Water order affects school

Midway uses bottled water at school

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Residents of the Midway community are under a boil water order from the Department of Environmental Regulation and the Seminole County Health Department. A broken water line is at risk of causing infections if the pressure is decreased and bacteria are permitted to grow.

At Midway Elementary School, 2251 Midway, officials are taking no chances with the health of the children.

"We're using bottled Zepherhills water until they tell us our water is safe," said principal Leroy Hampton on Friday.

According to Alan Nettles, environmental coordinator for the district's facilities department, the

Judie Fullen is Seminole County's senior secretary

Secretary says she is occasional public pacifier

SANFORD — To many people who call Seminole County government offices, senior secretary Judie Fullen is Seminole County.

"They're tired of being shuffled around, transferred five times," says Fullen. "When no one else is in, I get the calls. I'm the last person the irate person gets when they can't get anybody else in Seminole County government."

Fullen, a senior secretary and seven-year county employee, says she enjoys her role as an occasional official public pacifier. Her technique is simple.

"I just listen," Fullen says. "I empathize with them. In the case of taxes, I remind them that I too, even though I work for Seminole County, pay taxes. Usually at the end of about 30 minutes of conversation, usually one-sided, I ask them 'What do you want me to do?'. They say 'Nothing, I just wanted to get it off my chest. They're relieved.'"

Fullen, 58, currently lives in Oviedo although she previously lived in Sanford. A native of Georgia, Fullen grew up in West Palm Beach but moved to central Florida after a divorce. She has three grown sons and, she says,

Will brighter street lights reduce crime?

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Four new street lights were installed in Sanford Friday. The lights are part of a "Safety With Lights" campaign being launched by City Commissioner Lon Howell.

Howell explained, "It started with a phone call from Bernard Mitchell, a Georgetown area resident, asking if anything could be done to improve the lighting in certain drug-problem areas of the city. From that point, the project has grown."

Howell had previously been in discussions with Steve Dickerson of Florida Power and Light, about the power company's neighborhood lighting program.

He then met with Sanford City Manager Bill Simmons and Police Chief Steve Harriet this past Wednesday, Howell said. "Simmons agreed to allow us to start the project, and by Friday afternoon, we already had four new lights installed."

The total plan calls for a sample of 20 new lights to be installed in what Howell described as "known crack cocaine areas," as well as one residential area, to see how the improved lighting will help.

Howell reported, "Florida Power and Light determined the first four places for installation." They were, 4th Street at Magnolia Avenue, 4th and Palmetto, and 6th and Palmetto, in addition Officer Jim McAuliffe, the 28th person to be certified as a Criminal Justice Addiction Professional, stands at the entrance of the TLC Center.

Cop's goal is to give women addicts a new lease on life

By LACY DOMEN
Herald People Editor

SANFORD — He says he does it because of the desperate, sad people: the crack cocaine mothers and babies.

Sanford Police officer Jim McAuliffe is only the 28th person to be certified as a Criminal Justice Addiction Professional, someone with whom an addict wanting help can talk.

"I don't counsel addicts, I tell them what help is available and try and see that they get it if that's what they want. My interest comes from seeing such an influx of crack cocaine babies. The majority of these mothers have lost everything. They may have three babies and they are taken away also. Crack is epidemic and we have to do more than say 'no'," McAuliffe said.

McAuliffe, who holds a bachelor's degree in sociology, painted a picture of the stereotypical crack mother.

"Her life is crummy. Her environment is hopeless and bad. She lives in poverty with the idea her life will always be like this. Crack is a momentary departure from the misery her life is," McAuliffe explained.

He said most crack addicts do not subscribe to a middle class attitude that hard work, education and perseverance will lead to success.

"It's a different view. It's a generational thing, a ghetto-type mentality. They think all there is for them is to have some babies, maybe get their own apartment in a project and live their lives like that," McAuliffe said.

He said the problem is not with the majority of residents of a project. Most of them, he said, are "responsible, wonderful people, but for some, the lure of drugs as an escape from misery is too strong to resist.

"You have to understand that many times drug dealers are considered successful members of society by ghetto kids looking for heroes. Dealers can make $50,000 to $60,000 a week, yes, I said a week, selling drugs. That's a rough guess, but not out of bounds. Of course, their expenses come out of that, but it's a very healthy profit. Kids on bikes working as runners for these dealers make a lot more than you or I do.

"The point is to keep addicts supplied. That mother with the three babies is looking to feel good for awhile. It's a vicious cycle," he said.

McAuliffe said the cycle spirals down into breaking the law through prostitution and stealing, two common ways an addict will pay for a growing craving. He said breaking the cycle of addiction mired in poverty is the only way out for the women he would like to help.

"Resources are very limited in Seminole County," McAuliffe said.

He has been fighting for two years to help establish a day treatment center for troubled women and their children.

"We met with some resistance from people in the area. It was just a question of educating them about

FLORIDA BRIEFS

Condom commercial refused

PENSACOLA — A local television station affiliated with the Fox Network is refusing to run a condom commercial because it might offend anti-birth control viewers, station managers say.

The managers say the manufacturer of Trojan condoms had promised the 15-second commercial, which began airing Sunday on the television network, would focus on AIDS prevention and would be free of references to birth control.

But WPXI-TV promotions manager Marshall Hart said the ad's message was ambiguous because a man on camera says "a lot of bad things are happening" that condoms can prevent.

"That could easily be interpreted as referring to birth control," Hart said. "Many people would consider an early teen-age pregnancy as a horrible thing to happen."

Fox gave its affiliates a preview of the commercials and permission to pre-empt it at their discretion. WPXI instead will air a 15-second public service announcement on AIDS.

Couple will get copy of sex tape

TAMPA — A couple videotaped having sex in their condominium will be allowed to have a copy of the tape, but it must remain out of public view, a judge ruled.

Hillsborough County Judge Cynthia Holloway agreed Friday to give a copy of the tape to Alfred Stephens and Janet Paddock, who were taped through their window by a neighbor last July.

Police who viewed the tape arrested the couple on felony counts of lewd and lascivious conduct, charges which were eventually dropped. They currently face misdemeanor charges of disorderly conduct for acts unrelated to the tape.

Attorneys for the couple wanted a copy of the tape along with other materials from prosecutors to prepare their defense. Normally, once such items are given to the defense, they become public record.

Teen killed in a drag race

MIAMI — A teen-ager was killed in a drag race when her driver tore out a 20-foot section of a wooden fence and a two-by-four-inch post punctured her chest, police said.

Lisa Williams, 19, of Miami was killed instantly Friday.

"It was no unnecessary, so dumb," said Juan Carlos Carrera, 21, the driver of the other car. "In seconds, everything went wrong."

The race started at a red light on U.S. 1 when Ryan Major, 19, another passenger with Williams, stuck his head out of the sunroof and said, "Is this a drag race?"

The light turned green, and the cars were off.

Carrera and the other driver, Richard Mullings, 19, lost control on a curve where sprinklers had wet the pavement, and their cars collided.

Woman pleads guilty to child abuse

STUART, Fla. — A woman has pleaded guilty to child-abuse charges for beating her 4-year-old daughter and strapping her to a board in a windowless bathroom for hours at a time.

Vicky Hedrick, 31, admitted guilt Friday as part of a plea bargain recommending 15 years probation, but Circuit Judge Larry Schack expressed misgivings about the arrangement.

"I've had a number of hearings in this case and viewed some extremely descriptive photographs," he said. "Quite frankly, I'm not inclined to go along with the recommendation."

Cassandra Hedrick, 4, and her sister, Crystal, 12, have been under state supervision since the younger girl was hospitalized in February with badly infected cuts, missing teeth and extensive bruises.

Attorney Steve Rogers, representing the children, said the plea was intended to protect them from the judicial process.

Hedrick has been barred from contact with her children, now living in a foster home, before sentencing Jan. 2. State child-care workers have asked another judge to end her parental rights to both children.

Judge upset by brazen pot growers

TAMPA — A federal judge chastised the residents of Myakka City for tolerating a sprawling marijuana ring that grew more than 1 million plants in its decade of existence.

U.S. District Judge Elizabeth A. Kovachevich's comments came Friday while handing out sentences of one to 11 years for 21 Myakka City residents who pleaded guilty to having roles in the pot-growing conspiracy.

The judge said she was upset by the "brazen attitude" shown by the defendants, their families and friends.

Investigators uncovered a conspiracy dating back to 1981. Those pleading guilty admitted germinating marijuana seeds, transplanting seedlings into pots placed in plastic foam and floating the pots among weeds on public and private wetlands in Manatee and surrounding counties.

The premium pot yielded by the ring became known as "Myakka Gold."

Habitat turns 1 eyeing next home

By VICKI DeSOMMER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Seminole County chapter of Habitat for Humanity had been hoping that someone might donate land in Sanford so they could build a home for Robert Draughn and his three children.

So far, no one has come forward to give them the land, so the group is now seeking donations of $1 per square foot to buy the needed land.

"We're looking at two properties in Sanford," Emily Furlong, a spokesman for the group said. "Which one we take is open to many variables. It depends on how much money we receive."

Furlong said the group needs a property that is approximately 100 feet by 125 feet.

While they are hoping to be able to purchase land in Sanford, they would be willing to accept donations of property anywhere in the county.

A grant from the R.J. Reynolds Company has put $3,000 into the kitty for the Draughn's land.

Draughn, an active volunteer with Habitat for Humanity, has helped build homes for the three Sanford families which the Habitat group has so far served. His children have often given their time to the projects as well.

"Robert has been so wonderful about helping us," Furlong said. "He shouldn't have to keep waiting, waiting, waiting."

Draughn and his children Heidi, 10; David, 12 and Eddie, 14, share what Furlong calls a "broken down trailer" in Altamonte Springs.

She said he would like to live in Sanford.

"And we would like to build him a safe, solid home," Furlong added.

She did not yet want to identify where the two properties were that the group had been looking at were located.

The Seminole County chapter of Habitat for Humanity is currently celebrating their first anniversary and hopes they will be able to purchase this land and build the house to celebrate.

In the last year, the group has built homes for Ella Mae Blue and Ella Beasley. They are completing construction on Vergie Martin's new home.

"Though he is disabled," Furlong said, "Robert has spent many, many days helping build both Mrs. Beasley's and Mrs. Martin's houses."

Donations of $1 per square foot of land can be sent to Habitat for Humanity, 2140 Highway 434, Longwood, FL 32779.

Volunteer center, donation site set

By VICKI DeSOMMER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Seminole County chapter of Habitat for Humanity has rented space at the old Zayre's plaza to serve as a volunteer center and donation site for household and clothing items for the thrift store they will soon open at that location.

The location, formerly the Walgreen's store, will be open on Saturdays, beginning on Nov. 23, from 10 a.m. through 1 p.m.

Nancy Nolt, a Habitat for Humanity volunteer, said that the group hopes to hold a craft sale during the time they are open through Dec. 21.

"We are looking for donations of crafts and other holiday items," Nolt said.

Emily Furlong, another volunteer with the group, said that church groups who have already had their annual bazaars might want to donate left-over items rather than store them for another year.

Nolt said the craft sale is part of an open house at the store, which is located at the corner of U.S. Highway 17-92 and Airport Boulevard in Sanford.

"We want people to become familiar with the store and with what we are doing," Nolt said.

She added that volunteers for the Habitat for Humanity chapter will operate from the Sanford location on all their projects in the future.

She said the store will maintain the limited Saturday hours at the store after the craft sale is completed.

"Hopefully we'll get volunteers to work at the store on a regular basis," Nolt said. "At that time we'll be able to expand our hours."

Anyone having donations of craft items or items for the thrift store are being asked to bring those things to the Sanford location on Saturdays between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

Lyman plans Homecoming festivities

By VICKI DeSOMMER
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — They say you can't go home again, but the students of Lyman High School are hoping that many of their alumni do come home this week.

In the third homecoming celebration in as many weeks in Seminole County, the Greyhounds have invited all graduates of the school to join in activities including a reception in their honor on Friday night before the game against Lake Brantley High School.

Celebrations for Homecoming week begin on Tuesday with "Skit Night."

The skits, presented by many of the clubs at the school and representatives of each class, will express the theme of the week "Hounds, Pound the Patriots."

The skits will take place in the school's auditorium at 7 p.m.

On Thursday night, junior girls will take on their counterparts in the senior class in the annual Powder Puff game.

The girls' football game, which will be played at 7 p.m. in Greyhound Stadium, is just the first athletic event of the weekend. The varsity football team will take on the Lake Brantley Patriots on Friday night.

But before the big game, there will be a pep rally on Friday afternoon.

At 1:40 p.m. on Friday the students, faculty and administrators will gather in the stadium to stomp and cheer and show their support for the team.

The alumni reception will begin at 6 p.m.

Don't eat the profits

Louise Westop and Eileen Smith, both of Sanford, tried not to eat too much of the profits at the bake sale at Grace United Methodist Church's arts and crafts fair on Saturday. The annual event is sponsored by the church as a fundraiser.

Free food program to begin

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Registration is scheduled to begin Jan. 6 through the 10th for a new free food program at Zayre's Plaza.

This past week, Seminole County commissioners approved transferring $3,623 from their community development reserves to allow the Seminole Community Volunteer Program Inc. to begin the free food distribution program to needy Seminole County families. Commissioners had previously approved allocating about $11,000 of county general revenues for the program.

The program hasn't been offered since the Salvation Army dropped it in September 1990 because expenses were too high.

SCVP will operate the program using volunteers from the Retired Senior Volunteer Program and the community.

Larlyn Swanson, RSVP project director, said she hopes the actual food distributions will begin during the last week of January and continue during the last week of each subsequent month.

No hours for either the registration or the distributions have been established, Swanson said. To be eligible for the distributions, families must already be receiving food stamps, living in public housing, receiving Medicaid or Aid to Families with Dependent Children benefits.

Families meeting federal poverty guidelines will also be eligible. For example, a family of four earning less than $17,420 a year would qualify for the distributions.

Swanson said the community has responded well to her requests for volunteers, although she still needs people to help unload the monthly food truck and people to help bag the food for the recipients.

Swanson said she also needs a 40 megabyte hard disk driver and controller for their IBM-XT computer to store recipient information.

Anyone seeking to help or donate the equipment can call 323-4440.

Charlie R. Butler Jr., 18, of 1324 Elliott St. in Sanford, was arrested at East 25th Street and Bay Avenue in Sanford.

Elita P. Wills, 25, of 620 Coral Glenn Loop in Altamonte Springs was arrested at Ipswitch and Maitland in Altamonte Springs.

All DUI offenders were transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where they were each held on separate $500 bonds.

Merchants discuss crime today

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The downtown merchants will meet late this afternoon to discuss crime problems. With increased concern over store burglaries, merchants want to join hands in fighting the problem.

The Sanford Historical Downtown Waterfront Association, SHDWA, is sponsoring the gathering, to be held at the First Street Gallery.

Although an estimated three dozen invitations have been sent to downtown area merchants, all local merchants interested in the crime situation are invited to attend.

Special guest will be Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett. "It will be a rather informal gathering," Harriett said. "I will be there to hear their problems and possibly answer their questions." He added, "If we all work together and establish better communications, I think we can greatly improve this situation."

A letter, signed by 32 downtown area merchants, was sent to Chief Harriett on Oct. 15, citing the crime situation in downtown Sanford, and requesting help.

A number of merchants planning to attend the meeting have recently been victims of downtown area burglaries.

Joe Dugger, of Dugger's General Store, 118 S. Sanford Avenue has been hit four times in the past few months.

Harriett commented, "The merchants should also be made aware of the challenges we (the Sanford Police Department) face, but there is always room for improvement. I look forward to meeting with the downtown merchants. We want to help them as much as we can."

In the announcement sent out to downtown merchants, SHDWA suggests they attend and, "Be a part of the solution."

The meeting is scheduled to begin promptly at 5:30 (this evening, at the First Street Gallery, 203 E. First Street.

City cops add bike patrols

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Sanford Police have added bicycle patrols to their crime fighting efforts. The bike patrols are being used on an "as-needed" basis.

Seminole County has been operating special units on bicycles for many months, with great success.

Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett revealed that a few Sanford Police officers have been riding bicycles as they patrol various sections of town. "We've been doing it for three to four weeks now, whenever the need arises," the chief commented.

"We aren't singling out any specific areas," he said. "We are just assigning these special patrols to specially identified areas in which they would be needed."

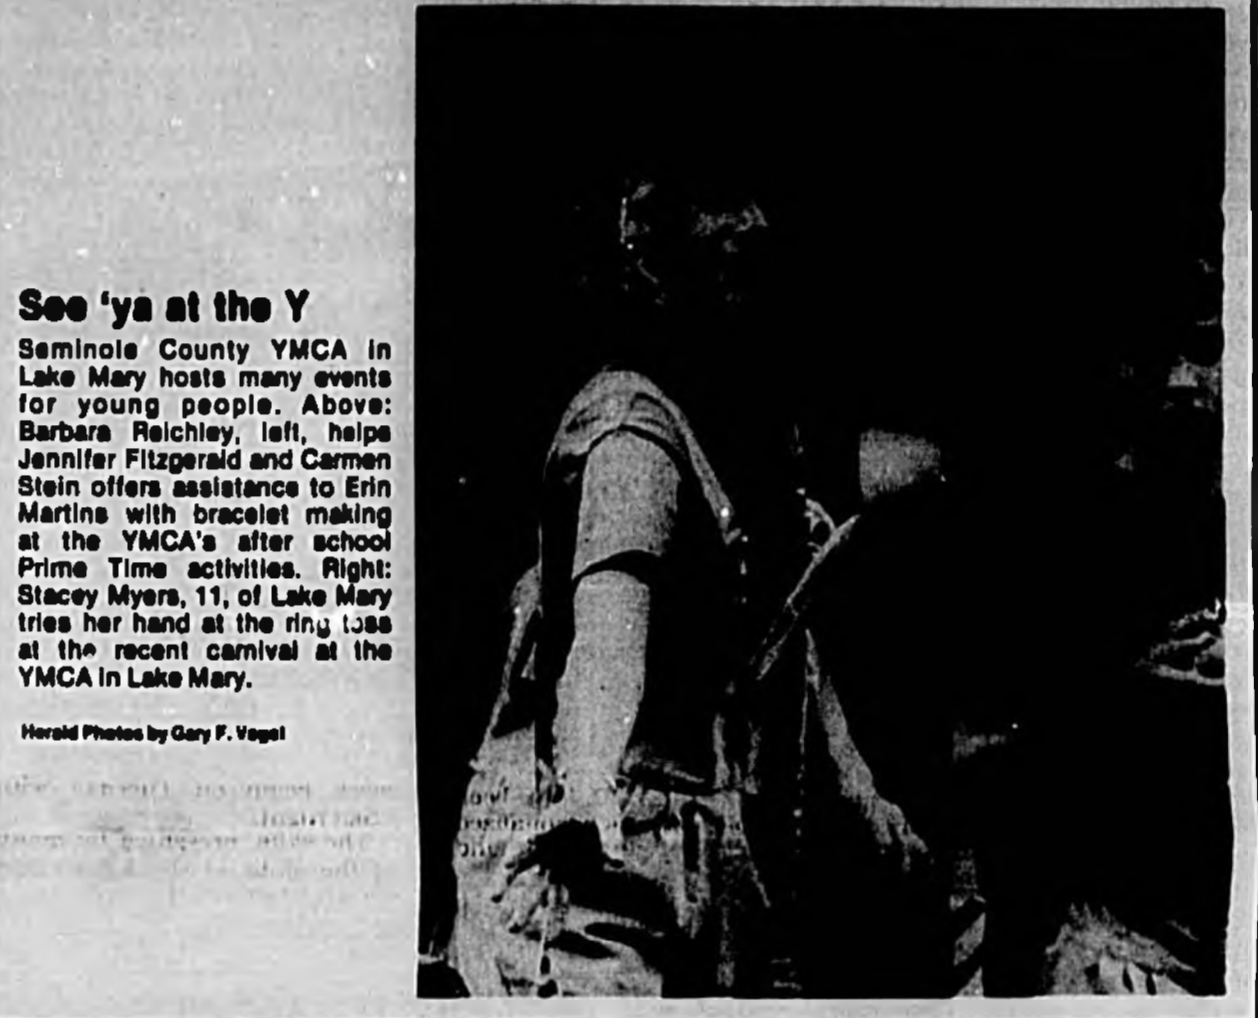

The police officers patrolling with bicycles are not highly visible. In most cases, the officers are not in uniform. "It's not always the same officers," Harriett said, "and we only use them on an as-needed basis."

Harriett said, "While some of the patrols have ridden bikes during inspections in the downtown areas of the city, no specific area of patrol is being assigned on a continuing basis. Most of the reason for these patrols," he added, "is to crack down on street drug dealing and prostitution."

The Seminole County Sheriff's department reports excellent success with their bicycle riding efforts. The program is being led by Sgt. Jack Cash.

Sheriff's Department Internal Affairs Investigator Allen Hatzel explained, "Primarily, he is using the bicycles in the residential areas of the County."

Hatzel said, "We've had nothing but excellent results since Sheriff Eslinger started this program some time back."

Who will be the next mayor of Longwood?

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — Tonight will mark the first regular Longwood City Commission meeting since the Nov. 5 municipal election. The first order of business is the selection of a mayor.

The top post is decided by a vote of the elected commissioners at the first regular meeting following each November election.

Hank Hardy, District #2 commissioner, has been mayor for the past year, but did not run for re-election this year. Fred Pearl won election to replace Hardy on the commission.

The following persons are currently serving on the Longwood City Commission:

• District 1 • Commissioner Adrienne Perry. She was re-elected to her second consecutive 2-year term in the Nov. 5 election, running without opposition.

• District 2 • Commissioner Fred Pearl. Elected to his first 2-year term on the commission as a result of this year's Nov. 5th. balloting.

• District 3 • Clanel Keith. Keith was elected early in 1991, to fill the remainder of the unexpired term of Gary Hefler, who resigned from the commission.

• District 4 • Rex Anderson. Re-elected without opposition to his second consecutive 2-year term in the Nov. 5 election. Anderson has been serving for the past year as deputy mayor.

• District 5 • Paul Lovstrand. Lovstrand was elected to his first 2-year term on the Longwood City Commission in the Nov. 1990 general election.

According to the Longwood City Code, each of the five commissioners, regardless of when they were elected, is eligible to become the next mayor. The final decision will be made by a majority vote of the members of the commission.

The post of deputy mayor will also be determined Monday night. The position is on a rotational basis, but the rotation is rather confusing. Gary Hefler, of District 3, was selected as deputy mayor last November. With his resignation however, Anderson, of District 4, took over the position. The question that will face the commission Monday night is whether the commissioner from district #5 (Paul Lovstrand) should be the next deputy mayor, or whether Anderson was merely filling in the unexpired term of Hefler as deputy mayor, and should now be elected on the normal rotation.

All of this however, could take on a new aspect, if Anderson or Lovstrand end up being elected mayor. Where it goes from that point will be up to the commissioners, and City Attorney Becky Vose to decide.

The Longwood City Commission meeting will begin at 7 p.m. tonight, in the commission chambers of the City Hall. Prior to the meeting, at 6:30, Commissioners Anderson and Perry will be re-sworn-in as commissioners. Fred Pearl was administered the oath of office earlier this past week, enabling him to serve during a workshop meeting held on Nov. 13.

Indeed, sands really do shift

For years, there has been a popular presumption that the Sahara Desert was gradually expanding across North Africa. Beginning in the 1970s, the United Nations convened conferences and began publishing studies identifying as many as 23 countries at risk of being engulfed by sand. Enthusiasts of the global-warming theory pounced on this "desertification" process as evidence that the world's climate was changing for the worse.

But according to The New York Times, many scientists have been "skeptical that the Sahara is a devouring land mass." Now a study by the national Aeronautics and Space Administration published in the current issue of Science magazine and an independent research project by a group of scientists in Sweden suggest that the truth may be far more complex — and in some respects quite baffling.

On the basis of detailed analysis of satellite imagery of the Sahara collected over the past 10 years, scientists have found that this vast sea of sand, like the oceans themselves, is constantly shifting, expanding in some directions one year and withdrawing dramatically the next. The desert as a whole grew by 500,000 square miles from 1980 to 1984, for example, and then shrank by 282,000 square miles in the next year alone.

Over the past decade of ebb and flow, the southern border of the Sahara moved back and forth over a 145-mile track. Even more surprising, the views obtained from space revealed that throughout this period, small areas of the desert wastelands suddenly would receive enormous rainfall and break out in intense vegetation. Then just as suddenly, they'd disappear.

This less apocalyptic analysis of natural conditions suggests that some steps can be taken, through education and better uses of the soil, to make life more tenable along these desert shores. It suggests as well that the interaction between climate and conditions on the surface of the planet's and masses may be far more evenly (but less precariously) balanced than many current scientific hypotheses and computer modules assume.

Sold on Sanford?

I recently received a Newsletter from the Sanford Historical Downtown Waterfront Association Titled "Sold On Sanford". I must point out that I'm not quite "Sold" on the idea since reading your article on Commissioner Lon Howell on the case of buying drugs "Sold In Sanford". Who's really at fault here? Lon Howell or our present day Fix.

The Newsletter is quoted as saying "Sanford has a homey feeling about it. You are able to get to know people, and people still care about one another in Sanford." This part I believe as I support Officer Spears in his effort to protect Commissioner Howell.

As always, let's watch a concerned City Official get hammered by newsprint and the ramifications of the law as the real criminal escapes out the backdoor of our legal system.

Also, your article failed to report the status of the drug dealer. Isn't this person the real lawbreaker of our society. Should we not focus on this instead of pointing out Commissioner Howell's failed attempt to make Sanford's streets a little safer.

In closing, maybe Commissioner Howell should have stayed home like the rest of us and let the proper agencies deal with the problem. They are dealing with the problem aren't they?

Howell is trying his best

Even though what Commissioner Lon Howell did to prove a point, I feel that he is trying to do his job as our city commissioner.

Seems to me that part of his job is to work with the police department as a liaison of the city. What I read clearly indicates that he is trying to do just that.

It takes people like Commissioner Lon Howell to lead the way for others to realize we do have a problem with drugs being sold on street corners in Sanford.

It's nice to see a commissioner leading the way for a change.

Florence Lane
Sanford

Time to stop tolerating crime

What Commissioner Howell did was perhaps a bit misguided but then he has always been a bit of a gadfly.

What is bothersome here is the fact that all the efforts of the old and new homeowners continue to be thwarted by the fact that we cannot get rid of this criminal element.

The message must be clear that Sanford will not tolerate these activities taking place in our city.

SARAH OVERSTREET

Keeping up with changing seasons

"And yes, folks, once again in the center ring, balanced high atop the frozen petunia bed on the Ladder of Death. It's the Magnificent Sarah! Watch as she balances the ice-covered aluminum storm window stuck to her one hand, while clinging to life itself with the other!"

I was going to be ready for this winter, truly. I know I never have put the storm windows up before the first ice storm, but this year I planned ahead: Last June I circled a date on the September page of my calendar and wrote in "put up storm windows." It is not my fault that record warm weather continued here until late October — 75 degrees. I swear it! — forcing me to keep the storm windows off the screens or risk suffocation of myself and my small dog. It wouldn't be a pretty sight for officers to find if I didn't show up for work for three days and police were called to investigate.

It was not me who ordered the temperature to drop 80 degrees on a Monday while I was at work and unable to quickly execute the necessary window dressing. At least I was in good company. I talked to all sorts of folks who were perched on ladders, saying incantations over sparkless pilot lights, prying apart frozen sticks of wood to get it inside to burn, dashing to the auto-parts store to buy antifreeze and bottles of Heet.

I don't know what their excuses are, but here's mine: I got a late start on getting ready for winter because I got a late start on getting ready for summer because I had gotten a late start on getting ready for the previous winter because I ... you get the picture.

The best I can recollect, it started back in 1970 when I moved out of my parents' house and had my own house and didn't put the storm windows on until the snow actually started coming inside the house. Once you get a couple months behind in season-changing, it affects the whole year's schedule, and before you can catch up, another season sneaks up on you.

This year I didn't get the storm windows off, or the window fans out of storage or the air-conditioner put into the window until the end of June, because I'd been too busy getting the soil ready for my flower beds and planting grass seed. In the early spring when I was supposed to be doing that, I was still hauling fire wood from the woods behind my house, because in the fall when I was supposed to be hauling and stacking the wood I was still out cutting it, because in the summer when I was supposed to be doing that I was taking off the storm windows ...

I suppose a good planner and organizer would have this whole season thing whipped by now.

However, I do wonder why all the folks I know who are able to program an entire corporation's computers, put out award-winning investigative reports on deadline, and successfully meet court dates and litigate messy lawsuits cannot get a simple set of storm windows up before they see the sky above them spitting ice.

It wouldn't be a pretty sight for officers to find.

Magic's tragedy is ours, too

Never have we heard news that made us feel quite like this. Not even when JFK was killed.

We feared for our nation's security on that November day in 1963. But on this November day, as we again heard news we did not want to believe, we feared for our personal security and, mainly, that of our children. Magic Johnson, basketball superstar and national role model, had contracted the HIV virus, precursor to the killer disease AIDS.

We have seen superstars fall, but it wasn't them. We recall Lou Gehrig's wrenching words echoing through Yankee Stadium. Withered by a mysterious killer disease, Gehrig said goodbye: "...today, I consider myself the luckiest man on the face of the Earth."

The day after announcing his tragic news, Magic walked onto "The Arsenio Hall Show" and told us: "You don't have to feel sorry for me because if I die tomorrow, I've had the greatest life that anyone can imagine." But even that was not the same. For today's tragic hero is transforming his goodbye into a final grand cause, hoping to save the lives of millions.

Deep down, we know why we feel differently: Magic's tragedy is our tragedy. It is happening to us all, in a real sense. It is happening to us all; it is the nightmare we tried to ignore. Unlike Gehrig's disease, there is no mystery to Magic's illness — he contracted a killing virus because he led a sexually active life and did not practice safe sex. Now we are forced to see: It can happen to anyone who once led, now leads, or will someday lead a sexually active life — what we used to call a healthy sex life.

Our ostriches of officialdom have sent today's youth carefully conflicting signals:

Our presidents in the AIDS Decade — Ronald Reagan and George Bush — refused to use their bully pulpit to fight AIDS; it would only have built public pressure for increased funds for research. "I can't say I've done enough — of course I haven't," Bush admitted the other day. But he hastened to add that he does care "very, very much."

Our TV networks serve us with soft-core titillation and hard-core talk — on Geraldo, Donahue, Oprah, sitcoms and soaps — that boost ratings. But they ban ads for condoms, the instrument of safe sex, lest they be accused of promoting promiscuity.

Today, the crossed signals continue: Magic tells Arsenio's audience, "Please get your thinking caps on — and put that cap on down there — and everything will be all right." Yet Wilt Chamberlain is on the book circuit bragging that he's had 20,000 women — an average of 1.2 per day. And Vice President Dan Quayle has just one solution for today's youth — "abstinence." Now they flock together, Quayle and the cardinals of the Catholic Church, who are fighting to prevent schools from giving condoms to youths to help them survive this killer epidemic.

Statistics tell us AIDS is overwhelmingly still spread in the United States among homosexuals and drug users who share needles; it also disproportionately affects minorities: 45 percent of the afflicted are Afro-Americans or Hispanic.

Common sense tells us what this means: America's white establishment leaders have long considered AIDS the disease of an alien (translation: objectionable) population. Ask yourself: If AIDS were a disease running rampant through America's establishment, the WASP noblesse oblige, is there any doubt that our presidents would have mounted the bully pulpit, led the crusade, spent billions more in research?

Money alone cannot cure AIDS — "but it can accelerate" the search for a cure. Dr. Anthony Fauci of the National Institutes of Health said on ABC News. It is "not unrealistic," he said, to think that by the end of the decade, drugs may be able to suppress AIDS symptoms so that patients can live long, productive lives.

We, who've been shocked into seeing at last the true scope of this killer disease, can only hope the breakthrough comes in time for a miracle of Magic.

It can happen to anyone who once led what we used to call a healthy sex life.

Thornburgh defeat a shock to big oil

WASHINGTON — Richard Thornburgh's surprise defeat in the Pennsylvania Senate race last week stunned more than just the White House. It was a surprise to the oil companies that had hoped they would find Thornburgh to be a powerful ally in the Senate.

The oil industry has reason to believe that Thornburgh would be a friend in Washington. During his three years as attorney general, he presided over some decisions favorable to oil companies, not the least of which was the settlement on the Exxon Valdez oil spill. When Thornburgh left the Justice Department to run for the Senate, oil companies quickly became some of his biggest financial backers.

The Exxon Valdez case was not Thornburgh's finest hour. The Justice Department let Exxon pay a settlement of $1.1 billion in civil and criminal fines — a settlement that was reached last spring. A week after that settlement was announced, a confidential government study surfaced saying that the actual damage from the spill in Prince William Sound was more than $3 billion. Other estimates put the damage as high as $10 billion.

In September, the settlement was modified. Exxon was assessed $150 million as a criminal fine, but $125 million of that was forgiven because of money the company had already spent on the cleanup. There is also a $900 million civil fine to be paid out over 11 years, and $100 million in restitution for damages, divided by the federal and state governments.

Environmentalists were irked by the settlement when they learned that the Alyeska Pipeline Service Co. — the company that runs the Alaska Pipeline — was granted immunity from civil actions despite the fact that Alyeska is responsible for the cleanup of any oil spills in Alaska's waters.

Rep. George Miller, D-Calif., complained that the final settlement with Alyeska indemnified the company against natural-resource damage claims. The government could bring other claims against the company, but that hasn't happened yet. A spokesman for Alyeska verified this, but said that about 4,400 private plaintiffs have filed lawsuits against Alyeska. Alyeska oversees the pipeline that carries 25 percent of America's domestic oil from Alaska's north slope to the port of Valdez. The Sierra Club Legal Defense Fund has filed a citizens' suit against Alyeska, claiming the company is still responsible for cleaning up the oil that remains on the shore and in the sediment below the water.

Thornburgh himself was the chief negotiator on the Exxon Valdez settlement for more than a year, despite the fact that he had a $32,296 investment in Arco and Mobil stock — two of the seven oil companies that make up Alyeska. Thornburgh didn't bother to get a conflict-of-interest waiver from the White House until a few days before the settlement was announced.

Oil companies don't forget when someone does them a good turn. Our reporter Ed Henry has learned that soon after Thornburgh resigned his post, Arco gave him $16,650 and Mobil pitched in another $5,000 for his campaign to replace the late Sen. John Heinz. Officials from both Mobil and Arco denied there was any relationship between their contributions to Thornburgh and the Exxon Valdez settlement.

The Alyeska deal wasn't the first time that oil firms escaped aggressive prosecution when Thornburgh led the Justice Department. The department made much ado about announcing that it would investigate oil companies for possible price gouging when gasoline prices skyrocketed after the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait.

The Exxon Valdez case was not Thornburgh's finest hour.

what we are doing. These are women about to reenter society. It is not a treatment facility filled with people shooting up drugs," McAuliffe explained.

He said before the building on Palmetto Avenue was leased from the school board, a prostitute was using it to service her clients.

"We've spent over $100,000 refurbishing the building. I think it's much more positive for the neighborhood than what was there before," he said.

Finally, McAuliffe's fight to establish the program will end. The TLC Inc. Women's and Children's Education and Treatment Center on Palmetto Avenue in Old Sanford will open sometime in December. Its purpose, in conjunction with a residential treatment center in Apopka and the TABC program for incarcerated addicts offered at the Seminole County Correctional Facility, is to get addicts to stop denying the problem, ask for help, and turn their lives around.

"This program is for women of any age with emotional or substance abuse problems. We can help up to 30 women here. We can answer questions, give advice for coping with life's problems and assist people with less severe problems than those who need to be in an intense residential program. We even offer an acupuncture, on the cutting edge of science for reducing stress in a natural, non-drug way," McAuliffe said.

McAuliffe said his goal is to turn as many lives around as possible so current offenders do not have further encounters with the criminal justice system. He is realistic enough to know the problem of drugs with violence has always been present in society and always will be as long as savvy businessmen know how to sell a glimpse of heaven to humans living in misery.

"It's just that a rock from this heaven always makes life hell. Always," he said.

Lights

to the residential area light at 6th Street and Myrtle Avenue. "Twelve of the lights will go up in the Georgetown area," Howell added.

Only the actual lights have been changed. They replaced bulbs of lesser illumination on previously installed poles. Howell reported, "These new bulbs are actually three times brighter than the ones that were already in operation."

Howell indicated the cost of the 20 lights, to be put into service for an unspecified time period, will be born by the City Engineering Department.

The FP&L high volume lights cost approximately $3 per month more than the regular lights. With city commission approval, and further arrangements with FP&L, Howell hopes the costs can be divided among three homeowners near each light, and have the charge reduced to $1 per month. "We might even be able to include the charge on their water bills," Howell said, "but we have to get city approval on that first."

Howell plans to bring the matter up for a major discussion during the work session prior to the next Sanford City Commission meeting, scheduled for Nov. 25.

He reported having conversations with officials of the City of Cocoa in Brevard County where a similar project has been underway. "They said they didn't know for sure if it was working, they had just recently got the lights changed," Howell commented. "The one thing that came out of me getting involved in that crack cocaine incident recently," he said, "was the realization that better lighting will bring about safer neighborhoods. We, as residents of the city, need to do whatever is possible to help our own way of life and make it safer."

"One more project I will be needing approval on," Howell said, "was the purchase of carriage lights, to be put in front of homes in the historical district of the residential area. I plan to bring that up in the near future with the Historical Trust board and see if I can get their support."

The remaining 18 brighter street lights are to be installed within the next few days at various areas around the City of Sanford. "I will be anxious to hear from Police Chief Harriett after they are in operation," Howell said, "to see if the brighter lights have helped reduce the crime problem as I believe they will."

three cats and a dog. As a senior secretary, Pullen's chief duties are as secretary to deputy county manager Sharon Goode LaSalle, official clerk to the Code Enforcement Board and "general flunky at the third floor elevator."

The third floor of the Seminole County Services Building is where offices of county commissioners, county management and the county attorney are. Also housed on the third floor are purchasing, planning and budget offices.

Pullen says her top peeve can be pushy process servers, those people who must legally serve a county official with a lawsuit. Pullen says most are OK, but some can be a thorn.

"Some of them just come in like gang-busters because of their job," she says in her deep Georgia brogue. "They think Seminole County government should stop dead in its tracks for them. It's my position that these papers are served at the pleasure of the person being served, not the process server."

Pullen admits her main social life is at the County Services Building since she was assaulted in Sanford three years ago. After the incident, she says co-workers and bosses were very supportive and continue to urge her to get out more often.

At home, she keeps busy with needlepoint, growing tomatoes and "24-inch long cucumbers that weigh four pounds." Pullen says she is the "cucumber queen" of the county staff.

"I enjoy it very much," she says. "It's a good job, good for me financially and because of the benefits the county pays. And it's good for me socially."

Women seldom promoted to top

Associated Press

TALLAHASSEE — While women dominate Florida's higher education system in employment and in the classroom, men continue to dominate the top decision-making and policy-setting jobs. "The top level is not an elusive male-only club anymore, but it is still very male-dominated," Education Commissioner Betty Castor said. "Progress for women has been slow."

Castor is hosting a conference of top women educators in Tallahassee on Wednesday, with the intent of further developing the statewide network of women in higher education.

Other strategies to be explored at the conference include seeking young female professors who show the potential for management and providing them with internships; encouraging more girls to pursue science and engineering degrees at college; and making universities, community colleges and school districts more accountable in hiring and promoting women into management.

School board to discuss reorganization of leadership

By WIKI BISHOP
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Seminole County School Board will meet Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 p.m.

Their first priority will be to reorganize their own leadership.

Annually, the board names a new chairman and a vice chairman. Current chairman Joe Williams Jr. is not likely to retain his post, as his teaching schedule will probably cause conflicts.

Vice chairman Nancy Warren is expected to be elected to the chairmanship. Most board members have said Warren, with more time on the board than anyone but Williams is the "logical" choice for the position.

Following the reorganizational meeting, the board will meet to take on the items in the regular meeting.

Among the items on the agenda is the approval of new evaluation forms for district-level administrators and resource teachers.

Heathrow Elementary School in Lake Mary, as well as Partin Elementary School in Oviedo will be declared completed, though students moved into both of those schools within the last two weeks.

The school board will also be asked to approve the legislative program that they formulated at a recent work session. The program was developed by a coalition of administrators, community members, teachers and board members. District lobbyist, Don Reynolds will take the program to Tallahassee to try to help Seminole County attain its goals.

The board meets at the district headquarters, 1211 Mellonville Ave. in Sanford.

Water

district has paid $700 in the first week to rent water dispensers, pay service fees and buy the water.

"The cost will go down next week when there is only the cost of the water," Nettles said.

In addition to providing drinking water for the more than 400 students at the school, the bottled water is needed by the food service staff for cooking and clean up.

Hampton said the school has adjusted well to the use of the alternative source of water.

"It's just a change of routine," he said. "There are no major problems and we're doing the best that we can do."

Naturally, Hampton said, he is anxious to have the problem rectified, but he doesn't believe the students really mind too much.

The principal said he believes that renting the water coolers and buying bottled water is more cost-efficient than boiling and then cooling water for students and staff to drink.

"This is a much better way to do it," he said.

Nettles said the expense, while it is reasonable, is not one the district can afford to continue beyond the time that is required.

"They'll all go back just as soon as the order is lifted," Nettles said.

Ice cream lady caters to kids

By SANDRA ELLIOTT
Herald Correspondent

LAKE MARY — Every school day, just before 3:30 p.m. (2:30 p.m. on Wednesdays), you can find Lake Mary resident Barbara Benson pedaling her ice cream cart toward Greenwood Lakes Middle School.

Since August, the New York native has been selling ice cream treats, sodas, frozen candy bars and Italian ices to weary sixth, seventh and eighth graders after school.

The former nurse and x-ray technician became "The Ice Cream Peddler" after experiencing job burn-out in the medical field.

Looking around for a way to earn money while still having time to volunteer at her children's schools, Barbara remembered the bike pedal carts from her Long Island, N.Y. childhood.

Although the bike carts are manufactured in New York, Barbara was able to locate a used model through a local bicycle shop.

"It's fun," Benson says of her ice cream business. "I love it. It beats going to work!"

The late afternoon enterprise allows the busy mother of three to do volunteer work at the Wilson Elementary school media center where her twins are enrolled. Another son attends Greenwood Lakes.

After pedaling about two miles from her home, wearing radio headphones and a white plastic visor that sports a colorful ice cream cone, Benson sets up shop near the middle school. Putting a plastic pipe into the ground to hold her large umbrella, she locks her cart into place.

Chalk boards on the front and side of the cart spell out the treats that are available and daily specials.

Prices range from 25¢ for a frozen candy bar to 85¢ for various flavors of Italian ices. As an incentive for repeat business, the customers are given cards which are punched each time they buy 50¢ worth of merchandise. When all 10 numbers are punched, the customer receives a free Italian ice.

"I sell an awful lot of soda," Benson said, adding, "It is so heavy to pedal the soda. I never thought I'd make it up the hill on Greenwood (Blvd.)"

Barbara Benson provides weary middle school students with after-school treats.

After the middle school crowd clears out, Benson heads for the nearby county library where a few more customers are waiting. By 4:15 p.m., the ice cream peddler heads to the Lakewood subdivision, then on to Pebble Creek Apartments and Canterbury Villas, "then I limp home!" she laughs.

To let potential customers know she is near, Benson rings four brass bells on the bike handlebars. Dry ice in the insulated cart keep everything frozen.

In addition to her school and subdivision routes Benson also has used her cart to provide ice cream for birthday parties in the Greenwood Lakes Park.

"I've done a couple of birthday parties," Benson said "so the mothers don't have to bring ice cream. I only do parties for 20 or more people."

"I don't make much money," Benson remarks, "but it is fun. I did it to have fun and it IS fun!"

Calling many regular customers by name, Benson sometimes offers a stick of gum to a youth who doesn't have enough money for a frozen treat or soda.

"I don't sell gum," she explained, "but I give it away if someone is a good customer."

Benson pedals off after the school crowd goes home.

Hot dogs!

In cooperation with the anniversary of Ace Hardware in Lake Mary, Boy Scout Troop 34, sponsored by the First United Methodist Church of Sanford, held a fund-raiser at the store. The scouts sold hot dogs and soda for 25 cents. The money will be used for camping equipment. From left, front: Neil Samial, Joey Jackson, Curtis Brock, Robert Brock and Kim Brock. Back: B. # Benefit tennis will aid talented youth HEATHROW — Top Florida professional men tennis players braved wintery weather to converge on the Heathrow Racquet Club recently. The men played tennis to help the newly formed Heathrow Junior Tennis Foundation, which will benefit disadvantaged promising junior tennis players.

"We want to help them achieve their dreams that normally would not be fulfilled," co-chairman for the event Larry Lucas said.

The event raised about $2,000, Lucas confirmed.

"The money will aid young players to receive tennis equipment and allow them to attend clinics," Lucas said.

The program is open to all of Central Florida at this time. School principals and sports coaches are encouraged to send the names and addresses of prospective junior players to the foundation, Lucas said.

Both Lucas and Co-chairman Gavin Ford, tennis pro for the Heathrow Racquet Club, are encouraging area tennis players to drop off any equipment in good shape.

"We need used tennis racquets to recycle into the Junior Tennis Program," Lucas said.

Junior players' names can be submitted to and good, used tennis racquets can be dropped off at the Heathrow Racquet Club, 1550 Lake Mary Blvd., Heathrow, 32796. Phone Gavin Ford at 333-1975 for more information.

IN BRIEF

LOCALLY

Lyman nets soccer victory

ORLANDO — Lyman High School's girls' soccer team picked up where it left off last winter, posting a 2-1 win over the host Bishop Moore Hornets on Saturday afternoon.

The contest was a match-up between last year's state champions. Lyman won the Class 4A state title while Bishop Moore won its second Class 3A title in three years.

Lyman's win also marked the successful debut of head coach Gary Barnett, the Greyhounds' third coach in three years. Barnett replaces Jim Thompson, who took over the team on an interim basis after Laura Roundtree left following the 1988-89 school year.

The Greyhounds took a 1-0 lead five minutes into the match when Adrian Kane scored on an assist from Amy Smith. The lead stood up until early in the second half, when Bishop Moore netted the equalizer.

Sarah Kane came up with the game-winner in the 68th minute for the Greyhounds, scoring an unassisted goal.

Lyman out-shot Bishop Moore 11-10. Greyhound goalkeeper Melody Hillsman making six saves while the Hornet netminder registered seven. In corner kicks, Lyman had a 4-1 advantage.

The junior varsity game ended in a 1-1 tie. Lyman's next game will be at Oviedo on Thursday. The junior varsity will play at 5 p.m. with the varsity to follow at 7 p.m.

Lake Brantley girls after fourth state swim title

By JEFF GARDENOUR
Herald correspondent

ORLANDO — Seminole County high schools showed they had the stuff of champions Saturday at the 4A-District 5 swimming and diving championships at the Orlando International Aquatic and Fitness Center.

Lake Brantley's girls, who hand-painted their faces with the signs "No. 1" and "LB", surged to their fourth consecutive district championship while the Lake Mary boys showed they are a team of the future with a bevy of impressive performances from their underclassmen enroute to a third-place team finish.

The Patriot girls, state champions for the last three years running, were the headliners among the county's five-team contingent with first-place finishes in five individual events and all three relay races. Senior Ryann Pauley paced Lake Brantley by winning the 200-yard 131 (2:09.91) and 100 breaststroke (1:07.35).

Lake Brantley racked up 302 points to easily outdistance Winter Park for the team title (209). Lyman finished 11th (120) while Lake Mary was eighth (99). Oviedo came in ninth (59) and Lake Howell placed 14th (16).

The top three finishers in both individual events and relay races qualified for the Class 4A State Championships, to be held this weekend at the Orlando International Aquatic and Fitness Center. The eight fastest remaining times statewide in each event will receive a wildcard berth to the state meet.

In all, it was easy to see why the Patriots displayed such heady confidence in themselves.

"It's not cocky, it's attitude," said Pauley, explaining Lake Brantley's large-lettered facial hand-paint. "That's how you gotta be. You can't be scared of anybody."

Pauley was testimony to that, winning both of her events by more than one second. But yet she appeared almost rundown after qualifying for the Class 4A state meet for the fourth consecutive year.

"I'm tired," she said. "I'm in the middle of my taper. But I'll be ready. I'm very excited about state."

Joining Pauley on the scroll of Lake Brantley individual champions were Sandra Spiller (200 freestyle, 1:59.90), Cara Duncan (50 freestyle, 24.89) and Beth Rosenbluth (100 backstroke, 1:00.26).

"I didn't think it would be too much of a challenge," said Lake Brantley coach Clay Parnell. "I think we did good. I didn't think (Winter Park) would give us a run. They lost a lot of seniors (from last year's team). They have a young team. They'll be tough. But I didn't think they could stay with us."

The Patriots' Melissa Bateman and Kristi Duncan also qualified for state with third-place See Swimming, Page 2B

DOUBLE TAKES

Had 'em all the way

While Seminole coach Emory Blake (left) was confident his team would beat Leesburg on Friday night, Tribe fans were kept on the edge of their seats as the Seminoles spotted the Yellow Jackets a 6-0 advantage, then took a 7-6 lead early in the second quarter and protected it for nearly 36 minutes.

SANFORD — Sanford First Nazarene handed All Souls Catholic a championship Saturday.

Tom Clark was 4-for-4 with two doubles and a home run, scored three times and drove in eight as Nazarene defeated Central Baptist 14-11 to knock the Baptists out of a share of the B Division title as the Sanford Church Fall Softball League regular season came to an end at Pinchurst Park.

Rotary Bowl narrows field - but not by much

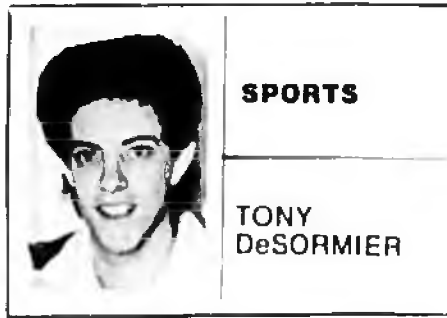

While representatives from college football bowl games spent the weekend working on putting together the most attractive games for their holiday contests, Larry Cowart was trying to come up with a team to play Pennsylvania's Bethlehem Catholic High in this year's Rotary Bowl.

With the game 10 days away, Cowart the head of the selection committee from the Rotary Club, Seminole County South, had hoped to have a team in place by this weekend. But his task has been complicated mightily by the problems surrounding the Lake Brantley Patriots.

For uniformed the Florida High School Activities Association ruled that an ineligible player had participated in Lake Brantley's season-opening wins over University and Lake Mary and that the Patriots would have to forfeit those games. An appeal upheld that decision.

While Lake Brantley's administration has chosen to abide by the FHSAA's ruling, a lawsuit has been filed by the parents of Patriot running back David Sprinkle asking for an injunction against the FHSAA and that those victories be returned to Lake Brantley.

If that happens, then the Patriots would be on top in the 5A District 4 race and would need only a win over

SPORTS

TONY DeSORMIER

Lyman this Friday to wrap up the championship. If not, then Lake Mary wins the district title and heads to Jacksonville on Friday, Nov. 29, for the 5A Region II title game.

As far as Cowart and the Rotary Bowl is concerned, either team would be a good opponent for the Bethlehem Golden Hawks (8-3).

"I've been on the phone today with the organizers of the Kumquat Bowl," said Cowart. "They need a team to play Dr. Phillips and we need a team to play Beulah. I should know something tomorrow."

What Cowart and organizers of the Kumquat Bowl have done is come up with several contingency plans covering the different possibilities. Cowart said that he planned to present these options to the schools involved today.

The first fork in the road is the judges' decision in the Lake Brantley case. A ruling against the Patriots means that Lake Mary goes to the playoffs. Lake Brantley gets invited to play in the Rotary Bowl and Lake Howell would get a bid to play in the Kumquat Bowl.

If the Patriots win their case and beat Lyman, then they go to the playoffs and Lake Mary gets the Rotary Bowl invitation. But if Lake Brantley wins in court and loses at Lyman, things get extremely complicated. That scenario would create a four-way tie for first in 5A District 4, requiring a Kansas tiebreaker on Monday, Nov. 25.

A Lake Brantley victory in the tiebreaker would still send Lake Mary to the Rotary while a Lake Mary win in the tiebreaker would mean a Rotary Bowl invitation for Lake Brantley. If Mainland or Lake Howell wins the tiebreaker, then the Patriots would get the Rotary Bowl invitation and the Rams go to the Kumquat.

Cowart was quick to point out that this was still very much in the early planning stages.

"We haven't contacted Lake Howell yet," he said on Sunday night. "This is just something I'm working on with the people from the Kumquat Bowl. It'll be proposed tomorrow. This is what we're trying to do."

One possibility that wasn't covered was if Lake Brantley wins its lawsuit and beats Lyman but Lake Mary loses its regular season finale

Raiders rally in second half

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — When you score 62 points in a men's junior college basketball game you expect to get beat . . . bad.

But that wasn't the case Saturday night at Broward Community College's Central Campus as Seminole Community College came back from an 15-point deficit to defeat the homestanding Seahawks 62-56.

"I don't know what else to say except that this game was nuts," said Raiders head coach Bill Payne. "I've never seen a game change 180 degrees like this one did. For 25 minutes we couldn't do anything right and they couldn't do anything wrong."

"But we upped the tempo of the game and started playing defense and turned the game around. We also made our free throws down the stretch."

The charity stripe definitely told the tale as SCC was outscored 49-39 from the floor, but held a 23-7 advantage at the free throw line.

AROUND THE STATE

Falcons rout Bucs

ATLANTA — The Jekyll & Hyde Atlanta Falcons. Playoff contenders or pretenders?
On Sunday the Falcons looked very much like a playoff team, scoring a club record 33 points in the second quarter and went on to a 43-7 rout of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

Only one week earlier, the Falcons went to Washington and were ripped 56-17 by the unbeaten Redskins.
"The win today was terrific, after last week we had to pick up the pieces and let it out on someone else," said Falcons' wide receiver Andre Rison, who caught three touchdowns passes from Chris Miller in the second period of 39, 12 and 15 yards.

The Falcons (6-5) also had a 31-yard field goal by Norm Johnson, a 5-yard TD run by Steve Broussard and a safety in the period for a 33-0 halftime lead over Tampa Bay (2-9), which dropped its 12th road game in a row.

Florida College Bowls filled

Top-ranked Miami, with regular-season games remaining against Boston College and San Diego State, will stay home to face the Big Eight champion — either Nebraska, Colorado or Oklahoma — in the Orange Bowl on New Year's night.

The Blockbuster Bowl will pit the Big Eight runnerup against No. 6 Alabama (9-1) on Dec. 28. The Gator Bowl invited No. 20 Virginia (7-2-1) to face the third place team from the Big Eight.

The pairings for the Florida Citrus and Hall of Fame bowls are set. No. 6 California (9-1) is headed to Orlando to face No. 14 Clemson (7-1-1), while No. 16 Syracuse (8-2) and No. 18 Ohio State (8-2) meet in Tampa, both on New Year's Day.

No. 3 FSU (10-1) accepted an invitation to play No. 12 Texas A&M (8-1-1) in the Cotton Bowl. No. 5 Florida (9-1) will represent the Southeastern Conference in the Sugar Bowl against No. 17 Notre Dame (8-3).

Martin closes NASCAR season with win

HAMPTON, Ga. — Mark Martin drove off to his first victory in more than a year and Dale Earnhardt capped his fifth NASCAR Winston Cup championship with a fifth-place finish in Sunday's Hardee's 500 at Atlanta Motor Speedway.

Martin dominated the 338-lap race, beating second-place Ernie Ivan by 10.5 seconds as he led seven times for 190 laps, including the last 45.

Earnhardt wrapped up his second straight series championship and fourth in six years simply by taking the green flag Sunday. He led several times but had to settle for celebrating the title and the $1.3 million that goes with it.

Martin, who earned his 12th career victory, was the 14th different winner in 29 races this season, equalling the NASCAR record set in 1988 and tied in 1990. The winner's purse was $88,900.

He averaged 137.988 mph in the race slowed by six caution flags for a total of 37 laps.
Ivan was followed by Bill Elliott and Harry Gant.

SCC

For the game the Raiders made 23 of 29 charity tosses, including 20 of 26 in the second half. In the final 13 minutes, when SCC outscored Broward 26-12, the Raiders hit 16 of 19 chances, including their last 11 attempts.

The four-hour bus trip and the physical play of the Seahawks seemed to completely disrupt the play of the Raiders, especially in the last 10 minutes of the first half. Leading 15-13 with 9:45 remaining, Broward outscored SCC 18-5 to take a 33-18 advantage with 2:05 left before halftime. Brian Nason's 3-pointer cut the lead to 33-21 at the break.

Things were still not going well for the Raiders midway in the second half as they still trailed by 11, 30-28, with 16:10 left and by eight, 44-36, with 12:55 remaining.

But with Lake Mary graduates Mike Merthie and Jason Hamelin coming up with seven steals between them, the SCC defense started to eat away at the Broward advantage. From the 12:55 mark to the 4:35 mark the Raiders outscored the Seahawks 14-5, with Billy Freeman scoring on an offensive rebound to give SCC its first lead since early in the game, 50-49.

A basket and four free throws by Hamelin and six free throws by Nason closed out the scoring as the Raiders improved to 3-2 on the season. Broward fell to 2-3.

For the first time this season Nason was not his team's high scorer as Darnell Robinson topped SCC with 20 points and nine rebounds. Nason did lead in 19, including 11 of 11 from the free throw stripe, grabbed seven rebounds and had a team-high six assists.

Guard David Riley was the only Seahawk in double figures with 14.

The Raiders return home for a two-week, four-game home stand. St. Petersburg Junior College will be in first, joining SCC in a men/women doubleheader.

Brian Nason contributed 19 points (including 11-of-11 from the free throw line), seven rebounds and six assists to help rally Seminole Community College by Broward Community College Saturday night.

finishes in the 50 freestyle (25.40) and 500 freestyle (8:35.16), respectively.

Also qualifying for state individually were Lyman's Nicole Freda (first in the 100 freestyle in 53.82 and second in the 50 freestyle with a time of 24.97), and Danielle Garrett (second in the 100 breaststroke, 1:09.21) and Lake Mary's Helen Page-Wilkes, who won the 500 freestyle in 5:33.58.

Lyman's 200 and 400 free relay teams also qualified.

In the boys competition, Lake Mary coach Fred Tyler could utter little else but praise for his young upstarts.

Blessed with just one senior on their 11-member squad, the Rams utilized the success of sophomore twins Todd and Chad Christopher (three first-pla... finishes between them) and junior Lee Calvert's sweep of the 200 and 500 free races to just barely miss finishing second in the team race.

Ryegrass is green winter lawn

Depending on the weather, it may not be possible to have a green lawn throughout the winter months. Permanent lawngrasses like bahia and St. Augustine go dormant in the late fall and winter. These grasses grow very slowly in the cooler months and with the first frost, turn completely brown. Homeowners that want a green lawn this winter should consider overseeding with ryegrass.

Common ryegrass goes by many names including Italian, American, imported, domestic, native and annual rye. It is widely adapted and does well in either sun or shade. If seeded heavily and mowed closely, ryegrass can provide a very dense and attractive lawn throughout the winter. Since ryegrass is an annual, it will die out in late spring or early summer depending on the temperature. By the time it does die, the permanent lawngrass should be actively growing with good green color for the rest of the growing season. The rye would have to be reseeded again next winter when the permanent grass goes dormant.

Establishing winter ryegrass is a fairly simple procedure. It is best to wait until the permanent grass is approaching or has reached its dormant period. Seeding time varies from October to December, but usually late November is good for our area.

The permanent should be mowed very close (the ONLY time that I recommend a close mow!) and raked to remove as much of the debris as possible. Broadcast five to 15 pounds of fresh, weed-free ryegrass seed per 1,000 square feet of surface and rake slightly to put the seed in contact with the soil. A fertilizer spreader works well to spread the seed. For a more uniform stand of ryegrass, apply the seed in one direction and then at a right angle to the first application. It is not necessary, but if it is possible, top-dress with one-eighth inch of soil to cover the seed.

The trick to establishing ryegrass is proper watering. The developing seed must be kept moist, but not soaking wet for proper germination and growth of seedlings. This may mean frequent, light waterings several times a day especially during midday. (With water restrictions still in place, check with the St. John's Water Management District before you seed.) Water should be applied just to keep seedlings moist. Continue to water frequently until the grass is established, about three weeks or the first mow.

Begin to mow when the grass is one to two inches tall. Ryegrass is a fast grower, so maintain this height by weekly mowings throughout the winter. Water when necessary and fertilize frequently to maintain green color. Use a 16-4-8 or a 6-6-6 or similar fertilizer monthly at one to two pounds per 100 square feet.

For more information about growing winter ryegrass, give me a call or drop by the Cooperative Extension Service at the Agriculture Center.

Birds aren't safe in some hands

DEAR ABBY: Bless you for your humanitarian objection to the traditional Labor Day Pigeon Shoot in Hegins, Pa. I happen to be a bird lover, and it may please you to know that I wrote to you in 1981 on the subject of cruelty to birds. You printed my letter and I still have the clipping. I am enclosing a copy. You may want to print it again.

ADVICE

STILL A BIRD LOVER AT AGE 89
DEAR BIRD LOVER: It's a wonderful letter, and I certainly do want to print it again. Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: Will you please say something about people who buy birds as pets, and then mistreat them? I have actually had people say to me, "Our canary fell into the dishwasher and was drowned." Or, "Our parakeet flew into the open fireplace and got burned up." Or, "The cat got it." Or, "The dog got it."

I once knew a man who used to give his parakeet vodka just to see how it would act. This same man is big and strong, and just because the bird pecked him on the ear, he knocked the bird down and broke its wing!
What a pity that birds are the most abused of all pets.

DEAR BIRD LOVER: Not all pet birds are abused—only those who are unfortunate enough to belong to people who belong in cages.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please say something to older women who work at fast-food places and take jobs from us teen-agers? There's one who works here, and she's so goody-goody—always on time, and she never goes off, I don't think she really needs the money. She must be 50 years old at least.

A TEEN, CENTERVILLE, IOWA
DEAR ABBY: I doubt very much that a 50-year-old woman would be working at a fast-food place unless she really needed the money. It's possible that if it weren't for that job, she would be on welfare. If she's always on time and never goes off, I'd say she's setting a fine example for the other employees. Give her a break.

DOG LOVER IN ABILENE, TEXAS

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think that this is a dumb question. My mother serves fish all the time and tells us that fish is brain food. I told her that it isn't true — it's only a myth. I have asked everyone in our family and they say that Mother is right, but I still think she's wrong. Tell me, Abby, is eating a lot of fish going to make a person smarter?

A KID IN ROSWELL, GA.
DEAR KID: First of all, there are no "dumb" questions — only people who remain ignorant because they haven't the courage to ask questions.

It is not true that fish is "brain food." According to The Dictionary of Misinformation by Tom Burnam: "Perhaps the myth that fish is 'good for the brain' arose from the fact that the nerve tissue which forms a part of the brain is rich in phosphorus, and fish do provide phosphorus-containing compounds. But so do meat, poultry, eggs and milk."

I know of no food that will make people smarter. Fatter, yes. Smarter, no.

more important things in life than correct grammar.

My late father, the son of Jewish immigrants, had to quit school at 14 to go to work. He and my late mother went on to become very successful business people who sweated blood to educate their children. I have always felt that what my parents achieved with very little education is far more impressive than what I have achieved.

My father's grammar may not have been as good as mine, but he was by far the better man. He was also highly respected in his community.

That snob who wrote to you, fearing that her uneducated in-laws might corrupt her son's English, should get off her high horse. Self-made people like her uneducated in-laws — and my parents — have a lot more to offer than some people who collect diplomas and degrees.

I would give everything I own if I could hear my parents talk in their poor English for only one more hour.

You may definitely use my name.

Why can't doctors cure toe fungus?

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've had a fungus infection of the large toes for at least 14 years. All efforts, topical and internal have failed to kill it, although I've spent hundreds of dollars on medications. My doctor says he can only slow the infection down, but cannot cure it. With so many spectacular advances in modern medicine, is it possible that doctors everywhere must shrug their shoulders and tell their patients they can do nothing?

DEAR READER: Sometimes, you might be cured by taking griseofulvin (Fulvicin), a prescription oral anti-fungus remedy. You would have to take it for several months to eradicate the yeast growing deep in the tissues, particularly in the nailbed. The medicine is expensive, so hold on to your hat.

Or, as an alternative, buy herbal LaPacho tea (in health food stores or supermarkets), brew it according to directions, steep it and soak your feet in it twice a day. I am told it eliminates toenail fungus. On a more general note, you seem to be annoyed that Medical Science has failed to solve your problem. Your attitude is not rare. Many people expect doctors to cure every ailment, make them better, take away the pain, make up for years of abuse and keep them alive at all costs. Doctors DON'T have all the answers and mankind continues to be plagued by diseases and tribulations (largely brought on by human beings themselves, not by divine Providence). I think you'd be happier accepting the fact that we can't cure a heck of a lot — but we try. And we're improving. Give us a break.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What causes nocturnal leg cramps, and what can be done for them? I wake up with extreme pain regularly and it is distressing. My doctor has me on quinine capsules that provide temporary relief. Would vitamin E help?

DEAR READER: No one knows the exact cause of nocturnal leg cramps, which are believed to be due to poor arterial circulation to the lower extremities. The condition may accompany the aging process and can be quite troublesome; the cramps always interfere with normal sleep and can be extremely painful.

For unknown reasons, quinine pills taken at bedtime often prevent leg cramps or lessen their severity. Therefore, your

One of the most popular bridge teachers in the country is Eddie Kantar. He has published two books of his lesson notes — Book 1 for intermediate students and Book 2 for advanced students. The books are easy to read and contain many example deals that are useful for teachers. They may be ordered from the author at P.O. Box 427, Venice, CA 90294. They cost $35 each, or $60 for the two.

Today's hand comes from a lesson on the weak two-bid. (It also includes notes about the strong, artificial and forcing two-club opening and about weak jump overcalls.) Cover the East-West cards and plan the play in four hearts. West leads the spade queen. South's opening shows a good six-card heart suit and some 6-9 high-card points. North, smelling a game, raises immediately to four hearts.

After the spade lead, there are three certain losers: two spades and one diamond. If East has the diamond ace, the contract will be easy to make, but if West has that ace, there may be four losers. To avoid relying on the diamond finesse, you should play to establish dummy's fifth club. Win trick one with dummy's spade ace, cash the A-K of clubs and ruff a club high in hand. Play a trump to dummy, ruff another club high, cash the heart ace, cross to the heart king and cash the club four, discarding a spade. Finally lead a diamond toward the king, making an overtrick if East has the ace.

OROSCOPE

By Bernice Bode Osool
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Nov. 19, 1991

Partnerships you make in the year ahead have good chances for success, provided that — where standards and ideals are concerned — your cohort is on the same wavelength you are.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Use your charm and humor, not coercion, to get others to cooperate with you today. Kind words and courtesy are the catalyst that will work — if given a chance. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You might find yourself in a position to take advantage of the weakness of another today. If you do, you won't get away with it, because this individual has a terrific memory.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan.

19) Don't let associates dissuade you from doing something today that serves your best interests just because it doesn't benefit theirs.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Any complicated development you may find yourself in today is likely to be of your own making. Don't compound matters by trying to blame innocent bystanders.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) An individual you're closely involved with might look upon your resources today as his own — unless you set definite limits on your generosity.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't let negative-thinking friends dilute your ambitious thrust today. Goals you envision as attainable are within reach, so perform to please yourself, not others.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Consider the alternatives before making critical moves today. What appears to be the most expedient at first might not be the best in the final analysis.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you're involved in something important today with an individual who is more serious than you are, don't try to make light of the matter — even if you feel it could ease tensions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Commercial matters should not be conducted impulsively today, especially if the transaction is with an individual you do not know too well. Be precise and methodical.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You might have to deal with an abrasive associate today, but don't use this as an excuse for altering an established objective. Bite the bullet and proceed as originally planned.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you are involved in something where a poor performance on your behalf could be detrimental to others as well as to yourself, live up to their expectations today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be the one who helps maintain harmony in your household today, not the one who contributes to the tensions and discord. You're the critical factor with the swing vote.
