San Francisco previously and the most memorable in the city's history occurred at five o'clock on the morning of April 18, 1906, when the city was laid in ruins mostly as a result of fires started by the quake. In that diaster 452 lives were lost, 1,500 persons injured and 265,000 made homeless. The property loss was estimated at $350,000,000. The quake as today's s presumed to have been, was along the San Andreas geological fault. The fault extends along the coast range mountains from a point on Northern California north of San Francisco to the Gulf of Lower California. It follows the coast line from a distance 100 miles south of San Francisco where it awerves in approximately 20 miles and gradually extends further eastward, traversing Los Angeles, Riversido and San Diego counties.
