action which bore its first fruit the following year when the U.S. Satellite Explorer I soured into space to discover the Van Allen radiation belt.

Space thus became the nation's "Last Frontier."

And just as the western wilderness continued to beckon, challenge and defy the cross-continent drive of our forefathers a century and one-half ago, so did this new world act during the past decade.

Scoffers sounded off. Doubters saw impossible barriers. History tells us from the yellowed pages of the days of the covered warrons, that these same folks

Lesson Learned!

Could it be that New York teachers have New York teachers three times this have gone on strike and greatly fouled up edu-cation in New York City—all in violation of the law. New York has a law that prohibits public employes from striking against the public. They can quit and go elsewhere if they don't like the situation they find themselves in, but striking is illegal. That didn't stop the New York teachers, however.

The teachers have disrupted the school system in New York so much that with a settlement finally worked out, it was required that some holidays be given up and the hours of school days be lengthened to give at least the apression that the lost class time was being

Students, having watched their teachers' bad example, have responded with their own "strike." They have ranged in mobs through the streets, displaying a total lack of discipline and in some cases resorting to criminal vandalism by destroying public property, throwing rocks and bottles, breaking school windows and the windows in subways. The students seem to have learned from their teachers a "lesson" to disregard the law, to be irresponsible, to ignore dis-

How are school authorities going to deal with the students' misbehavior when no one has dealt adequately with teachers' misbehavior? How is society going to convince the people that it is going to live by laws enacted by representative means to give equal justice to all and protection to the rights of all when it surrenders to a sit-

The school turmoil in the nation's larges city has not resulted in teaching of much readin' writin' and 'rithmetic this year - but it has taught the students something. The riotous strike by students suggests what it is,—Chattanoogs (Tenn.) News-Free Press.

THE ANNUAL Christmas party and dinner-dance for Civitans and their wives was held at the Trophy Lounge. This was the kick-off for their winter drive fund raising projects, Following the dinner, Salvatore Manfre served as master of ceremonies and presented trophies to each Civitan present. Santa and Rudolph the red-nosed reindeer presented gifts and a Claxton fruit cake to the wives. They announced that the club sponsored Sounds of Christmas Music at the Civic Center on Dec. 19, featuring the Junior High Glee Club, SHS Band and the Seminole County Teachers' Choir, Admission was free, but their fruit cakes were available for sale. Picture shows, Mrs. A. W. Woodall, left, Alex Serraes, club secretary as Rudolph; Charles Kampf, Santa and Mrs. Manfre, at the gift table, Dancing was enjoyed during the later hours of the evening.
