

'Ideal Citizen' Harper Dead At 81

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

E. C. Harper Sr., active in the civic, church, business and fraternal activities of Sanford for more than half a century, died Sunday afternoon at Seminole Memorial Hospital at the age of 81.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday at the First Baptist Church of Sanford with Rev. J. Ted Cosmato officiating. Burial will follow in Evergreen Cemetery.

Commenting on the death, George Touby, who was associated for 30 years with Mr. Harper on the board of First Federal Savings and Loan of Seminole County said: "I think the town was enriched by this person, whose integrity was unquestioned and whose talents were devoted to many community activities. He epitomized the ideal citizen in a progressive community."

"He was a very dedicated upright leader and gave of himself beyond the call of duty," said A. Edwin Shiholzer, who was associated with Harper through First Federal and the Sanford Kiwanis. "I felt he had a keen personal interest in his fellow man and the whole community will feel the loss."

Mr. Harper, a director of First Federal since 1942, was president from 1961-68, when he was awarded a certificate of recognition for 25 years service. He was chairman of the board of directors of First Federal since 1942, was president from 1961-68, when he was awarded a certificate of recognition for 25 years service. He was chairman of the board of directors from 1969 to January of this year.

Born in Starke, he came to Sanford in 1920 after serving in France with the U. S. Army in World War I. He joined the National Guard in 1921 and resigned 20 years later with the rank of major. He organized the Selective Service Board here and served as chairman from 1940 until he resigned in 1965.

He was a member of First Baptist Church for 59 years and was a member and a chairman of the Board of Deacons, president of the Men's Class and chairman of the church's Board of Trustees.

He started the Sanford Electric Company in 1926 and remained president until 1970, when he stepped down and gave the presidency to his son, E. C. Harper Jr. He remained active in the business and was a director of the corporation.

He was president of the Central Florida Electrical Association and chairman of the Seminole County Electrical Board and the City of Sanford Electrical Board.

He is survived by his wife, Bessie; son, E. C. Harper Jr.; daughter, Jean Jacoby, all of Sanford; sister, Amelia Matter, Key Largo; five grandchildren and one great-granddaughter. Brison Funeral Home-PeA is in charge of arrangements.

E.C. HARPER
...Enriched the town

Junior Whirl

by Hal Kaufman

HAT TRICK! Place a jellybean and a hat on the table. State that you will make the jellybean disappear from under the hat. When challenged, put on the hat and eat the jellybean. You will have kept your word.

Time Line! Quickly, add nine to nine nines and subtract nine-ninths for Nine's age just before he became a nonagenarian.

Eye Smarts! A line of letters on an eye chart reads: E R I G T G E N. Can you rearrange these letters and add one more for a timely word?

Riddle Me-This! How did the snowman stand with his girl? Out in the cold. Why couldn't the mechanical man take a joke? He was tin-skinned.

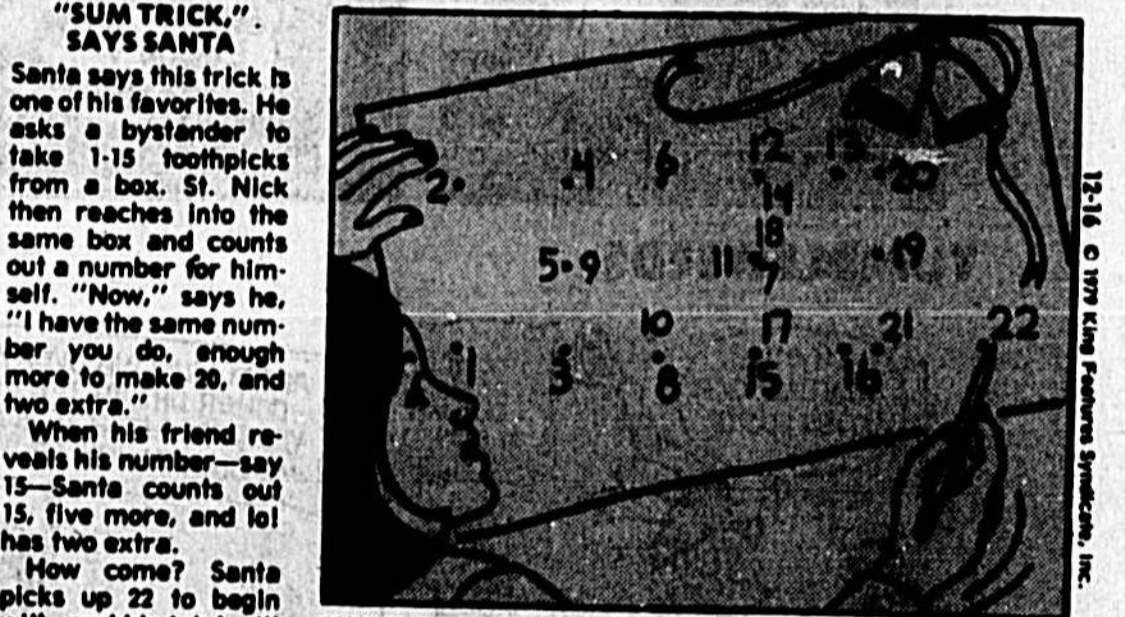

HOCUS FOCUS

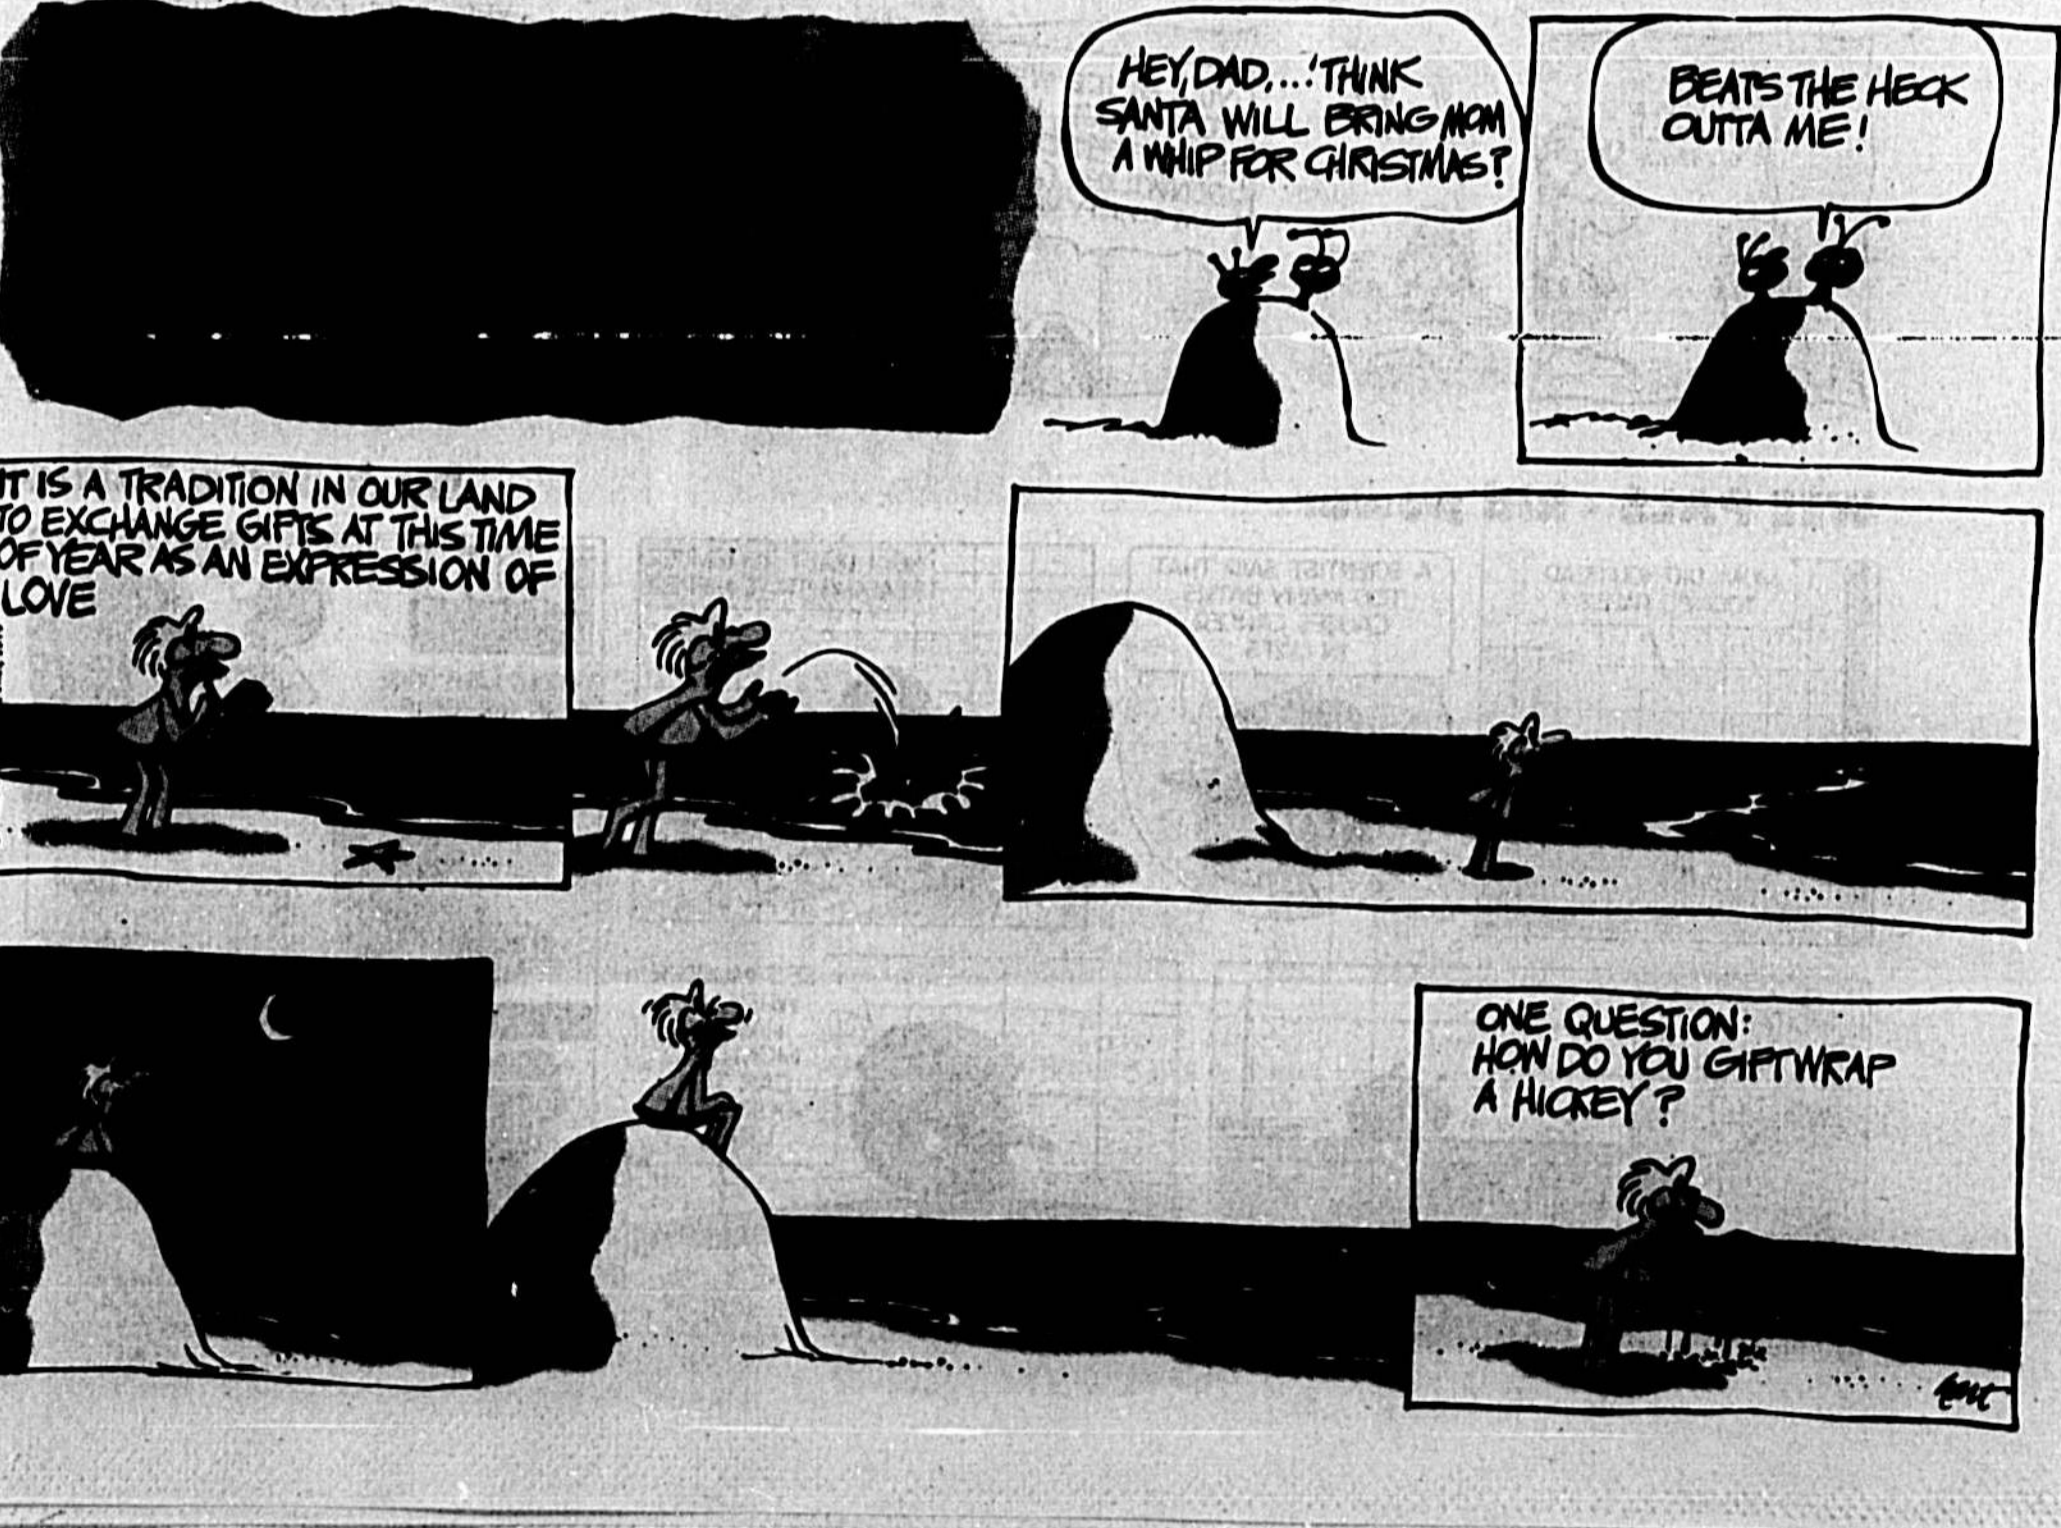

CAN YOU TRUST YOUR EYES? There are at least six differences in drawing details between top and bottom panels. How quickly can you find them? Check answers with those below.

SAYS SANTA
Santa says this trick is one of his favorites. He asks a bystander to take 1-15 toothpicks from a box. St. Nick then reaches into the same box and counts out a number for himself. "Now," says he, "I have the same number you do, enough more to make 20, and two extra."

YULE SEE! What can you draw to complete the Yuletide scene above? To find out, add connecting lines 1, 2, 3, etc.

YULE SEE! What can you draw to complete the Yuletide scene above? To find out, add connecting lines 1, 2, 3, etc.

SCC Instructors Exonerated

Reports that two part-time instructors in the Seminole Community College criminal justice program were drinking large quantities of beer during a class break have been found to be without foundation by Ed Kall coordinator of the program.

"I have talked to practically the entire class and all have told me no unusual incidents took place," Kall said today. "Eleven students said on one occasion they drank beer with their pizza at lunch

County Awaits Sanford Annexation Vote

County Commissioner Bob Sturm will recommend to his colleagues today "appropriate action" against the city of Sanford if the city commission goes forward with its announced intention at a 7 p.m. meeting today of annexing a parcel of property.

The property is located at the southeast corner of the intersection of U. S. Highway 17-92 and Woodson Avenue, near Sunland Estates. On the city commission agenda is first reading of the annexation ordinance. A second reading at another meeting must take place before the annexation is final.

Sturm said the "appropriate action" would be for the county to file a lawsuit against the city challenging the annexation. "However, if the city wishes to hold up final reading of the ordinance, I would be very amenable to going in with Sanford in getting an interpretation from the attorney general on what an enclave is."

Stormy Hearing Expected On Land Use

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

Although restrictive land use amendments to Seminole County's adopted Comprehensive Plan are not likely to be approved, another stormy public hearing is expected before the county commission votes on the issue Tuesday night.

A newly formed citizens group and the county Board of Realtors will be on hand to protest, along with individual homeowners who have indicated their disapproval of such "interference with their private property rights."

The Comprehensive Plan outlines the county's goals and policies concerning land use in unincorporated Seminole. It is in no way an attempt to take people's property, according to Commissioner Bob Sturm.

Amendments to the plan were proposed by county planners who said they felt development should be limited for safety and other reasons in areas they earmarked for conservation and preservation.

Preservation areas, according to the plan, are areas that are naturally occurring wetlands which are heavily wooded and contain an economic impact study to determine the economic effect on private property owners before attempting further restrictions on use in Seminole County.

County officials have said there is a good chance present landowners would not be greatly affected by the amendments because of likely insertion of a "grandfather" clause.

A grandfather clause could prohibit the restrictions from being applied to those who already own property. It could apply to the land, whoever owns it, or it could apply only to the present owner. In the latter case, if the owner sold the land the new owner would have to comply with the regulations. Such grandfather clauses are up to the commissioners.

County officials have indicated the amendments are primarily aimed at developers who want to subdivide their land.

If the land is designated as a preservation or flood-prone area, the amendments call for allowing only recreational or vacation structures at one unit per five acres and no septic tanks.

Under present regulations, structures are permitted at one unit per one acre and septic tanks are allowed if the health department assures they will function without problems.

An alternative amendment proposed by county planners would allow one dwelling unit per five acres and septic tanks.

Preservation areas were determined by planners according to the U.S. Geological Survey Maps indicating 100-year flood-prone areas. One hundred-year flood-prone means the land has a one in one hundred chance of flooding in any year.

Representatives of the People's Transit Organization, a group promoting mass transit, have said they will speak in favor of the amendments. Representative Bruce Gagnon said governments should take stronger action to consolidate growth to avoid urban sprawl.

Captors: All Hostages Face Trial

By United Press International

The militant captors today contradicted Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh and insisted all 50 American hostages would appear before spy trials and none of them would be released by Christmas.

"The hostages will all be put on trial," a militant spokesman at the occupied U.S. Embassy said. "None of them is going to be released before Christmas."

Ghotbzadeh Sunday — in a virtual package offer for a peaceful solution — said he hoped some of the hostages could be freed by Christmas and revolutionary spy trials might be avoided by establishment of an international commission which would condemn American imperialism rather than judge the captives themselves.

"That's his own opinion," retorted a militant spokesman who has overruled past Ghotbzadeh public announcements. The government also announced the expulsion of two Time Magazine correspondents for what it called distorted reporting, bringing to 23 the number of journalists ousted by the revolutionary regime. A government spokesman said the two would not be replaced.

The first Christmas cards in an expected avalanche of mail arrived at the embassy today and students at the compound gates promised to deliver them.

In Conadoro Island, Panama, a spokesman for the shah of Iran said the deposed monarch considered Panama's Conadoro Island "strictly a vacation stop and will decide after the Christmas holidays whether to move again."

Robert Armas, the shah's aide, asked whether the shah planned to stay in Panama, said, "We really haven't got that far yet. We just want to get through the Christmas and New Year's holidays and then we will think about it."

In Washington, British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher praised the United States for its handling of the Iranian

UNIMPRESSED WITH SANTA

Mario Baynham (left) a student at Hopper Elementary School in Sanford, scowls at Santa Claus, who visited Mario's school Friday. No, Mario is not one to hold a grudge, but he said he just could not understand why the kind, bearded gentleman failed to leave a bicycle under his Christmas tree a year ago.

"Listen, here," Santa appears to be replying. "Have you seen the price of reindeer these days? It's tough all over."

During Hurricane David, Seminole County provided shelters for residents who felt unsafe in their homes, but did not evacuate anyone, according to Public Safety Director Gary Kaiser.

Sturm, undecided on the amendments until a boisterous public meeting with Geneva area landowners Nov. 5, has said he will vote against the proposals. The Geneva area, much of it designated flood-prone, is in Sturm's district.

Commissioner Bob French has said from the outset that he is against the regulations. The other commissioners have not said how they will vote. To pass, the amendments will need at least a 3-2 vote.

Just defeating the amendments, however, will not be enough for a citizens group formed after the Geneva meeting. Margaret Cammack, a real estate agent and owner of 370 acres on Lake Harney, organized Owners of Seminole County, a group she says is determined not only to defeat the amendments, but to initiate a repeal of other portions of the Comprehensive Plan.

Much of Mrs. Cammack's property is designated flood-prone by the county. She said she will tell the commissioners the group wants the Comprehensive Plan amended and revised to be no more restrictive than U.S. or Florida law.

"We want our historic rights to own and use property to be respected by the County of Seminole, as it is by Florida and the U.S.," Mrs. Cammack wrote in

Days til Christmas

Today
Around The Clock	-4A
Bridge	-4B
Calendar	-5B
Comics	-6B
Crossword	-6B
Editorial	-4A
Dear Abby	-1B
Horoscope	-6B
Hospital	-2A
Obituaries	-2A
OBITUARIES	-2A
Sports	-6A
Television	-1B
Weather	-2A

WORLD IN BRIEF

5 British Soldiers Killed By Irish Republican Army

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — The outlawed Irish Republican Army killed five British soldiers in a deadly pre-Christmas bombing, the highest one day toll in four months, designed to "get the Brits out" of Northern Ireland.

Begin Wins Crucial Vote

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin's fragile coalition today survived a crucial vote on amending the abortion law, an issue used by opposition parties in their latest effort to topple the crisis-ridden 30-month-old government.

San Salvador Leftists Hit

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — A heavily armed band of 50 persons believed to be leftists stormed into a small village near San Salvador and dragged five people from their homes to the public square where they machine-gunned them, officials said.

Portugal Socialists Out

LISBON, Portugal (UPI) — The center-right Democratic Alliance swept the Socialists from power in the country's major cities today and took a majority of rural party assemblies in its second ballot victory in two weeks, undercutting the young government's clear shift to the right.

WEATHER

Readings at 9 a.m.: temperature, 61; overcast; high, 63; yesterday's high, 63; barometric pressure, 30.13; relative humidity, 70 percent; wind, northwesterly at 11 mph. Northwesterly at 11 mph.

HOSPITAL NOTES

SEMINOLE MEMORIAL HOSPITAL ADMISSIONS: Harold W. Potts, Orange City; Jessica A. Whitten, Winter Park.

Robberies Mount As Holiday Nears

By DAVID M. RAZLER, Herald Staff Writer
A Sanford man was arrested Sunday after he allegedly robbed a Handy Way store and struck the clerk.

Action Reports

- * Fires
* Courts
* Police Beat

County Road 431 in Forest City at 10:22 p.m. Saturday, when the two men ordered her to empty the register and safe. Law enforcement officials and food store clerks say the period from late October until Christmas is the "season" for armed robberies at the small convenience stores which dot the county.

CHILDREN FLIP OUT It's a topsy-turvy world for tots at Lake Brantley High School Child Care Center, where they are learning tumbling exercises.

At left, Jennifer Morse shows off her skill. At right, Lake Brantley student Pam Richard works with Amy Gonzales.

3 Hike Prices As Oil Meeting Opens

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — OPEC's oil ministers will try to set a unified pricing policy for the 13 member countries meeting today, but Iran, Libya and Indonesia already announced their own substantial increases.

Iran's oil minister Sunday announced a 94-barrel increase in its crude oil prices, effective Dec. 1, pushing the price of Iranian light crude to $25.50 a barrel and heavy crude to $27.70. Iran was the fifth largest supplier to the United States before the revolutionary regime of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini cut production after the February revolution.

But They Won't Leave The Ground

Shuttle Astronauts Staging Rehearsal

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Backup astronauts Joe Engle and Richard Truly prepared today to board the rocket plane Columbia during the dress rehearsal testing of the space shuttle's orbiter.

The Kennedy Space Center, lacking the rocket boosters and fuel tanks it will need for launch, began today at 4 p.m. Sunday. The test calls for a complete runthrough of all the Columbia's launch, in-flight and return systems, with astronauts and all the support personnel filling their roles.

Miami Coke Bust Is 'The Real Thing'

MIAMI (UPI) — The great Coca-Cola caper bubbled to the surface from court records today. A group of yet-unnamed thieves used the Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Miami's computer in Coral Gables to create phony accounts, order truckloads of Coke and then cancel customer billings, records of even statements and court testimony disclosed.

He pleaded guilty to eight counts and agreed to testify about the scheme in exchange for a two-year probation sentence. He could have been sentenced to a maximum of 40 years in prison.

Evening Herald (USPS 91-260) Monday, Dec. 17, 1979—Vol. 72, No. 101

NATION IN BRIEF

Chicago Drivers Walk Off In Dispute Over Pay Raise

CHICAGO (UPI) — Drivers of the city's buses and elevated trains walked off the job early today, forcing more than 200,000 commuters to find alternate means of getting to work in the nation's second largest city, already beset by a series of financial and labor problems.

Some N.Y. Trains Rolling

NEW YORK (UPI) — For the first time in a week, Long Island Rail Road train service was anticipated today for about 150,000 rush-hour commuters between New York City and such exotic locales as Babylon, Speaks and Ronkonkoma.

Radioactive Gas Leaks

HADDAM, Conn. (UPI) — A control valve malfunction at Connecticut Yankee, the nation's most productive nuclear power plant, Sunday released radioactive gas estimated to be 40 percent above federal limits.

Cigarettes Lowering Tar

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Substantial progress has been made in reducing the tar and nicotine content of cigarettes, the Federal Trade Commission reports, with more than 100 brands now being marketed with a relatively low 15 mg. of tar or less.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

PSC To Bell: Reach Out And Touch Some Consumers

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Public Service Commission meets today to cut rates for long distance calls within Florida this winter.

Tucker Doctor To Testify

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — A psychiatrist who spent part of the weekend testing the defendant is scheduled to disclose his findings today at the federal kidnaping trial of James Keith Tucker.

Bird Watchers To Search

MERRITT ISLAND, Fla. (UPI) — Thirty-five of Florida's best bird watchers will comb the 140,000 acres of the Merritt Island National Wildlife Refuge, hoping to catalog even more varieties of birds than the 181 species they found there a year ago.

National Unity Day President: 'Fly Your Flags Tuesday'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter says it would be gratifying if the American hostages are released before Christmas and he urged Americans to display the flag Tuesday on "National Unity Day."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter says it would be gratifying if the American hostages are released before Christmas and he urged Americans to display the flag Tuesday on "National Unity Day."

HERE COMES THE JUDGE S. Joseph Davis Jr. receives the robes of his office as circuit judge of the 18th Judicial Circuit (Seminole and Brevard counties) from his wife, Betty (left) and daughters Pamela Cepuran and Sheila Davis as he is invested in his new office. Participating in the ceremony are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S.J. Davis Sr. (right). The robes, a gift of the Seminole County Bar Association, were presented during an investiture ceremony at the Seminole County courthouse.

Windfall Oil Tax May Pass Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has resolved the major problems in its 817th bill, windfall profits tax, but still must deal with scores of pending amendments before passing the legislation.

Public schools in Louisiana, Texas and Oklahoma are financed by royalties from state-owned oil. Long, D-I., who is up for reelection next year, led the fight against the amendment, arguing it was unconstitutional because it would impose a federal tax on state-owned natural resources.

AREA DEATHS

ARTHUR A. JONES: Mortuary is in charge of arrangements. Funeral Notice: JONES, ARTHUR A. — Funeral services for Arthur A. Jones, 1314 Williams Ave., who died Dec. 10 at Seminole Memorial Hospital, will be Tuesday, Dec. 18, 10 a.m., at the St. Paul Missionary Baptist Church.

Advertisement for Merritt Island National Wildlife Refuge, featuring a photo of a bird and text about bird watching opportunities.

Advertisement for Metz shoe repair, featuring the text 'TRY METZ-HE'S THE BEST SHOE REPAIRING—CLEANING—DYING' and 'METZ SHOE REPAIR'.

Advertisement for Sanford Electric, featuring the text 'Now at SANFORD ELECTRIC BRAND NEW GE RANGES' and 'CLEANS ITSELF ELECTRICALLY'.

Large advertisement for Santa Cigarettes, featuring the text 'This year, give a gift that keeps on giving... a subscription to the Evening Herald' and 'Santa Cigarettes'.

1000 N. FRENCH AVE., SANFORD, FLA. 32771
Area Code 305-322-2111 or 831-9923
Monday, Dec. 17, 1979—4A
WAYNE D. DOYLE, Publisher
THOMAS GIORDANO, Managing Editor
RONALD G. BECK, Advertising Director

Another Blow To Free Speech

The First Amendment was mugged again. As a result of two decisions handed down by the U.S. Supreme Court, Americans lost some of their free speech, which has been increasingly confined during recent years by the judiciary, the very branch of government that should be guarding and extending constitutional rights.

Obviously, sources of information are not likely to disclose instances of crime and corruption if they know in advance they are not to be shielded — that betrayal could bring severe penalties, including death.

The Albuquerque case has brought investigative reporting another defeat on an old battle front. This is punishing to the citizens of this country and to their media, but it is not nearly as alarming and potentially destructive as the court's new flanking attack on free speech in joint appeals, Mitchell vs. Bindrim and Doubleday vs. Bindrim, surely a landmark case.

Dr. Paul Bindrim, a California psychologist known as "the father of the nude marathon" — a kind of encounter session — maintained in his suit against authors Gwen Davis Mitchell that he was the recognizable model for a not-altogether admirable character in her novel "Touching."

Associations of writers and publishers have warned the courts and a largely indifferent public that the process of creative writing would be "chilled" if novelists could not draw on their personal experiences without fear of legal liability.

VIEWPOINT

Carter Team's Boners

WASHINGTON — Jimmy Carter's campaign team is proving to be as inept and disorganized as the president's White House staff. It could cause him much trouble at a time when his political star appears to be on the rise.

Political foul-ups large and small are the order of the day — and some of them are almost funny. Take, for example, the president sending letters to a large group of Democrats congratulating them on their election victories last month. It made good sense, but for one small detail: They all had lost in November. The White House had used the wrong list.

Some of the errors, though, are far more serious. The political pros are still shaking their heads over the monumental Carter goof in Illinois.

Immediately after Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne jumped ship, the Carter people, led by campaign boss Bob Strauss, began to woo her biggest foe in the party, including Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, State Sen. Richard Daley and several other influential members of the Cook County Democratic Central Committee.

Enter Transportation Secretary Neil Goldschmidt. He told a press conference it was time for the administration to play hardball and he would start the game by withholding federal funds under his control from Chicago because "you just can't take the woman's (Mayor Byrne's) word."

Within hours the roof caved in. The Carter people in Illinois began a series of frantic calls to the White House. All their delicate negotiations were falling apart, they said, and the publicly made blunt threat was causing local Democrats to close ranks behind Mayor Byrne.

Goldschmidt and high White House aides then began to make frantic calls of their own, telling the anti-Byrne powerhouses that the administration really didn't mean it. They were too late, though, and key Chicago Democrats who were set to rally behind Carter now say they do not care.

VIEWPOINT

Jerry Brown

WASHINGTON — Jimmy Carter's campaign team is proving to be as inept and disorganized as the president's White House staff. It could cause him much trouble at a time when his political star appears to be on the rise.

Political foul-ups large and small are the order of the day — and some of them are almost funny. Take, for example, the president sending letters to a large group of Democrats congratulating them on their election victories last month. It made good sense, but for one small detail: They all had lost in November. The White House had used the wrong list.

Some of the errors, though, are far more serious. The political pros are still shaking their heads over the monumental Carter goof in Illinois.

Immediately after Chicago Mayor Jane Byrne jumped ship, the Carter people, led by campaign boss Bob Strauss, began to woo her biggest foe in the party, including Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, State Sen. Richard Daley and several other influential members of the Cook County Democratic Central Committee.

Enter Transportation Secretary Neil Goldschmidt. He told a press conference it was time for the administration to play hardball and he would start the game by withholding federal funds under his control from Chicago because "you just can't take the woman's (Mayor Byrne's) word."

Within hours the roof caved in. The Carter people in Illinois began a series of frantic calls to the White House. All their delicate negotiations were falling apart, they said, and the publicly made blunt threat was causing local Democrats to close ranks behind Mayor Byrne.

Goldschmidt and high White House aides then began to make frantic calls of their own, telling the anti-Byrne powerhouses that the administration really didn't mean it. They were too late, though, and key Chicago Democrats who were set to rally behind Carter now say they do not care.

VIEWPOINT

Flash That Failed

Tehran isn't the only dateline for bad news these days. One of the more discouraging stories of recent weeks comes out of New Delhi where the general conference of the International Atomic Energy Agency has been in session.

In a move concerned with politics rather than technology, the conference voted overwhelmingly to deny participation to the South African delegation because of that government's racially discriminatory apartheid policy.

There is nothing unusual in the denial itself, the work of a familiar coalition of Third World Communist bloc and miscellaneous non-aligned nations. Rejecting South Africa's credentials on grounds that withholding of political rights unrepresentative of the people of the country has become ritual in recent years at international gatherings, including the General Assembly of the United Nations.

What is new in the New Delhi development is that it follows within so few weeks a still-unexplained occurrence in the South Atlantic that has scientists and governments wondering if there may be a new member of the nuclear club.

In late September, an American earth satellite detected a brilliant flash that lasted only a few seconds. It was immediately analyzed as such and speculation was that South Africa had gone nuclear. The South Africans, however, denied conducting a test, as have all the other known nuclear powers.

There is also the matter of fallout. Quantities of five fissionable isotopes of plutonium have not been detected, suggesting that the original sighting may have been an error. But the satellite, specifically equipped for this purpose, has been correct in 41 earlier test sightings.

So the mystery of the flash persists. But not of the New Delhi doings. They represent one more instance of the paralyzing political of international undertakings whether the specified purposes are political or not.

VIEWPOINT

Realtors Address County

The Fifth Amendment to the United States Constitution declares no person shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without the due process of law, nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

The extent of government at all levels in the business affairs and lives of American citizens has increased at a staggering rate over the past several years. Regulatory agencies have yielded a flood of guidelines, regulations, rules and procedures that have increased costs to the consuming public and added significantly to the burden of the business community.

The last several decades have seen more restrictions imposed, more regulations enacted and, in truth, more prohibitions enforced concerning the use and development of private property than ever before in United States history.

The principles of free enterprise and competition as the best way of meeting consumer demands are giving way to governmental regulations, intervention and control. It is time to return to the people the right to use their property and make decisions without excessive government restrictions.

The above resolution was approved by the Board of Directors of the Seminole County Board of REALTORS, an organization of more than 1,500 members.

Lawana F. Kish, President
Forrest L. Green, Chairman-Zoning Committee
Seminole County Board of REALTORS

WASHINGTON — In the backrooms of Washington, everyone seemed to know that the shah was bad news. The State Department and Central Intelligence Agency advised against admitting him to the United States. It would probably incite militants in Iran, they warned, to storm the American Embassy and seize American hostages.

VIEWPOINT

U.S. Expected The Shah... And Trouble

WASHINGTON — In the backrooms of Washington, everyone seemed to know that the shah was bad news. The State Department and Central Intelligence Agency advised against admitting him to the United States. It would probably incite militants in Iran, they warned, to storm the American Embassy and seize American hostages.

President Carter was aware of the warnings. In response to reports that he admit the shah, Carter reportedly once asked his advisers: "When the Iranians take our people in Tehran hostage, what will you advise me to do?" Nevertheless, he personally authorized the shah's entry.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance understood the danger. On July 24, he sent an urgent, "eyes only" cable to Charles D. Albright, L. Bruce LaSage in Tehran.

"We are considering," the cable read, "in response to the shah's continuing query by various news channels regarding establishing residence in the United States... I would like to have your personal and private evaluation of the effect of such a move on the safety of Americans in Iran (especially the official Americans in the compound)."

LaSage warned that the shah's arrival in America could ignite anti-American actions, including possible reprisals against the embassy. Vance advised the president to admit the shah on "humanitarian" grounds.

President Carter's decision to allow the shah to come to the U.S. because we did not wish to complicate the ayatollah's problems or our efforts to construct a new relationship with Iran, they warned, would be a serious mistake.

Henry Frankel, who heads the Iranian desk at the State Department, was in touch with developments in Iran on a daily basis. He knew that the political implications in Iran were highly considerable, and, with the slightest spark, could explode in America's face.

VIEWPOINT

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — In the backrooms of Washington, everyone seemed to know that the shah was bad news. The State Department and Central Intelligence Agency advised against admitting him to the United States. It would probably incite militants in Iran, they warned, to storm the American Embassy and seize American hostages.

President Carter was aware of the warnings. In response to reports that he admit the shah, Carter reportedly once asked his advisers: "When the Iranians take our people in Tehran hostage, what will you advise me to do?" Nevertheless, he personally authorized the shah's entry.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance understood the danger. On July 24, he sent an urgent, "eyes only" cable to Charles D. Albright, L. Bruce LaSage in Tehran.

"We are considering," the cable read, "in response to the shah's continuing query by various news channels regarding establishing residence in the United States... I would like to have your personal and private evaluation of the effect of such a move on the safety of Americans in Iran (especially the official Americans in the compound)."

LaSage warned that the shah's arrival in America could ignite anti-American actions, including possible reprisals against the embassy. Vance advised the president to admit the shah on "humanitarian" grounds.

Henry Frankel, who heads the Iranian desk at the State Department, was in touch with developments in Iran on a daily basis. He knew that the political implications in Iran were highly considerable, and, with the slightest spark, could explode in America's face.

Yet on Aug. 2, he sent the American Embassy a "secret-sensitive" planning paper on how to prepare for the shah to come to the United States. The plan was to wait until Ayatollah Khomeini's demands through his representatives had been met and a new government established in Iran.

VIEWPOINT

Beam

WASHINGTON — In the backrooms of Washington, everyone seemed to know that the shah was bad news. The State Department and Central Intelligence Agency advised against admitting him to the United States. It would probably incite militants in Iran, they warned, to storm the American Embassy and seize American hostages.

President Carter was aware of the warnings. In response to reports that he admit the shah, Carter reportedly once asked his advisers: "When the Iranians take our people in Tehran hostage, what will you advise me to do?" Nevertheless, he personally authorized the shah's entry.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance understood the danger. On July 24, he sent an urgent, "eyes only" cable to Charles D. Albright, L. Bruce LaSage in Tehran.

"We are considering," the cable read, "in response to the shah's continuing query by various news channels regarding establishing residence in the United States... I would like to have your personal and private evaluation of the effect of such a move on the safety of Americans in Iran (especially the official Americans in the compound)."

LaSage warned that the shah's arrival in America could ignite anti-American actions, including possible reprisals against the embassy. Vance advised the president to admit the shah on "humanitarian" grounds.

Henry Frankel, who heads the Iranian desk at the State Department, was in touch with developments in Iran on a daily basis. He knew that the political implications in Iran were highly considerable, and, with the slightest spark, could explode in America's face.

Yet on Aug. 2, he sent the American Embassy a "secret-sensitive" planning paper on how to prepare for the shah to come to the United States. The plan was to wait until Ayatollah Khomeini's demands through his representatives had been met and a new government established in Iran.

Fast Minute Gift Center. MOST ABC STORES OPEN CHRISTMAS DAY. LIQUOR SALE. ABC HAS THE LOWER EVERYDAY PRICES. SANFORD COCKTAIL LOUNGE. LONGWOOD COCKTAIL LOUNGE. SANFORD DISCO LOUNGE. LIQUORS/WINES. HAPPY HOUR ALL ONE DRINKS 48¢. BEAUTIFULLY DECORATED WINE SELECTIONS. GIVE THE BEST SOMETHING A LITTLE BETTER. 12 YEAR OLD SCOTCH. BEAM GIFT DECANTERS. NORMAN ROCKWELL 100 MONTH KY. BRB.

SPORTS

4A—Evening Herald, Sanford, Fla. Monday, Dec. 17, 1979

O'Donoghue's 4th Quarter Field Goal Wins It

Tampa Bay Swims Into NFL Playoff Spot

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — After flittering away opportunities for three straight weeks, the Tampa Bay Buccaneers are in the National Football Conference playoffs for the first time in their four-year history...

Tampa Stadium, but they won't know their opponent until after next week's match-up between the Chicago Bears and the Philadelphia Eagles...

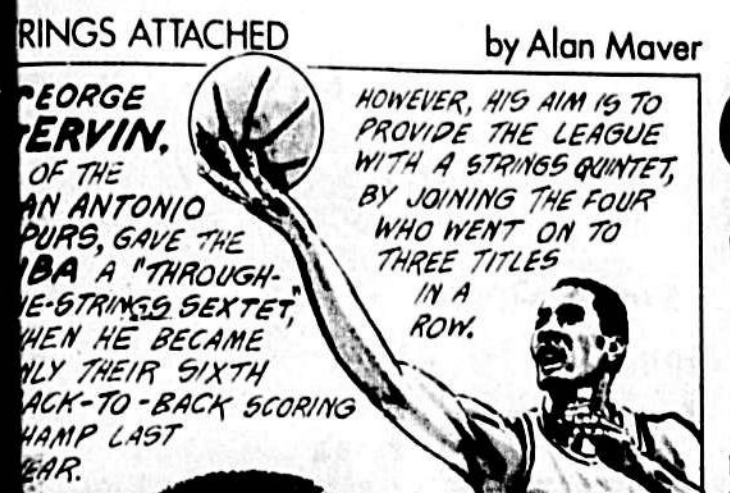

But in the final quarter, when all the marbles were on the table and the Buccaneers were swamping St. Louis, it was the offense that rose to the occasion...

Tampa played ball control through the final period, with Kansas City running only three offensive plays and one punt, and killed off the clock...

On Sunday night, the Celtics managed to overcome a 23-point performance by the New Jersey Nets' Mike Newlin and go to overtime...

Despite his spectacular performance, Newlin wasn't very happy about the game. "If I could win, I'd feel good, but it's just another 'L,'" he said...

In other games, Kansas City edged San Diego 107-105, Milwaukee routed Houston 124-101, San Diego outgunned Detroit 133-126...

George Ervin, of the San Antonio Spurs, gave the team a breakthrough in a row when he became only their sixth player to reach 10,000 points...

George Halas Jr. Funeral Services

CHICAGO (UPI) — Funeral services will be held Wednesday in Chicago for George "Big Boy" Halas Jr., president of the Chicago Bears of the National Football League...

Tribe Grid Banquet On Tap Tonight

The Seminole High School Fighting Seminole football team will hold its annual football banquet tonight in the school cafeteria beginning at 7:00 p.m.

Dallas Pulls Miracle Finish To Beat Washington, NFL Playoffs Set To Start

BY JOE CARNICELLI UPI Executive Sports Editor It took a miracle finish by the Dallas Cowboys and some unaccounted offensive fireworks from the Chicago Bears...

But the NFL finally filled its 10 playoff berths. All that is left is to determine the final order of finish in the AFC West and that will take place tonight when San Diego plays host to Denver...

Washington was a classic in the long duel between the two bitter rivals. Roger Staubach's 8-yard touchdown flip to Tony Hill with 39 seconds left...

In other games Sunday, the Jets defeated Oakland 29-24, Cincinnati shelled Cincinnati 16-12, New Orleans surprised Los Angeles 29-14, Baltimore crushed the New York Giants 31-7...

San Francisco 31-21. In Saturday games, it was the New York Jets 27, Miami 24 and Green Bay 18, Detroit 13.

The City's Slicker by Alan Maver

Left in the third period with a knee injury, Neil O'Donoghue's prearranged 18-yard field goal midway through the final period gave Tampa Bay its victory over Kansas City...

Rickey Bell, Tampa's first round draft pick in 1977, surpassed the 1,200-yard rushing mark for the season with 137 yards, giving him 1,263 yards for the season...

San Francisco 31-21. In Saturday games, it was the New York Jets 27, Miami 24 and Green Bay 18, Detroit 13.

Sports Parade by MILTON RICHMAN

all Of Fame otting Game NEW YORK (UPI) — When this year's ballot for Baseball's Hall of Fame hit my desk the other day, I looked over the list of 62 candidates...

What made me so sure was the rule which says: Candidates shall be chosen on the basis of playing ability, integrity, sportsmanship, character, their contribution to the team on which they played and to baseball in general.

With the Hoosiers' tenacious defense, The Wildcats, however, still trailed 33-51 with eight minutes left when Macy routed Maine 101-83...

With the Hoosiers' tenacious defense, The Wildcats, however, still trailed 33-51 with eight minutes left when Macy routed Maine 101-83...

With the Hoosiers' tenacious defense, The Wildcats, however, still trailed 33-51 with eight minutes left when Macy routed Maine 101-83...

Celtics Keep Finding New Ways To Win; Whip Newlin, Nets In Overtime 115-112

By United Press International — The Boston Celtics, owners of the best record in the NBA, keep finding new ways to win games.

On Sunday night, the Celtics managed to overcome a 23-point performance by the New Jersey Nets' Mike Newlin and go to overtime.

Despite his spectacular performance, Newlin wasn't very happy about the game. "If I could win, I'd feel good, but it's just another 'L,'" he said.

Patriot Football Coach Shows County Class, Wants Fans To Show Support

It's both a comfort and a pleasure to know that we have some high class sports-minded individuals here in Seminole county.

Here's a letter I received over the weekend from Lake Brantley football coach Jim Raley concerning another school's football program that needed a hand when it came playing the hole in the athletic budget for several meals the players needed.

Let's show Charlie and Joe that Seminole County football fans are the best in the state. Please help the young people in the Oviedo Community.

Dear John: "HATS OFF TO THE LIONS — BUT THEY NEED HELP." My hat's off to Coach Joe Montgomery and his staff for the tremendous year they had this year in football.

There's only one problem — money. Believe me it costs to run any athletic program, much less take an entire football team some 300 plus miles up to Milton, Florida.

Let's show the Lions what kind of pigskin fans we have in Seminole County.

Hoosier's Weekend Loss To Kentucky Means Shake Up In College Hoop Poll

By United Press International — Indiana, which occupied the top spot in the rankings the first two weeks of the season, will most likely be unseated this week following a 69-58 loss Saturday night to No. 5 Kentucky.

But Hoosiers Coach Bobby Knight was not upset about his first defeat of the year — in fact, he had praise for the Wildcats, especially guard Kyle Macy and Jay Shilder.

LSU placed five players in double figures, including forward DeWayne Scusing with 12 points, and guard Mike Williams, who had eight rebounds, scored eight of his 14 points during the rout.

SCOREBOARD

Table with columns for Pro Football, Pro Basketball, and Pro Hockey, listing scores for various teams.

Table with columns for College Basketball, listing scores for various college teams.

Table with columns for Soccer, listing scores for various soccer teams.

Table with columns for Soccer, listing scores for various soccer teams.

Advertisement for the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club, featuring a photo of a dog and text about schooling races.

