

Chicago Fire Loss Set At 8 Millions; Only One Life Lost

Workers Dig Into Ruin Of City's Fiercest Blaze Since 1871; Business Resumed

CHICAGO, May 21.—(A.P.)—The charred body of a man was found in the ruins of Chicago's stockyards today as crews of workmen groped through the debris of Saturday's $8,000,000 fire preparing the way for the rebuilders.

Through acres of hot ash and into heaps of brick skeletons of old landmarks and twisted steel girders, explorers dug, hauling valuable documents and property they might have survived the conflagration, and hoping the loss of human life would not grow.

One other death was attributed indirectly to the disaster when a man dropped dead of a cerebral aneurysm while he was in the fire.

Packers were operating today, and even banks that were reduced to ruins announced business as usual in temporary quarters.

Cattle, sheep, and hogs poured into the demolished yards today and were sheltered for the most part by packing houses.

An army of workmen yesterday began speedy reconstruction at the scene of Chicago's worst fire since the conflagration of 1871.

City Fire Attorney Thomas J. Shesha and others were carrying investigations in efforts to determine the cause of the $10,000,000 blaze that swept through the Union stock yards and environs late Saturday and Sunday night, consuming more than a dozen major buildings and scores of small business houses and homes.

Shesha said he was convinced from his preliminary investigation that the fire was accidental and not set.

"We investigated reports that there had been a gas leak in the yards but we were unable to find any evidence of any recent troubles. We did not find anything to lead us to believe the fire was set accidentally, probably started from a carelessly tossed match or cigarette."

About 1600 persons received treatment for injuries suffered during the raging four and one-half hour fire. Some 400 required hospital treatment. Most of the injured were firemen.

More than 1000 men went to work cleaning up wreckage, and rebuilding stock yards yesterday. They worked by artificial light last night to rush construction so that business at the world's largest meat center could carry on almost as normal today.

The conflagration started according to latest belief in a cattle pen at Morgan Street and Exchange Avenue inside the yards late Saturday. Tender-dry pens and barns in the yards were razed rapidly and before firemen could control the blaze it had leaped across Halsted Street outside the yards—an avalanche of flame borne on a stiff wind.

Until midnight the skies flared red and even yesterday there were sporadic minor fires bursting out occasionally from smoldering ruins. Thirty-two engine companies still purred water on the ruins.

Large police details patrolled the devastated area to prevent looting but there was no indication it would be necessary to call out the police.

WINTER HAVEN, May 21.—(A.P.)—W. E. Frazier, 40, local automobile dealer, was killed in an automobile accident yesterday morning between Plant City and Lakeland when his car was side-swiped by another.

Both cars were wrecked as they overturned into a ditch. Frazier's car was a big new truck. The other car was a 1932 model.

SALE OF ARMS HELD AS BARTO WORLD PEACE

Borah Demands Action On Embargo Bill As Means Of Curbing International Trade

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(A.P.)—Using the bloody war in the Grand Chaco as an object lesson, Senator Borah asserted last night that the manufacture and sale of live munitions was the world's greatest menace to peace and demanded action to curb international traffic in arms.

"The Chaco situation and the arms traffic call for immediate consideration," Borah said, when asked in an interview for his views on passage of the arms embargo treaty signed at Geneva in 1925, which President Roosevelt has recommended the Senate to ratify. "They remind us again that the manufacture and sale of munitions is perhaps the world's greatest menace to peace."

The Idaho senator added, however, that even more drastic legislation was necessary to stop international conflicts.

"The arms treaty now before the Senate," he declared, "is of very little worth. Munitions manufacturers saw to it that it was of very little worth."

"I favor anything that gives promise of help toward peace, but we must remember that the Chaco is a mere spot on the earth's surface."

"The big problem now engaging your attention is that of the big nations who are building big navies and enlarging their armies and submerging all civilization beneath the weight of armaments."

The arms manufacturer have their 50 to 60 percent profit while honest and decent business is struggling with bankruptcies, and schools and colleges are closed for want of money. This is the real problem and perhaps the Chaco war may help us to grapple with it—and perhaps not."

Congress Ponders Act Which Asks For 10 Millions To Make Census Of Nation's Jobless

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(A.P.)—Administration plans to spend about $10,000,000 to find out how many Americans are unemployed on Nov. 12, 1934, and for a census of agriculture and livestock, are now before Congress.

The latter bill authorizing this broad survey of economic conditions and the agricultural industry has been favorably reported to the House by its Census Committee and is scheduled for action later this week.

The information is to be used in connection with the study of the country projected by President Roosevelt.

Those in charge of the Recovery programs have asserted the need of such a survey. They have reported that calls on the Census Bureau for accurate statistical information concerning unemployment, employment and occupations have been insistent.

The movement of population to and from farms and cities in recent years, relief burdens on cities by floating populations and other questions of a social aspect are to be treated in the survey.

An army of enumerators of more than 100,000 will be given from two to four weeks work in compiling the information.

RIOTS BREAK OUT A NEW IN MINNEAPOLIS

Striking Truckers Mix With Special Police When Attempt Made To Remove Produce

MINNEAPOLIS, May 21.—(A.P.)—Riots broke out again today in the market district, and eight policemen and ten strikers fell as 1000 pickets and nearly 100 special policemen clashed over the movement of trucks.

One policeman is reported to have been injured as several produce items began moving out trucks loaded with vegetables, berries and other perishables. Police were already on hand.

A majority of the strikers were armed with bats and poles. Many carried rocks.

As two trucks started out, a mass of pickets stepped into an alleyway to block them.

Police club wing pickets, and half a dozen policemen dropped to the pavement, and as many pickets, their heads streaming with blood.

The appearance of police, shot guns caused a lull in the rioting.

The riotous scene was reported to have broken out at 10:30 a.m. when a truck was attempting to pass through a picket line.

Darrow Report Cuts At Heart Of NRA In Vigorous Language

Johnson Rallies To Defend NRA Against Attack

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(A.P.)—The Darrow board, set up to review the application of codes in little business—with an eye toward the charges of monopoly fostered under NRA—last night recommended to President Roosevelt a return to the anti-trust laws, suspended to make way for trade associations under the National Recovery Act.

Today's report, according to the NRA, appeared likely to become the death knell of the board which drafted it.

There were definite signs that the Recovery review board headed by Clarence Darrow faced prompt abolition because of its conclusion set down in vigorous language, that the NRA is a friend of monopoly and a foe of small business.

The board, which had been asked by President Roosevelt to review the practices of the National Recovery Administration, staked at the heart of the NRA principles of industrial codes by saying "All competition is savage, wolfish, and relentless, and can be nothing else. One may as well dream of making war lady-like as of making competition fair."

The socialist alternative of government ownership was suggested by Darrow and one other board member, William Thompson, former Darrow law partner, in a supplemental report.

The report of the board, headed by the veteran attorney, Clarence Darrow, included among its observations the following:

"That the 'chisel' under NRA might sometimes be other than a public enemy.

"That prices should be determined not by regulation or price fixing but by competition.

"That there is no such thing as 'fair competition,' the fundamental theory of NRA, but that all competition is 'savage, wolfish and relentless.'

These statements were contained in the majority report, signed by five of the six members of the review board, John F. Sinclair, sixth member, dissented and filed his own report.

Darrow and William O. Thompson also prepared a supplementary report in which they said:

"The choice is between monopoly sustained by government, which is clearly the trend in the National Recovery Administration, and a planned economy, which demands socialized ownership and control."

"There is no hope for the small business men of our complete recovery in America in enforced restrictions upon production for the purpose of maintaining higher prices. The hope for the American people, including the small business man, not to be overwhelmed by their own abundance, lies in the planned use of America's resources following socialization.

"To give the sanction of the government to sustain profits is not planned economy, but a regulated organization for exploitation."

The majority report said:

"Price fixing by the industry and price regulation by the government would involve, in our judgment, practically the same difficulties. The problem of policing the industry to prevent that" (Continued on Page Two)

NEW THIRD PARTY OFFICIALS TALK CAMPAIGN PLANS

Another 'Progressive' Group Is Organized At Milwaukee Meet

MILWAUKEE, May 21.—(A.P.)—With the same speed with which their party was formed at a state-wide convention at Fond du Lac Saturday, leaders of Wisconsin's new progressive party yesterday were planning for the autumn (Congressional) and state campaign.

Only a few hours after the convention voted overwhelmingly to break from the ranks of the Republicans and name the new party 'progressive,' a state central committee was appointed, and former Governor Philip F. LaFollette, son of ' Fighting Bob' and brother of the senior Wisconsin senator, was named its head.

The new party is the second to be born in Wisconsin eighty years ago, at Ripon, members of an anti-slavery movement gathered at a school-house to form a political party and name it 'Republican.'

Six years later the Republican party which had developed from that nucleus elected Abraham Lincoln, Wisconsin's progressive hope they can do as well.

With an immediate goal of putting members of their party in Congressional seats, and in state offices, the progressive committee is mustering forces to collect 50,000 signatures to place its name on the ballot. Ten thousand blank petitions were handed convention delegates.

Moving fast, the leaders planned a 'young progressive' organization to carry on its work as the 'young Democrats' are doing in that party's movements.

Later a second convention will meet to develop a platform.

BEER DRINKING MEMBERSHIP IN PICKING UP, TAX U.S. CHURCHES AT RETURNS REVEAL NEW HIGH MARK

April Revenue Highest Since Repeal, While Liquor Sales Slump

April beer taxes returned the government $11,366,000, the highest figure since repeal. Distilled spirits paid only $6,811,000 the lowest.

For comparison, the March beer taxes were $11,175,000, February, $9,160,000, January, $10,220,000, and December, the first repeal month $12,867,000.

Collections on the production of distilled spirits showed this: March, $6,742,000, February, $7,708,000, January, $9,651,000 and December, $8,651,257. In December the tax rate was $1.10 a gallon.

During January it was $1.20 a gallon.

The internal revenue bureau's figures showed for April liquor taxes showed a low for collections on distilled spirits. April payments were $92,002 as compared with $95,507 in March, $97,766 in February, $1,005,000 in January and $1,257,000 in December. This tax rate is 10 cents a gallon.

The government's total liquor and beer tax returns in April were $23,277,000 compared with $23,200,000 in March. In 10 months of the fiscal year through April, beer and liquor paid the government $195,787,000.

The lioness reached Sanford late Saturday from Tampa where she had been confined for some time. She is exhibited in the cage formerly occupied by "Jerry," the cub who is now located in a cage near the north entrance of the zoo.

A pair of Florida rattlers, brought out of the Everglades this week by Seminole Indians at the request of W. Stanley Hanson of Fort Myers, will be the next animals to be featured in the zoo. The rattlers are scheduled to arrive here next Saturday.

He added that there may be a few more receipts issued late today or tomorrow because some persons in the outlying districts had been reported as having mailed in their taxes. If the post-mark on these reported letters is dated before 9:00 o'clock Saturday, Mr. Jenkins said he would accept the money and issue a receipt.

All entrants are urged to get in touch with Mrs. John Leonardy in the Woodruff Building on First Street at once and list their names as being one of the contestants.

An invitation also went out from the committee on arrangements, to all string bands in Central Florida. It is hoped that the massed band which will play in the square dance will be a fine one.

JOHNSON RALLIES TO DEFEND NRA AGAINST ATTACK

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(A.P.)—The report of the Darrow board, set up to review the application of codes in little business—with an eye toward the charges of monopoly fostered under NRA—last night recommended to President Roosevelt a return to the anti-trust laws, suspended to make way for trade associations under the National Recovery Act.

Richberg Joins Chief In Scoring Darrow Report On Program

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(A.P.)—The report of the Darrow board, set up to review the application of codes in little business—with an eye toward the charges of monopoly fostered under NRA—last night recommended to President Roosevelt a return to the anti-trust laws, suspended to make way for trade associations under the National Recovery Act.

He urged that the board be immediately abolished.

Johnson's reply to the majority report of the board and his answer in the form of a letter to the President in a supplementary report, signed by Clarence Darrow and William O. Thompson, board member, were bulked by detailed replies from deputy administrators to each analysis of the eight codes treated by the board.

Donald R. Richberg, general counsel for NRA, also contributed to the Recovery Administration's answer to the findings of the board.

"It assumes," Johnson said of the board, "after a few hours of cavalier inquiry and prejudiced and one-sided testimony, to pass on codes upon which we have spent days and weeks of inquiry and negotiation."

"In my judgment, this board has missed a great opportunity for a real public service. As it is now acting, it is of no service to anybody. It is a political sounding board. In view of its fired prejudices and partisan-ship and its unfair methods of taking and reporting testimony, the conclusion is inescapable that the board is not proceeding in good faith to fulfill its public obligations."

"Its continuance as an agency of government would enable it to promote private purposes at the public expense, and in my judgment would impair seriously the usefulness of the National Recovery Administration."

"It is clearly incapable of fulfilling this function and, therefore, I recommend that it be abolished forthwith."

The administrator attached a statement in the supplementary report.

Farm Prices Improve, U. S. Report Indicates

Fair Competition' Is Held An Illusory Phrase In Survey Asked By Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, May 21.—(A.P.)—The Darrow board, set up to review the application of codes in little business—with an eye toward the charges of monopoly fostered under NRA—last night recommended to President Roosevelt a return to the anti-trust laws, suspended to make way for trade associations under the National Recovery Act.

The jury reached its decision one hour after it took the case Saturday night, but a sealed verdict was not opened until today.

Miss Callahan was alleged to have shot McWright as he lay asleep in a tourist cabin. She claimed McWright threatened her and that he was shot in a scuffle over the possession of a pistol. They came to this state, she said, as he could obtain a divorce and they planned to marry.

The Sales Tax

A recent letter from Perry G. Wall of Tampa, head of the Florida Taxpayers' Association, Inc., indicates the importance of determining from legislative candidates their attitude toward the proposed state sales tax, and whether they, if elected, will vote for such legislation solely as an emergency measure or as a permanent tax policy.

It goes almost without saying that if the homestead exemption amendment is voted upon favorably by the people, and all homes of less than $5,000 in valuation are freed from state ad valorem taxes, new sources of revenue must be found, and it seems reasonably certain under such circumstances that the sales tax, if not the first, will be the last resort.

With this in mind, Mr. Wall declares: "A sales tax, in my judgment, would be at any time the very worst possible tax policy for the State of Florida, viewed from a business standpoint, and to levy a sales tax, however small, on the necessities of life at a time like this, when thousands of people are out of employment, is contrary to every principle of humanity."

Mr. Wall then goes on to show the results of sales taxes levied in certain other states, and probable results of those proposed for Florida, as gathered by the American Taxpayers League, Inc., which are as follows:

The President's Mail

The millions of just average citizens in this country are taking more interest in their government and what it is doing than ever before. This information is revealed by the President's personal secretary, Louis McHenry Howe, who, writing in the American Magazine, says that it used to be possible for one man to handle the White House mail, but that it now requires a staff of 25 men.

"Apparently everyone writes to the President these days," says Mr. Howe. "We get letters from distinguished and famous persons and from obscure citizens all over the country. The first group have probably always engaged in correspondence with the White House, but ordinary citizens are evidently doing so for the first time."

"Most of the letters are formal in their salutation: 'Dear Sir' or 'Dear Mr. President,' they begin. Some open: 'Dear Franklin,' but these usually reflect a feeling of honest intimacy that no man could resent. Often they include some expression of good will toward the President's family or reference to some personal incident that has reached the papers."

report which said that the "choice is between monopoly... and a planned economy which demands socialized ownership and control."
Johnson said that when the statement was "stripped of shadows and verbiage" it meant:
"That the choice of the American people is between fascism and communism, neither of which can be espoused by anyone who believes in our Democratic institutions of self-government; nor can any public official who has taken an oath to defend the Constitution of the United States adopt or officially advocate such a program."
Darrow's supplementary report, said Johnson, "demonstrates completely the propriety of my recommendation that the review board should be abolished."
Richberg, mentioning no names in his comment, said:
"The explanation of the contradictory nature of the board's conclusions may be found in its selection of a noted socialist, who advocates complete government control of business, to write a report for philosophic anarchists who apparently oppose any government control of anybody, including criminals."
"The result is a report which on one page recommends a return to the law of the jungle and on the next page recommends that business be subjected to more detailed government control."
Charles Edward Russell, one-time candidate on a socialist ticket and a writer and lecturer in behalf of that party, was at the review board headquarters during much of the time of preparation of the board's report.
Richberg said the board "concluded its labors appropriately with a defense of the 'chickie' sanctified by the pretense that the sweat shop operator the exploiter of child labor, the cut-throat competitor, was 'struggling to prevent the total absorption of an industry or interest into monopolistic organization.'"
"Deploring the high purpose of the Board and the incisive, faithful efforts of the National Recovery Administration to carry forward its program, abjectly abandoning the confidence reposed in its leadership, the board has made itself an agency to furnish ammunition for the malicious and political partisans, for the covert scheming of monopolists and for the mean attack of chieftains who seek private profit out of continuing that savage, wasteful competition which the review board would perpetuate in its contempt or pessimistic despair of the process of civilization."
Richberg declared the Recovery organization had extended protection to "every small industry and that monopolistic practices had been curbed to degree hitherto unknown and to a degree impossible under the conditions prevailing before the adoption of the codes."
Turning to Darrow's charges of "monopolistic practices" within the steel industry and the structure of the code for that industry, Richberg said "the NRA has been from the beginning critical of the price provisions in the steel code."
"The board," he said, "contemplates that the board of directors of the steel institute consisting of the code authority administered in the interest of the larger companies in control of the iron and steel industry. The fact is that on the board of directors the representation of United States Steel is 25 percent, although entitled to 35 percent voting power; the representation of Bethlehem is 25 percent although entitled to nine percent voting power; and the remaining 40 percent of the membership is distributed among 21 companies."

PRICE STRUCTURE UNDER N. R. A. FOUND WANTING

NEW YORK CITY, May 21—The pricing structure of business and industry, principally as it has been affected by the N. R. A., was placed under the microscope last week at a "Pricing Conference" held under the auspices of the New York Board of Trade at the Commodore Hotel, and found wanting in many respects by the speakers, who, mostly, were critical of not only what had been accomplished but also of the effects of future price trends. Washington, as well as the American business man, was held responsible for the current inflation and inflation over price.
"Price Fixing," said the president of the New York Board of Trade, presented the case in summary form at the conference. "If the author had laid down a road map, had shown intentions of having down a clear cut price policy, this conference would not have been called."
"Washington has not acted in any definite manner in regard to price fixing," he said. "The codes that have been approved are a list of prices, inconsistencies, and contradictions, and it is the hope of many, the whole price structure will be event out of the price codes, which if it happens will be a confession of defeat on the part of the Administration in its efforts to handle the pricing situation."
Those who took part in the symposium, in addition to Mr. De Nystrom and that the

Trade Board Told Policy Of Government Is Inconsistent, Futile

While under the N. R. A. higher prices become available, Dr. Nystrom warned that if the codes continue to work as their makers hope they will, prices will go still higher and higher. "Price fixing under the N. R. A.," he said, "is now meeting its first real test. This test is not a legal one in the courts under the anti-trust law nor in an attempt to decide the meaning of unfair trade. Both of these tests may come later. The present test is the test of consumer resistance. The outcome is yet to be seen, but it may not be too early to speculate upon its possibilities."
Dr. Nystrom explained that under normal conditions an advance in prices usually paralleled an increase in demand. In this case, he said, the demand would have followed rather than to have paralleled the price increase. "It must be fair to every one," he said, "to consider consumers are limited by their purchasing power. Unless purchasing power increases faster than price increases, consumers' purchases must decline."
"There are different types of consumer purchasing power and of prices of consumer goods," Dr. Nystrom continued. "General purchasing power is a recent addition to the list of purchasing power, which if it happens will be a confession of defeat on the part of the Administration in its efforts to handle the pricing situation."
Those who took part in the symposium, in addition to Mr. De Nystrom and that the President Asks Power To Boost Amount Of Silver In U. S. Monetary Stocks

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt recommended to Congress today that it declare the American policy to be to increase the amount of silver in our monetary stocks with the ultimate objective of raising and maintaining one-fourth of their monetary value in silver and three-fourths in gold. The policy would be to...

The President in fulfillment of his promise with Congressional advisers, said he should be authorized and directed to make purchases of silver to attain this ultimate objective.

Payments for present silver holdings in this country would be limited to 80 cents an ounce and profits so made would be shared fifty percent.

Pointing to a world-wide bimetallic movement as the ultimate solution of the silver problem, Mr. Roosevelt revealed to Congress that he has already begun negotiations with neighboring countries in regard to the use of both silver and gold preferably of a so-called base as a standard of value.

A sudden burst of speed engendered by Presidential pressure made certain yesterday, leaders said, that the House would pass two highly important Administration banking bills before the week-end.

One would authorize loans of $100,000,000 to member banks of the Federal Reserve Bank and the other would postpone inauguration of the permanent deposit insurance plan until July 1, 1935.

The House Rules Committee granted legislative preference to the first which will be called up on the floor today with leaders seeking a vote before nightfall. The second approved yesterday by the banking committee after more than two months of consideration, will follow Wednesday or Thursday.

Besides postponing inauguration of the permanent deposit insurance plan which would otherwise have become effective next July 1, guaranteeing deposits on a graduated scale up to 50 percent of those over $50,000, the bill approved yesterday by the banking committee also were:

Increase from $2,500 to $5,000 the accounts insurable under the temporary plan.

Permit mutual savings banks in the discretion of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, to insure deposits up to $200 or $5,000.

Repeat the law which requires that all state banks must belong to the federal reserve system after July 1, 1935, in order to have their deposits insured.

Candidates To Speak In Forest City Hall

Candidates for local and state offices will make their final appearance in the south-western section of the city when they gather at Forest City Hall at 8:00 o'clock for the reading of a series of pledges. Candidates that are being considered for the position of County Democratic Executive Committee are:

Speakers will include: Gordon Barnett, of Fort Park; E. E. Brady, J. E. Brantley, O. F. Harpless, L. F. Hagan, and G. W. Spencer, candidates for the state legislature; County Commissioner, C. B. Hendry; and J. E. Brantley, candidate for the county executive committee; and S. A. Brantley, candidate for the state executive committee.

DRILL CALLED OFF

Enforced absence from the city of both Captain Arthur W. Knox, commanding officer of the Medical Detachment, First Battalion, 12th Infantry, U. S. National Guard, and Staff Sergeant George Schell, has resulted in the calling off of the regular weekly drill of the unit, scheduled to have been held tonight at Sanford Armory.

Indications Are Seen That Great Britain Is Planning New Move On Debt To U. S.

LONDON, May 22.—(AP)—Indications were seen in circles closely in contact with the war debts controversy today that the British government may be planning a new approach to the problem in its June instalment due the United States.

Any such move, it was plainly seen however, is contingent partially upon President Roosevelt's forthcoming message to Congress on the subject of debts.

CROP LOSSES IN GRAIN BELT HIGH AS 85 PERCENT

(By The Associated Press) Drought, aided by grasshoppers and chinch bugs, spread further destruction through the grain belt today, increasing crop losses to as high as 85 percent in some sections.

Many farmers prayed yesterday in churches for rain. Some rains came, but they were too light to bring much benefit. More local showers were forecast.

Even ideal weather, said agricultural experts, could not now afford any material relief in much of the Midwest.

Nebraska farmers reported all crops in the central part of the state, including oats, hay, and other small grains, have been cut 40 percent. The strawberry crop has been severely damaged and chinch bug damage is the worst in the region's farming history.

Indiana's hay crop is cut 50 percent and wheat and corn are severely damaged. Corn is germinating slowly. Dust storms have blown away large parts of the onion and mint crops. The fruit crop in the southwestern region is periled. Timber and grass is drying, and small insects and timber fires are adding to the damage.

With hay and pastures most afflicted, crops throughout Wisconsin are menaced. No spring planting has been done in several sections. Corn is suffering.

Minnesota is suffering from an epidemic of grasshoppers. The yield of spring wheat will not reach 85 percent of normal. Dust storms have blown away plants. Pasture lands are drying up, and oats and hay have been hurt.

Some unofficial estimates were that the wheat crop yield in Kansas will not exceed 50 percent. Corn planting will be deferred in several parts of the state. The apple crop area is hard hit.

Mid rains fell yesterday in Wisconsin, northern Michigan, central Nebraska, and Minnesota. Local showers were forecast today for southern Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, and the eastern parts of the Dakotas, Nebraska, and Kansas. Thunderstorms were predicted for parts of Iowa and Kansas.

DeCottet Speaks To Men In His Company

Lt. George A. DeCottet, commanding officer of the Headquarters Company, First Battalion, 12th Infantry, U. S. National Guard, was the principal speaker at the fourth annual banquet of the company, held at the Montecarlo Hotel last night.

Lt. DeCottet's informal talk was devoted to a survey of the record of his organization, an expression of appreciation to his men for their cooperation they have extended him, and a detailed account of aims and goals he has set up for the future.

WARM DEBATE NAZI GERMANY IS HELD OVER SEEN ISOLATED HOUSING BILL BY LATE COUP

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(AP)—The coup d'etat in Bulgaria, placing in power a group considered pro-French and removing men regarded as influenced by Italy, was looked upon in most European capitals yesterday as furnishing one link needed to isolate Nazi Germany in the middle of a military alliance.

While no agreement has been signed, the projected alliance of France and Germany would touch every border of Europe and would be the strongest European combination since the Holy Roman empire.

Soviet Russia has given indications that she is just about ready to enter the League of Nations, and to join in a mutual assistance pact with France and other powers for the protection of European borders.

The pact, of course, would be open to Germany, if she returned to the League, but its purposes would be attained equally, regardless of the Nazi government's attitude.

The fact that Bulgaria's new fascist regime immediately announced its intention of recognizing the Soviet union was pleasing to the sponsors of the pact.

Russia and Turkey, another nation whose cooperation is being sought, already are friendly.

The little entente Rumania, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia have not recognized Russia, but French influence is expected to be brought to bear to open diplomatic intercourse, since these nations the essential links in the defense chain.

Poland is the big question mark. France and Germany are regarded now as struggling for Polish support. The great diplomatic accomplishment of the Hitler regime was a non-aggression pact with Poland, entered into despite the friction between the countries which has been almost inevitable since the World War remade the map.

Poland and France have professed friendship time and again, but below the surface there are signs that Poland may act independently at any time.

Poland refuses to be a vassal of France, said a spokesman at Geneva, "but she is willing to cooperate with France."

One thing appeared certain—Poland will demand a permanent seat on the League of Nations Council, if Russia comes in and as a great power, takes such a place. Otherwise, Poland would object to the admission of the Soviet union.

Out of the proposed pact Russia would attain European security which would enable her to devote major attention to the Siberian frontier, where the situation is regarded as tense.

The pact would not obligate the other nations to protect her eastern Russian front, but the Soviet union appears now to believe it can handle whatever situation develops there, provided there is no concern over the European border.

Plans Under Way For 1934 Poppy Day Sale

Sanford will be called upon to honor the World War dead and give aid to the war's living victims by wearing memorial poppies on May 26. This day, the Saturday before Memorial Day, will be "Poppy Day" throughout the United States and will be generally observed by the wearing of the little red flower of Flanders fields.

Observance of "Poppy Day" here will be directed by the American Legion Auxiliary, Mrs. H. B. Lowry, president of the local Auxiliary Unit, has announced. Women of the Auxiliary will distribute poppies on the streets and receive contributions for the Auxiliary's welfare and relief work among the disabled veterans and their families.

Organization of a corps of volunteer workers to distribute the memorial flowers throughout the city is going forward rapidly under the leadership of Mrs. J. H. Hinzler, chairman of the Auxiliary's poppy committee. A large supply of the poppies has been ordered from Lake City Hospital, where disabled veterans have been given employment during the winter and spring making the little paper flowers.

Social Workers Are Told To Direct Thoughts To Larger Problems Of Rehabilitation

KANSAS CITY, May 22.—(AP)—Rexford G. Tutwell, a chief advisor of President Roosevelt, told a national convention of social workers last night that they should strive for a condition of society in which their services would not be needed "except in rare and accidental cases."

Asserting that on the whole "our social service is still a hand-out on the giving and an insufficient dose on the receiving end," the assistant secretary of agriculture told the sixty-first annual meeting of the national conference of social work it should direct its "thoughts, at least, to the larger problems of rehabilitation."

Tutwell, in his prepared address, pointed out that rural life needs reconstruction as well as that of the city; outlined the present industrial system which he said precludes the re-employment of millions now out of work if it is not changed; praised the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, and deplored an economic situation which he said provides insufficient jobs for the two and a half million Americans who reach the age of 18 every year.

DARROW HITS AT NRA AGAIN IN NEW REPORT

WASHINGTON, May 22.—(A.P.)—Clarence Darrow hurled more polished epithets at NRA yesterday and announced an intention of submitting another report on the disputed monopolistic and oppressive trends of that agency which he defied its spokesmen to answer.

The text of the new Darrow board statement assailing criticism by NRA board officers upon its report alleging monopolistic actions, follows:

"The monopolists and profiteers who were uncovered by the review board's report had their innings yesterday and with their attorneys, paid and unpaid, filled the air with their clamors. When they pause to take breath and reason has a chance to be heard, it may be well to remind the public of certain basic facts, totally and no doubt intentionally disregarded in these infuriated clamors.

"This board was not created to analyze industries to devise defenses for NRA nor to weigh the intricacies of factory and corporation management. It was created, first, to discover if under the codes monopolistic practices existed; second, to discover if under the codes enterprises were oppressed.

"In pursuit of these purposes it conducted its investigations and reached its conclusions (1) that in certain industries monopolistic practices existed; (2) that in certain industries small enterprises were oppressed.

"Seventeen days later its report is made public together with the excited ejaculations of General Johnson and Mr. Richberg, who, apparently under the impression that the National Recovery Act is their personal property, break into shrieks of rage at the suggestion that the rules are imperfect or susceptible of improvement.

"But the fact remains that in spite of their curious excitement they have forgotten their subject. In all their outpourings there is nothing to indicate any rational conclusion as to the findings of the board. Is it true that monopolistic practices exist under the specified codes? Is it true that small enterprises are oppressed?

"So far as these replies that reply to nothing are concerned, the world is still unlightened and until some competent authority is willing to adopt the conclusions of the board on these points despite the personal resentment of General Johnson and Mr. Richberg.

"Nevertheless a few passing comments may be in order: "It is too much to expect that Mr. Richberg's state of turbulent emotion, he would see the essential fact about anything, but to those still preserving an empire over their intellectual processes it will be perfectly plain at once that the chaotic competition condemned by this board is the identical thing that NRA seeks to eliminate and that the suggestions made in our report are all to the good of that planned control he is hired to defend.

"It would be easy, if it were worth while, to go through Mr. Richberg's excited periods and show that in every instance it is he that is 'uninformed,' he that speaks of what he does not know; he that mistakes, and he that stumbles. This board at present has more serious business on hand. It expects to deliver before the end of this week a second review
