

Reds Can Be Stopped, Johnson Says

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said today communism "can be stopped in its tracks" in Asia if the United States will work "intelligently and effectively" with free Asian countries which are trying to raise their living standards.

The vice president, who recently returned from a tour of Asia, made the statement in an address prepared for delivery before the 1961 conference of United Press International editors and publishers.

Johnson said the countries which he visited have a combined population of 606 million people.

"The Communists are hoping that we will surrender these people without a fight," he said. "But we are not going to do it. We are not going to pull back to Honolulu and San Francisco to await the inevitable Communist assault that would follow such a tremendous victory."

He outlined five steps which he said the United States must take to halt Communist advances in Asia:

1. "We must be absolutely clear about objectives" so that Asians will know that "we do not seek satellites" but merely want to help them preserve their independence. This, he said, they are eager to do.

2. "We must help strengthen the defenses of those nations like Vietnam that are on the front line of the battle against communism." He said no Asian country seeks American troops, "they want equipment and advice for their own troops."

3. Behind the protective military screen, we must work with the people of Asia to improve their health, their housing and their standard of living so they will have something to fight for."

He said the people of Asia "are ground down by poverty that must be seen to be credited by American eyes" and "there is a desperate need to raise the standard of living."

4. While no "massive" increase in the amounts of U. S. economic aid is indicated, "we must redouble our efforts to be certain that the aid is really tailored to their needs and that it gets to the people who need it."

5. "We must go directly to the people themselves and remove the image of America as a well-dressed official who whizzes through the streets in a chrome-plated Cadillac to drink tea and make a deal."

This morning's "shop talk" session was devoted to an examination of the inside pages of newspapers which, the editors agreed, deserve the same kind of thoughtful planning and intelligent news display that the "showcase" front page receives.

Local Woman Gets 1960 Tax Paid-Free

There will be no question about who finally will pay 1960 Federal Income Taxes for Mrs. Audrey L. Yeackle of 911 West 18th St., Sanford.

A new oil company which has gasoline stations in this area will take care of the 1960 U. S. Individual Income Tax for our local resident—and for ninety-nine others in various parts of the country.

Tenneco Oil Company—formerly Bay Petroleum Corp.—which recently sponsored the sweepstakes has announced 100 winners—all of whom can receive as much as $2000 each—if their U. S. Income Taxes ran that high.

It all goes back to March when income tax blues were beginning to be sung. At that time Bay Petroleum Corporation announced it would change the name of its gasoline. To stimulate interest in the switch, Bay announced a sweepstakes with payment of U. S. Individual Income Taxes—up to $2000 each—for 100 winners. Basic rules were: Select from a field of five suggestions the new name of the gasoline, and mail in the entry for a grand drawing.

Needless to say, Mrs. Yeackle picked the right name and that entry was one of the hundred drawn from the barrel. The oil company liked the winning name Tenneco so much that the whole company—as well as the gasoline—adopted it as the official title.

Mrs. Yeackle received her entry card at Frank Watts Tenneco Service, 1800 French Ave., Sanford.

USO Committee Holds Annual Meet

Members of the USO Operating Committee of Sanford held their quarterly meeting and annual election at the Sea Shell Restaurant recently with Chairman Pastor Ernest Bolick presiding.

Invocation by Captain Richard Clark was followed by a resume of 1960 activities given by Pastor Bolick, and a report of the treasury by Major Basil Wyatt, Salvation Army, Armed Forces Division, and Sanford USO Director.

The Nominating Committee's slate of officers for 1961 presented by Rev. Joseph Stock was unanimously accepted by the group. Serving for the coming year will be: Rev. James Barnett, chairman; minister of First Christian Church, Sylvan J. Davis, vice-chairman; Mrs. Richard Clark, secretary; and Mrs. Helen Constantine, treasurer.

Outgoing Chairman Bolick thanked the Committee for their co-operation during his term of office and complimented the Staff Aide, Mrs. Carolyn Higgins, for her outstanding work as local USO Activities head. He then introduced the new Chairman, Rev. Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am in love with a man who treats me like dirt. The worse he treats me, the more I love him. I have broken up with him a dozen times, but I always call and ask him to forgive me even though he was the one who was in the wrong. I can't understand myself, Abby, I could have gone with many men who treated me like a queen, but I always go back to this no-good tormentor who gives me nothing but heartaches. This has been going on for six years, and I am almost 27. How can I kill a love that is killing me?

COMPLETELY MISERABLE

DEAR MISERABLE: Your slavish devotion to a "no-good tormentor" is not "love." It's physical attraction, passion and the compulsion to punish yourself—all tightly bound together. Unless you want a life of misery, put this man out of your heart and mind. And pray hard for the strength never again to "love" a man you cannot like.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please do me a favor and wake up these young wives who are always running home to Mother for a visit? What are we young husbands supposed to do with our evenings? Sure, we love our wives, but we get lonesome. It's no crime to stop in a bar (after dinner alone) for a night cap. There are always some friendly gals there who will take the time to talk to us. I have seen some real nice guys get involved when they have had no intentions. And many marriages have gone on the rocks because of an affair that started just that way.

My mother-in-law has several daughters and she is always cooking up some excuse to get them home with her. One of these days she is liable to have one (or more) of them home for good.

LONESOME

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old boy and for Christmas my parents gave me an encyclopedia set, and ever since then they won't answer any question I ask them. Please do not think I am ungrateful because I know I am very lucky to have parents who care enough to give me a gift like this, but my problem gets worse every day. When I ask a simple question, they always send me to the encyclopedia to look up the answer. Do you think this is fair?

NOT UNGRATEFUL

DEAR NOT: Don't complain. You will retain the information much longer if you have to look it up. Besides, it's good practice learning how to use the encyclopedia.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "CONFUSED COOKIE": Give him up before it costs you your marriage.

If you need help with a problem, write to Abby, Box 3865, Beverly Hills, Calif. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for a personal reply.

Who pays for what, and how do you go about planning a lovely, inexpensive wedding? Send 50 cents for Abby's wedding pamphlet, in care of this paper.

We The Women:

By Ruth Millet

It's high time married people quit fooling the young. Those about to get married get only two points of view—and neither is the truth.

Why don't the married tell the soon-to-be the truth and give them a break?

because his wife treats him like a human being instead of God's greatest gift to woman.

The cynics warn them that marriage will dull their love—that after a year or two they'll be bored to death with each other and with marriage.

The truth, of course, is that people old enough to marry should neither want nor expect a lifetime honeymoon.

Young people ought to be taught that it is an achievement and not a letdown for a man and a woman to learn to be good enough friends to take each other a little bit for granted. Enough to let them enjoy the happiness and companionship of marriage without feeling they should put on an act every minute they are together.

The hopeful romantics tell them that if they do just the right things—if he brings her roses once a week and tells her she's beautiful once a day and she repeats "you're wonderful" often enough—the eager romance of courting days will be theirs forever.

There is no reason in the world why a girl should be disappointed in marriage because her husband occasionally gets too engrossed in his own thoughts to really hear her chatter or to jump to his feet to light her cigarette or help her put on her galoshes. And he shouldn't feel justified in looking elsewhere for romance and adoration and mystery just lives.

It is only the emotionally immature who expect to live in a romantic dream world all their lives.

Jacoby On Bridge

By Oswald Jacoby

A Wisconsin reader writes, "After my partner jumped to four hearts I asked for aces. He showed two and I went to six. Unfortunately for us West opened a diamond and they had two tricks in before I could get started. My partner said that I should have forced him to lead in your column that a Blackwood bidder should always go to six if his partner's response shows that the combined hands hold three aces. How about it?"

He certainly quotes me correctly. When you use Blackwood you should definitely intend to bid six if your side holds three aces, but he overlooks something else.

It is most important that you never use Blackwood when you have a worthless doubleton in an unbid suit. South had those two little diamonds and if he wanted to try for a slam he should simply have bid five hearts over North's four.

GIVEN PROMOTION HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — W. Argyle Nelson has been appointed vice president in charge of production and studio operation of DeSota Productions, Inc. Nelson joined DeSota in 1958 as production manager after 30 years' industry experience in both the major and independent motion picture production fields.

This would give North a chance to use his own judgment and with those two little diamonds of his own North's judgment would surely lead to a pass.

STARS NAMED HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Peggy McCay and Peter Breck are co-starring in "Lad: A Dog," Warner Brothers' film adaptation of the classic by Albert Payson Terhune.

'Lost And Found' Service Comes Through For Sanford Couple

A "Lost and Found" service spread across half the nation and involving a complicated search has established corresponding friendships for Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Miller of Sanford, Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. E. A. Stephenson of Marion, S. C., and Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Gandy Jr., of Houston, Tex.

visit their daughter, Mrs. Anna Miller Carhart and her family, stopped at a service station in Pee Dee, S. C., May 5. In the wash room there, Mrs. Miller found a ladies' handbag containing more than $300.

After a search of the contents revealed only the owner's name, the Millers turned the purse over to the local police who in turn gave it to Deputy Stephenson.

He learned, upon checking with the station manager where the purse was found, that a Marine sergeant had called at the station for the lost item and when it couldn't be found, had said that it held every cent of the family's money and that he now would have to "sell the car to send the family on home by bus." The manager had, in fact, referred the Marine to a used car dealer in nearby Florence.

From this point, the law official assisted by his wife, began the lengthy and frustrating task of locating the Gandys.

Late the next day, with the co-operation of telephone and western union offices and operators in two towns, it was learned that Gandy had just received his discharge from the service and was on his way to his father's home in Houston, Tex. A Western Union operator in Florence also informed that Gandy had received money there the preceding night.

Mrs. Stephenson hurried the money and purse on its way to the frantically worried Gandys with an accompanying letter giving a step-by-step account of the measures employed to locate them. She also offered a bit of advice which would be well taken by everyone . . . always carry an identification card with you!

The Millers, meanwhile, completed their visit in Baltimore upon their return to Sanford, S. C. Mrs. Miller received a letter to the Gandys. Later in the month, Mrs. Miller received a letter of appreciation from Mrs. Gandy including an invitation to visit them at their Texas home.

In her return letter, Mrs. Miller said to Mrs. Gandy: "I know God cares for all of us if only we trust in him . . . sometimes I wonder why he does but I know that we, and you, have been blessed."

THE KING'S MEN, Brass-Vocal Trio of The Toccoa Falls Bible College, will appear in a program of sacred music at Sanford Alliance Church, Park Ave. and 14th St., at 7:30 p. m. Monday. Making up the trio are Lloyd Young, trombone-tenor from California; Paul Grant, trumpet-baritone from Bowling Green, Ohio, and Mark Klinepeter, trumpet-bass, Toccoa Falls, Ga. A brief gospel message by John Klinepeter, tour director, will follow the musical program.

Everything New For SHS In '61

ANDREW BRACKEN

"The Excellent Facilities of the new Seminole High School have afforded our students and faculty an opportunity unequalled in Seminole County for greatly improved quality of education and teaching," A. J. Bracken, principal, said today.

"The fine new science laboratories, new well-lighted classrooms, the large library, where as many as 50 students can make use of facilities before school and the excellent cafeteria which is capable of feeding the entire student body, are a great boost to the morale of the students and faculty, who take pride in their fine new school plant," Bracken added.

"Next year," he said, "we will continue with the process of evolving a four-year math program and advanced curriculum in math at the fourth year level, which in the senior year will offer a college algebra course.

"This year's senior class provided outstanding leadership and set a very fine example, both scholastically and in extra-curricular events, establishing a high standard for next year's junior class to follow," said Bracken.

"Then seniors made a fine start on the landscaping of the school with their initial contribution of $300 worth of palms, junipers and gravel, to beautify the parking area. It is hoped that the ambitious program undertaken by all the clubs and organizations in the school to participate in landscaping and beautification will be carried on extensively next year.

"There will be eight new faculty members, but only two will be actual additions to the staff, with the other six replacing teachers who are retiring or moving to a different location.

"Enrollment at the school will increase to an anticipated 1,035 which are already enrolled, plus transfers and children from new families. The ninth grade will be divided next year, but the following year will move in entirely to the high school," Bracken said.

Principal Carlton Henley made awards and presented diplomas at the commencement exercises Tuesday.

This year the school plant has been greatly enhanced by the long-needed addition of seven additional classrooms and a new cafeteria, which is a cafeteria and auditorium combined that has been proved most effective and utilitarian.

The new administration suite was also built last year and has been a great boon to the staff and faculty with the improved facilities for the administration of school affairs.

"These new additions have proved of incalculable value to our school, allowing us to make greater use of the existing facilities and adding much to the spirit and pride of our teachers and students," said the principal.

Henley, who came to the county school system last year was a former coach and science teacher in Humboldt, Tenn. and holds a BA and an MS degree. Next year he will be transferred to Sanford to be assistant principal at Seminole High School.

Oviedo's baseball team had a very good year this year to add to the school program, progressing to the final game of the area tournament, before being beaten by the DeLand team.

New Facilities Improve Oviedo Work, Add Spirit

At Lyman School, principal Ralph Diggs said that his school is looking forward to the use of a new gymnasium next year. The building is now nearly completed and expected to be in full use by the opening of the next school term in September.

An anticipated growth of 250 students is expected to swell the enrollment of the school, and the graduating class is expected to reach approximately 120 next year.

However, Diggs expects to add only about four or five new teachers next year as the school begins its experiment with mass teaching. In these classes, as many as 150 students at one time will be taught selected subjects with the use of an overhead movie projector, an opaque projector, a 16mm projector, film strips and accompanying paper supplies. These classes will be taught by one fully qualified teacher and two aides. Diggs feels that the existing spirit of cooperation between students and faculty is of great importance in the new experiment as the faculty has worked toward this goal for several years.

Lyman Ends Year Of Growth, Looks For Bigger 1962

1961 One Of County's Best School Years, Milwee Says

"We feel that the school year just passed has been one of the most successful, in the field of instruction, that we have ever experienced," R. T. Milwee, superintendent of Seminole County schools, said today.

"Over all, our children have scored well on state and national tests, being average or above average in all fields," Milwee added.

The superintendent said that last year closed with 10,812 children in the various schools of the county. This year will close with 12,156 in enrollment.

The beginning of the new school year this fall will find an estimated 15,300 children enrolled in the county schools.

Forty new teachers will be employed, in addition to the present number on the staffs.

"This means," Milwee said, "that within a three year period, including last year, this year and next year, it will be necessary for Seminole County to employ 150 additional teachers to accommodate the pupil growth of the county.

"Work is now underway," the superintendent said, "on one new color school, the Hopper Elementary, in Sanford. Within a few weeks construction will start on a new white elementary school in Bear Lake and a white junior high school adjacent to the South Seminole School.

In remarking on the very fine year just passed, Milwee commented that the county had three of the most talented and accomplished senior classes ever graduated from Seminole County schools.

These were the Lyman school with 76, Oviedo with 28 and Seminole High with 180, all with extraordinarily high percentages of honor roll students, award and scholarship winners.

Alice Hull Wins Lyman Honors

Awards ranging from scholarships to honor roll certificates were presented to Lyman students at the school's annual Awards Day program.

Alice Ann Hull, honor graduate, received a total of seven including the John Phillip Sousa award from the Casselberry Lions Club, a $50 P-TA scholarship, student-council leadership award, the Beta Club and American Legion Awards, an honor student award and a music letter in voice.

Receiving the DAR American History Award and an honorable mention for Science Fair work was Thomas Forero, junior honor student.

Paula Andrews got the student council citizenship award of a $25 Savings Bond and Jimmy Dostler, senior class president, received the student council leadership award and the American Legion Award. He also qualified for the P-TA scholarship but did not accept it since he plans to enter the service.

The student council best school spirit awards were given to Dawn Barnes and Lynn Roberts and his activities award went to Pam Stehlik.

ALICE ANN HULL

Barbara Diggs, eighth grade student, received her superior rating awards won earlier this year for twirling at the district and state band competitions and John Wagner received his for saxophone entries at the meet.

Commercial awards went to Deanna Brown for typing and to Faye Jones for shorthand.

Delegates chosen by the American Legion to attend Girls State and Boys State were Faye Jones and Roger Krone with alternates, Sharon Hardesty and David Blanchard.

Wanda Gaddie received a $50 P-TA scholarship, and honor graduate and social science awards.

Scholastic recognition was given to Gail Lovelace and Griffin Landress, Journalism; Beverly Vick, librarian; Lorraine Wagner, homemaking; Charles Kurvia, math; Homer Sewell III, year book; Glendon Pink, English; Virginia Humes, student council; Camilla Kirkland, commercial and Douglas Chandler, art.

Receiving science awards were Adrain Wahlberg, Roy Goodwin, Eugene Fitch, Jedd Schomberg, Charles Kurvia, Bill Miller, Frank Lester; Carolyn Thomas, Beverly Yates, Dan Casselberry, Larry Tuck, Dick Balmer, Allen Birkenmeyer, Mike Nelson, Ted Clark, Robert Gopler, Don Patrick and Valerie Shea.

Also presented during the program were awards in cheerleading, Future Nurses, voice department and band letters, all sports jackets, letters and trophies and yearly honor roll certificates.

Penny Anderson Tops In Awards

Miss Penny Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Anderson, swept the awards presentations at Seminole High School graduation ceremonies.

Miss Anderson, who was salutatorian for her class, began her series of marches up to the speaker's platform, when she was called by Joel B. Field to receive the American Legion Award of Honor.

Receiving the same certificate, medal and pin from Field was Senior Class president Cary Cowan.

Rotary Club president Tom McDonald then asked Miss Anderson to remain at the platform "so she wouldn't have to walk all the way back" as he presented her with the award for the top student from the Rotary Club.

The Fleet Reserve Assn. represented by Harold Sundvall, president, next presented the association's awards for scholarship, character and ability to Penny Anderson and to Miss Joy Wester.

Miss Wester was the Valedictorian for the Class of 1961 and besides the Fleet Reserve Award, also received a trophy and a cash award from the Florida State Bank, presented by Richard Knapp.

The Jaycee Past President's Scholarship, a $250 cash gift, to be given when the recipient enters college, also went to Miss Anderson. This was presented by Mason Wharton.

Leadership recognition awards, presented by President Garnett White in the name of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, went to Miss Deanna Nichols and to Kenneth McCall, student body president.

Following the singing of "While We're Young" by the senior ensemble of the glee club, Cary Cowan made an unscheduled presentation of a gift to Principal A. J. Sanchez, in appreciation and gratitude for his help, guidance and counsel through the senior year and years of high school.

Sanchez received an ovation from the graduates and the assembled parents, friends and faculty.

"I can assure you," Sanchez said, "that there has never been a class with a finer record than the Class of 1961."

Sanchez also called on Milwee

PENNY ANDERSON

to receive recognition for "a new era of secondary education in this county, through the concerted efforts of many people."

Bracken called the Seminole

High School plant one of the finest in the state, and gave credit to Milwee for the accomplishment.

During the awarding of the diplomas by Bracken, the principal asked that the audience refrain from applause until all students had received their diplomas, in order to hasten the lengthy procedure.

However, when Finnish exchange student, Peter Kurkjarvi, marched up on the platform to receive his certificate, the students and audience broke into spontaneous applause in an obvious expression of affection for the Kiwanis-sponsored student, who will soon leave for home.

Following the last singing of the Alma Mater by the graduated seniors, the benediction was pronounced by Kenneth McCall.

The opening invocation was given by class chaplain, Ethel Lee Riser.

Carlton D. Henley, principal of the school, then took charge of the presentation of the awards. He introduced Bud Stewart of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Seminole County, who presented these awards. Kenneth Sparks and Betty Duda were the recipients of the coveted awards for scholarship and leadership.

Ben Ward Jr., commander of the American Legion Post No. 243, himself a graduate of Oviedo High School, presented the awards for the American Legion.

Miss Julie Gore and Jerry Ulrey were the honored two. Ward cited these were for scholastic ability, leadership and citizenship.

The DAR award was presented by Henley to Miss Sandra Bellhorn.

Other awards, presented by the principal, went to Walter Teague Jr., science award for highest science average; Karen Franklina, commerce department, for highest in that department; Betty Duda, English award for outstanding math grades and Betty Duda, social studies.

The Valedictory

By JOY WESTER

Heaven is not gained at a single bound;
But we build the ladder by which we rise
From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies,
And we mount to its summit round by round.

Each graduate here tonight has been prepared to mount his ladder to success by our teachers who have so graciously given of their efforts, time and knowledge. This is not the end, it is just the beginning. We have, as our president, John F. Kennedy, calls it, a New Frontier, and we must now accept all its challenges, under God. We must work harder than ever before to meet the competition and reach higher goals.

We must put our country first and guard our freedoms that we so dearly love and need, to live in a free world of men and women. We are proud to be Americans! We are proud of our school system! Here we can express our thoughts and exercise them as well.

My thoughts tonight are that each of us in this graduating class is a missile that has been in preparation and is now ready for launching into outer space. The universe is before us. High school was our first stage. We have now accomplished our first mission. We are ready for flight to future unknowns. Some of us may know our destination already. Others may wait, but the choice is ours! We can aim for any star or any planet that we encounter, or we may be more successful and reach a distant goal. A star may be a scientist, secretarial job, or a housewife. There are millions of stars in space from which to choose.

Each letter of the word, challenge, in itself, presents a definite challenge for each of us:

C—Character and Courage—character is like a missile. It cannot soar higher than it is aimed. We must have courage to face the unknown.

H—Honor—success without honor is worthless.

A—Ambition—ambition is the spur that makes man struggle with destiny.

L—Love—we must have love for our fellow man to build a good world, for hate will destroy all of us.

L—Laughter—a sense of humor will see us through the clouds of gloom.

E—Effort—effort is power—the fuel to get us there.

N—Nobility—nobility is a graceful ornament to our way of life.

G—God—the source of all power in the universe is God. With His help anything is possible.

E—Enthusiasm—enthusiasm is the greatest asset in the world. Nothing great was ever achieved without it. It is nothing more than faith in action.

With all these qualities, we can build a better world for those who follow us. There has never been at any time in the past the opportunities that we have today to exercise our talents and build a better world. We have not only this world to face in the future, but all the heavens in space. There is no end to our New Frontier. The more we strive for, the more we can achieve.

As we, the class of 1961, bid farewell to you, Mr. Milwee and school board, Mr. Bracken and faculty, parents and friends, we wish to express our deep appreciation for the well-spent time and effort that you have invested in preparing us for our flight into space. Now as we leave to take our place in the world and work for the achievement of our separate goals:

Heaven is not gained by a single bound;
But we build the ladder by which we rise
From the lowly earth to the vaulted skies,
And we mount to its summit round by round.

The Salutatory

By PENNY ANDERSON

Mr. Milwee, members of the board of education, Mr. Bracken, faculty, parents and friends:

On behalf of the 1961 graduating class of Seminole High School, the first to graduate from this new plant, I would like to take full opportunity to welcome each and everyone of you.

Numerous events and occasions have brought us to this threshold in our lives. Each person we have known and each activity in which we have participated has prepared us for this moment.

Our accomplishments thus far will be a deciding factor in what we will become in the future. This has held true all of our lives.

We must work always to give our very best. For what we are within ourselves will decide our future.

This momentous occasion is a most unique thing. It may be fate or God's pre-ordained plan or anything you may call it, but it is a most unusual occurrence that we are here.

We were born in and have come from all parts of the state, nation, and even the world. We are here now! More than likely, it is the last time we will be together as a body. Each of us has affected another in some way and because of this we have become what we are now. This in itself shows how we are dependent on others to complete ourselves.

To our parents we owe the greatest thanks, for without them we wouldn't be here and we would not be the type of persons that we are. Our home life is highly influential in our development. The kind of person we are basically is due to the fundamentals provided us by our parents.

There came the time when parental teaching was insufficient. To continue our development, our minds had to be stimulated to grow in knowledge and wisdom.

There are people in this world who have dedicated their talents to the guidance and instruction of youth. These are our teachers.

The teacher that a student remembers is not always appreciated at the time the student is associated with him, but he will be remembered because as an educator, he has given something of himself to advance the student.

Thus it is seen "An educator is not one who lectures and gives examinations. An educator lights up dark places."

Teachers guide us on our way. They present us with the means to grow and mature mentally by satisfying the craving of the insatiable appetite of our minds. The knowledge we gain as a result of their efforts will sustain us for a life time.

"Knowledge is the rarest of jewels, and rare gems last forever."

Now if it is seen that all the people about us, our parents, our teachers, our leaders and our friends, as well as experiences have molded us into a semblance of form as does the sculptor.

They have created the basic pattern by chiseling at the formless block of stone that we once were. The finishing touches will be added by the people, events and experiences of the future. The success or failure of the final product depends on the foundation provided for us and by us during the process of our education.

"No man is an island, entire of itself; every man is a piece of the continent, a part of the main." We are all involved in mankind and therefore any action of one of us is an action of us for all of us.

Oviedo Honors Five Grads

By MARIAN R. JONES

The first class to graduate from the new Oviedo High School auditorium was the 1961 seniors.

The graduate entered to "Pomp and Circumstance," played by Miss Naomi Tuby, a member of the junior class. The invocation was given by Kenneth Sparks, followed by a chorus singing "In a Monastery Garden."

The five seniors to attain the highest scholastic rating for the four year period of time were then the guest speakers of the evening. Subjects were "Building For Tomorrow," by Miss Katherine Duda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Duda; giving "The Blueprint," Miss Betty Duda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Duda Jr., giving "The Builders;" Miss Julie Gore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Gore, "The Building Materials;" Miss Sandra Bellhorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bellhorn, "The Foundation;" and Miss Dawn Moraki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Moraki, giving "The Framework Completed."

Carlton D. Henley, principal of the school, then took charge of the presentation of the awards. He introduced Bud Stewart of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Seminole County, who presented these awards. Kenneth Sparks and Betty Duda were the recipients of the coveted awards for scholarship and leadership.

Ben Ward Jr., commander of the American Legion Post No. 243, himself a graduate of Oviedo High School, presented the awards for the American Legion.

Miss Julie Gore and Jerry Ulrey were the honored two. Ward cited these were for scholastic ability, leadership and citizenship.

The DAR award was presented by Henley to Miss Sandra Bellhorn.

Other awards, presented by the principal, went to Walter Teague Jr., science award for highest science average; Karen Franklina, commerce department, for highest in that department; Betty Duda, English award for outstanding math grades and Betty Duda, social studies.

BETTY DUDA

The two awards each year going to the students with the highest averages in all studies for the four year period were presented to Betty Duda and to Julie Gore, valedictorian and salutatorian, respectively.

Rev. Stephen M. Tuby pronounced the benediction, after which Miss Tuby played the recessional, "War March of the Priests."
