Seminole County Jail Facilities Inadequate

Much has been said about the lack of juvenile detention facilities in Seminole County. Equally as much has been said about the inadequacy of facilities for detaining the mentally incompetent.

The Seminole County Jail is so outmoded that the Supervisor of State Penal Institutions has declared that the structure must be replaced.

Sheriff J. L. Hobby and his staff of deputies have done much to keep the present jail property clean and habitable insofar as expense will allow him. The facilities are being used to their fullest capacity—even to housing juveniles and women.

The time has come for planning — for making known what Seminole County intends to do to bring its facilities up to par of being called decent and adequate.

Juveniles brought to the Seminole County Jail must brush shoulders with the hardened criminal and through those same narrow corridors women must be brought in.

Plumbing fixtures in the jail—those in the cells and in other places throughout the building are leaking, rusted, old-fashioned—a maze of pipe that takes up room as well as serving facilities too old even for use by prisoners.

Mental patients are being housed in cells that were meant to be used for criminals that could not be placed in bullpens. And all of these detention cells are on upper floors of the building out of sight of the jailer who should keep a constant eye on everything that is happening.

Offices for the Sheriff, his records department, the jailer, the radio room are but cubbyholes.

This is one of the sad cases in Seminole County. It is sad because our county government has failed to have before it the planning necessary to keep up with the needs of the people. Certainly there should have been adequate funds set aside to replace these facilities when the time came to rebuild or replace.

Now, in one great big swoop, many are saying "We can't afford it." Don't spend any money now, they say.

What will be the least expensive—providing the proper facilities or having the state force our county to pay for housing prisoners elsewhere? If such an instance comes to pass the faces of many county people will be red! It can happen though—and it can happen soon.

People who are interested in their county and the facilities provided for keeping the county going, should take a hand look at the Seminole County Jail. Sheriff Hobby will be glad to let the citizens of the county see what they have and how poor it is.

Again—the time has come for Seminole County to lay out the sketches and blueprints out on the drawing board and start some real honest-to-goodness planning. It's going to take time to provide the details, plans, specifications and all the necessary data leading up to the construction of new facilities needed immediately.

That time is right now!

Chase Attacks Collins' Proposal To Up Gas Tax

A blistering attack was leveled today at Governor LeRoy Collins' recent proposal to increase gasoline taxes in Florida for the eleventh time.

Sydney O. Chase Jr. of Sanford, chairman of the Florida Highway Users Conference, charged that the Governor's suggested tax increase of 1 cent per gallon for road construction was a totally unjustified new burden on the Florida motorists "whose hard earned money is already channeled away from highway use at the staggering rate of over $40,000,000 per year."

"Not one cent of the proceeds from the State license tag tax goes for highways," he said, "even though the levy is imposed only upon highway users. And Florida is the only State that does not use any tag revenue for highways."

"Instead, over $26,000,000 annually is diverted into the General Revenue Fund for general expenses while about $14,000,000 in highway tax receipts now go to schools."

"This particular form of 'highway robbery' has cost Floridians well over $400,000,000 in highway user taxes over the past 25 years—enough money to have built more than 11,000 miles of good primary roads," he declared.

"This practice of road fund diversion not only threatens the future of Florida's vast highway building program," he said, "but amounts to a betrayal of a motorist's willingness to pay his own way."

He added that gasoline is already taxed at a rate equivalent to a 40 per cent sales tax, and any other highway users taxes "would be a needless gouge of the pocket book of every driver in the State."

"If Florida gave its motoring taxpayers a dollars' worth of road for every tax dollar they paid," he concluded, "We would not need additional tax money to build roads and we would not be subject to any more hollow pleas for heavier and heavier driver taxation."

Administration Seeks Ways To Cut Spending

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration has begun an intensive search for ways to sharply cut government spending in fiscal 1960. If at all possible, it wants a budget surplus before the next presidential election.

The political aspects of the spending picture were emphasized today, as the nation wound up the 1958 fiscal year with an expected federal deficit of $2,780,000,000.

The real shocker, politically speaking, is the prospect of a possible $12-billion-dollar deficit in the fiscal year starting Tuesday.

If the trend toward deeper red ink spending continues, neither Republican nor Democratic politicians will sound sincere if they hold out tax-cut promises in the expected bitter 1960 campaign.

With an eye on this November's elections, as well as 1960, spokesmen for the two parties were likely to begin trading charges on who should bear responsibility for the deficit.

Chairman Styles Bridges (NH) of the Senate GOP policy committee said Sunday the in-the-red forecast for this year should "shock the country" into track-

Special School Bond Election Set Sept. 9

A resolution spelling out the details of a special school and bond election and calling for the Sept. 9 date was unanimously approved by the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction this morning.

The final resolution calls for a bond election on $3,200,000 for new school construction and renovation throughout the county.

It also named clerks, inspectors, voting places and all details concerning what the board's attorney termed "a completely separate" election.

Two new locations for voting precincts were named in the resolution. The Lake Mary precinct will vote at the Presbyterian Church educational building while Precinct 1, Sanford, will vote at 116 S. French Ave. where the Dan Batten Electric Co. is located.

School Board Attorney Douglas Stenstrom told the board "This election will be entirely separate from start to finish. There will be separate ballots, separate clerks, inspectors and returns."

However, it was pointed out that paper ballots will also be used in the election. The law calls for the "completely separate" election.

"We are going into this election with a far more accurate list of freeholders than we have ever had," it was pointed out by a spokesman at this morning's meeting.

One report said that more than 900 voters in re-registering this year had failed to check their registration card whether or not they were freeholders.

Another card was sent last week. It was pointed out, to all those who failed to make this indication,

Woman Pinned In As Car Crashes Headon Into Tree

A 49-year-old woman was critically injured early Sunday morning when her car went out of control, apparently at a high rate of speed, near SanLando Springs.

Mary Jo Ellis, whose address is listed as 4804 West Princeton Ave., Orlando, was reported as being in "critical condition" at the Florida Sanitarium and Hospital this morning.

Florida Highway Patrol Trooper T. Mark Mack said yesterday that the accident occurred about 1:30 a. m. Sunday morning when the car was traveling west on State Road 434-A.

The woman was pinned in her car when it smashed headon into a pine tree.

Trooper Mack said the automobile left 50 feet of skid marks on the pavement and nearly 250 feet of skid marks off the pavement before crashing in to the tree and demolishing the car.

The Trooper reported that the 49-year-old woman received multiple lacerations of the face, arms, and legs; multiple fractures of the arms and legs; and internal injuries.

He said that she was in surgery for five hours Sunday morning.

The Orlando woman was alone in the car at the time of the accident and apparently at a high rate of speed failed to make a heavy curve when the car went out of control. The automobile was a 1958 Edsel and was a total loss.

Trooper Mack described the crash as one which "made a V in the front of the car when it hit headon."

Dalrymple said that "part of the plaster in several rooms was removed to observe the conditions of the exterior bearing walls."

Lions To Install Officers At Banquet Tomorrow Night

The Sanford Lions Club will hold its annual installation and banquet tomorrow night at the Lake Monroe Inn.

W. Hugh Duncan, outgoing president, said today that new officers for the coming year will be installed in ceremonies expected to get underway at 7:30 p. m.

Governor Jim Boyce of Leesburg, top Lions Club officer in the 250 District of Florida, will be the installing officer.

New officers for the local Lions Club 1958-59 year include Buddy Rawls, president; J. Q. "Slim" Galloway, first vice president; Bruce Padlock, second vice president; DeWitt Whitmore, third vice president; Frank Jones, Lion Lawer; M. A. "Foot" Yelvington, tail twister; W. Hugh Duncan, secretary; and Jack Morrison, treasurer.

In addition to installing officers for the coming year, reports for the past year will be made.

Jr. High Condemned; Children To Attend Double Sessions

Sanford Junior High School was condemned this morning at a special meeting of the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction.

The condemning of the building means that students will not use the building in the 1958-59 school session and that at least 900 Sanford school children will be attending double sessions beginning with the fall term.

The board unanimously approved the condemning of the building following an engineers report analyzing the structure and giving its conclusions.

Reports have been considered on various occasions relative to the safety of the school building, but in each instance, in prior years, adequate repairs were made to qualify the building's use.

Clinton, leading to the report and investigation made by the Law Engineering Testing Company of Atlanta, Ga. came when local engineers attempted to secure fire escapes to the building.

The local firm, John Burton IV, architect for the school board, found that the necessary fire escapes could not be adequately

Sanford Teachers Get Scholarships To Workshop

TALLAHASSEE — Thirty-six teachers have been awarded scholarships by the Florida Federation of Garden Clubs to attend a two-week workshop in conservation at Florida State University July 7-23.

Seminole County teachers who received the scholarship awards are: Robert G. May, grade 6, Sanford Grammar School and Mrs. Eula M. Grantham, grade 5, Sanford Grammar School.

Dr. John O. Hoynton, associate professor of geography and workshop director, said the workshop is the third annual session of the kind to receive the backing of the Federation in the form of $50 scholarships for the participants.

Elementary, junior high and high school teachers, he said, will be here from 28 counties.

The workshop will be a question-and-answer program in which reports from several agencies dealing with conservation will discuss resource-use as a governmental concern. Two field trips will be taken, one conducted by the Florida Forest Service and the other to the North Florida Experiment Station.

Speakers and panelists will include Edwin Moore, education and information chief for the Florida Forest Service; Turner Wallis of the Trustees of the International Improvement Fund; Charles Hendry, Florida Geological Survey; W. C. Rhoades, director of the North Florida Agricultural Experiment Station, Quincy; Robert Aldrich, director of the Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, and staff members.

Local Boys' State Delegates To Be Kiwanis Guests

Local delegates to the American Legion's Boys State in Tallahassee will be guests of the Sanford Kiwanis Club at its noon luncheon meeting Wednesday at the Civic Center.

Each one of the delegates will tell of some part of his experience during the week-long "know your government" program of the American Legion in the state's capital.

Representative Gordon Frederick, chairman of the Campbell-Louising American Legion Post Boys' State committee, and program chairman for the Wednesday Kiwanis luncheon program, will introduce the five delegates.

Those who will take part in the program are: Allen Swain, sponsored by the Sanford Lions Club; Walter Phillips Jr., sponsored by the Rotary Club; Harry Sibley Jr., sponsored by the Elks Club; Walter A. Middleton, sponsored by the Jaycees, and Gary Baker, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club.

Guard Unit's Camp Record Outstanding

The Sanford National Guard unit, Co. B, 154th Armored Infantry Battalion, completed the annual two weeks summer-training period at Fort Stewart, Ga. this past weekend. The local unit compiled an outstanding record while on active duty.

The unit was judged superior in every phase of its operation by the Army evaluators assigned to rate the units of the battalion. This

Advisory Commission To Study Six-Point Recommendation

The Advisory Commission to the Board of Seminole County Commissioners will meet tonight at 8 o'clock to discuss the possibilities of recommendations of the group.

The special group, appointed by the Board of Commissioners, two members from each district, met with Superintendent of Public Instruction R. T. Milwee, his Administrative Assistant Walter Tague, and the School Board's Finance Officer Mrs. Gertrude Gilbert Friday night to discuss the school situation relative to taxes.

Milwee pointed out to the group of county citizens looking into the problems of the community that "it is our responsibility to present the needs for schools to the best of our ability."

Asking the Superintendent of Public Instruction for suggestions which he might have to offer, the County Attorney, also serving on the Advisory Commission, said

St. Paul Church Holds Dedication Day Recently

Dedication day was held recently at St. Paul M. B. Church, during the 11 o'clock services. They were made just before the delivery of the dedication sermon by the pastor, Rev. B. H. Hodge.

They were as follows: (1) A new piano along with a large engraved plaque bearing the names of all individuals who made the piano presentation possible.

The plaque was presented to the Church through the Trustees, by Mrs. Laura F. Fulton of the piano committee. The piano committee members were: Mrs. Consuelo Myers Bridge, chairman and originator of the idea; Mrs. Eva Myers Handy; Mrs. Fannie E. Frazier and Mrs. Laura F. Fulton, secretary.

(2) An electric drinking fountain, from the Myers family.

(3) Carpet on church's floor, from the B.T.U.; both of these presentations were made by Mrs. Eva M. Handy.

Dedications mentioned by the pastor, Rev. Hodge, were: (4) the Communion Table, given by the Senior Missionary Sisters; (5) two table cloths for Communion Table, given by Mrs. Mamie Mead and Mrs. Leola Brown of the Senior Deaconess Board; loads of coal, given by Deacon Herbert Brown.

MORE LOANS—(UPI)—The United States Savings and Loan League reports that the nation's 6,000 savings and loan associations made more loans in the first quarter of 1939 than in the same quarter of 1938 than in the same quarter of 1937. The league said lending by saving associations in the first quarter was $2,325,000,000 as against $2,265,000,000.

Color Television May Be Easier on the Eyes

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

MORE and more television programs are being telecast in color and more and more color TV sets are being sold. Eventually, I suppose, all, or at least most, programs will be telecast in color.

And since color is easier to look at, these telecasts probably offer the eyes greater comfort and less fatigue than black and white pictures.

Needn't Be Harmful

Generally, watching either color or black and white TV is harmless if it is done under proper lighting conditions.

Any room containing a television set should have enough lights to relieve the excessive contrast between the TV screen and the rest of the room. The American Optometric Association suggests the use of at least three lamps in the TV room.

Indirect Lamp

A television light—one placed atop the TV set—helps to illuminate the area around the set itself. Perhaps an indirect lamp is best. This would reflect the light upward and then back toward the floor again. At any rate, the area around the set should not be brighter than the TV screen.

At least two more lamps probably will be needed even in a small room. Again, indirect lamps are especially suitable to provide even light for the entire area.

Be careful that there is no disturbing glare or great brightness at eye level.

Proper Shades

are just as important as the right lamps. The American Optometric Association advises that more opaque shades than transparent or translucent ones be used in the room containing the television set.

All lamps within the view of those watching TV should have shades which prevent horizontal light from shining into the viewer's eyes. Opaque shades, of course, offer the best protection against such light. The lower edge of these shades should be at eye level to prevent any glaring light bulb from being visible and to avoid glare from the inside of the shade.

Other Activities

Persons who are reading, sewing or performing other activities in the TV room might prefer lamps containing shades that permit some light to shine through.

For reading or sewing, I think you will find that your eyes tire less easily if you sit so that the light comes over your left shoulder. The best light is a 100-watt bulb placed about 30 inches from your work or the page you are reading.

Be sure that no lamps are placed where they will reflect in the television screen. And remember, these reflections can come from the glare in furniture, pictures, mirrors and walls as well as from the lamps themselves.

There's A Crackdown On The New Post, Litterbuggus Americanus

Among the noxious pests that flourish in the good of summertime is that messy creature, Litterbuggus Americanus.

And we have a goodly share of the creature that seems to enjoy making roads and highways, byways and lanes here in Seminole County a smelly, awful sight.

Whereas such other varmints as the chigger and mosquito merely draw blood or raise itchy welts, the litterbug stings citizens in those sensitive spots, the aesthetic and pocketbook nerves.

The aesthetic nerve is stung by the sight of paper, bottles, cans of all description, and other debris including garbage from the kitchen scattered along roads or in public places.

Pocketbook nerves suffer when tax dollars have to be used to clean up after the despoilers.

Many complaints have been received about these litterbuggus Americanus. Only recently the matter was discussed by members of the Board of Seminole County Commissioners and by Sheriff J. L. Hobby. All are aware of the mess this obnoxious bug is causing.

Maybe you'd like to know that there are two separate species of the litterbug. One deliberately spews out waste, often by the bag and boxful. The other—and this fellow could be any one of us—is messy by thoughtlessness or inadvertence. Without thinking, he tosses a cigarette package or candy wrapper out of the car window; perhaps he neglects to police his corner of the picnic grounds before departing, and leaves a few unsightly mementos.

Last week, for instance, a picnic party visited a popular park for recreation and swimming. As the group completed the day's outing they left on tables, provided without charge, rinds from several watermelons, wrappers from sandwiches, used paper plates, paper cups and all manner of garbage. No one attempted to clean up the mess they had made.

Aside from the long-range approach through education, nothing much can be done about the deliberate litterbug short of cracking down hard when he is caught in the act. The thoughtless fellow—and let it be said again, he could be any one of us—is a more hopeful case. He is likely to respond to signs and the presence of rubbish dumping places. Sometimes he can even be persuaded to equip his car with one of those new clip-on wastebaskets and then cajole the family into using it.

In the meantime, Sheriff Hobby is cracking down on the middle-of-the-road garbage dumpers.

Maybe a lesson or two from the signs placed along highways will teach folks that the public doesn't appreciate littered highways.

Summer Is Great Reading Time

One could spend a long time listing pleasant things to be done in the summer—and here in Sanford and Seminole County the list could grow into something of an abnormally long sheet.

However, this little piece will focus on only one of them. It is a reminder, so to speak, to all who may have forgotten, that summer is a wonderful season for reading.

Most of us find summer a bit more leisurely than other times. There are afternoon trips to the springs for relaxation and swimming, to the beach for a roll in the surf, or time out to just plain rest.

But what we must remember is that the young are free of school chores; adults have fewer meetings to attend, fewer activities that take them away from home. And most children are having a wonderful time participating in the Sanford Summer Recreation program.

Shortpaid Mail Procedure To Be Revised July 1

OVERDUE—Postmaster J. R. Jones is releasing for publication the following information effective July 1, 1958:

Under authority of Public Law 85-371 approved April 1, 1958, the procedures for handling shortpaid mail are to be revised effective July 1, 1958. On and after that date all unpaid mail or insufficiently prepaid mail will be rated for the amount of the deficient postage, plus a new shortpaid charge of 5 cents and dispatched for delivery.

When mail of any class, including that for which special service is indicated, is received at either the office of mailing or the office of address without any postage or without sufficient postage it shall be:

a—Marked to show the total deficiency of postage and fees plus a short-paid charge of 5 cents.

b—Dispatched promptly to the addressee by means of the regular mail in accordance with 158.8. Postal return address shall be disposed of at the deficient postage, the forwarding postage, if any, the return postage, and a shortpaid charge of 5 cents.

c—All mail which does not bear a return address shall be:

1—First class mail, including air mail, bearing a return address shall be returned to the sender and delivered upon payment by him of the deficient postage and a short-paid charge of 5 cents.

2—Mail other than first class bearing a return address shall be returned to the sender and delivered upon payment by him of the deficient postage, plus the 5 cent short-paid charge, and when the mail is undeliverable for any other reason, it shall be handled Manual.

A fee of ten cents is charged for return to sender of each letter and first class parcel opened in the local mail office. This is under the authority of the new law, whereby the fee for returning dead

Carter To Seek Re-election

Jerry W. Carter announced that he will be a candidate for re-election to the Florida Railroad and Public Utilities Commission in the coming September Democratic primaries, in Group 2.

The veteran Commissioner and National Democratic Committee member for Florida said he will qualify in the near future. He plans his usual campaign.

"Mr. Democrat," as Jerry is familiarly known throughout Florida, has served on the Railroad Commission since his election in 1954 when he defeated five other candidates, and in the 5 elections since then has been re-elected by increasingly large majorities in the first primary.

Carter was one of the investigators and leaders in the famous Southern Governor's Rate Case, which resulted in doing away with the 18% Florida Arbitrary and Pittsburgh Plus rate making formula.

First class letters and dead first-class parcels to senders will be increased from 5 cents to 10 cents, effective July 1, 1958.

Also effective July 1, 1958, the present restrictive size and weight limitations on air parcels addressed to overseas military post office will be removed. Thereafter, such parcels may weigh up to 70 pounds and measure not to exceed 100 inches in length and girth combined except that the size and weight restrictions for surface parcels to certain APO's and NPO's shown in part 127, Postal Manual are also applicable to air parcels.

Last Week's Good And Bad News

By CHARLES M. McCANN
 UPI Foreign News Analyst
 Last week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

Soviet Russia indulged in an outburst of temper last week over developments in the field of foreign affairs.

Mobs, obviously officially organized, engaged in hostile demonstrations against the United States, West Germany and Danish embassies in Moscow. The demonstrations were staged in retaliation for anti-Communist demonstrations in New York and Bonn in protest against the execution of Hungarian revolt leaders Imre Nagy and Pal Maléter.

A Soviet note to the United States threatened to boycott a meeting of experts, already set for tomorrow in Geneva, Switzerland, on means of assuring compliance with a possible ban on tests of nuclear weapons.

Official statements and the officially-controlled Moscow newspapers denounced the United States, its allies and the United Nations for considering Lebanon's request that action be taken to stop the flow of weapons and men which are being sent to the Lebanese rebels across the frontier of Syria from the United Arab Republic.

Last Monday, while police watched idly, a mob smashed the windows of the West German Embassy in Moscow. Incendiary rags, stones and bottles of purple ink were thrown through the broken windows. Draperies and furniture were damaged seriously. It followed the same course as the attack on the Danish Embassy.

On Wednesday, a much more temperate mob demonstrated in front of the United States Embassy. Without much enthusiasm, the demonstrators shouted "Fascists," "dogs" and similar epithets. But no missiles were thrown and no damage was done.

Everything had seemed set for the Geneva meeting of experts on a possible agreement to suspend nuclear weapons tests as the Soviet government demands.

The United States, Canada, Great Britain and France were ready to send their delegates, expecting to confer with experts from Russia, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Romania.

But on Wednesday, Soviet Foreign Secretary Andrei A. Gromyko handed American Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, Jr., an "aide memoire" of informal note demanding that the problem of insuring compliance with a test ban be subordinated to reaching an immediate agreement on arms suspension.

Gromyko threatened to boycott the meeting unless his views were accepted.

But the allied governments went ahead with plans to send their delegates to Geneva and await developments.

United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold returned to his New York headquarters after conferring with Lebanese President Camille Chamoun and Premier Sami Solh and United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Hammarskjold sought first to try to get Nasser to stop the flow of aid from Syria to the Lebanese rebels and secondly to police the Lebanese-Syrian border to cut the supply line.

Russia denounced all this as intervention in domestic Arab affairs and as threatening to cause war in the Middle East.

But Lebanon was determined to go ahead with its appeal for help. And the United States is pledged, if necessary, to use troops in Lebanon's support.

Try and Stop Me

JAY GOULD, one of the shrewdest and most ruthless stock manipulators Wall Street ever has known, was summoned one day by the rector of his church. "I've saved $30,000 in my lifetime," said the rector, "and I'd like you to tell me what stock I should buy with it." Gould made a suggestion, the rector acted on it—and six months later he was wiped out. "You gave me terrible advice," he told Gould, "and my whole $30,000 has gone down the drain." "I'll restore your faith," said the financier. "Here's a check for $40,000."

"I have one more confession to make," said the flabbergasted rector. "I'm afraid I passed on your market tip to several members of the congregation."

"Of course you did," said Gould cheerfully. "They're the ones I was after."

Ed Wynn was unlucky at a recent flower show, he sadly confessed. He entered a dahlia, but it turned out to be a failure.

MR. AND MRS. HENRY F. RICHTER JR. (Photo by Raymond Studio)

Batterson - Richter Wedding Morning Event Of June 25

Miss Florence Suzanne Batterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Fahy of Lake Mary, and Henry F. Richter Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Richter Sr. of Sanford, were married Wednesday morning in the All souls Catholic Church in Sanford.

The Rev. Father Richard Lyons officiated at the ceremony and the Nuptial Communion which followed.

Mrs. F. E. Roumillat who was the organist and soloist sang four selections. Among those were "Ave Maria" and "Mother At Thy Feet I'm Kneeling" which she sang to her own accompaniment.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of nylon Schifelle satin designed with a scalloped neckline and brief sleeves. Panels of embroidered tulle over an underskirt of tiny tulle ruffles fashioned the floor length voluminous skirt. Her fingertip veil of tulle was fastened to a Mary Queen of Scots cap which was outlined with seed pearls. Wearing matching mitts she carried a mistal topped with white orchids.

Miss Mary A. Staudt, maid-of-honor, wore a floor length gown fashioned with a double pleated full-length skirt of nylon taffeta and a bodice of embroidered nylon. Her head covering was a lovely white picture hat which was nosegay of red carnations.

The little flower girls, Carmen Velez and Lillie Lynn Norison, wore ensembles identical to the maid-of-honor's. Their dresses, like that of the attendants, were made by the bride's mother who was also responsible for the bouquets.

Mrs. J. M. Fahy chose to wear a white-length blue dress of embroidered organza. Mrs. Charles Kinsey of Chapin, Maryland, the bride's grandmother, wore a light blue lace and chiffon waist length dress.

Best man for the groom was his brother-in-law from Jamaica, N. Y., Stanley Meeckel. Ushers were John Ludwig and John Adams.

After the ceremony and mass a reception was held at the bride's home on their garden patio. The serving table covered with a lovely cut-work covering was centered with a three-tiered traditional wedding cake.

The couple left Friday for Auburn, Ala. where the groom will resume his education in veterinary medicine at Alabama Polytechnic Institute.

Fresh Corn Soup A Summer Special

NEW YORK (UPI) — Make cream of fresh corn soup the featured dish for luncheon or supper. Cook 2 cups fresh corn, cut off the cob, in 1 cup boiling water for 4 minutes. Set aside.

Melt 1/4 cup butter or margarine, add 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion and saute until the onion is limp. Blend in 1/4 cup flour until smooth, gradually stir in 3 cups milk, and add drained corn along with 2 teaspoons salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper and 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder.

Cook 10 minutes or until slightly thickened, stirring constantly. Garnish with fresh parsley and serve hot. Yield, six servings.

DELICATELY printed in a treble rose design, this satin-striped silk organza dress by Larry Aldrich has a loose-fitting scalloped top, all at the back, which balloons out free over the waistline, where it is tied with pale blue grosgrain ribbons.

Orlando Assembly Surprises Local Rainbow Girls

Last week the Sanford Assembly No. 28 of the Order of Rainbow for Girls held its regular meeting with Miss Carol McNeil, worthy advisor, presiding.

The Orlando assembly made a surprise visit with the following members and officers attending: Miss Judy Hayes, chaplain; Miss Carlene Brandt, charity; Miss Nancy Ward, drill leader; Miss Linda Warfel, religion; Miss Mary Shattler, outer observant; Miss Beverly Phlegley, love; Miss Sandy Flowers, patriotism; Miss Betty Jean Farmer, immortality; Miss Barbara Allright, worthy advisor; Mrs. El Della Nason, mother advisor; Mrs. Betty Flowers, member of the advisory board; Miss LaNelle Fairle, past worthy advisor from Wiesbaden, Germany; and Miss Sharon Bloodworth, Miss Barbara Fraser, and Miss Cindy Flowers, members.

This being the first meeting since the recent Grand Assembly Meeting held in Daytona Beach, news from this assembly was announced. Important among the announcements was Miss Peggy Jane Lundquist's recent appointment as Grand Representative to Kentucky. It was revealed that the Sanford assembly has had a 25% increase in membership in the last year and that in attendance at the Grand Assembly it ranked fifth.

The Orlando Assembly invited the Sanford Rainbow Girls and their dates to a "post hop" to be held July 3 at the Masonic Temple on Central Ave. in Orlando. There will be no admission to the dance which will begin at 8:30 p. m. Bermuda Shorts and other casual attire will be the accepted dress. Refreshments will be served at the dance.

Also announced during the business meeting was that a school of instruction conducted by Sanford's mother advisor will be held July 7. Those interested are asked to arrive promptly at 10:30 a. m. and to bring a packed lunch. The Assembly will provide cold drinks.

The next regular meeting will be held July 14 at which time proficiency tests will be given.

Announcement Made Of Final Ludwig-Clarke Wedding Plans

Mrs. John Ludwig announces final plans for the wedding of her daughter, Constance Lillian, to Alan Stockdale Clarke.

The wedding will take place Monday, July 7 at 5 p. m. at the All Souls' Catholic Church with the Rev. Father Richard Lyons officiating.

Miss Marianne Ludwig, sister of the bride, will be maid-of-honor.

Little Frances Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Williams, will be the flower girl. Her escort Michael Fitzpatrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Fitzpatrick, has the honor of being the ring-bearer.

The organist, Mrs. F. E. Roumillat, will provide the traditional bridal music and will also be the soloist.

Best man for Alan Clarke will be Lt. (j. g.) Richard Beck and chosen to usher are Lt. (j. g.) William Bartnell and Lt. (j. g.) John Larkin.

A reception will be held in the garden of the bride's home immediately following the ceremony.

Refreshments, consisting of a beautifully decorated cake and coffee or cocoa, were served. As part of the program, each student prepared in a few words his regret for the Murrays' leaving and welcomed Mr. Douglas, the new director. Mr. and Mrs. Murray were presented with a beautiful carving set with genuine horn handles for their new home in Fort Lauderdale. The Murrays left Sanford today.

New Arrivals

By FAY PAULEY UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—It never rains but it pours new orders in to the nation's rainwear manufacturers.

The industry is so happy with current sales—one source called them "fantastic"—that they want to keep the pace, even better if for fall. So they're showering down with new styles designed to make my old slicker out-moded as the shoulder length bob.

One manufacturer, Lawrence of London, even makes a mink-lined raincoat, the most expensive I've found on the market. It retails for $600. The outer layer is of water-repellent silk in grey, beige, red or navy.

Emphasize Two Purpose Coat. The unusually cool and damp season in many sections of the country created a "fantastic late spring season," said Father Wilcox of the National Rainwear Manufacturers Assn. But the seasonal gain is only part of the story. He said they had seen a sales growth annually as manufacturers put new stress on styling and brought out the dual purpose coat—water repellent, but of topcoat fabrics.

Or some—of velveteen and silk—double for evening wraps. The association's president, Simon Cohen, told a recent dinner meeting of members that "raincoats are out-selling regular coats."

"You just name the fabric and we'll make it shed water," said Norman Lawrence of the firm bearing his name. Lawrence added: "I test some of the new materials in the shower at home, before they go into the line."

Will See Many Fabrics. Fabrics for fall include hantsch, wool jerseys, jacquards, narrow stripes, silk broadcloths and taffetas, challs, and a new imported material which looks sleek as a wet seal.

Lawrence has an evening raincoat of gold lame "for snob appeal." Helen Van Vliet, a one-time opera singer in Europe, uses fiber blends. One is a 20 per cent wool, 80 per cent orlon combination. This designer, who turned to coats some eight years ago, features fake fur trims and linings on wide waist corduroys in black, red, beige and blonde. And several manufacturers line with a deerskin alpaca.

Prints, some of them giant floral on a black background, and plaids both subtle and bold run throughout the collections. Lawrence puts huge ruses on a black velveteen. Miss Van Vliet has one sport repeating "Paris" all over.

The influence of the chemise silhouette is small in the rainwear industry because its narrow lines do not fit comfortably over a suit or bulky dress. But Miss Van Vliet uses both the high-waisted chemise and spacious trapeze lines for fall.

Two S.H.S. Majorettes Are Attending Indiana Baton Camp In Syracuse

Thursday afternoon the two top majorettes of the S. H. S. Band hit the road for Syracuse, Ind. The two twirlers were Miss Evie Kratzert, next year's head majorette, and her assistant, Miss Judy Herron. Accompanying the girls and providing transportation was Mrs. Ray Herron, Judy's mother.

After more than 1000 miles of travel to reach the Smith-Walbridge Camp, the girls will spend two weeks receiving special instruction in new tricks, swirls, and fancy strutting marches.

Among the instructors at this camp is one of Sanford's favorites, Miss Carol Nutt. Years of dancing lessons, two years as head majorette of the high school band, and one year of study at Butler University in Indianapolis, Ind. qualify Miss Nutt for her position.

While at the camp, the trainees day will begin at 7 a. m. and except for three meals, their day's activities will hold little other than baton instructions, and hours of practice. After the session the majorettes will return trained to teach the rest of the corps for the coming marching season.

Officers Wives Club Gives Coffee Thursday, Introduces New Board

Last Thursday a coffee was given at the Sanford Naval Station HQ for the newly selected board members of the Officers Wives Club.

Co-chairmen for the event were Mrs. J. W. Crawford and Mrs. I. M. Rowell. Coffee, iced tea and doughnuts were served to the 30 wives who attended.

Introduced as guests by Mrs. I. M. Rowell, president, were James D. Ramage, who is the wife of the commanding officer of the wing One and Mrs. Clarence Frasier, wife of the commanding officer of wing V-113.

The new board was then introduced as follows: vice president, Mrs. Bonnie Brown, alternate, Mrs. Rita Bauer, V-113; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Betty Bickner, alternate, Mrs. Joann Shover, V-113; recording secretary, Mrs. Diane Stanger, alternate.

Greene Home Site Of Recent Meeting

The Bethany Class of the First Baptist Church held its monthly class party and business meeting at the home of Mrs. Lenore Greene in Lake Mary, last week, with Mrs. Lois Heckenbach acting as co-hostess.

The morning of the day that the class was to meet each member was called and informed that the meeting would be a "Come As You Are" party with a small fee for each change made.

Opening the meeting with the "Lord's Prayer," Mrs. Lewis conducted a short business meeting. A committee was selected and July 8 was designated as the date of the groups annual children's picnic to be held at Rock Springs. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Wannell Rabun and Mrs. Florence Stenstrom for the most informal dress.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and co-hostess to following members: Mrs. Marie Lewis, Mrs. Jackie Brooks, Mrs. Jane Parker, Mrs. Letha Johnson, Mrs. Florence Stenstrom, Mrs. Anna Jardine, Mrs. Helen Stapler, Mrs. Mildred Smith, Mrs. Marie Bamberger, Mrs. Agnes Walker, Mrs. Wannell Rabun, and Mrs. Rue King who was a guest.

Tips To Amateurs From Diaper Pros

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The diaper service industry, confident it has grown out of its short pants now, dares tell mothers how to wash her baby's diapers at home.

Of course the implication remains that no matter how well mother does it, the diapers won't be as clean or sanitary as if they had been washed professionally by headquarters here, says that even using their pointers mother can't duplicate exactly "the fourteen steps taken by the professional diaper service to insure clean, germ-free, antiseptic-treated diapers."

The diaper industry, after due consideration for its business future and the public relations effect on millions of mamas, says this is what should be done with soiled diapers:

Keep them in a tightly closed container filled with soap or disinfectant solution until you are ready to wash them. Rinse diapers in clear, cool water, then place them in automatic washer or laundry tub. A maximum load of 17 diapers is suggested for best results in home equipment.

Wash diapers in at least three washings. Use maximum amount of soap or detergent. Use water softener if necessary.

Bleaching—"an important step in the scientific diaper service process"—can be risky. Add the minimum bleach necessary to the third washing.

Five to seven separate rinses are necessary to eliminate any residue of soap or detergent.

Boil diapers for at least 20 minutes. Allow to cool in covered container. Wash your hands before removing soiled diapers. Hand wring. Treat with antiseptic. Hang wring. Dry for at least one hour at high temperatures in automatic dryer or hang in sun. Store in clean, dust-free place.

If this program drives mother to the arms of the professional services, well, maybe that's what they intended all along.

Today's Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALY
United Press International
EAST NORWICH, N. Y. (UPI)—The most important shot in golf, whether you're a hero or a hack, is the chip shot anywhere from 20 yards into the green.

"That's the analysis of Gene Regal, the veteran Philadelphia area professional competing in the Pepsal Open. And he'll tell you that this shot is the difference between the winners and the losers.

"It's the getting-down-in-two shot," Regal explains, "and the guy who masters it is the guy they'll all have to beat either in the tournaments or in a one-hack Nassau bet home at the country club."

Points Out Its Importance
For the touring golf professional it's the difference, Regal said in analyzing the woes of some of the young stars who are failing to live up to their billing, between being a big money winner and living on coffee and doughnuts.

"Chip it close enough to get it down in one putt with real consistency," Regal proclaimed, "and you have the real money shot of golf. Hitting the ball well and scoring well are two different things. It's turning those three strokes from near the green into two strokes which makes the difference."

"That close-in chip shot is the one which holds the pars for the pro and keeps the bogey from becoming a double and triple bogey for the ordinary player," he added.

Most pros will tell you that there are only a dozen players in any tournament, who have a chance to win, but Regal is impressed with the younger crop of "fine" golfers and figures that in these days "anywhere from 25 to 30 guys have a real chance."

Bolt Played Great Golf
"Don't sell fellows like Gene Littler, Ken Venturi and Dow Finsterwald short just because they haven't been winning," he cautioned. "Littler got 'stroke conscious' and for a while was wandering around asking everybody what was the matter with his game. He'd even ask a caddy or a hotel doorman. But he's about straightened out and you'll hear from him."

"Finsterwald made a mistake by pressing to continue his streak of merely being 'in the money,'" Regal added. "With his streak gone he'll start playing his bold game again and he'll be a winner. As for Venturi, he is an instructional type player who simply got tired. He'll bounce back."

Regal holds that Tommy Bolt's winning 283 total in the U. S. Open at Southern Hills in Tulsa was "the four finest rounds we'll see all year."

"Bolt solidly won it," Regal said. "It wasn't the usual case of somebody losing it. And with par being 280, you've got to figure he made only three mistakes all the way which, on that type

WIBC Reaches Million Mark In Membership

The Women's International Bowling Congress, Inc. has, of this date, reached the one million mark in membership. The bowling year does not close until July 31st, so without doubt there will be additional members. As of this date we have sanctioned 24,000 leagues which consist of regular women's leagues, mixed leagues (men and women), fraternal leagues and church leagues.

The W. I. B. C., the name usually applied to the Congress, was organized in 1909 in St. Louis, Missouri, and in 1911 had 20 members. It was not until 1926 that the membership increased to 50,000, but by 1941 we had reached the 100,000 mark; 1945 - 200,000; 1947 - 300,000; 1948 - 400,000; 1951 - 500,000; 1952 - 600,000.

Gordon Indian Manager

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—A "real catcher" Joe Gordon has returned to the city where he built up his career as an active player and team captain as the new manager of the Cleveland Indians.

Gordon, 43-year-old former star second baseman who broke into the major leagues with the New York Yankees in 1939 and pitched the Indians to the American League pennant and World Series championship 10 years later, has been named manager of the club since Indians' succeeding Bobby Bragan, who was fired.

The holding, former Cleveland slugger, was described by Tribe General Manager Frank Lane as "a mature baseball man and a sound tactician. He'll fight you all the way."

Bragan, who was dismissed by Lane "because he didn't get enough out of the team," was with the Indians less than half the season.

The 26-year-old former pitcher is unique in that he has been fired as a manager two years in a row before the season ended. Bragan was given his walking papers by the Pittsburgh Pirates last August.

The personable Bragan took his latest ejection in a calm manner. "I have no complaints to make," he said. "I received fine treatment and cooperation from Frank Lane and the front office."

"My only regret is that the ball club, being composed of hard-driving players, didn't get better support from the fans."

"It's possible the team might change under the direction of a man like Joe Gordon, who himself was a hard-driving ball player," Bragan said.

Florida High School All-Star Game Aug. 7

JACKSONVILLE—The four quarterbacks selected to play in the Florida High School All-Star game at Florida Field here on Aug. 7—two for the North squad and two for the South—supply each team with a good combination pass-run attack.

Larry White of Orlando Edge-water and Tommy Donahoe of Jacksonville Lee give North co-coaches Mike Bush, Ocala, and Shew Bush, Groveland, the kind of generalship to make their Yank squad go.

White, a six foot one, 170 pounder, was his team's leading ground-gainer last season. He particularly demonstrated excellent running ability in one game to the tune of 108 yards, and against St. Augustine he sprinted 65 yards for his longest TD of the season.

Donahoe will be the North's chief aerial threat. The much honored quarterback threw 84 passes, completed 44, gained 618 yards and made eight touchdowns through the air. More than a fair runner, he averaged 65 yards per carry.

The South's Bobby MacKenzie of Tampa Plant and Larry Libertore of Miami Edgewater will supply the thrust through the air and over the ground for co-coaches Hal Griffin, Tampa Hillsborough, and Joe Mangry, Haines City.

Libertore led his team to an undefeated season and the state championship by running for 650 yards, averaging six yards a carry, and completing 18 of 30 passes, six of them for touchdowns. Libertore scored 12 touchdowns during the year.

MacKenzie flipped the ball for 14 touchdowns during his junior and senior years for an approximate gain of 1,300 yards and a constant passing threat to his Northern opposition.

Talents of these quarterbacks were well recognized at the end of the 1957 season. Libertore was All-American, All-Southern, All-State, All-Conference, All-City, and was recognized as the State's outstanding football player.

MacKenzie was All-City, All-Western Conference, All-State, All-Southern and honorable mention All-American, while Donahoe was named All-City and won the Thom McCann Award as Jacksonville's best offensive back.

Always Use Caution When Getting Away From Pier

When you are moving away from a pier or float, don't spin your wheel so far in one direction that the stern swings sharply against the obstruction, warns the Boating Foundation.

Remember that outboard boats do not steer like automobiles or bicycles, which follow their front wheels. In boats, the stern responds to the steering impulse first and in the opposite direction from that which the bow is going to take. So, when you are in close quarters, give your stern room enough to swing when you turn.

Whatever Happened To Vincent Richards

Vincent Richards, once known as the boy wonder of tennis, was one of the first to make professional tennis really pay off. He was a great volleyer and hence a fine doubles player. As Bill Tilden's favorite partner, he shared the U. S. doubles crown with Big Bill four times, won in mixed doubles with Helen Wills. He dominated boys and junior tennis from 1907 through 1921 and three times won the U. S. indoor crown. After a long amateur career, he turned pro and toured successfully both in Europe and the U. S.

Whatever happened to Vincent Richards? The one-time boy wonder long has been a vice-president of the Dunlop Rubber Company in New York. After a recent illness, he is back on his feet again and was a frequent spectator at Jack Kramer's pro tennis tournament at Forest Hills, scene of many of Richards' triumphs.

of strong golf course, was a real performance."

"And," Regal concluded, "the shot that did it was putting 'em up close with those short chips—those down-in-two chips which are the real money shots of golf."

Player Of The Day

By United Press International
—JIM BARRISMAN—
For a guy with a crick in his back, southerner Jack Harrisman of Baltimore is proving a stiff pain in the neck to a lot of American League clubs.

Harrisman, who wasn't even out to be poked at all before the season started due to a back condition, already has chalked up six victories. Three of them have been shutouts.

He blanked the Detroit Tigers for the second time this season in defeating them, 5-0. The one-time New York Giants' first baseman laid the Tigers to five hits and permitted only one runner to advance as far as third base.

"The back still pains me from time to time, especially when I get a little extra on a pitch," says the 26-year-old left-hander from New Diego, Calif., who came from the Orioles in a trade with the White Sox last December.

THE LONE DEPUTY

CHAPTER 22

Laura Madden went down the long hall to her father's study and closed the door and leaned against it.

She had the weird feeling that the dark tones suited the room, for darkness belonged to the devil, and she was convinced that her father had sold himself to the devil as surely as Cole Weston was the devil.

"I'm sorry about what I'm going to have to say, Laura," Madden said, striking back and forth and chewing nervously on a cold cigar. "I've been afraid it would come to this, but I didn't want to hurt you. If I had my way, I would give you anything in the world I could, but sometimes circumstances force us to take steps we don't want to take."

He paused and, removing the cigar from his mouth, he looked at her and then replaced it, moving in a jerky fashion as if Cole Weston were tugging at the strings that controlled his movements.

"I talked to Price about this yesterday and he defied me, so I have no choice. He left town early this morning. I presume he's hunting for the Jarvis boy. If he finds him and brings him to town, then we've got more trouble than we could dream of."

He tugged his cigar to the other side of his mouth. "Pete Nance is in town waiting for Price. I understand this is personal, due to some difficulty they had at the Reeking C, and was postponed because Cole didn't want any fighting out there. Curly Blue is in town, and Price shows up with the Jarvis boy. Blue's supposed to testify Cole, who will come in with some of his men. Apparently they have reason to think that the Jarvis boy shot and killed Red Sanders. It's all tied in with this rustling that's been going on for months and which Price refused to stop."

Laura washed him, a sick feeling taking hold of her. She knew what was coming. She wouldn't have to choose freely between her father and Price Regan. Her father was forcing a single choice upon her.

"Now this is the part I hate to say," Madden went on. "We had a meeting of the town council today and took the town marshal's job away from Price and gave it to Max Harter. As soon as possible, I'm going to contact Ralph Carow and have him recall Price, if he's still alive, which is doubtful if he fights Pete Nance. I told Price he wasn't going to marry you, so don't see him. And you'll have to get rid of the Potter girl."

Laura stared at her father with utmost loathing. He seemed a stranger to her, a man she had never really known.

"What have you done that Weston knows about?" she asked.

"He must have come hold on you," he said. "Don't talk to me that way, I'm doing what I have to do."

"No, you're not," she said sharply. "He killed Jean's mother and father in cold blood. And Walt Cronin. Maybe Bruce Jarvis. Maybe even Price by now. What's happened to you that you can stand here and take his side and defend him in everything he's done?"

"I'm not going to argue with you," he said in cold fury. "Just do what I tell you."

"I'm frightened and I won't do anything you tell me except leave this house," she said in a detached voice. "If you think I'll give Price up for a minute, you're wrong."

She whirled and opened the door and ran out, slamming it behind her. She went on into the kitchen calling, "Jean, help me please. We're leaving."

"Laura, I said not to—"

"Not on your account," Laura said.

She went upstairs to her room, Jean following reluctantly. Laura laid two suitcases on the bed and began throwing clothes into them, careless in her hurry. Suddenly she said, "I'll go live with you, Jean. Maybe Bruce will come back. If he doesn't, we'll run the farm ourselves. At least we'll have a roof over our heads."

Laura fumbled in a bureau drawer for her handbag. She didn't better than thirty dollars. Then she remembered the jewel box and crummed everything that was in it into her purse. Nodding at Jean, she left the room and went down the stairs.

Madden was waiting in the hall. He was red in the face and embittered. "You've got one choice. You've got to go out to the Yellow Cat."

Laura knew what he meant. "One murder leads to another, doesn't it? I guess you'd know better than anyone else except Weston."

She left the house without waiting for any more argument from him. Once outside in the harsh afternoon sunlight, Jean said, "We can't go out there, Laura. We'd be killed just the way Ma was. Let's wait till Mr. Regan gets back."

"I guess we'd better," Laura said. "We'll get a room in the hotel."

A sense of caution prompted Laura to take the alley and go into the hotel from the back. She had Jean climb the stairs that led up from the alley door, then she went down the hall to the lobby and signed the register, ignoring the clerk's questioning look. She took the key and hurried up the stairs, motioning for Jean, who was waiting in the hall, to follow her. Her room overlooked the street. As soon as she looked the door, she ran to the window.

Jean came to her and put her arms around her waist. "Laura, I'm sorry," she said. "I'm sorry too." Laura said bitterly, "If Price is killed today, I'm worse off than you are. I'll never go back home."

They stood there for a time, both girls utterly miserable, their eyes on the street. Curly Blue left Max Harter's store and cruised along the sun-warped plank walk with his bow-legged gait.

Presently Pete Nance appeared in the door of Mahoney's Bar, holding back the bat wings as he looked out upon the street. He seemed amused and a little superior to everyone and everything in this little town where his work had called him. He stepped back and let his eyes on the street. Curly Blue's door flap shut.

"I wish we had a gun," Laura said. Then she knew she just couldn't stay here and let Price ride as he killed. "I'm going out. No matter what happens, stay here. Keep the door locked."

She unlocked the door, waited until she heard the key turn, then hurried down the stairs and out of the lobby. Curly Blue was standing in front of the drugstore smoking, his appreciative eyes on her. She hurried across the dusty street and went into Harter's store. She saw he was wearing a star and carrying a gun under his waistband.

"I want to talk to you, Max," she said. "You've got to help Price. Pete Nance is in town."

"I know," Harter said. "So is Curly Blue, and he's to bring Weston and his crew into town when Price shows up. He can't fight them all, Max. You've got to help."

The cynical smile that was so typical of Harter appeared on his lips. "A man has an inalienable right to choose death if he so chooses. Price has. I warned him, but he wouldn't listen."

"You won't help him?"

She shrugged. "You haven't given me any reason why I should."

She whirled out of the store, not looking back at Harter. How it occurred to her that Price might stop at her house, and she wanted him to know where she was.

She crossed the vacant weed-covered lot between the hotel and the drugstore. A moment later she could see her house. Two horses were in front. One was Price's roan. She cried out involuntarily and ran toward the house.

"Night as well get it over with," Price thought, looking at Curly Blue who stood in the shade of the awning. "Continue the story here tomorrow."

Director Huston Walking Billboard For Hollywood

By VERNON SCOTT

"I'm just a country boy," Huston claims. But he failed to signify which country.

Associated With Foreign Movies

"There was no design in my decision not to make movies in Hollywood. One picture just led to another—and they all seem to be in foreign places."

The Academy Award-winning director has fled movieland for the good of his soul, the health of his pocketbook and, evidently, to splash some Barnum and Bailey-type color on Europe's landscape. When he's not making pictures in India, England or France, Huston lives the life of a country squire in County Galway, Ireland, on his 55-acre estate.

COULD BECOME PROVINCES

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ambassador Abba Eban of Israel said Thursday night the nations of the Middle East are threatened with becoming "provinces" of President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic. Eban spoke before the Central Conference of American Rabbis. He said the Middle East will come out of its present difficulties as either "a region where separate nations can live free from domination by each other... or it will be an area in which Nasser is the source of regional power and other states are his provinces or protectorates."

London and 8 hours from Paris. It used to take me an hour to get from my San Fernando Valley home to MGM studios."

"Nobody knows nor cares about movies," he added happily. "Ireland is a poor country, but the people aren't hungry."

"My family likes the Irish country, too. But in some areas Gaelic is the predominant language and we can't quite handle that. Our home and hearts are firmly rooted there now. And Ireland is where we plan to stay."

Ohio is one of the few states that has completely liberalized its fishing laws. There are no restrictions on the number or size of fish taken, and no closed season on any species.

"I'm the only director who has been type-cast. Whenever a film is to be made abroad producers think of me. Thus, I've made six movies in the past eight years—in Europe, Asia, Africa, Mexico and the South Seas."

Huston stretched his lanky frame across two chairs in his dressing room in the ramshackle studio De Boulouge near the outskirts of the city where he is directing "Roots of Heaven" for 20th Century-Fox.

"Some day I may return to the States and settle down, but it would have to be in some wild region of Montana or Idaho," he said.

"I live in Ireland because it is the least touched by 20th Century progress. It's a great sporting country. Wonderful for horses and fox hunting. There's a pre-World War I atmosphere there."

"I can have a half-dozen servants for less than what it costs to keep a cook and a houseman in Hollywood."

"Is Close To Everything"

"Besides, the people are wonderfully unspoiled and Ireland is centrally located. I'm only 8 hours from New York, 2 hours from

Florida Doctor Is AMA President-Elect

DR. LOUIS McDONALD ORR, president-elect, American Medical Association (Photo by Ed Knight)

SAN FRANCISCO — Dr. Louis McDonald Orr, well-known Orlando urologist, was named president-elect of the American Medical Association at its annual meeting held here June 23-27. Dr. Orr is the first Florida physician ever elected to this office and will take over as president at the Atlantic City convention in June 1959.

Descended from a revolutionary patriot, Dr. Orr was born Sept. 27, 1896, in Cumming, Ga., while his parents were on a six-weeks wagon journey to visit his father's only brother. He was graduated from Emory University Medical School in 1924, in the top five of his class. After serving a residency in urology and general surgery in the old Lakeside Hospital in Cleveland, he moved to Orlando where his brother Clifton was in business. The young doctor opened his office there in February 1927. While serving his internship at eter BePt Brinham Hospital in Boston, Dr. Orr met Miss Dorothy Brown, Married Dec. 16, 1927, they have two children, Louis M. Jr., 24, who is studying medicine at Emory University, Atlanta, and Doris Brown, 18, who graduated from Mt. Vernon Seminary, Washington, D. C. only a few days before Dr. Orr was named A.M.A. president-elect.

Dr. Orr had a long and active career with the A.M.A. before he was elected to office. He has served as vice-speaker of the House of Delegates, chairman of the Federal Medical Services committee, member of the Council on Medical Service and ex-officio member of the Council on Constitution and By Laws. He has also served as a delegate to the A.M.A. from the Florida Medical Association for a number of years.

Among the numerous medical organizations in which Dr. Orr holds membership are the American College of Surgeons, American Urological Association, American Association of Genito-Urinary Surgeons, Southern Medical Association and Southeastern Surgical Congress.

Civic activities with which Dr. Orr has been identified through the years include the Civic Music

THE CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in the Sanford Herald meets a need which is difficult to fill in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have come forward to help in a crisis, but it also courteously acknowledges the services and kindnesses of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed.

Newspaper Cards of Thanks are accepted as socially correct. Emily Post, the noted authority on etiquette, feels they serve many good uses.

There is no prescribed form for a Card of Thanks. It can be as brief or as detailed as you desire. When the occasion comes you will find a sympathetically understanding member of our staff to assist you.

THE "IN MEMORIAM" NOTICE

It is the custom of many families in this country to commemorate a bereavement by an "In Memoriam" notice in newspaper classified columns. They find a real solace therein. Preservation of recollection of a suitable verse brings back to them tender, pleasant recollections. As Eliza Cook, the English poet has so beautifully expressed it:

"How cruelly sweet are the echoes that start
What memory plays an old tune on the heart"

Most frequently an In Memoriam is inserted on the anniversary of death. However, other dates, which it is felt are appropriate or meaningful are also selected. The birthday of the departed, the wedding anniversary, Memorial Day, even Christmas are among other significant occasions chosen.

If you are hesitant to express your tender thoughts in poetic verse, you may avail yourself of the Herald's collection of original verses. These express in poetic beauty the emotions of the heart-strings. Among them are verses appropriate to any circumstance.

TIRE RATE

Cards of Thanks and In Memoriam notices, due to the fact they may run in considerable length, are billed at $1.00 per column inch.

Individual honors in the unit went to M/Sgt. John S. Kridler Jr., mortar platoon sergeant, who represented the unit in the "Nearest Soldier" competition. Sgt. Kridler was judged the nearest soldier in the 48th Armored Division, Florida. This marks the second straight year that Kridler has won this honor.

In the "Best Drilled" competition in the Battalion SFC Morris Meitz placed third. SFC Meitz is squad leader of the second rifle squad in the Company's third platoon.

SFC Elbert V. Byrd drew much praise during the encampment over the efficient way in which he operated the unit's mess.

Rotary Team Loses Game Saturday 15-4

The host of the day and the heat of the competition were too much for the Rotary baseball nine that were deluged by 13 runs for the Orlando's Curry Electric team while the locals were reeling up four. The game was played Saturday morning at Memorial stadium.

Dale Martin with a fine variety of slants topped by a sizzling fast ball kept the fanatical home-dog crowd cheering for the fourth frame when he walked four men in a row, all of which resulted in tallies. He struck out 14, walked seven.

Meanwhile the visitors after a light first three innings jumped on Bobby Johnson and Aliz McKibbin for runs in each of the remaining chukkers of the game. Some bobbies afield had their contributing affect.

Jerry Dillard, getting the first Sanford safety of the game in the third inning, took McKibbin out as he bumped his head on a slide attempting unsuccessfully to steal second. Assurance that the injury was not serious was given by a local doctor.

The close of the day was Martin's triple in his second appearance at the plate during the hectic seventh in which the invaders got to McKibbin for seven tallies.

MISS DIANE AULIN Has Birthday Party Last Week

OVIDEO—Diane Aulin holding one of her many gifts given by her friends at her 13th birthday party Thursday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Aulin Jr.

Diane's father is rural route carrier for the Oviedo Post Office, having served in that capacity since the death of Jack C. Kasell, former carrier for 13 years.

In addition, she is the granddaughter of Judge and Mrs. Theodore Aulin, who are well known throughout Seminole and Orange County being one of the pioneer families of this community.

She is also the niece of Mrs. Mattie Aulin Wheeler and Andrew Aulin of this community.

Oviedoans Proud Of Celery Sign

OVIDEO—If you are a visitor entering Oviedo in the daytime, it is so impressive—way up there, in the illuminated and stands out like a knight in shining armor. We are speaking of the huge neon sign adorning the Citizens Bank of Oviedo.

When all other lights are out, it is so impressive—way up there, especially the huge stalk of celery on the sign.

The citizens of Oviedo are proud of that sign, the celery is so typical of one of the main "bread" of life of this community.

Many people earn their main livelihood through this thriving industry—the many celery farmers, the workers in the fields and the packing houses.

It is true that some years they have had luck due to cold, floods, or drought; but in the long run many dollars have been earned by those farmers who have worked so faithfully from the time the tiny seeds were planted in the ground through the time of harvesting and marketing.

It is a long season and the profits gained there are well deserved.

Therefore, we are so glad this lovely neon sign displays the stalk of celery. The celery farmers deserve it. Thank you, workers and directors of the Citizens Bank of Oviedo.

The mess was judged superior in every inspection. Also receiving a superior was Sgt. Arthur Pedigo unit supply sergeant, for his operation of the unit supply room.

The local unit is presently up to full assigned strength according to the p actinammata is tail to the unit commander but occasionally there is an opening for a qualified young man. Men who feel they can meet the requirements of a volunteer National Guardsman are urged to contact the local unit at the National Guard Armory, 815 East First St. The Armory is open every weekday and on Sunday evenings the unit holds its weekly training periods.

J. Fite To Enter Duke Law School On Scholarship

DURHAM, N. C.—John D. Fite of Sanford is among a select group of outstanding students awarded General Scholarships to enter the Duke University Law School in September.

Dr. E. R. Latty, Dean of the Law School, explained that the scholarships are awarded on the basis of an outstanding college record, high scores on the Law School admission tests administered by the Educational Testing Service at Princeton, N. J., and type and extent of extracurricular activities, and personality and character.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Wilson Fite Sr. of Celery Ave., Fite received the B. S. degree from Davidson College in 1955. Since then, he has been a graduate student at Duke. During his undergraduate career, he was managing editor of the student yearbook, secretary of the Concert Band, a member of the Phi Beta Kappa national scholastic honorary and secretary of the Philanthropic Literary Society.

Citizens Bank Starts New Hours Monday, July 7

OVIDEO—Charles G. Shaffer, one of the vice presidents of the Citizens Bank of Oviedo, is announcing the new banking hours for the bank, beginning Monday, July 7.

Monday through Friday the bank will observe working hours from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

On Friday evenings only the bank will remain open from 2:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. They will be closed on Saturdays.

Wiley Abel is cashier of the bank now, replacing Mrs. Leon Oliff, who resigned due to her inability to work full time. She, however, has been working on Fridays and Saturdays and on sick leave or vacation.

Mrs. Marie Burch (W. E.) is assistant cashier. Some time ago Mrs. Ott (Edith) Dihanman was added to the staff in the book-keeping department.

Just a few weeks ago Mrs. Johnny (Leon) Jones was added to the bookkeeping department. Of course, Mr. Shaffer is there, too.

Baptist Hour Is Broadcast Over WIOD On Sundays

Radio Station WIOD Sanford broadcasts The Baptist Hour each Sunday at 8:55 a.m. It was announced this week.

The Baptist Hour offers spiritual inspiration to 80 million people in 33 states and eight foreign countries every week. There are now 43 radio stations broadcasting this radio worship service.

Dr. Roy O. McClain, noted preacher, author and musician, brings the message on this popular program. He is pastor of the historic First Baptist Church of Atlanta, Ga.

The internationally-famous Baptist Hour Choir provides music for the program. This dedicated group of 18 singers is conducted by B. Paul Green. The choir is in constant demand for concert performances, and is used frequently on religious network radio and TV programs.

Theme of The Baptist Hour series for this third quarter is "Baptist Religion." Dr. Paul M. Stevens is director of the Commission.

Five VAH-9 Wives Queens For Day On USS Saratoga

Last week five wives of members of Heavy Attack Squadron Nine became queens for a day when Adm. C. R. Brown, ComSixthFlt, authorized them to spend the day at sea aboard the giant aircraft carrier USS Saratoga (CV-60) while visiting the fleet. Boarding at Athens, King Paul and Queen Frederika of Greece, accompanied by members of the Royal Family and wives of the Saratoga's personnel, were honored guests of the USS Saratoga. They were accompanied by Mrs. C. R. Brown, the U.S. Ambassador James W. Riddleberger, who escorted the guests during their highly eventful stay.

All the sparkle and shies that could be mustered by the four thousand officers and enlisted men were absent when the crew, wearing full dress white uniforms, manned the rail, and a 21 gun salute was fired to give the Royal Monarchs an official welcome aboard.

Some forty members of the Greek press covered the visit which was closed by a spectacular air show, presented by Nighter and Bomber squadrons in honor of the visitors. Super sonic F-100 Crusaders, world's fastest jet based jets, flashed by in startling brilliance breaking the sound barrier, while the big A-1H jet bombers of VAH-9 left vapor trails high overhead. The flight exercises conducted underway off the coast of Greece included a striking demonstration of bombing, gunnery, and rocket runs at 10,000 feet. The show is the amazing accuracy of the aircraft of Carrier Air Group Three was hailed by all who witnessed the professional and timely display.

The VAH-9 wives on board for the occasion included: Ship Hostess, Jean Fowler, Margie Cousins, Evie Williams with daughter Anne, and Carolyn Logers.

VISITS HAWAII HONOLULU (UPI)—Philippine President Carlos P. Garcia arrived at Hickam Air Force Base Sunday night to begin a jam-packed two-and-half day Hawaiian interlude.

Rev. Parsons Will Attend Methodist Convocation In July

The Rev. W. T. Parsons Jr., pastor of Grace Methodist Church, will attend the Methodist Convocation on Local Church Evangelism to be held in Washington, D. C. July 2-4.

Purpose of the convocation, it was reported, is to study and emphasize the most effective ways of helping the church meet the needs of the community.

"Thousands of ministers and laymen will gather from all sections of the country for this occasion," a report said this morning, and many of the nation's most outstanding ministers are scheduled to speak.

Two cars of young ministers from this area are being sent to Washington by the church's District Superintendent.

The Rev. Parsons will make the trip with the Rev. Charles L. Herro, pastor of the Azules Park Methodist Church in Orlando. The Rev. Herro is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Herro of Sanford. In the pastor's absence, Sunday July 6, James A. Sartain of Trinity Methodist Church in DeLand will speak at Grace Methodist Church.

INVADE YANKEELAND CHICAGO (UPI)

Southerners will invade yankeeland for the Third Seabee Association's ninth annual reunion here July 25-27. Sid A. Vesley, association president, said 80 per cent of the members are Southerners and southwest-ers. About 200 members are expected to attend the reunion.

Holland To Tell Political Plans Wednesday

MIAMI (UPI)—Sen. Spessard L. Holland is expected to ring the opening bell in his election bout with Claude Pepper Wednesday.

The junior senator from Bartow has promised to make a statement of his political plans at that time either from Washington or Florida. And it is a foregone conclusion that he will decide to run for re-election in the face brick continued on through the wall.

He hinted at that strongly over the weekend when he laid down what he thought would be the main issues of the campaign—a fight between "conservatism and liberalism."

Ebenezer Church Installs Officers At Quarterly Meet

Officers of the Ebenezer Methodist Church were installed recently at the quarterly conference held at the church.

The Rev. Charles Brown was re-named as pastor for the local church.

These officers were installed for the fiscal year 1958-59.

They are: trustees, Monroe R. Fryer, W. L. Hiera, R. W. Lord, R. L. Peters and J. H. Wynn; stewards and finance, Monroe R. Fryer, W. L. Hiera, R. W. Lord, G. T. Meyer, R. L. Peters, R. J. Turner and J. Y. Wynn.

Church lay leader and district steward is Guy C. Warmack while Mrs. C. E. Johnson was installed president of the WSCS and community steward.

Mrs. Carl Bradbury is the recording steward and Sunday School treasurer.

ance, he said, in determining if the cracks obvious in the face brick continued on through the wall.

The engineer pointed out that "Generally the second floor inspection disclosed that all of the walls have undergone considerable distortion as evidenced by numerous cracks and plaster patching. Measurements taken show the maximum sag between the back exterior wall and the first interior bearing wall to be almost four inches."

Conclusions reached by the engineering firm were "in light of new findings it is the writer's opinion that the structure as it stands is not completely unsafe. Possibly under reasonable static load conditions it would prove serviceable."

"However, for occupancy as a public school building where the movements of loads are dynamic and often synchronized it has no factor of safety left sufficient to prove positively safe. One failure in a main structural element of the building could cause immediate shifting of stresses which could prove disastrous. Fire, even though contained, could cause the same action with terrifying results. Any stop-gap measure calculated to place the building in safe condition would be very difficult to install and almost impossible to analyze for effectiveness."

The Board of Public Instruction in its decision to condemn the Sanford Junior High School Building also recommended that an investigation be gotten underway to determine the disposition of the building.

The condemned building was constructed in 1910 with additions in 1922 and 1923.
