

OFFENSIVE IS DELAYED AND THE ALLIES GAIN WHILE U. S. GETS READY

GERMANS FINALLY ADMIT THAT WE ARE IN IT

Still another week has passed and the Germans have not begun their new offensive against the allied forces in Flanders and Picardy.

It is not improbable, however, that the blow will be launched at any moment.

Meanwhile, the allies are ready. Every hour is being utilized by them to strengthen strategic positions and every hour finds them better prepared to withstand an enemy onslaught.

In the work of strengthening the battle front the Americans are playing no secondary role. The steady stream of the khaki-clad lads from overseas to the fighting line has served greatly to reassure the British and French contingents that have heretofore so valiantly held their own against tremendous odds.

Even the Germans at home, previously adopting the tactics of sneering at the Americans, now are becoming aware of their strength and virility. No less an authority than the semi official North German Gazette is remarking on the "maturing American reinforcements behind the allied line."

Nowhere along the battlefield has there been any success against German positions by the American, British and French and some similar attempts by the Germans promptly put down.

The Americans in the Montdidie sector have carried out another of their "silent" raids, leaving their trenches without artillery support and overwhelming an enemy trench. Six Germans were killed and one soldier was made prisoner.

There still is considerable aerial activity over and behind the battle lines.

In the Italian theater the Austrians have essayed several rather strong attacks against the Italians in the mountain region of the north, but everywhere they met with repulse.

Want Postoffice Fireman

Applications for the position of fireman, to fill a vacancy in the postoffice building, at a salary of $660.00 per annum will be accepted not later than June 22nd, 1918, from men having firemen experience.

There will be educational test, competitors being rated on physical ability, and experience. Application Form 1800 can be obtained from the Secretary, Local Civil Service Board at the postoffice of the above city, or from the Secretary, Fifth Civil Service District, Atlanta, Georgia.

National Prayer Day Observed

Upon the President's request in proclamation that Thursday, May 30th would be observed as a day of prayer and intercession for this country and the World War, there will be a special service of patriotic intercession at Holy Cross Church at 7:30 a. m. Thursday morning.

No Excuses Taken

Washington, May 27.—The war department issued a warning to all youths attaining 21 on or before June 5, that they must register on that day. No excuses will be tolerated.

OUR GROWERS INCORPORATE ORGANIZATION

HAVE APPLIED FOR CHARTER AND ELECT OFFICERS.

The Sanford Truck Growers, Incorporated, is the name of the growers organization that has already applied for charter under state and federal laws. The organization is capitalized at $50,000, and already more than enough shares in the organization has been disposed of to growers alone, to pay in the required capital percentage.

The officers and directors of the Sanford Truck Growers, Inc., are: Rex Packard, Pres't, G. C. Chamberlain, vice Pres. and H. G. Dietrich, H. B. Lewis, Joe Cameron, J. D. Hood, John Bolly, R. L. Grier, J. F. Hickson, G. F. Smith and C. K. Lucas, form the board of directors.

A general manager and sales agent with more than fifteen years experience will be on the job on time and under the methods established great results are anticipated through an organization that is solidly growers.

All growers are welcomed as members, they being asked only to comply with the by-laws as set forth by the association.

The recently established canning plant operated by Mrs. Vandergrift at St. Augustine has been very busy since it began operations.

The plant is working under the auspices of the Board of Trade, Mrs. Vandergrift doing the work. Seven thousand pounds of cabbage and fourteen bushels of beans have been canned thus far. In place of sauer kraut the name of liberty cabbage has been adopted as a patriotic substitute for the German designation of the product as "canned."

Thursday Will Be Day Of Fasting and Prayer

THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION

Thursday will be observed all over the nation as the day of fasting and prayer and following is the President's proclamation:

Whereas, The congress of the United States on the second day of April last passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, by the senate (the house of representatives concurring) That it being a duty peculiarly incumbent in a time of war humbly and devoutly to acknowledge our dependence on Almighty God and to implore His aid and protection, the President of the United States be, and is hereby respectfully requested a day of public humiliation, prayer and fasting, to be observed by the people of the United States with religious solemnity and the offering of fervent supplications to Almighty God for the safety and welfare of our cause, His blessings on our arms, and a speedy restoration of an honorable and lasting peace to the nations of the earth;"

And Whereas, It has always been the reverent habit of the people of the United States to turn in humble appeal to Almighty God for His guidance in the affairs of their common life;

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim Thursday, the 30th day of May, a day already freighted with sacred and stimulating memories, a day of public humiliation, prayer and fasting, and do exhort my fellow-citizens of all faiths and creeds to assemble on that day in their several places of worship and there, as well as in their homes, to pray Almighty God that He may forgive our sins and shortcomings as a people and purify our hearts to love and see the truth, to accept and defend all things that are just and right, and to purpose only those righteous acts and judgments which are in conformity with His will; beseeching Him that He will give victory to our arms as they fight for freedom, wisdom to those who take counsel on our behalf in these dark days of struggle and perplexity, and stead-fastness to our people of make sacrifice, to the utmost in support of what is just and true, bringing us at last the peace in which men's hearts can be at rest because it is founded upon mercy, justice and good-will.

In Witness Whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done in the District of Columbia this eleventh day of May, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and nineteen, and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and forty-second.

WOODROW WILSON, By the President, Robert Lansing, Secretary of State.

In this city the day will be observed. The banks will close all day and many of the other business houses will close all day or part of the day. Following is the program as outlined by the churches:

At six in the morning the Baptist, Congregational, Methodist, and Presbyterian churches will unite in a "sunrise prayer meeting" at the Methodist church.

At eleven o'clock services will be held in the Baptist and Methodist churches, and the Congregational and Presbyterian churches will unite in a meeting at the Presbyterian church.

At six in the evening there will be a union meeting of men at the Baptist church, and at the same hour a meeting of women at the Congregational church.

All these meetings will be in the line of the President's proclamation calling for penitence and prayer.

All citizens who have no other church of their own to attend are urged to take advantage of the above that the purpose of the resolution of congress and the proclamation of the President may be carried out as effectually as possible.

Seminole and Sanford have come to the front in the matter of bonds and Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., and other lines of national and world-wide service, may this other vitally important appeal meet with equally earnest response.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

Whereas, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States has by proclamation set aside Thursday, the 30th day of May, 1918, as a day of prayer and fasting;

And whereas, The ministers of the different churches of the city have, in compliance with the President's proclamation arranged to have services of prayer and divine worship in the various churches in the city;

Now, therefore, I, J. D. Davison, mayor of the city of Sanford, earnestly request that all places of business be closed Thursday, May, the thirtieth, and that those who are able to do so will attend the services. Union prayer service at 6 a. m. at the Methodist church. The 11:00 churches. The meeting especially for the ladies at the Congregational church at 6 p. m. and the meeting for the men at the Baptist Temple at the same hour.

Thereby offering prayer to our Heavenly Father for all blessings bestowed upon us, and for His intercession that we may be victorious in the great struggle now taking place in the world.

Witness my hand and seal this 27th day of May, A. D. 1918.

(seal) J. D. Davison, Mayor.

LOOKING AFTER THE BOYS

No Army Ever Had Such Care As Present

Washington, May 27.—No army ever assembled in history has had more painstaking thought given to the protection and stimulation of its mental, moral and physical manhood than the new American army. President Wilson declared in a statement made public here today by the commission on training camp activities.

"Every endeavor is being made to surround our fighting men with the kind of environment which a democracy owes to those fighting in its ranks. The President said: 'I do not believe it is an exaggeration to say that no army ever assembled in history has had more conscientious and painstaking thought given to the protection and stimulation of its mental, moral and physical manhood. In this work the commission on training camp activities have represented the government, and the government's solicitude that the moral and spiritual resources of the nation should be mobilized behind the troops."

The President's statement appears in "Keeping our Fighters Fit for War and After," an official account of the educational and recreational activities in the army and navy training camps, written by Edward Frank Allen. A striking contrast is drawn between the demoralizing conditions obtaining on the Mexican border in 1916 when American troops were concentrated there, and the conditions of training camps today.

It is reported that the lime crop on the Florida Keys will be twice as large this season as in any previous year. The new crop will begin to move about June 1 and continue until August.

Fernandina is getting some undesirable advertising, because the liquor dealers have been run out of Duval county. Still Nassau could have blocked their scheme by voting earlier.

LYNCH LAW HERE IS NARROWLY AVERTED MOB BRINGS NEGRO

Hindenburg Is Sick

Geneva, May 27.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg, chief of the German general staff is in a hospital at Strassburg suffering from typhoid fever, according to reports from that city. The advices state that the report of von Hindenburg's death is incorrect but that his condition is critical.

Typhoid fever is said to be spreading rapidly in the German army.

YOUNG GIRL ASSAULTED FRI. NIGHT

NEGRO BRUTE HELD UP GIRL AND HER ESCORT

The city was startled Friday night by the announcement that a young girl member of one of the prominent families had been assaulted by a strange negro west of the city about four miles near the Rand's Siding station. The young lady with her escort had taken this side road for a drive about nine thirty and driving a small car, had stalled the engine in the sand near the railroad crossing at the siding. While trying to crank the car the young man was accosted by a strange negro who came from around the loading station building and demanded the young man to clear out. He made a pass at him with an open knife and chased him some distance and the young man thinking that the girl had escaped up the road and hearing nothing of her ran up the railroad track for help at the ice plant. The crew of the switch engine standing at the ice plant rode back with him and discovered the girl lying in a ditch on the side of the railroad track. She had been bruised up and her clothing was torn as she fought off the black brute and he was frightened away from his victim just in time by the crew.

The girl was brought to this city at once for medical attention and hundreds of men headed by Sheriff Brady and his deputies took up the search. One of the posse saw a negro start from a corn field near the scene of the holdup and fired on him and he ran into a bay head. A bloodhound was put on the trail and tracked him into the swamp but there were so many about that the dog lost the trail.

The hunt has never been abated and the negro is now believed to be hemmed in by a wall of determined men who have never rested day or night in the chase and he cannot escape. From all accounts he appears to be either a strange negro who was at the loading station trying to catch a train or was one who had been employed at the ice plant about a week, as this negro had disappeared without drawing his pay. From the meagre description of the negro he appears to be about five feet, eleven inches wearing blue overalls and felt hat and wears a large size shoe.

Saturday night Mr. Burge who resides on the west side noticed a negro acting in a suspicious manner near his home and getting a neighbor with a 22 rifle, all the weapon they could find went after him. In a scuffle with Mr. Burge the negro cut him badly with a knife after he had been shot and made off in the night. The place was immediately covered and from that time until Monday morning a close watch was kept. One of the posse claims to have shot the negro as he disappeared in the swamp and it appears that he must be desperate enough by this time to come out somewhere soon.

Meantime the people are keeping remarkably cool and there will be no disorder of any kind, all of those being engaged in the hunt being determined to find the right one and save the county the expense of a trial.

THOUGHT NOW THAT RIGHT ONE KILLED IN ORLANDO

After a strenuous search for the assailant who attacked the young girl here Friday night there have been enough developments here in a few hours to fill a book. A negro boarding train 85 Sunday night at Palatka was brought here and turned over to Sheriff Brady on suspicion of being the guilty man. He answered the description of the man in some respects but the girl did not think he was the man and so stated. He was taken to Kissimmee for safe keeping, however, while the search here went on for the right man. Last night a mob in Kissimmee stormed the jail and took the negro out and brought him here augmented by a mob from other points. The Seminole Guards had already been called out to the swamp west of town to get the negro there if possible, as Sheriff Brady recognized the fact that some organized effort should be made for his capture.

The mob came here in record time from Kissimmee with the negro and brought him to the home of the girl for further identification and it seemed for a time as though there would be trouble of a serious nature as some were in favor of lynching him and others wanted a fair test made. Forrest Lake made an impassioned plea to the mob that nothing be done unless they were certain they had the right man and others cautioned them along the same line. The negro was given a thorough examination and his story was so straight that he was given the benefit of the doubt and the men from Kissimmee stated that they had brought him here for identification and they intended to take him back and again place him in jail. This was done and today comes the intelligence from Orlando that ex-marshal Charlie Carter of that city shot and killed the negro that answers the description of the man who committed the attempted assault here. It seems that he has escaped from this section and made his way to Orlando where he became engaged in a fight with a negro woman and while the sheriff and others were searching for him Carter ran up on him and as the negro flourished a knife and made a move at him Carter fired on him killing him instantly.

This may prove to be the right man and if he is the case will be closed to the relief of the entire community. And every phase of the case proves that if this crime is committed or attempted that the man will eventually be caught, that he will be hanged and that the right man and only the right man should be punished and until the right man is caught and identified no innocent man should ever be killed.

Court Opens Today

The spring term of Circuit Court for Seminole county opens today. There will be a light docket from all appearances.

Junior Red Cross

All boys and girls who signed the pledge for service at the close of school are requested to meet at the home of Mrs. J. N. Whitner, corner Magnolia and Fifth streets, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the purpose of planning work for the summer.

Masons of Florida will have a home and orphanage in St. Petersburg in a short time, the offer of $70,000 for the Southland Hotel having been accepted by the creditors in the east, according to a telegram received recently from Charles M. Allen, receiver for the hotel company. Necessary legal details will be worked out as soon as possible and the home will be established and in operation shortly.

The State Road Department has put up $50,000 to help DeSoto county build the roads leading to the military camp at Dorr and Carlstrom aviation fields. The appropriation was made provided DeSoto county would put up not less than $255,000 on the same road.

Beast of Berlin a Lyric Special

Mr. Lane has booked one of the most sensational and most opportune films of the year, "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin." It shows the kaiser of Germany in his true light; it takes his life up, also his social life in Berlin, and carries it right down to the present war, and most of this is absolutely true in history. It is a film that simply set New York Chicago and Boston wild. It has been released only a very short while and will be shown at the Lyric for the first time. It is a picture that every person should see. The Lyric is to be complimented in getting all the big films up to the minute.

Outlaw Leader Crushed to Death

Fed Johnson, outlaw leader and first lieutenant of Black Jack, in his tireless pursuit of William Duncan (Henry Blake) and Carol Holloway (Bessie Blake), meets a tragic death in the eleventh episode of "Vengeance—and the Woman," Greater Vitagraph's new melodrama serial which will be seen in the Star Theatre Saturday. Red and his men are guarding a mountainside against an attack by a sheriff's posse when miners above let off a giant blast sending an avalanche of boulders down on the outlaws, crushing Red and all of his companions. This scene is a remarkable piece of photography, taken at the workings of an old mine in the Sierras of Southern California. Mr. Duncan and Miss Holloway take the leading parts in the serial, and he directed the picture.

In the cast also are five favorites from the "Fighting Trail," George Holt, Fred Burns, Tex Allen, Vincent Howard and S. E. Jennings, hard riding and quick shooting men, and adjudged among the best cowboys in Southern California. Just the type of men to be associated with Duncan in such a moving, outdoor serial as "Vengeance—and the Woman."

Holt takes the part of Black Jack Haines, outlaw leader.

Coming Lyric—"Beast of Berlin"

Inner secrets of the life of William Hohenzollern are to be revealed in "The Kaiser, the Beast of Berlin," the super-film attraction.

In a screen time of one hour and a half the coarse brutality, the sensuousness, the egotism, the selfishness of the man who has sacrificed more blood than has been shed through the war in all ages will be pitilessly exposed in a picture that will bring home to every American just what American boys are fighting for overseas.

There is no guesswork or fictioning about the picture. It is founded on the private lives of Wilhelm II., and his consort, written by Henry W. Fischer, from the private diary of Ursula von Eppinghoven, for nine years holdmate to the kaiserin.

It is not a war picture but it shows better than anything ever written or portrayed the nature of that beast America is fighting. It took New York by storm. New York papers agreed that it has done more to wake the people of the metropolis to a realization of the nature of the task that America is facing than any other one agency.

The picture is not one of battle-fields, but it is a complete exposure of one man's murderous, treacherous and lecherous soul. It is a drama of mad, ruthless ambition, a shocking revelation of the secret instincts of the most sinister character in all history. It has been proclaimed as an absorbing thrilling, dramatic story that reaches the pinnacle of artistry through its daring conception and opulent stage settings. The photographic effects are such as the world has seldom seen.

Precaution of Director Saved Lives of Stars

Care by Director Paul Hurst in having tested a runaway built specially for a scene in the fifth episode of "The Woman in the Web," Vitagraph's big new adventure serial, which will be shown in the Star Theatre Tuesday prevented an accident which doubtless would have resulted in serious injury to Miss Hedda Nova and J. Frank Glendon, stars in the serial.

A heavy automobile driven by Mr. Glendon and in which Miss Nova and two other persons are escaping from pursuers was to be driven through a fence and down a steep runway. The runaway was built of redwood on the Vitagraph lot, in Hollywood, and Mr. Hurst doubted it would carry the heavy car and its four passengers. He had a chauffeur drive the car slowly down the runway, and when it was half down it crashed through the planking, wrecking the machine.

The driver was unhurt, being prepared to jump if the construction gave way. As the machine would have been traveling forty miles an hour in the actual filming of the scene, the wisdom of the director's foresight is appreciated.

The Public Be Damned

"The Public Be Damned" is an exceptionally strong presentation of one of the most vital problems of the day and concerns not only every individual householder and person in this country, but also the millions of nearly starving peoples on the other side of the Great Pond. Herbert Hoover, now Chief Administrator of the Food Supply of the United States and head of the American Commission for Belgian Relief, has exposed before the United States senate the conditions which are the subject of the photoplay. "The Public Be Damned" is coming to the Star Theatre May 31st.

Bread and Newspapers

We must have something to eat and the papers to read. Everything else we can give up. If we live in a small way, there are at least new dresses and bonnets and everyday luxuries which we can dispense with. If the young zouave of the family looks smart in his new uniform, its respectable head is content, though he himself grow seedy as a caraway-umbel late in the season. He will cheerfully calm the perturbed nap of his old beaver by patiently brushing in place of buying a new one, if only the lieutenant's jaunty cap is what it should be. We all take a pride in sharing the epidemic economy of the time. Only bread and the newspaper we must have, whatever else we do without.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Mary a La Mode
(A New Thought Poem)
Mary had a knitting bag
Of red and white and blue,
And everywhere that Mary went,
That knitting bag went too.

It went with her to church one day,
Which made the people stare,
The congregation craned its necks
To see her knitting there!

The ushers they all stood stock still
To watch Miss Mary knit—
And strangers who appeared that day
Did not know where to sit.

The organist sat hypnotized,
Her head was in a whirl,
She missed the offertory piece,
A-watching Mary pur!

The soloist forgot his bit,
In trying to abstain
From gazing at Miss Mary while
She went from pur! to plain.

The preacher strayed far from his text,
With energy and zeal—
His thoughts would stray to Mary,
And her turning of the heel!

The singing was neglected,
To watch the gray sock grow—
The people all stood up and cheered
As she knitted off the toe.

But Mary knitted calmly on,
Nor even dropped a stitch—
Her devotion undisturbed,
In spite of every hitch.

At last the sexton put her out,
And urged her to reform;
But still she wandered all about Serenely knitting on.

And then some one in horror cried:
"Oh why will you do such?"
Miss Mary answered them with pride
"The OX IS IN THE DITCH!"
Ellen Poe Mayes, Tampa, Fla.

All of us should observe Thursday, the day of prayer, in this great trial that is being imposed upon all of us.

I am glad to note the work being done on the city streets by the council taking the right course in tearing up the ties and cross timbers of the old traction road and placing the bricks back in the proper manner. This will not only make our street look wider and better but will give us practically a new crown and center.

Speaking of the Red Cross reminds me that we certainly have a noble band of women in this county.
God bless them they are standing back of the boys like real heroes and they are giving their time and money freely and they are working week after week in the Red Cross rooms here and all over the county making the bandages that will soon be needed so badly. It takes the women to show us real patriotism.

The Red Cross drive of last week shows what the people of this county are and shows their brand of patriotism. And then when it comes right down to solid facts the people who have but little are usually the ones that give the most. Out of all those who were able to give a big sum how many skirred? But then a real man usually shows himself under any and all conditions and I would not have the brand on me that some people have on them for their stingy ways in civil life and especially now when the country calls for your best.

A Nevada justice, in sentencing a man found guilty of uttering unpatriotic and seditious statements such as "To hell with the soldiers," delivered the following remarks on the subject, which every man who may be suffering with an unpatriotic heart may well take home to himself. Read it:

"In your case, Mr. Summerfield, at the conclusion of the testimony, of course I could do nothing else but find you guilty, because of your own admissions on the stand you were guilty of what I consider the most despicable crime that could be conceived in a human mind. Born, as you say you were, in the state of Pennsylvania, and having all your life enjoyed the gifts and blessings of the greatest nation on God's foot-stool, under the Stars and Stripes, which grant to all mankind opportunities and privileges such as are enjoyed in no other country in the world, you not only openly confess you do not care who wins the war, or how many of your young men fall on the blood drenched battlefields of Europe just so long as you may be allowed to wallow in gluttony and idleness. While they are defending our homes and our sacred honor you say you would let them starve. You have not one drop of true American blood in your veins and thankful we may be that but few disreputable characters like you are born in American soil. After you admitted your guilt, you proved yourself to my mind, lower in principle than the most loushonest reptile that infests the earth; you had the temerity to ask mercy at the hands of the court.
This I consider nothing less than a personal affront to myself, and I want you and all of your ilk, distinctly understand that when such charges are proven against you, you can expect no quarter at my hands.
I have but one regret and that is when called to a sense of security, we have never provided for just such punishment of such people as you, because it has been but recently that we learn such ingrates could live.
You have just earned the death penalty in my judgment, and were it within my power, I certainly would mete it out to you, and then ask permission to execute it myself. The sentence of the court will be that you be punished for the despicable crime for which you have been convicted to the fullest extent provided by our statutes."—Clark County Review.

Pale, exhausted, sobbing, gasping, she returns from the Valley of the Shadow of Death to turn a mother's look upon the tiny creature upon the pillow beside her.

It is a boy, they tell her, and her heart goes out to God for the glory of it.

The agony is forgotten. She has given to the world a man. She puts an arm around the child, that will always be there to guide and protect.

Beautiful visions of the future, with her son in all of them, possesses the new world that's been created in her heart, and, with the heavenly smile of motherhood glowing upon her face, she falls asleep.

Time slips along on wings of lightning. The wee knit shoes, not two inches long, give way to sturdy shoes of leather and are put in some sacred hiding place as keepsakes.

What mending, brushing, advising, as her boy starts off to school! What nights and days of work, worry, sacrifice for his sake! Mother's boy must look well, behave well, live well, and God alone can keep record of how much of her hope, soul and life mother puts into it. But it will pay. Some day she'll go shopping, or to the theatre or to church on the arm of a nice, manly fellow, her boy. Some day it will always be,
"Don't do that, mother; let me do it!" Some day it will be the strong arm of her boy about her, to protect her and to return the night's and days of care and unselfish love.

But behold, the boy is a man, and throughout the world goes up a cry for all-true men! A mad beast ravages the earth, would befool all motherhood, would make all men mere brutes and human happiness a plaything of greed of power; a beast that says to mothers: "Your sons are but fodder for my gun!" To sons: "Your mothers are but brood sows for my power!"

The man, her boy that was, answers that call. "Here," he says, "is my all and mother's all. Justice, happiness, mother love shall not perish from the earth. My life for it!" How handsome and noble he looks in his new uniform! How true and brave he will surely be.

How her heart fills to the bursting as memory piles upon her all the joys, struggles, sacrifices that made him hers, since that day when she turned upon her pillow and glorified the Creator who sent her a boy who would some day play a man's part.

Today her boy, her man, is tossed by the waves of foreign seas, a corpse, for the beast has sneaked up through the spume and blown a ship to bits. The stricken mother is alone. She goes to the chamber and puts in her bosom the little knit shoes, while her hungry eyes seek his toys, his books, his clothes, anything that was part of him; and all is darkness.

Scores of other American mothers are today as she is! and the horror of it must multiply a hundred fold.

Oh, let them who have no sons, who feel no loss that wrings the heart and pictures all the future black, let them, too, offer all they have, that war may be killed and all through the coming years, mothers may have their sons! What is a day of weakness, or near-ness or marginalness, beside the life of suffering, struggle, sacrifice of a single American mother? God help us! let us save, sacrifice and give as the mothers must.

DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSION.
AL LEADER FOR SUFFRAGE.

Representative Scott Ferris of Oklahoma, the newly elected chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, is a staunch supporter of suffrage.
"I am in favor of giving suffrage to women ungrudgingly," said Representative Ferris, speaking in the House; "that, because I believe it is right; according, because I can find no sound or satisfying argument, logic, or reason, that will justify a course in opposition to it; third, in substance, in truth, and in fact, the four great political platforms of the last election promised equal suffrage to woman as to man."

Five Thousand Women to Bring One Man Around

Down in Texas the suffragists have a pretty good friend who is an anti.
His name is Judge Barry Miller, and he lives in Dallas. Recently he made a contribution to the Women's Overseas Hospitals, U. S. A., regardless of its suffrage backing. Then he went a step further and made this proposition to Mrs. Nonie Mahoney, a Dallas suffrage leader and one of the directors of the National American Woman Suffrage

MRS. NONIE MAHONEY.

Association: "Bring me 5,000 names of Texas women who want suffrage and I will support it."

"Oh, judge," demurred Mrs. Mahoney prettily, "that is a stupendous task!" Then she paused as if to get her breath. She was really running over in her mind the names of the women she would call up on the telephone and put on the job within the next ten minutes. "A stupendous task, but it can be done. It's a barrier, but it's not like the sex barrier—impossible to overcome."

The modesty involved in requiring that it shall take the opinions of 5,000 Texas women to offset the opinion of one Texas man found its match in the celebrity with which the 5,000 got into the balance.

Within ten days the National American Woman Suffrage Association received a telegram from Mrs. Mahoney saying the Texas list had gone over the top with 8,000 names on it and more names pouring in hourly.

Ball vs. Roller Bearings.
Ball bearings are a German invention, and it is only a few years ago that they made their appearance on the market. Roller bearings, both cylindrical and conical, are an American invention. The advantages claimed for the rollers over the balls are that they can sustain both the radial and the axial strain and they are more easily replaced when some worn.

THREE CHAMPIONSHIP TITLES CHANGE HANDS IN SHORT TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

Three titles are now in new hands. And it all happened in 24 hours. At Anks, Ia., Earl Caddock, a private in the National army, was awarded a referee's decision over Wladek Zbyszko, champion wrestler. Caddock took the first fall after one hour and twenty minutes of rough going. When the agreed limit of two and a half hours of actual wrestling had expired the referee awarded the decision to Private Caddock, N. A. The decision carried the title with it.

At Saranac Lake, Bobbie McLean won the world's professional speed skating championship, defeating Edmund Lamy in three special events. In Chicago, Augie Kieckhefer won the world's championship at three-cushion billiards from Alfred De Oro by scoring a total of 150 points to De Oro's 120.

WASTAGE TELLS TRAGEDY OF WAR

Daily Eight Trains Bring Soldiers' Ruined Equipment to Le Mans From Front.

5,000 MAKE OVER GARMENTS

French Redeem 60,000 Pairs of Trench Boots and 50,000 Pieces of Outer Clothing Monthly—German War Prisoners Work.

Le Mans, Department of the Sarthe, France.—On an average eight trains a day are bringing to Le Mans the wastage at the battle front, consisting of thousands of tons of damaged war material and soldiers' ruined equipment. There have been as many as 17 trains a day heavily loaded with this material picked up on battlefields and around camps. Le Mans would be the paradise of ragmen and dealers in second-hand goods were it not for the fact that the French army is finding its own use for such of the material as it is able to recuperate or repair.

SHERM'S DOTS

THE DOTS SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE. By Clifford Leon Sherman. Dear Folks:—The man we picked up in the open boat out at sea turned out to be a French fisherman, whose schooner had been sunk by a submarine the day before. The Germans didn't even let him have time enough to dress, but he managed to cut a dory loose and escaped in that. All of the rest of the crew were lost. He told us all about it as he was eating his first meal in thirty-six hours. And how that man did eat! He was mighty glad to be saved, and we were just as glad as he was. All that he managed to save was his dory and his pet. To complete the picture, draw a line from dot 1 to dot 2, then from dot 2 to dot 3, and so on.

big before being treated as other garments. Leather, Metal and Cloth. The first operation on the arrival of a train is the sorting of the load into three piles, leather, metal and cloth. The cloth and canvas go at once into immense disinfecting tanks that are in operation night and day, and from there to the laundry. Then they go to another warehouse, where they are separated into repairable and unrepairable; here there is a great deal of ripping to separate trimmings from garments and to divide the garments themselves into pieces of as nearly uniform size as possible to facilitate their transformation into comfortable slippers.

The sheep skins are purified by a sulphur application in the abandoned vault of an old cemetery near by, where 6,000 of them are treated each day, after which they are made pliable and ready for wear again by a beating machine. Some of them are able to take another turn at the front, but the most of them, along with pieces of uniform, are distributed among the assembling stations at the rear for the equipment of auxiliaries and among the hospitals for the clothing of convalescents.

Rags are sold here at the rate of a hundred bales per day, weighing in the aggregate about 12 tons. This represents the wear and wastage of clothing received at Le Mans alone; an equal quantity is received at Les Murlins. Kettles, braziers, lanterns, drums, musical instruments and all kinds of tools also pass through here on their way to Rennes to be dealt with by special establishments where the percentage of recuperation is said to be very slight.

Patriotism Personified. New Rochelle, N. Y.—The greatest patriot in the history of New Rochelle has been discovered. He is the man who hung out a service flag with one star in front of his garage because he sold his car to the army quartermaster department.

Woman Is Deputy Marshal. Denver, Colo.—To Miss Lola Anderson of Pueblo, Colo., belongs the distinction of winning the first appointment of a woman ever made as a deputy United States marshal.

"LEG LONGS" FOR SOLDIERS

Our soldiers will not have to worry about warm legs this winter if they will but wear the "leg long" that has been devised by Miss Emma Frohman, sister of the late Charles Frohman, for their comfort. The new garment fits snugly around the tops of the soldier's puttees or canvas leggings and extends upwards to be drawn tight around the waist. It is knitted of very heavy wool and is sure to keep cold away from the wearer's legs. This photo shows Miss Frohman putting her "leg long" on one of the soldiers. He is also wearing a knitted sweater so there is very little chance of his ever getting cold. Quantities of the new garments will be made at the new workroom of the National League for Women's Service, and they expect to have the "leg long" on the way to the army boys soon.

WORK AMONG ALIENS

College Women Training for Americanization Campaign. Opportunity for Splendid Service by Those Having Knowledge of Foreign Languages.

Washington.—The knowledge of foreign languages which before the war seemed almost superfluous equipment and of little practical use except as a finishing touch to an education of culture, is now being appreciated by the demand for volunteers to work with aliens, and spread the ideal of Americanization. One of the four war courses at Vassar college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is "training for work with aliens," taken by those who have conversational command of a modern language. This course will fit young women for work in censorship, translation, the education of aliens and other social work connected with alien supervision. Young college women in Cleveland are giving evenings to educating foreigners. War news is printed daily in various languages, and posted in the school centers and questions are encouraged and answered. The University of Wisconsin, Y. W. C. A. social service committee is conducting a Big Sister movement among Italian children, and works with a neighborhood house in the Jewish quarter. The Collegiate Alumnae association of Minneapolis, Minn., has a national aid committee which supplies volunteers to teach English to foreign soldiers and civilians. Miss Edith Bennett, head of the Chicago Collegiate Alumnae Bureau of Occupations, reports many calls in the fall for secretaries and translators with a knowledge of French and Spanish. Swarthmore classes in elementary German have shrunk this year, while Spanish has won a sudden popularity, the classes having tripled in enrollment.

HUSBAND COURTS WAR, BUT NOT WITH SPOUSE

Independence, Kan.—A married man of this city recently returned his questionnaire and waived all his rights to exemption. When asked why, as a married man, he didn't take advantage of them, he said: "Exemption be d—d. You don't know my wife. Say, man, I'd rather walk across No Man's land and back barefooted than live with that woman."

COLLEGE BOYS TAKE UP AX

Athletes of University of Colorado Will Cut Wood During Week-End Vacations.

Boulder, Colo.—Athletes of the University of Colorado here, who are not caught in the next army draft, will shoulder an ax instead of a musket, and go into the forests of the Rocky Mountain national preserves during holidays and week-end vacations to cut wood. This will be brought to Boulder and shipped to Denver and other cities as fuel, to take the place of coal.

The college boys have agreed to donate at least 20 per cent of their ax and saw earnings to the Red Cross.

PLENTY OF STORAGE PLACES

Woman Who Has Made Home Into a Veritable "House of a Thousand Closets."

One little woman living not far from New York, says Harriet Sisson Gillespie in the Mother's Magazine, has been able by the expenditure of a moderate sum of money to transform an impracticable "closetless dwelling into one in which housekeeping is not only a pleasure, but where the problem of storing away clothing has been satisfactorily solved. Among her friends it is known as "the house of a thousand closets," which is nearly if not literally true. Every little cubby hole below the eaves has been utilized for closet space. There are banks of closets on both the second and attic floors, to say nothing of a cedar closet with sun and air and electric light, for the reception of the owner's choicest possessions. Some of the closets are cedar lined, others sheathed with matched boards of North Carolina pine, well shellacked to keep out the moths and frequently sprayed with a liquid in which oil of cedar plays a part. A printed list of every article contained in the drawers and cupboards is tacked in plain sight in order that the frantic search for innumerable things that seem suddenly to have taken wings and flown away, may be entirely obviated.

New York and Quebec.

Quebec City is older than New York. It was founded in 1008 by Samuel de Champlain, whereas the earliest date that can be set for the founding of New York is 1610. New York Bay and the Hudson river were discovered by Verrazano in 1492, and the discovery was followed by occasional visits of trading and exploring vessels until the arrival of Henry Hudson in 1609, one year after Champlain had built his fort and chateau on the slope leading up to the heights of Quebec. Beginning with 1610 Dutch merchants dispatched several vessels to engage in the fur trade with the Indians, and in 1614 a ship commander Adrian Block having lost his vessel, built the "Oronoco" or "Restless" on the shores of the upper harbor of New York. About the same time a few huts were built on the south end of Manhattan island. In 1623 the country was erected into a province by the Dutch, and the seat of government was established on Manhattan island, on part of the site of the present city of New York. Dutch rule commenced, and continued until September 8, 1664, almost one hundred years before the British acquired New France or Canada.

IMMENSE AIR RAID DUGOUT

England Opens to Public Use Railway Tunnel Accommodating 20,000 Persons. London.—The biggest air raid dug-out in England has just been opened to the public for use during air raids. It will accommodate 20,000 persons. The dugout is really an unfinished railway tunnel, 100 feet underground, on which work was discontinued at the beginning of the war. It is electric lighted and seats have been provided for 2,000 persons.

RANK INFIDELITY

Today there are cannon throwing projectiles seventy-five miles, there are automobiles running ninety miles per hour, there are railroad trains making seventy miles per hour, and there are airplanes flying a hundred and fifty miles per hour, and we think nothing of it, hardly give it a thought when we read of such an accomplishment.

But back ninety years ago, they not only had nothing like that, but they absolutely believed it wicked to attempt to attain to anything unusual.

Down in the quiet little town of Lancaster, O., in 1828, as was the custom, the men met weekly in the community school house to "debate." Most of us have attended such "debates" and know they were carried on with all the earnestness and eloquence of a Clay-and-Webster controversy!

The question of steam railroads was then in its infancy, and the young men of the community had formed a club for the purpose of discussing the value and practicability, as well as possible utility of railroads. They desired the use of the school house for the club's debate, and the request was met with a refusal that must have sent the youngsters back home with a due regard for the sacredness of things, and an awe for the religious superiority of the trustees who refused them the house.

The Railway Magazine tells of the incident and gives the language of the refusing trustee as follows:

"You are welcome to the use of the school house to debate all proper questions in, but such things as railroads and telegraphs are impossible and rank infidelity. There is no word of God about them. If God had designed that His intelligent creatures should travel at the frightful speed of fifteen miles an hour, by steam, He would clearly have forewarned it through His holy prophets. It is a device of Satan to lead immortal souls down to hell."

Railroads and telegraphs were then "rank infidelity," and today the stoppage of either for the brief space of one day would upset the calculations of the world that we would believe the end was coming.—Tampa Tribune.

Men Wanted for Tank Service

Jacksonville, Fla., May 27.—Men of enlistment age and draft subjects who call for early and spectacular action in France have an opportunity to gratify that desire by enlisting in or being inducted into the tank corps, which is on a par with the much sought after aviation section, in which there is no call for enlistments at present.

Men are trained for tank service at Camp Colt, Gettysburg, Pa., and it is estimated that two months are required to fit a man for work overseas. Red blooded, alert minded men are wanted for this fighting branch, in which there is a special call for those with mechanical experience.

The method of entering this branch is outlined in the following statement from the recruiting officer for Florida:

"To those who are of military age, and who desire to enter a purely fighting branch of the service, an unusual opportunity is offered by calls for enlistment in the tank corps.

"To be eligible for this service a man must be between the ages of 18 and 40, physically fit in every way, and must have had experience in mechanical lines. There is a special call for men who are familiar with automobile and gas engines, heavy trucks, motor cycles, tractors, garage workers, also machine gun operators, cooks, clerks, wireless buzzer operators and those generally experienced in mechanical lines.

"Those desiring to enlist or be inducted into the tank corps are requested to write to the recruiting officer, 53-57 West Bay street, Jacksonville, Fla., and ask what procedure will be necessary to be enlisted in or inducted into the service."

Patriotism, Music, Devotion

Patriotic, musical and devotional will be the evening service at the Methodist house of worship next Sunday. The occasion will be the presentation of the beautiful service flag by the Brotherhood to that church. There will be ringing speeches, appropriate worship of prayer and Scripture reading and fine specially prepared music. President of the Brotherhood H. H. Peabody will preside, Brother Teacher I. R. Phillips will introduce the patriotic service, Brother F. P. Foster will make the presentation speech, and Pastor Dr. Hilburn will make the address of acceptance on behalf of the church. The Brotherhood has requested Mr. E. T. Woodruff to take charge of and arrange the program, synopsis of which will appear in Friday's issue of The Herald. There will be a large time, replete with patriotic and spiritual uplift at the M. E. church next Sunday night, to which all not attending service elsewhere are cordially invited.

Proclamation

Being in full accord with the act of congress providing for a day of fasting prayer, and the proclamation of our President, fixing Thursday, 30th inst., as the time for the observance of such a day, a number of the pastors of Sanford met last Friday and agreed upon the following plan for services:

Union sunrise prayer meeting at the First Methodist church at six a. m. The various churches of the city are expected to join in the early morning prayer.

At eleven a. m. all churches are to conduct services in their several places of worship, thus carrying out the suggestion of the President. "That on that day, of public humiliation, prayer and fasting, that citizens of all faiths and creed, assemble in their usual places of worship, as well as in their homes, pray to Almighty God that He may forgive our sins and shortcomings as a people and purify our hearts to see, and love the truth, to accept and defend all things that are just and right, and to purpose only those righteous acts and judgments which are in conformity with His will; beseeching Him that He will give victory to our armies, as they fight for freedom, wisdom to those who take counsel on our behalf in these days of dark struggle and perplexity, and assistance to our people to make sacrifice to the uttermost in support of what is just and true, bringing us at last, the peace in which men's hearts can be at rest because it is founded upon mercy, justice and good-will."

At six p. m. there will be a service for women at the Congregational church and a like service for the men at the Baptist church, thus closing the public services for the day.

It is sincerely hoped that the people of Sanford, who have manifested such commendable loyalty to our country, in their liberal subscriptions to the Liberty Bonds, and their donations to the Red Cross and Y. M. C. A. work will show like loyalty to this Christian nation, in general observance of the day of fasting and prayer as proclaimed by our President.

Red Cross Drive

On account of closing the drive last night and the great amount of work entailed a report cannot be given in this issue but will be given in detail Friday.

It is announced that $9,500 has been accounted for and receipts from the county will bring it to and the $1,000 or more that Seminole has gone over the top to the tune of $10,500.

Missions Movement

The recent general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, which was held in Atlanta, Ga., gave its full approval to the Centenary of Missions Movement which proposes to raise $35,000,000 in the next five years for home and foreign missions, church extension and war work. Laymen in all sections of the south are enthusiastic regarding the measure and the leaders in the grand movement are sanguine of success.

RAILROADS ARE GIVEN INCREASE

FREIGHT 25 PER CENT PASSENGER RATES HIGHER

Washington, D. C., May 27.—To meet wage increased just awarded and higher costs of coal and other supplies this year, Director General McAdoo today ordered railroad freight rates in the United States raised 25 per cent and passenger fares increased to 3 cents a mile, from the present basis of about 2 1/2 cents. It is estimated this will bring between $800,000,000 and $900,000,000 more revenues to the railroads within the next year. It represents by far the biggest rate increase in the history of railroads.

The new freight rates, covering both class and commodity freight will be effective June 25 and the passenger rates go into effect June 10.

Under authority granted by the railroad act to President Wilson, acting through the director general the order wipes out all intrastate lower rates effective on either freight or passenger traffic.

Travelers in standard sleeping and parlor cars are required to pay 3 1/2 cents a mile, in addition to Pullman fares, and in tourist sleeping cars 3 1/4 cents. Pullman rates remain the same.

Commutation and other suburban rates on railroads are increased 10 per cent. Fares on electric interurban lines are not affected. Special excursions, mileage, convention and tourist rates with a few exceptions are discontinued; privileges, such as stop overs and free side trips are abolished and excess baggage charges are increased.

Both freight and passenger rates on boat lines operated on the lakes, rivers or coastwise by the railroads are to be raised proportionately with the general increase. Export and import freight rates are ordered canceled and the higher domestic rates will apply to and from ports.

A number of flat increases, instead of percentage additions are ordered for cotton, coal, coke, lumber, ore, stone, grain, livestock, meats, sugar, bullion and other commodities. Existing differentials between various localities are to be preserved so far as possible but many readjustments will have to be made later. All rates are subject to review by the interstate commerce commission.

After announcing that the rate increases are in the public interest, Secretary McAdoo referred to $300,000,000 added to the payrolls for labor under the order published today; to the rapidly rising cost of coal, which he estimated this year close at $160,000,000 more than last year, and to the highest cost of every other material entering into railroad transport. Operating expenses, he estimated would be between $830,000,000 and $863,000,000 greater this year than the $2,522,000,000 figure of last year. No part of the increased rates is on account of the program of nearly a billion dollars of improvements, additions and new equipment this year, he explained.

"It is earnestly hoped," said the director general, "that all citizens affected directly or indirectly by this increase of rates will support the measures taken to bring about better conditions and withstand the losses which are paid of the grievous price the nations are paying for world liberty."

Mr. McAdoo directed attention to the fact that "there is no way in which the present prices will result in a profit."

"If they turn out to be greater than is needed," he said, "they will promptly be readjusted so as to prevent unnecessary burden upon the people; but pending such readjustment, the excess of any kind will be for the benefit of the people of the United States as a whole, and not for the benefit of the private railroad owners."

To the extent that savings can be extended and better prices obtained for railroad supplies, the director general will from time to time make appropriations. Rates will be abolished where substitute intrastate rates are less and all rates placed on an equitable level. This establishes the first definite difference between directors of the federal administration and the state directors of public utilities commissions, which heretofore have had authority to fix intrastate rates.

Florida's Cigarette Law

For fear that some of our people are not acquainted with the cigarette law in force in Florida, we herewith reproduce it: An act to prohibit the sale, barter or giving away of cigarettes or cigarette material in this state and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof.

Be it enacted by the legislature of the state of Florida:

Sec. 1. That it shall hereafter be unlawful in the state of Florida for any corporation, company, firm or person to sell, barter, furnish or give away, directly or indirectly, to any minor any cigarette, cigarette wrapper or substitute for either; or to procure for or to persuade, advise, counsel or compel any child under said age to smoke any cigarette.

Sec. 2. Any such corporation, company, firm or person violating any of the provisions of this act, shall for the first offense, upon conviction thereof, be fined in any sum not more than $50.00, nor less than $10; and for a second and any subsequent offense, such corporation, company firm or person shall upon conviction thereof, be fined not more than $100, nor less than $10, and to which may be added imprisonment to the county jail for any period not exceeding sixty days.

Sec. 3. It is hereby made the duties of sheriffs, constables, their deputies or any public officer to enforce the provisions of this act and he may summon any minor who may have or have had in his possession any cigarette or cigarette material, any make him testify before the county judge or justice of the peace as to where and of whom he obtained such cigarettes or cigarette material.

Sec. 4. That all laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

Sec. 5. This act shall take effect immediately upon its passage and approval by the governor. Approved May 22, 1907.

The President's Call to Prayer

Greater than the call to the nation's colors, or the magnificent appropriation for our army's comfort, or the wonderful provision for our splendid navy, or the development of our marvelous department of aviation is the President's call to prayer!

If the Church had been true to her high and holy vocation would she have needed to be summoned to prayer? Using the weapons of her warfare which "are not carnal, but mighty to the pulling down of strong holds," even German stronghold could not the Captain of our salvation have led us on to a grander, bloodless victory without all this awful sacrifice of men and money and means?

But we did not put Him to the test—the test that He now demands confession, repentance, reformation. He declares, "Whoso confesseth his sins and forsaketh them shall have mercy."

The arraignment against us is fearful! Worse than that against the unspeakable Hun! We have allowed the liquor traffic for fifty long drawn out years to drag its filthy slime over our body politic—the horror of which only eternity can reveal!

We have violated the Sabbath day, and made it—many of us—a holiday instead of a holy day.

We have enacted loose divorce laws permitting men and women to live together in unholy wedlock, prostituting the sacred institution of marriage!

We have permitted capital to oppress labor, and suffered helpless childhood to be wronged.

We have permitted heathen temples to be erected in our Christian (?) land.

Would that this were all!

It is a time for confession, as our grand President and our wise congress urge—a time for repentance—a time for profound humiliation—a time for genuine reformation!

On May, the 30th, ought there not to be a record breaking attendance at the churches?

We have had our Liberty Loan campaigns, our great Red Cross parade, but now we need one big, hearty, sincere PRAYER DRIVE that will lead our feet as a nation into the holy portals of God's temples.

May Sanford distinguish herself in this noblest act of highest patriotism!

Those Men at the Shops

They always are at the front and "going over the top" in some way. If it is Liberty Bonds, then "the shops" come up with a great big subscription; if it is Red Cross then the shops "come across" with a sum that would be astonishing but for the fact that that is the way they do things. And yesterday the big heart was in evidence in another sort of way.

There is a big tank somewhere at the shops where the engines empty their hot fires into about nine feet of water. The surface is a CAMOUFLAGE for it gives the idea that it is smooth walking on ashes. So a small negro lad thought late yesterday afternoon and walked off but not on it. He went down like a stone, and after him went some of "those men at the shops." Phil Allen is said to have been the one who brought the boy up out of the nine feet of water and ashly stuff. Then the men applied the approved first aid for the drowning, and after long effort the boy was revived Good work.

Secretary's Statement

Secretary McAdoo has authorized the following statement:

It is essential that the American people economize and save in order to make available to their government the money indispensably needed for the war and to release supplies and labor required for the production of things necessary for our own military forces and for the military forces of the nations associated with us. One of the best methods of bringing about this result is for every one to pledge himself to economize and save and to purchase, at definite periods, a specific amount of War Savings Stamps, thus giving concrete evidence of his support of the practice of War Savings.

To achieve this object there will be conducted, under the direction of the Treasury Department, a campaign for pledges, culminating on June 28th, when loyal Americans throughout the country will be asked to commit themselves to this program.

The progress of the war demands constant and increasing sacrifices. We are sending our young manhood to represent us on foreign battlefields, where they are called upon to sacrifice not only their personal comfort and material interests, but their lives as well. It is appropriate, therefore, for the American people who are privileged to remain in safety and comfort at home to consider their sacred obligation to support our gallant men and to pledge themselves earnestly to save and economize in order that our soldiers and sailors may have the food and clothing and the arms and munition without which they cannot fight.

To this end that the intensive campaign may be most effective, I earnestly bespeak the cooperation of all the organizations and institutions of the nation which, through their influence and active support can further this work. It is desirable that the attention of the entire people be centered on their obligation to pledge the government this kind of support for the winning of the war, and with this object in view, that June 28th, 1918, be observed as a National War Savings Day.

With adequate preparation for a National War Savings Day on June 28th, I am sure that the American people will be glad to participate and to pledge themselves to become war savers, thereby giving concrete evidence of their devotion to their country's welfare and of their inflexible purpose to fight until a triumphant victory for liberty is secured.

DAY OF FASTING AND PRAYER

People of This Nation to Humbly Acknowledge Dependence

Washington, May 27.—National Memorial Day, Thursday, May 30 is designated by President Wilson in a proclamation issued Saturday as a day of public prayer and fasting. "The people of this nation are asked to gather that day in their places of worship and pray for the victory of the American armies which will bring a peace founded upon mercy, justice and good will.

The proclamation, issued in response to a resolution by congress, follows: "By the President of the United States, a proclamation:

"Whereas, the congress of the United States on the 2nd day of April last, passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, by the senate the house of representatives concurring that, it being a duty peculiarly incumbent in a time of war humbly and devoutly to acknowledge our dependence on Almighty God and to implore his aid and protection, the President of the United States be, and is hereby respectfully requested to recommend a day of public humiliation, prayer and fasting, to be observed by the people of the United States with religious solemnity and the offering of fervent supplications to Almighty God for the safety and welfare of our cause. His blessing on our arms, and a speedy restoration of an honorable and lasting peace to the earth," and

"Whereas, it has always been the reverent habit of the people of the United States to turn in humble appeal to Almighty God for His guidance in the affairs of their common life.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby proclaim Thursday, the 30th day of May, a day already freighted with sacred and stimulated memories, a day of public humiliation, prayer, and fasting, and to exhort my fellow citizens of all faiths and creeds to assemble on that day in their several places of worship there, as well as in their homes, to pray Almighty God that He may forgive our sins and shortcomings as a people and purify our hearts to see and love the truth, to accept and defend all things that are just and right, and to purpose only those righteous acts and judgments which are in conformity with His will; beseeching Him that He will give victory to our armies as they fight for freedom, wisdom to those who take counsel on our behalf in these days of dark struggle and perplexity, and steadfastness to our people to make sacrifice to the utmost in support of what is just and true, bringing us at last the peace in which men's hearts can be at rest because it is founded upon mercy, justice and good will.

"In witness thereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done in the District of Columbia, this 11th day of May, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and eighteen and of the independence of the United States the one hundred and forty-second.

"Woodrow Wilson.

"By the President,

"Robert Lansing.

"Secretary of State."

The Old Octagon Coin

The most valuable coin authorized in the United States is the double Eagle, worth $20, of course. But there was formerly struck in California what was called an "octagon" because of its shape, and it passed for $50. It was current elsewhere, but never legal tender.

FOOD ADMINISTRATION

All persons engaged in certain lines of business, heretofore licensed under the United States food administration are given until June 1st to make applications for such licenses, and their applications should be sent direct to the License Division of the United States Food Administration at Washington. The list of firms coming under the new requirements includes the following: packers of canned tuna; packers of mild cured, hard cured, salted, dried, smoked, pickled, or otherwise preserved salmon; operators of poultry or egg packing plants not already licensed by the Food Administration; ginners, buyers, agents, dealers or handlers of cotton seed not already licensed, who handle annually between September 1st and August 31st, more than twenty tons of cotton seed; importers, manufacturers or distributors of cotton seed hulls; owners of elevators, warehouses or other places for storage of cotton seed or hulls; manufacturers of fermented beverages containing less than one half of one per cent of alcohol. All persons engaged in the business as set forth must at once take steps to secure licenses. Common carriers, farmers and growers are exempted from the above requirements unless their operations enter into the special lines as enumerated above. License forms are to be furnished from Washington upon request of those seeking permission to engage in the business specified.

Shakespeare at Stetson
Among other Commencement features at Stetson University will be the open air Shakespearean play, "As You Like It," which is to be given by the Green Room Club on the campus Monday afternoon, June 3rd at 4 p. m. The cast contains thirty people, representing the best talent of the entire student body; and the musical numbers—solo, chorus and orchestral—as well as the costumes are those of Shakespeare's time.

No charge of any kind is made, and visitors from neighboring towns are cordially invited. "Motoring parties a specialty." If you are coming in cars be on hand promptly at ten minutes before four, as the streets around the campus will be roped off at that time.

In 1916 the Green Room Club presented "Midsummer Night's Dream," last year "Twelfth Night," both of which were highly successful. The stage for this year will be more spectacular than ever, several changes having been made in arrangement and scenery. Come and enjoy yourself; forget the war for a few short hours that you may come back to it with rested nerves and increased vigor.

WORK FOR MAIMED

Plan for Re-Education of Disabled American Soldiers.

To Be Helped to Rehabilitate Themselves as Useful Citizens of the Republic.

Washington.—Now that our troops have begun to actually take part in the great war, a great problem will soon have to be faced. It will have to do with the re-education of disabled soldiers. It will not be enough for the government to place those who are permanently disabled in soldiers' homes and allow them to complete their existence in material comfort, but those who are partially disabled so as to make them unable to return to the occupations and trades which they left to serve their country will have to be re-educated in some employment which will enable them to rehabilitate themselves as useful citizens of the republic.

Although the plans have not progressed enough to make a formal announcement of their scope, it is known that the war department, the surgeon general's office, is working on the theory that the re-education must commence in the hospital while the patient is convalescent.

The government will probably follow closely the plans of the Canadian government, which is to continue its military control over the badly wounded until a competent board consisting of officers, doctors and laymen pronounce the re-education complete and the soldier ready for new endeavors.

According to accepted theories, the re-employment of the faculties begins in the hospital bed with games and puzzles which excite the interest and take the mind off misfortunes. The badly maimed often lose courage and hope, and have often after previous wars insisted upon being supported by the government in soldiers' homes without effort on their own behalf.

HOW TO BUY POULTRY

Government Warns Against Ice-Packed Chickens.

Worth 10 to 13 Per Cent Per Pound Less Than Those Properly Handled.

Washington.—Paying the same price for wet-packed chickens as for dry-packed involves heavy money loss to the consumer, according to the dressed poultry specialists of the United States department of agriculture. Government experiments have shown that wet-packing a broiler and sending it to market on ice causes it to lose 13 per cent of its value and fowls lose about 10 per cent. If dry-packed broilers are worth 40 cents, wet-packed are not worth more than 35 cents; if dry-packed fowls cost 30 cents, wet-packed one should not cost over 27 cents.

A chicken thrown into ice water to remove animal heat and sent to market in a barrel in direct contact with cracked ice, it is pointed out, absorbs water for which the consumer has to pay chicken prices. The water also dissolves out from the chicken valuable flavoring and nutritive substances. These go into the water at the bottom of the barrel along with filth that is washed from dirty feet and bloody heads, and trickles downward over the poultry.

With a dry-packed chicken the animal heat is removed by hanging the bird in an artificially cooled room maintained at nearly freezing temperature. The chicken is then packed into a box containing 12 birds and sent to market. The box is hauled in refrigerated cars and is kept by good retailers in good ice boxes until sold. The bird is never wet, has no chance to absorb water or become washed out. A bird should never be wet until it gets a final quick rinsing off in the housewife's kitchen. The practice of some housewives of soaking a chicken after it is dressed, in a pan of water, even for an hour or two, helps to leach out valuable qualities.

CONQUEST AND KULTUR

The German empire has become a world empire. Everywhere in distant quarters of the earth thousands of our countrymen are living. German guardians of the sea, German science, German industry, are going across the sea. The value of what Germany has upon the sea amounts to thousands of millions. It is your earnest duty, gentlemen, to help bind this greater German empire firmly to our ancestral home. . . . It is my wish that, standing in closest union, you help me to do my duty not only to my countrymen in a narrower sense, but also to the many thousands of countrymen in foreign lands. This means that I must be able to protect them if I may.—Kaiser's speech, June 10, 1900.

Higher Prices at Fur Sales.

London.—Fur is in keen demand just at present and a marked increase in price resulted at the October sales. Chinese, Australian and Russian supplies were very scarce, while American furs were not half sufficient to meet the demand. Prices ranged from 15 per cent to 100 per cent advance on previous sales.

NOT AN ELECTION BET

Seaman J. C. Biehl and J. P. Yohman of Newark are scarcely twenty-two years old, yet they have taken up on their shoulders a weighty vow and that is not to shave until they have fought a good fight with an enemy submarine.

The men have crossed the Atlantic several times, but it has never been their luck to run into one of the enemy's subs. All they need to make them pirates are a couple of knives, a brace of pistols and a half dozen cutlasses slung over their shoulders. It's a great life on the old briny.

HORSEWHIPS EMPLOYER

Miss Mary E. Drury of San Francisco, claims her employer forced his attention upon her and when she refused him after he insisted upon visiting her apartments, he had her discharged from her position. He phoned her and she agreed to meet him in the Palace hotel and when she did she struck him with the horsewhip and continued to rain blows on him as he ran until onlookers restrained her. She now threatens to bring suit for damages against her former employer.

Yale Man Graphically Describes Fight With U-Boats.

Convoy Accounts for Several German Submarines While Traveling to War Zone.

East Haven, Conn.—How the convoy in which he traveled to the European war zone with the Yale unit accounted for several German "subs" is graphically described by a letter to relatives by Lauren Lyman of this place. "One night as we were below, fixing our bunks," he says, "we heard the whistle and then the sharp note of the bugle. We shouted, 'the subs at last,' and leaped to our posts. I had been appointed a stroke oar in a lifeboat, and our particular gang, 20 in number, were counted by our white-faced lieutenant.

"Our ship began to zig-zag, and, through a port I saw a destroyer rushing along toward a white streak in the water. Suddenly something happened aboard the destroyer—a volume of water rushed in the air directly in its wake. There was a heavy explosion, and one more sub had gone to the happy hunting ground.

"The next morning our bugle again blew 'to post' and our guns on the port side cut loose. In less than no time our whole fleet, transports and all, were blazing away, zig-zagging and rushing in all directions. We had plugged a whole school of subs, and instead of zig-zagging our boat, plowed right into them.

"At one time the ship next to us and our boat were shooting into the same center and it looked like a battle between the two ships. I saw three periscopes myself and one cut its way so close that our forward gun could not be brought to bear.

"One torpedo missed our bows by less than 30 feet. At the same time we could see land ahead.

"While this was going on three airplanes appeared. How we shouted when we recognized their nationality. Soon they were swooping down like hawks, dropping bombs and marking out the places where the Boches lay.

"It was simply great. I felt just as I did before the touchdown against Harvard last year. At one time four big guns on our boat were playing away at the same time.

"Finally at ten o'clock the whistle blew, and our first big fight was over. Nobody scratched and from three to five Boches went to h—. There were from 9 to 12 of them waiting, and, believe me, they got all they wanted.

returned to Chicago recently to take care of his mother and crippled father. He found his mother taking in washing to support the family. Sweiger's father lost his leg in an accident a few days before Draft Registration day. The boy registered and did not claim exemption. He went to Camp Grant with the first contingent. Friends of the family, however, appealed to the government to release him from the army so that he might support his parents. The government took action, but found Sweiger was aboard a transport. The transport was wireless and young Sweiger returned to his home.

Big Saving in Sugar.
Washington.—An annual saving of 10,000,000 pounds of sugar and 12,000,000 pounds of shortening is the estimate made by the cracker manufacturers of the country as a result of the new rules made for them by the United States food administration.

NOW SKILLED MECHANICS

The photograph shows one of the girl machinists at work in the plant of the General Electric company at Philadelphia.

Knowing that many of their men would volunteer for service and others be taken for the new National army, the company added a number of women to their machine-shop staff. They have made good and as rapidly as men leave women step into their places, keeping things going with results just as good. If not better, than those obtained during male operation of the works. Women appear at workbenches and drills, at cutters and heavy presses. There is nothing that they haven't tried their hands at. The fact that women have made good in the big shops of the railroads has led many other large corporations to permanently enlist the fair ones in their service.

HANDS, ARMS, LIMBS ASLEEP

And Was Run-Down, Weak and Nervous, Says Florida Lady. Five Bottles of Cardui Made Her Well.

Kathleen, Fla.—Mrs. Dallas Price, of this place, says: "After the birth of my last child... I got very much run-down and weakened, so much that I could hardly do anything at all. I was so awfully nervous that I could scarcely endure the least noise. My condition was getting worse all the time... I knew I must have some relief or I would soon be in the bed and in a serious condition for I felt so badly and was so nervous and weak I could hardly live. My husband asked Dr. Cardui about my taking Cardui. He said, 'It's a good medicine, and good for that trouble,' so he got me 5 bottles... After about the second bottle I felt greatly improved... before taking it my limbs and hands and arms would go to sleep. After taking it, however, this poor circulation disappeared. My strength came back to me and I was soon on the road to health. After the use of about 5 bottles, I could do all my house-work and attend to my six children besides."

You can feel safe in giving Cardui a thorough trial for your troubles. It contains no harmful or habit-forming drugs, but is composed of mild, vegetable, medicinal ingredients with no bad after-effects. Thousands of women have voluntarily written, telling of the good Cardui has done them. It should help you, too. Try it. B 74

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

For Member Legislature To the Democratic Voters of Seminole Co.: I hereby announce my candidacy for representative in the next Florida legislature from Seminole county, subject to the democratic primary to be held June 4th of this year, and invite your consideration of my qualifications. Respectfully, J. J. DICKINSON.

Frank L. Woodruff Announces for Legislature To the Democratic Voters of Seminole Co.: I beg to announce that I am a candidate for re-election to the house of representatives from Seminole county, subject to the democratic primary in that capacity in the session of 1917. I feel I am prepared to give you better service in 1918. I do not know of any reason why you should not give me a second term, which has always been accorded all representatives in the past. I fully appreciate the high honor paid me by electing me in 1916 and I have endeavored at all times to look after the interests of the people of Seminole county and the state of Florida. I hope I have not failed to fulfill your expectations and I trust you will see your way clear to give me a second term. Again thanking you for the many favors bestowed on me in the past I promise that I will be faithful to the trust imposed in me. Yours very truly, FRANK L. WOODRUFF.

For County Commissioner I hereby announce myself a candidate for County Commissioner for the 5th District of Seminole County, subject to action of the Democratic Primary of June 4th, and solicit the votes of all Democratic. My platform is a square deal to all. Respectfully, E. H. KILDEE

COMMISSIONS IN ARMY PLENTIFUL

Privates Who Show Right Timber Will Become Officers Under Pershing.

MANY LIEUTENANTS NEEDED

Promotional Scheme Outlined at Headquarters Which Paves Way for Rapid Advancement of Men From the Ranks.

With the American Army in France. Apparently the humble doughboy is coming into his own in this war. A promotion scheme has just been outlined at headquarters in conformity with a recent general order from Washington which paves the way for rapid advancement for men from the ranks who display ability for higher commands.

Arrangements are already made whereby noncommissioned officers who look like they are made of officers' timber will be sent to the army candidates' school on recommendation from their superior officers.

If they make good they will be assigned to vacancies as second lieutenants in replacement divisions where promotion may be expected to be rapid in the event of heavy casualties among the officers.

Many Lieutenants Needed. In order to have sufficient officers in readiness at all times no limit is placed upon the number of second lieutenants in replacement divisions, it being recommended that they have at least three times as many as combat divisions.

Under the new general order divisional and other unit commanders are to consider "only fighting efficiency units" in recommending temporary appointments for promotion to line officers.

The general order makes it plain that such recommendations must be based solely on demonstrated fitness and ability to command. Divisional and other unit commanders are instructed to investigate carefully all officers' records.

All recommendations must be submitted to the commander in chief for approval.

The six Hooverites who are visiting the American camp awoke the other morning at reveille, after spending the night in hay lofts and barracks, somewhat better acquainted with conditions under which the American soldiers are living.

Too Cold for Pig. To begin with, this was to have been the story of how Everett Colby of New Jersey, slept with a pig. Mr. Colby and the other representatives of Herbert Hoover wanted to sleep and eat under exactly the same conditions as the doughboys. Thereupon the press officers in charge of the arrangements "framed it up" on the New Jersey man.

They happened to know that in a certain village wherein militiamen were quartered there were ideal advantages for roughing it. Ten soldiers were billeted in a certain barn owned by an old villager who obstinately refused to allow the Americans to disturb his pig, which had been occupying the same hay loft with them for some time.

The press officers arranged to have one soldier move for the night to give Mr. Colby accommodations next to the pig. Then the following morning the correspondents were to interview the Jerseyman on his impressions of the pig and the pig on his impressions of his fellow lodger.

But the pig's owner had been left out of the calculation. The night was cold so the villager moved the pig into his own quarters, where there was fire. So the world will never know what Mr. Colby thought of the pig and vice versa.

HORSE MEAT SALES REPORTED INCREASING

New York.—New York butchers have begun to awaken to the fact that the threatened introduction of horse meat at low prices had not only become a reality but is promising to get an overwhelming welcome in the poorer quarters of the city. Already the beef butchers in localities where the horse meat shops have been established are beginning to feel a falling off in trade, and in one section are charged with showing their resentment by violence.

HELP WIN THE WAR

Opportunity for All Furnished in Thrift Stamps.

Lend Your Money to the Government to Assist in the Battle for Democracy.

Washington.—War savings stamps, popularly known as "thrift stamps," are now on sale. These stamps have been termed "little baby bonds," by the treasury department, and the term comes nearer explaining them than any other, for they are virtually government bonds issued in small amounts. Back of them is the entire resources of the nation, and they steadily increase in value from the date of purchase to the date of maturity, January 1, 1923.

This obligation of the United States government is issued in the form of stamps, in two denominations, the 25-cent stamp and the $5 stamp. For the convenience of investors a "thrift card" is furnished to all purchasers of 25-cent stamps. This card has spaces for 10 stamps. When all the spaces have been filled the "thrift card" may be exchanged for a $5 stamp at post offices, banks, or other authorized agencies by adding 12 cents in cash prior to February 1, 1918, and one cent additional each month thereafter.

Those who prefer may buy a $5 stamp outright. These will be on sale until January 31, 1918, for $4.12. They automatically increase in value a cent a month every month thereafter until January 1, 1923, when the United States will pay $5 at any post office for each stamp.

It is also important to note that war-savings stamps increase each month in cost as well as in value, so that it is decidedly to the interest of the public to buy early.

When you purchase a $5 stamp, you must attach it to an engraved folder known as a "war savings certificate," which bears the name of the purchaser and can be cashed only by the person whose name appears upon the certificate, except in case of death or disability. This certificate contains 20 spaces. If these are all filled with "war savings stamps" between December 1, 1917, and January 31, 1918, the cost to the purchaser will be $82.40 and on January 1, 1923, the government will pay the owner of the certificate $100—a net profit to the holder of $17.60. This is based on an interest rate of 4 per cent compounded quarterly. The amount of war-savings stamps sold to any one person at any one time shall not exceed $100, and no person may hold such stamps to an aggregate amount exceeding $1,000.

If the 20 spaces on the "war-savings certificate" are not filled by January 1, 1918, the stamps which are actually attached will draw interest at the same rate.

If the holder of "war-savings stamps" desires to sell them before maturity, they may be redeemed at any post office, the holder receiving the price paid for the stamps, plus one cent a month on each stamp.

SWEARS OFF ON CANDY FOR DURATION OF WAR

Portland, Ore.—When little Jack Applewhite of Clarkston, Wash., heard his father read about the shortage of sugar in France and the appeal of Herbert Hoover, national food administrator, for every pound of sugar, that can be spared, the lad dictated the following letter: "Dear Mr. Hoover—I am sorry about there being no sugar in France and about the Belgian and French boys and girls not even having enough to make things sweet, and I am going to save all I can, for I am not going to buy one single bit of candy, and I am not going to ask mother to make one bit, either—and she makes just awful good candy and I love candy dearly."

LESSONS FOR THE Home Embroiderer

Specially prepared for this Newspaper by Pictorial Review.

Dainty New Embroideries for Home and Baby.

In the spirit of the season is the centerpiece which forms one of illustrations of dainty new things in handwork for home and baby. Sprays of cherry blossoms with blue birds perched for rest form the design.

No. 12442—Japanese Centerpiece.

The centerpiece is twenty inches in diameter and may be made of pure linen or an acceptable substitute. The embroidery may be done with either silk or mercerized cotton. Flat satin stitch is used for the white flowers and green leaves. The flower centers in French knots are worked in yellow, the stems in brown and the bird in blue. Both are executed in outline stitch. The edge of the centerpiece may be finished with lace, nothing being more attractive than cluny, or it may be scalloped and buttonholed.

The design for a baby pillow should be worked on fine linen. The ends are scalloped and finished with a frill of lace, which is shirred on behind the scallops. The closing is at the back. Measuring 13 x 15 1/2 inches the design makes an attractive pillow also even for the boudoir pillow. Less expensive than handkerchief linen, however, is fine linen cambric. It has just a little more body than the fine handkerchief linen and still is soft and pretty. The embroidery is done in solid satin stitch and, eyelet embroidery, or it may be done entirely in solid satin, with buttonholing for the scallops.

For the raised satin stitch two threads are used, a padding thread and a thread for the satin stitch. The latter must be finer than the former and may be totally different. But the usual custom is to do this Pictorial Review Transfer Pattern No. 11340, blue, 15 cents. The design with scallop is 13 by 15 1/2 inches.

No. 11340—Design stamped on handkerchief linen with material for back, 70 cents; white embroidery cotton, 10 cents.

The ordinary soldier's life is recruited from those whose very sustenance depends upon the farmer. The soldier and the farmer are eager to do their full share; the soldier is taking the chances of losing his life and the farmer is risking the labors of a year on the chance of the seasons; both incur risks. Very many civilians are equally eager to do their share, but may not appreciate the opportunity to serve in the field of agriculture.

The departments of agriculture and labor will render every possible aid, but each community knows its own problems, and urban people, especially business men, could co-operate effectively with the farmers and also render much assistance.

An Electric Cat.

Cleveland, O.—A cat has been in the habit of sleeping on a rubber mat under a dynamo in Cleveland's power house. Somebody removed the mat the other day, and the cat slept on an iron plate. It didn't seem to hurt the cat, but her fur became so charged with electricity that ever since it has stood stiff on end like the bristles of a hairbrush.

21 BILLION IS VALUE OF CROPS

Nearly 1,000,000,000 Bushels More Grain Was Raised Than in 1916.

CORN LEADS ALL THE REST

Production of Grain and Other Farm Products Far Exceeds Any Other Year in History of Country—Weather Ruins Flax.

Washington.—Farmers contributed approximately $21,000,000,000 to the wealth of the nation this year in the production of grain and other farm products, far exceeding any other year in the history of the country. Of this immense total the corn crop leads with an estimated value of $4,053,672,000. The oats crop is valued at $1,061,427,000; wheat at $848,372,000, and potatoes at $543,805,000.

Final report on the crops has just been issued by the department of agriculture, and it showed that with the exception of wheat the leading grains established records in production. A big wheat area was planted, but severe winter killing cut down the crop heavily. Cotton was caught by an early frost and suffered a sensational loss of approximately 1,000,000 bales from early estimates. A late season and early frosts hurt the corn crop, but more in point of quality than quantity, and there is more soft corn in the country this year than ever before.

1,000,000,000 Bushels in Excess.

Nearly 1,000,000,000 bushels more grain was raised than in 1916. The final estimate shows a total production of 5,664,728,000 bushels of the five leading grains. This compares with 4,684,253,000 bushels last year, and is close to the record aggregate production in 1915.

The total wheat yield is given as 620,828,000 bushels, compared with 620,318,000 bushels last year, and 800,301,000 bushels, the 1911-15 average.

Corn production is estimated at 3,150,404,000 bushels, about 31,000,000 bushels under the preliminary figure and compared with 2,660,027,000 bushels raised in 1916. The five-year average was 2,754,104,000 bushels and the previous bumper crop in 1912 was 3,124,740,000 bushels.

The yield of oats was also a record one and is given as 1,687,280,000 bushels, compared with 1,251,837,000 bushels last year. The five-year average was 1,230,400,000 bushels.

Production of rye is placed at 60,145,000 bushels, against 63,802,000 bushels last year and five-year average of 41,800,000 bushels.

The barley crop is finally estimated at 209,075,000 bushels, against 182,800,000 bushels last year.

The bumper potato crop is maintained in the final report; in fact the figure of 442,330,000 bushels is a little in excess of the preliminary estimate and compares with 294,033,000 bushels last year.

National Army May Help.

Last year, in spite of all the difficulties, the farmers planted the largest acreages in the history of the nation, harvested record crops of most important things except wheat, and succeeded in greatly increasing the number of live stock. Since last year skilled farm labor has been given deferred classification and the secretary of war has asked for power to furlough soldiers of the National Army if their training permits, so that they may return to their farms and assist. It is believed that the farmers of the nation can, by effective organization and co-operation, with such assistance as can be furnished, again overcome labor difficulties and produce large quantities of foods, feedstuffs and live stock.

There is an opportunity now for urban people sympathetically and constructively to study the farm-labor situation and to render assistance. In many towns and cities there are men who have had farming experience, who are able-bodied, and who would doubtless be willing to serve the nation in the field of agriculture at this time. Especially for the seasonal strains of planting, cultivating and harvesting, it will not be too much to ask such men to aid the farmers in the necessary undertaking of maintaining and, if possible, supplementing, the food supply in order to feed the armies and to sustain the civilian population behind them.

Civilians Should Help.

If soldiers are willing to serve in the trenches, to dig ditches, build roads and risk their lives, many civilians can well afford to spare a part of their time to serve in the furrows and in the harvest fields. If it appears that the farmers of a community or region are not able to secure the necessary labor by the usual methods, then the leaders in the town or city immediately dependent upon that region should organize, establish touch with representative farm leaders, and see if they cannot assist in solving the problem. In so doing they will not only aid the farmers of the nation, but they will vitally contribute to their own well-being and to that of their community.

The farmers are willing to do all that they humanly can, but where their labor supply cannot be furnished from Weather Ruins Flax.

Unfavorable weather conditions ruined the flax crop and the yield is estimated at only 8,473,000 bushels, against 14,236,000 bushels last year. Production of hay was 70,528,000 tons of tame and 15,402,000 tons of wild, compared with 91,102,000 tons and 18,800,000 tons respectively last year. The rice crop totaled 80,278,000 bushels, against 41,082,000 bushels last year. Buckwheat production was 17,400,000 bushels, compared with 11,840,000 bushels in 1916. The kafir corn crop was 75,800,000 bushels, against 60,840,000 bushels last year.

BRITISH SKIPPER HERO IN FIGHT

Though Mortally Wounded, He Refuses to Haul Down the Flag.

GOES TO BOTTOM WITH SHIP

"I'm Done; Throw Books Overboard," He Says, and Orders the Crew to Save Themselves—Lauded by Prime Minister.

London.—The following, from the Daily Telegraph, is a story of unusual heroism and the winning of a Victoria Cross:

"In the speech in which he proposed that the thanks of parliament be accorded to the nation's heroes, the prime minister spoke in glowing terms of the men of the fishing fleets, and moved the house to cheers as he told of a trawler skipper who, with both legs shot off and most of his crew killed or injured, refused to haul down the flag, gave the order, 'Throw the confidential books overboard, and throw me after them,' and went down with his trawler. The story thrilled the whole country and now, in a special supplement to the London Gazette, comes the sequel. It is announced that a posthumous grant of the Victoria Cross has been made to Skipper Thomas Crisp, R. N. R., 10,063, D. A. (killed in action), and that the Distinguished Service medal has been awarded to Second Hand Thomas William Crisp, R. N. R., O. N., 4,832, D. A. 'These two men are father and son, and the record of their brave deeds will take a foremost place even among the many wonderful stories of gallantry which this war has produced.'

Submarine is sighted.

"On an August afternoon, at about a quarter to three, the trawl was shot from the smack Nelson. The skipper was below packing fish; one hand was on deck cleaning fish for the next morning's breakfast. Coming on deck, Mr. Crisp saw an object on the horizon, examined it closely and sent for his glasses. Almost directly he sang out, 'Clear for action. Submarine.' He had scarcely spoken when a shot fell about a hundred yards away on the port bow. The motorman got to his motor; the deckhand dropped his fish and went to the ammunition room; while the other hands, at the skipper's orders, 'Let go your gear,' let go the warp, and put a 'dan' on the end of it. 'Meanwhile the gunlayer held his fire, until the skipper said, 'It is no use venting any longer, we will have to let them have it.' From the distance the submarine sent shell after shell at the smack, and at the fourth shot the shell went through the port bow just below the waterline.

'There was no confusion on board, not even when the seventh shell struck the skipper, passed through his side, through the deck and out through the side of the ship. The second hand at once took charge of the tiller and the firing continued. All the time water was pouring into the ship and she was sinking. One man, the gunlayer, went to the skipper to see if he could render first aid, but it was obvious that he was mortally wounded.

'"It's all right, boy, do your best," said the skipper, and then, to the second hand, 'Send a message off.' This was the message: 'Nelson being attacked by submarine. Skipper killed. Send assistance at once.' With the ship sinking and only five rounds of ammunition left, the second hand went to the skipper, who was lying there on the deck, and heard him say, 'Abandon ship. Throw the books overboard.'

Down With His Vessel.

"He was asked then if he should lift him into the boat, but his answer was: 'Tom, I'm done; throw me overboard.' He was in too bad a condition to be moved, and they left him there on his deck and took to the small boat, and about a quarter of an hour afterward the Nelson went down by the head.

"It was drawing into dusk as they left and the crew of the boat pulled all that night. Toward morning the wind freshened and blew them out of their course. They pulled all day, fastening a pair of trousers and a large piece of oilskin to two oars to attract attention. Once a vessel was sighted, and once a group of minesweepers, but they passed out of sight. At night the weather became fiercer. Through the night they pulled, until daybreak, and at half-past ten o'clock in the morning they found a buoy and made fast to it. By afternoon they were sighted and rescued. The second hand, who took charge of the tiller after the skipper had been shot down, was his son."
