PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Persons you deal with on an intimate basis will treat you very generously today. Obligations due you will be repaid.

Stroke Signs May Subside

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband was hospitalized 35 days for cerebral hemorrhage over two years ago. For two weeks he lay semi-conscious, vomiting every bit he ate and hiccupping constantly. When they could finally make angiograms no surgery was necessary. The neurosurgeon said there was no medical help. It was up to nature and God. The blood had to be absorbed. There was not the slightest improvement for two weeks. Then one day he was better. He slowly regained some strength, some coordination, and his speech gradually got a little better. Neither our medical doctor nor the neurosurgeon recommended any kind of therapy. He takes regular walks and does chores in the yard and around the house. His balance is still bad and his walk and speech are poor. I keep thinking that years from now we may look back and think if only he had had some therapy. Do you agree with these doctors? DEAR READER — Your husband had a marked improvement because of the swelling (edema) in the brain around the area of injury from the damaged artery gradually subsided. It is common for the brain to accumulate fluid and get swollen with the stroke. This causes pressure on brain cells and makes things look worse than they will be eventually if the patient recovers. It is plain swelling as you see with any injury. Strokes are like heart attacks and are usually caused by diseased arteries. The arteries are damaged by deposits of fatty-cholesterol particles in the wall of the arteries. The artery is then blocked off with a clot or hemorrhage.

Sidewalk Okayed By Board

The Seminole County Commission today approved $2,400 for construction of sidewalks on Tangerine Blvd., after an Eastbrook subdivision resident said she would be divided and wrapped up the rubber. Jim: "Had Holmes opened a diamond there would have been no end and no way to make the contract."

Four Jailers Needed Before Opening

By ED PRICKETT Herald Staff Writer. Only one major item — the hiring of four additional correctional officers — is blocking the reopening of the Seminole County Jail by Nov. 1, Sheriff John Polk said today. Polk said he's going today to request the $33,000 needed to hire the four additional officers which were suggested by the state. Polk must ask the commission for the funds because his budget was submitted in June. The 14-point plan worked up by state officials was completed in the latter part of August. "That is the only thing. As it stands now, the jail will open around the first of November," the sheriff said. The state's 14-point plan was a list of items officials said must be complied with before the jail could reopen. In that list was some $80,000 worth of safety features which are presently being installed. Chief Deputy Duane Harrell last week submitted a request for money to hire correctional officers, but the commission delayed the issue until Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr., was in attendance. Vihlen, who is the liaison commissioner on the jail, was in Tallahassee at an appeals hearing on Polk's bid for a full $2.5-million budget for fiscal 1975-76. The commission offered Polk $3.2-million, but refused and the issue went to Tallahassee where the Florida Cabinet is expected to make a ruling at its Oct. 21 meeting. On June 9, fire swept through the county jail, leaving 10 prisoners and a jailer dead in its wake. Jail doors shut that same day and haven't reopened — while the county is paying out an estimated $1,000-a-day to house inmates in facilities located in surrounding counties. Also, Polk will bring up another item of business today that is important to his department. The sheriff will ask the commission to adopt an ordinance which will allow him to secure cheaper rates on the sheriff's fleet of police cruisers. Last year, the cost to insure the cars was about $8,000, Polk said. But this year he estimates insurance costs will jump 350 per cent. Polk said that with the ordinance the Joint Underwriters Association will be required to insure the police cruisers for $10,000 or $15,000 less, than what insurance firms are presently bidding. The sheriff's fleet contains 53 cars, with three additional police cruisers being added this year. The present insurance carrier, United States Fire and Casualty, announced last month that last year's insurance policy with the sheriff won't be renewed. Polk sought and won a 14-day extension which runs out the first of next month. There's no firm bottom determined," said Knowles. Herb Cherry, another resident, claimed he doesn't have access to certain streets in the area. The commission unanimously rejected a lone bid of $28,000 from Sara Jacobson for purchase of the Palmetto Avenue fire station property. Commissioner A. A. McClanahan and Stenstrom said the property was assessed at $36,000 and assessed at $40,000. Jacobson said she estimated it would cost between $40,000 and $60,000 to develop the property. She said she had planned to convert it to an old-fashioned ice cream parlor with fire department decor. The commission denied a request from County Commission Chairman Sid Vihlen Jr. to waive a $75 building permit fee for a metal building to be constructed at Five Points for housing county fire department equipment. Commissioners John Morris and McClanahan moved and seconded the motion for denial. "Big Brother (county) has been telling you (the city) all along what to do," said Meyer. The commission unanimously approved a request from Mrs. M. Stamm for paving Glenway Drive.

In City Of Sanford Water Bills May Increase

By JOE ASKREN Herald Staff Writer. "Prepare for higher (city) water bills!" That's how Commissioner Gordon Meyer, acting mayor in Monday night's commission meeting, summed up a report from city engineers regarding expected stricter federal requirements for water treatment plants. "It will mean higher costs to customers within five to six years... There's no question about it." The special (state) legislation will be extremely costly," City Manager Warren E. "Pete" Knowles told Commissioners. Knowles also said the "inflationary factor" would be a "different and additional cost." B.C. Conklin, with Clark, Dietz and Associates-Engineers, Inc., in a letter dated Oct. 11 — and addressed to Knowles, City Engineer Mack LaZebny and Public Works Director Rick Richardson — explained the impact of a new "Safe Drinking Water" Act and new Environmental Protection Agency requirements, "similar to the sewage treatment type program." Meyer cast the only opposing vote. Mayor Lee Moore was absent. "It would cost a fortune to remove the mold, fill it in and pave it. There's no way to alleviate the flooding condition without creating a problem somewhere else," said Commissioner Julian Stenstrom. Stenstrom and Knowles also explained the "street" sections should be vacated since the city has been threatened with a lawsuit from Mrs. Edna Long, a property owner. Mrs. Long said after the meeting she was not sure whether she would seek legal action for what she termed a "hazardous" area. Knowles said Mrs. Long bought the property in a lowland muck area and moved a house on it and has since complained of the flooding condition. "The taxpayers should be protected from this potential suit. The city can't be held responsible," said Knowles. Mrs. Long said she wasn't confronted with the natural drainage area situation at first, and has requested the city remedy the improper drainage. She said some days it means her children have to "stay home from school." "The road couldn't be built under normal circumstances."

Sheriffs Open Campaign On Mandatory Gun Law

By BOB LLOYD Herald Staff Writer. Billboards and television and radio commercials will soon warn criminals and potential criminals in Florida that they face a mandatory three-year prison term if they use firearms in the commission of crimes. The Florida Sheriffs Association is launching the largest crime deterrent program ever undertaken in the Southeastern United States, according to association president, Union County Sheriff John Whitehead, at Lake Butler. The $11 million publicity campaign is an outgrowth of a recently-passed state law making the three-year prison term mandatory in 11 crimes where firearms are used. The crimes are murder, sexual battery, robbery, burglary, arson, aggravated assault, aggravated battery, kidnapping, escape, breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony, aircraft piracy, or any attempt to commit these crimes. Seminole Sheriff John Polk said today, "We feel that there are lots of people who're not familiar with the new mandatory sentence law. "It (publicity) won't do any good with hardened criminals,"

United Way Aids Alcoholic Center

The Mid-Florida Center for Alcoholics Inc. in Orlando served 49 Seminole County residents last year through inpatient hospitalization. Thirty-one patients participated in the Center's out-patient program; and six were involved in a day-care program. According to the Center's Community Education Coordinator, W.S. Chambers, patients are encouraged to participate in complementary programs after initial hospitalization. After a detoxification period of two weeks, the patient receives counseling and guidance on a day-to-day basis. The Center has had much success with its treatment programs, Chambers said. After six months, 75 per cent of patients were still abstaining from alcohol. This compares favorably with a national level of 56 per cent. The Center has a total staff of 40 to handle some 500 in-patients per year. The number of out-patients treated in the same time period is about double that number. Besides its regular programs in Orlando, the Mid-Florida Center for Alcoholics maintains a team of Outreach counselors at the First Methodist Church on Park Avenue in Sanford. According to Chambers, statistics indicate there are 21,000 alcoholics in the tri-county population of 600,000.

Reports Presented To Chamber Board

Committee directors of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce met today to hear progress reports on committee activities. Chamber President Wayne Albert and Chamber Executive Manager Jack Horner presided over the meeting, which featured reports on the upcoming Golden Age Olympics, promotion of the Sanford Airport and new signs for the Central Florida zoo. Aviation Committee Director Glen Pennyworth reported a new promotional brochure has gone to the printers and should be ready soon. The brochure, which will have a distribution of 20,000, identifies Sanford Airport with Central Florida. Bill Register, speaking for the Commercial Committee, said that group recommended a central planner to coordinate the Chambers many activities. Vic Arnett, of the Golden Age Olympics committee, said the group was trying to make the event, which will be held Nov. 10-13, Arnett said once the Olympics becomes well known, the event will "put Sanford in the limelight." Jack Rathmell, head of the sports committee, said the Central Florida Shad Derby has been reestablished, with the Evening Herald as sponsor. Rathmell also reported that the Second Annual Sanford Powerboat Regatta will be held here in April. Complete details and tides are on Page 5-A.

Big Flag Unfurled At Park

By JANE CASSELLBERRY Herald Staff Writer. Sanford Veterans' Memorial Park on the lakefront now boasts a new Bicentennial flag large enough to match the giant U.S. Flag donated previously by the Sanford Rotary Club. The presentation of 12 by 18 feet Bicentennial banner, said to be the largest in the state and possibly in the nation, took place Monday afternoon at the park. The only thing to mar the event was the illness of one of the flag makers, Joseph Magro, who was unable to be present to see his flag unveiled in the stiff breeze. However, Vinicio Palino, who worked with Magro in the production of the flag, was present to accept certificates of appreciation and Bicentennial flags from the Seminole County Bicentennial Committee represented by Betty Richerson, a assistant director of the administrative staff, and Mrs. Peggy Horner, secretary of the Bicentennial Committee. Patriotic music was provided for the ceremony, witnessed by approximately 175 persons, by the Seminole High School Band under the direction of the staff Martha Oestreich. The Sanford Naval Academy provided the color guard. Master of ceremonies was Ernie Arrell, coordinator for the Seminole County Bicentennial Committee. The invocation was given by Rev. Leo King, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Sanford and benediction was given by Rev. Douglas Porter of the Free Methodist Church, who is chairman of the Bicentennial Religion Action Committee. The Bicentennial flag was presented by Bicentennial Committee Chairman Jack Horner to the City of Sanford with Commissioner A.A. (Mac) McClanahan accepting for the city in the absence of Mayor Lee Moore, who was called out of the city.

Shots Fired At Police, 7 Arrested In Busing Protest

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Several wild shots were fired toward Jefferson County police and seven persons were arrested during a nighttime anti-segregation-busing demonstration near a high school.

Federal Escapees Captured

SALEM, Ill. (AP) — "They were afraid of the water. They were afraid the creeks were polluted," a Marion County jail official said after two federal prison escapees were captured several miles apart in a rural area near Salem.

Authorities apprehended escapees Edward Roche, 39, of Katonah, N.Y., and Maurice J. Phillips, 40, of Oakland, Calif., Monday night. The pair escaped with three other inmates Friday from the Marion Federal Penitentiary by tripping prison gate locks with a homemade electronic device.

One of the escapees, Arthur J. Mankins, 37, of Germantown, N.C., was picked up Sunday after a stolen getaway car crashed following a high-speed chase. The others fled into surrounding fields and wooded areas, which authorities have been combing with tracking dogs.

NSA Phone Intercepts Told

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Security Agency intercepted more than 1,000 telephone and telegraph communications involving antiwar activists and other dissidents and reported on them to the CIA and the FBI, according to informed sources.

The NSA intercepts began in 1969 and continued for "a two- to three-year period," detailing the foreign travels and organizing efforts of various American radicals whose names had been provided to NSA by CIA, the sources said.

Summaries of the intercepted communications were transmitted via courier from NSA headquarters at Ft. Meade, Md., to CIA offices in Langley, Va., where they became part of the files of Operation CHAOS, which monitored the activities of domestic dissidents, sources said.

Parents: No Permission Given

PRESNO, Calif. (AP) — The parents of a youth who died after his life-support system was shut off say they did not give doctors permission to unhook a respirator that kept their son alive for 18 days after his brain was destroyed through medical error.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith said they did not know how their 15-year-old son, Samuel, died until they read in the newspaper that the hospital had disconnected the respirator that had kept him breathing.

In a report filed Sept. 11 by Valley Medical Center's chief resident surgeon, Dr. Michael Freeman, the hospital said Samuel's brain died during surgery when an anesthesiologist placed an oxygen tube in his esophagus instead of his trachea, cutting off the oxygen supply to his brain for about five minutes.

Levi: New Unit Not Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Edward R. Levi says the documentation of white-collar crime has undergone a "disturbing increase" in the past year but that the Justice Department doesn't need a special unit to prosecute corporate crimes.

Levi announced his decision against forming a permanent division within the department in a letter to four members of Congress and consumer advocate Ralph Nader. The letter was released Monday.

"It may be debated, of course, whether (the increase in documented white-collar crime) reflects a deterioration in standards of corporate conduct or an increase in the reporting of violations or more strenuous efforts to ferret out and prosecute violations," Levi wrote to Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., a cosponsor of the original report.

Post: Agents Backed Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation lent agents to congressional staffs to lobby on behalf of former FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover, and the agents, in turn, reported back on the personal lives of congressmen, the Washington Post reported in its Tuesday edition.

The Post, quoting a source "with first-hand knowledge of the operation," said the agents lobbied for legislation sought by Hoover, such as special retirement provisions. At the same time, the agents kept Hoover apprised of "personal derogatory information on sexual activities, drinking habits or other personal matters," the newspaper quoted the source as saying.

Budget Cut List Compiled

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has compiled a list of $28 billion in proposed budget cuts to strengthen President Ford's hand in insisting that Congress combine a tax cut with matching cuts in federal spending.

However, Treasury Secretary William E. Simon denied today that the list includes cuts in Social Security or government programs for school lunches, child care, Medicare or veterans benefits. The list, he said, is "not a cutback."

Paul H. O'Neill, deputy director of the Office of Management and Budget, said Monday an inch-thick compilation of proposed reductions is being circulated privately to Cabinet officers and agency heads for their comment.

Beefed-Up Security Cost Cited

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Patricia Hartz is now allowed to eat meals with other prisoners at the San Mateo County jail, but beefed-up security because of her presence in the jail is costing up to $200 a day, says the sheriff.

In Winter Springs Seminole Cablevision Appeals For Rate Hike

By JANE CASSELLBERRY Herald Staff Writer

WINTER SPRINGS — Ron Dorchester, general manager of Seminole Cablevision, appealed to City Council Monday night to allow it to raise installation fees and monthly service rates within the city.

During the public hearing Dorchester said the rate schedule had remained at the same level since Seminole Cablevision was granted a franchise in the city on Nov. 1, 1971, although operating costs have increased.

He added Cablevision has recently added two new stations, WCIX, Miami and WKID, Ft. Lauderdale, to make a total of 11 channels.

Multiple dwelling units (bulk billing 100 per cent subscription): 1-25 units, $6.50; 26-100, $6.35; 101 to 500 $6.25; 501 to 1,000, $6.05.

—Heard a report from Councilman Gerald Connel that as long as the operation of the Skylark sewer package plant will be subsidized by a federally funded CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training Act) Class C sewer plant operator, it will not be necessary to raise rates above the current $4.00 monthly fee.

Arson Suspected In Blaze

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP) — State fire investigators are expected today to probe for signs of arson in a fire that destroyed a building owned by radio evangelist Rev. Carl McIntire.

Police said the Thursday fire that destroyed the Jerusalem Temple Museum may be linked to an outbreak of vandalism against McIntire-owned property which began with the evangelist's sponsorship of a group of Vietnamese refugees.

It Took About A Year To Make Gigantic Flag

By JOE ASKREN Herald Staff Writer

farthest Joe was off was one quarter of an inch," said Horner.

Sanford City Commissioners Monday night officially moved to convey a "note of thanks" to both Magro and Palino for their efforts in constructing the special Bicentennial flag.

The state's largest Bicentennial flag, which was raised in Sanford Veteran's Memorial Park Monday, took a year to make and "probably is the largest such flag in the nation."

That's how Jack Horner, chairman of the county Bicentennial committee, described the giant 12 by 18 foot flag which was hand-made in four separate pieces by Joe Magro, a silk screen expert, and Vince Palino, manager of Sandra Fashions.

"All the sewing and silk screening took a year. The mammoth flag for the first time, and the lake-side breeze filled it like a sail, Horner remarked: "If we disappear behind the flag, somebody get us down."

City Commissioner A.A. McClanahan said at the ceremonies he hopes this county "continues to be the greatest county on earth."

Eber Cox, 78, a World War I veteran standing nearby, said he liked the band and the speakers.

"I think that's (the giant Bicentennial flag) wonderful," said Cox. He said he hopes to participate in Bicentennial plans of the local senior citizens' group with the American Association of Retired Persons.

Dr. William "Bill" R. Adams, 39, executive director of the Florida Bicentennial Commission and a history professor at Florida State University, advised citizens to "contact your local Action '76 group and get involved in projects that produce something of lasting value to your community."

Adams said the actual design or arrangement of the stars in the blue field of the U.S. flag was "not definitely settled until 1913, under the William Howard Taft administration."

Everybody including every regiment in the Army had their own idea of what the flag should look like.

"Whether Betsy Ross ever sewed anything is very much a historical doubt," said Adams. "It is very difficult to arouse patriotism for the sake of patriotism (today) unless it is defined as contributing to the improvement of our communities, our nation, and our lives," said Adams.

"That's the kind of patriotic spirit that the Bicentennial is trying to invoke," he added.

Adams said it has been difficult to get college age people interested in the nation's Bicentennial "thus far."

He said the commission has already distributed $3 million in the last three years to local Bicentennial organizations. He said the funds have come from federal grants and state and private contributions.

Horne said the county received a $14,000 grant last summer and plans are underway now to build the Educational Studies Building at Camp Mahkabee which should be completed in nine months. The facility will benefit a total of six counties, he said.

Local committees can make grant proposals to the state commission and those funds projects of lasting benefit to residents of the community will receive top priority, Adams said.

Adams was selected as the executive director by the state Bicentennial Commission Sept. 26, succeeding Don Pride, who resigned in August to join a national political campaign.

Soviets Want Edge In Arms

Talks have resumed in Vienna in the elusive search for a formula to reduce the size of military forces on opposite sides of the Iron Curtain. No one is holding his breath in anticipation of success.

Originally, negotiations for new political and military accommodations between Western Europe and the Soviet bloc were to follow parallel courses. With their deft talent for orchestrating detente diplomacy to suit their own ends, the Russians managed to push the political negotiations out in front, climaxing them with the European Security Conference at Helsinki last summer.

The Warsaw Pact went into the negotiations almost two years ago with a numerical superiority in troops and weapons confounding the forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The Warsaw Pact forces are even stronger now, and the talks are stalled on the insistence by Moscow that this imbalance be preserved if there is any reduction on both sides.

The NATO negotiators at Vienna are still under pressure to find some means of justifying a force reduction that would be welcome news for budget-conscious governments. This must not lead NATO into a numbers game with the Warsaw Pact which would provide for a mutual cutback in forces which conforms only to the Soviet interpretation of "balance."

The Western allies sacrificed many principles at Helsinki for the sake of detente. They should not take the dangerous step of sacrificing any of their military security at Vienna.

Get On With It

The investigation of the Central Intelligence Agency is dragging on, delayed by politics, and damaging the agency. It is a legitimate inquiry. There was a need for Congress to follow up on the incomplete Rockefeller commission report.

But a modern nation needs the kind of information provided by an intelligence agency. A superpower like the United States stands in special need of such information. Our great power must be exercised with expert knowledge of foreign affairs.

If CIA is not to survive, some other civilian agency like it would have to be created to counterbalance the military intelligence agencies. President Ford should look for ways to expedite the congressional inquiry by cooperating with the investigators.

Let's wind this thing up.

Efficient Policemen Are Needed

In part, organized crime is thriving in the United States because its top management is more sophisticated in its methods, better organized, more adept at using advanced techniques, profit from its mistakes and is more alert to changing conditions than many of the federal, state and local law organizations it's up against.

Organized crime has also shown considerable ability to profit from the mistakes of local and federal officers, prosecutors, judges, administrators and legislators.

The information comes from Peter R. Richards, Deputy Attorney General of New Jersey, in charge of the Special Prosecution Section, Division of Criminal Justice.

Army's Super Trucks A Super Boondoggle

We have spent months, as part of our watch on waste, digging out the details of a $25 million Army boondoggle. When the military brass squander the taxpayers' millions, they invariably spend more millions to cover it up. The mispending, therefore, is sometimes difficult to trace.

operation and longer life of your furnace. It isn't a bad idea to have the furnace completely cleaned and checked by a reputable service agency prior to lighting it.

State Insurance Commissioner Phil Ashler has really adopted a "Tough Policy" as he's put the insurance industry on notice that any company which increases its automobile premium costs can expect to have state rate analysts in its home office immediately for an in-depth look at its books.

Don Oakley Farm Export Ban Harvests Problems?

Picture the Soviet Union sending buyers to the United States with firm orders, and hard money to back them up, for a billion dollars worth of automobiles.

For years the American farmer has been raising grain for export just as much as for domestic consumption, says Barrons. Currently there is harvesting more than two billion bushels of wheat, knowing that all the bread, crackers, pasta and pastry we will eat in the U.S.A. during the coming year, plus a reasonable addition to our reserves, will require less than half that amount.
