

Chicago And Villanova Won, But Many Pick-The-Winner Lists Didn't Contain Them

14 Answer Correctly And First 10 Will Get Milane Tickets

Chicago's unexpected victory over Illinois and Temple's fall at the hands of Villanova caused most of Sanford's Pick-the-winner fans to lose in last week's contest, but 16 out of the 86 lists turned in were correct.

Those who will receive two Milane Theater tickets each for Wednesday's double feature program are: H. D. Lagona, E. H. Cullum, Dorothy Warren, Mrs. Hudson, Hester, John Morgan, Donald Lamson, Charles Satcher, Mrs. W. C. Satcher, D. D. Welborn, and Webber Welborn.

Six others also submitted correct guesses but since only the first 10 correct lists win, these

Pick-The-Winner Lists Must Be In By Thursday Noon

Pick-the-winner fans must get their lists into The Herald office not later than noon Thursday (Thanksgiving Day) this week in order to be eligible for next week's theater tickets.

Since some of this week's games are played on Thursday some on Friday night, and others on Saturday, it was decided to allow fans to choose any games played any time from Thanksgiving through Saturday night.

This is the last week of The Herald's pick-the-winner contest and the sponsors hope that a record breaking number of lists will be submitted before noon Thursday this week.

Black-Draught's Refreshing Relief

Don't neglect constipation! Take Black-Draught at the first sign you need something to help restore regular elimination.

"I feel like Black-Draught is a mighty good medicine and don't know how I would get along without it," writes Mrs. W. D. Jewers, of Minden, La. "I take it for constipation and biliousness. When I let myself get constipated, I feel dull, sluggish and drowsy; can't settle down to my work for that tired feeling. I take a small dose of Black-Draught at bedtime for several nights and soon feel fine. If I am bothered with a tight feeling of gas on the stomach, I take a pinch of Black-Draught after meals."

Black-Draught costs less than most medicines for constipation. Get a 25-cent package, today! -Adv.

Highest Praise Is Given Karl Lehmann At Farewell Dinner

Friends In Seminole And Other Counties Voice Appreciation Of Capable Service

Leaving Seen As Loss To County

Friends Are Sure Of Lasting Good From Secretary's Work

Called Dynamic

Hearing words of praise upon Commercial Secretary Karl Lehmann and Mrs. Lehmann, friends of the retiring secretary of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce gathered around the banquet table in the Mayfair Hotel last night, bid them "God-speed" in their new (yet old) home in Lake county where Mr. Lehmann next week takes up his work as secretary of that county's Chamber of Commerce.

The farewell dinner was attended by nearly 200 men and women from Seminole and adjoining counties who by their presence attested the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Lehmann were held in this section, and as each of the several speakers recounted some of the accomplishments of the hard-working executive—the word "dynamic" was applied by many in describing his personality—they showed by their applause that they agreed with those who were given a place on the program. As B. F. Haines of Altamonte Springs, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce praised it: "Everyone present would be glad of the opportunity to tell how much they think of Karl Lehmann."

Very respectfully,
KARL LEHMANN.

Mr. M. Papworth, president of the Seminole County trade body, was toastmaster. The principle speakers were Mayor T. L. Dumas, Chairman John Meish, Sr., of the Board of County Commissioners, Vice President Haines of the commercial group, President Hamilton Holt, L. D., of Rollins College, and Circuit Judge Millard B. Smith of Titusville.

Two short musical programs were presented under the direction of Frank Bell of Deland, and at the close of the stated program.

RRA Officials Making Survey Of Crops Here

Further Information Is Being Sought As Basis For Granting Loans To Producers

Seeking information of the ground (loan and learning) the requirements of growers in this section, they can more intelligently pass on applications for loans, two officials of the Rural Rehabilitation Administration arrived in Sanford this morning. They are H. H. Scott, farm extension supervisor and W. W. Lawson, market specialist.

Mr. Scott said that their office in Gainesville, central office in meeting the requirements here. He said that the situation in Seminole County is very generally from that in other regions, and he instructed the two officials to make an intensive study of the situation here to be used as Mr. Scott phrased it: "That we may more intelligently pass on applications for loans."

Meeting first in the office of G. H. Dawson, county agent, the RRA officials planned the present session in company with Mr. Dawson and G. W. Howell, RRA director for this county. They said they did not know how long they would be here.

Mr. Scott said Mr. Howell was unable to stay when he was here, but he will be available on Wednesday. The two officials leave again this morning.

25-Year Service Emblem Given W. H. Singletary

Another Severn service emblem has been awarded to W. H. Singletary, a long-time employee of the Atlantic Coast Lines. Mr. Singletary, the retired engineer, started work with the A. C. L. on Oct. 10, 1910, and his continuous service since was recognized yesterday when the emblem was presented to him by J. H. Benson, general foreman in charge of H. H. Stevens, manager in charge of the plant. Mr. Singletary is generally called "Uncle Sam" and is a resident of Sanford. He is 62 years of age and is still in good health.

Mr. Singletary's service with the A. C. L. has been continuous for more than 25 years, and his emblem shows a steam locomotive, the ship, and a train. He is a member of the Sanford Rotary Club and is a member of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

Wallace Issues Warning Against Coloring Fruit

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26. (AP)—A threat of prosecution is voiced by Secretary Wallace, in a warning to the citrus industry against the coloring process of oranges to conceal inferior fruit. Orange producers and shippers were notified that on and after Sept. 1, 1935, action under the food and drug act would be taken against persons shipping in interstate commerce any fruit stained by the simulation of oranges of greater maturity and flavor, or of superior variety.

An agriculture department official, who declined to have his name used, expressed the view that the secretary's policy ultimately would end use of coloring dyes on orange peels.

"A very large number of consumers," he said, "are protesting against the practice of staining by addition of color," the order said. "The department is that purchasers are being deceived by such staining, even under the required informative labeling."

Members of the industry using dyes contend the purpose is not to conceal inferior fruit but to provide a uniform appearance to stimulate purchases.

Past Presidents Of Kiwanis Are To Be Feted Wednesday

Rain May Halt Next Push Of Italian Arms

ROME, Nov. 26. (AP)—One hundred Ethiopian, including two provincial governors, were reported killed in an official communiqué issued at Rome describing a battle north of Dolo on the southern front in Italy's campaign of occupation in Ethiopia. Italian losses were announced as four native soldiers killed, five wounded and two missing.

Rain over all fronts somewhat impeded preparations for new Italian advances and provided a dreary dirge for Lay Yasu, deposed ruler, who died in exile through persistent downpours in pursuing enemy bands from the Temben and Gherena regions west of Makala on the northern front. Nations told Italian correspondents the rain might prevent a set season which could seriously impact the next month of rains. But Fascist troops forced themselves with preparation for a push southward.

Local Red Cross Chapter Is Close To Its $400 Goal

Three hundred and twenty-three residents of Seminole County have enrolled this year in the American Red Cross, according to a report made at a meeting of the directors Monday afternoon. As all districts have not yet returned in final reports, J. W. Lawton, County chairman, is hopeful the $400 goal for this County will be reached. Mr. Lawton said today that five communities in the County and several sections of the City have not filed reports.

Justices Divided Five To Six On Ruling; Majority Upholds Graduated Licenses

Flat 1/2 Percent Sales Tax Okeyed

Schools Will Receive Over $2,750,000 Additional Revenue

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 26. (AP)—The State Supreme Court in a five to one decision today upheld the occupational license scale and the one-half of one percent tax on gross receipts in the chain store tax law enacted by the 1935 Legislature for public school financing. It held the Legislature's proposal for a graduated scale of gross receipts tax on gross receipts to be unconstitutional.

Justice McMillen dissented from the majority opinion. He would have upheld the graduated scale of gross receipts tax and the one-half of one percent tax on gross receipts.

Clements Directs Exhibit Publicity During N. Y. Show

Active Newspaper Man Has Been In Work 61 Years

DELAND, Nov. 26. Sixty-one years of adventurous newspaper work, taking him to the far places of the world, have not dimmed the enthusiasm of George H. Clements for the drama and color of the reporter's life.

Filled with the true "spirit of '76" in his age, Mr. Clements has gone to New York to continue to the public the Florida exhibit in Rockefeller Center. To The Stetson Reporter, University newspaper, he said:

"When I did I will be satisfied if they put the emphasis on my tombstone. It was a good report."

He is proud of his journalistic career in almost every important American city. Mr. Clements has excelled the globe as war correspondent, taking in the Boer War in South Africa and the Boxer Rebellion in China. But his favorite dish is the Latin American revolution served hot. He has shared in seen of them.

"Follow the insurgents and stay away from the government forces," the veteran newspaperman advised writers for the university newspaper, workshop of the journalism department. "The rebels will give you the news and let you see some real campaigning. But the federals will try to keep you up with a gun."

"Once I saw almost too much down in the Mexican war, the federals capture me and sent me to the States. But I escaped the black wall because a friend of mine happened to be the president of Mexico."

Produce from Sanford, Seminole County produce, and some from other sections of the state, will be shipped from Sanford to the New York exhibit on Wednesday night by express. Ben Whittier in charge of the exhibit, said today. Tomatoes and cucumbers come from the Miami section, strawberries from Plant City, but all other produce from the immediate vicinity of Sanford.

The Redskins Are Coming!

As we read of homes being built in south Florida with water proof storm cellars into which the residents may retire when hurricane winds become dangerous, and of the gas proof vaults which are being added to most houses, huts, and other buildings in Paris, Berlin, and Rome, we are reminded of what the pioneers who settled this country had to put up with in early colonial days. They didn't have to build storm cellars, or gas proof vaults but they did have to provide themselves with blockhouses and palisades to protect them from the Indians.

"Even New York City has a faint souvenir of Indian ferocity in the name of Wall Street, site of the palisade erected by the Dutch for general defensive purposes but especially with a wholesome fear of Algonquians in their hearts," says the New York Herald Tribune. "This fossil of very early colonial days, when almost the entire white population of North America lived in dread of Indian massacre, is so encrusted with other associations that it suggests to few contemporaries a bulwark against arrows and warwhoops. Easterners, generally, have forgotten—and long ago—that generations of their forefathers needed shelter from Indians almost as universally as shelter from weather; that it cost much money and many lives to protect border settlements until relatively few years ago in the West."

"A correspondent in 'The Kansas City Times' has recently recalled how the Apaches terrorized parts of the Southwest for nearly half a century until Geronimo, their chieftain, was captured in 1886. The Seminoles were the most troublesome of all Indians that had to be subdued after the founding of the nation, if a list of important campaigns of the United States Army since the Whiskey Rebellion is admitted as evidence."

"Of sixty-two campaigns forty-four were against the Indians. Among the Indians who rated a 'war' in the nineteenth century were the Apaches, Creeks, Seminoles, Cherokees, Black Hawks, Cayuses, Sioux, Modocs, Yakimas, Chyunnas and Arapahoes; and the most troublesome of the lot, measured in time spent subduing them were the Seminoles. Seminole wars took place in 1817-18, 1835-42, 1855-57. The seven-year Seminole war that was taking place a century ago was the most desperate and costly Indian war in our history. Thousands of lives were lost and $10,000,000 was spent during it."

So, surprisingly enough, it is Florida and not in the West that has seen the hottest and most expensive Indian fighting of the United States Army, the long tussle with the Apaches and the Sioux, notwithstanding.

Youth On Relief

Do you know how many young men and women there are in the United States who are on relief themselves or who are members of relief families? According to Aubrey Williams, director of the National Youth Administration, who bases his estimates on figures submitted to him by the Division of Research, Statistics, and Finance of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, there are approximately 2,575,000 young people, between 16 and 25 years of age who fall in this category.

This figure reveals that one out of every six persons who were on relief or dependent upon relief checks in May, 1935, were young people under 25 years of age. Of all the youths on relief, two out of every seven were 16 to 17 years of age—in the high school classification. This places some 800,000 young people in this group. Five out of every seven youths on relief, or members of families on relief, were 18 to 24 years of age—in the college or business or industrial group or employed at home.

"In ordinary times," says Mr. Williams, "it is safe to assume that most of the 800,000 youths of high school age on relief would have been in school and most of the 2,000,000 older youths would have been attending college or engaged in productive enterprise of one sort or another. Two out of every five youths estimated to be on relief as of last May lived in rural areas, and three out of every five were found in cities or the larger towns. Of every 25 youths on relief status, 21 are white and four are colored."

Further analysis of the urban youths on relief who were not working or seeking work is said to have revealed that 3,000 males and 5,000 females between the ages of 16 and 17, were classified as physically disabled or suffering from chronic illness and 10,000 males and 23,000 females, between the ages of 18 and 24, were likewise classified.

Analysis of the estimated number of rural youths receiving relief in May, 1935, reveals that 520,000 were not working or seeking work, while 527,000 were either working or seeking work.

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

Wednesday was a gala occasion in Sanford on a small scale for on that day the Klansmen delegation came to town to inspect the buildings. They were here at the invitation of the Sanford Building Co. to inspect the buildings to be the grounds of the city and of Lake Monroe primarily and also what resulted in doing in the way of improvements. Among those from Klansmen were the following: Congressman W. J. Stone, Mr. Stone and Joe Brown, J. W. Thompson, Eugene Ryan, Joe K. Johnston, Sam H. Clay, Studard, J. H. Lee, Nathan Ross, H. Katz, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Wagner, T. E. Oliver, E. T. Baker, J. H. Wilson, Joe Griffin, and E. E. Hough.

The many friends of H. C. Franklin were invited to hear of his death which occurred on Tuesday at the home of his son, J. W. Franklin, on Sanford Heights. He was 52 years of age and after a brief illness of several days he passed away peacefully at 10:30 a. m. on Tuesday. He was buried in the cemetery at 11:30 a. m. on Wednesday.

Mr. E. W. Hough and son, Guy Hough, of Sanford and Mrs. Hough's daughter, Mrs. William Clay, and lady of Sanford Heights, Tuesday evening attended in person the funeral of H. C. Franklin. The funeral was held at 11:30 a. m. on Wednesday at the home of J. W. Franklin, on Sanford Heights. The burial was held at 1:30 p. m. on Wednesday in the cemetery at Sanford.

Possible Danger Of Canal To Florida Waters Told In Raymond Moley's Magazine

The following article on the Florida Cross-State Ship Canal appeared in the Nov. 23 issue of "Today," magazine of national circulation published by Vincent Astor and edited by Prof. Raymond Moley, formerly No. 1 man of the original "brain trust" in Washington. The article is accompanied by a half page illustration of work on the canal and by a map showing the route the big ditch is to take. It is from the pen of Henry S. Sharpe and reads as follows:

By HENRY S. SHARPE
 Many residents of southern Florida have been opposed to the construction of the Florida Ship Canal on the grounds that it will menace the fertility of their fruit and vegetable lands. Although the building of the canal presents no particular engineering difficulty, it would indeed be serious if the completed canal either disturbed or contaminated water supply vital to the health and economic security of property owners in southern Florida.

The Ocala type of Florida limestone is a soft rock, porous and honeycombed with caverns and underground channels. In an unbroken sheet, probably never over 500 feet thick, it underlies all Florida at varying but usually quite predictable depths. Because water percolates through its pores spaces and flows along its underground channels very easily, it is Florida's most important source of underground water. Not only is water removed from it for many human uses including irrigation, but such famous springs as Silver Springs find their source in it. So easily does the limestone absorb water and allow its movement that wells have been drilled into this rock to allow the underground escape of sewage and surface water.

In the northwestern part of peninsular Florida, in an oval area extending parallel to the west coast for about 150 miles and having a width of 50 miles, the Ocala limestone occurs at the surface. Here it is above sea level, but like an inverted platter the sheet of limestone slopes gently and evenly outward and downward in all directions from its surface area, so that wells, after passing through overlying sheets of younger rocks, find the Ocala at Jacksonville 500 feet, and at Palm Beach nearly 1,000 feet, below sea level. Water entering the limestone, either at the surface or after seeping through overlying rocks, tends to remain within it, but under the influence of gravity it moves more or less rapidly down the slope of the sheet. Hence, with the surface area as a center, water within the Ocala formation is constantly being distributed outward below the surface to a large part of Florida, and any disturbance of the water-bearing sheet may have serious consequences.

The Florida Ship Canal will follow a deep gash cut across the southerly end of the surface area of the limestone, where the flow of water within the sheet is southward. Due to varying factors whose influences may tend to counteract each other, the effect of such a trench upon underground water is not exactly predictable, but certain possibilities can be mentioned. Seepage and large springs are expectable on the north wall of the cut, where the southward-flowing water is intercepted. Since the lateral escape of water to east or west by way of the canal will be more rapid than when it formerly flowed on southward within the Ocala formation, the upper level of underground water in a zone, probably quite narrow, north of the canal will probably be lowered. To that extent the level of water standing in lakes, swamps and wells north of the canal might be lowered. If the canal interrupts and reduces the even flow of water within the limestone to the south, the underground water supply will be reduced as far south as Palm Beach. In addition, any reduction in the southward flow of fresh water might allow salt water from the ocean to penetrate up the slope of the Ocala limestone sheet.

Inflow of water into the limestone from the bottom of the canal may maintain the pressure of flow much as now, in which case the level of underground water would only be reduced in a fairly narrow zone immediately south of the canal. In these circumstances, the presence of salt or brackish water in the canal must have a bad effect upon the water supply further south. If by the great inflow of water from springs, streams and seepages or by such means as locks the canal is kept fresh within the area of the Ocala limestone, this possibility of contamination by salt water will be removed. Sewage from ships, however, would notably increase possibilities of bacterial contamination.

Two Officers Found Dead In Parked Car Killed Near Mayo

ROME, Ga., Nov. 25. (AP)—Two Rome policemen were found dead in a radio patrol car here yesterday, apparently victims of carbon monoxide fumes. Dr. Tom Moon, city physician, said a superficial examination indicated they had died from motor fumes. The motor of their patrol car was still running when a negro passerby saw them and reported to police headquarters. A search had been under way for the men since they failed to report in at 7 A. M. to go off duty. The last call from them came at 3:30 this morning, it was said at police headquarters.

EMPLOYMENT GAINS WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—The labor department announced recently that October employment increased 550,000 jobs over September with a corresponding weekly payroll gain of $4,300,000.

School Sickness Now Blamed Upon Nerve Pressure

Effort To Keep Up With Johnny Jones Diagnosed As Cause

ALEXANDER R. GEORGE
WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(AP)

Health specialists are concentrating their attention on a new type of school sickness which is generally a product of the schools.

It is "school sickness" which recently has been definitely identified as a nerve illness brought about by "pressure" on the more or less sensitive child. Dr. James P. Rogers, consultant in hygiene of the United States office of education, says "even tuberculous children will work even better with the child who is in the final stages."

The disease is characterized by irritability, restlessness, anxiety and a highly emotional state. The child usually has a poor appetite, is nervous, and may have a fever.

The symptoms begin soon after school commences and grow worse as the term advances. They are aggravated, physicians say, by mental exertions and by athletic contests.

Dr. Rogers says that in many school systems children (no two of whom are alike even if they are twins) are expected to pass through the same course at the same speed or be labeled "B."

"dull," retarded or "inferior."

The more sensitive child, who cannot keep up the pace in one or more subjects, does his utmost under the well-intended stimulus and the result is an illness as real as measles and unfortunately far more drawn out and full of misery," he said.

To prevent this disease, some health specialists have suggested that the child's report card bear only the remarks "satisfactory" or "unsatisfactory."

Satisfactory would mean that the child was doing as well as could be expected taking into consideration his age, mental, health, degree of social adjustment in the school room and emotional state.

Dr. J. V. Tremont, of Council Bluffs, Ia., credited with being the first to use the term "school sickness" in diagnosing the disease, has advocated that the schools be rid of the "one great evil, pressure."

Dr. Rogers says that while he was visiting a class for physically delicate and possibly tuberculous children in an eastern city, the special teacher informed him that the pupils were permitted to proceed in their studies "at their own pace."

This meant, he says, that only about 100 pupils out of some 75,000 in that city were wholly exempt from conditions which might produce "school sickness." He believes, furthermore, that undoubtedly some of the 100 were in the special classes because of poor nutrition produced by anxiety over school work in regular classes.

"We make much today of medical inspection but the physical defects thus disclosed are trifling in comparison with mental states

Notes As Vice President" By Dawes Attracts More Than Casual Interest

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—

(AP)—Records of personal experiences and observations of the men who have had their hour as public officials in Washington are nothing new. There have been scores of such personal documents written by the great and near-great after they have quit the Washington scene.

One such record, however, has made its appearance here which is attracting more than casual interest. It is entitled "Notes as Vice President," written by Charles G. (Hell n Maria) Dawes.

Joined down at odd moments "on the run," some of the written while Dawes was riding on trains; others while he was forced to listen to interminable debates while presiding over the Senate, "Notes as Vice President" affords an excellent insight on the job once described by "Cactus Jack" Garner as the "fish wheel" of government.

Dawes' assault on the rules of the Senate in his inaugural address as vice president was one of the highlights of his tenure of office. He failed in his efforts to curb filibusters and stop other dilatory tactics of senators, much to his chagrin and discomfiture.

That was on Mar. 4, 1925. On July 19, 1925, he wrote in his "notes" that "The Senate, because of growth of the bloc system and abuse of its rules, is steadily losing its power to act constructively for the nation; and in proportion as the bloc system grows abuses will be more frequent under the rules."

On the same day he noted "the deteriorating parliamentary personnel due in this country to the direct primary." This results in the election of senators "who measured by the leaders of the past are but mediocre after all."

His own reaction to the vice presidency was one of ironic amusement. Toward the close of his term, while sitting in the vice president's room at the capitol he wrote:

"The Vice President's room—come to think of it—is an impressive one." One of his greatest annoyances, however, was that the sightseers constantly were stopping by and peering in. On one such occasion, he recalled that Vice President Marshall called out to a gaping group peering at him, "Well, if you are not coming in, throw me a peanut."

Dawes campaigned for the election of Herbert Hoover, but as the campaign was ending he was not pleased with the turn it had taken. On Oct. 29, 1928, a few days before Hoover was elected, he wrote in his notes:

"I am sorry to say it, but I am afraid that the chief cause of the increased registration and coming landslide is the submerged and widely disclaimed issue arising in the minds of the intolerant because of Governor Smith's religion. Our Constitution gives every man the right to worship God in his own way. We have therefore been comparatively free in our political contests in this country from this ugly prejudice."

"Notes as Vice President" presents the Dawes whom Washington knows best—dry, humor, never exaggerative, always hitting the bull's eye. It portrays the same Dawes who first attracted national attention as the director of the budget by delivering a seven-hour speech before a congressional committee investigating the A. E. P. with his famous expletive, "Hell n Maria!"

No Legion March To Capital For Bonus

DES MOINES, Iowa, Nov. 25.—

The American Legion will urge bonus legislation but will not march on Washington to secure its passage, Ray Murphy, national commander, said.

Murphy's statement was an answer to the advice of U.S. Senator William G. McAdoo, who today advocated that veterans march on the national capitol and "use military tactics" in demanding the bonus.

South Sea Fears Of Japan's Aims Found By Envoy

By GLENN RAIN
TOKYO, Nov. 24. —(AP)—Japan's southern island neighbors, the Philippines and Dutch East Indies, are afraid they lie in the pathway of a Japanese program of westward expansion, said Katsumi Debuschi, former ambassador to Washington, on his return from an official tour of the South Seas. The round and jovial diplomat who held the Washington post from 1928 to 1933, and tried to make the United States take a sympathetic view of Japanese expansion on the continent, was on a "goodwill mission" to the Philippines, New Zealand, Australia and the Dutch Indies.

He told the Japanese press that leaders in the new Philippine commonwealth and in the Dutch colonies "labor under certain delusions with regard to Japan's policy of advance in the southern Pacific."

"An exaggerated view of our expansion in the Pacific area," he said, "is being spread by Holland."

Debuschi said that Japan has no intention of harming her island neighbors in the course of her rise to dominance in the eastern ocean.

In Australia and New Zealand Debuschi said he found friendships toward Japan, with "all former misunderstandings arising from our Manchurian policy dispelled."

Debuschi, who visited Manila in August, emphasized that Japan in her relations with the Philippines through the next 10 years, must avoid causing uneasiness or affront to the still sovereign United States.

"Japan's relations with the islands during the commonwealth period must take full cognizance of American opinion, and the three nations must co-operate along lines of mutual concession," he said.

"It must be admitted, however, that after independence the Philippines, which hitherto have found the chief outlet for their products in the United States, must seek other markets. Economic difficulties probably will hasten the future of the independent Philippine state."

Enrollment in Hawaii's schools is $5,000 this year, or $2,000 more than last year.

Highest Praise Given Lehmann At Farewell Dinner

gram several gifts were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Lehmann, the presentations being made by Mayor Dumas on behalf of the donors. Mr. Lehmann was the last speaker. While the guests were still enjoying their dinner the toastmaster introduced those from out of the county, from DeLand, St. Augustine, Eustis, Kissimmee and Orlando, and read several telegrams from persons who desired to attend the farewell dinner but were unable to do so. County and City Commissioners were also asked to stand.

Mayor Dumas was the first to be called on to address the assemblage, and his statement that Seminole County suffers a distinct loss in the leaving of Mr. Lehmann for another field was echoed by all those who followed him.

"We shall miss Karl's retentive smile, his genial smile, his hearty handshake," said the mayor. However, as Mr. Lehmann is going only as far away as an adjoining county Mr. Dumas expressed the hope that "as will be his friend often and that the long friendship of years will not be lessened."

Chairman, Metch of the County Commission said he was "pleased to find out that some of our citizens appreciate the work Karl Lehmann has done for us," and in addressing his remarks directly to the retiring secretary he said: "I say to you, Karl, that we are going to miss you. In these last four years we have learned a lot from you. You have made boosters out of us. Good luck to you."

Vice President Haines, introduced as one of Mr. Lehmann's closest friends, said that in the three minutes allotted to him on the program he could not begin to say the things he could think of in favor of the man who during the last four years guided the destinies of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Stating that in his opinion "Mr. Lehmann is one of the greatest men in the country," Mr. Haines said that the secretary came here at a time when he was most needed, when the Chamber of Commerce was in its infancy, "but due to his dynamic force, his progressiveness, his inspiration, he has made us a factor and the people solid behind every worthy movement. His work will stand long after he is gone. I feel sure Karl has a bright future. He is one of the biggest men I have ever met. Anything we may accomplish in the future will be due to the training he has given us. If some time he looks back to these years I know it will be with pleasure, for he has made many friends, and no enemies."

"I feel that I voice the sentiments of all," Mr. Haines continued, "when I bespeak for him of the brightest future. And to you, Karl, I want to say that I feel that many here feel as I do, that nothing is more dear than friendship, more lasting, more morbidly in the hearts of men, and we have that friendship for you."

Dr. Holt told how Mr. Lehmann pulled Rollins College out of the doldrums. Coming to Florida 18

William Powell Stars Stetson Next Plays S. Georgia Teachers

Spies will be with us as long as nations hold any espionage toward each other. Therefore, spy dramas are always timely—and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer brings to the screen one of the most gripping stories based on this subject in William Powell's new starring film, "Rendezvous," which opens Wednesday at the Milano Theater.

"Rendezvous" is the story of America's famous spy-catching bureau during the World War, with the science of the cryptographer playing the principle role.

Powell comes to us this time as an entirely different detective from his roles in the past, and the best he has portrayed so far. As a puzzle editor drafted into the spy-catching business at Washington he finds himself embroiled in many complicated situations with many notorious enemy agents as well as with the lovely daughter of the Assistant Secretary of War.

Rosalind Russell, rapidly ascending toward stardom, is seen as Joel, the Secretary's daughter, as well as with the English actress, portrays Olivia, a bewitching spy who proves to be the source of most of Powell's troubles.

Dibbers in the cast, ably directed by William K. Howard, are Lionel Atwill, as Brennan, the British agent; Cesar Romero, the dashing young Russian attaché; Henry Stephenson, as the Russian Ambassador; Samuel S. Hinds, as Assistant Secretary Carver, and Sterling Holloway, as the taxi driver who never heats his cab in the springtime.

Florida Va. Auburn In Miami Saturday

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 24.—The football eyes of the South will turn to the Florida-Auburn game in Miami next Saturday. It will be the second appearance of a Florida football team in Miami, first since 1929, and it will be the debut for an Auburn contingent which in former appearances in the state played either in Gainesville or Jacksonville. It will be the season's biggest gridiron attraction in a truly magic city, where all of the U. S. and much of the world, points during a colorful winter season.

The Gators will not go to Miami lacking in support, for the brilliant 75-piece University of Florida band will be on hand, and a big portion of the student body has planned a Miami sojourn for their Thanksgiving holiday period which begins Wednesday at 5 P. M.

The 1935 rice crop in California is about 7,696,000 bushels, approximately 75 percent of the average.

Celery Feds Will Battle Leesburg Wednesday Night Season's Last Game Believed Certain To Be Interesting

By HENRY SLAUGHTER

After a smashing victory over the weak St. Augustine squad last Friday night, Coach McLucas has his hands full preparing for the Celery Feds' final game of the season with the Leesburg Yellow Jackets next Wednesday night in Leesburg.

This contest has always been an annual Thanksgiving Day game, but this year it is scheduled for Wednesday night as the Rollins College-Wofford game was set for that day before the Sanford-Leesburg game.

Seminole High will give its best exhibition of football tomorrow night as it usually does against its old strong rivals. The Yellow Jackets had the edge over the Celery Feds in the past seasons, but tomorrow night the two teams go on the field evenly matched and it will not be a surprise to any one if either team emerges victorious.

The last time the Celery Feds beat Leesburg was in 1931 when Pete Higgins, Seminole center, scored a touchdown on a freak play to win by a 18-7 score. In 1933 the teams played a hard fought game to a scoreless tie. In 1934 the Yellow Jackets had the breaks in their favor and won another exciting fray by the score of 7-0. Last season the Yellow Jackets racked up another victory over a weak Celery Fed team by the score of 19-0, but tomorrow night the Yellow Jackets are meeting a much better team than they did last season and these boys are full of pep and that determination that it takes to win football games.

Sanford needs a victory over the Leesburg team to place it in the first division in the North-eastern Conference standing. At present the Celery Feds are in the lower division with a standing of .500. Should they end the season in the upper division it would not effect the conference rating. Landon of Jacksonville needs only a victory over the weak St. Augustine team to assure it of the top position under the Dickerson system.

DeLand meets Daytona Beach this week and regardless of the outcome of this game Landon will be at the top of the list, unless of course, it does the unexpected and drops its last game of the season to the St. Augustine team that has lost every game of the season.

The Celery Feds will start as usual with Squires at center where he will make his last bid for a position on the All-Conference team as well as play his last game of high school football. Squires has been the sparkplug of the Celery Fed defense all season and is the outstanding center in the conference. Bob Williams will start at right guard where he has been for the last two seasons. In these two years at guard Bob has displayed an excellent brand of football and deserves much credit for his sportsmanship and dependability. This will be Bob's last game and probably his best.

At left guard will be "King Kong" Williams who has been at this position for two seasons and was chosen as All-Conference guard last year, but has not shown up so well this year due to injuries and illness.

Nevertheless, he will be out there tomorrow night giving his best to beat the Yellow Jackets, and he will be with the team next season to show that this was just a bad season on account of injuries.

At right tackle the Celery Feds will have Franz Wagner, a junior, who has played a good game on the offense and defense this season and will be much improved for next season. The left tackle will be played by Jim Stapler who did not see much play in the earlier games this season, but when given a chance he gave a good exhibition of play and will be back on the gridiron next season causing plenty of trouble for the opposing linemen and backs.

Billy Colbert, one of the outstanding linemen on the Seminole High squad will start at right end and it is a sure bet that Billy will play his usual game—which is always above the average. Billy is only a junior and should go places next season. At left end will be Jack Purdon, another junior, who has been the sparkplug of the Celery Feds' pass attack. Jack has been out there all season spilling the opposing backs and knocking down interference so that one of his teammates could bring down the ball-carrier.

The Seminole back field will be composed of Roy Wright at quarterback where he will run the Seminole team for the last time. Roy has been running the team for the last few games and has shown up better than expected by some. At half back positions will be Billy Zachry and Leen Lawson. These two boys have played a good game all season with Leen doing most of the Celery Feds' kicking and Billy most of the passing. Both are good ball carriers and usually make a good game when given the ball. At fullback the Celery Feds will have Leland McClelland who has displayed one of the best games that has been seen by local fans in the past few seasons. Leland was slow in starting, but when he got over his first few games, he has been the big feature in the Celery Feds' offense.

Jack Morrison and Arthur Moss, both seniors and centers, will probably get into the game for a few minutes as it will be their last chance. Jack has been used quite a bit this season and has shown up well. Arthur was used as a utility player last season and did not get a chance to play at all this season. He has been out there every afternoon and was not used in a game until last week in St. Augustine, but he deserves much credit for helping make the team and it is quite possible that he will get his chance in his last game for Seminole High.

John Mauser, a senior tackle, will probably be given his chance to play a few minutes with the team that he has so patiently helped to develop.

These juniors and sophomores who have been out there all season also deserve credit for the showing that the Celery Feds make even though they have been on the bench all season.

Coach McLucas and every member of the team are sure of a victory over the Yellow Jackets and every one of them has the pep and determination to win. Local fans are urged to go to this game and give the boys the support that they have been needing all season. They have been needing all season. All the Celery Feds came out of the St. Augustine fray with no serious injuries to any of the boys who played a good, fast game to beat the Mulletts 18-0. The Yellow Jackets found plenty of trou-

Boy Boxers Will Put On Exhibition In Oviedo Tonight

Judge Wilkinson will take his boy boxers to Oviedo for an exhibition tonight, the show to be put on for the Men's Club of that town. The bouts scheduled are as follows:

Pete Tillis vs. Clarence Barrineau, both 14 years of age, weights 105 and 100 pounds, respectively; Clifford Williams, 17, vs. J. R. Ellis, 13, weights 103 and 108 pounds; Harry Lee Moore vs. Earl Percy, each 9 years of age, weights 60 and 65 pounds; and Floyd Sparkman vs. Walter Kelly, each 4 years of age, weights 32 and 36 pounds.

The boys put on 10 bouts in the Fourth Street Arena last night, the star performance being between Walter Kelly and Floyd Sparkman, little 4-year-old lads. Other one and one-half minute bouts, all to no decision, were between Earl Percy and Milton Edge, Billy Wilkinson and Harry Lee Moore, Robert Sparkman and Billy Barrineau, Calvin Burch and Hugh Carlton, and between Ray Edge and Duane Tillis. Two-minute, no-decision bouts were put on by Pete Tillis and Clarence Barrineau, Lawrence Barrineau and Joe Johnston, J. R. Ellis and Clifford Williams, and by H. C. Tippins and Ray Edge.

Judge Wilkinson says he wants all the boys out for practice Friday night as that will be the final work-out before the selection of boxers is made for the show to be put on for the American Legion next Monday night.

Colleges Will Play Thanksgiving Game On Leesburg Field

WINTER PARK, Nov. 26. — Determined to give little Georgie Miller some high class blocking when he performs before his home town fans, the Rollins Tars went through a spirited drill yesterday afternoon, in preparation for their game with Wofford College in Leesburg Thanksgiving night.

Used sparingly for the past three games because of an injured ankle, Miller is reported in perfect condition and will more than likely see full time service against the invading South Carolina eleven. Miller will start at quarterback with "B" Young, Bill Carmody, and Bob Howe rounding out the starting backfield.

With the entire forward wall in good shape, Coach McDowell will start the same line he has been using all year, consisting of Tom Powell and Ed Levy, ends; Gus Greaves and Elliot Parker, tackles; Mobley and Argyris, guards; and Winant or Goodwin at center.

Orlando Lad One Of Champion Debaters

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 26. — R. J. Dixon, Pierson, and Martin Regal, Orlando, representing John Marshall Law Club, are the 1935 Interscholastic Debate champions of the University of Florida. Paul Akin, Jacksonville, and Malvin Lobel, Grantwood, N. J., were defeated in the finals. They represented Farr Literary.

Victory by John Marshall Law Club came after a hotly contested final round which brought forth more than usual interest.

H. P. Constans, head of the University's department of speech, judged the debates which brought forth more than usual interest.

Crooms Is Defeated By Team From Miami

Crooms Academy, Sanford, was defeated by Booker T. Washington, Miami, on the football gridiron Saturday by a 7 to 0 score.

During the first quarter Strickland placed a kick, Patrick and W. Johnson made the first gain of 10 yards. Scoring opportunities were great during this quarter. In the second quarter Crooms gained the ball after Miami lost it on downs. On the 22-yard line Patrick completed a pass with Erickland carrying it to first and ten. Strickland attempted another place kick, but the ball was lost on the 20-yard line, though Booker Washington could not make a touchdown, ending the first half.

The third quarter began with Monroe receiving a kickoff gain of two yards and Patrick a 10-yard end run. Rosier punted to Booker Washington, driving a touchdown and extra point, ending the third quarter. The last quarter began with Patrick completing several passes. The ball went to Miami. On the fourth down Singleton intercepted a pass, gaining 35 yards thus ending the game.

"Their Matchless Performance and Modern Beauty Stand Unchallenged"

Duo-Therm Oil Burning Heaters

Installing two separate heaters in your home—a small one for milder weather and a larger one for cold spells—meets with the problem of achieving maximum economy, efficient performance with just the right amount of heat—but it certainly wouldn't be a very practical arrangement. Unnecessary too, for you can get the same results with the beautiful Duo-Therm. Equipped with the revolutionary NEW Duo-Chamber Burner, which instantly doubles the clean fire range and efficiency of such models, the Duo-Therm gives you the advantages of two conventional heaters in one. To this increased range of usability, add beautiful new cabinets, low prices and the best construction standards and you will appreciate how much the Duo-Therm would mean to you in terms of modern heating comfort.

Water Main On Park Ave. To Be Abandoned

City Will Make Connections To Mains
In Alleys Without Cost To Residents

Sidewalk Survey Is Ordered Made

Improvement May Be Provided In Places
Where Necessary

Abandonment of the old water main on Park Avenue was ordered by the City Commission last night and the water department was instructed to connect residences of that avenue with the new water mains recently laid in the alleys on either side of Park Avenue, the work to be done without cost to property owners.

Park Avenue is being widened and the pavement is to be raised so far south as Tenth Street, but the old water main will be abandoned only as far south as Ninth Street at which intersecting street it will be laid into the new alleys mains. Connecting of residences with the new mains is to be done at once so the old main, laid some 40 years ago down the center of Park Avenue, can be abandoned and torn up before the pavement is raised.

The entire cost of the work will be borne by the City except in those cases where property owners wish new pipes used between their meters and the mains. If they want new pipe they must furnish it, but the city will lay the pipe and will do the necessary plumbing without expense.

A DAY OF THANKSGIVING—NOW, AS THEN

F.P. Forster Came to Sanford, Then A Struggling Village, 60 Years Ago Today, Nov. 27

It was 60 years ago today, Nov. 27, 1875, that F.P. Forster arrived in Sanford, Fla., to establish a settlement. He was a young man, only 21 years of age, and he came from the town of Melrose, N.H., where he had been a member of the Congregational Church. He had heard that there was a large tract of land available in the Sanford area and he had decided to come here to start a new life.
