Polk Satisfied; Budget Adopted Two Rail Officers Indicted

A midnight compromise on a $2.1 million sheriff's budget and a determination to forge ahead with a county-wide fire tax district enabled Seminole County Commissioners to pass through the valley of the shadow relatively unscathed early today.

Polk was referring to complaints by Sanford and other cities, as well as county tax assessor Terry Goebel, that failure to produce a total budget would cause financial chaos because tax bills could not be sent out—and revenues could not be collected.

Washington (AP) — Two former Penn Central Railroad officers and three other men have been indicted on federal charges of conspiring to misapply $4.2 million in Penn Central funds.

NATION IN BRIEF

Cheaper Meat Possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — American Consumers could have better beef at lower cost under a re-arranging plan approved by the Agriculture Department.

The department unveiled proposed new rules Tuesday that would reduce the fat content required for the higher grades of beef.

The effect would be to increase by up to 20 per cent the amount of beef that would qualify as "choice," the grade most commonly sold at supermarkets.

The primary aim of the new rules, which are subject to revision before taking effect in December, is to ensure greater uniformity within the grading system, the department said.

"I don't think that even an experienced taste panel would be able to pick up the difference" after the change, said USDA Livestock Director John C. Pierce. Steak and hamburger may be a bit less juicy but would probably be more nutritious because of less fat.

Parents Boycott Schools

BOSTON (AP) — Thousands of white parents are expected to keep their children home on Thursday when Boston public schools open under a court-ordered integration plan which requires the busing of 18,200 pupils.

Even the parents of pupils who are not scheduled to be bused say they will keep their children out of school in sympathy for those who are. Officials say some schools will be virtually empty.

Fran Johnson, one of the boycott leaders, predicts that about 40 per cent of Boston's 94,000 public school pupils will skip first-day classes. Other anti-busing spokesmen, such as City Councilman Thomas P. O'Neill, predict an even higher figure.

The integration plan was ordered by U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity. He said the city's schools were segregated both through housing patterns and official manipulation of the total number of pupils to be bused, 8,500 are white and 9,700 are black.

Charlotte Air Crash

MIAMI (AP) — An Eastern DCJ jet with 78 people and a crew of four listed aboard crashed today about two miles south of the airport at Charlotte, N.C., an Eastern spokesman said.

No reports were available on possible injuries.

An Eastern spokesman in Miami said the plane, flight 212, was scheduled to leave Charlotte, N.C. at 7 a.m. EDT and land at Charlotte at 1:36 a.m.

"The plane crashed about 100 yards south of the airport," spokesman Lee Bright said. "We don't know what happened yet or if there are any injuries."

Most Incumbents Renominated

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF AP Political Writer

Rep. Hugh L. Carey scored a smashing victory in New York's Democratic primary for governor, while nine governors and five senators won easy renominations in the last big round of primaries to pick candidates for the Nov. 5 elections.

Although Tuesday was generally a good day for incumbents, three congressmen were defeated: Democrats Bertram L. Podell of New York, who goes on trial for perjury today, and Robert O. Tierman of Rhode Island, and veteran Republican Glenn R. Davis of Wisconsin.

In the major races in 13 states and the District of Columbia, however, there were few upsets.

In Maryland, former state Sen. Louise Gore scored an unexpected victory in the Republican primary for governor over Rep. Lawrence W. Hogan, the first GOP member of the House Judiciary Committee to support impeachment of former President Richard M. Nixon.

Miss Gore will be a distinct underdog in November against Democratic Gov. Marvin Mandel, who easily won renomination. Other Democratic governors who won renomination were Reubin Askew of Florida, Wendell R. Anderson of Minnesota, Patrick J. Leahy of Wisconsin and Thomas P. Salmon of Vermont.

Also victorious were four Republican state executives, Govs. Francis W. Sargent of Massachusetts, Melvin Thompson Jr. of New Hampshire, John Vandervoort of Colorado and Malcolm Wilson of New York.

Wilson was unopposed for renomination to a full term in the post he assumed when Nelson A. Rockefeller resigned last December.

The only incumbent senator with primary opposition, Republican Charles McC. Mathias Jr. of Maryland, easily won renomination.

And Sens. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., Peter H. Dinklage, R-Colo., and Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., were all unopposed for renominations to new six-year terms.

In the District of Columbia, which is electing its mayor for the first time this year, appointed Clark, a transplant politician running on a platform of political reform.

Here are other primary results, by states:

—FLORIDA: Askew, winning some 75 per cent of the vote. His November opponent is Republican John E. Davoren was ousted by a Democratic reformer, state Rep. Paul H. Guzzi.

—MARYLAND: Mathias routed perennial candidate Ross L. Trierop and will run in November against Baltimore Councilwoman Barbara Mikulski, the winner of an 11-candidate Democratic race.

—COLORADO: Vanderhoof, who became governor when John A. Love resigned last year, defeated two GOP rivals, Arthur Gates, Maitland Derbyshire and, Maitland Derbyshire, who reported 200 stolen from her home, Tuesday.

—VERMONT: Salmon, an easy winner, will face House Speaker Walter L. Kennedy, who defeated two GOP rivals, George D. Aiken, the Senate's senior Republican, and Richard W. Mallary, defeated former Federal Power Commissioner Charles Ross in the Democratic nomination.

—CONNECTICUT: Former Assembly Speaker William Ratchford and consumer advocate Toby Moffitt won the Democratic congressional nominations in the 5th and 6th Districts.

—UTAH: Democrat Alan Howe and Republican Stephen Harnett won nominations for the 2nd District seat of Rep. Wayne Owens, who is the Democratic nominee for the Senate. Ron Inley won the GOP nomination to oppose Democratic Rep. K. Gunn McKay in the 1st District.

—WISCONSIN: Lucey, winner over a single foe, will be opposed in November by Republican William Dyke, former mayor of Madison. Nelson will run against state Sen. Thomas E. Petri, winner Tuesday over top opposition. Davis, 59, lost to state Sen. Robert W. Kasten, 32, in the suburban Milwaukee district.

Industrial Annex Sought

By SEAN CODE Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The change in the character of the area, and the need for a good industrial base were the reasons David Farr changed his stand on the establishment of an industrial park in the Lake Mary area.

Farr, a development consultant and former Seminole County planner, presented plans for a 206-acre industrial complex to the city council Monday night. Representing four property owners, he asked council to annex the tract and rezone the area on the west side of I-4 between SR 46A and Lake Mary Blvd. from low density residential to light industrial.

This request brought questions from both council and assembled residents about whether the plan had been previously submitted to the county and why he had taken the position, while a member of the county staff, that the land should never be anything but residential, due to the water recharge aspects of the property.

Farr said a portion of the tract may have been submitted before. He attempted to calm the fears of residents of the Banana Lake and Suburban Estates area, which adjoin the proposed development, that the planned six-to-ten acre plots would not adversely affect the well water supply of local residents.

An increased industrial base in Seminole County is necessary for growth, and Lake Mary can not operate as a bedroom community of Orlando any longer, he said.

Farr explained the industrial park could contain from 24 to 35 tenants, each engaged in manufacturing or warehousing and distribution. All functions of the establishments would be within the buildings, and buffer zones would protect the adjacent residential properties.

However, he added, the proposed development is now bordered on three sides by land zoned for light industrial uses.

Mayor Margie Hess asked why the developers want the land annexed by Lake Mary, and do not simply deal with the county.

Farr said there is an inability to work with the county in many areas, and he would "rather not fight that battle."

"Perhaps, it's a difference in attitude," he said.

Questions from council members covered fire protection, the availability of utilities and problems arising from increased traffic. Farr stated each firm in the industrial park could contain from 24 to 35 tenants, each engaged in manufacturing or warehousing and distribution. All functions

Hospital Hikes Rates, Raises Employes Pay

Seminole Memorial Hospital approved a six per cent across the board wage increase for employees and immediately passed it on to the public in the form of a $9 per day increase in room rates.

The new package, a compromise from an earlier proposal for a 10 per cent pay increase and a $6 a day increase in room rates, jumps the charge for a semi-private room to $50 per day.

The room rate increase and pay hike will go into effect in about two months — the time necessary to win the approval of Blue Cross.

Hospital administrator Robert Bessner expects the room rate hike to raise an additional $250,000 per year while the wage increases will cost the facility approximately $150,000. The $100,000 difference is expected to cover the anticipated operating loss for the year.

The two increases are the second for 1974. Room rates were boosted from $41 to $45 April 15 and employees received a three per cent increase in January.

Ford Pondering Pardons For Watergate Figures

RICHARD NIXON

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's lawyer says the suddenly ordered White House study of potentially scores of Watergate figures should not interfere with the cover-up trial scheduled to start in 21 days.

As disclosure of Ford's consideration of possible pardons for all Watergate figures drew a tidal wave of criticism, White House counsel Philip W. Buchen declined to set a timetable for a final decision by the President.

But Buchen indicated Ford's study may not be completed by the scheduled Sept. 30 start of the trial of six former aides and associates of Richard M. Nixon on charges stemming from the Watergate cover-up.

Buchen rejected a reporter's suggestion that disclosure of the pardon study intruded on the judicial process and threatened the defendants' right to a fair trial.

"I don't think so," he said, "because it is well known that a president can pardon anyone at any time."

Lawsuits for the six defendants conferred for nearly two hours Tuesday to discuss a joint strategy in view of Ford's controversial unconditional pardon of Nixon on Sunday.

The defense lawyers were elated at the disclosure by acting White House press secretary John Hushen that Ford has "the entire matter ... now under study."

But prosecutors voiced dismay at the White House disclosure, as did dozens of members of Congress.

"Pardoning all those connected with Watergate would complete the cover-up of the cover-up," objected Senate Democratic Whip Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia.

House Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma said such pardons would "be viewed as an abuse of presidential power."

"Where would it stop?" asked Albert. "Would it mean that all politicians in trouble would be pardoned?"

All together, 48 individuals have been accused of what are broadly termed Watergate crimes and 39 of these have pleaded guilty or been convicted. Some have served prison sentences, others are now in prison and still others are free on appeal.

Nixon's Health Questionable

WASHINGTON (AP) — A member of Richard M. Nixon's family says the former President is "in a deep depression" which was not lifted by the full, presidential pardon he received.

"He is in a deep depression. I would hope the pardon would eventually lift that but I just haven't noticed that. There was no sudden elation."

Nixon's mind, however, remains acute, this person said.

The defense lawyers were elated at the disclosure by acting White House press secretary John Hushen that Ford has "the entire matter ... now under study."

But prosecutors voiced dismay at the White House disclosure, as did dozens of members of Congress.

Phyllis Bradley Jerry Friedheim

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Phyllis Bradley, eldest daughter of Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley, has been arraigned here on charges of offering to sell cocaine and possession of marijuana.

Superior Court Judge Kathleen Parker Taylor ordered Miss Bradley to appear for pretrial motions Oct. 17 and set the trial for Oct. 25.

Miss Bradley, 29, who had earlier entered an innocent plea, was allowed to remain free on her own recognizance.

Narcotics investigators arrested Miss Bradley last July after surveillance initiated when a West Hollywood woman reported that the mayor's daughter was her cocaine dealer. Investigators said they found marijuana and amphetamines in her home in the Baldwin Hills section of Los Angeles.

Thomas Mooror

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Retired Adm. Thomas H. Mooror, former chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is one of the nation's largest construction firms.

Mooror retired last July after two terms as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Winton W. Blount, board chairman of Blount Inc., and former postmaster general, said Mooror would be involved in the company's foreign construction operations.

Americans Need To Reaffirm Faith

WASHINGTON — In times past, Americans have been able to distill the cause of the hour into a phrase, a rallying cry, a stirring slogan.

Subsidies Won't End Housing Woes

Cought between the twin pressures of rising costs and government anti-inflation efforts, the nation's housing industry is suffering one of its most serious economic slumps since World War II.

On the one hand, escalating labor, material and land costs have been increasing the cost of a typical single-family home at the rate of $500 a month.

President Ford recently held a meeting with his top-level economic advisers to consider a range of 20 proposals for resuscitating the housing industry.

Mr. Lynn obviously is in a first-hand position to know about the housing industry's current troubles, but he also warns against the destructive pitfalls of government programs that could fuel the inflation fires even more.

Since becoming President, Mr. Ford has consistently emphasized the need for letting the forces of the free marketplace interact.

If the federal policies are able to dampen the runaway inflation, equipped to handle the housing problem. But if such policies aren't soon formulated and placed in operation the housing industry may soon qualify as a disaster area.

Nuclear Fuel

The abundance of oil and gasoline on the market this summer would seem to make for balmy days for John Sawhill, administrator of the new Federal Energy Office.

It is part of the energy gospel that we can go a long way toward gaining national self-sufficiency in meeting our fuel needs if we would build more nuclear power plants.

Utilities expect to be drawing 20 per cent of their electric power from nuclear plants by 1980—compared to six per cent today.

The Atomic Energy Commission has been echoing Sawhill's concerns about supplies of nuclear fuel, but for another reason.

Ironically, a substantial segment of our uranium industry—mines, mills and undeveloped claims—is controlled by the same major companies that are unable to supply enough gasoline and fuel oil to meet U.S. demands last winter.

For I decided to know nothing among you except Jesus Christ and him crucified. And I was with you in weakness and in much fear and trembling.

WASHINGTON — In times past, Americans have been able to distill the cause of the hour into a phrase, a rallying cry, a stirring slogan.

To recite them is to review our history. Give me liberty or give me death. . . . United we stand, divided we fall. . . . Millions for defense but not one cent for tribute. . . . Remember the Alamo. . . . Government of the people, by the people and for the people. . . .

We must make the world safe for democracy. . . . The only thing we have to fear is fear itself. . . . Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition. . . .

Such patriotic and civic organizations as the American Legion and the Jaycees will help us screen the slogans. The best will be selected as the slogan for the Bicentennial. The Spirit of 1976 cannot be imposed upon the country by the government but must come from the people.

For a time, it appeared that Watergate would ruin our Bicentennial parade. How could we celebrate the good old words, the hallowed guarantees, if each day was to disclose a new mockery of them? But we always thought, and

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Though it has not been entirely confirmed, there is general agreement now that civilian officers kept very tight control over military commanders during the tense period of Richard Nixon's resignation.

Defense chief James Schlesinger is said to have worried prudently about a military intervention into the constitutional process. The latter is a polite phrase for a harsh matter: military coup.

It is a different matter. . . . I have in mind an example of a Marine lieutenant, the illustrative suggestion of a California lawyer named Doug Sorenson. Last summer this lieutenant, who shall remain nameless here, brought court martial charges against an enlisted man whom Sorenson was hired to defend.

During the course of an interview between attorney Sorenson and the complainant lieutenant, the subject matter strayed from legalities and into philosophies. In this respect the officer admitted an intellectual health that can only be described as grim.

When I heard the announcement on TV this past week-end that President Ford had granted a full pardon to Mr. Richard Nixon, I immediately dispatched the following telegram to the President:

"MR. PRESIDENT: Your action in granting a total pardon to Richard Nixon makes it mandatory for you now to grant unconditional amnesty to all young men who fled from the United States rather than serve in a war they believed to be illegal and immoral.

These young men did not openly lie to their fellow Americans as did Richard Nixon, and they did not plot and plan to commit burglary, and

As mentioned before, it must be hoped that the attitudes of this particular military man (who, by the way, is still in uniform) are isolated. But there is no doubt that Adolf Eichmann was a very poor person. He may have been sick. I don't know. But he killed a lot of people. He was responsible for the deaths of many, many people.

For I decided to know nothing among you except Jesus Christ and him crucified. And I was with you in weakness and in much fear and trembling. . . .

"If thou wouldst corrupt thy weakness thou must not gratify it." — William Penn, Quaker founder of Pennsylvania.

The words ought not to be the forced effort of a political ghost writer but the spontaneous eruption of some grateful citizen, some struggler in the field. We, therefore, invite the citizens of America — the school children, laborers, housewives, veterans — to express their feelings about America in a slogan.

We have an anniversary to celebrate. If you have a motto for it, a phrase that can catch the spirit and the cause of America 1976, by all means send it to Jack Anderson, 1401 16th St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20036.

Such patriotic and civic organizations as the American Legion and the Jaycees will help us screen the slogans. The best will be selected as the slogan for the Bicentennial. The Spirit of 1976 cannot be imposed upon the country by the government but must come from the people.

IN BRIEF

Quads In Guarded Condition

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Quadruplets born 10 weeks premature remain in guarded condition at Tampa General Hospital where two of the infants are dependent on breathing machines, doctors say.

The mother, Judy Riordan of Altamonte Springs, was reported in very good condition Tuesday. Mrs. Riordan gave birth Monday after taking a fertility medication to assist in pregnancy.

Hospital spokesman Marjorie Bradford said the 72 hour period through Thursday would be the most critical for the two boys and two girls.

Placed on a respirator were Patrick Joseph, two pounds and seven ounces, and Charles Terence, two pounds 11 1/2 ounces. The girls were named Lois Kelley and Anne Elizabeth. They both weighed two pounds and eight ounces.

The quadruplets were the first children of Mrs. Riordan and her husband, Terrence, a plant geneticist.

Elaine Picks Up Speed

MIAMI (AP) — Tropical Storm Elaine increased its speed today as it moved farther away from the eastern U.S. coast, the National Hurricane Center has reported.

The storm's fifth tropical storm was located at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday about 250 miles north-northwest of Bermuda tracking winds at 45 miles per hour. It was located near latitude 35.7 north and longitude 69.6 west and moving east at a forward speed of 15 m.p.h.

Meanwhile, forecasters said a tropical depression in the Atlantic was expected to strengthen although it remained poorly organized.

The depression was located Tuesday night near latitude 20.2 north and longitude 71.5 west, or about 100 miles south of Turks Island and just off the north coast of the Dominican Republic.

Crane Finds Editor Must Have Courage

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph. D., M.D.

"It nauseates me every time I look at them." But Walter Morrow reminded the Bishop that his "Worry Clinic" was a satirical medical column with no lewd pictures and not even any salacious phrasings.

"Most censors," he wrote recently, "I am convinced, find great delight in reading or watching pornography while posing as conscientious citizens."

And I can give you numerous examples to corroborate his remark.

For example, this "Worry Clinic" was the heaviest mail reader pulling column in the Denver Scripps-Howard newspaper when Walter Morrow was its editor.

You readers know that I never use vulgar four-letter words but always employ euphemistic terms like "erotic calories" and "boudoir chesapeake" when discussing the bedroom.

But a bachelor Bishop telephoned Walter Morrow, demanding that he immediately cancel "That Worry Clinic" column.

Walter was a deft psychologist who originally was responsible for launching this column in many Scripps-Howard newspapers, for he felt married couples should be educated in how to AVOID divorce.

So Walter mollified the Bishop temporarily.

But a week later the Bishop demanded that Walter Morrow come out to his office.

When Walter arrived, the Bishop took him into his private sanctum and then showed Walter a sheaf of pornographic pictures of nude women.

"Morrow," the Bishop righteously pontificated, "I feel it is my duty to protect the public against lewd and salacious materials."

"Just look here at these naked girls, whose pictures I have gleaned from magazines!

So, a great big tip-of-the-hat to Hemingway and his staff, and a reminder to others to be sure you know with whom you're doing business.

From the mallbag. . . Mrs. Hortense Roumillat reminds us that as chairman for Sallie Harrison Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, U.S. Constitution Week will be celebrated Sept. 17-21.

A few weeks ago we carried a sad story of the needs facing some of our elderly. One in particular, from Sanford, said she had 17 cents remaining to carry her thru the month. . . . and "how in the world can I pay my rent?"

Well, she called the newroom to "thank the nice people who read of her plight, and mailed her anonymous donations." As a matter of fact, there was one for $20, and three others sent me two dollars each. I wish I could thank them personally, but I don't know who they were. Please tell them how much I appreciate their help.

Consider it done.

Dems Give Askew Happy Birthday

MIAMI (AP) — Happy Birthday, Reubin Askew.

Today is Gov. Askew's 40th birthday and more than 700,000 Florida voters joined in the celebration Tuesday. They presented Askew with the Democratic nomination for a second four-year term, overwhelmingly endorsing his special brand of politics.

With 3,126 of the 3,319 precincts reporting, Askew had 74 per cent of the vote. He had 700,630 votes to 127,335 for citrus millionaire Ben Hill Griffin, 79,226 for Lt. Gov. Tom Adams and 47,442 for Clearwater Mayor Norman Ble.

"We are delighted with the election returns and are extremely gratified with the reception we have received in Florida," a beaming Askew said at a Tuesday night press conference in Tallahassee.

Askew then left for Austin, Tex., where he was to be installed today as chairman of the Southern Governors' Conference. There were these consequences of his impressive victory: Re-election of Askew as a national political leader, one who might be in line for his party's 1976 presidential or vice-presidential nomination.

—Clear approval of Askew's programs, his "fair share" tax revision efforts of the past four years and his concern for protecting endangered lands.

—Massive support for the man himself, a testating, non-smoking Presbyterian elder who has fashioned a reputation for integrity and credibility.

Although the campaigns of Askew's opponents, especially Adams, attacked the governor's methods and motives, they obviously failed to convince the voters.

Askew was conciliatory in victory toward his detractors, saying he anticipated "a united Democratic party going into November."

The governor and his running mate, state Sen. Jim Williams of Ocala, will face Republican gubernatorial candidate Jerry Thomas and his running mate, advertising executive Mike Thompson of Miami, in the Nov. 5 general election.

Adams, meanwhile, came to what might be after the end of his political career after an extraordinary 18 years.

He had been honored as a state Senator and won an outstanding administration award so often as secretary of state so often that it was retired. But the same Adams was forced by a 10-year-old campaign debt to abandon a planned 1970 race for governor.

"I have said all along I'd vote for the nominee," Adams said. "I am not a renegade Democrat and never have been. One of the support and degree remains to be seen."

Adams' future plans were not known. "Ain't no way to tell," he said. "I'm leaving that for later."

Cities To Get Funds On Time

Sanford city commissioners were assured Tuesday night that budget actions by the Seminole County Commission will not cause delays in cities receiving tax funds starting Oct. 1.

City officials had feared methods of funding a county-wide fire protection plan or an appeal of Sheriff John Polk's budget to Tallahassee would mean Seminoles Tax Assessor would delay in the tax rolls which are for both county and municipal government taxes, said the situation was resolved when the county commission ironed out both problems in a five-hour marathon of public hearings.

The commission deleted agriculturally assessed lands from the 1.5 mill county-wide fire district tax, thus ending possibility that Goebel's office would have to hand code 65,000 parcels of property now computerized. Commissioners agreed to add $131,000 to Polk's budget and he in turn said he will drop the 263-page appeal he filed with the state revenue board in Tallahassee.

Sanford officials were joined by Casselberry councilman Edith Duerr in formally giving notice to county commissioners that the cities will oppose "double taxation" by the county for services that city taxpayers don't get from county programs or get in an unequal level of service compared to taxpayers in unincorporated areas of the county.

Moore went a step further in Sanford's preparations for a possible court fight after Jan. 1 by asking the county for an itemized breakdown on tax funds the commissioners say are to be expended in the city next year.

Moore said the county's proposed budget notice showed $5.35 million will be spent by the county in incorporated areas of the county. Based on Sanford's population, 37.285 per cent of the population in cities in the county, Moore said well over $1 million of the money apparently is to be spent in Sanford.

"The question is," Moore said, "for what and where (will the money be spent)?"

He received no direct answer, but got assurances the county is moving toward steps to unravel the knotty double taxation issue that is expected to explode across the state between cities and counties.

County Commission Chairman John Kimbrough said county commissioners attended last week's scheduled county of local governments (CALGO) meeting with intentions to discuss double taxation because the county had no meeting because a quorum of members didn't attend.

The name chosen from 40 entries, "Sunshine Park," will be given to the city recreation area on North Edgemoor Street.

Prize was a free day at Walt Disney World for Debra, her parents, and one other child and complimentary ticket books.

Council voted to reimburse firemen who complete Emergency Medical Training course at cost of $25 per man.

Fire Commissioner Irwin Hunter reported that five more Winter Springs volunteer firemen have completed the standard 200-hour firefighter's course bringing the total of trained men in the department to 12.

Hunter read a letter from Fire Chief Charles Holzman offering honorary membership in the Winter Springs Fire Department to Mayor Troy Pland.

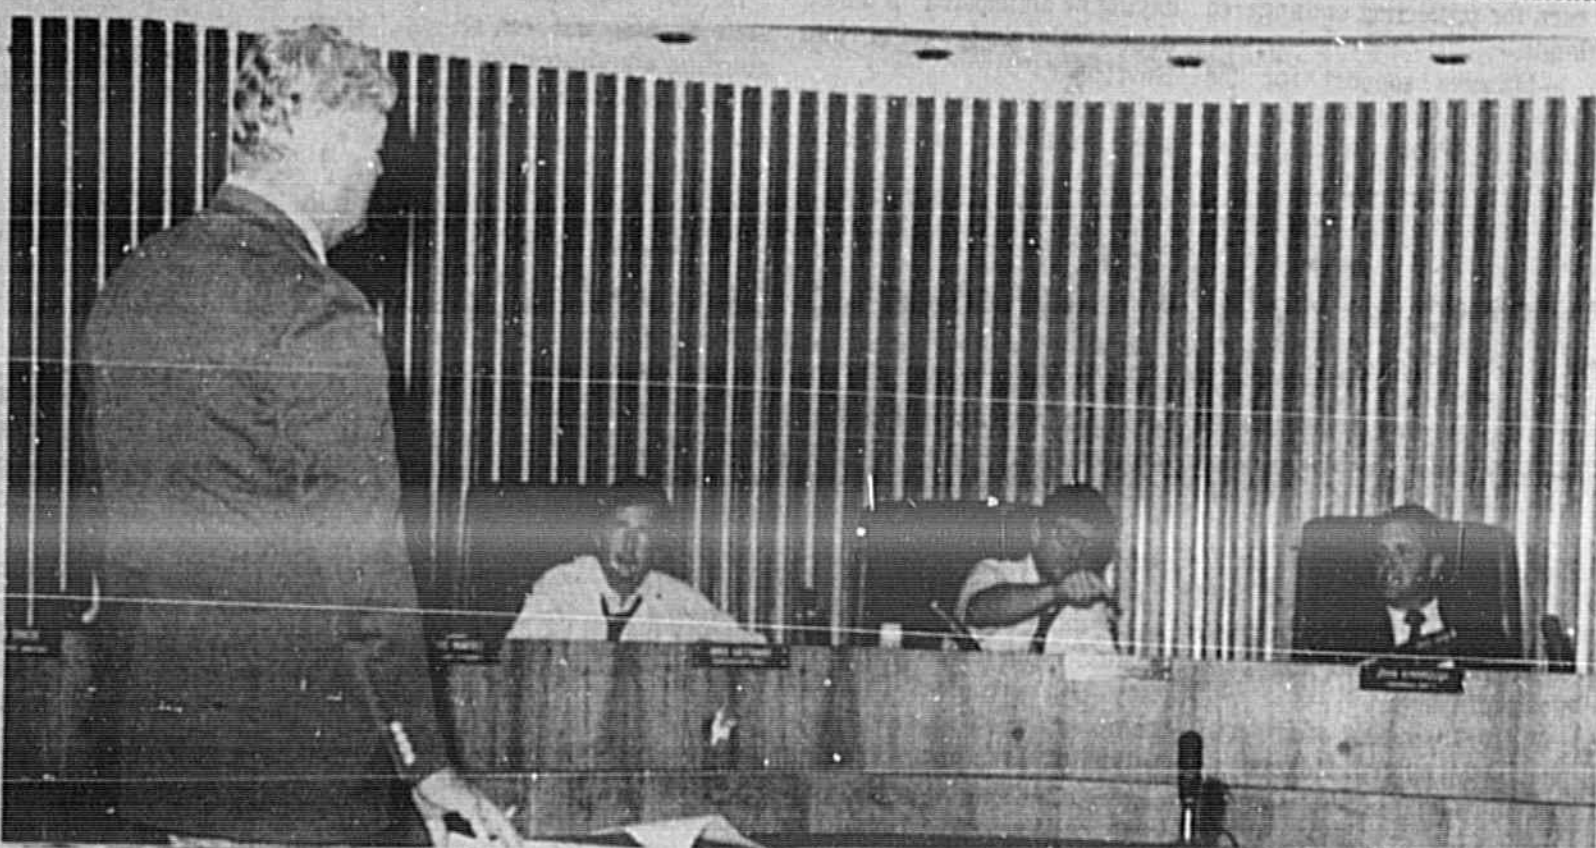

Road and Bridge Commissioner Donald Browning reported Florida Land Co. had corrected blockage in the drainage system in the Terraces relieving flooding problems. Florida Land requested the mayor lift his moratorium on issuing building permits in that area now that the situation has been remedied.

A letter from the United Homeowners Association pointed out that no action had been taken on the July 1 complaint by Walter Pugh of 209 Cypress Ct. regarding a lot next to his home which was overgrown with weeds and allegedly infested with snakes and mice. The homeowners stated "the grass is now a foot taller, the snakes a foot longer and the mice are dug in for the winter."

The city clerk said a letter had been sent to Mark Builders asking they clean up the lot. The mayor said the lot will be mowed by the city maintenance department and billed to Mark Builders.

Purchase of a legal size typewriter for the court clerk at a cost not to exceed $500 was authorized by council.

Pland reported receipt of a letter from the county tax assessor informing the city that if the countywide fire district proposal is adopted there will be a probable three month delay in receipt of real estate tax revenues.

Cut Budget Or Set Tax, Casselberry To Choose

Differing opinions on whether to impose a real estate tax or to further cut the 1974-75 Casselberry city budget should reach a watershed mark tonight at one of the final budget sessions before the Oct. 1 deadline.

The budget meeting is described by Councilman Dr. Edith Duerr as a session "to cut what hasn't been cut enough" in order to avoid a property tax. But councilman Charles Glascock sees a property tax as the only way for the city to meet its responsibilities to providing adequate public works and fire protection service.

The $1,780,737 budget proposed by City Manager Harry Hug and endorsed by Mayor Bill Grier calls for a property tax assessment of six mills.

But in recent knife and scissor sessions, the figure has been sliced $320,000 to an amount requiring a three mill assessment.

Glascock says council can't afford to cut any deeper.

"No sane person wants to pay additional taxes," he says, but we are just not the city we were years ago with 5,000 people. Fire protection and public works have to cover 15,000 to 17,000 citizens now."

Glascock said that national fire protection statistics recommend a fire department with 20 professional firemen for a city the size of Casselberry. "Chief Roger Rasoli and the volunteer department are doing a great job," Glascock said, "but there are only six professionals. The submitted budget increases the department by three more men, and provides for operation of two stations."

But the way it is now, the city could not adequately handle more than one major fire at a time, according to Glascock. "I would not want it on my conscience if someone's home or life were lost because of inadequate protection," he said.

The other area of concern that was ignored without the operating revenue that a property tax would provide would be public works, Glascock said.

Councilmen Edith Duerr and John Zacco adamantly oppose land taxes, and generally feel that adequate services can be funded by the present utility tax. Council chairman Tom Embree is also opposed to a millage, but has admitted the possibility that there may be a need for it.

Council has informally discussed the possibility of raising water and sewer rates — both an across the board increase and a graduated increase for units used — as a means of providing additional income tax returns, whereas real estate tax would.

"Senior citizens and those on fixed incomes would be hurt the most by a utility increase," Glascock said, "because they wouldn't get their money back. With a property tax, they would receive benefit for it."

The council is scheduled to adopt a tentative budget by Sept. 16. A public hearing on the matter is set for Sept. 23.

Longwood Budget To Be Aired Tonight

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — City council at 7:30 p.m. workshop today will sift through the utility department budget to determine if water rates must be increased to pay operating costs of both the water and sewer departments.

Earlier this week, Councilman B. H. Ferrell said that with a $107,000 bill for the deficit in the operation of the Columbus Harbor sewer package plant which serves the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club (SOKC).

Bill Palm of Glace and Radcliffe recommended the city charge the dog track a $135 monthly fee for sewer service during the racing season — December through April — and a substantially lower monthly fee for the remaining months of the year when the track is not in operation.

City Supt. Ralph Fisher, meanwhile, noted that the city is paying, under an existing contract, $200 monthly for plant maintenance, costs of a laborer performing housekeeping chores at the facility and chlorine and other supplies for the plant operation.

The plant was originally planned to serve Columbus Harbor subdivision as well as the dog track but construction has slowed to the point the plant is currently serving the track exclusively.

Palm also recommended that monthly fees to residential users of the Skyark package plant be set at 75 per cent of monthly water bills with a $4.50 maximum. He said commercial and apartment developments should be charged 100 per cent of the water bill for the sewer contract, $200 monthly for plant maintenance, costs of a laborer performing housekeeping chores at the facility and chlorine and other supplies for the plant operation.

The confusion over the offices and the vetoes revives around the refusal of Mayor Jacques to participate in city business. The city charter gives the mayor the right to veto ordinances and council the right to override a veto by a simple majority. However, since there is no time limit set for action by the mayor he can effectively stymie council action by failing to act himself.

The official this week revoked developer Mayor Realty's permit for the project, and passed on a final decision to Gov. Reubin Askew's cabinet.

A tentative Sept. 18 cabinet hearing has been set, and will be attended by County Commission Chairman John Kimbrough, County Attorney Howard Marsee, County Planner Roger Neiswander, and others.

Marsee, in announcing the first-round victory, warned that the cabinet could override the examiner because their hearing "will be more in the nature of a political hearing than a legal hearing," hence Seminole attendance will be "crucial."

Seminole, and the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council, had successfully argued to the examiner that Mayor Realty had failed to provide detailed plans showing that environmental and other impact had been adequately accounted for.

In precinct 20 where three husbands and wives teams were running, voters selected Jean Norris, active in Democratic women affairs, but turned down her husband, Robert, they chose instead Robert B. Thomas. Mrs. Denis Thomas was also turned down.

Helan C. Fitts, a former chairman of the local committee, swapped her opponent Fredi Shop by 211 to 40. The team of Dr. Luis Perez and Dr. Maria Perez took the precinct 27 seats handsly.

SANFORD WOMAN INJURED IN CAR-TRUCK COLLISION
Carol Hall, 17, of Paola, was treated for minor injuries and released at Seminole Memorial Hospital this morning after her car was involved in a near head-on collision with a dump truck on SR-46A three miles west of Sanford. Florida Highway Patrol Trooper P. C. Wright said truck driver Gene Simpkins, 31, of Sanford, wasn't injured and charges in the accident are pending further investigation.

Voters Ignore Primary Election in Seminole

Seminole County School Board member Allan P. Keeth received a vote of confidence from GOP party followers Tuesday and virtually won election to a third term in office.

Keeth, first won election in the Republican sweep here in 1966.

The two other School Board incumbents, Jean Bryant and Dr. Stuart Culpepper, also received renomination by Republican voters, despite stiff opposition.

Mrs. Bryant will face Democrat E. C. Harper Jr. and Culpepper Democrat Pat Telson in the Nov. 5 general election.

Seminole, following the trend set throughout the state with poor turnouts in the first primary election, saw only 28.8 per cent of the electorate cast ballots. The 287 absentee ballots were being counted by the canvassing board today, but are not expected to change the election results.

A total 12,083 voted out of the 41,982 eligible.

Seminole County voters generally followed statewide trends in Florida to give well giving stunning votes of confidence to Gov. Reubin Askew, State Treasurer Thomas O'Malley and Education Commissioner Ralph D. Turlington.

Even though the opportunity was at hand to elect South Seminole resident, Gordon Brown, for the congressional seat vacated by Bill Gunter, more votes were given to Orange Countian John Sanders.

Brown ran second in the county, more than 3,000 votes behind at 1,462. A run-off in the fifth congressional district race appears certain between Mrs. Saunders and Brown.

Gunter, meanwhile who has taken Seminole in every political race he was participated in, received 4,188 votes. Registering a second place here surprisingly was promoter Glenn W. Turner with 1,167 votes. Gunter will face former Secretary of State Richard Stone in the runoff October runoff.

Stone came in a poor third here followed by State Sen. Richard Pettigrew in fourth place.

State Comptroller Fred O. Dickinson was squeezed out of first place in Seminole by a scant 42 votes by Gerald Lewis of Miami. Dickinson received 2,845 to Lewis' 2,837 in unofficial returns. These two are also expected to be in a run-off.

Public Service Commissioner Paula Hawkins, although losing her bid for GOP nomination for U.S. Senator to drug store millionaire Jack Eckerd, outpolled Eckerd here 2,175 to 2,099.

Other favorites with Seminole voters were Democrats Bruce A. Smathers for secretary of state (Smathers was being supported by popular GOP County Commissioner Sid Vihen, and veteran Public Service Commissioner William T. Mayo. Mayo was opposed by Altamonte Springs native, Alice L. Hastings.

Republican candidates given the nod by Seminole voters included defeated Lew Earle who was Seeking nomination to the fifth congressional district post; Jeffrey L. Latham for state treasurer; J. Archie Gay over Jan Zahry for the 16th district state senate office and incumbent 34th district state House of Representatives incumbent, Vince Fechtel.

Fechtel of Lake County worked hard in Seminole up to just hours before the polls opened Tuesday morning.

Receiving support in contests for Florida Supreme Court justice were incumbent Joe Boyd and Ben F. Overton and Arthur J. England Jr.

Altamonte Reverses Sewer Refund Stand

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Council's week old policy of refusing outright all requested sewer connection fee refunds has fallen by the wayside even before the board could adopt a resolution firming up the decision.

City Atty. Joe Davis' advice that each request for refund be considered on its own merits, ignored by council last week, was approved this week, at least as far as Commercial Contractors Inc., builders of the Interstate Mall was concerned.

Council voting unanimously, authorized Davis to study and received the letter, authorized by council, from Floyd assuring a refund was available. At the time the contracting company said the letter was needed to close a bank loan for a sewer package plant since the city could not serve the shopping mall with sewer service.

Rumberger, a former circuit court judge, demanded return of the $34,250 paid by his client, using as his major argument a letter written by Mayor Norman Floyd on May 21, this year.

Commercial Contractors, one of the first firms to ask return of its money last Spring requested

Altamonte Meets To Adopt Charter

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — City council will hold a continued meeting at 6:30 p.m. Thursday to begin the process of adopting in ordinance form the proposed new charter, a preliminary required under the state home rule law prior to a general election.

Councilman Dan Dorfman, an opponent of the strong mayor type government called for in the charter, lost a bid Tuesday night to change one section in the 35-page document.

Dorfman's motion to permit fired, suspended or demoted employees the right of council appeal after unsuccessful efforts before a personnel board died in a tie vote in the absence of Councilman Helen Keyser. Councilman Cal De Voney supported Dorfman's proposal. Dorfman insisted an employee should have a second appeal from removal, suspension or demotion by the mayor or a department head on the local level before going to court.

Mayor Norman Floyd, joined by Councilman George Perkins, disagreed. Floyd said if an employee had too much appeal power, the city's situation would get too much like civil service and "we won't be able to get rid of anyone."

Perkins, a former member of the personnel advisory committee, composed of four members appointed by council and three employees elected by their peers, should be sufficient.

City Atty. Joe Davis listing a time table of activity which must be accomplished by council before the charter can go on the November ballot, said council may adopt on final reading the charter ordinance as late as Oct. 1, after a public hearing.

In addition, he said the council must adopt a resolution to the county commission requesting the charter be placed on the ballot, that the charter must be advertised for 30 days and that the mayor must proclaim the special election.

Did Longwood City Council Legislate?

LONGWOOD — City Council may or may not have passed four ordinances creating four new city offices Monday night. No one seemed quite sure.

Council introduced and passed, on the advice of City Atty. Ned Julian Jr., a motion declaring Mayor Eugene Jaques' refusal to act on the ordinances "defacto vetoes."

At least that's what councilmen apparently thought they did.

Public works director (to be filled by City Supt. Ralph Fisher);

Public safety director (to be filled by Police Chief Tom Hennigan);

A citizens financial advisory committee; and the Office of special city attorney.

The confusion over the offices and the vetoes revives around the refusal of Mayor Jacques to participate in city business. The city charter gives the mayor the right to veto ordinances and council the right to override a veto by a simple majority. However, since there is no time limit set for action by the mayor he can effectively stymie council action by failing to act himself.

The official this week revoked developer Mayor Realty's permit for the project, and passed on a final decision to Gov. Reubin Askew's cabinet.

A tentative Sept. 18 cabinet hearing has been set, and will be attended by County Commission Chairman John Kimbrough, County Attorney Howard Marsee, County Planner Roger Neiswander, and others.

Marsee, in announcing the first-round victory, warned that the cabinet could override the examiner because their hearing "will be more in the nature of a political hearing than a legal hearing," hence Seminole attendance will be "crucial."

Seminole, and the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council, had successfully argued to the examiner that Mayor Realty had failed to provide detailed plans showing that environmental and other impact had been adequately accounted for.

In precinct 20 where three husbands and wives teams were running, voters selected Jean Norris, active in Democratic women affairs, but turned down her husband, Robert, they chose instead Robert B. Thomas. Mrs. Denis Thomas was also turned down.

Helan C. Fitts, a former chairman of the local committee, swapped her opponent Fredi Shop by 211 to 40. The team of Dr. Luis Perez and Dr. Maria Perez took the precinct 27 seats handsly.

CARL VANZURA Local Driver Ranks As Up-Incoming Star

Sanford has one of the up and coming stars of the NASCAR Sportsman ranks in Chris Dellarco. Number 87 issued to him by the sanctioning body at Daytona International Speedway is proudly painted on his 1967 Chevrolet. Last year in his fourth season as a stock car driver he won fourteen races-eight of them being features. He finished fourth in the point standing, quite remarkable since he only ran 20 of 40 or more races held during the season. A late finish on the car prevented him from racing all year and winning the prestigious point championship.

This year it was decided that a new car would be built and a new Late Model would be joining the field in its bid for victory. Since Chris was a hobby driver last year, he knew that it would be rough in the advanced class and that he would once again be just a rookie. The new car was built by Frank Morris, Chris and Years Truly, at the end of last season. High cost of parts and lack of some items prevented the car from making it to the first four races of the year.

Brock Steals 105 For Record

By ALEX SACHARE AP Sports Writer
Lou Brock has made good on his promise to the fans of St. Louis.

Diego 5-2. Montreal defeated New York 6-4 and San Francisco edged Houston 6-5 in 11 innings.

Willis said he had mixed emotions about seeing his record broken, but hailed Brock's outstanding performance.

"My hat's off to him," said the former Los Angeles Dodgers' infielder said. "I never thought anyone would approach the record this soon, probably not in my lifetime."

The thefts came during the Cardinals 142nd game and Brock's 134th. Willis stole his 104th base in the Dodgers' 165th game on the 1962 season.

After leading off the first inning with a single, he broke for second on the second pitch by Philadelphia right hander Dick Ruffalo and easily beat the throw from catcher Bob Boone, which bounced into center field as Brock went to third.

Johnson Lifts Yanks

By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer
Alex Johnson, acquired just Monday from the Texas Rangers, went to work on Tuesday night in a New York Yankee uniform and hit a game-winning home run.

"You have to get lucky sometime," said Johnson after his 620-foot bel ball, the 12th inning homer that lifted the Yankees to a 2-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

Johnson, 25, was acquired from the Texas Rangers in a trade that also sent the Yankees' shortstop, Phil Rizzuto, to New York. Johnson hit a home run in the 12th inning, lifting the Yankees to a 2-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

QB Bob Davis Still Injured

Although Blazer quarterback Bob Davis hasn't completely recovered from an injury suffered Friday in the New York win, he is expected to see action.

Ali-George Countdown

NEW YORK (AP) — The countdown has begun on what Muhammad Ali refers to mockingly as "an event surpassing the moon landings."

Both fighters arrived at their gymnasiums at 2 p.m. each afternoon. Under the gaze of galleries of keen-eyed fans, each man underwent a two-to-three hour workout, warming up by skipping rope and pounding the heavy bag and speed bag.

OFFENSE
PASSING — John Hadl did a "little" last year, coming up from San Diego to show what he could do with a solid cast. The balding vet, now in 13th year, was NFC Player of Year and has never looked better throwing or more sagacious running. Expect a mental note about progress of young Ron Jaworski, back squader. VERA GOOD.

DEFENSE
FRONT FOUR — All they need is another good year from 13-year man Merlin Olsen, and like his counterparts on offense, the show no slack signs. The blockers are young tackle Larry Brooks and end Jack Slaughter running team. Make a mental note about progress of young Ron Jaworski, back squader. VERA GOOD.

LINEBACKING — Last season's big gamble, going with Jack Reynolds in middle and Gene Getz in strong side, was biggest payoff on club. They were excellent and stimulated Ish Robertson, a natural talent, into a super year, too. Also good depth with Jim Youngblood in middle. Bob Stein outside. VERA GOOD.

SECONDARY — Even now, a year later, it still looks like a hodge-podge, with castoffs like Steve Preece and Charlie Stukes plus obscure Reggie McMillan thrown into regular roles. But the system, guided by assistant Ray Malavay, prevailed. And there are bad calls, rallying around Dave Elmendorf, a strong safety in every sense of the word. Also have a good corner rookie, Bill Simpson. GOOD.

PREDICTION
It's no cinch, but Rams are in the driver's seat to repeat as champions of the NFC West — and go on to better things.

Shula Keeps Two Rookies

MIAMI (AP) — Don Shula has made his first major decision toward finding a replacement for wide receiver Paul Warfield in 1975 by dropping Paul and Marvin Baker of Texas Southern.

Shula said the progress of Moore and Baker would determine their status in 1975, when Warfield moves over to the World Football League along with fullback Larry Coonka and halfback Kim Kluck.

"We like what we've seen up to this stage of their development," Shula said.

He said the fact that both Sellers and Raftery stayed out of camp during the National Football League players strike helped Moore and Baker because "we did have an opportunity to evaluate them."

But he added, "We think Baker and Moore are exceptional young prospects. It would have been hard to keep them off the ball club, regardless of the strike." Sellers was a disappointment to the Dolphins after being obtained in a trade with Dallas for Otto Stow late this year. He missed most of last season with injuries and caught only two passes. He had led the Cowboys with 31 receptions for 653 yards and six scores as a rookie with five touchdowns in 1972. He caught 27 passes for 70 yards and six scores as a rookie with New England in 1969 and added 38 passes for 550 yards in 1970, then fell to 14 catches for 222 yards in 1971.

But he hadn't caught a pass in limited preseason exposure. Neither had Raftery, who saw limited duty last year.

Moore and Baker, meanwhile, each caught nine passes in preseason. Moore's reception record was 27 yards and two touchdowns for 170 yards and six scores as a rookie with New England in 1969 and added 38 passes for 550 yards in 1970, then fell to 14 catches for 222 yards in 1971.

Also waived Tuesday were second-year fullback Tom Smith, second-year center Chuck Bradley and five rookies.

Such Modern Tennis

NEW YORK (AP) — How are you going to smart at a computer, hit a tennis ball at a light switch or yell back at an electric buzzer?

Modern science is on the verge of eliminating one of the traditional inalienable rights of the tennis racket sport — that of cheating out of one's opponent by using a foot step.

Tennis courts are going electronic, and the first full-scale preview of calling matches by impulses and wave lengths will be seen at the finals of the $100,000 women's tennis tournament at the Los Angeles Sports Arena Oct. 14-19.

The idea of wiring the court completely and dispensing with the possibility of human error was planted in the ears of the ladies by England's Tedy Tilling, who had seen an experiment on a smaller scale at Lamar Hunt's WCT Championship in Houston earlier this year.

"A tennis player spends a lifetime learning to hit a line with a shot only to have some idiot in a blue jacket call it out," Tilling said.

DEAR ABBY

By ARIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for nearly two years. This is the second marriage for both of us. I was a widow with a very little money, and he was a widower with quite a lot. We both have married children. He just told me that he is leaving everything he has to his children. I get nothing. His children practically ignore him. They are just waiting for him to die. On those few occasions when he sees them, they show him no respect or consideration at all. My children treat him much nicer than his own do.

DEAR REMAINING: Leave everything to your children. If he dies first, his children will be only too happy to bury him. DEAR ABBY: My husband and I and our infant daughter recently moved into a new home. A friendly neighbor told me that if I needed a sitter, her 16-year-old daughter, Mary, was available. Last evening I hired Mary from 8 p.m. until 10:30 p.m. When I left, the baby was asleep, so that all Mary had to do was sit. I instructed her NOT to accept any collect calls because my husband was out of town and the call would be wasted. I told her to help herself to a soft drink and some cookies if she wanted a snack. She said, "No thanks, I'm on a diet." (I believed her because she is terribly overweight.)

When I returned, Mary said, "Oh, your husband called. I forgot and accepted the call."

After she left, I noticed that my drawers had been rummaged through and that a whole month's supply of birth control pills was missing! Later, I found two empty spaghetti cans and the carton from a half gallon of ice cream in the trash.

My question: Should I tell Mary's mother? That little sneak needs to be punished. My husband says to skip it.

DEAR UNDECIDED: Tell her mother. But not so she'll punish her daughter. (The last thing Mary needs is more punishment; she's already brutally punishing herself!) The girl obviously has some serious emotional problems which desperately require professional treatment. It would be kind of you to urge that YOUR daughter, wouldn't you want to know?

DEAR ABBY: Is there anything really improper about a single female walking into a top-notch restaurant to lunch or dine alone, aside from the fact that it takes a certain amount of nerve to do so?

I am a lover of good food, and I don't always have an escort to take me where I'd like to dine. However, I wouldn't want to look like I'm trying to pick up someone because I came in alone. What say you?

DEAR WONDERING: Quit wondering and treat yourself to a lunch or dinner wherever you can afford to go. As long as you mind your own business, you need not worry about giving anyone the wrong impression.

DEAR DR. LAMB: My doctor is an orthopedic surgeon. He told me I have "tennis elbow," technically called lateral epicondylitis. I want to know if he is right. The outer knuckle or knob on my elbow hurts when I grip with my arm completely extended straight. If I strike this knob against anything, it hurts so bad that I almost cry. In a position such as the one I put my arm in to write, my arm goes to sleep. Of course, there are other positions that do the same thing. There is a continuous ache in my elbow joint. My doctor gives me an injection of corticosteroids about every three months. I'm a pipefitter. He tells me that an operation may not help because manual labor such as my work would probably produce a recurrence.

DEAR HEADER: No doubt your doctor is correct. Tennis elbow can occur whenever the elbow joint is subjected to repeated strain and jarring. With the boom in tennis this condition is being seen with far greater frequency.

Your arm has three main bones: the humerus, between the elbow and the shoulder, and the radius and ulna between the elbow and the hand. The two lower bones are held in place at the elbow hinge joint by a partial capsule of ligaments. These ligaments are attached directly to rough surfaces and knobs on the bones. This joint was not made for excessive jarring. As with other joints, if it is used in an unnatural way, it can become injured, setting up an inflammation. A baseball pitcher may develop a "pitcher's elbow" or a ballet dancer damage to her ankles.

The hand can be rotated back and forth by the twisting of the two lower bones. When striking an object, if the elbow joint is in the right position, it will be more injurious. You know that if you pick up a club and hold one end while hitting something with the other end you won't feel much of a jar. BUT, hit something about half way along the length of the club and you will feel it. I suspect your occupation has been a factor in putting a strain on your elbow joint. In the tennis player it is often that backhand. It is important to know if there is any underlying problem that contributes to the disorder. Both gout and arthritis are sometimes a factor. Getting older, apparently with bone changes, is a factor. In fact tennis elbow occurs most often in the older athlete, particularly those who play once a week. Treatment ideas vary. Surgery seldom helps. Medicines to relieve pain are often used, that includes cortisone injections, aspirin and other measures. Rest, heat, massage, ultrasound and whirlpool baths are all useful in some cases. The best approach is to prevent the recurrent injury. Tennis players may like the solution. Most don't like that solution. For tennis it is important to learn to do it right. Professionals seldom have the problem, but some do (including both Arthur Ashe and Tony Roche). It often means a poorly controlled backhand. Exercises to strengthen the forearm muscles, learning the proper grip, and hitting the ball correctly remove that abnormal jar to the elbow joint. Then happily, in some instances, the tennis elbow disappears for no good reason but to the satisfaction of everyone involved.

Only Us 'Folks' Sing This Music

By JEAN PATTESON
Women's Editor

Folk music, an old blues singer once said, is music "what folks sing. I ain't never heard no horses sing it."

And a folk performer once commented, he also plays for those persons in the audience who listen only for the wrong notes.

Barbara Muller, a music instructor at Seminole Junior College, prefers to call it "traditional" music. "Folk" music, she says, too often implies only Peter, Paul and Mary tunes, which is not what she means at all.

Extroverted and 'arty,' loudly proclaiming the chaos of her overflowing office, Barbara abruptly ceases her clowning as she explains her fascination with all things traditional — the recipes, remedies, sayings, music.

"There's a little bit of folk in all of us," she says, fumbling sensitive fingers through her tousled cropped hair as she searches for the right words. "A family saying, a favorite dish, the kind of songs you sit around the back porch and sing."

"Dig for it," she urges. "There's folk tradition hidden deep down."

"Traditional music you find in the out-of-the-way places and it often takes a special ear to appreciate it. Traditional," she pauses, then in a rush, "it's something you've got to taste, smell, feel, listen to. It might sound like a cat on a back yard fence, but with folk you have to kind of suspend judgment and enjoy it for itself."

There always were, and always will be what Barbara calls the "true-blue traditionalists." Folk who find beauty in the frantic creaking, rattling of an ancient hillbilly fiddling — a case, she grins, of fiddling being in the ear of the listener.

The folk revival which got going in the 60s has brought this special type of music in a somewhat modified form to a wider audience. The revival reached its peak in the 60s with prizes, including a television set, record player, savings bonds, vacations, dolls, toys, bicycle, typewriter and clothing. Her liveliest prize was a tiny toy pool which she promptly named "Pagsant."

Carol has one smaller brother who is mightily proud of his sister. The dresses worn in the contest were designed by Carol's mother.

A student at Covenant Christian School, Carol is in the first grade. She is busy making television commercials, and recently became a member of the Screen Actors Guild, which makes her a professional actress. Her agent is Camelot Talent and Modeling Agency of Winter Park.

Carol collects dolls from different countries and also shells. She likes to swim and began at the age of six months. Carol would like to teach first grade when she grows up, or be a photographer's model. She also would like to join the Olympics gymnastics team and has her eye on the Miss Florida Contest when she becomes 17.

Flowers couple was married Sept. 10, 50 years ago, at the Methodist parsonage in Daytona by the Rev. Williams. They have lived in Sanford ever since, where Flowers was a celery farmer until he retired several years ago.

The couple has a daughter, Mrs. Oliver Lindsey, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., and a son, Clyde Royal Flowers, of Orlando. They have three grandsons and a granddaughter.

Almost 200 relatives and friends from Florida, Georgia and North Carolina attended the large club room which was attractively decorated with flower arrangements of yellow roses and mums.

Mrs. Neal Farmer played a variety of popular melodies on the piano during the reception. The Flower's grandchildren, nieces, nephews and grandnieces assisted in serving and receiving the guests, as did Mrs. and Mrs. Richard Mercer of Mims. Also receiving were Mrs. Volle Williams, Mrs. A.C. McEwen, Mrs. William L. Kirk and Mrs. Frank L. Woodruff, III.

Hinkle Hopes To Organize Community Band At SJC

Bill Hinkle, Seminole Junior College humanities instructor in instrumental music, would like to organize a Community Band, similar to the Community Chorus organized last year by Dr. Beat Perinchieff.

The band would be open to all interested members of the community, who should contact the college for more information.

Hinkle was part of the U.S. State Department touring band that spent six weeks this summer touring Poland.

Joan Baer and Judy Collins, and from it has evolved the folk rock of Bob Dylan and Cat Stevens.

A lot of performers commercialize folk music, claims Barbara. Born and raised in East Tennessee herself, she says she did not grow up with many folk traditions, but has adopted them and woven them into the pattern of her life.

Her own performances on guitar or dulcimer, piano, psaltery, or autoharp, are traditional folk with classical overtones.

"Classical music is the backbone of my training," Barbara explains. "I'm a professional musician and impose professional standards when I play."

Although no course in traditional music is offered at the junior college, Barbara often starts beginners on simple folk tunes which use few chords. And occasionally, she smiles, she gets a chance "to sound off on my soapbox."

At the college, Barbara gives classes and private lessons in guitar and piano, and directs the music department's Renaissance Ensemble. She occasionally teaches music literature and theory as well.

A 1966 graduate of the Oberlin College Conservatory of Music, Barbara has done graduate work at Stetson University in DeLand. She is thoroughly involved in the musical activities of Florida, particularly in the Seminole-Orange County area. Her most recent appearance was at the annual Florida Folk Festival held on the banks of the historical Suwannee River.

Her performing experience has included a two month tour of the Soviet Union in 1964 as part of the U.S. State Department cultural exchange program, and television appearances both in this country and Canada.

The Bicentennial Celebrations, says Barbara hopefully, should create renewed interest in all things traditional.

JUNIOR WOMEN SEEK MEMBERS

Road Runners Jamboree Will Benefit Deaf Children

The Tri-County Road Runners Band Radio Club will be sponsoring its annual Hearing Conservation Jamboree in Sanford Oct. 27, and is now accepting entries for the Jamboree Queen Beauty Miss Florida title. Young women interested in participating in this pageant should contact Mrs. Anita Williamson, Briarcliff Road, Sanford.

Already four entries have been received from four beauty queen hopefuls in Georgia, but no local girls have yet entered. Last year's queen, Miss Delta Burke, went on from the Jamboree Pageant to win the Miss Florida title. Young women interested in participating in this pageant should contact Mrs. Anita Williamson, Briarcliff Road, Sanford.

The proceeds from the jamboree are for the hard of hearing children of Seminole County. Appropriately, one of the star performers at the jamboree will be Buzz Mickler, a deaf-and-dumb drummer in a gospel band organized by his family.

A variety of other entertainment is scheduled, and on the hour, every hour of the jamboree, grand door prizes will be awarded. These include a console color television set, portable television sets and radios.

In addition, trophies will be presented to the best dressed radio club, the largest out of state club, oldest male, oldest female, youngest person, farthest travelled citizens bander, largest in state club, jamboree queen, first and second queen runners up, and all exhibitors.

DEAR POLLY — How do you clean the wooden arms on a vinyl arm chair? I tried washing them with a cold water soap and also a furniture cleaner but the marks did not come off. I hope someone can tell me a better way. — ANN.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the designers of many items we use daily. No matter what they produce from a kitchen range to lunch buckets they persist in putting in as many grooves and crevices as possible. These collect grease and dirt and don't offer smooth, cleanable surfaces. — MRS. W.J.K.

DEAR POLLY — Like Elaine I, too, had a problem with my carpet pie being flat. My children are both under three years and we have mini-shag. I do not have time to keep picking up toys, clothes or just junk. I use the rug rake our rug man gave us to rake up everything left on the rug out into the hall where the articles are separated into different piles. This makes only one trip to each room necessary to put them away. I also use a rug spot cleaner with a brush on the can and all the spots and spills come off easily. I do enjoy your column the most. — YVONNE.

DEAR POLLY — Being a do-it-yourselfer I always wash my own car and finish the job by washing the windows with vinegar and water. Recently I tried this on the chrome trim. After rubbing them dry with a soft cloth the bumpers and trim sparkled like mirrors. — REV.E.P.R.

DEAR POLLY — My husband was watching my friend make broom-stick lace. I am learning to do this and asked him to make me a dowel to do the work on. He suggested that I get a new ball plunger (large or small) and use that instead of the broomstick because it would hold on to the table or wall and I would have an easier time making this lace. If I get a Polly Dollar it goes to my clever husband. — MRS.R.B.

DEAR POLLY — When a garment, especially polyester ones, gets a snag use a needle threader pushed up from the underarm to side right where the snag is. Thread the needle threader with the snag thread and pull through to the back. — JANET.

DEAR POLLY — Every time I have to melt paraffin wax I thank my lucky stars that somewhere along the way I learned that one can clean the pan while the wax is still hot by simply wiping it with paper towels. This makes cleanup so much easier. While canning strawberry preserves it occurred to me that others may not know this. — BETTY M.

Nixon Expenses Defended Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Ford administration proposes to combine the benefits of two laws to help pay for the Nixon expenses.

Richard M. Nixon, more than twice the funds former President Lyndon B. Johnson received for his period of transition to private life, government records show.

General Services Administrator Arthur F. Sampson is to defend the $50,000 Nixon budget proposal before a Senate appropriations panel today.

GSA figures obtained from congressional sources show that the Nixon budget for his first 18 months out of office compares with a total of $11 million spent for Johnson, his immediate predecessor, during the four years Johnson lived after retiring as president.

Of that total, Johnson received about $70,000 for transition expenses and $37,000 for personal funds during his first 17 months out of office. The presidential pension has since been increased to $22,777 annually.

The Nixon proposal, worked out by Nixon aides and Sampson in an unannounced meeting in San Clemente, Calif., immediately after the resignation, would take full advantage of both the Former Presidents Act of 1958 and the Presidential Transition Act of 1963.

A GSA spokesman cited the Johnson transition as a precedent, noting that he was the only president to receive the benefits of both acts and pointing out that he extended his transition period from six months to 17 months.

But GSA documents show that Johnson received only his pension and Transition Act funds during that 17-month period and didn't begin getting staff and office money under the Former Presidents Act until the transition ended.

Calculations based on the GSA figures show that Johnson received an average of about $3,000 a month during the transition period and about $17,000 a month after that. This compares with $85,000 a month Nixon would receive during his first 18 months and $33,000 a month after that if his level of spending under the Former Presidents Act remained stable.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Tampa Man Sentenced

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP)—Two American pilots have pleaded guilty to charges of conspiring to ship marijuana from Jamaica to the United States.

Gary Charles Churchill, 26, of St. Louis, Mo., and Ronald Dale Carlisle of Tampa, Fla., were sentenced on Monday to pay a fine of $6,720 or serve six months at hard labor. Prosecutor Hugh Hamilton said the men would be deported if they paid the fine.

The two men took off from Jamaica on Aug. 11 after filing a flight plan for the Bahamas, but instead they landed their small twin-engine plane on an abandoned plantation airstrip west of Kingston. The police were waiting for them and shot out their tires when they tried to take off to escape capture.

Police Supt. Lawrence Trout testified that a quantity of marijuana was found hidden near the airstrip and that aboard the plane his men found a map showing where the drug was cached and instructions for picking it up.

Soviets Aid Syria

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. intelligence estimates are that Soviet arms shipments have substantially improved the quality of Syria's military forces and more than made up the losses suffered in the October war with Israel.

But the Soviet aid, including a new line of jet fighters, is not enough to tip the balance against the Jewish state, and Israel would triumph should fighting resume between the two countries, it is believed here.

This assessment of Syrian strength, however, does not take into immediate account the likelihood that Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin will convince administration officials during his four-day visit that Israel needs a further upgrading of its air and ground strength.

In an arrival ceremony Tuesday on the White House lawn, the former general stressed that "only a strong Israel, able to defend itself against aggression, has a chance of winning a peace."

President Ford, at Rabin's side, seemed to give the kind of assurances the Israeli leader is seeking. "We are committed to Israel's survival and security," he said. Rabin, who spent almost an hour with Ford afterward in the Oval Office, gets to the details of his negotiations today with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and with Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger.

The Soviets are known to be replacing Syrian equipment on a one-for-one numerical basis — except for the additional bounty of a new line of jets. In the process, however, they are understood to be turning over more sophisticated gear than was lost during the war.

Still, the intelligence estimate is that Israel would win a war confined to the two states if one broke out.

100 Die in Street Fighting

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—More than 100 persons have been killed in street battles in the past 24 hours in Lourenco Marques following the collapse of a white settlers' rebellion, the official radio station in the Portuguese territory reported today.

A Portuguese government communique issued in Lisbon reported "racial violence" and said the army was flying reinforcements to the capital from northern Mozambique.

White settlers in the capital of the southeast African territory seized the radio station, the airport and other key points Saturday.

The action came following the signing of an agreement to give control of the territorial government to Ft. Limbo, the African guerrilla movement that in 10 years has fought the Portuguese army to a standstill in Mozambique.

Almost no violence was reported on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, and on Tuesday Portuguese authorities announced that the rebels had surrendered peacefully following an ultimatum from the government in Lisbon. But the communique issued today indicated street fighting broke out when crowds of black and white demonstrators met.

Newsmen and other sources in Lourenco Marques said the city of 140,000 blacks and 70,000 whites was tense but comparatively calm today after more than 24 hours of near-anarchy.

Beira, Mozambique's second largest city and chief port, was reportedly quiet after two days of noisy demonstrations.

Cuban Policy Judged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Indirect signals from Havana that Fidel Castro may be interested in talking with the United States have inspired the Ford administration to begin an extensive review of U.S. policy toward the Caribbean island.

The Cuban premier is thought to be more receptive to a dialogue with Washington in order not to remain totally dependent on the Soviet Union, which supplies his regime with some $1 million a day in aid.

The feelers are being conveyed sometimes through the occasional American visitors to Cuba and also by a less hostile posture generally by Cuba toward the United States.

Although no firm decision is imminent, the policy review could eventually lead to a reversal of the U.S. effort to isolate Cuba from the rest of the hemisphere.

The United States broke relations with Cuba in 1961, imposed a trade embargo in 1962, and joined with all other hemisphere nations except Mexico in 1964 in trying to isolate Cuba both diplomatically and economically.

However, six nations have since repaired relations with Havana. Panama has announced its intention to follow suit, and Colombia, Costa Rica and Venezuela have asked the Organization of American States to convene foreign ministers in Quito, Ecuador, in November to consider a reversal of the embargo.

At this point, Cuba seems to prefer reopening direct channels with Washington to re-entering hemisphere councils, including the Organization of American States.

If these talks develop, they could consider such topics as lifting travel restrictions that prevent most Americans from traveling to Cuba, trade barriers that also limit other countries which deal with Havana, or even an exchange of diplomats.

Since many of these anti-Cuban measures were written into the law, the administration would need Congressional support to accomplish a policy reversal.

Long Range Food Price Decrease Expected

By DONALD C. BAUDER
The Herald Services

There is some good and bad agricultural news—but for the long term, the news is on the optimistic side.

First, the bad: Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, at a news conference in Washington, said that food prices will continue to rise in 1975, but at a pace well below the 15 per cent anticipated this year.

But the good: for the long term, food prices should be coming down, and only the bad weather this year might prevent this from happening soon. This assessment came from Prof. D. Gale Johnson, agricultural economist and chairman of the Department of Economics at the University of Chicago, writing in a monthly newsletter published by Morgan Guaranty Trust Co., New York.

The views of Butz and Johnson don't really contradict one another; Butz was looking at the immediate future and Johnson at the long range.

"There is absolutely no basis for panic about the food supply in 1974 and 1975," Butz said at the conference. "Outlining revised views of domestic and world food supplies."

Asked his assessment of probable average price increases for foods next year, Butz said, "At the moment, I don't anticipate anything like 10 per cent." He said that gains in beef production should help offset expected cuts in pork and poultry production arising from grain shortages.

A Department of Agriculture paper distributed at the conference indicated that world food production in 1974 and 1975 would be "hard pressed" to equal last year's record output. Thus, a slowly increasing trend of recent years might be interrupted.

"This year's crop is only 'disappointing,' especially in comparison with last year's crop, and is clearly not indicative of anything of 'disaster proportions,'" the paper stated.

Prof. Johnson's paper expanded on this thesis greatly.

"Except for the effect of the devaluation of the dollar, there seems to be no fundamental reason why the long-term decline in real (after inflationary) grain prices should not reassert itself," Johnson wrote.

"Are High Farm Prices Here To Stay?" Prof. Johnson asked in his title. "Not for very long," he replied, rather snappily, in the first paragraph.

"This year and next should see the beginning of a significant weakening of some farm prices, though adverse weather in any major grain-producing area could postpone the decline for a year or perhaps two years," he wrote.

Because "Mother Nature has been quite uncooperative in North America so far in 1974," the price decrease might be delayed, the professor said. He pooh-poohed the doom-sayers who say that increased food demand has outstripped the capacity to expand production except at sharply higher prices.

Arguments that there is relatively little uncultivated land remaining and that increasing yields will increase costs because of diminishing returns from the application of fertilizer are "incorrect, irrelevant or both." There are plenty of opportunities for expanding cultivated land in Africa, South America, Southeast Asia, North America and Australia, he said.

Farmers will find ways, and are finding ways, to whip problems imposed by high prices of fertilizer, energy and other inputs, he said.

"I do not believe that a strong case for significant increases in the real costs of producing grains in the years ahead has been made. It has only been asserted," said the professor.

"The improvements in methods of production that we have seen over the last four decades will continue into the future,"—and bringing about a reversal of the increasing price trends of the immediate past, he said.

Clam Chowder Is Quick Meal

Rich chowder is always a treat

By AILEEN CLAIRE
 The Herald Services

Chowders are quick to put together and make ideal meals for family and friends during chilly fall days. Stir flavor and nutrition into a chowder made of enriched egg noodles, cream of mushroom soup and minced clams. Serve with bean muffins, celery salad and baked apples.

EGG NOODLE CLAM CHOWDER (Makes about 3 1/2 quarts or 10 servings)

1 leaves crushed 1/2 teaspoon white pepper
 2 cans (8 ounces each) minced clams
 1 undrained
 1 Cooked bacon, crumbled, optional

Gradually add noodles and 1/2 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. Meanwhile, in a 3-quart saucepot or Dutch oven, fry bacon until crisp. Drain on paper towels and set aside. Sauté onion, celery and carrots in drippings over medium heat until onion is tender, about 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Crumble bacon and stir into onion mixture. Add milk, mushroom soup, clam broth, 4 teaspoons salt, thyme and white pepper. Heat until hot, stirring frequently. Stir in cooked noodles and undrained clams. Cook until soup mixture is heated through. Do not allow to boil. Garnish with additional bacon, if desired. (To Reheat: Noodle Clam Chowder: Heat over medium heat, adding milk, clam broth or water as necessary to achieve desired consistency. Stir frequently.)

8 ounces fine egg noodles about 4 cups
 4 Salt
 3 quarts boiling water
 1 cup coarsely chopped onion
 1 cup coarsely chopped celery
 1/2 cup coarsely chopped carrots
 6 cups milk
 2 cans (10 1/2 ounces each) condensed cream of mushroom soup, undrained
 1 bottle (8 ounces) clam broth
 1/2 teaspoon thyme

Barbeque Beef For Family Treat

Prepare all surfaces of meat, one side at a time, with instant meat tenderizer following directions. Roll steak crosswise (from shortest side), fat side out, jelly-roll fashion. Secure cuts whereas a few months ago most families were on a chicken diet. Take advantage of the break in beef prices while it lasts and stock up. For budget-stretching barbecue try a flank steak rolled, jelly-roll style, and secured with skewers. One flank steak, about 1 to 1 1/2 and a half pounds, will make four to six individual steaks. Serve with creamy scrambled eggs for a summer brunch and top both with a Ranchero sauce using green chiles, green pepper and green onions.

Prepare all surfaces of meat, one side at a time, with instant meat tenderizer following directions. Roll steak crosswise (from shortest side), fat side out, jelly-roll fashion. Secure cuts whereas a few months ago most families were on a chicken diet. Take advantage of the break in beef prices while it lasts and stock up. For budget-stretching barbecue try a flank steak rolled, jelly-roll style, and secured with skewers. One flank steak, about 1 to 1 1/2 and a half pounds, will make four to six individual steaks. Serve with creamy scrambled eggs for a summer brunch and top both with a Ranchero sauce using green chiles, green pepper and green onions.

RANCHERO SAUCE: Heat together in small saucepan on barbecue grill, 1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce, green pepper, chopped, 3 green onions, chopped and 2 tablespoons dried green chiles. Simmer 5 minutes.

NOTE: If desired cut individual flank steak into 6 rolled steaks. Reduce barbecuing time.

DINNER FOR FOUR
Worcester Chicken Rice Snap Beans Salad Chocolate Mousse Beverage

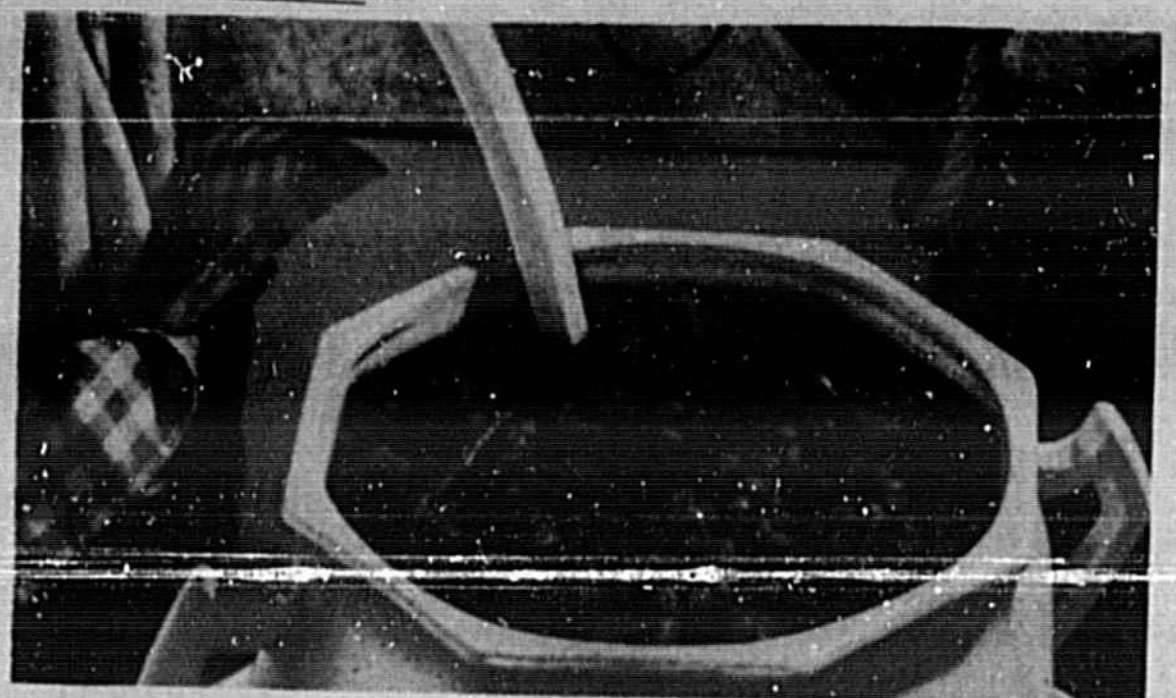

WORCESTER CHICKEN
A new broiler sauce with both sweet and zippy flavor for broiled chicken.
1 1/2-pound chicken, cut up
1 teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons frozen lemonade concentrate, just as it comes from can
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon onion powder
Sprinkle chicken with salt; place skin side down on broiler-pan rack. Broil under moderate heat (adjusting flame if using gas range or adjusting rack if using electric range) for about 20 minutes. Meanwhile, stir together the remaining ingredients until blended. Turn chicken skin side up; brush with lemonade mixture; continue broiling, brushing chicken with lemonade mixture at about 5-minute intervals, until tender and almost charred—about 20 minutes longer. Makes 4 servings.

BUFFET SUPPER
Baked Fish Potato/Puff Broccoli Salad
Walnut Raisin Pie
Good to serve to cholesterol-watchers.
1/4 cup corn oil margarine
1 cup sugar
3/4 cup light corn syrup
3/4 cup cholesterol-free egg substitute
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup coarsely broken walnuts
1/2 cup raisins
Unbaked 9-inch pie shell, see below

In a medium saucepan over low heat melt margarine; remove from heat; stir in sugar and corn syrup; blend in egg substitute and vanilla. Stir in walnuts and raisins. Pour into pie shell. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven 40 to 45 minutes.
Pie shell: Stir together 1 cup flour and 1/2 teaspoon salt; cut in 1/4 cup corn-oil margarine until particles are fine. Stir in 2 tablespoons ice water. Form into a ball. Cover; refrigerate 15 minutes. Roll out to fit 9-inch pie plate and shape edge.

SUNDAY SUPPER
Cheese Souffle Potato/Sticks Tomato Cucumber Salad Pineapple Jelly Beverage PINEAPPLE JELLY
White wine buttresses the flavor.
3-ounce package orange-pineapple gelatin dessert
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup dry white wine
8 1/2-ounce can crushed pineapple in heavy syrup, undrained
In a medium mixing bowl stir together gelatin and water until gelatin is dissolved. Stir in remaining ingredients. Ladle into dessert dishes. Chill to set. Makes five 1/2-cup servings.

JAPANESE DINNER
Pork Spinach Soup
Chicken Teriyaki Rice
Sunomono
Fruit or Ice Cream
SUNOMONO
Our version of a Japanese dish that's a cross between a relish and a salad.
Medium cucumber
1 tablespoon sugar
3 tablespoons cider vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon monosodium glutamate, if desired
16 medium shrimp (cooked and shelled and deveined)
Pare cucumber; with the sharp lines of a fork, score lengthwise; slice thin. In a shallow bowl stir together the sugar, vinegar, salt and if used the monosodium glutamate; add cucumbers and mix well; cover and chill for at least 1 hour. Cut shrimps in half lengthwise so they retain their shape. Small crescent-shaped plates, small rectangular or other-shaped Japanese plates or regular round bread-and-butter plates are all suitable for serving sunomono. Using these, at serving time overlap cucumber slices at one side of plate; overlap shrimp at other side and spoon liquid from cucumbers over them. Place Sunomono at top of each place-cover with a salad or seafood fork (depending on size is a suitable size for the plates) arranged horizontally below it. Makes 4 servings.

Italian vegetable-barley soup is made with convenience foods

Soup Is Fast And Simple

Men like soup. For example, one says it is the one dish he makes well. And this comes from his childhood days of listening to radio shows like Pepper Young's Family when he could run into the kitchen and make himself some soup (i.e., open a can and heat it up) and get back for the next episode. Times haven't changed that much as far as men, and those other folks like women and children, liking hot or cold soups anytime during the year is concerned. However, more cooks now like to take time to put together a homemade soup, even if it has some ready-made ingredients than the aforementioned instant can-opener did. One such soup to serve before a meal or as a main course with a salad, homemade cornbread and fresh fruit dessert is an Italian Vegetable-Barley Soup. Don't hesitate to freeze this in single portions if some is leftover. It will still be good... if not better than the first time around.

ITALIAN-VEGETABLE-BARLEY SOUP

2 (10-ounce) cans condensed beef bouillon
5-1/3 cups water
3 cups red wine or bouillon
1 (16-ounce) can tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon basil
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup regular barley
1/2 cup onion, chopped
1 garlic clove, minced
1 cup julienne carrot strips
1 medium-sized zucchini, thinly sliced
1 (16-ounce) can kidney beans, drained
1 tablespoon olive oil
1/4 cup chopped fresh parsley

In a large pot combine beef bouillon, water, red wine, tomatoes, salt, basil and pepper. Bring to a boil. Add barley. Cover and simmer 1 hour or until barley is tender. Add onion, garlic, carrots, zucchini and brussels sprouts. Return to a boil; cover and simmer 10 minutes, or until vegetables are just tender. Add kidney beans, olive oil and parsley; heat thoroughly. Serve with Parmesan cheese.

Serve a party sponge-cake roll with an espresso cream filling

Espresso, Friends Go Together

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
When fall entertaining starts, you may want to invite friends for dessert and coffee. To bring an interesting change, we suggest that you make the coffee the Italian variety, espresso. For the dessert you might like to serve a tender sponge roll cake with a creamy filling flavoured with espresso. If you haven't a special espresso coffee-maker, a macchinetta, you can brew espresso in a regular coffee-maker.

ESPRESSO CREAM ROLL
1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
3 eggs
3/4 cup sugar
1-3/4 cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla
Espresso Cream Filling, see below
Confectioners' sugar
Whipped cream, if desired
On wax paper, sift together flour, baking powder and salt. In small bowl of electric mixer, beat eggs at high speed 2 min. they are thickened and lemon color. Gradually beat in sugar; continue beating until very thick—about 5 minutes. Beat in water and vanilla. Gradually fold in flour mixture. Turn into 15 by 10 by 1 inch jellyroll pan that has been lined with wax paper. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until surface springs back when lightly pressed with fingertip—12 to 15 minutes. With a small metal spatula, loosen edges; invert onto a fresh tea towel dusted with "confectioners' sugar. Carefully peel off wax paper. Starting at narrow end, roll up cake (while still hot) in towel. Refrigerate while you make the Espresso Cream Filling. Unroll cake and spread filling over cake to within 1/4-inch of edges. Roll up again, inverted and guiding cake with towel. (If filling spread cake seems too soft to roll, slide it onto a cookie sheet and chill briefly before rolling.) Chill filled, rolled cake at least 1 hour before serving. If using roll in a square saucepan stir together well the brown sugar, gelatin and cinnamon; gradually stir in milk and coffee. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture is hot and gelatin dissolved. In a small mixing bowl, whisk egg yolks slightly; gradually whisk in the hot coffee mixture; return to saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, just to boiling point—do not boil. Place saucepan in a larger pan of ice and water or in refrigerator, stirring often, until mixture becomes slightly thick when dropped from a spoon. Whip cream and fold in. Use at once to fill cake roll. Makes about 2 1/2 cups filling.

Note: To brew the coffee needed, use 6 tablespoons ground espresso coffee and 1 cup water.

Quiche Meal

Quiche Lorraine was created to match the hearty appetites of those in the French province of Lorraine where much of the steel of France is produced. It served as a last-ditcher preceding a dinner of roast fowl or game. As such, it crossed the Atlantic to become a favorite hors d'oeuvre in the United States. Through the years it has undergone many changes—ranging in use from appetizer to a favorite main dish for lunch, supper or breakfast.

There are many variations of a quiche. One puts fresh ripe pears on top of the rich baked custard tart. These are filled with bits of green onion and glazed with a spicy catsup sauce. Fresh pears now are plentiful for your Barlett Quiche. Mature pears are green when picked. To ripen, store them in a brown paper sack for three or four days until they turn golden and yield slightly when squeezed gently between your palms.

BARLETT QUICHE
1 unbaked 9-inch shell
4 eggs
2 cups half-and-half (this cream)
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon onion powder
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon savory, crumbled
1-1/2 teaspoon pepper
Dash cayenne
1 1/2 cups grated process Swiss cheese (10 ounces)
3/4 cup finely chopped cooked ham
3 fresh California Bartlett pears
1/2 cup water
1/4 cup catsup

1 tablespoon cornstarch
1/4 cup chopped green onion

Prepare pie shell. Beat eggs. Add half-and-half, salt and dry seasonings and mix well. Stir in cheese and ham. Turn into pie shell. Bake below oven center in 350 degree oven 40 minutes. Meanwhile, halve, pare and core pears. Cut a small slice from rounded side of pear halves, so they will sit level. Combine water, catsup and cornstarch in small saucepan and stir over moderate heat until clear and thickened. When quiche has baked 40 minutes, and is set on top, remove from oven, arrange pears cut side up over top. Spoon catsup mixture over all. Return to oven for 5 minutes longer. Let stand 15 minutes before serving. Serve warm or cold. Makes 6 servings.

PIE SHELL: Combine 1-and-a-half cups sifted all-purpose flour with three-quarter teaspoon salt. Cut in half cup shortening. Sprinkle with 3 to 4 tablespoons cold milk, adding just enough to make dough hold together. Shape into a ball. Roll on lightly floured board to a circle about 13-inch diameter and fit loosely into a 9-inch pie plate. Trim edge about 1-inch under, and flute, building up a high rim.

Fewer Pupils, More Busing

When public school enrollment in the South this fall, fewer pupils are expected to return to reading, writing and arithmetic, but more were being bused.

Enrollments were down from last year in Louisiana, Tennessee, Alabama and South Carolina while Georgia projected a decreased school population. North Carolina remained about the same as last year.

Only Florida reported more pupils in classes this year. "Most of the parents this year say they don't care where their child goes to school," said John Gooner, director of Florida's public placement.

Southern officials gave several reasons for the lessened enrollment—a leveling off of the birth rate and continued white flight to the suburbs to avoid integration.

Tennessee and Louisiana also reported a decline in pupils in private and parochial schools.

Busing apparently increased in most Southern states and none reported any major problems.

Orange County, Fla. expects 86,000 pupils this fall, up about 725 from last year. About 8,000 will be bused, the second year of a court-ordered plan which caused controversy last year.

In Jacksonville, the second year of fully integrated cross-busing for the school system opened in late August. "It looks like one of the smoothest operations we've had in the last several years," said Francis Brown, director of transportation.

He said about 56,000 of the 110,000 pupils in the system are riding buses. He said 38 buses were added this fall, bringing the total to 515.

In Tennessee, enrollment is expected to be around 900,000, a drop of about 25,000.

"We have a baby bust, for one thing," a state education official said. He also noted that private schools continue to attract students from public school pupils, particularly in the elementary levels.

In Memphis, a decline of 2 percent in early white enrollment is linked to white flight to private schools and to a court-ordered busing.

Harry B. Sharp, assistant superintendent in charge of public services, said 71,118 blacks and 23,800 whites—a ratio of 79 to 30—were enrolled. At the end of last spring's term, about 42,300 whites, or 32 percent of an enrollment of 118,000 were in school.

White enrollment in public schools last fall dropped by about 12,000 with the start of a federal court order issued in the summer of 1973. Last spring, between 37,000-39,000 were under integration.

Georgia public school officials estimate an enrollment statewide of 630,615 for grades one through seven—down 12,651 from last year. For grades eight through 12, officials forecasted a gain of 40,142 pupils this year—a gain of 1,515.

In populous Atlanta, pupil enrollment was down this fall about 3,600 from last spring, when 86,000 were enrolled. Officials estimate, however, that more children will be registered by mid-September.

An education official said the drop was "due to a combination of factors, the flight of both blacks and whites to suburbs and the high mobility rate of the population."

"Atlanta's school system is busing about 200 more pupils this fall.

One system still under supervision of federal court is Charleston-Mecklenburg, the state's largest, with about 78,000 pupils. The system is one of the original plaintiffs in U.S. Supreme Court decision on busing to achieve racial balance.

lower, a factor which tends to lower the racial averages government-wide, the men in uniform collected thousands in supplementary admissions. These included $1,440 for housing, $598 for food, $473 in federal benefits, $301 for "special items" such as hazardous duty, clothing and proficiency, $770 for medical care, $98 in commissary and exchange discounts and $1,366 in retirement pay.

The salaries of federal workers began a dramatic surge during the Kennedy administration in an effort to attract better qualified applicants. In the past decade, the civilian branch has received a dozen substantial raises, and boosts for its military, particularly since its conversion to an all-voluntary force, have more than quadrupled pay levels in some cases.

The result is that while the entire government payroll, including the now-independent Postal Service, has remained static at about 5 million employees, the cost has more than doubled to $60 billion.

White-collar jobs for college graduates start at the GS-5 level, where "step 1" will pay about $8,500 presuming the upcoming increase holds at 5.5 percent. Almost automatically, such an employee will be promoted to GS-7 after one year, GS-9 in another year, GS-11 two years after that, and then GS-12 in another two years.

While unions and some congressmen complain that that's not enough, the Civil Service Commission is swamped with applications. Last year, 49,000 persons applied for 18,000 clerical openings; 187,500 applied for 12,500 junior executive slots; and 24,000 applied for 7,000 openings in engineering and scientific jobs.

Even Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., a frequent critic of inflationary federal spending, has endorsed an October implementation. So has Senate Majority Whip Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va.

While the federal bureaucrat can point to a number of statistics to show that his standard of living is slipping, there is still evidence aplenty that this lot isn't all that bad compared to other American workers.

For example: A comprehensive survey by the Commerce Department showed that in 1973 the average salary for the federal civilian worker, including blue-collar jobs, was $13,000. In private industry it was $9,900.

A Civil Service Commission survey of 12 leading private employers showed that none provided better fringe benefits than the federal service. Most notable in that area is the government's pension plan. It provides the retired worker up to 80 percent of his salary, with guaranteed cost of living protection. While that's four to five times better than Social Security, the cost to the worker is about the same.

Federal Pay Hike Demanded On Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's demand of a 5.5 percent pay boost for federal employees has drawn a fusillade of protest from labor and congressional quarters.

Ford has postponed the scheduled Oct. 1 raise until Jan. 1, thereby saving the federal payroll $700 million in the name of fighting inflation. Federal employees want Congress to restore the original date.

Beyond that, such groups as the National Federation of Federal Employees, the American Federation of Government Employees and the National Treasury Employees Union are lobbying for a larger boost. Most are united behind an AFL-CIO proposal of 8.4 percent.

Their reasoning centers on an inflation rate hovering around 12 percent, plus government surveys showing increases in private industry wages of 6.3 to 7.1 percent—surveys which are six months out of date.

Under the Federal Pay Comparability Act, Ford's delay of the pay hike—affecting 1.4 million civilians and 2.2 million military employees—has been overturned by a simple majority in either the House or Senate.

As president, Richard M. Nixon succeeded in postponing similar boosts for two consecutive years, but his third try in 1973 was overturned by the Senate.

"As far as federal employees are concerned, President Ford is a second-hand Nixon," said Nathan Wikstrom, president of the 120,000-member National Federation of Federal Employees. "Ford had the opportunity to prove to the career service that he really cared ... but he blew it. He showed he really doesn't understand."

Vincent Connor, president of the 50,000-member Treasury Employees Union, vowed "a rather massive protest" to Congress. The bill allows 30 days for Congress to act, and Sept. 30 is the deadline.

Already the wheels are turning. Sen. Ted Stevens, Alaska, is overruled by the House. Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, Glenn Bell, Robert Dole, R-Kan., and Mike Gravel, D-Alaska.

Chairman James McClellan of Senate Civil Service Committee is sympathetic, also is the hearing. Democrat believes both that the increase should be higher and that it should come Oct. 1.

Even Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., a frequent critic of inflationary federal spending, has endorsed an October implementation. So has Senate Majority Whip Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va.

While the federal bureaucrat can point to a number of statistics to show that his standard of living is slipping, there is still evidence aplenty that this lot isn't all that bad compared to other American workers.

For example: A comprehensive survey by the Commerce Department showed that in 1973 the average salary for the federal civilian worker, including blue-collar jobs, was $13,000. In private industry it was $9,900.

A Civil Service Commission survey of 12 leading private employers showed that none provided better fringe benefits than the federal service. Most notable in that area is the government's pension plan. It provides the retired worker up to 80 percent of his salary, with guaranteed cost of living protection. While that's four to five times better than Social Security, the cost to the worker is about the same.

"A Library of Congress report showed that while average military pay was $6,587.14 a lower, a factor which tends to lower the racial averages government-wide, the men in uniform collected thousands in supplementary admissions. These included $1,440 for housing, $598 for food, $473 in federal benefits, $301 for "special items" such as hazardous duty, clothing and proficiency, $770 for medical care, $98 in commissary and exchange discounts and $1,366 in retirement pay.

The salaries of federal workers began a dramatic surge during the Kennedy administration in an effort to attract better qualified applicants. In the past decade, the civilian branch has received a dozen substantial raises, and boosts for its military, particularly since its conversion to an all-voluntary force, have more than quadrupled pay levels in some cases.

The result is that while the entire government payroll, including the now-independent Postal Service, has remained static at about 5 million employees, the cost has more than doubled to $60 billion.

White-collar jobs for college graduates start at the GS-5 level, where "step 1" will pay about $8,500 presuming the upcoming increase holds at 5.5 percent. Almost automatically, such an employee will be promoted to GS-7 after one year, GS-9 in another year, GS-11 two years after that, and then GS-12 in another two years.

While unions and some congressmen complain that that's not enough, the Civil Service Commission is swamped with applications. Last year, 49,000 persons applied for 18,000 clerical openings; 187,500 applied for 12,500 junior executive slots; and 24,000 applied for 7,000 openings in engineering and scientific jobs.

of the losing team. South decided to use Blackwood and settled for six when North showed just one king. Six is the right contract and South made it.

At the other table, South went into a series of complicated bids after the three-heart response. Eventually he landed in seven. South won the club lead; ruffed a club; led a trump; ruffed his last club and ran all his trumps to win up with one spade and three diamonds while dummy hung on to the ace of spades and three diamonds.

West had never thrown a diamond and East came to the conclusion that South had started with two spades and the ace-king of diamonds. He unguarded his queen of diamonds and the grand slam made.

CARNIVAL

290 Abandon Burning Ship

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Flames erupted in the bowels of the luxury liner Cunard Ambassador today, forcing most of the 290 crewmen aboard to set adrift in life boats in the Gulf of Mexico, where they were picked up by rescue ships.

But the engine room fire raged out of control, and officials said there was a threat of an explosion if flames overreached diesel fuel. Fifty fire fighters and the ship's captain Robert Howard remained aboard.

There were no immediate reports of injuries. The 480-foot liner was carrying no passengers at the time of the fire.

The rescue ship plucked the other 240 crewmen out of their rafts and boats bobbing in gentle swells alongside the crippled vessel. Clouds of thick, black smoke shrouded the scene, about 39 miles southwest of Key West.

"The fire's in the engine room and it's serious," said Coast Guard Lt. George Johnson in Miami. "They tried to put it out themselves and couldn't."

The naval ship Tallulah, with only a small crew reached the burning vessel shortly after the men abandoned ship. It was unable to get too close to the liner because it was carrying aviation gasoline.

"There are no reports of panic. Things seem to be going orderly, as orderly as something like that can," Johnson said. He remained in radio contact with the ship and with Coast Guard planes dispatched to the site.

The nearest ship capable of helping to fight the flames was about three hours away when the first distress call came from the Ambassador at 7:15 a.m. EDT, Johnson said.

That was a 41-foot Coast Guard rescue ship with pumps, dispatched immediately from Key West. "They've found a hatch five feet above the water line and instead of pumping water over the top, we'll pump through the hatch right into the engine room," a Coast Guard spokesman said.

The liner, owned by Cunard Lines Ltd., reportedly was leased to Bahamas Cruise Lines, whose officials in Miami were holding an emergency meeting. Most of the ship's crew are British.

The 210-foot Coast Guard cutter Diligence in Key West would not reach the burning liner until 11 a.m., Johnson said. The 565-foot cargo steamer California was about seven miles away.

The luxury liner, built in 1972, had left Miami at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday and was en route to New Orleans to pick up cruise passengers, a spokesman said. The ship can hold a maximum of 600 passengers.

The Ambassador had discharged a load of passengers Wednesday, following a cruise to Nassau, Bahamas.

Casselberry May Remain Tax Free

The 1974-75 budget as it now stands for the city of Casselberry can be balanced without setting a tax millage, according to Councilman Edith Duerr.

"We originally estimated that we would be transferring money to utilities from general funds, but eliminating the utility transfer appears to eliminate tax millage," Mrs. Duerr said. Eleventh hour budget meetings Wednesday night and tonight bring the budget closer to a balanced state. A tentative budget is scheduled for adoption by Sept. 16 and presentation to citizens at a public hearing on Sept. 23. By state law, city budgets must be adopted by October 1.

Finalization of the general fund budget is expected to come at tonight's session, according to Mrs. Duerr.

"We originally planned to allot $200,000 to utilities," Mrs. Duerr said, "but since utilities provide revenue, rates can be raised in that department for its operation." The $200,000 can be transferred to the general fund budget, eliminating a need for a property tax, she said.

The initial $1,780,737 budget proposed by City Manager Harry Hug provided for an eight per cent across-the-board pay hike for all city employees. Even though $330,000 has already been sliced from the initial figure, Mrs. Duerr said that "it now seems that we can still balance the budget and leave in the pay increase."

Specifics concerning utility rate increases and revenues that would be generated will be presented to the council tonight by City Engineer B.C. Conklin.
