Commissioner Says Manning Scared Her

Police Chief's Outbursts Spur Probe

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood City Administrator Ron Waller refused comment today on his investigation of so-called "unprofessional behavior" by City Police Chief Greg Manning. The investigation was requested by Commissioner Lynette Dennis, who said Manning's behavior frightened her.

She asked Waller to investigate and report back "as soon as possible," but today he said he would not say when the report might be completed.

City Attorney Ann Colby said the city charter gives the city administrator the power to hire and fire city department heads, including the police chief. He can, when deemed necessary for the good of the city, suspend or dismiss a department head who has the right to a review by the city commission if he desires.

Wednesday Manning labeled the incident that spurred the request a "dead issue" and said he has "more serious problems to deal with."

He said calling his behavior unprofessional during outbursts at a city commission work session is a "matter of opinion." He said a heated discussion he was involved in at the time with Commissioner Dave Gunter related to old information and rumors, but would not reveal the topic. Neither would Gunter.

Mrs. Dennis, who is in her first month of office, as is Gunter, said at Monday night's regular commission meeting that the incident occurred during a break in a work session Jan. 15. The work session was unrelated to the police department.

She said Manning, who had returned from the back office where he had been talking with Gunter, was completely "out of control," which frightened her.

"It was almost to the point that as a commissioner I would be afraid to talk for what he might do," she added.

Mrs. Dennis said Waller went outside with Manning talking to him for about 15 minutes to calm him down.

Gunter said Wednesday Manning wanted to talk to him in Waller's office during the recess and there was some discussion about the police department. Gunter declined to elaborate on the specifics of the discussion and is awaiting Waller's report.

"We hashed out some things," Gunter said, "but when we went back into the commission chamber Greg began hollering at me and carrying on. He got uptight and created a disturbance, which apparently frightened Mrs. Dennis because she knows he carries a gun."

"It was uncalled for so I excused him and told him I didn't want to talk to him anymore. He is supposed to be an officer of the law and couldn't keep himself under control."

Gunter said, "It should have stayed in the backroom and he and Mr. Waller could have handled it, but Greg brought it out in the open."

Gov. Bob Martinez speaks to about 550 members of the Greater Orlando Chamber of Commerce Wednesday.

Martinez: Educators Must Teach To Get State Salary Hikes

By Tom Giordano
Herald Managing Editor

Teachers who don't teach children can expect to be passed up for any pay raises coming out of Tallahassee.

That was the message imparted by Gov. Bob Martinez Wednesday night during a speech before about 550 members of the Greater Orlando Chamber of Commerce at the Sheraton-Maitland.

Gov. Martinez, who was introduced as "Gov. Bobby Martinez" by Chamber President Frank Kruppenbacher, said he favors pay raises for teachers to "recruit and hold" better-qualified educators, but warned: "Those who teach kids ... I repeat, those who teach kids get the salary increases, not those who are just in education."

Martinez' appearance at the Orlando chamber's annual business meeting was his first in this area since his inauguration. The main thrust of his talk was to reaffirm his campaign promises of bolstering the state's economy, using a business approach to running state government in terms of spending, protecting the environment and concentrating on improving water quality and sewage disposal.

Gov. Martinez said he intends to look at how previous administrations have operated the state's affairs, but "...we intend to look at them and say, 'How can we do it better?'"

"We don't want to have local government get that Tallahassee mindset where they're expecting everything to come out of the capital. That's why I'm glad we're here tonight..." Martinez said he plans to encourage local governments and business organizations to work on solving local problems with as little outside help as possible.

Sanford Population To Double In Less Than 20 Years: Study

City Planners Begin Efforts To Cope With Influx

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

A new study finds Sanford's population almost doubling by the year 2005 and the anticipated influx — bringing the city to more than 54,000 residents — has staff planners working up guidelines to consider public needs.

The city's planners are working with private consultants who came in with the population projection. The consultants are with the Orlando firm of Ivey, Bennett, Harris and Walls.

A recommendation from staff planners led Sanford commissioners to hire the firm last fall for $20,000 to assist preparation of the city's new comprehensive land use plan. The state requires a plan must be complete by April 1990, but the city expects to come in with it this summer.

The earlier completion date will enable a jump on the planning process to address anticipated needs, according to City Manager Frank Falson.

In terms of population, the consultants' see post-Disney World growth extending through Orange and southern Seminole counties and into Sanford during the next 20 years.

The state's overall growth pattern as well as its east central region's employment and

The studies in their entirety will consider 'where we were, where we are, and where we want to go now.'

Jay Marder

tourist opportunities will also supplement Sanford's population, according to the consultants' study.

The firm's overall effort, including data collection and countless studies, will take up several volumes when complete later this year, said City Planner Jay Marder.

The population report "is just first chapter," in this effort, he said.

Subsequent reports will address housing, land use, transportation, public services and facilities, conservation, recreation and open space, intergovernmental coordination and capital improvements, Marder said.

The studies in their entirety will consider "where we were, where we are, and where we want to go now," Marder said.

According to the population report, the anticipated influx "implies, in general, that Sanford must be prepared to expand its services to meet increased demands or to lower the level and/or diversity of its services."

According to Marder, "You can say this about any city USA: Sanford is growing. And based on the city's actions during the last year, you could add we've been expanding our services, not lowering them."

Sanford's efforts to expand services during the last year have included the launching a multi-million dollar wastewater project to address growth as well as comply with a state edict, purchasing of well and fire station sites west of the city, plans to lay a water line along State Road 46, and development or planning of new parks in residential areas.

"City commissioners, as part of the planning process, will have to continue to determine whether services will be expanded or lowered," Marder said. "They'll be setting the levels for public service needs and facilities."

Commissioners' will be provided with planning study information to assist their decisions, Marder said. "Right now we're rapidly compiling background information that will lead to a proper data base for future planning."

Openings In August

Library Evening Hours For Sanford, Oviedo

By Kathy Tyrity
Herald Staff Writer

Libraries in Seminole County will be open evenings in a few months, said Jean Rhein, director of libraries.

Starting in late August, she said, the new Sanford and Oviedo libraries will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays. The Sanford library has been operating from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

"We hope these two new libraries will be open around Aug. 31 with these (extended) hours," Ms. Rhein said.

The county has two libraries, the main branch in Casselberry and the downtown Sanford one. They will be replaced and three more branches constructed.

The Casselberry branch has already been operating in the evenings, but will conform to new hours when its replacement library is finished, hopefully in February or March of 1988, Ms. Rhein said.

Sanford's library will be in a new building behind the old one at First Street and Palmetto in downtown Sanford. The old building will be used as a library system processing center and headquarters for the libraries' computer system.

There is no library in Oviedo yet. But the new one will be a 12,000 square-foot facility at the corner of State Road 426 and Division Street in downtown Oviedo. Construction on Sanford's and Oviedo's new libraries began in November.

A total of five new libraries will be built in the county by March of 1988, if all goes according to plan, Ms. Rhein said. Lake Mary and Forest city will get branches, too.

Ms. Rhein said as the new libraries are open, the new hours will be followed. They will be (except for Casselberry): 9:30 a.m. - 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and 9:30 a.m. - 5 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays. Casselberry's will be a little longer, 9:30 a.m. - 9 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 9:30 a.m. - 5 p.m. on Saturdays.

Tornado, Cold Threaten Area

Morning sun through lucid rain clouds bathed Sanford in an orange glow early today before a deluge drenched the area as weather forecasts predicted thunderstorms, a 20-degree temperature drop by midday, and a chance of a tornado.

Showers were anticipated throughout the day and temperatures are expected to continue dropping to the mid-30s overnight. The tornado watch was to end at 1 p.m.

Sanford Airport reported a half an inch of rain overnight.

Hazel Johnson, traffic controller at the airport and a certified weather observer, said the tower reports hourly weather conditions for pilots and updates reports more often if needed. She said an 8:45 a.m. shower that blew through Sanford registered a 40-knot gust at the airport. That's about a 46-mph wind.

It also dropped more than a half-a-inch of rain. Doug Vickers, air traffic manager, said the tower is a supplementary weather station for the weather bureau so that a pilot anywhere in the country can find out anytime what the weather is like in Sanford.

At the Central Florida Zoo, west of Sanford, usual cooler-weather precaution were being taken in anticipation of the pending lower temperatures.

Curator Ed Posey said keepers make sure that the heating systems for the animals that need it are in working condition. He said spider monkeys and squirrel monkeys like the heat so they are "denied up" for the duration.

The lower temps also makes some of the zoo's animals frisky and they appear to like the change, he said.

Seminole Gets High Marks For Helping Education

By Geale Lindberg
Herald Staff Writer

With four state awards to community benefactors of education, Seminole County has earned 20 percent of Florida's recognition for such achievement this year.

Florida Community Education benefactor awards will be presented to three Seminole County individuals and to one Seminole County business at a black-tie dinner Friday at the Palace Hotel, Lake Buena Vista. Twenty-one awards will be presented statewide.

Seminole's three individuals to be honored are Shirley Schilke, W.E. "Duke" Adamson and Ernest Cavallaro. Central Florida Regional Hospital is the business.

The Florida Chamber of Commerce and the Florida Education Foundation, which basically acts as a money-generating and support program, recognizes outstanding business and individual benefactors of education in Florida, said Karen Coleman, school board spokesman.

She said that the School Board, working with the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce, sent the four nomination packets to Tallahassee for review. More than 50 nominations from all over Florida were made and 21 selected to receive the Foundation's benefactor award.

"So, Seminole County has captured approximately 20 percent of the awards for the entire state," Mrs. Coleman said.

Each nominee will receive a certificate and individual recognition at the award dinner Friday. In addition, the Foundation will choose its "top ten." Mrs. Coleman said. "I will predict that one or more of Seminole County's nominees should be represented in those top ten."

According to the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce nomination letter, Mrs. Schilke is an outstanding community leader in the fields of business and education. Through Harcar Aluminum Products, a company owned and operated by Mrs. Schilke and her husband, she has made considerable financial contributions to individuals that enabled them to achieve educational excellence.

W.E. "Duke" Adamson has made substantial contributions to the field of education in the State of Florida, according to the nomination report filed on his behalf with the Foundation. "These contributions have been in the form of financial, personal involvement and business commitments through his company, the Rich Plan of Florida."

Ernest Cavallaro, chief financial officer and treasurer of CODISCO, has also made many valuable contributions to education in Seminole County. Robert W. Hughes, school superintendent, said in his nomination letter about Cavallaro. "He develops and participates in programs which encourage young people to continue their education and learn much about the business community. Because of his involvement, scholarships are provided to students by businesses and civic groups from throughout our community."

Central Florida Regional Hospital has made Sanford, Seminole County and all of Central Florida a better place to live, learn, work and play, according to the nomination report filed on its behalf by the School Board and Sanford Chamber of Commerce. "The hospital has done this by working cooperatively with individual schools, entire school systems, the local garden club, other civic and professional organizations, businesses, churches, the Chamber of Commerce, and other interested citizens."

DOT Hearings Set

DELAND — The Florida Department of Transportation will hear public comment on Seminole County road projects beginning at 6:45 p.m. Jan. 27 at the Orange County Administration Center, 201 South Rosalind Avenue, Orlando.

The hearing concerns the Fifth District's Five Year Transportation Plan.

"The purpose of this hearing is to discuss the department's planned activities in this district for the next five years," said Stephan Fregger, district director for planning. "This hearing gives public officials and other interested persons the opportunity to comment on the plan and recommend any changes."

Longwood Bows To Court

City Won't Appeal Funeral Home Decision

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Now that the Longwood City Commission has bowed to a Jan. 5 court order to grant a previously denied conditional use for a funeral home to be built on State Road 434, Garden Chapel Funeral Homes President Cy J. Case said Tuesday he hopes the matter is pretty well settled.

Pleadings of a patient of the doctor whose office is opposite the proposed funeral home site that the city appeal the court order went unheeded by commissioners Monday.

Case, who sued the city after the commission turned down his request for the third time citing traffic and safety problems, said, "I thought it would be built by now and operating, but now if we are lucky we may be open by the end of the year. My attorney fees were heavy and if we had been turned down by the court, our engineering fees would have been wasted."

The commission unanimously voted approval Monday night rather than risk a loss in the Fifth District Court of Appeal.

Seminole County Circuit Judge Dominick Salfi said his decision (one of his last before retiring from the bench) was based on the city's failure to present evidence to support the argument that the funeral home located there would increase traffic or harm the business of Dr. James Hynick, whose office is located adjacent to the proposed funeral home site, 100 feet east of Oleander Street. The city had 30 days in which to file an appeal.

Case said he plans to construct a 6,000 square foot Colonial style building on slightly over an acre of property. He said the state Department of Transportation has approved the entrance and exit onto State Road 434 and has already gotten 90 percent of the necessary approval for the project including septic tank permits. "One or two things were put on the back burner when the commission turned us down," he said.

Case said he has no plans for embalming or cremation at the Longwood location. He said he has a crematory in Orlando and that is sufficient and at any rate additional permits would be required to operate such a facility. He said even though he has no intention of doing this type of preparation there, in order to get a permit from the state to operate a funeral home a holding tank for hazardous waste and other equipment is required.

The Land Planning Agency, City Planner Chris Nagle and other staff members had recommended granting the original request, but the commissioners had rejected it after hearing objections from Hynick, his patients and residents in the area. They said a funeral home next door would depress his patients and be bad for the doctor's business as well as causing additional traffic congestion.

A final emotional appeal was made Monday night by Sandra Westfall of 203 E. Hornbeam, a patient of Dr. Hynick, who said she lives and votes in Longwood, but actually lives outside the city in Sabal Point with a Longwood mailing address. Pleading with the commission to appeal the judge's decision, she said she was representing the other opponents of the funeral home.

She asked, "Is it over? Is it done? We would like you to appeal this. It isn't that we are opposed to having a business there, but we don't want a funeral home next to a doctor's office and at the end of a residential street. How would you like to live on that block and be having a barbecue while a cremation was going on? Doesn't anybody want to appeal this?"

Deputy Mayor June Lormann responded, "I agree with you, but once before when residents asked us to fight a convenience store being built on E.E. Williamson Road. It cost the city $5,000 and we lost and the convenience store went up."

City Attorney Ann Colby, who presented the commission with its two options at Monday night's meeting, said there was no guarantee the city would win an appeal and it might lose the right to impose conditions as well as the possibility of having to pay court costs.

Gary Shader of Maitland, attorney for Case, said he has forwarded a list of the conditions approved by the commission to his client to see if they are acceptable.

Case said, "We want to be a good neighbor and hopefully with the doctor as well. I hope he will learn to live with it. I would like to meet with the doctor and clear the air. We're here to stay and provide a service."

In his suit, Case claimed the city acted improperly denying the conditional use request by basing its decision on the emotional effect the funeral home would have on patients of the doctor rather than on zoning guidelines.

Loopholes Harpoon Whale Moratorium

Credit George and Gracie, the whale stars of "Star Trek IV," for a strong reminder that the half-century-old struggle to save the whales is far from over. In the movie, Kirk, Spock and crew return to the late 20th century in search of humpback whales, hunted to extinction in the 21st century. They rescue George and Gracie from a whaler's harpoon and bring them back to the future.

The entertainment, however, is based on a faulty premise. Humpback whales nearly hunted to extinction by 1916, have been protected from hunters for some 50 years. That protection extended to all whale species last year when an International Whaling Commission moratorium on commercial whaling took effect.

Unfortunately, the moratorium has more holes than a Star Trek plot. By filing objections to the moratorium, the Soviet Union, Norway and Japan have continued to hunt whales for commercial purposes. Under the guise of research, Iceland and South Korea also hunt whales — and sell the meat. The threat of U.S. economic sanctions brought agreement from commercial whalers to stop in the next two years, but Japan already has indicated it then will take up research whaling.

Such practices violate the intent, if not the letter, of the IWC moratorium, further depleting whale populations to keep an antiquated industry in business a few more years. The research loophole should be closed when the whaling commission meets again in June. The commission should adopt a U.S. proposal to ban all commercial trade in whale meat, thereby ending the profit incentive to kill whales. And the Reagan administration should use the economic sanctions provided by Congress to punish countries that violated the moratorium.

"Star Trek IV" may be wrong about the status of the singing whales, but its warning is sound. Many species of whales have been protected from harpoons, but not before their populations were reduced to levels that leave them vulnerable to extinction by pollution or disease. The world should not count on future time travelers to bring them back.

Left Waives Rights

This is the 200th year of the Constitution of the United States, and the first year of the constitution in Nicaragua. The two events are hardly comparable. Nicaragua's President Daniel Ortega signed his constitution and immediately extended emergency powers that annul much of it.

The new Nicaraguan constitution is unusual in Latin America because it is a blend of West and East. It offers strong civil guarantees and ensures the coexistence of state and private property. It also guarantees rights to housing, education, health care and employment. It is not unusual in another sense, because constitutions on paper are not necessarily constitutions in practice. A number of Latin republics have constitutions modeled on that of the United States. The form has had more respect than the principles, especially when military dictatorships ruled.

In Nicaragua, the overriding of constitutional guarantees comes from the left, not the right, as has been customary elsewhere. Ortega's state of emergency, in effect most of the time since 1982, suspends civil liberties, broadens arrest powers, allows the tapping of phones and opening of mail, restricts freedom of expression and prohibits public demonstrations and strikes. His explanation is that the country is at war against American aggression conducted through the Contra rebels.

Fight Illiteracy: Pun Is Mightier Than Sword

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For only $19 a year, you, too, can help "fight functional illiteracy." At least that is the advertised price of a year's membership in the International Save the Pun Foundation. Judging from the Foundation's selection of the "Best-Stressed Puns of 1986," it's no wonder this form of play on words is on the endangered list.

According to John Croasie, the organization's "Chairman of the Bored," the membership last year reached an all-time high.

"From Alaska to Zimbabwe, more and more people are helping us as we fight functional illiteracy by arousing an interest in words by having fun with them," he said.

Funny he should mention Alaska. The organization's monthly newsletter, where the awards were announced, apparently is published in Canada, where cold weather may influence judgment.

If it is true, as Croasie asserts, that "the pun is mightier than the sword," all I can say is that this is no time for the United States to be investing huge sums in President Reagan's Strategic Defense Initiative.

In any event, this is what passes in Canada for "having fun with words."

—A string goes into a bar and, having been told that strings aren't served there, ties itself into a knot.

Then, when the bartender asks whether it is a string, replies: "No, I'm a frayed knot."

—At a Chinatown bar, a customer who has endured five dreary tunes asks if the pianist knows "something a little less mournful."

He is told: "With six, you get allegro."

—A lad takes some tadpoles to school and hides them for two days before the teacher finds them.

"What are these?" the teacher demands.

Whereupon the student explains that "they were going to be frogs but they have already croaked."

—A young woman tells her parents she is quitting college to marry a newscaster.

"Good Heavens, girl!" her mother exclaims.

"After all that we have done for you, how could you marry a common later?"

—A railroad engineer notices the train is running short of fuel and at the next station tells a colleague: "Buy coal, porter."

—A college football coach is asked about his star quarterback's scholastic achievements.

"He makes straight A's," the coach replies.

"Wonderful!" says the interviewer.

"But some of his B's are sort of crooked," the coach admits.

—An Easter Bunny demonstrates he is old enough to shove but is challenged by the children to whom he offers colored eggs because he has no whiskers.

"All of which goes to prove," Croasie adds, "that a bunny shaved is a bunny spurned."

—A newlywed couple tell a hotel clerk they would like a suite.

"Certainly," says the clerk. "Would you like the bridal?"

"No, thanks," the husband replies. "Now that we're married, we're going to stop having around."

Had enough? OK. But don't ask me for your $19 back.

Soviet Spetnaz Threat

WASHINGTON — While the Western nations worry about the Soviet nuclear threat, a very different Soviet menace receives hardly any attention. This is the Spetnaz threat.

"Spetnaz" stands for special operations brigades, whose mission it is to conduct raids, sabotage and clandestine attacks in the enemy rear. The Soviet naval Spetnaz brigades include frogmen, parachutists, and midjet submarines.

Since the late 1970s, Soviet Spetnaz forces have been active in the territorial waters of Norway and Sweden. In Sweden, Soviet mini-submarines have penetrated supposedly closed naval security zones, and even operated in the Stockholm channel. The situation was brought to light when a Soviet "Whiskey" class submarine ran aground in restricted waters near a Swedish naval base.

It has taken some time for Western defense authorities to realize Soviet intentions with respect to the penetration of Swedish waters. It's now understood that the Soviets envision a sweep across Sweden in the event of a nuclear war in Europe, immobilizing Swedish defenses and pushing into Norway to isolate, then destroy NATO forces operating on the USSR's northern flank. The Soviets have no hesitation in conducting these menacing Spetnaz operations at a time when they are proclaiming a policy of peace.

Soviet Spetnaz forces also represent a threat to British and American submarine bases which almost certainly are targets of Soviet war planning involving special operations. Coastal defense of Britain and the United States is almost a forgotten subject, as is defense of Canada's Far North.

Logical Atlantic targets of Soviet Spetnaz operations are Holy Loch in Scotland and the naval base at Charleston, S.C., including its vital missile-loading facility.

Americans don't regard Soviet war planning with sufficient seriousness. They don't appreciate the comprehensiveness of Soviet preparations for armed conflict. The NATO nations could pay dearly if they continue to neglect the Soviet Spetnaz threat.

Fake Bolts Found At Nuclear Plants

By Jack Anderson and Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — Substandard bolts have been found at one U.S. nuclear power plant and may well be in place at others, ready to give way at the first serious vibration or ultra-high temperature. And the Nuclear Regulatory Commission is alarmingly relaxed about the danger that the faulty fastener could cause a Chernobyl-like disaster.

The bolts are counterfeit, mostly from Taiwan, Korea and Japan. They look like high-grade bolts and bear false industry markings designating top-quality manufacture. But they are made of substandard metals or are inadequately tempered to withstand the stress that they may be subjected to in an emergency.

A quality-control official at the commission told our associate Stewart Harris he was reasonably certain that there were no counterfeits in nuclear power plants, because a recent random test had turned up none. Asked how many bolts were actually tested, the official replied: "13."

ROBERT WAGMAN

SEC, Boesky Antics

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Why did the Securities and Exchange Commission stand idly by while Ivan Boesky — the stock speculator accused in the Wall Street insider-trading scandal — sold or transferred millions in securities?

There are two explanations not quietly given, on a strictly non-attribution basis, about why Boesky may have been allowed to maneuver in this way:

• First, Boesky was a fount of valuable information that investigators were desperate for, and they may have made a deal with him to get it.

• Second, and perhaps more important, is the belief within the SEC that the case against Boesky was actually very weak.

Had Boesky chosen to contest the action, the matter would have been tied up in court for years. Eventually he might have won, and in doing so, he would have made future prosecution of insider-trading cases very difficult.

In the end, the Boesky case might have come down to an argument over whether he was actually an "insider" within the meaning of the laws and the SEC regulations he is accused of violating.

What Boesky did, in brief, was to buy shares of companies after receiving advance notice of pending takeovers from investment banker Dennis Levine, to whom he is said to have paid some $2.4 million for the information.

The SEC says, in doing this, Boesky violated its Rule 14c-3, which states that if someone has taken "substantial steps" to commence a tender offer, it is a violation for anyone who has acquired non-public information about the offer to trade in that company's stock.

However, no one has yet tested Rule 14c-3 in the courts.

Some securities lawyers believe recent Supreme Court rulings about insider trading raise doubts that the SEC has authority to make such a sweeping rule. Insiders believe the SEC did not want to see Boesky challenge this rule in court.

Boesky, among others recently accused of insider dealing, was also cited under the SEC's Rule 10b-5. That rule was designed to prevent a company officer or director from taking advantage of his company's stockholders, to whom he has a fiduciary responsibility, by buying or selling company shares based on information he has about the company before that knowledge becomes public.

But how can Ivan Boesky be called an insider? He was not an officer, director or relative of one in any of the companies whose stocks he traded in. Thus it appears he had no special fiduciary duty to the shareholders of any of the companies in which he was trading.

Had Boesky decided to challenge the SEC on Rule 10b-5, he very well might have won.

It appears the SEC was not willing to take that chance.

Boesky, also, wanted to avoid the court battle that would ensue.

So it looks like a deal was made, allowing Boesky leeway to redistribute his holdings and make himself judgment proof.

Sugar: How Sweet It Isn't

"The U.S. government struck another blow the other day for unrest in our Central American and Caribbean back yard."

That is a recycled lead sentence, but it is as accurate today as it was when I wrote it three years ago.

Washington has again cut the quota for sugar imports. This year, foreign suppliers to the American market will be limited to some 1 million tons, down from 1.7 million in 1986.

To be fair, the Department of Agriculture had no choice in decreasing the cut. It is mandated under a support program adopted by Congress in 1981 that sets limits on sugar imports based upon domestic production — the more sugar American producers send to market, the less from foreign growers is allowed into the country.

The original intent was to stabilize a highly volatile commodity market. By controlling supply, a boom-and-bust cycle has been eliminated.

But the effect has been an artificially high price — about 21 cents a pound compared to 5 cents on the world market — that American consumers must pay for pure sugar. This also affects the cost the many products that contain sugar.

The program has proved a windfall for the very few at the expense of the many.

In addition to harming American consumers, the support program could have a devastating effect on the sugar-growing nations to our south, which should be our primary suppliers — but which too often find themselves virtually shut out of their most important market.

These are the very countries which the Reagan administration's Caribbean Basin Initiative, pushed through Congress in 1983, is supposed to assist via "more liberal access to the U.S. market to spur their economic development."

Those words are recycled, from a recent release by the Heritage Foundation on the sugar quota. Once again I find myself in essential agreement with unflinchingly conservative Heritage. The foundation makes the further point that the shrunken sugar quotas "have certainly not helped but have added to the problems of their (Caribbean basin countries') fragile economic and social systems."

U.S. Military Installations Readied For Terrorist Strikes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. military installations worldwide are on heightened alert today against possible terrorist attacks in retaliation for the capture of a suspected hijacker of a TWA jetliner, the Pentagon says.

Notice of the intensified security precautions Wednesday came a day after the United States formally asked West Germany to extradite Mohammed Ali Hamadel, 22, a Palestinian Shiite Moslem, to stand trial on charges of air piracy and murder in connection with the June 1985 hijacking of a plane to Beirut.

A Navy diver Robert Stethem, of Waldorf, Md., was killed by one of the hijackers.

In Bonn, West Germany, government sources told United Press International there would be no quick extradition. And German newspapers reported that Chancellor Helmut Kohl's government — which faces a general election Sunday — was wavering even on the question of extradition.

Black Leaders Plan Workshops

CUMMING, Ga. (UPI) — Black leaders planned workshops in non-violence to prepare for Saturday's civil rights march and the sheriff of all-white Forsyth County asked residents to stay home this weekend and "cook hamburgers" in their backyards.

Gov. Joe Frank Harris put the National Guard on alert and said Wednesday he will use the troops "if they're needed" to protect the freedom march on the north Georgia county to be led by Coretta Scott King, the Rev. Jesse Jackson, comedian Dick Gregory and other prominent civil rights and political figures.

Sheriff Wesley Walraven, whose officers were overrun last Saturday by white supremacists who threw rocks and bottles and disrupted a march honoring Martin Luther King Jr., has promised to protect this Saturday's march.

Reagan Urged To Sign Water Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is being advised by top aides to veto a $20 billion clean-water bill passed by crushing majorities on Capitol Hill — and identical to one he vetoed last year while Congress was adjourned.

The bill, the first major legislation introduced in the 100th Congress, passed the Senate 93-8 Wednesday minutes after the 82-17 defeat of a $12 billion Reagan-backed plan offered by Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas.

The overwhelming Senate vote followed 406-8 approval by the House Jan. 8 and forewarned another presidential veto would be easily overridden.

But Reagan aides remained adamant. "The president's senior advisers have recommended a veto," said White House spokesman Albert Brashear. "We will await word from the president."

Waite Continues Secret Talks With Kidnappers On Hostages

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Hostage negotiator Terry Waite met secretly with Moslem extremists holding Westerners in Lebanon but the Church of England said speculation about the imminent release of some of the captives was "simply rumors."

Waite, who came to Beirut last week on his first mission since the secret U.S. arms sales to Iran surfaced in November, left his hotel Tuesday night and had not returned by noon today.

"Waite is holding talks with the hostages' kidnappers," Jihad Al Zuhairi, spokesman for the Druze Progressive Socialist Party, told reporters Wednesday at the seaside Riviera Hotel, where Waite is staying.

Speculation grew in Washington and elsewhere that Waite, the special envoy of the archbishop of Canterbury, was preparing to leave Lebanon with at least two hostages, but the Church of England said it had not been informed of such plans.

12 Blacks Massacred In Homes

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Authorities mounted a manhunt for the gunmen who burst into a house in a black township near Durban and killed 12 people, including seven children.

"It was a massacre," police Maj. Charl du Toit said of the attack Wednesday in the black township of Kwamakhuta near the south coast city of Durban. "Some were shot in their beds and some as they were trying to get away."

Officials called the incident the worst terror attack in South Africa since 19 people were killed by a car bomb outside air force headquarters in Pretoria in May 1983.

Authorities blamed the explosion on the African National Congress, the guerrilla group fighting to topple South Africa's white-minority government, and some officials said they suspect the outlawed group in Wednesday's slayings.

Police Kill 9 Protesters

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — Marines and police opened fire today on thousands of angry farmers who marched on the presidential palace demanding land reform, killing at least nine and injuring dozens of others, officials said.

Independent radio reports said at least 36 demonstrators were wounded, including a Japanese student from Tokyo who joined the protest. The reports could not be immediately confirmed.

Authorities at six nearby hospitals reported nine demonstrators, including at least one woman, were killed. At least six of the casualties were shot in the head and two others in the back, a witness said.

Marchers said they were demanding land reform and the distribution of land taken over by the government of Corazon Aquino after the overthrow of Ferdinand Marcos last February.

Military authorities denounced the incident as a "provocation."

Iraq Makes Peace Offer

Iraqi President Saddam Hussein offered Iran a peace plan to end the bloody Persian Gulf War as the Iranian news agency announced the capture of a military township a few miles east of Basra, Iraq's second largest city.

But the state-owned Iraqi News Agency said Iraqi forces contained an 11-day-old Iranian offensive Wednesday.

Raiders Rip No. 1 Scots

Ridenour: 'I've Never Seen Team Play Better'

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
Daytona Beach Community College came into town Wednesday night with an 18-game winning streak, a No. 5 national ranking and a No. 1 state ranking.

The Scurryin' Scots left with their kilts dragging. Seminole Community College, rising to the occasion for its best-ever showing under coach Bill Payne, dominated Daytona, 103-67, before 1,702 delighted fans Wednesday night in Mid-Florida Conference basketball at the SCC Health Center.

The Raiders played so well that DBCC coach Ray Ridenour waved off any embarrassment from the 36-point setback. "They did everything possible right and we did everything possible wrong," he said. "I've never seen a team play better."

"(SCC point guard Darris) Gallagher put on the damdest show I've ever seen. He did everything tonight."

Payne couldn't explain the wide margin either. "I feel bad for Ray. We are not 36 points better than the No. 5 team in the nation," he said. "No way did I think it would end up this way. I didn't think anybody from the Celtics on down could beat Daytona by 36 points."

SCC, 22-2 and ranked No. 4 in the state, won for the eighth consecutive time and improved to 6-1 in the conference. Daytona Beach, 22-2, fell to 6-1 in the MFC. Jacksonville's Florida Community College completes the three-way 6-1 MFC deadlock. Seminole hosts St. Johns River Saturday while Daytona and FCC-J get together in Jacksonville. SCC and DBCC go at it again Feb. 14 at Daytona.

Everybody had a field day for the Raiders. Point guard Darris Gallagher tossed in 18 points and handed out 12 assists. Barry Dunning was perfect from the floor, hitting all nine floor shots for 18 points. Malcolm Houston connected on six 3-pointers, finishing with 20 points.

"We played good basketball from the jump ball on," Houston, who almost attended DBCC before deciding on SCC, said. "They weren't sorry. We were just that good."

Vance Hall, despite sitting out 14 minutes of the first half, had 14 points. Claude Jackson tossed in 12 points and plucked 10 rebounds. James Morris had 10 points. Rob Williams came off the bench for 10 rebounds. Holly Keller turned in a solid floor game.

"There wasn't anybody who came off that bench that didn't do well," Payne said. "We practiced for their triangle-and-2, 1-3-1 chaser and box-and-1. We knew everything they were going to do."

Sanford's Darryl Merthie turned in the best effort for the Scots. The former Lake Mary High standout had a team-high 16 points, three assists and two steals.

"We couldn't handle Darris (Gallagher)," Merthie said. "That was the key. We didn't shoot very well either and they beat us pretty bad on the boards. Another thing, they had good bench strength. I guess we were too excited."

Morris, a powerful 6-3 forward, said the Raiders concentrated on rebounding. "We hammered and pounded on the rebounds," he said about the 48-34 SCC advantage. "We knew we had to control the glass."

The Raiders shot 53 percent while taking a 47-34 first-half lead. The Scots could manage just 40 percent. Gallagher and Houston each had 12 at intermission while Dunning had 10. Cedric McCoy had nine for the Scots.

Dunning, in particular, played a big role. Hall, who blocked four shots in the first six minutes, picked up his second foul with 14:15 left in the half. "Vance was throwing their shots all over the place. He had them intimidated," Payne said. "I didn't know what would happen when he went out."

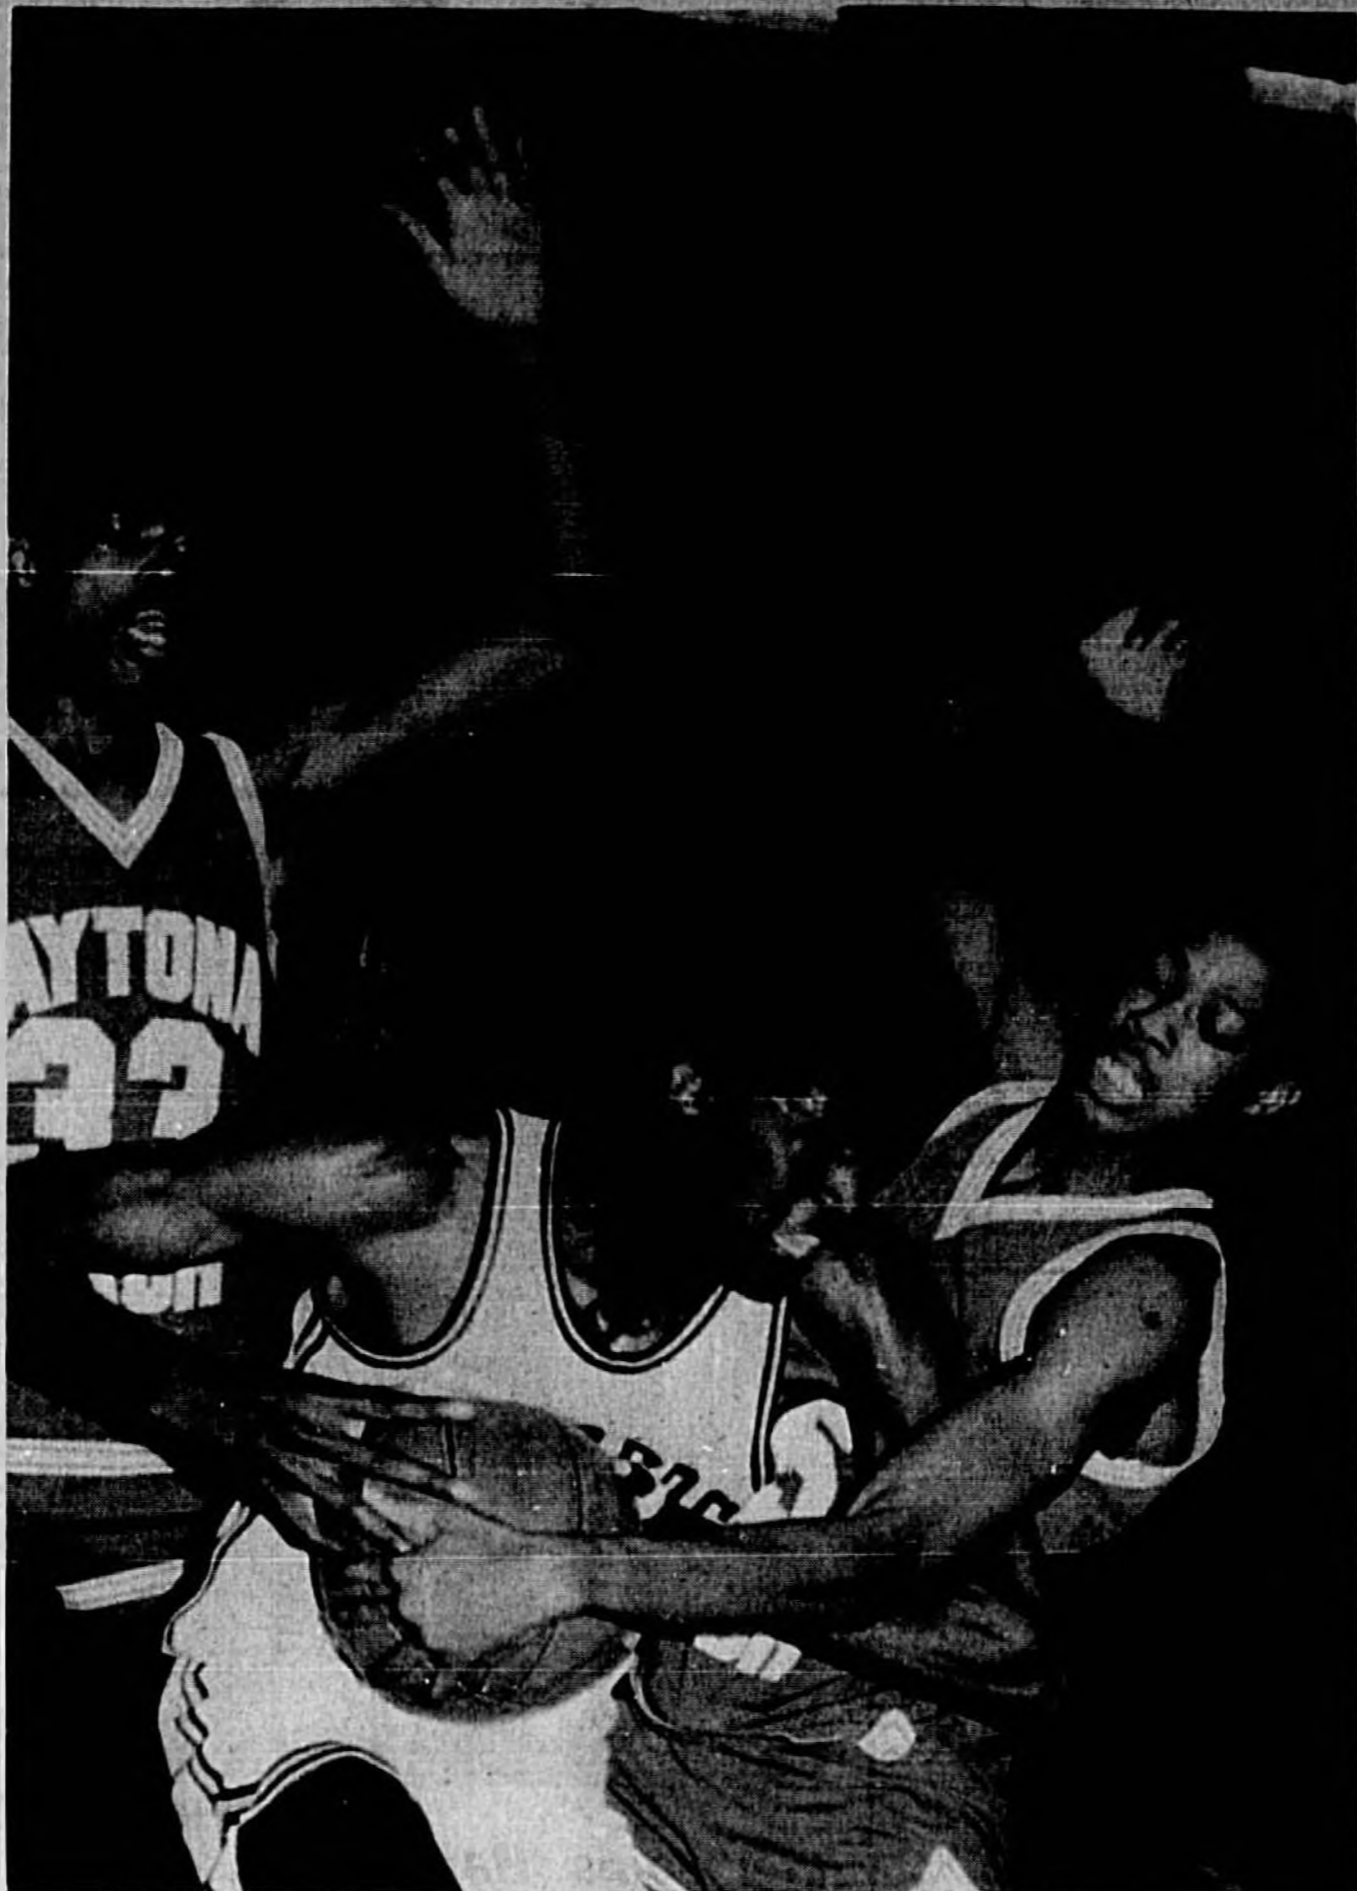

Hall, though, said he wasn't concerned. "When I went out, I knew Jackson or Dunning would carry the load inside. I wasn't worried."

SCC led, 13-7, when Dunning entered. Seven minutes and eight Dunning points later, the Raiders blew the bulge to 29-17. "After I made my first couple of shots, I felt good," Dunning said. "They were sagging off me and giving me the open shot."

Two minutes later, Merthie's 18-footer pulled DBCC within 10 but Gallagher scored seven of the Raiders' next 23 points as SCC took a 13-point lead into intermission.

The Raiders exploded in a hurry after halftime. They outscored the Scots, 16-4, in just four minutes to take a 63-38 lead. Houston had eight of the points, the last one a 3-point bomb which forced Ridenour to call a time out.

Midway through the second half, two Jackson free throws and a slam by the 6-7 sophomore pushed the lead to 70-42. Four Gallagher free throws and Dunning's seventh consecutive bucket blew it up to 76-47. Two buckets by Hall preceded conventional RAIDERS, Page 9A

Benton Returns With Dynamic Stars

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer
Depleted yet still dynamic, Florida Community College-Jacksonville's Lady Stars roll into Sanford tonight for a key Mid-Florida Conference clash against Seminole Community College's Lady Raiders.

The Lady Stars, the fifth-ranked JUCO team in the nation, come in with a 19-1 overall record, averaging 91 points per game while holding opponents to 58.8. Because of injuries and academic ineligibilities, FCC-J is down to seven players, but coach Lyndal Worth says those seven can still play with anyone in the nation.

"We lost two starters and one of our top reserves to academics," Worth said. "But these seven kids have just responded beautifully. We defeated Santa Fe, 102-80, and finished with four players."

Seminole Community College comes in with a record of 12-6 overall and a five-game winning streak. The game will tipoff at 7:30 tonight at the SCC Health Center.

Tonight's game also marks the return of Sanford's Mona Benton, a 1985 Seminole High graduate and twice the Sanford Herald prep Player of the Year. Benton is averaging 8.2 points per game for the Lady Stars this season, is shooting 51 percent from the field, 70 percent from the free throw line and adds 2.4 assists per outing.

"She (Benton) is getting as much game time as anyone else," Worth said. "And she has been playing really well for us."

The Lady Stars start point guard Val Avant, an all-america candidate who averages 15.6 points and 8.4 assists per game, two guard Lisa Jones (15.1 ppg), forwards Angle Scott (11.2) and Violet Dummett (10.2) and 6-3 center Jan Arrington (10.6 points, 10.2 rebounds).

Benton and Antillea Mobley (6.5 points, 6.8 rebounds) are the two reserves for the Lady Stars. Worth said she hopes to have forward-center Betty Fishmon, a Titusville Astronaut graduate, back by state tournament time.

"We were fourth in the nation last year and I think we're a better basketball team this year," Worth said.

The Lady Raiders, who lost a 50-point game to the Lady Stars at Jacksonville early this month, will look to control the tempo and not let the fast-breaking Lady Stars get a big lead early.

Polite Won't Limp Tonight Vs. Seminole

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

Daytona Beach Mainland all-stater Mike Polite twisted his ankle Tuesday night against city rival Father Lopez but you can bet he will be sufficiently healed when the Bucs invade Sanford tonight to play the Seminoles.

Tipoff is 8 p.m. Sanford's WUEZ-AM (1400) will begin its pregame at 7:50 p.m.

Polite, Seminole's chief district-championship roadblock, went down with 3:17 left in the third quarter. Mainland coach Dick Toth kept him down the rest of the game as the Bucs pulled out a 63-53 victory.

"There was no reason to take a chance on playing him," Toth said Wednesday via telephone from Mainland High. "Not with the week we have coming up. We've got Sanford Thursday, Spruce Creek next Tuesday and New Smyrna Beach next Friday."

Toth said his Florida State-bound center's ankle did swell up and Polite was limping, but he was in the clinic and was expected to be close to 100 percent. That translates into 25.6 points and 13.3 rebounds.

Polite is joined by guards Derrick Henry (16.1 ppg), Brian Morris (7.8 assists) and Vern McIntyre (7.1 ppg) along with forward Barry Powers who is quickly replaced by supersub Kenny Mackeroy (12.3 ppg).

"We are going to try and keep those other guys down, hold down the turnovers and play Polite as tough as we can," Seminole coach Bill Klein said.

Seventh-ranked Mainland, 13-1, has handed ninth-ranked Seminole, 13-4, two of its four blemishes. Once by 11 points and again by 12 points. Toth said he knows Seminole has been playing better (seven consecutive victories), but his Bucs have only been playing well enough to beat the competition lately.

"We're a good basketball team but we have weaknesses," he said. "When they start to do a little too much individualism, we're very beatable."

"We have one superstar but the other four guys are usually out-heighted at every position. That is the way it will be again tonight."

Either 6-8 Craig Walker (9.7 rebounds, 3.3 blocks) or 6-10 Brad Baird will be in the pivot for coach Bill Klein. Roderick Henderson (16.1 ppg) and Jerry "Stiek" Parker (15.2 ppg) are the forwards. Andre Whitney (10.1 ppg, 6.2 assists, 3.2 steals) and Michael "Spud" Edwards (4.9 assists) are the guards.

Whitney, who leads the county in assists and steals, has played well of late, teaming with reliable Henderson, speedy Edwards and torrid-shooting Parker to give Seminole a potent offensive attack. Whitney, Parker and Henderson also go to the boards very well.

Walker leads in rebounds and blocks. Baird turned in his best outing — 10 points and seven boards — last week against Lyman. Reggie "Spook" Bellamy, Steve Hathaway, Walter Hopson and Freddie Gadson have been bonuses from the bench.

Toth said Seminole's progress has evolved because of more familiarity with Klein. "Any time you have a new coach, it takes a while to dwell into his philosophy," he said. "They never got unbound last year. They went 2-1 at the Rotary (Tipoff Classic) this year. They lost to us again and then Spruce Creek. Then, Miami Senior."

"Sanford has not lost to a rinky dink. They have lost to three very good basketball teams."

Toth said he knows it will be tougher to beat Seminole at home but he relishes coming to Sanford. "I think it definitely creates a problem playing at Sanford," he said. "But, to be honest, it seems like people enjoy good basketball there and it is never a problem with attitude. Both teams will play hard. A good rivalry has developed over the years."

Klein said the homecourt edge will only prevail if the fans come out. "We don't seem to have much of an advantage," he said. "We're playing better. That's the advantage. It is important for us to beat them this time and everything time from now on."

STIFF TEST — Seminole's unbeaten freshman team should receive a stiff test tonight when it plays Lyman at Lyman. The Greyhounds, 9-1, have lost just once — to Seminole.

Simms Receives Broncos' Defensive Message

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — The Denver Broncos made it clear what they thought of the New York Giants offense before the start of their Nov. 23 game.

The Broncos won the toss and elected to kick off. Denver then held the Giants to 262 yards and no touchdowns, although New York won 19-16 at Giants Stadium.

When the two teams meet Sunday at the Rose Bowl in Super Bowl XXI, the Giants will try to gain respect from the Broncos defense.

"The last time we played them, to show what they thought of our offense, they won the opening toss and elected to kick off," Giants quarterback Phil Simms said Wednesday. "They made a statement and we heard it."

The Giants also elected to kick off to start the NFC Championship Game against Washington. But the wind was gusting to 25 mph in that game, and the Giants wisely decided to get the wind early and capitalized on the advantage for a 10-0 opening-period lead.

When the Broncos played at Giants Stadium, the wind blew at a mere 8 mph.

"We feel sometimes we want to send a message right away that says we're not in awe of your offense and we came to play," Broncos cornerback Mike Harden said. "We're telling you we're coming at you defensively and it's going to be a long day."

Although Joe Morris gained 106 yards on 20 carries against Denver, the Giants failed to make the big plays against the Broncos until their final drive.

"We were able to get a lot of people tackling Joe Morris," Denver linebacker Jim Ryan said. "He broke a couple of runs but we were happy with the way we handled them."

Football

"Sometimes when we play a team with a great defense, (Coach) Dan Reeves decides to start off the game with our defense and try to get good field position."

The Giants hit big plays when they had to in the final minutes against Denver. Simms took them 55 yards in 1:49 to set up Raul Allegre's game-winning 34-yard field goal with six seconds left. Simms threw for 24 yards to Bobby Johnson on a third-and-21, then found Phil McConkey for 46 yards to the 15.

Simms completed 11 of 20 passes for 148 yards and was sacked three times by the Broncos.

"When we walked off the field after the game, particularly the defense, we were disappointed we didn't have the victory," Harden said. "We said 'Man, we wish we could play them again.' What better time to play them again than the Super Bowl."

The Giants maintain their offense has improved since Nov. 23, but are wary of the Broncos defense.

"I feel like we're the underdogs," said Simms, whose team is favored by 10 points. "We didn't do what we wanted against them the first time. The thing about their defense is they have speed. If there's a weakness on our offense, it's we don't have great speed."

Sizzling Lady Seminoles Blitz DeLand

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer
Seminole High's Lady Seminoles have had hot streaks before in the 1986-87 season, but never one that lasted an entire ballgame.

Wednesday night, the Lady Noles hit a sizzling 67 percent from the field (30 of 45) and the free throw line (12 of 18) as they barbecued the Lady Bulldogs from DeLand, 72-42, at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

"That's without a doubt the best we've shot and the most points we've scored all year," Seminole coach Charles Steele said. "The kids are really improving and playing with more intensity every game."

Seminole, which started the season with an 0-5 record, including an overtime loss to DeLand, has won seven of its last nine ballgames to draw even at 7-7 overall. The Lady Tribe returns to Seminole Athletic Conference action (2-1) Friday at home against Oviedo.

Basketball

A pair of sophomores, point guard Adrian Hillsman and forward Liz Long, were the hottest of the hot for the Lady Noles Wednesday night. Hillsman connected on 12 of 14 shots from the floor and 7 of 10 from the foul line for a game-high 31 points. Long fired in 10 of 12 from the floor and finished with 20 points. Hillsman also had nine steals and three assists while Long added six steals and five rebounds. Junior guard LaShon Cash also had a good night as she hit 4 of 6 from the field and 2 of 2 free throws for 10 points. Chneta Gilchrist contributed six points.

DeLand was playing without one of its top players in Shawn Lane, but the Lady Bulldogs, behind the play of C.C. Hayden and Wendy Eaby, stayed within two points, 14-12, at the end of the first quarter. Hayden had 14 points for the game while Eaby tossed in 12.

DELAND (42) — Hayden 14, Lovette 6, Eaby 12, Porcell 2, Streetman 4, Fennell 4, Curry 4. Totals 15-42-42.

SEMINOLE (72) — Scott 0, Cash 10, Hillsman 31, Toombs 2, Long 20, Reddick 3, Gilchrist 6. Totals 30-12-18-72.

Halftime — Seminole 37, DeLand 24. Fouls — DeLand 15, Seminole 12. Fouled out — none. Technical — none.

Calcium Count Level And Gland Problems

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm 67, and my calcium count stays between 10.9 and 10.5. My alkaline phosphate has gone from 144 to 183 in a year. My doctor wants to do surgery on the parathyroid gland, which he says is small and does not show up on X-rays. Can you tell me more about these symptoms?

DEAR READER — A calcium level of 10.5 to 10.9 is minimally elevated. However, your alkaline phosphate is rising; this indicates the likelihood that the alkaline-phosphate enzyme is being released into the bloodstream because of rapid bone turnover.

The parathyroid gland regulates calcium (and bone) metabolism. Therefore, your doctor is correct in wanting to make sure that the gland is not overworking and producing the abnormal lab tests. A parathormone assay (a test that measures the amount of parathormone hormone) would be a valuable piece of information to have before letting the surgeon operate. I think that a more common cause of your laboratory abnormalities is Paget's disease of bone, a condition of unknown cause that is characterized by simultaneous bone breakdown and repair. A bone scan will highlight the areas of bone change. If you have Paget's disease, no treatment is necessary. However, if your parathyroid hormone level is high, surgery will be advisable to remove the diseased part of the gland.

DEAR DR. GOTT — What is the cure for laziness? I'm 64, single, can't see too well and have had no ambition lately. What's happening to me?

DEAR READER — Laziness has a moral connotation: Somehow, a lazy person can force himself (or be more motivated) to be less lazy. If you are fatigued and have no ambition, there could be a physical cause — such as anemia or a low-thyroid condition. Depression also can cause lack of energy. Rather than considering yourself lazy, see a doctor for a complete examination. Loss of ambition is more likely due to a physical or mental cause than to sheer cussed laziness.

Dr. Gott's new Health Report on IRRITABLE BOWEL SYNDROME explains the symptoms and management of this common problem. Send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to mention the title.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

On this deal the defenders realized that their heads were not just pegs on which to place their hats. When West led the queen of hearts, declarer won the ace and played dummy's A-K of clubs. Now declarer played a low diamond to his jack and West's king. Knowing that declarer had four club winners in his hand if he could get the lead, West wisely abandoned hearts, playing the spade king and another spade instead. East won the second spade with his jack, cashed the spade ace and played back the nine. Declarer could win the fourth spade in dummy but now had to play away from the A-10 of diamonds again. When he chose to play the ace first and then another diamond, East took two more diamond tricks to set the contract two tricks. Good thinking on the part of both defenders. So what's the problem?

Just a minor point. It is natural when defending against no-trump to continue a suit in which you are winning tricks. What then would happen if West were allowed to win the first trick with his heart queen? If he thought his partner held the king or ace of hearts, he would very likely continue with a second heart. Declarer could then happily discard the A-K of clubs from dummy on the A-K of hearts and cash out his six good clubs to make nine tricks and his contract. Maybe West would be clever enough to abandon hearts at the second trick, especially with a discouraging signal from East, but then again, maybe not.
