even the World Series at two games apiece.

"I have to establish myself," Viola said. "Throw strikes and get ahead and this time I didn't do it. The first time (in Game 1 against St. Louis) I was ahead of everybody and this time I was behind."

"Eventually they are going to get you and they did," Viola said after seeing his World Series record evened at 1-1.

He walked Ozzie Smith in the third, then gave up singles to Tommy Herr and Jim Lindeman to tie the score after Greg Gagne had given Minnesota a 1-0 lead in the top of the inning with a home run.

Viola walked Tony Pena to begin the fourth, gave up a single to Jose Oquendo on a 2-1 pitch then served Lawless a one-strike fastball he lined some 370 feet to left field.

"It seems like I've given up so many home runs to unlikely guys," Viola said. "If I'm not totally in my groove, it seems like the No. 8 and No. 9 guys are the ones that hurt me. Somehow I take a guy like that for granted and lose my concentration.

"This one, though, is probably the biggest considering the magnitude of the game. It was a fastball out over the plate."

St. Louis is finding its unexpected heroes in unexpected places. All three of the Cardinals' postseason home runs have been hit by reserves or role-players and all three have been instrumental in winning games.

Jim Lindeman, part-time right fielder and first baseman while Jack Clark is injured, cracked a two-run home run in the third game of the playoffs that helped St. Louis to a 4-2 victory over San Francisco. Lindeman might have played right field if Clark were in the lineup but he most definitely would not have been batting fourth.

Oquendo, of course, is the Cards' Mr. Everything. He is alternating between right and third during the postseason.

...Series

"I'm spoiled," he said. "He's been with me six years now and I don't even say 'nice play' anymore. The left side of our defense has played so well it makes our lefties much better."

Defense and pitching, the core of the Cardinals' success, has blossomed at Busch Stadium. Six days ago everyone seemed ready to bury the Cardinals on the banks of the Mississippi; now everyone is climbing aboard the Budweiser wagon.

"I think momentum starts on the pitching mound," Minnesota Manager Tom Kelly said. "If your pitcher is good then the momentum is on your side of the field."

The Cardinals appear to have the advantage now, but Herzog insists tonight's game is a "must" game for his club.

"They won the first two games and we won the last two," he said. "It will be a big game Thursday night, one we have to win the way they play up there in the dome. If we lose Thursday night that means we have to win two at their place. I'd rather only have to win one there."

Bert Blyleven, winner of Game 2, and Danny Cox, loser of Game 2, will be the opposing pitchers tonight.

"I look at it this way," Brunansky said. "It's a three-game series with two at the Dome and I feel we have the advantage. Bert has been our workhorse all year and we've got him going at the right time. Tomorrow night we've just got to score early and take them out of their game."

Blyleven, who pitched seven strong innings in Game 2, takes the mound with a 5-0 record in postseason play over his career.

"Nobody ever wants to lose, especially in the postseason," he said. "You have yourself to look at in the mirror and 23 other guys who expect you to pitch consistently. My job Thursday night is to pitch consistently — to keep my team in the game. During my whole career, I've tried to keep my team in the game."

Niekro Receives Double Surprise

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Joe Niekro received a double surprise Wednesday night in Game 4 of the World Series. He appeared in his first Series game and his brother Phil witnessed it.

Phil Niekro not only saw his brother pitch before the 55,347 at Busch Stadium, but he said it felt like he was on the mound with Joe facing the Cardinals.

"I threw every pitch with him," Phil Niekro said after Joe Niekro hurled two innings of relief in the Minnesota Twins' 7-2 loss to St. Louis. "We did great for not having pitched for 2 1/2 weeks."

By pitching in the game, Niekro established a record for most years playing in the major leagues before appearing in his first World Series.

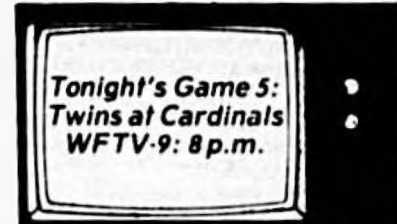

Niekro, a knuckleballer who turns 43 next month, put in 19 years, 138 days of service, surpassing Walter Johnson's previous high of 18 years before appearing in a Series.

Niekro would have started Game 4 had Minnesota won the previous night. So he made plans with his brother to attend the game in the event he did start. When the Twins lost Tuesday, Joe Niekro assumed Phil would stay home, but he came anyway.

"That was a pleasant surprise," Joe Niekro said. "It wasn't a must that I pitch. I'd rather be ahead 3-1 in the series than it be 2-2. But I feel good because my dad (Phil Sr.) got to see me pitch in a World Series."

Niekro's father, a former semipro pitcher who taught his sons how to throw the knuckleball, is confined to a wheelchair, but watched the game on TV from his home in Martins Ferry, Ohio.

"I thought about mom and dad, the guys back home in Ohio watching the game and Phil in the stands," Joe Niekro said. "This was for the whole family. Phil was there in spirit. We are very close and this was for the family."

Phil Niekro, who retired after the season, pitched 24 years in the majors and never made it to the World Series, although he came close twice with the Braves in 1969 and 1982.

3 DEFENSIVE GEMS
Three defensive gems by the St. Louis Cardinals in the fifth inning protected a lead and thwarted the Minnesota Twins in Game 4 of the World Series.

The plays were turned in by Ozzie Smith and Vince Coleman, known for their strong defense, and Tom Lawless, a seldom-used utility man playing third base because "Terry Pendleton is out with pulled rib cage muscles."

Lawless, who also hit a three-run homer, said, "I may sleep in my uniform tonight."

St. Louis led 7-1 after four innings Wednesday night, but Gene Larkin opened the Minnesota fifth with a walk off reliever Bob Forsch. Larkin went to third on a single to right by Dan Gladden.

With one out, Kirby Puckett hit a smash down the third base line. The ball went off Lawless' glove and Larkin scored; Gladden to second, Lawless, however, took away an extra-base hit from Puckett and allowed only one run to score.

Next up was Gary Gaetti, who hit a sharp ground ball to the hole. Smith dashed to his right, dived and speared the ball.

Smith scrambled to his knees and forced Puckett at second base.

Mendi's Father, Twin Pave Way For Early Cesta Swing

Most great baseball players begin playing the game at an early age. It was no different for Jose Luis Mendizabal in Jai-alai. He first strapped on his cesta as a 6-year-old in Acapulco, Mexico. Mendi, his professional name, had two primary motivating factors as a youngster. His father was a players manager at Acapulco Jai-alai for 11 years and he had a twin brother.

The Winter Springs resident never lacked for a playing partner or the proper instruction during his formative years. After five years in Acapulco, Mendi moved to San Sebastian, Spain where he and his twin continued to practice.

The popular backcourter turned pro when he was 16-years-old in Zaragoza, Spain. One year later, he moved on to Indonesia where he played for two years.

Mendi broke into the U.S. scene at Hallandale's Dania Jai-alai where he played for six years. Next, he journeyed to Milford, Conn. where played for two seasons.

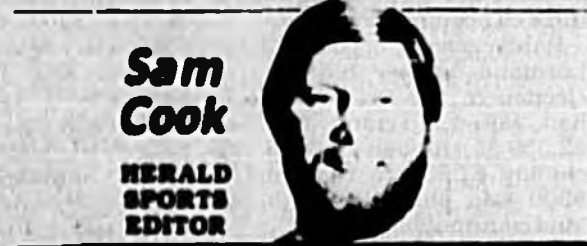

The well-traveled 34-year-old packed up his cesta again in 1975 and headed for Mexico City. After a seven-month season, he returned to Fort Pierce Jai-alai for one season.

Mendi packed his bags again the next season, going to Italy for one year and Spain for another. He moved over to Biarritz, France the next year and won the Gold Cesta award two years running.

In 1981, Mendi landed in Fern Park and made quick a splash at the Orlando-Seminole Jai-alai Fronton, winning the triple crown award in his first season.

"Mendi is noted for his wall-climbing ability," Orlando-Seminole General Manager Santi Echaniz said. "He can climb the wall and return the ball with the best anywhere. He's a real crowd pleaser."

Since then he has sprinkled his meets among Ocala, Miami and Orlando-Seminole. Mendi has represented Orlando-Seminole at the NAJF tournaments the past five years. He posted a second-place finish in 1983. He is a perennial award winner at the fronton, too.

WINNERS

Mikel picked up eight wins last week to push his season total to 13, tying him with Mikel for the top spot. Chitmeia has 12. Olea won seven games last week for the second spot.

Bob continues to lead the in-the-money percentage with a .507. He has 10 wins, 13 places and 13 shows in 71 games. Olea (11-10-8) and Urquidi (11-9-7) are next in line. Both have played 62 games.

Pardo leads the early singles (second and fourth games) with five wins. Pierre and Rica have three apiece. Eduardo's four wins and Urquidi's three top the feature singles. Frontcourters Elorrio and Charola have three wins apiece to top the feature doubles play. Farah leads the backcourters with four wins.

Bericua, the Barracuda, returned to the lineup Saturday after six weeks in Spain. He won three of 10 games.

STRENGTH

Echaniz, who began playing at Orlando-Seminole as a 17-year-old in 1961, said the '87 roster is the strongest from top to bottom in fronton history.

"Our younger players are really starting to come on," he said. "Their association with world-class players like Mendi, Angel, Elorrio and Bericua has helped them learn."

Echaniz said the six performances a week instead of nine will keep the players fresher and injury-free. Jai-alai performances run nightly Wednesday through Saturday. Matinees are Thursday and Saturday.

Hardy, Poelking Lead In Race's Fund-Raising

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Henry Hardy III and Ted A. Poelking are leading in contributions raised by the six-pack of candidates in Longwood's three city commission races.

Hardy, who is opposing June Lormann in her bid for reelection to the District 2 seat, had raised a grand total of $2,339.35 through Oct. 16, including $1,850 in cash and a $300 loan plus $189.35 in in-kind contributions.

Poelking, who is challenging Mayor Harold "Ed" Myers for the District 4 seat, reported a grand total of $2,370, including $1,325 in cash; $1,000 in loans and $45, in-kind.

District 1 incumbent Harvey Smerilson was next with $2,193 in monetary contributions followed by Myers with $2,040, including $1,740, cash, and a $300 loan. Lormann reported a monetary total of $2,025. Richard Bullington, a political newcomer running against Smerilson, got a later start than some of the others in opening his campaign account. He reported $735 in cash and $65 in-kind.

Total expenditures reported to date by the candidates include: Hardy, $1,929; Poelking, $1,152; Smerilson, $1,178; Myers, $883; Lormann, $1,361; and Bullington, $397.

Accused Killer Pleads Guilty; State Backs 22-Year Sentence

In exchange for a plea of guilty to second-degree murder, the state will recommend a Sanford man serve 12 years in prison and 10 years probation.

Joe Lewis Frazier, 20, of 1705 W. 14th St., entered the plea before Circuit Judge O.H. Eaton Jr., who set sentencing for Dec. 4.

Frazier entered the plea in connection with the June death of Willie Pringle, 19, of Sanford. Pringle was shot in the forehead after an early morning argument June 3 and died at Central Florida Regional Hospital June 9.

According to court records, Frazier pulled a woman out of the passenger's side of Pringle's truck at 16th Street and Oleander Avenue in Sanford. Frazier was walking north on Oleander Avenue with the woman when Pringle got out of the truck and walked towards them. Frazier then pulled a gun, pointed it at Pringle, and fired a single shot, striking Pringle in the forehead.

Pringle's friends found him in the street and transported him to the hospital.

Medical reports show the bullet had lodged in the back of Pringle's head and caused massive brain damage.

Frazier was arrested on an aggravated battery charge before Pringle died. After his death, the charge was upgraded to murder.

'Alligator Man' Jailed Again

ROCKPORT, Texas (UPI) — Warren Lynch, the "Alligator Man" who once sat on an island surrounded by the dangerous reptiles so lawmen could not reach him, was back in the Aransas County Jail this week.

Texas Ranger Capt. Jack Dean said Rangers Rudy Rodriguez, Al Cuellar and Bruce Castell and FBI agent Art Vela nabbed the fugitive Tuesday afternoon at a San Antonio ice house.

Dean said the Rangers had received information that Lynch frequented the ice house in northwest San Antonio. They went there to set up a stakeout and encountered the fugitive by chance.

Live-In Is Not Good Enough For Family Affair

DEAR ABBY: I am faced with a very upsetting situation. I am 29 and single. "W" is 47 and divorced. We have been living together for a year and a half. Everyone knows we are a couple and are as good as married. "W" has five children. His oldest daughter is going to be married in the Mormon Temple. "W" is Catholic and cannot attend the wedding, but his ex-wife and children will be there. After the wedding, he and his "ex" are having a reception outside of the temple. There will be wedding pictures taken and a regular party for their friends and relatives.

"W" does not want to take me to this reception. He says I do not belong there. We have had many arguments over this. Meanwhile, he says he loves me and hopes to marry me someday, so I can't understand his thinking.

I feel, as his future wife, I belong with him at his daughter's wedding reception. Am I wrong?

UPSET IN L.A.

DEAR ABBY: Yes. Although you are living together and you consider this arrangement "as good as married," "W" does not. If he doesn't want you there, stop arguing and accept the fact that he thinks you don't belong there. You would be wise to reevaluate your future with this man. He considers you good enough to live with, but not good enough to participate in a family celebration.

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to marry a man who was married and divorced. (So was I.) I am 33 and single. "W" is 47 and divorced. He's a lovely guy, but he has a fault that's serious enough for me to wonder if I should go through with this marriage.

He has asked me to repeat at least 100 times every detail of my sex experiences with the only two men in my life I have ever gone to bed with. The first was a man I was engaged to marry (after we went together for five years). We broke up when he confessed that he was bisexual and his psychologist told him to choose between me and the man he had been seeing. I lost.

The other man was my ex-husband. There wasn't much to tell because we were married less than a year and dated only a few months. I am sick to death of repeating my experiences, but Walter insists that he has to know everything. When I tell him there is nothing more to tell, he accuses me of lying.

He has told me about all the girls in his life, and there were many. I didn't ask him, but he went on and on, telling me in detail about Imogene, Fredericka, Doreen, Holly, etc.

My minister advised me to refuse to talk about anything that makes me uncomfortable, but Walter won't take no for an answer.

What should I do?

SICK OF TALKING

DEAR SICK: Walter appears to have a sick preoccupation with your past, and it's not going to get any better unless he gets help. I would not marry a man who had so little respect for my feelings and so little confidence in my integrity.

DEAR ABBY: How do you tell a very nice woman you work with that she has a very bad body odor?

SOMEONE IN KENT, WASH.

DEAR SOMEONE: Tell her privately — in a kind, gentle and caring manner. And soon. You will be doing her a kindness.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 30-year-old woman with a problem. It may be a problem that cannot be solved, but I would like to know one way or the other, so here goes: My stomach looks like a road map! I've had three major surgeries that left "major" scars, and I can't stand to look at them.

Along with this, my skin stretched during my pregnancy. I can't wear shorts, and a bathing suit is out of the question.

Please, Abby, is there a doctor who specializes in this sort of plastic surgery? If you saw me, you would know that I am not just being vain. I really look pathetic.

Please help me. I'm desperate! Sign me..

ROAD MAP

DEAR ROAD MAP: Ask your family physician to recommend a board-certified plastic surgeon who specializes in repairing the kind of scars you can't bear to look at.

Body cosmetic surgery has come a long way. You shouldn't need a road map to find a competent surgeon.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Anne Monroe, J.E. Worth Jr.

Anne Elise Monroe and John Edward Worth Jr. were married at 4 p.m. on Sept. 12 at the First United Church of Oviedo. The Rev. William S. McLeod was the officiating clergyman for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Suzanne B. Monroe, 652 Forest Cove, Oviedo. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Edward Worth Sr., 131 N. Orlando ave., Winter Park.

Given in marriage by her brother, James Vincent Monroe of Oviedo, the bride chose for her vows a classic ivory satin sheath-style gown fashioned with long tapered alencon lace sleeves and a fitted bodice headed with pearls and iridescent sequined alencon lace. The bride wore an ivory fingertip veil with a pearl "V" braided frame accented with iridescent crystals, miniature ivory silk roses and a pearl spray. She carried a bouquet of white tiger lilies, white roses and white freesia surrounded by Boston, leatherleaf and ruffley fern.

Claire Monroe attended her sister as maid of honor. Leslie Shanan of Longwood, was the bridesmaid. They wore coral-colored formal satin gowns fashioned with sweetheart necklines and basque waistlines. The gowns were accented with satin rolled roses on the sleeves and a self-made bow along the back waistline. They wore matching satin pumps and their headpieces were sprays of Sonia roses and baby's breath. The attendants carried bouquets of Sonia roses, tiger lilies, coral freesia and Boston fern.

Mark Worth of Maitland served his brother as best man. Ushers were Shean Wood of Winter Park and James V. Monroe of Oviedo.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Monroe chose a toast-colored gown with a beaded bodice and chiffon tea-length skirt. The bridegroom's mother wore a belted mauve crepe dress accented with pearls and white accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white dendrobium orchids.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. Wedding guests were seated at round tables overlaid with coral and cream table cloths under a lawn tent. Tiki torches and balloons added a festive air to the occasion with coral, ivory and pink flowers decorating the buffet table. The three-tiered

Mr. and Mrs. John Edward Worth Jr.

Ivory wedding cake was displayed against a backdrop of greenery decorated with pink roses, coral and white freesia and surrounded by fern.

The couple was toasted by the best man, the bridegroom's father and Dr. Clarence Monroe, Waverly, Ohio, the bride's grandfather. The officiating was given by the bride's grandfather, T.R. Birkhead of Charlotte, N.C.

Assistants at the reception were Alisa Smartt, Oviedo, bride's book; Rozanne James of Pensacola, pouring; Ms. Ross Stephen, Mercerville, N.J., cutting and serving the cake; and Mrs. Jack Skipper, Sanford, rice bags.

Following a wedding trip to Upper New York State, Canada and Niagara Falls, the newlyweds are making their home in Maitland. The bridegroom is employed by Wise Marine Construction Inc.

A wedding day brunch for the bride and her family was held at the Forest Cove home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ragada. Assisting the hostess was her daughter, Mrs. Earl Phelps of Orlando, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Michael Ragdale of Oviedo.

Mrs. Harry Lackey entertained the bride at a pre-nuptial shower at her home in Sanford. Mrs. Jack Skipper, Sanford, was the co-hostess.

'Great Day' Spotlights Arts, Crafts

The 14th Annual Oviedo Great Day in the Country Arts and Crafts Festival will be held Nov. 14 from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. on the picnic grounds behind St. Luke's Lutheran Church on S.R. 426 at Red Bug Lake Road.

The Oviedo Woman's Club, organized in 1906, has sponsored "Great Day in the Country" annually since 1974. Proceeds from the event are used to promote the arts and fund many organizations and charities, including Hacienda Girl's Ranch, Hospice, the Rachel Pace Therapeutic Riding Academy, local schools, a scholarship, and the clubhouse facility where non-profit civic organizations are permitted to meet without charge. The building is now air conditioned for year-round comfort.

Thousands of Central Floridians will gather to enjoy good food, a variety of entertainment, children's activities, prizes, and view the hundreds of items for sale by Florida artists and craftsmen.

Admission is free with parking on the grounds and additional parking at A. Duda and Sons.

Breast Check

WHAT IS SCREENING MAMMOGRAPHY?

Mammography is a simple X-ray examination of the breast to detect breast cancer before it can be detected by your own examination or your doctor's examination. With breast self examination it affords you the best chance to detect breast cancer early, while it's still curable.

The Breast/Check network understands the needs of ladies to have a place to feel secure and private while having a mammogram. You'll find that our facilities meet these needs, if not surpassing. For a Breast/Check, you don't need a physician's order. But remember, the Breast/Check isn't for everyone, only those ladies who need a baseline or routine examination. If you have a new lump or other problem, check with your doctor or ask for a diagnostic examination, also available from the Breast/Check network.

The Breast/Check screening examination... $45.

Come in or call for an appointment.

Artificial Limb Can Be Worthwhile For You

DEAR DR. GOTT - I'm female, 27. I lost my left leg above the knee five years ago. Now I'm thinking about using an artificial limb. The stump has shrunk in size, so that it is now smaller than my other thigh. Will this make a difference in getting a well-fitting prosthesis?

alternative, see a gynecologist for advice as to the least dangerous method to stop menstruating.
 Dr. Gott's new Health Report, WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT NURSING HOMES, offers a step-by-step guide to rating facilities and finding the best care available. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title. (C)1987, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

DEAR READER - Yes and no. The thigh on your damaged side has atrophied (shrunk) because the muscles have not been used as much as the muscles on your good side. A prosthesis can certainly be fitted to your stump. However, over time, as you use your damaged leg, your thigh muscles will grow in strength and bulk. Therefore, you probably will need to have the prosthetic cup adapted every few months to the increasing size of your stump. I advise you to go ahead and be fitted with an artificial leg. Such a device will give you much more mobility and independence. Obviously, you will need close medical supervision and therapy from physical therapists.

DEAR DR. GOTT - I am an 18-year-old lesbian. Is there a drug or operation available to stop my menstrual cycles?
 DEAR READER - Menstrual cycles can be stopped by a variety of drugs and by surgery, especially hysterectomy. However, by taking this approach, you may be limiting your options. For example, surgery is permanent and will prevent you from becoming pregnant should your sexual orientation ever change. Before you try to alter your menses, I suggest that you consider counseling. Menstruation poses problems for some women. However, your desire to stop menstruating isn't based on discomfort or pain, but suggests that you need help in accepting yourself as a physiological woman, regardless of your sexual preference. If you do not choose this

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
 The jump to two no-trump immediately over an opposing opening bid usually shows a two-suited hand weak in high cards. I abhor making the bid on a very bad hand since it pinpoints the distribution for the opponents, allowing them to play the spots off the cards when they buy the contract, frequently at a very high level.
 In the current deal, played at the European championships in England last August, West's bold jump to two no-trump showed the minor suits. Although North was able to cue-bid four clubs with first-round control plus a strong hand for spades, East came in with five clubs. That enabled West to make what should have been the winning opening lead against the slam, but watch the play. Declarer took the ace of clubs, played a spade to his hand and ruffed a club. He played another spade, cashed the ace of diamonds and then played a heart toward the dummy. West was a great believer in giving correct count, so he played low to show an odd number of hearts. Noting West's five of hearts, South simply played the four from dummy. East had to win the six-spot and had the choice of leading back into the A-Q or playing a club, which would let South throw a diamond while ruffing in dummy.

 It's fine to give correct count with the card you play, but it's more important to be alert to the possibility of your partner being endplayed. Here, if West was only willing to part with the heart seven when the suit was led, the slam contract would have been defeated.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...
 By Bernice Bode Ouel
OCTOBER 23, 1987
 There are strong indications that you will make a career change in the year ahead. It might be triggered by a fortuitous development that comes from an unexpected source.
LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you find yourself restless or discontent today, alter your usual routines by doing something impromptu that you enjoy. The change will do you good. Major changes are ahead for Libra in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll be more strongly motivated today if profit is your objective, not necessarily for yourself but for those for whom you provide. Get going.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You may be the recipient of good news today that will require time to be fully appreciated. Keep what occurs to yourself for the present.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you make any major purchases today, especially for the home, durability and quality should take precedence over price and fads. Think value.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) The imaginative or creative realms are your most promising areas of endeavor today. There will be definite uses or markets for your conceptions.
PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Conduct your serious business matters early in the day. Later, you might be too laid back or playful to be sharp commercially.
ARIES (March 21-April 19) Avoid involvements today with individuals whose reputation could reflect poorly on your image. Stick to friends whose standards are comparable to yours.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you are indifferent and put important matters off until tomorrow, you might be ignored by Lady Luck. She is waiting in the wings to help you today.
GEMINI (May 21-June 20) There will be big improvements in two areas that have been sources of irritation recently. The changes could start to be visible today.
CANCER (June 21-July 22) In dealing with friends today, keep everything on a purely social basis. Don't let them get immersed in your business affairs, or vice versa.
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Solutions will result from discussing your problems with others today. However, later you may conveniently forget who supplied the answers.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Business transactions that are conducted along conventional lines should be profitable today. Speculative ventures, however, will be very "iffy."
