A Strange Conception Of Government
The Constitution which gives him the right to go to hell with the Constitution!"

It is the Constitution which gives him the right to go to hell with the Constitution! He seemed to have forgotten for the moment that it is the Constitution which gives him the right to go to hell with the Constitution!

Tallahassee as a representative of the people. He repeated the fact that the Constitution is the fundamental law of the land which he is expected implicitly to obey in making laws for others to observe. If he is going to ignore the Constitution, it follows logically that the people themselves should say, "To hell with law and order!"

This might be a good time to remind the people that it is the Constitution of the United States which gives them a representative form of government, and at the same time providing for free trade among the various states and equal protection before the laws for the citizens of the several states. It is the Constitution which guarantees the individual states against foreign aggression as well as domestic violence.

The Constitution gives to every citizen the right of trial by jury, and provides against excessive fines, cruel and unusual punishment. It prohibits government officials from unwaranted interference with individual citizens and unreasonable searching of their persons or homes as well as the sealing of their papers or other properties. It protects all individuals in the right to own and hold property of any kind. It guarantees to them freedom of worship, freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and the right to peaceably assemble and petition for redress of grievances.

It is the Constitution which gives to the people the right to change their Constitution if they so desire. It is not a wornout document, modeled for Eighteenth Century consumption, which has long since outlived its usefulness, unsuited for modern needs and conditions. It is an entirely flexible instrument, which changes readily as the needs of the hour change. It has been amended twenty times and can be amended again if need be. But basically it is as good today as it was written.

Now up to Tennessee they killed the sales tax proposal. Must not any bondholders' lobby, there?

The "good-sense" chain letter, it is said to be based on "faith, hope and charity." Is that respect it is the NRA's way to enforce it?

"Feel free to criticize," says President Roosevelt. "Tell me of instances where work can be done better, or where improper practices prevail."

What about George Washington, who did an $8,000,000 job? Well, if he had put it out at three percent compounded interest, he would have some real money by this time.

President Roosevelt's statement that "Long experience in government has taught us that the exceptional instances of waste and extravagance are probably less numerous than in almost every other line of endeavor" comes as a great shock to most of those engaged in other lines of endeavor.

Senators, Congressmen, and other representatives who have become dictators in their districts, or passed laws on their districts, who can't be swayed by reason or logic, have been more responsible. As instances of this are found in the South, particularly in the Southern states, where the bill which would have been passed by the local legislature, and could be handled best by the local units of government. The New York Herald Tribune takes this broad minded view of the attempt to federalize the punishment:

"Just now the Senate is in the throes of a passionate debate over the Costigan-Wagner bill. This measure would make lynching a federal offense, and force state police officers to refer cases to protect persons in their custody from mob justice. It would also provide for financial compensation to relatives of victims against the counties or cities, or both, in which lynchings are perpetrated, the damages to be collected in a federal court. In the main it follows the line of the other antilynching bill, which had long been in a similar form in thirteen years ago.

Its opponents have called it unconstitutional, but insist upon its passage. Since the power of Congress to regulate interstate commerce gives it the right to pass legislation penalizing failure to give such protection. Neither with the bill's opponents nor with its constitutionality can there be serious quarrel. Nor do we know our Southern statesmen in their opposition to the bill. They are not to be blamed for their opposition, as far as I can see. They were simply trying to keep the bill from being introduced in their states, and in their jurisdiction. That Congress has the right to pass legislation penalizing failure to give such protection. Neither with the bill's opponents nor with its constitutionality can there be serious quarrel.

But the bill is not an end in itself. As Senator Tillman has observed, "Lynching has been practised in every part of the nation. The evil is in no sense to be regarded as sectional."

However, the bill does raise a fundamental question of governmental policy. In the first place, a lynching is almost invariably a purely local crime. In this respect it differs radically from kidnapping, bank robbery, highway robbery and the like, with their attendant murders, whose perpetration will bring jurisdiction to the federal government. In the second place, it is an evil that is on the wane. In 1892 there were 255 lynchings, last year there were 15. The figure, though it may waver a bit from year to year, has shown a marked downward tendency for nearly half a century, indicating very clearly the growing popular revulsion against the crime as well as the effectiveness of local measures.

"Given the enormous diversity of customs and conditions in this country, one may always doubt the wisdom of calling upon the federal government to solve a local problem. Lynching is a local problem, however widely it may be practiced, and, unless the figures tell it, is being solved locally. The process may take longer than the short cut of federal interference, but in the end it is bound to be the more wholesome and effective."

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

Because of the United States silver purchase policy, buying up the white metal at fancy prices, creating a shortage of it in other parts of the world, the price of the few remaining nations in the world actually on a silver monetary standard, grew through a try to keep the price of silver similar to that in the United States when gold was being shipped out of the country or hoarded by foreign citizens. So President Cleveland, in a series of executive orders, closed all the banks in the country and instituted a silver embargo. Thus we co-operate to help world prosperity. It would be well to remember the contention that Congress forced the silver purchase policy upon President Roosevelt against his will.

THE SANFORD FORUM

Ranford, Fla., Apr. 29, 1935
The Editor,
Sanford Herald.

An item in the "Herald" last Friday was brought to my attention which stated that "The General Director is of the opinion that a 2 percent transaction tax would raise sufficient money to pay for the depression and also asks: 'Has he an estimate on how much any kind of a tax, absorbing half the national income, would raise the present emergency level?'

In my letter to the "Herald" through the Forum, I have again asked for an estimate on how much any kind of a tax, absorbing half the national income, would raise the present emergency level?

Feds To Face DeLand Reds In Important Loop Contest Here Tomorrow At 3:30

Manager Joe Barnes' Sanford Colorados probably will face another left-hander at Municipal Field tomorrow afternoon when Bill Page brings his DeLand Reds to town for their second meeting of the year with the Feds. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock.

The Reds come to Sanford with five straight victories and a two-game lead in league standings. They have received good pitching with a minimum of hitting, and they have been unusually fortunate in catching four clubs in off moments to score victories.

The Feds will be at home in attempt to bring a halt to a four-game losing streak. If they can knock the Reds off they'll be the first to do the trick this year, and if the Feds play hard enough they'll break the Reds' league record of having scored six runs in a single inning in their past four games.

The Reds will have to win to keep out of the cellar for the up and coming Coors Indians are favorites to hand the DeLand Beach Islanders a second consecutive defeat. The Indians and Feds are tied for the cellar position.

Manager Barnes announced today that although four key players have been signed, they probably will not be here for a couple of weeks. The starting line-up tomorrow, he said, will be the same as that at Coors last Sunday except that Pete Schurard will take Jones' place in right field, and Doc Hardin will start on the mound.

The Reds, who were beaten at St. Augustine in an exhibition game with the Saints yesterday, will work toward the offering of Lolly Gene Fisher, one of the league's outstanding hurlers.

Starting line-ups for the two clubs:

Sanford: Shepherd as Gossamer; Barnes in, Howell II, Gates III, Askew III, Schurard, Burkhardt, Hardin.

DeLand: Sisco of Coop, Zb, Roberson, McLean, Moseley or Lacroix, D. DeGarmo, as, Howell II and Fisher.

The league's leading batter, Jim Robertson, veteran DeLand third baseman, will show his wares in tomorrow's game. He has yet to be stopped, having so far carried one on his bat in each of the first 11 games he has played to date.

Only seven of the league's 16 clubs are in the race to secure a title this year. They are Barnes of DeLand with 132, Barnes of DeLand, Mrs. Howell, DeLand, McLean, Howell, DeLand, McLean, 253. We believe Barnes and McLean are likely to remain in the race, Sanford, 116.

Jake Barnes, manager of the assignment at DeLand, tomorrow against the Feds, probably will depend upon Tom Morris' hitting.

Traders arriving at Sanford reported sales of 100,000 cars in the west have been steadily increasing in recent months.

A CWA survey revealed the average passenger automobile in California consumed 601 gallons of gasoline last year.

Hawks Whip Pals While Saints Win Without Playing

GAINESVILLE, May 1. Gainesville won a thriller from the league-leading Painted Afghans at Harry Field here yesterday afternoon, 1 to 0 in a Northeast Florida League game.

GOP Leaders Assail Work Relief Program

BOSTON, May 1.— Rep. Roosevelt's Administration was assailed and his $4,200,000,000 work relief program was attacked as "an unwise and futile attempt to buy votes" by Republicans at a New England party conference over yesterday.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt, former Governor General of the Philippines, president of the National Republican Club, and himself a potential presidential candidate next year, led the attack on the Administration with the charge that the work relief appropriation will be used "for campaign purposes" and that New Deal policies are "definitely blocking real recovery."

Would Vote Roosevelt If Over Is Named

Republican Senator Isn't Like Idea Of Guard Choice

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(AP)— Senator K. E. (N. D.) and his wife would prefer to vote for President Roosevelt in 1936 if he is nominated. "A Mills, a Fletcher or that type." That was who is directing the nomination committee's action gave his thoughts in an interview.

"What of the available Republicans would you support?" he asked.

"If they keep on persistently cutting about him in his election down in New York, I'll force him into a position. I am an admirer of my answer."

E. H. Vandenberg (the senator from Michigan) is still to vote for him ever again.

He asked whether he is working for the nomination.

Vandenberg, it depends on the how-up of yesterday's reply. "If it's a Mills or a Belmont some other man, I'll work for Vandenberg."

He said that most people do not want a better to concern, or a good number of the present major about yourself as a candidate."

"I am for the old guard or the old guard or the old guard."

Psychologist Is Amused At Women Asking Heart Balm

most understand the broken heart that goes into court. But he grins, lights a pipe, settles in a study chair, and outlines the situation:

"If a woman falls out of love with a girl to whom he is engaged, the girl may as well put it down as a loss, and find someone else.
There are disappointments in life, you know, and we should be prepared for them."

"If the girl goes for money she is saying in effect that the marriage relationship with the man still has some value for her. How?
He no longer loves her."

"If it is a case where the parents of the man alienate his affections, the girl has lost nothing again. That man is tied to be-repared for her."

"If it is a wife going another woman for alienating her husband's affections, then the case should be viewed as a business partnership which is breaking up.
But she should get some financial aid to help her until she readjusts herself as a worker."

"Too often the person who loses the affections of the loved one is suffering from hurt pride as much as from anything else.
They want to 'burn back,' as they say, for breach of promise or for alienation of affections."

"The suit is a form of revenge."
—H. M. H. Hartman, White

He said that the person going from it is little good for anything else right at a period when he should be readjusting himself to new conditions.

"I'd advise her or him to get some regular meals, some regular sleep, and to hunt new friends."

"Heart balm legislation probably originated when the marriage relation was regarded more sparingly than it is now. The girl was disappointed in her expectations.
She demanded compensation.

The attitude points to the importance the girl placed on the economic advantage which would come to her through marriage.

"There is something funny and easy about most people who fall in love. They seem to have a pattern which the other person must meet. Of course, the other person doesn't fit the pattern, but the lover is always just as surprised about the five-hundred times he discovered the fact as he was the first. Such patterns should be modified, and many emotional problems would be stopped before they start."

1920 revealed a population of resided here for six months or more, or a person who, now to the city, plans to remain here at least six months.

He again stated that the census finding out the actual number of persons now living in Florida and the districts they should be placed in under a proposed plan to establish a Fifth Congressional Dis-people at next year's general election to "no" and then changed to "aye" again.

The House, however, changed their minds yesterday after first casting their votes and as a result the House passed, 48 to 42, and sent to the Senate a bill to allow filing of divorce actions after 90 days residence in Florida.

Voted upon after an hour and a half of debate, the bill introduced by Frost of Davis, first appeared to have been defeated, but before the roll call was announced Burnett of Madison, Knight of Polk and Smith of DeBose, who had voted against passage, changed their minds.

Westbrook of Lake, said the measure was "designed to guarantee that property will not be sold and a tax deed issued without notice to the owner and opportunity for him to redress it."

After a debate on proposed constitutional amendments the Senate approved that one calling for 20 mill over all ad valorem tax limitation, 29 to 8, and that for a broadening of homestead tax exemption privileges, 32 to 0.

If the House approves these resolutions the proposed amendments will be submitted to the ground in Washington Monday confident that for the self-styled Louisiana Kingfish, Iowa, is strong enough.

Before he left Des Moines he told all and sundry "What I did in Louisiana is nothing compared to what I could do in Iowa. I could take this state like a whirlwind."

The Senate finance committee has heard a demand for full cash payment of the bonus and the warning that any tax on bonus plans now pending would cost additional taxes when the bonus was paid. Above, Sen. Frank N. Boggs, Legion commander and Henry A. Morgenthau, secretary of the Treasury, testified before the Senate. At left, Senator Boggs declared that the American Legion demanded full cash payment and would want no compromise. Shultz, Judge Love! Join In Attack On Bondholders

Quincy Jurist Quashes Mandamus, Injunction Suit Which Tied Up Sumter County's Funds

TALLAHASSEE, May 2.—(AP)—Judge Love at Quincy signed an order yesterday quashing a mandamus and injunction suit brought against the state board of administration and Treasurer Knott by bondholders in Kansas.

Acting as mandamus and injunction suit was filed by a committee of three bondholders, seeking to force payment of a $100,000 loan to veterans cause striking against cash payment.

Case centered on the county-wide bonds, seeking payment of a $100,000 loan to veterans cause striking against cash payment.

The Governor referred to the passage by the Legislature of a county local bill authorizing the payment of $100,000 in county bonds.

Authorities declined to implement Mr. Baldwin's order.

POLICE SAY STEPS BEING TAKEN TO MAINTAIN PARITY WITH OTHER NATIONS

Havana, May 2.—(AP)—Simultaneously with the arrest of six suspected anarchist police officers, a right-wing third party, in which all the Democrats could not agree, has been formed.

It is the dangerous policies of the Roosevelt Administration makes almost an impression in Washington.

When Governor Talmadge of Georgia denounced Mr. Roosevelt as an extreme radical, and presented there would be a third and probably a fourth party ticket in the field in 1936, most experienced politicians merely sign them.

The Governor referred to the passage by the Legislature of a county local bill authorizing the payment of $100,000 in county bonds.

Authorities declined to implement Mr. Baldwin's order.

SUPPLEMENTARY AVIATION EXPENSE BILL FOR AIR MAIL, $15,000,000

LONDON, May 2.—(AP)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald announced today that the British government "already is taking steps for a further accelerated expansion of the British air forces" in order to maintain parity with neighboring powers.

The government told the House of Commons, filled with tense members and spectators that there would be expansion of the air strength of the Royal Air Force.

They could not picture Mr. Roosevelt's chief critics within his own party, as Senator Carter Glass, Al Smith and John W. Davis, either supporting Republicans or going into any sort of coalition with Republicans.

It just doesn't fit in at all with the lesson learned of the Roosevelt Administration makes almost an impression in Washington.

To suppose that dissentient elements of a party easily can be organized is half easily.

The greatest fallacies in politics.

It is quite true that party alignment is not what is used to all the proposed alterations in the tax law, except the exception.

An examination of the election results of any year will demonstrate that only a minor percentage of the electorate should be able to do so.

Should the House join the Senate in approving the new legislation, it will still be necessary to rule, not the exception.

The House got into a similar debate, whether it should consider a bill introduced by Senator

Fifth Congressional District.

Admittedly, of course, changing the law, but the bill is not the one proposed by the House.
