NORTH AND SOUTH CAROLINA COVERED WITH ICE

FOLLOW THE SLEET Storms of Yesterday, But Georgia Expects Fair and Warmer Tomorrow

(By The Associated Press) ATLANTA, Dec. 21.—With one section of the country covered with ice and snow and with the forecast for snow and another section slushing through the rain with temperatures slightly above the freezing point, the south early today is in the grip of the first wintry blast. Florida peninsula however, continued to be bathed in sunshine. Virginia, South Carolina, and North Carolina are reported covered with ice following sleet storms yesterday. Georgia expected cloudy weather today with fair and warmer tomorrow. The northern section of Georgia is slated for cooler weather today.

St. Augustine Man Committed Suicide Early This Morning

(By The Associated Press) ST. AUGUSTINE, Dec. 21.—After a lengthy illness with cancer of the throat, George Miller, son-in-law of John Dismukes, banker, of this city, took his own life this morning. He was found in his bedroom after the revolver shot had attracted the household. He died a few minutes later.

FORMER PREMIE CLEMENCEAU AMERICAN VISIT ADDED SOME TWENTY THOUSAND TO FUND

For American Field Service Fellowships Surplus Over Expenses

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Former Premier Clemenceau's American visit added $20,000 to the American Field Service fund of Fellowships according to Stephens Bousal, who managed his tour. The amount is the surplus of money received from lectures and newspaper articles by the Tiger after defraying the expenses of the trip. The premier, it was explained, was unwilling to accept financial assistance for his mission and his own means were inadequate, so he accepted lecture and writing contracts to pay his way. He expressed a desire that the surplus be devoted to the memory of his student years in the United States to Fellowships.

TURKS AND ALLIES DECIDE TO GET TOGETHER ON STRAITS CONTROL DISCUSSED AMICABLY

Every Indication That Some Sort of Settlement in Sight Now

(By The Associated Press) LAUSANNE, Dec. 21.—Both Turkish and Allied delegations relaxed in their attitude yesterday and discussed control of the straits in such a conciliatory spirit that there is every indication some sort of straits settlement may be signed in a very few days. The note of the United States declaring that it does not regard an international commission as necessary, undoubtedly bore fruit, as Lord Curzon gave careful consideration to Ismet Pasha's pleas that Turkey would consider international interference with Turkey's affairs as "worse than death." An agreement likely will be reached exempting the demilitarized zone along the straits from control by the proposed international commission which will have jurisdiction over navigation of the straits, leaving even the pilotage of the straits to Turkey. To this Ambassador Child made no answer.

OIL STRUCK AT OLDSMAR, SAYS THE TAMPA TRIBUNE; INDICATIONS OF PRODUCER

Oil Well is Not a Gusher and Was not Spectacular But the Oil is There

Oil has been struck in Florida. Oldsmar well No. 1 was "brought" in yesterday, with every indication of a settled production of a thousand barrels a day, as soon as some minor repairs are made, a badly cracked casing near the bottom of the well is replaced and the well is put on the pump. The Oldsmar well is not a gusher. It is not a flowing well, and was not brought in as one of the spectacular geyser type of oil wells. But the oil is there, and Florida's latest Christmas gift to the rest of the country is the bringing in of a deep well in heretofore untried and unproven territory. The well, located about three-quarters of a mile from the village of Oldsmar, was brought in yesterday afternoon in the presence of a committee of Tampa business men and a large delegation of Pinellas county citizens headed by Sheriff Lindsey of that county. The Tampa men who saw the first oil brought in quantities from the Oldsmar well were J. Edgar Wall, president of the Knight and Wall Hardware Company; Geo. N. Benjamin, large property owner here; Col. W. F. Stovall, editor and publisher of The Tampa Tribune; J. Clark Evans, manager of The Office Equipment Company; John M. Nelson, and a number of prominent Pinellas county people. R. V. Hill, practical oil well man, who has been in charge of operations at Oldsmar since the No. 1 well was spudded in more than a year ago, explained that a badly shattered bit of casing near the bottom of the hole had allowed a large seepage of oil. In the presence of the invited persons, Mr. Hill sunk a ten-barrel bailer pump to the bottom of the well. The pump was drawn up full of crude oil. Twice more the pump was sunk to the bottom of the well, 3,200 feet down, coming up filled with the black, evil-smelling stuff that spells vast additional wealth for the West Coast of Florida if settled production under pumping comes up to the expectations confidently entertained by Mr. Hill. Ocular evidence that oil has been found, in the form of at least thirty barrels of crude oil, was spilled on the ground near the well, flowing off into a ditch filled with water, and spreading a heavy coating of oil over the water. The witnesses of the bringing in of Florida's first oil well smelled, touched and saw the stuff, and testify to the genuineness of the oil find and to the fact that the well actually was brought in as a producer. Mr. Hill informed the visitors, specially invited for the occasion, that the shattered length or lengths of casing near the bottom of the well would be pulled and replaced with new casing at once. Meanwhile, pending arrangements for storing the oil, this well is not to be pumped.—Tampa Tribune.

PUBLIC HEARINGS TO END IN IMPEACHMENT PROCEEDINGS BEFORE THE HOUSE JUDICIARY

Committee Expected to Report No Impeachment Can Be Found

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Public hearings on the impeachment charges brought against Attorney General Daugherty probably will end today before the House judiciary committee, which is expected to report to the house that it found no evidence on which to base an impeachment proceeding. The report will not be made, however, until after the Christmas holidays because of the absence of members from Washington during that time. When the committee adjourned last night after two long sessions, three remained to be heard only a half a dozen witnesses. These are officials of the department of justice, who will be questioned concerning allegations in the specifications drawn by Representative Keller, Republican, Minnesota, which had not been touched upon at the time Mr. Keller withdrew from the case. Before this line of inquiry was opened Representative Woodruff, Republican, Michigan, laid before the committee evidence which he contended showed "an unnecessary delay" by the department of justice in bringing suit against the Wright-Martin Aircraft Corporation for the recovery of $3,001,715 growing out of alleged overpayment of war claims. Assistant Attorney Seymour announced that suit for the recovery of this amount soon was to be filed and Col. Guy D. Guff, former assistant to Attorney General Wickersham, who had charge of the case, denied the charge of unnecessary delay. Most of the remaining time of the hearing yesterday was taken up with an inquiry into the building trade cases growing out of the Lockwood committee investigation in New York. Col. William Hayward, federal district attorney at New York, went into details concerning the various cases, showing which ones had been concluded, which now were awaiting trial, and which ones the government did not act in because interstate commerce was not involved. Questioned about the release of the schooner J. B. Young, seized at New York for an alleged violation of the prohibition laws, Col. Hayward disclosed that the order stopping the seizing of "rum" ships outside the three mile limit, unless such vessels had established contact with the shore by means of their own boats or crews, was issued after "insistent demand by Secretary Hughes."

PROJECT IN FLORIDA IS AMONG FIFTY FOR SALE BY GOVERNMENT

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Authorization for sale by the War department of nearly fifty pieces of property which are not now needed for military purposes is provided for in a bill introduced today by Chairman Wadsworth of the senate military affairs committee. The property which would be offered for sale is located in twenty states and ranges from a gun house at Gloucester, Mass., to the air intermediate depot and Southern field at Americus, Ga., and Fort Humphreys, Va. Projects in the southern states that would be sold are: Florida: Chapman field, Fort Clinch and St. John's Bluff. Gunpowder is said to have been discovered by Roger Bacon.

ALTERCATIONS WITH MEMBERS AT CONFERENCE

NEAR EAST COMMISSION CAUSES BREAK IN PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT

(By The Associated Press) LAUSANNE, Dec. 21.—Worthy altercations between former Premier Venizelos of Greece, and Riza Nur Bey, Turkish nationalist delegate, caused Signor Montagna, president of the Near East Conference commission on minorities to abruptly end the morning session of the commission. Venizelos bitterly attacked the Anglo government and protested against alleged deportation of Greeks by thousands from Anatolia. Riza replied in the same vein, charging Venizelos with being responsible for the Turkish-Greek war and consequences.

DRAG LAKE FOR BODIES OF KIDNAPPED MEN

FIND NOTHING IN LAKE NEAR MER ROUGE, LOUISIANA

(By The Associated Press) MER ROUGE, La., Dec. 21.—A detachment of the Louisiana National guard that late yesterday dragged a part of Lake LaFourche, eight miles from here in an effort to locate two bodies of men reported to have been murdered by a band of masked and white-robed men last August after the kidnaping of five citizens of this place, were unsuccessful when it was learned this morning when a second detachment was despatched to the lake. The troop commander declined to discuss the movement of troops.

St. Petersburg Legion Looks After Negro Who Was in the War

(By The Associated Press) ST. PETERSBURG, Dec. 21.—The local post of the American Legion has gone to the rescue of Sam Reese, a negro, who is in jail as a result of a rampage he launched upon a few nights ago in the neighborhood of Sixteenth street and Seventh avenue South. After the arrest of Reese, it developed he was a veteran of the world war, having served with the engineer unit. Reese is said by the authorities to be mentally unbalanced and the Legion will attempt to have him admitted to a government hospital for the insane.

GERMAN OVERTURE MADE FOR AMERICAN INTERVENTION ON REPARATIONS MATTER

TO OBTAIN REVISION ON SCHEDULES REPORTED BY LONDON PAPERS

DEFINITE LIGHT

Thrown on Method by Which American Influence is Being Drawn into New Attempt

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—German overtures through informal channels for American intervention to obtain a revision of the German reparations schedules were reported in London despatches today and throw the first definite light on the method by which American influence is being drawn into the new attempt at a final adjustment of the vexing reparations problem. There is reason to believe that previous government reports from Berlin are of a character to justify a hope that if the French prove agreeable to the proposed reparations revision plan no insurmountable obstacles would remain in the way of an agreement as to the specific amount that Germany could pay.

FORTY-EIGHT INJURED WHEN SEVEN PULLMANS TURN OVER AT McINTOSH

(By The Associated Press) JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 21.—Eight persons, among forty injured last evening when seven Pullman cars of the Atlantic Coast Line limited, south bound, turned over near McIntosh, Fla., were in the hospital here this morning. Only one, Miss Madden, whose address is not known to the hospital authorities, is regarded as seriously hurt. She is suffering from a broken arm and various other injuries. The wreck occurred on the stretch of track where trains several times have exceeded one hundred miles an hour and where the speed for the two miles world record was once attained.

Jury Finds Harry Mohr Guilty, Frees Mrs. Doris Brunen

(By The Associated Press) MOUNT HOLLY, Dec. 21.—Mrs. Doris Brunen last night was acquitted and her brother Harry R. Mohr, was found guilty of murder in the first degree in connection with the slaying of the former's husband, "Honest" John T. Brunen, carnivalowner. The jury recommended that Mohr be sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor. The jury had been out three hours. On request of Walter S. Keown, the counsel for the defense, sentence was deferred until after the Christmas holidays, Justice Samuel Kalisch setting Jan. 9 as the date. At that time Keown said he would move for a new trial. As the foreman, Walter Wills, an aged farmer, announced the verdict, Mrs. Brunen grasped Mohr's hand, sobbing, "Oh Harry, Oh Harry." She then fainted, striking her head on a chair as she fell. Mohr, his hands shackled and two state troopers clutching his arm, leaned over and embraced his sister. He was led back to his cell as Mrs. Brunen was revived by a physician. Mohr's countenance did not change as the verdict was announced, but his wife was visibly affected.

SEES BETTER FARM CONDITIONS IN 1923

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Dec. 20.—A marked improvement in agricultural conditions of the country during 1923 was predicted by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace in an address here last night. While agricultural prices remain lower relatively than the price of other things, the farmers of the nation will get between one and one half and two billion dollars more total money for their crops this year than last, he said. Secretary Wallace said the large advance in cotton prices has put the south in better shape than for many years. The advance in prices of coarse grains and the continuing profitable prices of live stock has led to marked improvement in conditions in the big corn belt surplus producing country, he said.

"There has been less improvement in the wheat growing regions of the northwest and the southwest. High freight rates take too much out of the price of wheat. Prospects of better foreign demand give hope to the wheat farmer. "In dair sections of the west, the farmers are coming through very well. From the corn belt eastward, farmers have not suffered so severely as in the west. The experience of the past three years has brought home to the nation its dependence upon agriculture. We realize as never before that national prosperity is dependent upon agricultural prosperity. About one third of our entire population depends upon farming for a living. When the buying power of that one third is restricted for any reason, all business and all industry suffer."

JIM STONE FOOT BALL CAPTAIN FOR YEAR 1923

BILL MOYE ELECTED CAPTAIN OF THIS YEAR'S BASKET-BALL TEAM

One of the most important events in the success of a football or basketball team is the electing of the proper men to head the team. And having this in mind the local boys used very good judgment in the election of their football captain for next year and their basketball captain for this season.

Jim Stone, one of the best players on the Sanford team during this year just past was elected captain for the 1923 season. Jim is bound to make the team a good captain, and although he will have to hustle to make as good a showing as Leonard McClucas did this past season, all the players and fans feel certain that Jim will be there with the goods when he takes charge next year. Aside from his ability as captain it is expected of him to be even a better player next year over this season and we must admit that we are expecting a lot as Jim filled his position at least 200 per cent perfect. He does not expect to wait until the opening day before he begins getting things in shape but it is his desire to start the 1923 squad NOW. Go to it, Jim, you have a fine bunch and they will all back you to the limit.

In selecting Bill Moye as captain of the basketball squad, consideration was given both to his playing and to his head work. Bill was one of the football squad that played a good, consistent game throughout the season and he is carrying his athletic ability into the basketball floor and there will be many a team hear from Bill and his basketball quintet before this season ends. Make 'em hustle, Bill.

FORD SALES RECORD BROKEN

According to a statement issued by the Ford Motor Company, deliveries of Ford cars and trucks to retail buyers during the month of November totaled 106,327. This is a new high sales record that has never before been approached by the Company at this season of the year and one which stands out in marked contrast to the November, 1921, retail delivery figures which totaled slightly over 58,000 cars and trucks.

For eight consecutive months, beginning with April 1st of this year retail deliveries have exceeded 100,000 Ford cars and trucks each month; the accumulated total for the first eleven months of 1922 being approximately 1,200,000. While the company points out that it is not unusual for Ford retail sales to exceed the 100,000 mark during the spring and early summer months when the demand is at its peak, the manner in which business has held up throughout the balance of the year is without precedent.

Credit for this remarkable showing is attributed by the Ford Motor Co. to the many improvements which have lately been made on Ford cars and particularly to the new low level of Ford prices, recently put into effect. These new low prices not only broaden the field of prospective Ford purchasers but go still further in making the Ford car the best value from the standpoint of the retail buyer, that it has ever been.

Although the Ford factories have been operating at capacity for the past eight months, sales have equalled production and judging from the unusual manner in which orders are coming in at this season of the year Ford dealers will be unable to accumulate an adequate stock of cars during the winter months for delivery next spring.

In the opinion of the Ford Motor Company, November sales are an indication that many prospective purchasers, realizing the exceptional value now being offered in Ford cars, are beginning to anticipate an unusual spring demand and are therefore placing orders during the fall and will continue to do so throughout the winter to avoid disappointing delays in delivery later on. While this will relieve the situation to some extent, it is pointed out that the steadily increasing demand for Ford cars is nevertheless sure to create a acute shortage as the season advances. Accordingly, the Ford sales organization is urging prospective Ford purchasers to arrange for delivery during the winter months in order that the demand next spring will be relieved as far as possible.

After the gifts were opened and admired, the guests were invited into the dining room, which had also been artistically decorated with red and green. The dining table was centered with a large white birthday cake embossed with many tiny red roses and topped with sixty red candles. With the bonds voted in the New Smyrna road district for real roads and the bridge across the river finished, Sanford folks should have a delightful time at Coronado Beach next summer.

We have all voted too blindly for the bond issues in the past. Hereafter the bond issues will be scanned closely and unless they suit us we shall be against them.

Looks like the Turks and the Allies would settle their differences and adjourn the meeting for Christmas. This would give the Turks time to get back home and kill off a million Christians before New Year's day and they could be back at the meeting in time to grab off another slice of territory.

say that I am very grateful to all those who are helping me and I will prove myself worthy of their faith in me."

Much concern is exhibited over the condition of Wally Reid, the actor. In fact there is about as much concern as there would be over the illness of the president or some other notable. If Wally wanted to take dope and booze he should know that death would follow so why should any of his friends worry about it? But now they say that the crisis is passed and he will get well and the "dope ring" of California will be exposed. We hope so. We have heard nothing but "dope" from Los Angeles for the past two years.

That plot to loot the Brooklyn navy yard was no plot at all. The whole scheme simply fits into the general scheme of things whenever the government controls any sort of industry. It is all in the game, and the big idea is to get yours while the getting is good. The men caught in the Brooklyn Navy Yard forgot to "sugar" somebody higher up and they will now suffer the penalty. "Looting" the government is as old a game as selling gold bricks, or oil wells, or picking out a Christmas gift for Father with the idea of using it yourself.

It is high time the city began work on the new boat basin and the many improvements on the lake front. Of course there has been red tape to cut and all the contingent troubles and delays but we understand that all this has been removed and the government has given the city permission to go ahead and we want to see this great work started by January first at least. After the holidays are over we should get down to real work in this man's town. The money is up for these improvements and we are paying on the bonds. Let the taxpayers see something for their money and get the work started in time for the tourists to see that Sanford means business in regard to the boat basin.

There is a communication in this issue regarding the shooting of fireworks and shooting crackers on Christmas or any other time in the business or residence sections of the city where they are a nuisance and annoyance to the residents and the business men and a danger to all concerned. There is no excuse for this foolishness, there is not a valid reason for allowing it and if the majority of the people were consulted on the matter they would cut out all this stuff at all times of the year. There will be other communications in the People's Forum column on this subject unless the city commissioners decide to enforce the ordinance now against it or frame a new one that will cut it out or just instruct the city manager and the chief of police to see that it does not happen again. The people do not want it.

SENSIBLE CHRISTMAS GIVING

One of the most hopeful signs of progress we have noted around Eustis is the inclination of our people to get away from the old custom of giving a lot of useless junk for Christmas presents that are attractive to the eye but serve no useful purpose. Commenting on a similar situation in DeLand the News says:

"More and more those who make gifts find that the greatest enjoyment to both those who give and those who receive comes from something serviceable. Articles of clothing make the best gifts of all, though, of course for the fair sex articles of jewelry come under this head. No man ever had too many socks, or shirts or handkerchiefs but he welcomed the gift of a few more. And woman— heaven bless her— seems to "never have anything fit to wear" when a special occasion presents itself. This is why something pretty as well as useful in a woman's wear makes the ideal present. Insofar as the children are concerned, we must always of course, cater to their love for toys and candies and the things which to us appear insignificant but which are the biggest things in the world to them. Yet the tendency to give children useful books and toys which instruct as well as amuse is growing stronger with each succeeding Christmas."

"It is easy to spend the holiday money sensibly, if you'll only make up your mind to do so. And you'll get a lot more pleasure out of the expenditure, too, when you know that the gift is proving serviceable to some one. Price tags do not fix the value of a gift. Sensible people do not figure that the best gift, the most appreciated and the most serviceable is the one that cost the most. All of which helps to make the holiday buying easier and gets us a step further along on the road to economy and good sense."—Eustis Lake Region.

A LITTLE TALK ON THIEFT

People often imagine that economy means a state of bondage and that it restricts them in the full enjoyment of life's advantages and blessings. On the contrary economy and thrift open

The Becker Family

Milton is Overcome

a direct road to independence and liberty.

Independence through thrift would be a good motto to keep constantly in mind.

"Economy," wrote Dr. Samuel Johnson, "is the parent of integrity, of liberty and ease and the beautiful sister of temperance, of cheerfulness and health."

The value and satisfaction of liberty and independence, so generally unrecognized in the bloom and vigor of youth, looms larger as the years advance and we begin to crave a freedom from the servitude which always goes hand in hand with poverty and dependence upon others. The ways of extravagance and waste, which appear so inviting at first, soon begin to narrow down and present the terrifying prospect of penury.

But it is possible to avoid this gloomy outlook in the afternoon of life. Systematic economy and precaution against waste and extravagance in the days of prosperity will prevent this unhappy condition in later years.

It is not necessary that one should have had the advantages of a good education or even possess greater opportunities than other persons in order to achieve this freedom. Waste, in fact is sometimes the result of too much imaginary independence among those who are fortunate at the beginning of life. Great ability to earn and rapid advancement, sometimes destroy the true perception of happiness and success.

Do not contemplate thrift as a sacrifice of personal liberty. Its consistent and regular practice provides the only way one can attain genuine liberty and a complete fulfillment of the ultimate objects of life.

YOUR HANDICAPS

Do you enjoy your meals? Or do you often find eating is a nuisance? Or, if a housewife, cooking is a pest, burdensome, dreaded?

Frank Noy, philosopher and seeker of original causes, makes a suggestion that probably has occurred to you.

Noy says: "It's too bad we cannot take in food like a slyver at a filling station for gasoline. Gasoline is, to the slyver, what food is to us. And the slyver gets exactly the right kind of food—also just enough, neither too much nor too little."

"We humans are eternally eating too much food or the wrong kind of food. It's always a puzzle, what will agree with us. We feel a craving for corned beef and cabbage or pie, or lobster, but there's uncertainty as to whether it will rest easily after it's down."

"The doctors tell us our bodies are machines. When it comes to taking aboard our fuel, we're much inferior to the auto."

Scientists say that bodies adapt themselves to environment—that nature makes additions when needed, or takes away what is no longer needed. A favorite illustration is the blind fish of underground rivers deprived of eyes because it does not need eight. Of the giraffe, which grows a long neck so it could reach tender leaves at the tops of the trees.

Such changes, however, came very slowly. Millions of years, according to scientists.

In the last 25 years man has changed his ways of living, his environment more than his ancestors in 35 centuries before.

We are developing so rapidly that nature isn't keeping up with us.

Hence our machinery for eating and digesting and nourishing our bodies is inferior to the auto, which we have created more efficient than our own bodies, human machines.

A queer notion, bizarre yet logical, suggests itself. Animals grow fur, which protects them efficiently against cold. Man keeps warm by artificial heat. However—

You're sitting at home, notice the room is cool. Lie on the floor, you find the air cold. Stand on a chair and you discover plenty of heat up near the ceiling where it doesn't do any good. If nature is guiding us, she is responsible for this system which has something fundamentally wrong with it.

Genuine efficiency, with our present heating methods, would be interference by nature to enable us to keep warm air by living on the ceilings. Couldn't be? Flies do it.

Unquestionably our bodies are out of date. Nature is lagging, not changing us as fast as our progress and needs require.

No doubt an idle congress one of these days will attempt to remedy the situation by legislating against Mother Nature or at least appointing an expensive investigating committee. At that, it would accomplish as much as most of these committees.—Tampa Times.

PUBLIC FORUM

REGARDING FIREWORKS ON CHRISTMAS

We are greatly pleased with the stand the Herald takes regarding the senseless and shockingly inappropriate burning of powder and exploding of firecrackers. Christmas is the anniversary of the great gift to man, the gift of a Savior of the world to hopelessly lost mankind. It is a time for profoundest reverence, thanksgiving and rejoicing. It is not a patriotic celebration. Catching the spirit of the Great Giver, it is most appropriate that we make gifts to our fellows and loved ones, especially remembering those who are unfortunate and needy. Our rejoicing cannot be overdone, but it should always be in harmony with the event we celebrate, always reverently and gratefully cultivating the spirit the Prince of Peace and good will to man so beneficently exemplified and inculcated on that wonderful great day.

The Sanford Herald advocates sanely and wisely and most appropriately we can with safety depend on The Herald publisher to take the right view of every question and to voice the best sentiment of his own mind and of the public in his excellent journal of news. It is occasion of sincere congratulation to publisher and people that this is the case.

We here, also take the opportunity of commending what the Herald recently published regarding refraining from applauding our city band on Sundays with the auto Klaxons. The music of this fine organization is beautiful and deserves heartiest expression of appreciation, which we delight to see accorded to players and leader, but on Sundays, the Lord's day, let there be a distinction made from the week day demonstrations, and let the plaudits be with the glad hand, vigorous as may be, certainly, but not by the raucous and less saving of refinement in expression, the automobile horn. We are pleased to see that the majority of the Sunday Klaxons have already taken to silencing their Klaxons on that day, and are using their right and left palms instead. It will greatly please the Sabbath-observing people to look on and note that every one adopts this in-keeping-with-the-day method of making known their enthusiastic enjoyment and appreciation.

WEATHER AND CROP CONDITION IN FLORIDA FOR WEEK ENDING DEC. 19, 1922

Temperature—The temperature during the week was unusually high for the season averaging daily, from 6 to 9 degrees above the normal. A maximum of 99 degrees occurred at some central and southern stations. Sunshine—The percentage of sunshine was high except in the extreme west and portions of the northern division, where the average was less than normal. The last two days of the week were overcast over much of the section. Rainfall—There was a general deficiency in rainfall, except in the extreme south and west of the Apalachicola river where the previous deficiency was made up during the last days of the week. The following were by total in inches and tenths: were reported: Pensacola, 2.7; Apalachicola, 1.6; Marianna, 1.9; Madison, 1.7; Monticello, 2.9; Quincy, 1.3. The week's total throughout the central and southern divisions ranged from no rain to generally less than one-fourth inch. CROPS: Although too dry generally, most of the time the weather during the week was favorable for the advancement of all truck. The lands are drying quite rapidly in the southern division and the work of planting was pushed wherever possible; some shipments of beans and other truck were made from the Okechobee district; tomato plants were set out, the work being well under way over most of the tomato belt of the southeast—small shipments were made. The warm weather was unfavorable for a rapid maturing of citrus fruit, although it is improving. Citrus trees need rain. Berries made fair to good progress, but moderate rains would prove beneficial. The nut crop in the west, where the rainfall has been more general, made good progress, but germination is slow over the most of the peninsula, especially the late seedling. The continued warm weather resulted in an increase of insect pests which have ruined some truck gardens—spraying is the only salvation. Lettuce moved rapidly from the Sanford district; but the quality is not so good as usual; celery is doing very well. Blackst is reported in some cabbage and cauliflower fields; and the red spider is troubling some berry fields—all of these conditions being due to warm, dry weather. Ranges are poor on uplands of the interior, and stock water is scarce in some localities of the northern division.

COTTON STAINER ATTACKS TANGBRINES

The cotton-stainer, a bug belonging to the same family as the pumpkin-bug, has made its appearance in several groves around Oveido, and has caused the loss of some tangerines. This bug appears in numbers only very occasionally, as generally the weather conditions sufficiently control its numbers to where it does no noticeable harm.

The cotton-stainer is described by Watson as follows: The mature bug is a little less than a half inch long and is about 3-16 of an inch wide. Its shape is between oblong and oval. The head and most of the thorax and the base of the legs are red. The wings are dark brown edged with yellow.

Control

These bugs may be collected in the same way as the pumpkin bugs. Also advantage may be taken of their fondness for cotton seed by placing small piles of the seed under the trees. The bugs will collect on these piles where they can be sprayed with kerosene or, better, killed with a gasoline torch. By using the torch the seed will last for some time, but if sprayed with kerosene the seed becomes unattractive to the bugs and will have to be removed.

At Oveido, the bugs were collected as are pumpkin bugs; in the early morning when they are wet with dew and more or less sluggish because of the temperature, they were easily shaken from the trees onto sheets, collected and destroyed by dropping into kerosene. After the dew dries off and it becomes warmer they will fly when the tree is shaken, instead of dropping to the ground.

V. C. PIPER VISITS SANFORD

Mr. V. C. Piper, of the Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., visited Sanford on Tuesday, December 12. Mr. Piper specializes in forage crops. He found here, a leguminous plant that resembles beggar-weed, which he thinks has a great future, believing that it will prove to be to the South, what clover and alfalfa are to the north. He thinks that perhaps it has been introduced accidentally from the West Indies, in some way. It has leaves and seed which look very much like the beggarweed, but is of a more or less vining nature and will make a good sod if kept mown, or if it is grazed by cattle. Mr. Piper is quite a golfer and the county agent took him out to our country club. He was very much impressed by our club house, our beautiful trees, shrubbery, and exquisite views, and by the excellent condition of our fairways and greens which have been developed in so short a time.

CHIPS

Luck is usually with the farmer who does the best farming. If you want a dual purpose tree—one that will bear fruit and at the same time provide shade in summer—the pecan is the tree you are looking for.

CABBAGE BLACK ROT

Some of the patches of cabbage and cauliflower in the section are showing considerable black-rot. The following by H. S. Fawcett, published by the Agricultural Experiment Station at Gainesville, may be of interest: "The disease of cabbage, known as 'black rot,' which is due to the bacterium, Pseudomonas campestris, has for several years caused serious losses to the cabbage, cauliflower, and rutabaga crops of this state. It is also a destructive disease in other parts of the United States where cabbages are grown in large quantities for the market.

Scientific investigations have brought out some of the practical ways of preventing the disease. These preventive measures, in so far as they can be made applicable to Florida conditions, are here given.

How to Prevent Black Rot SEED-BEDS: The seed-beds should be prepared in fresh soil, in which no plants of the cabbage family (cabbage, rutabagas, cauliflowers, collards, turnips, radishes, kale, mustard, etc.) have been growing. This is necessary because the bacteria live from one season to another in decayed cabbages, or old soil, and probably in some ordinary field weeds related to the cabbage.

"SEEDS: The seeds should be treated before planting. Put them in a cloth sack and lower the sack for fifteen minutes into a solution of corrosive sublimate (one part to one thousand parts of water); then spread the seeds out to dry, not allowing the direct rays of the sun to fall upon them. Do not use a metal vessel, as this would be corroded.

Corrosive sublimate tablets may be bought from druggists, and one tablet is sufficient to treat a pound of cabbage seed. This treatment of the seed will not injure its vitality. Prof. F. C. Stewart, of the New York Experiment Station, has proved that the bacteria causing black rot may remain alive on dry seed for as much as eight to eleven months. He also found living bacteria of black rot on seeds bought from reliable seedsmen. It is probable that the disease was first brought into Florida vegetable fields on the seed.

"PLANTING OUT: The plants should be set out, as far as possible, in ground that has not been planted in cabbage, or closely related plants during the previous season; and never in soil on which refuse plants related to the cabbage have been allowed to rot.

"FERTILIZING: The use of stable manure or compost should be avoided, since such manures are known to cause fields to remain infected, by keeping the bacteria alive from one season to another. The potash in the commercial fertilizer should be slightly increased, as this will probably burden the plants and make them less liable to an attack of the disease.

"DESTROYING THE INFECTED PLANTS: As soon as any plants show the disease, they should be taken out and destroyed at once. This is suggested because insects carry the disease from one plant to another, and it is probable that the wind also distributes it over the fields by blowing dust from infected plants to those that are still healthy.

"CLEANING TOOLS: All tools and implements that have been used in infected soil should be sterilized by wiping them with a dilute solution of crude carbolic acid, before using them in newly planted soil. At the very least, implements should be scoured bright before using them in the new field. The bacteria could easily be carried from an old field into the newly set field on soil that was allowed to remain on cultivators and other implements.

"PREPARING FOR THE NEXT SEASON: As soon as the next crop is marketed all refuse cabbage plants and old stubs that remain in the field, should be completely destroyed, either by plowing under, or better, after removal from the field. All plants of the cabbage family should also be prevented from living over in the fields that are to be used for cabbage in the future.

"ROTATION CROPS: The cleared field should be planted to crab grass, beggarweed or velvet beans. These crops are not subject to the black rot disease, and will keep the soil in good condition for the next year's crop of vegetables, as well as help to starve out the black rot bacteria in the soil. "The prevention of the disease, and its eradication from infected fields, depend upon the strict following out of these eight points. The neglect of any one point may be fatal to success. If, however, these lines of action are followed, it may be expected that the loss from the disease will be greatly diminished.

ROLLINS WILL PLAY HAVANA TEAM AT MIAMI JANUARY 1

The Rollins Tars broke into the limelight again yesterday, when it was announced that they will meet the University of Havana team in Miami on New Year's day. The game will be the first international contest of the season.

The contest will be staged on the polo grounds at Miami Beach, arrangements having been completed with Dr. Dick Grant, athletic director of the University of Havana.

The contest will be the second between the two schools, the first having been played in 1903, when the Tars won a six to nothing victory over the Cubans.—Orlando Sentinel.

Will Hays Allows Fat Comedian a Chance to Make Good

(By The Associated Press) LOS ANGELES, Calif., Dec. 21.—Roscoe ("Fatty") Arbuckle, rolfund comedian, barred from the screen since last April because of the encounter with the law, was yesterday restored to the privilege of coming back to the place he once occupied in his industry, if he can. Will H. Hays, head of the picture industry, announced that all restrictions against the actor were to end January 1.

The Famous Players-Lasky Corporation, which distributed Arbuckle's pictures, announced that no effort would be made at present to market some films that were withdrawn, or others that were never released. Joseph Schenck, producer, said he would employ Arbuckle, and the latter said he was thankful for the chance to work and would strive to make good.

Mr. Hays issued a brief statement, saying he felt every man was entitled to his chance, and that the film industry not only wanted to live and let live, but it wanted to live and help live.

Mr. Hays' statement added: "Every man in the right and at the proper time is entitled to his chance to make good. It is apparent that Roscoe Arbuckle's conduct since his trouble merits that chance. So far as I am concerned, there will not be a suggestion now that he should not have his opportunity to go back to work in his profession.

"In our efforts to develop a complete co-operation and confidence within the industry, I hope we can start the New Year with no yesterday's. Live and let live is not enough—we will try to live and help live."

It became known that certain definite features figured in the action that will allow Arbuckle another opportunity to make good.

"First, perhaps, was the fact that he seems completely changed and that his conduct since he was barred from the screen last April apparently has been exemplary.

"Then, too, the action was taken in the spirit of Christmas and it was believed that the fullest co-operation in all branches of the motion picture industry would be best advanced by clearing the slate as far as possible.

"Again, it is known that Arbuckle never made a picture to which any exception possibly could be taken, and he never will.

"Still again, it was felt that inasmuch as a jury acquitted him of charges of which he was charged, he is constitutionally entitled to the right of any citizen, especially the right of work at the only thing he knows how to work at.

"No plans are in contemplation for the release of the three comedies in which Arbuckle appeared before his trial."

CELERY SEED

Now Ammans can hold the honors awhile.

But we do not believe 216 will be high score at the end of the season. Buddy Burdick says he intends to bowl 225.

And that fellow Hoybat is going like a house afire. Might be him that will hold it next week or Chapman, he threatened to do it twice.

We will publish the individual averages tomorrow. It will find Pennington and Amanns still neck and neck for second place and Stevenson in first place.

Chase & Co. haven't given up the ghost yet. They are just reserving some of their best efforts until the second half. They have no chance this half and will put their speed where it will get them something.

And they will have the Roles to work on again before long. That will be their first victory, so sayeth Tommy Jones.

Look out for the Merchants after the holidays. Bower and Lloyd will be on the job and things will pick up for the Counter Jumpers. Rivo and Purdon are both going good and so is Randall. With Bower and Lloyd to help out, this will then be some team.

And the way the farmers are going it looks like the second half pennant will be won by some one else beside the Congregationals. Not too late for the Farmers to win the first half, if the Champs will slip a little.

Sixty-Year-Old Western Union Boy Donates to the Poor

(By The Associated Press) MIAMI, Dec. 21.—Louis Burgess, a 60-year-old messenger "boy" for the Western Union Telegraph Company here whose only source of income is from $8 to $15 weekly, earned delivering messages, has donated $25 to the fund being raised to make the widow and seven children of J. T. Knowles here have a happy Christmas.

Burgess appeared at the office of Frank G. Pepper, chairman of the committee seeking funds, and with tears rolling down his cheeks told Mr. Pepper he would feel amply repaid for the sacrifices he had made to save the money if it would be spent to give the children a better Christmas.

With Burgess' contribution heading the list, Miami Rotarians have appealed to citizens for further contributions. The Rotary committee has already raised $3,000, purchased a lot in Highland Park, and a home for the Knowles family is under construction. The Plumbers Union is donating material and labor for the plumbing fixtures and it is hoped to have the home ready for occupancy by the first of the year.

Knowles, a policeman, was killed accidentally by another officer while a posse was in search of a negro desperado.

Chinese Horticulturist And Holder of Medal, Lives Near DeLand

Is Now in Dire Want and Needs Assistance of Friends

(By The Associated Press)
DELAND, Fla., Dec. 20.—Leu Gim Gong, internationally known horticulturist, "president" of a "Chinese Republic" and holder of the Wilder Medal awarded by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is at his home here dependent upon the generosity of friends—feeble and broken—with a heavy mortgage upon his home, which for many years has been one of the show places of Central Florida.

Friends in DeLand are supplying his sustenance and have taken charge of his business affairs in the hope of clearing up his debts. He resides on his estate with "Fanny," a mare which for twenty years has been his pet and sole companion. He lives virtually the life of a hermit and during the last 16 years, has visited DeLand, the nearest town, but four times.

Leu has numerous horticultural accomplishments to his credit, but the best known is the Leu Gim Gong orange, perfected in 1887 by crossing the Mediterranean Sweet and Hart's Lane varieties and for which he received the Wilder medal. The tree of this variety will thrive in a climate too cold for others while the fruit will remain on the tree several months and maintain its maximum amount of juice and flavor.

In 1890, Leu investigated the grapefruit and produced a cross of the common Florida grapefruit and the tri-lobate orange. The fruit is of superior quality and the tree can stand from ten to fifteen degrees lower temperature than ordinary varieties. Leu's last citrus development resulted in the perfumed grapefruit, which will permeate a house with an agreeable odor. It is a cross of the pomegranate and grapefruit.

Leu also perfected the cherry currant in Massachusetts, a cross of the ordinary currant and the grape. In other fields he produced an apple that ripened in July, a late peach grown under glass with the fruit ripening in November, a salmon colored raspberry, and a tomato plant that grows to a height of 35 feet.

Leu was born on a farm near Canton, China, in 1859, arrived in San Francisco in March, 1872, and went to New England, where he was employed by Solomon Burlingame, of North Adams, Mass. He was adopted by an unmarried daughter of Mr. Burlingame's in 1874. Two years later Leu was elected first "president" of the "Chinese Republic," at a meeting under a large chestnut tree in a cow pasture near North Adams, held in connection with the Centennial celebration to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. R. Chung, one of the members of the movement, who met with Leu, was ordered to China with the news and to launch a campaign. Chung died before he reached China and the movement ended there although some of the principles laid down by Leu are now said to be incorporated in the laws of the present Chinese government.

When Leu's foster mother died the Burlingame property near here was left to him, and five per cent of the remainder of the estate.

Eight Children Die in Shell Explosion

Dangerous war relics are being hunted by authorities at Watertown, N. Y., following the death of eight children, 7 to 16, caused by the explosion of an artillery shell at the home of Edward G. The carpets and sheets cover victims' bodies.

First Eleven Months Rainfall Exceeded All Records Bradentown

More Than Five and One-Half Inches Fall Up to December

(By The Associated Press)
BRADENTOWN, Dec. 21.—Rainfall here during the first eleven months of 1922 exceeded all records for any twelve-month period during the last thirty-eight years, or since the keeping of records locally began. More than five and one-half feet of water had fallen here this year up to December 1, to be exact, 66.76 inches, and one month of the year still remained.

The average rainfall during the thirty-eight years has been 56.15 inches. The 1920 total was 61.50 inches and that of 1921 62.13.

July, 1922, probably was the wettest month in this section of which there is a record. The total precipitation was 20.60 inches. August followed with another fall of 19.35 inches, September, 10.35 and October 12.02.

No further explanation as to why great parts of South Florida were "afloat" for a while in the fall is necessary.
