Altamonte Woman's New Business Damaged In Casselberry Blaze

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

An Altamonte Springs woman saw a dream go up in smoke Monday night when her newly founded business was severely damaged in a fire in Casselberry.

The Magnatone Hearing Aid Corp., at 35 Cyprus Way, about a quarter-mile west of U.S. Highway 17-92, owned by Mrs. Beverly Campbell of 1908 Lake Marion Dr., caught fire at 9:20 p.m., causing extensive fire and smoke damage to the warehouse, Casselberry firefighters said.

According to fire officials, arson has not been ruled out as the possible cause of the fire. Seminole County fire personnel are investigating.

Officials said the blaze apparently started in the northwest portion of the building, in a laboratory. When it was extinguished, it was some time before firefighters could clear the building of the heavy smoke.

"We just moved into the building today," Mrs. Campbell said. "I've mortgaged my home to the hilt, and although the insurance company says we're covered, how can you make up for the loss of business? I've also got employees to pay."

Mrs. Campbell's business partner, Ray Chatterton, 540 Queens Mirror Circle, Casselberry, said he had left the building only an hour or so before they heard of the fire.

"It's a shock," Chatterton said. "We had just moved in today. Everything is brand-spanking new."

Mrs. Campbell said she experienced a similar incident last year when her home caught fire. "You never get used to it," she said. "It just suddenly happens."

Family and friends, armed with brooms and sweepers, met at the structure earlier this morning to begin the long task of sorting through the rubble and ash.

"I just don't know what we're going to do," Mrs. Campbell said. "There was so much at stake with this business, and now it's gone."

A woman in the neighboring Veterans of Foreign Wars building first noticed the flames and called the Casselberry Fire Department. She said she had stepped outside for a moment when she noticed the flames coming out of the north side of the building.

A WHOLE LOT OF PIES

It might not be The Great Pumpkin of "Peanuts" comic-strip fame, but it is a BIG pumpkin. And, according to produce-stand operator June LeRoy, if you guess its weight — it's yours. Mrs. LeRoy, whose stand is located along the south side of State Road 46 near Lake Monroe, said whoever can guess the pumpkin's weight will take it home. "It'll make a pile of pies and a sharp-looking jack-o'-lantern," she added.

4 Can't Make Bail, Jailed In Cocaine Bust

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

Four persons arrested in Sanford Monday in what has been called Seminole County's biggest drug bust were being held at the Seminole County Jail this morning in lieu of half a million dollars bond each.

According to the Sheriff's Department, the Seminole County Drug Task Force cracked a major drug ring when they arrested Jose D. Benitez, 48, of Miami; his niece, Lourdes Campos Benitez, 26, of the same address; Jose Mazola, 36, of Brooklyn, and Sam Ortiz, alias Tony Perez, 35, no known address.

The four were arrested at about 11 a.m. Monday on the Lake Monroe waterfront near U.S. Highway 17-92. Sheriff's deputies confiscated 2.5 pounds of pure cocaine with an estimated street value of $3.5 million, said Sheriff's Department spokesman John Spolski.

Sheriff John Polk said the task force, made up of personnel from the Sanford and Longwood police departments as well as the Sheriff's Department, had been working on the investigation for the last three months.

All four will be charged with possession of cocaine with intent to distribute and trafficking in cocaine, Spolski said.

The second charge would require a mandatory 25-year prison sentence upon conviction, he said.

At the time of the arrest, he added, Mazola was carrying a 9mm automatic handgun and will be charged additionally with carrying a concealed weapon during the commission of a crime. If convicted on this charge alone it would mean a minimum three-year prison sentence, Spolski said.

Additional arrests are expected, and the investigation is continuing in cooperation with other law-enforcement agencies, he said. The group is suspected of smuggling large amounts of cocaine into Central Florida.

Spolski said undercover agents set up credibility with the alleged drug peddlers with several smaller transactions before the big buy was supposed to take place.

Instead, it was "the biggest drug bust in the history of this department in Seminole County," Spolski said.

Herb Shea, assistant to the Sanford police chief, said today the original rendezvous point farther south was not acceptable to the suspects, so it was moved to the west lakefront area. Shea said six persons showed up for the meeting, four in a Cadillac and two in a Buick. At this point, the other two have not been charged.

SHERIFF POLK ... on case three months

Officers asked the six to get out of their cars and lie on the ground. When they complied, they were handcuffed and left in that position about 10 minutes until transportation to the jail could be arranged, Shea said.

He said no crowd gathered at the scene. "There was just one old man looking on," he added.

Sanford Det. T. Brooks, who was present at the time of the arrest, said the female arrested had been under investigation for the last several months for allegedly selling small quantities of cocaine around Seminole High School and the Master's Cove apartments area.

Brooks said he had shown one of the three men arrested $100,000 in cash a few days ago to prove his ability to buy a large quantity of cocaine.

The 2.5-pound purchase was to be at a cost of $250,000, he said.

Leading Sanford plainclothes officers in the arrest was Lt. Paul Whitley, while Lt. Ralph Russell and Lt. Doug Bishop led several uniformed policemen in making the arrests.

According to a Seminole County Jail spokesman, the four arrested were to have their first court appearance at 1:30 p.m. today.

It Can Cut Electric Bill

Does Tinting Windows Help?

By DIANE M. JEFFERSON
Herald Staff Writer
Last of Three Parts

Does tinting your windows really help you save money?

Bruce Berger, Florida Power & Light Co. (FPL) district manager, says that if direct sunlight pours through your windows you can cut your air-conditioning costs by 25 percent if you tint your windows. Reflective glass or solar reflective window film can reflect up to 75 percent of the sun's rays.

But you don't want to tint every window—just those receiving direct sunlight. North windows should not be tinted, nor should windows shaded by trees or roof overhangs.

"With anything you do, you have to look at cost effectiveness," says Berger. "Why tint the north windows? You don't really need to." He says solar reflective film is effective, but can become too expensive if it is put on every window, so he advises the homeowner to use good judgment and just apply the film to those windows that are in direct sunlight.

Closing curtains can be a simple but highly effective measure. During summer, close curtains exposed to the sun. This will not only keep your cooling costs down but will preserve the colors of your carpet and furniture as well.

In the cooler winter months, open your drapes to let the sun's warming rays raise the air temperature inside your home and lower your heating costs.

The type of appliance you use for cooking also will affect your electric bill, and in two ways: not only by the amount of electric current the appliance draws, but also by the amount it heats up the air inside your home, which must be cooled again.

In a tossup between a conventional oven and range or a microwave oven, the microwave wins hands down. A microwave oven uses 16 kilowatt-hours (kwh) of electricity. At eight cents per kwh, you are paying $1.28 per month to use a microwave. A conventional range with oven uses 58 kwh, at a cost of $4.64 per month. A microwave also cooks food faster, so less heat is generated.

But before you ditch your old oven and build your cost-cutting energy campaign around purchasing a microwave, remember that the energy used by cooking is included in the smallest percentage of energy use. Even though a microwave can offer you substantial savings as compared to a conventional range and oven, you still are dealing in an energy consumption area of only 17 percent. Your oven is still dwarfed by those other energy-gluttons, giants, your central air and heating system and your water heater. Remember, cooling, heating, and water heating compose 83 percent of your total energy consumption (and the largest portion of your electric bill).

Other energy tips include:

— Short showers save more money than baths.

— Use fluorescent lighting whenever possible. Fluorescent lights deliver three to five times the light of incandescent bulbs and last 10 times as long. However, if a fluorescent tube turns dark and does not light, replace it. The starter in a fluorescent light will still consume about 10 percent the energy it previously used, even though the tube does not light.

Tax Rate Of $5.95 Per $1,000 Is OK'd By Sanford Commission

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A property tax rate of $5.95 per $1,000 assessed valuation will be paid by Sanford property owners in fiscal 1981-82.

The City Commission voted Monday night to raise the previously approved tax rate of $5.88 after receiving a report from Seminole County Property Appraiser Bill Suber's office that a $2.7 million error had been made in the tax roll.

The commission two weeks ago agreed to the $5.88 per $1,000 rate, up 23.6 cents over last year's rate of $5.64, to help fund a $7.8 million budget. The $5.95 rate is 31.3 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation more than last year.

However, Suber's office notified the city last week that the city's tax base lost $2.7 million because Auto-Train went into receivership and because some property values were reduced by the appraiser's office after property owners complained and by the tax adjustment board after it received complaints.

Under the $5.88 tax rate the city was to receive $1,233,757 in property taxes. Under the new rate of $5.95, with the reduced tax roll, it is to receive $1,233,744 in property taxes—$13 less.

Sanford's tax base dropped from $210,001,234 to $207,282,354.

The City Commission adopted a resolution setting the new tax rate.

Mayor Lee P. Moore said that if the commission had not increased the tax rate, the city would have had a $16,000 shortfall in the new budget year, which began Oct. 1.

He said the seven cents per $1,000 increase in taxes over the previously approved rate would not be a "tremendous burden" for the taxpayers at this time.

To a question from Commissioner David Farr, City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles said the city has budgeted $78,460 in its contingency fund and $68,000 of that amount has been earmarked for four percent cost-of-living pay raises for city employees on April 1, leaving an actual contingency fund of about $10,000.

Farr said that although he was "reluctantly" voting for the tax increase, not to do so "would be for show only."

In addition to Moore and Farr, Commissioners Ned Yancey and Milton Smith voted for the new tax rate. Commissioner Eddie Keith is ill and was absent from the meeting.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Grand Jury Probe Begins In Judge Bribery Case

MIAMI (UPI)—A federal grand jury was scheduled to begin an investigation today of accusations that U.S. District Judge Alcee Hastings solicited bribes from criminal defendants who had appeared before him.

Hastings, who voluntarily stepped down from the bench Monday, said he had not been summoned to testify before the grand jury but would do so if asked. He gave a statement to FBI agents Friday night soon after his return from a trip to Washington, D.C.

Hastings' longtime friend, William A. Borders Jr., a prominent Washington, D.C. lawyer, was arrested by the FBI at Arlington, Va., Friday. According to an FBI affidavit filed in a Virginia federal court, Borders accepted a $150,000 bribe from an undercover FBI agent posing as racketeer Frank Romano of Fort Lauderdale.

Refugee Policy Blasted

MIAMI (UPI)—Gov. Bob Graham says the arrival of more Haitian refugees in south Florida on Monday underlines the fact that federal efforts to stem the flow of illegal immigrants are inadequate.

Graham said the 54 Haitians who landed on Hallandale Beach from a 38-foot sailboat at dawn Monday will have to be added to the thousands of Haitians the state already is supporting.

Mason Trial Winds Down

ORLANDO (UPI)—Lawyers were scheduled to present final arguments today in the murder trial of suspended Orange County Commission Chairman Edward Mason, who is charged with killing his estranged wife.

State Attorney Robert Eagan was expected to ask jurors to find Mason guilty of first-degree murder—a crime that could mean life in prison for the popular 36-year-old public official and father of four sons.

Defense attorney James Russ was expected to argue that Mason wasn't in control of himself and should be hospitalized for treatment of the temporary insanity that overtook him on May 17 when he shot his wife, Diane, and then tried to kill himself.

FDLE Probes Disappearance

TAMPA (UPI)—The Florida Department of Law Enforcement will look for possible links between two mysterious shootings, acts of vandalism at a restaurant and the disappearance of restaurant owner H.E. "Gene" Holloway of Tampa.

Agent Kent McGregor disclosed the FDLE entry into the Tampa police investigation Monday.

Marlene Padovan and James Thrasher testified at a hearing that Holloway fell overboard from the 44-foot yacht Mamous off the Florida Keys on Sept. 4.

New Insurance Regulation

TALLAHASSEE (UPI)—Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter has proposed a regulation that would require auto liability insurance companies to reconcile the cash reserve figures they present when seeking rate increases with what they list in their annual reports to investors.

Gunter said Florida would be the first state to adopt such a rule, which will be considered at Insurance Department hearings beginning today.

A Political First

JACKSONVILLE (UPI)—Looking ahead to running for an 18th term, U.S. Rep. Charles Bennett, D-Fla., did something Monday he had never done before—he hosted a cocktail party for supporters to raise campaign funds.

Bennett, 70, chairman of the House Ethics Committee, said he was getting ready for the eventuality that a Republican candidate for his seat will run against him in Florida's Third Congressional District next year.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Heavy thunderstorms drenched already saturated ground throughout most of Texas today, causing more flash flooding that was complicated further by tropical moisture from the remnants of Mexico's Hurricane Norma. Winter storm warnings were posted for the second night in a row Monday for the west central and southern portions of Montana east of the Continental Divide. In the mountains of Utah and Wyoming residents of some areas waded knee deep in up to 18 inches of snow. Travelers advisories were in effect for the mountains of northeastern Nevada, southeastern Idaho, western Wyoming and for the Colorado Mountains above 8,000 feet.

SMH, Doctors Sued For Malpractice

Seminole Memorial Hospital and three area doctors are being sued for an unspecified sum in excess of $5,000 for alleged medical malpractice in the death of a Sanford man two years ago.

Linda W. McKee filed the lawsuit in Circuit Court in Sanford on behalf of her late husband, James R. McKee. Listed as defendants in the suit are the hospital and Drs. Robert M. Rosemond, Pedro Bachrach and Randall Coverman, all of whom practice in Seminole County.

According to the suit, James McKee went to see Rosemond, his doctor of 10 years, on July 27, 1979, about pain in his foot. Two weeks later he began experiencing pain in his left testicle and he again consulted Rosemond, who referred him to Bachrach.

Bachrach, the suit says, diagnosed McKee as a diabetic and put him on Doxycycline, a drug to which McKee subsequently developed an allergic reaction.

On Sept. 12, Rosemond referred McKee to Coverman, who initiated steroid and topical treatment for the ailment known as photodermatitis.

On Sept. 19, McKee was withdrawn from medication altogether, the suit says, and 10 days later was hospitalized with diabetic ketosis.

McKee fell at the hospital on Oct. 4. His condition worsened and he died Oct. 6, the suit says.

The suit charges Rosemond with negligence for failing to properly and timely diagnose McKee's diabetes, coordinate his medical care among the various physicians, and instruct the hospital staff not to allow McKee to walk unassisted.

Bachrach and Coverman were likewise charged with negligence in that they did not use proper medications to treat McKee's malady, and failed to appropriately monitor his condition, the suit says. Had they done so, they "would have recognized that the decedent was in dire need of medical care and had such care been initiated, the decedent's death would have been prevented."

Seminole Memorial was named in the suit for allowing McKee to walk unassisted, and failing to timely advise his physicians that he was "in a critical state on the evening of Oct. 4 and in the early hours of Oct. 5, which prevented his doctors from initiating emergency care in a timely manner."

No trial date has been set in the case, which has been assigned to Judge Kenneth Leffler.

TRUCK BURGLARY

Someone broke out the driver's side window of a truck belonging to Harold Rankin, Rt. 3, Box 483, Sanford, sometime between 8:30 p.m. Friday and 8:44 a.m. Saturday, police report.

A portable television valued at $150 was stolen, but damage to the side window is expected to cost $100 to repair and the windshield that also was reportedly cracked during the break-in will cost an additional $250 to fix.

The incident occurred while the truck was parked at The Village Restaurant, 1500 French Ave., Sanford, police said.

WATCH STOLEN

A $250 watch was reported stolen from the home of Barbara Aquino, 2111 Woodmere Blvd., Sanford, police report.

The watch was taken sometime between 8 p.m. Sept. 29 and 10 a.m. Oct. 1. There was no evidence of forced entry into the home, police said.

WIRE WHEEL COVERS TAKEN

R.E. Higgins, 317 E. 22nd St., Sanford, reported to police four wire wheel covers from her 1977 Buick were taken sometime between 11 p.m. Sunday and 7 a.m. Monday.

The 15-inch wheel covers were valued at $200.

WEED EATER MISSING

Sometime between 4 p.m. Friday and 8:45 a.m. Monday someone broke into the maintenance shed at the Ridgewood Arms Apartments, 2580 Ridgewood Ave., Sanford, and stole an Echo T200 weed eater valued at $150, police report.

The adding machines was valued at $100, the calculator, $75 and the brief case, $25.

Longwood Slaps Ban On Billboards

By DARLENE JENNINGS
Herald Staff Writer

Hearing complaints from residents of Windsor Manor, Longwood, and receiving a petition signed by 197 persons in that subdivision were enough to persuade the Longwood City Commission Monday night to pass a moratorium prohibiting building billboards in the city for 30 days.

The moratorium bans all of 672 square feet or larger billboards from being placed within 15 feet of the roadsides. However, according to City Attorney Marvin Rooks, the ban will not affect those individuals who already have building permits in their possession from going ahead with their plans to put up the signs.

The commissioners passed the emergency ordinance so they could study whether placing the lighted signs near residential areas is a nuisance to city residents.

However, the residents of Windsor Manor, on Slate Road 434, were not satisfied with the moratorium, because the builder of the sign being constructed in front of their subdivision already has a building permit to proceed.

Double taxation came up again at the Monday night meeting, but the commission stalled once again on making any final commitment on entering into the lawsuit with other cities against Seminole County.

Rooks, told the commission the question of entering into the suit would be for a study to determine to see if city has a case against the county.

Rooks reminded the commission the legal fees will far exceed the $2,000 filing fee.

However, Mayor John Hepp said he would not be satisfied with entering into the study until he had something in writing "verifying" that the initial study will cost the city only $2,000. The board agreed, and the commission is expected to discuss double taxation at next week's meeting.

Commissioner Tim O'Leary questioned whether Longwood would "reap the benefits" if the other cities should go through with the suit and if Longwood not participate, but Commissioner Steven Uskert said he did not want to risk that chance, since there is no precedent to base O'Leary's assumption on.

A Palm Beach County double-taxation suit the commission is eyeing carefully is still in the courts. The cities in that county won their suit against the county, but Palm Beach County has appealed the decision to an appellate court.

Uskert also said he feared that if the city did not get involved with the suit — the cities have uniformly agreed the fees will be shared by all of them — then Longwood would be left "holding the bag."

Uskert also suggested the county might want to work out some kind of out of court agreement if it sees all the cities are together on the suit. "In the final analysis," said Hepp, "we're all going to be losers, because we have to use the taxpayers' money to save the taxpayers' money."

Sanford Arranges Truck Financing

The Flagship Bank of Seminole was selected by the Sanford City Commission, Monday night, to finance the city's new aerial fire truck over five years.

Some $247,000 of the $297,000 purchase price of the truck will be financed by the Flagship Bank at an annual interest rate of 9.25 percent. The annual payments are $49,400 plus interest. The city paid $50,000 cash toward the purchase.

Flagship Bank offered the lowest interest rate for the financing. The Tropic Bank of Seminole submitted a flat annual rate of 9.72 percent. Atlantic National Bank of Florida proposed 65 percent of the prime lending rate as set by Citibank of New York City.

City Finance Director Henry Tamm said under the Atlantic National proposal the interest expense to the city would fluctuate with the prime rate. With today's prime rate of 19 percent, the city would pay 65 percent of that amount, or 12.25 percent. "That could mean a new rate every few days or weeks," Tamm said.

Comparing the Atlantic Bank proposal with the one from Flagship, Tamm noted that 65 percent of an average variable rate of 14.23 percent would equal 9.25 percent.

"Due to budgetary requirements and to prospects of continued high interest rates, I recommend the bid of Flagship Bank in the amount of 9.25 percent," Tamm said.

The commission also accepted the following bids for additional equipment for the new truck: ABC Fire Equipment Co. $37.20 for a "blind cap"; Jacksonville Fire Equipment Co. for an elbow adapter $159.50, hydrant wye $511, and relay valve $595; and Municipal Equipment $5,820 for 1000 feet of four-inch fire hose and $122 for a regular adapter.

Bids for all the equipment were the low ones except for the regular adapter. City Manager W.E. "Pete" Knowles noted Municipal Equipment was the second low bidder for the regular adapter, but it could deliver the equipment within 10 days to two weeks while the low bidder, ABC Fire Equipment which bid $96.60 needed 60 days for delivery.

When The Swabbies Make More Than The Admirals...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Under the new military pay scale, some service men and women could make more than generals and admirals. Capt. Louis Colbus isn't gloating or fretting.

"If I make more than the admiral, I guess the smartest thing is to keep my mouth shut, take the money and run," said the Norfolk, Va., Naval Base officer.

Some generals and admirals won't get anything, but the new military pay hikes will mean about $50 a month more for privates, and captains will collect another $3,000 a year.

The wage boost, the second sizable increase in two years, should show up in military pay checks later this month after President Reagan signs the law approved by Congress last week.

The raises — ranging from 10 percent to 17 percent according to rank — were passed in an effort to keep skilled and experienced personnel in the services.

For officers, this year's raise is a flat 14.3 percent, but most generals and admirals will not get any more. That's because they already are up against the $50,000 pay ceiling imposed on all federal employees.

Colbus is a captain with 26 years of Navy service. He has a base pay of $3,849 a month. Including $410 in monthly sea pay, his monthly check comes to $4,259.

With three straight years of sea duty, Colbus told The Norfolk Virginian-Pilot and Ledger-Star he was "not embarrassed" to make more than an admiral.

"When you go to sea, you need enough to maintain a contingency fund," he said. "You ought to have enough money so that wife can get a new tire if one blows out, or that she can get the washing machine fixed if it breaks."

Rear Adm. Clinton Taylor, head of the Atlantic Fleet Training Command in Norfolk said he had no complaints about junior officers making more than their superiors.

He said the increases would encourage some officers to stay in the Navy, rather than retire after 20 years.

The new raise comes on top of an 11.7 percent hike that went into effect last Oct. 1.

Congress believes the increases will put military pay, when fringe benefits are considered, on a par with similar civilian jobs. It remains to be seen if military men and women agree and stay in the service.

Basic pay is only part of the income of military personnel.

Military personnel also can get non-taxable housing and subsistence allowances, as well as extra pay for special skills or hazardous duty. For example, all officers can get a $94.39 monthly subsistence allowance.

Under the new pay scale, the smallest increase — 10 percent — goes to the lowest ranks. The monthly pay for a private with less than two years' service will go from $501.30 to $551.40.

The monthly pay of a captain with eight years in the service will go from $1,753.20 to $2,004 — an annual base pay of about $24,000. A colonel with 16 years service will get about $37,500 a year.

An Army staff sergeant, grade E4, with eight years service will be paid $1,080.50 per month — $12,720 a year — instead of the current $918.20 monthly.

The base pay for an E9 top sergeant or petty officer can reach $2,130 per month — about $25,560 a year — with 26 years' service. That is 17 percent above current pay.

Approved for continuing contracts were: Claudia Bush, Oviedo and Laura Moran, Lake Brantley.

Non-instructional appointments include: Aurora Berguson, Lake Mary High clerical aide; Darlene Chury, South Side, instructional aide; Irma Cooper, Milwee, custodian; Lemuel Debose, County Office, instructional aide; Sharon Dimauro, South Seminole SLA V.

Plaza Gets A Facelift

Charles Waldron, spokesman for the Sanford Plaza Associates, the management company representing the owners of Sanford Plaza, has announced the start of an extensive facelifting for the Plaza.

Waldron explained that the plans now call for the parking lot to be re-stripped and modernized, the entire structure to be painted a wood-tone beige, the entrance sign to be refurbished and the entire center to be extensively landscaped.

"This project was designed to coincide with the 17th birthday of the Plaza, which began this week," Waldron said.

IN BRIEF

Reagan: Equipment But No Troops To Sudan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States will send military equipment and possibly advisers to the Sudan and Egypt to fend off a Libyan threat, but President Reagan says there is "no intention" that U.S. personnel will engage in combat.

Reagan, as he returned to the White House Monday from a long weekend at Camp David, told reporters accelerated arms shipments to Egypt and the Sudan are "called for" to combat military adventurism by Libya.

Be A Pal, Approve AWACS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the wake of the slaying of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, President Reagan says it is essential to the peace process to show other moderate Arab regimes the United States can be a trusted friend.

One of the best ways to do that, Reagan suggested Monday, is for Congress to approve the proposed sale of sophisticated AWACS surveillance aircraft to Saudi Arabia.

Elvis' Doc's Trial Begins

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Elvis Presley was a "terribly sick person" with a colossal drug problem possibly picked up in the Army, the attorney defending the rock 'n' roll king's personal doctor told presiding jurors.

Four alternate jurors were chosen late Monday, ending two weeks of jury selection and allowing opening arguments to begin today in the trial of Dr. George C. Nichopoulos, 53, charged with 14 counts of overprescribing addictive drugs to Presley and 10 others.

WORLD

Vote On Sadat's Successor Held Amid Tight Security

CAIRO, Egypt (UPI) — Egyptian authorities, vowing to shoot troublemakers on sight, ignored threats of violence and held a national referendum today at heavily guarded polling stations to endorse Hosni Mubarak as successor to slain President Anwar Sadat.

In Khartoum, Sudan, a U.S. team continued talks on Sudan's military "shopping list" to protect Egypt's neighbor and ally against a threat from Libya. President Reagan said in Washington that faster arms deliveries were "called for" but ruled out a U.S. combat role although advisers might be sent.

Union Threatens Strike

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Solidarity gave the Polish government a 10-day deadline to negotiate a "satisfactory" agreement on food supplies and prices, but Moscow today accused the union of joining the church in a plot to seize power.

The union threatened a "two-stage" protest if talks with the government did not produce agreement by Oct. 22. Solidarity members at their convention a week ago threatened a strike over government price policies.

Arafat: Talk To The PLO

TOKYO (UPI) — Palestinian guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat today praised a suggestion by former Presidents Carter and Ford that talks with the Palestine Liberation Organization are essential to Middle East peace.

"It is very good that we begin to hear" such a suggestion, Arafat said on the state-run Japanese television network NHK during the second day of his controversial three-day trip to Japan.

Mandrell Big Country Award Winner

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Singer Barbara Mandrell accepted her second straight entertainer of the year award from the Country Music Association and burst into tears, becoming so emotional she wasn't sure what she said in her acceptance speech.

Miss Mandrell also was named country's top female vocalist for the second time in three years at the awards ceremony Monday.

"God's so good," she said, tears streaming down her face. "As entertainers, we try real hard to entertain and do our jobs. It's not always ego, honest to goodness. It's because we care."

The progressive country group Alabama won two awards and George Jones was named male vocalist of the year during the 15th annual CMA show at the Grand Ole Opry House.

The 11 winners were selected by a secret ballot of the 5,200 members of the CMA, an organization formed to promote country music. After the show, many of the entertainers, industry officials and their friends were "shuttled" to a nearby hotel for celebrating.

Miss Mandrell, who co-hosted the show with Mac Davis, became only the third woman to win the entertainer of the year award in 15 years and the first ever to win it twice. She was named country's top performer in 1980 and top female vocalist in 1979.

Most of the year's finalists were slanted toward the pop-country vein, while the list of "pure" country artists dwindled to the smallest number in the 15-year history of the most prestigious awards show in country music.

Alabama, nominated in five categories, was named best instrumental and vocal group, becoming the only other double award winner.

Jones was named male vocalist of the year and his song "He Stopped Loving Her Today" earned songwriters Curly Putman and Bobby Braddock an award for song of the year for the second year in a row. CMA officials said the song was released as a single in 1980 and on an album in 1981, making it eligible for the songwriter award both years.

Don Williams claimed the album of the year award for "I Believe In You" and the song "Elvira" earned the Oak Ridge Boys an award for top single.

Terri Gibbs became the first recipient of the CMA's Horizon Award, which recognizes new talent.

"Would you believe this time last year I was sitting at home watching this on television," said the blind singer.

Chet Atkins claimed the instrumentalist of the year award for the fourth time. CMA officials said last year's winner, Roy Clark, was declared ineligible this year due to a change in the CMA rules.

David Frizzell and Shelly West, both siblings of other country stars, received the vocal duo of the year award for the first time. Miss West's mother, Dottie, accepted the award for them.

The CMA show kicks off a week of partying by entertainers, disc jockeys, talent buyers and other industry officials celebrating the anniversary of the Grand Ole Opry.

Commission Opts For Small Cars

Seminole Has A Better Idea: Chevys

By DARLENE JENNINGS
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Commission has decided to standardize the county's vehicle fleet, and will begin that process by phasing out the Chevrolet Aspens and Plymouth Volares the county now uses in favor of the subcompact Chevy Chevettes at a cost of $6,256 each.

During Monday's work session the board agreed the new cars will be stock four-door hatchback vehicles with air conditioning, tinted glass (not the custom dark tint), and automatic transmission, and will be white or some other light color.

According to Barry Hastings, Purchasing Department contract technician, the county will be saving $18,800 by the decision to buy the small cars, as compared to the sedans the board had originally considered buying last year.

"For the 1981 budget the board originally had planned to buy 15 sedans at $8,850 each," said Hastings. "However, with Monday's decision the board will be converting the money for the 15 sedans into four pickup trucks, two station wagons and nine Chevettes."

The board last year budgeted to purchase sedans comparable to the Aspens and Volares — mid- to full-size cars — but since these models have been discontinued, the board had the opportunity Monday to look at smaller, cost-saving vehicles. The sedans were discontinued last year.

The county's current truck fleet is standardized on the Ford line, and the Vehicle Standards and Specifications Committee recommended, and the board agreed, to continue with the Ford trucks through this fiscal year.

Next year, the commissioners agreed, they will consider buying mid-sized trucks.

"We determined the number of sedans needed also could be accomplished in subcompacts, because usually no more than two people travel together at one time in county vehicles," said Roger Neiswender, county administrator.

The board also voted to consider changing an ordinance now on the books that says when a county vehicle reaches 60,000 miles or four or five years — whichever comes first — it is taken out of the county's fleet.

Commission Chairman Robert Sturm reminded the board that state vehicles are used until they reach 72,000 miles or six years. He proposed the county use the cars until they reach between 80,000 and 100,000 miles.

No formal decision was reached on the mileage rate during the work-session.

Paramedics Public Hearing Set

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

Casselberry residents will get the opportunity to voice their approval or disapproval of the proposed advanced life-support (paramedic) program at an Oct. 26 public hearing, if the paramedic program committee can answer by the Oct. 19 meeting all questions raised by the audience and council members at Monday night's City Council meeting.

The council voted unanimously Monday night to set the public hearing date pending the committee's ability to answer budgetary, manpower, training and other questions of concern connected with implementation of the program.

Firefighter and committee representative Frank Stone told the council the proposed program will consist of six paramedic-firefighters, costing a total of $150,000 for manpower and equipment. He said funding for the program will be generated from increased property taxes. He proposes an increase of $1.25 on every $1,000 of assessed property valuation. Casselberry property owners currently pay $1.95 on every $1,000.

Of primary concern to council members was the program's initial costs and maintenance cost in years to come.

They asked Stone to provide them with a complete, comprehensive proposal of costs and implementation procedures by the Oct. 19 meeting so they can be sure all questions are answered prior to the public hearing.

"We want to give the people a complete, comprehensive breakdown of the program at the public hearing, and if the people vote for it as proposed, I'll support it," Councilman Bill Grier said. "But I want the program laid out for the public completely."

Stone said he would be "more than willing" to provide the information at Monday night's meeting. However, he added, he will not be responsible for any additional questions raised that could postpone the hearing date.

Mayor Owen Sheppard said a copy of the questions to be addressed as requested by the council will be made available, in writing, to Stone and City Attorney Ken McIntosh by Tuesday morning.

Clerk, Pool Highlight Agenda

Altamonte Springs will have a new city clerk if the City Commission approves City Manager Jeff Eitchberger's recommendation at tonight's commission meeting at 7 p.m. at City Hall, 225 Newburyport Ave.

"I am recommending Bobbi Floyd for the city clerk position," Eitchberger said. Mrs. Floyd currently is serving as Eitchberger's secretary and if appointed by the commission, will serve as secretary and city clerk until a secretary can be hired, Eitchberger said. Mrs. Floyd currently is fulfilling her secretarial duties while also serving as interim city clerk.

The commission also is expected to discuss tonight a proposal by Clay Parnell, swim coach for the approximately 60-member Barracudas swim team.

Parnell is trying to persuade the commission to allow his team to rent the pool during the winter off-season for practice.

City officials said the cost to keep the pool open and operating is too much for the city because the swim team will not be able to "pay their own way."

Parnell is offering to pay for all the pool heating costs and a portion of the off-season operating costs.

20 Cents A Lick

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Starting today, Post Offices around the country can sell stamps with a "C" designation, worth 20 cents and designed to go into use with the new first class postage rates Nov. 1.

Post offices across the country will offer more than 5 billion stamps with the "C" designation instead of a price for use until a supply of 20-cent stamps can be printed.

This is the second time in eight months the Postal Service has issued a stamp without a printed value. The last time around it went with a "B" stamp to tide over correspondents until the 18-cent stamps were printed. It also marks a 33.3 percent inflation in first-class postage costs this year.

John A. McCartney III is in the sewing machine-vacuum cleaner business with his father and brother in John's Sew 'N' Vac store in Sanford.

John's Sew 'N' Vac Will Service Machine For $5

For only $5 the trained professionals at John's Sew 'N' Vac will clean, oil, and adjust your sewing machine (a $21.50 value) or vacuum cleaner (a $19.50 value) plus sharpen one pair of scissors absolutely free of charge.

For this low price they will adjust tension (top and bottom), adjust motor belt, inspect motor wiring, oil the machine completely, clean hook and feed assembly, check wiring to controls and machine timing on your sewing machine. On the vacuum cleaner they will clean, oil and adjust the agitator, wheels and height control, and check the belt, bag housing, motor and brushes.

John's Sew 'N' Vac, located at 111 S. Magnolia Ave., Sanford and 148 W. New York Ave., DeLand, observed the first anniversary of its Sanford store in August.

A family business, it is owned and operated by John A. McCartney, who has more than 20 years experience in sewing machine and vacuum cleaner sales, service and repairs, and his sons, John A. III and Mark A., who have grown up learning the trade from their father.

Repairs are done right in the store and in most cases one day service is provided. They will be glad to give you a free estimate on your sewing machine or vacuum cleaner repairs.

They have original Singer parts right in the store and have access to all parts for sewing machines and vacuum cleaners.

They repair all makes of vacuum cleaners and sewing machines and repairs are guaranteed.

John's Sew 'N' Vac sells new and used vacuum cleaners with well known and respected brand names such as Royal, Hoover, and Eureka and sewing machines such as Necchi, Viking, Dial and Sew, and Riccar.

Trades are accepted and financing is available. Trade-ins are fixed up and sold as used machines. Sewing machines are available for as low as $29.

"We service what we sell, and everything is guaranteed," said John McCartney. "If anything goes wrong with a machine purchased from most discount stores it is necessary to pack it up and send it back to the factory. Should anything to wrong with merchandise we sell the customer can just bring it in with the warranty card and we will repair it here free of charge."

Preventive maintenance on vacuum cleaners and sewing machines should be done at least once a year to assure that the machines run properly and last longer," he said. "Especially in Florida where so much fine dust and sand can be damaging. Keeping them properly cleaned and oiled can prevent costly repairs."

John's Sew 'N' Vac also sharpens scissors and pinking shears. They are open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Anti-Pollution: No Clear Issue

The anti-pollution laws that sprang up during the 1970s are attracting the Reagan administration the way a virgin forest would attract a lumberjack. No one is suggesting that this stand of timber be clear-cut, but it is doubtless due for a thinning out.

Interior Secretary James Watt is on the hit-list of environmentalists for taking up the ax against some of their favorite policies.

The 10,380 employees of the Environmental Protection Agency make that bureaucracy a prime target for President Reagan's effort to cut the federal payroll.

We can anticipate some heated arguments about which anti-pollution programs should be changed or dropped and which should be allowed to stand.

We can also anticipate that these arguments will be long on emotion and short on facts.

That discouraging conclusion comes from a report published recently by Resources for the Future, an environmental research organization.

It charts the course of a still-unsuccessful effort to establish an authoritative scientific basis for monitoring the effectiveness of environmental protection programs.

In 1970 the Environmental Studies Board of the National Academy of Sciences urged that a federal program be established to monitor and evaluate environmental quality.

By 1975, the same committee was noting that little progress had been made toward that goal, and urged that the effort be accelerated.

In 1977, the National Academy of Sciences was calling for a greater commitment to scientific principles and procedures in monitoring sources of pollution and evaluating their effects on human health and the ecosystem.

In 1980, an Interagency Task Force on Environmental Data and Monitoring was calling for establishment of a "National Environmental Statistics Program" to improve the quality of the still-sketchy data.

In short, we appear to be no closer today to an accurate charting of the ups and downs of environmental quality than we were 10 years ago.

If scientists are discontent with the data available, where does that leave the public? In the dark, it appears.

Resources for the Future also took a survey of how people in general perceive the quality of their environment after a decade of anti-pollution efforts.

The survey showed that the number of persons who think environmental quality is deteriorating is almost equal to the number who think it is improving, while the majority think it hasn't changed at all.

Our conclusion is that the environment is a little bit like the weather. Everybody talks about it, but no one is sure what is happening to it.

In months to come various environmental rules and programs will be attacked for being unnecessary and ineffective. The same programs will be defended as vital to keep us from being smothered or poisoned by pollution.

Before the battle is over, we can hope that responsible scientists will get together on what the facts about our pollution problems really are. They'll be needed in Washington.

BERRY'S WORLD

"I like you for the same reason I like 'People' magazine - you're superficial."

Sanford's Fighting Seminoles are 2-0 in the Five Star football conference and in good shape for another conference and district championship.

Just two years ago, Coach Jerry Posey's group pulled off the feat, while Lake Howell edged Spruce Creek and Apopka for the Five Star crown last year.

Posey's team is on the road this Friday at DeLand. The Bulldogs have been floundering lately and it's a good bet that Seminole will pick up conference victory number three.

The Tribe's main nemesis is Lake Brantley. Coach Dave Tullis' team is also 2-0. The Patriots tackle tough Spruce Creek Friday. A Brantley loss would move the Seminoles into first place by themselves—if they upend the Bulldogs.

When the Fighting Seminoles finally return home on Friday Oct. 23 against Lakeland

Kathleen, Sanford residents could be viewing the best team in the Five Star conference.

What this is all leading up to is, Seminole High School has a special deal on its remaining "reserved tickets." For just $17 you can catch four remaining home games which will probably determine Seminole's championship caller.

After the nonconference game with Kathleen, the Tribe hosts Lake Brantley (Oct. 30), Lyman (Nov. 6) and Spruce Creek (Nov. 20). For your "reserved seat" ticket, call Seminole Business Manager Gay Ailing at 322-4352 between the hours of 7:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. She may be reached at ext. 232 at the high school.

Sanford Director of Parks and Recreation Jeff Monson and Sanford Optimist Club Member Tom Whigham have put their heads together and come up with a tennis tournament.

It is called the "First (to be annual) Sanford Recreation Department and Optimist Club of Sanford Junior Tennis Tournament." No, the tournament won't last as long as its name. It will be held Nov. 7 and 8. The entry fee is $5 for singles and $3 per person for doubles.

Play will begin Saturday morning at 8 on the Seminole Community College tennis courts. Awards will be given to champions and runners-up. Consolation winners and runners-up will also receive awards.

Penn yellow balls will be used along with the 12-point tiebreaker system. There are three divisions for girls and boys doubles and singles.

The divisions are age 16 and under, age 14 and under and age 12 and under. All divisions are limited to 32 singles and 16 doubles.

Make checks payable to: city of Sanford Recreation Department, P.O. Box 1778, Sanford, FL, 32771-0212.

DICK WEST Plenty Of Veepness

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Astronomers, the wonderful folks who brought you quasars, black holes, supernovae and many other space oddities, now report the discovery of a big void out there in the firmament.

How big a void is it? you ask.
Well, dear hearts, this void is so big it could hold 2,000 Milky Ways, give or take a galaxy or two, and still have enough room for a Little League diamond.

Putting it another way, this void is so big it would take a beam of light 300 million years to cross it, if you can imagine any bulb lasting that long.

Scientific curiosity alone is enough to sustain astronomers in their explorations of the Great Unknown. But the first question that enters the minds of us laymen is: Of what practical use are the findings?

It seems a pity for a big void like that just to exist there like a bump on a log, taking up space without doing anything. If we could find some way of utilizing it for workaday purposes, as well as awe and wonderment, that truly would be a distinct plus.

If nothing else, maybe it could serve as a repository for nuclear waste material. Certainly that sounds as feasible as some of the other disposal plans that have been suggested.

The next step, I should think, would be to send up a space vehicle, something like Voyager II, to send back some close-up photographs of it.

How many really good pictures of a void does NASA have in its scrapbook? A handful at best, I would guess.

Several dozen stunning shots would go a long way toward softening up the general public to absorb the cost of further investigation.

After that, in my judgment, we should give the void a name, mark its location clearly on maps of the universe and preclude the Russians from trying to exploit it for their own nefarious pursuits.

The last of these three objectives possibly could be accomplished by the aforementioned space vehicle.

In addition to sending back photos and readings from its array of instruments, it could be programmed to drop a U.S. flag into the void, signifying America's claim to the mineral rights.

Then President Reagan could issue a proclamation setting aside the void for peaceful development under the direction of Interior Secretary James Watt.

As for the name, I believe it would be appropriate to christen the void in honor of one of the country's vice presidents.

While scientists and philosophers may have their own definitions, most of us laymen think of a void as being a blob of nothingness. Which, I'm sure you will agree, pretty well sums up the vice president's role in our form of government.

How, for instance, does the name Garret Augustus Hobart Memorial Void grab you? A fitting tribute to the nation's 28th veep, I would think.

JACK ANDERSON

Qaddafi Has His Eye On Ronald Reagan

WASHINGTON—Libyan dictator Muammar Qaddafi, who organized more than one assassination plot against his arch-rival Anwar Sadat, has his eye on even bigger quarry: Ronald Reagan. He confided as much in a telephone conversation with Ethiopian strongman Mengistu Haile Mariam last August.

The call was intercepted and translated by the National Security Agency, which reported the substance of the conversation to the White House.

The disturbing conversation occurred on the weekend following a particularly galling humiliation for Qaddafi—the shooting down by American fighters of two Libyan jets in the Mediterranean. Expressing anger over the incident, Qaddafi vowed that he would go ahead with plans to have President Reagan assassinated.

This was no spur-of-the-moment decision or casual braggadocio to impress a fellow dictator. Just the week before the aerial encounter, a Libyan group called "Free Unionist Officers" had vowed publicly to exact revenge for any harm to Qaddafi by attacking "U.S. interest anywhere," and seeking "the physical liquidation" of Americans, beginning with President Reagan.

Besides the shooting-down of his jets, Qaddafi may have had another, more personal reason to want vengeance on the United States. As I've reported, fugitive ex-CIA agent Ed Wilson, who had been hiding out in Tripoli, made a secret visit to Rome in July to hold a series of meetings with U.S. officials, ostensibly to discuss the criminal charges outstanding against him in this country.

Intelligence sources told my associate Dale Van Atta that one of the U.S. officials was the CIA's station chief in Rome, and that he was assigned to get Wilson's cooperation in the assassination of Qaddafi. The CIA reportedly planned to employ a poisoned dart disguised as a black fly.

If this gave Qaddafi some justification for an attack on Reagan, he clearly doesn't lack the means or the determination to try. In April 1980, he warned Libyan expatriates to come home or suffer "physical elimination." Since then, at least 10 anti-Qaddafi exiles have been murdered in Italy, West Germany, Britain, Greece and the United States.

A common threat that runs through these killings seems to be a ring of American renegades who ran with Wilson and his sidekick, Frank Terpil, another ex-CIA agent. Terpil is believed to be hiding out in Beirut—headquarters, incidentally, of the group that claimed responsibility for the attack on Sadat.

Eugene Tafoya, the former Green Beret accused of shooting a Libyan exile student in Colorado a year ago, worked for Wilson in Libya and visited him in Tripoli just prior to the Colorado shooting.

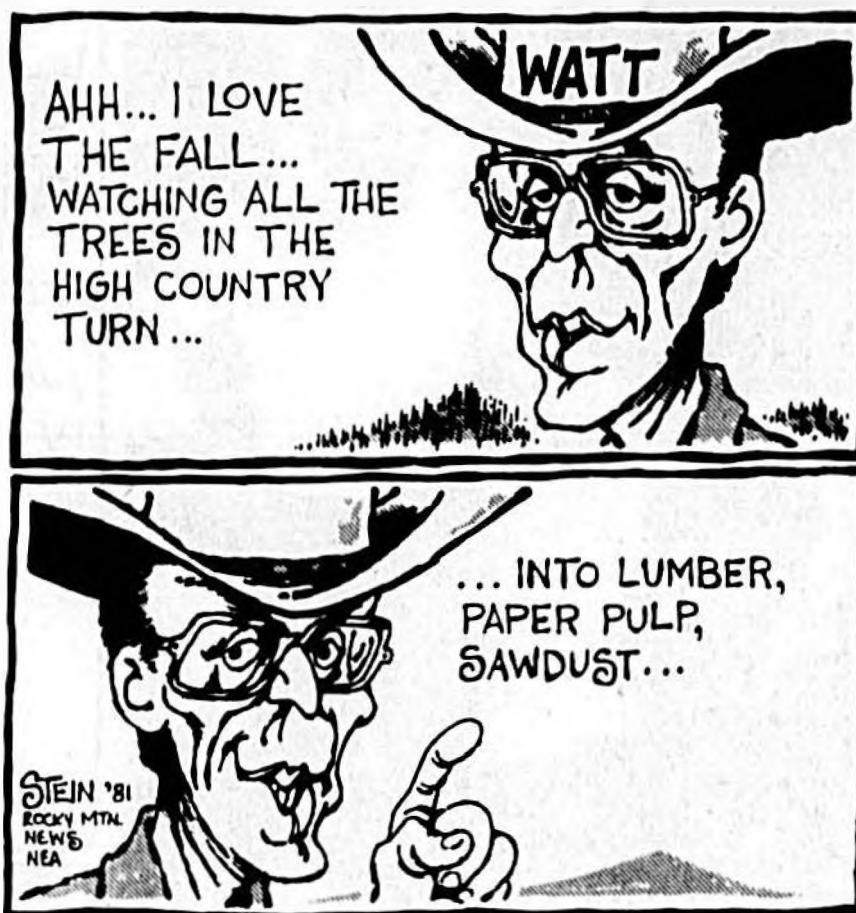

In addition, Wilson is charged with attempting to arrange the assassination of another Qaddafi critic by three anti-Castro Cubans who had once worked for the CIA.

Another Wilson-Terpil associate, Joseph G. McElroy, is suspected of supplying weapons to Qaddafi hit squads, although he denies it. He is currently doing time in Pennsylvania for illegal transportation of a 9-millimeter pistol on an international flight. The gun was discovered, shortly after McElroy bought it in Pennsylvania, during a raid on suspected terrorists and gunrunners in London five years ago.

Another gun that McElroy bought in Pennsylvania in 1976 was in the possession of two Libyan assassins; they were convicted last year of the murder of an anti-Qaddafi journalist in London in April 1980. McElroy denies any knowledge of how the gun would up in the hands of the Libyans.

For years, meanwhile, Qaddafi had been trying to knock off the late Anwar Sadat. The Libyan strongman concocted a new assassination plot "every three to six months," one intelligence source said. I personally asked Qaddafi about reports that he was trying to arrange Sadat's demise. The Libyan leader told me: "Sadat will be eliminated by the Egyptian people."

Footnote: The CIA has emphatically denied planning or talking about an assassination attempt on Qaddafi with Wilson or anyone else. An agency spokesman pointed out that a standing executive order prohibits the CIA from "engaging in or conspiring to engage in assassination," and insists the agency hasn't violated that order. He even denied that the CIA met with Wilson in Rome last July—as does Wilson's lawyer.

ROBERT WALTERS Check-Off For Consumers

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Dairy farmers and cotton growers use it extensively, labor unions rely upon it for financial security and the federal government depends upon it to collect billions of dollars every year.

It's a strikingly simple fund-raising technique called the check-off — and consumer advocate Ralph Nader wants to adopt it for use in organizing and empowering the purchasers of everything from telephone service to insurance policies.

The check-off is a method of collecting funds in which individuals are informed in advance that a designated amount of their money will be automatically transferred at regular intervals to a specified organization, usually in conjunction with an unrelated financial transaction.

After struggling in vain for more than a decade with various other techniques to finance a broad-based consumer movement that would provide citizens with substantial power and influence in the marketplace, Nader believes the check-off could be the key to success.

Implementation of the plan would represent a profound shift in strategy for public-interest organizations, which long have relied almost exclusively upon two sources of financial support — government agencies and foundations.

Check-off techniques are an attractive alternative, argues Nader, because "they do not create a government agency, they do not burden the taxpayer, they are privately funded, their membership is voluntary... (and) the organization is accountable to its dues-paying members."

A modified experiment with that intriguing approach already is under way in Wisconsin, where the state legislature in late 1979 approved a bill authorizing the establishment of the Citizens Utility Board.

The law requires that public utilities allow CUB to enclose membership solicitations in telephone and electric bills distributed to residential customers.

The program already has achieved modest success. After soliciting each Wisconsin resident an average of three times, CUB has more than 50,000 members and expects to double that figure next year.

Membership meetings have been held throughout the state, a board of directors has been elected and professional staff members have been hired to represent consumer interests in public-utility regulatory proceedings.

During the past five years, similar legislation to establish consumer organizations financed through a check-off system has been introduced in more than a dozen states. None of those efforts has succeeded, but renewed attempts to secure passage throughout the country are being planned.

Envisioning a network of such consumer groups extending far beyond the customers of public utilities providing water, electric, gas and telephone service, Nader also wants to include the purchasers of any good or service for which a standard pre-printed contract is utilized.

That would encompass automobiles, insurance policies, bank loans, all credit card transactions, real estate rental or purchase and a host of other items.

The potential impact of the check-off approach is best illustrated by its most pervasive and lucrative application: A 1943 federal law authorizes the Internal Revenue Service to deduct personal income-tax payments automatically from the paychecks of virtually all employees.

Most labor unions are allowed to have their members' dues deducted from the same check. Other check-off deductions often are applied to savings plans, government bond purchases and payments for optional fringe benefits.

Products of six different agricultural commodities — wool and lamb, cotton, eggs, potatoes, milk and wheat — have received congressional approval for check-off payments, based on the value or amount of production, to finance research and promotional activities.

DON GRAFF 1981 And All That

In retrospect, it is obvious that Cornwallis was inviting trouble.

After two months of chasing an elusive American force under the command of Lafayette around the Virginia countryside, he was ordered by the British command in New York to give up that futile task and turn east to establish a stronghold on Chesapeake Bay. The point he selected could not have been more unfortunate for him — as Cornwallis himself too late recognized — and advantageous for the opposition. It was Yorktown, a tiny port near the tip of the narrow peninsula between the York and James rivers.

From then on everything went wrong. Lafayette alerted Washington, who immediately began a forced march south from New York at the head of an American and French army. He was beyond Philadelphia before the British were even aware he was on the move, too late for pursuit.

Meanwhile, in early September a French fleet under Admiral de Grasse defeated a British force in the Battle of the Capes and was left in command of the entrance to Chesapeake Bay. With the arrival of Washington's troops on the night of Sept. 28, everything was in place for a British disaster and the achievement of the goal the American revolutionaries had been pursuing for five mostly discouraging years.

Trapped between superior American and French forces and the river, unable to either escape or receive reinforcement by sea because of deGrasse's blockade, Cornwallis quickly recognized that the Battle of Yorktown that began on Oct. 9 could have only one end. On Oct. 19, 1781, he surrendered, a disaster that the British command in America and Lord North's government in London, when it got the bad news, recognized as the end of the effort to crush the revolution.

This year is the battle's bicentennial and, understandably, something of a big deal is being made of it. Four days of celebrations with France and Britain officially represented. The latter somewhat uncomfortably but the former with considerable enthusiasm, an attitude that inspires some thoughts on nations and national relationships.

Americans, at least some of them and at least until disillusioned by the contrariness of Gaullist France, have tended to romanticize the Revolution's French connection. The oldest alliance and all that.

Never the French, however. For them, the aid extended to the American rebels was strictly power politics, a choice opportunity to strike a telling blow at their ancient enemy. This was not, after all, the France of Liberte, Egalite, Fraternite — that came later, and in part because of the aid to the rebels — but a monarchy as repressive as they came in Europe at the time.

It was a successful power play but one for which Bourbon France paid an exorbitant price. The effort left the royal treasury effectively bankrupt and if it did not in itself bring on the French Revolution, it certainly hastened it.

It might have been assumed that when that revolution came, the young American republic would feel even more affinity with the republican France it produced. But that was not the case. The French Revolution unsettled the American establishment almost as much as it did the European courts.

Reserved Tribe Tickets On Sale At High School

Do you want a seat in front of a champion? Well, the Seminole High Fighting Seminoles are currently lodged in a tight fight for the top spot in the Five Star conference with the Lake Brantley Patriots.

The Seminole High School athletic department is offering the remaining reserved seats for four home games at a special $17 price.

Home games remain with Lakeland Kathleen (Oct. 23), Lake Brantley (Oct. 30), Lyman (Nov. 6) and Spruce Creek (Nov. 20).

Reserved seat tickets may be purchased from Business Manager Gay Alling at 322-4352 (ext. 232) from 7:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the high school.

Lake Howell Stages Clinic

South Seminole and Tuskawilla Middle School students will get an opportunity to observe, first-hand, the ins and outs of High School Basketball this month. Coach Greg Robinson of Lake Howell boys varsity and Dennis Codrey, coach of the girls varsity, will conduct a clinic at the high school for all their prospective students of the future.

The clinic will be at Lake Howell on Sunday, Oct. 18 starting at 12 noon. It will run for two hours and will be geared to both the beginners and the experienced.

It is hoped that both boys and girls at South Seminole and Tuskawilla attend. They will be exposed to drills and skills as demonstrated by Lake Howell varsity ball players and Coach Robinson's staff and will have the opportunity to question the rules and "how-to-do's" of the game.

In addition, boys and girls may register to play this coming season in the Seminole Youth Sports Association (SYSA) basketball program.

The SYSA Basketball league has six divisions of play — sixth grade boys, sixth grade girls, seventh grade boys, seventh grade girls, eighth grade boys and eighth grade girls. For more information on SYSA Basketball registration for South Seminole and Tuskawilla, call Mickey Norton at 631-4786.

SYBA Re-Elects Officers

Five officers of the Sanford Youth Baseball Association have been re-elected to another one-year term.

At the association's annual election last week, members re-elected Gary Taylor to serve as president, Sylvester Franklin Jr. as first vice president, W.J. Ward Sr. as second vice president, Bill Wagner as treasurer and Ed Korgan Jr. as secretary.

Those five officers will meet later this month to elect the remainder of the directors of the association for the upcoming season.

McBroom Faces Severest Test

DeLand Invitational Runs Saturday

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Lyman Cross Country Coach David Huggins calls it humongous. Lake Howell Mentor Tom Hammontree describes it as awesome. Lake Brantley's Jim Marshall says it will be fantastic.

The event which produces all these exciting adjectives is the DeLand Invitational Cross Country Meet which takes place this Saturday at DeLand's fast airport course.

The meet will draw all of the top teams in the state with good reason. "It's like a pre-state meet race," points out Huggins whose boys' runners led by super sophomore Doug McBroom are Seminole County's best. "Everyone who is anybody will be there since the state meet is held on the same course and they want to familiarize themselves with it."

Huggins looks for McBroom to be in the top 10 with the likes of Winter Park's Brian Jaeger, Edgewater's Greg Dost and Niceville's Fred Carley.

McBroom blew away the county field last Saturday at Trinity Prep with a 15:42 clocking for three miles. His time was 23 seconds better than Lake Brantley's Tommy Palmer.

The DeLand Meet, however, will be McBroom's severest test. "Doug always tells me he'll run a lot better if someone's up there pushing him," Huggins said. "Saturday he'll get his wish."

The boys 4A will take place at 5:30 p.m. Number one-ranked Largo is the favorite, while second-ranked Edgewater and fifth-ranked Winter Park are expected to challenge. Lyman is ranked eighth.

Another team facing a tough task is Brantley's second-ranked girls team. Coach Marshall's seven will face top-ranked Orange Park in a battle for number one.

Cross Country

Orange Park, which hails from Jacksonville, features the Brosch sisters. The twins—Sandra and Sonja—have kept Orange Park at the top all year.

Sandra is tied with Miami Killian's Sharon Chiong for the best time in the state—10:56. Spruce Creek's Lisa Gardner is next at 11:03, then comes sister Sonja at 11:06.

"It should be a very interesting meet," confirms Hammontree, whose improving Silver Hawks were just nine points behind the Patriots in the county run. "We ran 12th out of 20 teams there three years ago. I know we're much improved over that."

Brantley's "big three" of Tracy

Bonham, Ellen Stern and Kathy Hayward make up the nine-point difference over Howell. Bonham or Stern has won most of the area meets. Hayward, just a sophomore, is not too far behind.

The Lady Hawks counter with Kerry Ryter, third best in the county, Kathy Compton and Shelley Carlson. All three are juniors.

Bonham is a senior and Stern a junior.

The girls 4A takes place at 4:45 p.m. Hammontree, who compiles the 4A poll, will take a good look at the competition. "It's a fast course. They take real good care of it," said Hammontree. "I'll be looking for consistency and that fourth and fifth runner. They make the difference."

Buffalo Drums Miami

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (UPI) — Don Strock had a particular way of putting it in perspective.

"It started out on the 4 (yard line) and got progressively worse," the Miami quarterback said of Monday night's 31-21 loss at the hands of the Bills, which dropped the Dolphins from the ranks of the unbeaten and moved Buffalo within striking distance of their AFC East rivals.

The game started out with Miami cornerback Fulton Walker bobbling the opening kickoff at the 4-yard line and it got progressively worse as far as Miami was concerned.

"We got beat about as bad as you can get beat with the way we played in the first half," lamented Dolphins Coach Don Shula.

"I can't recall ever having a better half," said Bills quarterback Joe Ferguson, who experienced one of his best halves since he took over the Bills' offensive attack nine years ago.

Ferguson threw for 221 yards in the opening 30 minutes as Buffalo scored all of its points. He threw two touchdown strikes to wide receiver Jerry Butler on post patterns and one to running back Joe Cribbe coming out of the backfield as the Bills rolled to a 31-7 lead.

Ferguson finished with 338 yards on 20-of-29 passing, boosting his touchdown production to 14 for the year.

"We had some excellent play calling tonight," he said. "We had plays designed for the defense they were in."

If the Bills' plays were designed for the Miami defense, Shula was a bit surprised.

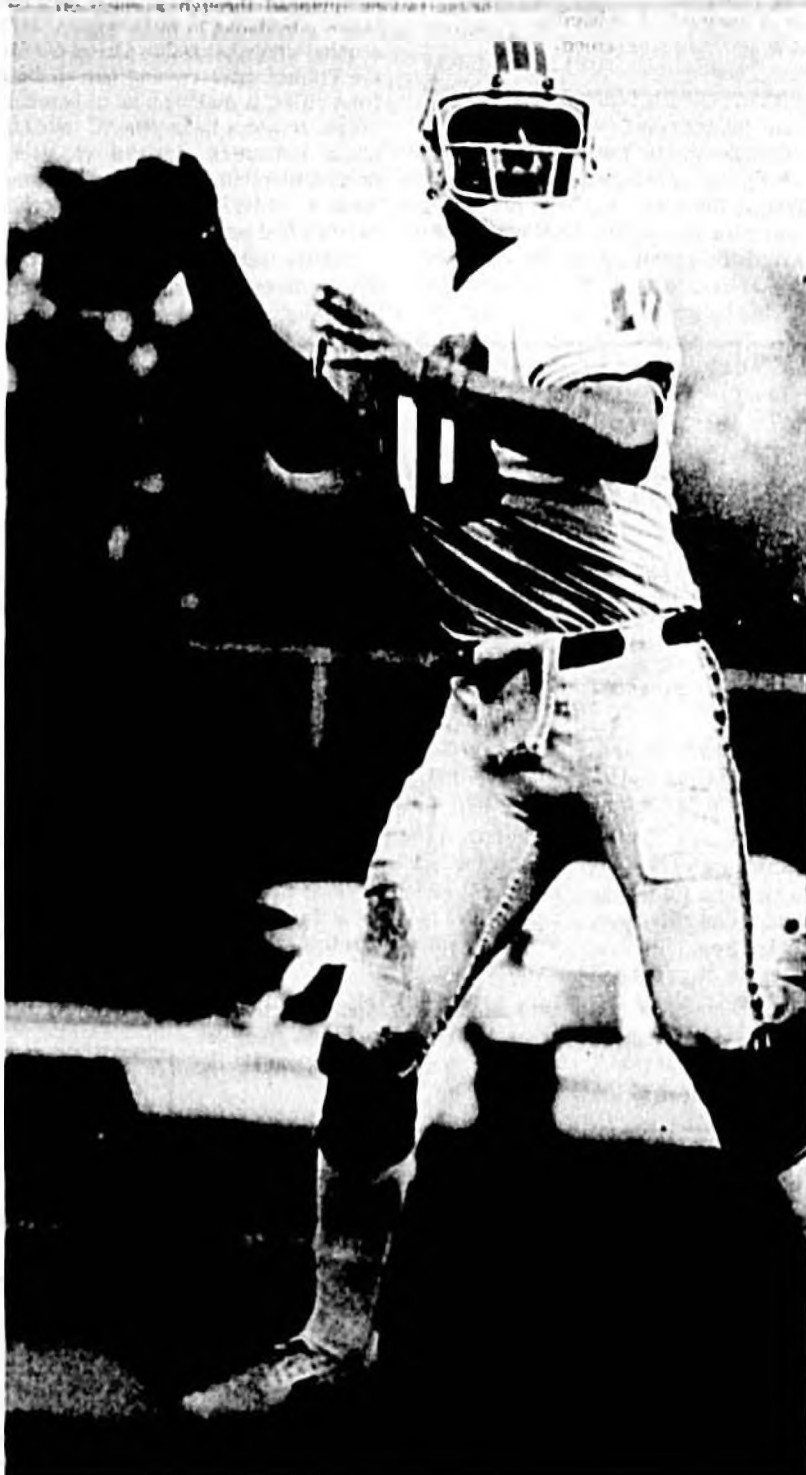

"Our defense never made a play," Shula said, irritated at just the mention of his defensive unit. "We just have to start making some plays in the secondary."

"I'm very upset and disappointed with the way we played pass defense. Our rush never did get to him (Ferguson)."

Ferguson was more diplomatic than Shula toward the Miami defenders.

"Their coverage kind of broke down some and I'm sure Don Shula will rectify it," Ferguson said.

The Bills added a 37-yard field goal by Nick Mike-Mayer and a 1-yard plunge by Don Strock couldn't preserve Miami unbeaten string

Roosevelt Leaks in the first half, while Miami only countered with a spectacular 90-yard kickoff return by Walker, who redeemed the opening miscue.

The Dolphins made the final score respectable in the second half, scoring on a 12-yard run by Tony Nathan in the third quarter and a 3-yard pass from Strock to tight end Joe Roze with 10 seconds left in the game.

Strock, who started in place of the injured David Woodley, faced a stern Buffalo defense, which intercepted four of his passes.

"I thought if we could settle down and get a couple of scores, we might get something going in the second half," Shula said, "but they were playing it safe and wouldn't give us any big plays."

Although it kept the Bills in contention, the victory may have proved costly. Veteran guard Reggie McKenzie left in the opening quarter with what appeared to be a serious knee injury.

The Bills also lost defensive back Steve Freeman, reserve guard Tim Vogler and running back Lawrence McCutcheon to knee injuries. Reserve linebacker Mike Hummiston and reserve defensive lineman Ken Johnson left the game with hamstring pulls.

Raines Is Back

This is the kind of column where you mention a lot of names and put them in bold face type. It makes people happy. Then at the end you throw in some stupid jokes that your neighbor told you.

Tim Raines is back. The "Sanford Swifty" tried to play Saturday, but his wrist was too sore. He broke the third finger of his right hand Sept. 13 in Chicago and has been limited to pinch running chores since then.

Monday, however, in Los Angeles where Raines' Montreal Expos take on the Dodgers, he worked out in the afternoon and pronounced himself fit.

"My wrist is still sore from lack of use," Raines said. "But I've been giving it hot and cold treatments and lifting small weights to strengthen it."

Raines, who plans to sign a one-year contract with Montreal after the season ends has his wife, the former Virginia Hilton, along for the trip. Tim's son, "Little Rock," is with Grandma Hilton in Sanford. So much for the social news.

Turning to football, there is a pretty good freshman football game on tap tonight at 7:30 at Lyman High School when undefeated Crooms takes on undefeated Lyman.

The Panthers blew away Osceola-Kissimmee last week, 51-6. Deron Thompson, a 9.9 sprinter, leads the Panther attack along with standout linebacker Donald Grayson. Dual quarterbacks Jo Jo McCloud and Mike Wheelbel run the show. Mike Henley, son of Lyman's likable principal Carlton Henley, is a fine running back in his own right.

A little earlier in the evening, the county's two best volleyball teams — Seminole and Lyman — go at each other at Seminole's gym.

Greyhound Coach Karren Newman is a Tribe graduate. Her 'Hounds whipped Lake Howell two straight last week. Coach Donalyn Knight's Lady Seminoles are the top team in the Five Star Conference halfway through the season with a fine 7-1 record.

The Lyman-Seminole matchup tips the card at 6 p.m. Lake Brantley is the third team of the tri-match setup.

The guy smiling in the middle of this column is a client of Longwood Palmat Madame Katherine. The Hungarian southsayer helped this reporter past his "blockage" and to a 7-3 record for this week's football predictions. I was 6-14 the past two weeks.

Martha Posey, wife of Seminole Coach Jerry Posey, also had a 7-3 mark. Sportswriter Billy Stripp did the same for a three-way tie for the top spot.

Buffalo kept the other two from 8-2 marks. Of course, I took the Bills. Miami can't win forever, giving up over 300 yards a game.

Oviedo Coach Joe Montgomery's wife, Mary, was 6-4, while sportswriter Joe DeSantis and Seminole County Commissioner Sandra Glenn were a mediocre 5-5. Despite Sandra's average (10-10) showing of late, I don't think there is anything to those rumors of an investigation.

Speaking of investigations, the Sentinel Star launched a two-month scrutiny of the University of Central Florida athletic program.

The series was supposed to start last Sunday, but it seems the Knights 47-13 thrashing of Savannah State put the detailed report on the backburner.

Now, what you've all been waiting for, the joke. Larry King, who hosts an all-night talk and interview show aired by WDBO had this one concerning George Steinbrenner.

"God, it's cold tonight," Mrs. Steinbrenner told her husband.

"You can call me George," replied Mr. Steinbrenner.

Ha, Ha, Ha.

Texas Vaulted Past Surprised Paterno, Lions Into Top Poll Spot

NEW YORK (UPI) — Although Penn State Coach Joe Paterno says he doesn't attach much importance to college football polls, he was a bit surprised to learn that his undefeated Nittany Lions remain rated the second-best team in the UPI Coaches' Poll.

"I'm sure that Texas deserves to be ranked first for the same reasons that Penn State does," Paterno said Monday.

"This is good; a rivalry has been set up and I think that will be a catalyst for all concerned."

"I won't lose any sleep over it, but I do think this will make the team try harder. We got our share of first-place votes and we just may do better next week."

The unbeaten Longhorns received 23 first-place votes to Penn State's 19 and jumped from the No. 3 spot in last week's poll to the top of the list this week. Texas defeated Oklahoma 34-14 last Saturday while the Nittany Lions also improved their record to 4-0 by routing Boston College, 37-7.

College Football

Southern California, which had been ranked No. 1 for three weeks, slipped to the sixth spot after a 13-10 upset at the hands of Arizona.

Pittsburgh, 4-0, inched up to No. 3 after a 17-0 victory over previously undefeated West Virginia. North Carolina, a 68-10 winner over Wake Forest, improved to No. 4, followed by No. 5 Michigan, No. 6 Southern Cal, No. 7 Clemson, No. 8 Missouri, No. 9 Georgia and No. 10 Florida State.

"These young men want something to aim for," he said. "I'm glad they have several goals to shoot at and I think all of them are within their grasp. We have a fine team and they're No. 1 in my book."

Fred Akers, the Longhorns coach, was obviously pleased.

"I hope we can prove we deserve being No. 1," said Akers.

Baseball's Final Four

Martin, Steinbrenner, 'Jax' Resume Circus

NEW YORK (UPI) — A few years back, Reggie Jackson, Billy Martin and George Steinbrenner combined to make Yankee Stadium more fun than a circus.

Beginning tonight they can resume the show, with one important difference: Martin no longer works for the Yankees, having been fired twice as their manager.

Instead, he leads a confident group of Oakland A's into the best-of-five American League championship series against New York. Mike Norris, 12-9, will pitch for the A's against New York's Tommy John, 9-8, but the psychological warfare began Monday — of all things — spitballs.

"The Kansas City team was raising hell all the time during Oakland's three-game sweep," Steinbrenner said in announcing he has complained to A.L. President Lee MacPhail over the alleged use of spitballs by A's pitchers.

"Willie Aikens complained bitterly to the umpire on one third strike and the umpire turned his back on him. I don't know how but I told Lee MacPhail it's got to be the same for both teams. This is a championship series and it is to be decided within the rules. I want Billy to protect his hitters and I am going to protect mine."

Jackson, whose two-run homer helped the Yankees defeat Milwaukee in Game 5, also appears ready for the A's, Martin or anybody.

"I don't know whether I'll be here next year but I want to play baseball for three more weeks," said Jackson. "I have nothing against Billy Martin except that he's wearing the other uniform. I believe that Dick Howser treated me better than Billy, but other managers have treated me differently than Billy."

An experienced National League

AL Playoff

scout says the A's have the best outfield he has ever seen in Rickey Henderson, Dwayne Murphy and Tony Armas. Oakland also has a fine staff of starting pitchers that includes Norris, Steve McCatty, Rick Langford and Matt Keough.

The Yankees have strengths of their own. Jackson appears in "Mr. October" form, catcher Rick Cerone proved himself despite the pressure of trading barbs with Steinbrenner, and the bullpen tandem of Goose Gossage and Ron Davis should be well rested.

Something that could hurt the Yankees is their pitching rotation. Aces Dave Righetti and Ron Guidry will not be available until Games 3 and 4 because both pitched Sunday against the Brewers. In addition, Rick Reuschel is suffering from a blister on one of his gripping fingers and will be sidetracked in Game 2 for May.

The teams played seven games during the season, with the Yankees holding a 4-3 edge. New York owned a 2-1 edge at home and split in Oakland. Yankee manager Bob Lemon, a master at defusing controversy, said he sees nothing special in managing against Martin, the man who he followed as Yankees skipper in 1978.

"Billy and I are good friends," said Lemon. "And now it's my ballclub against his ballclub. At the end we'll probably have a drink together."

Meanwhile, each side will be scrapping to win.

"Billy wants this series," said Oakland first baseman Jim Spencer, a former Yankee.

"You've got to give him credit," said Steinbrenner, referring to Martin. "The son-of-a-gun can manage."

Burt Hooton throws tonight for Los Angeles.

Another ex-Yankee, Cliff Johnson, capsuled the mood of both teams.

"Ain't promisin' nuthin'," he said to Yankee hitting coach Charlie Lau. "But we'll show up."

Baker Points To Home Edge, LA Hosts Expos

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — On the eve of today's first game of the National League playoffs, Los Angeles Dodgers' outfielder Dusty Baker made an interesting observation about the home-field advantage.

"It's just like the Vietnam war," Baker said. "We were stronger than Vietnam, but we couldn't beat 'em there. If we had fought them here, we'd have killed 'em."

The NL West champion Dodgers and the NL East champion Montreal Expos continue their quest for a World Series berth in Game 1, slated to start at 4:05 p.m. EDT. Bill Gullickson will start for the Expos while Burt Hooton will open for the Dodgers. Both teams know the value of playing at home.

The Dodgers seemed to be headed for an early vacation last week when they lost the first two games of the NL West Division Series in Houston. But they came back to beat the Astros three games in a row at home, climaxed by Sunday's 4-0 triumph behind the five-hit pitching of Jerry Reuss.

The Expos got off to a fast start against the Philadelphia Phillies in the NL East Division Series, winning the first two games at home. But the Phillies came back to win in Philadelphia Friday and Saturday, forcing the fifth and final game. In that contest in Philadelphia, the Expos were sparked by Game 1 winner Steve Rogers, who pitched a six-hitter and drove in the game-winning runs in a 3-0 victory. That game was the only one in the total of 10 NL division playoff games in which the visiting team won.

The Expos win in Dodger Stadium about as often as Julia Child burns toast: they've lost 18 of their last 19 games in Los Angeles.

"We got our fannies kicked against the Dodgers this season," admitted first baseman Warren Cromartie. "But it's a new series now. We're looking at it one game at a time. They're playing good at home, but we're playing well at home, too. It'll be a very interesting five games, I think."

NL Playoff

All-Star center fielder Andre Dawson also said the Expos face tough assignments Tuesday and Wednesday before heading back to Montreal.

"A split here would be very desirable," Dawson said. "We haven't beaten the Dodgers in quite awhile, but I know anything can happen in a five-game series. They'll be keyed up, especially after winning three in a row and opening in their home ballpark."

The Expos will be boosted by the return of speedsters Tim Lincecum and Rodney Scott. Raines sustained a broken hand Sept. 13 and has been used only as pinch runner since then. Scott injured his shoulder near the end of the regular season and didn't see any action against the Phillies.

Raines wound up stealing 71 games in 82 tries and hit .304.

Asked what Raines was going to mean to his club, Expos' manager Jim Fanning said, "It's going to make it a little more interesting for us."

"Having those guys back will give us the speed we need," said Dawson. "It will mean better pitches for me to hit. We've had great success stealing against the Dodgers this year. (Dodger catcher) Mike Sciosia was one of the first to ever throw Raines out, but he did it when he was stealing third and I was stealing second."

The Dodgers, who will get a lift with the return of third baseman Ron Cey, are confident they can negate the Expos' speed and win both games.

Howard Next To Go; Gossage Makes Yanks Favorite

NEW YORK (UPI) — The next manager to go will be big Frank Howard of the San Diego Padres, making him the 10th one to depart this season.

Never before have so many big-league managers been axed in the same year. Of all those who left, only Bobby Mattick of the Toronto Blue Jays went voluntarily. He quit. All the rest were fired.

Mattick, executive coordinator of baseball operations with the Blue Jays now after moving back into their front office, will have a great deal to say about who succeeds him. He'll be conducting the interviews and reporting his findings to club president Peter Bavasi and vice president Pat Gillick.

Former Atlanta Manager Bobby Cox remains the top candidate for the Blue Jays' job, although Joe Torre, Gene Michael and Jimmy Frey also are being considered.

Forget about Bill Virdon leaving the Houston Astros. His contract with them still has two years to go and president and general manager Al Rosen says his job is "absolutely safe." Commenting on the Astros' loss to the Dodgers in the division playoffs, Rosen has no knocks whatsoever against any of his players. "They all performed well when the game was on the line," he says. "Our pitching was especially gratifying. Nolan Ryan was superb; Davey Smith was unbelievably effective and Vern Riffe didn't deserve to lose."

Brewers catcher Ted Simmons likes the Yankees over the A's in the American League series. "Oakland has the better starting pitchers but whatever New York lacks — and it is very little — is compensated for by its bullpen," he says. "If they had (Goose) Gossage, there'd be no question in my mind they'd win. They don't have anyone like him, though, so I have to go with the Yankees."

Gossage, incidentally, downplays his own contribution, which was considerable, in the Yankees' advance to where they are now. "You've heard Reggie (Jackson) say he's the straw that stirs the drink," Gossage offers. "Well, he's right. He's the one that makes us go, not me. He's the backbone of this ballclub."

Milton Richman

If the Montreal Expos go all the way, in all likelihood Jim Fanning will manage them again next year. If they're beaten somewhere along the line, he probably will return to the front office. Fanning's success so far, coupled with what Dallas Green did for the Phillies after coming out of their front office, is making a lot of baseball people reassess their general thinking about managers. Instead of going around searching for them, they may have a better one than they could possibly find anywhere right upstairs.

Nobody took the Brewers' defeat by the Yankees any harder than owner Bud Selig, who had tears in his eyes at the end. "I've never been so proud of my players in my life," he said after they were eliminated at Yankee Stadium Sunday night. "They didn't curl up and die like some people thought they would. I love every last one of them." George Steinbrenner made it a special point to congratulate Selig and general manager Harry Dalton over the Brewers' showing against his Yankees, even in a losing cause. "Don't quit, don't give up," the Yankees' boss said to Selig, embracing him in the Brewers' clubhouse after their fifth-game loss. "You have a helluva team and they're gonna win it all one day."

Injured Fourcade Will See Action

Powell Starts For Ole Miss Against Gators Saturday

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI) — Sophomore quarterback Kelly Powell will draw the starting assignment Saturday when Ole Miss collides with Florida, but Rebel Coach Steve Sloan says senior John Fourcade may see action despite a painful rib injury.

Earlier, Fourcade had been listed as doubtful for the Ole Miss-Florida game to be played at Gainesville.

Sloan told his weekly news conference Monday that Powell will start Saturday "and freshman Kent Austin may get to see action depending on the game situation."

But he didn't rule out the possibility Fourcade, the Rebels' No. 1 quarterback the past two and a half years, will get in the game. Fourcade is nursing a rib injury he received last week in Ole Miss' 37-7 loss to Georgia.

Trainer LeRoy Mullins said the senior signal caller had a cartilage separation involving two ribs on the left side.

"Initially, we didn't think he (Fourcade) would be able to play this week but now we feel he may be able to," Sloan said. "He will have to wear a flak jacket or some other type of protective equipment."

Fourcade led the Southeastern Conference in total offense the past two years, but has been slowed by injuries this season. He broke a bone in his throwing hand playing softball before the season started and saw limited action in the first two games. He returned to the starting lineup against Memphis State.

Powell opened against Tulane and South Carolina — the first two games — and alternated with Austin against Georgia after Fourcade went down in the second quarter.

Sloan also said tailback Buford McGee, who did not play against Georgia, is still nursing an ankle injury and his status for Saturday will be determined after this week's practices.

"Florida has great size, quickness and overall speed. They have a large number of exceptionally great athletes. This will be the fourth game in a row that we have played a team with exceptional people," Sloan said.

The Rebels are 3-3 including consecutive losses to Arkansas, Alabama and Georgia.

Sloan praised linebacker Thomas Hubbard and tight end Greg Walker for their performance in the Georgia game.

Hubbard had 20 tackles against the Bulldogs to give him 105 for the season to lead all Rebel defenders. Walker, a freshman from Meridian, caught two passes for 25 yards and blocked well on running plays.

"Thomas has now played great games every time this season," Sloan said. "At the beginning of the year, we didn't think he would be this good."

"Greg did a good job for a freshman. He played real hard and has a lot of ability," the Rebel coach said.

On another matter, Sloan moved to quash rumors he might leave Ole Miss to take a position with the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

"I'm not going to work for the FCA," he said. Sloan said the statement was in response to recent calls he has received and reports he would accept the position with the organization.

"I like the FCA and am active in what they do but I am not going to work for them, and I just wanted to clear the air," he said.

LMHS Band Boosters To Sponsor 'Gabriel's Brass'

The Lake Mary High School Band Boosters will present a Concert Series beginning Sunday, Oct. 18, at 7 p.m. at Lake Mary High School Auditorium, Longwood-Lake Mary Road off County Road 427.

The Band Boosters will be featuring "Gabriel's Brass", a group of highly talented and entertaining musicians who are regularly seen at Walt Disney World. Admission is $5.00, adults; $3, students. For information call 862-7434.

Juvenile Panel Discussion

The taping of a panel discussion on juvenile justice will be held at Storer TV, State Road 434 and Sand Lake Road, Altamonte Springs, on Friday, Oct. 16, at 7:30 p.m.

The Seminole County league of women voters is sponsoring the panel discussion. The public is welcome. For information, call 365-5823.

Poetry Day Friday

On Poetry Day, Friday, Oct. 16, the DeLand Poet's Group will read original poems from the grandstand in Centennial Park, on Park Avenue, between Fourth Street and Oak, in Sanford, from 11 a.m. until noon.

The public is invited. There is no charge. Those attending are asked to provide their own chairs or blankets for seating.

4-H Leaders Attend Forum

Seminole County sent four, 4-H Volunteer leaders this year to Rock Eagle, Ga. Leaders Pam and Herbert Lowery, Nell Lyles and Donna Pietrewicz left from Orlando by bus for the Southern Regional Volunteer Leadership Forum.

They carried 100 frisbees donated from the Seminole Greyhound Track, 500 orange decals from Kirchman Corporation, key chains, note tablets, emblems, pins, tote bags donated from the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association, 112 foliage plants from Hattaway Nursery and information and entry blanks concerning the Golden Age Games from the Sanford Chamber of Commerce.

These trade items gave the leaders the opportunity to exchange ideas, make friends and barter with other leaders from all over the country and let them know about Seminole County.

During the week the leaders were trained in leadership techniques for working with 4-H youth.

Miss Sherrell Bride Of Dr. John E. Terwilleger

Susan Elaine Sherrell and John Edward Terwilleger, M.D., were married Sept. 5, at 7 p.m. at Faith Free Will Baptist Church, Manchester, Tenn.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Sherrell, Manchester. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Terwilleger, 2519 Hiawatha Ave., Sanford.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her vows, a formal white organza and lace gown fashioned along the empire silhouette with a high neckline and full Bishop sleeves. Bands of lace and satin accented the full skirt which terminated in a chapel sweep.

A lace headpiece secured her tiered veil of imported illusion. She carried a cascade of burgundy silk roses and baby's breath showered with pink and burgundy ribbons.

Loretta Tolliver of Manchester, attended the bride as matron of honor wearing a blue floral print gown. Trish Binkley, Nashville, maid of honor, wore a blue gown. The bridesmaid, Rachel Poff of Nashville, was attired in a beige gown. They carried bouquets of blue silk carnations and baby's breath.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Ushers were Brent Poff, Manchester, and Gregory Poff, Nashville. Groomsmen were Bill Terwilleger and David Terwilleger, brothers of the bridegroom, Sanford.

DR. AND MRS. JOHN TERWILLEGER

Lori Allen, Manchester, was the flower girl. Dr. Terwilleger, a lieutenant in the U.S. Navy, is resident physician at Navy Annex Branch Medical Clinic in Arlington, Va. The bride is a registered nurse.

Gum Addict Can't Break Habit

DEAR ABBY: I am writing about an unusual problem I acquired about six years ago. I am a chain gum-chewer. I chew about 15 to 20 packs of gum every day (after I get off work, that is). I usually chew one piece about five minutes, then I will put another piece in my mouth. I became addicted to chewing gum when I was 17 and trying to lose weight. I chewed gum instead of eating, which was a very unhealthy thing to do. Now that I am slim I can't break the habit of chewing gum. When I try to quit I get dizzy, sick, weak, and my teeth get sore! I must quit chewing gum because the guy I'm in love with says it will give me diabetes. Is that true? I really hate the habit. It's dirtier than smoking, it's also more expensive, and it's embarrassing for a woman my age to go into a store and buy $3 worth of gum. The other day I put $4 in dimes into a gumball machine and some onlookers stared at me like I was crazy. Also, disposing of chewed gum is gross!

Can you help me, Abby? Sign me...

THE SIOUX CITY CHEW-CHEW GIRL.
DEAR CHEW-CHEW:
First, diabetes is not caused by eating too many sweets. (Get "The Diabetic's Book — All Your Questions Answered" by Bierman and Toobey).

You are wise to recognize your gum-chewing habit as an "addiction" because that's exactly what it is.

Try to quit cold turkey — it's by far the best method. If that fails, find a therapist who specializes in behavior modification.

DEAR ABBY: I've heard of students having crushes on their teachers, but have you ever heard of a teacher having a crush on a student?

There's this 15-year-old girl in one of my classes who is a rare beauty. I can't keep my eyes off her. I wonder if other teachers have problems like this. What's to be done? I'm twice her age, and my class is her favorite class. I don't believe in anonymous letters so I will sign my name, but please don't use it.

GOT A CRUSH? Teachers have crushes on students for the same reason students have crushes on teachers: immaturity. What's to be done? Admire her from afar, and keep your eyes, your thoughts (and everything else) off her. Small wonder your class is her "favorite." You've telegraphed your feelings to her, and she got the message.

DEAR ABBY: Does my husband have a problem? He has 83 (I counted them) shirts in his closet and claims he needs them all. He has several sets of "twin" shirts, and several that would pass for triplets.

I took an inventory yesterday, and he has 44 shirts with short sleeves, 21 with long sleeves (light-weight), 15 flannel and three wool! There is no room in the closet for his pants, and I dare not give (or throw) away even one shirt. Any ideas on what to do?

JEAN IN ORANGE, CALIF.

DEAR JEAN: Why do anything? Let him live like the pack rat that he is, and when he's sufficiently crowded or inconvenienced, he'll remedy the situation.

DEAR EDITH: Glad you feel better, but for my part, anyone who panics in traffic, is freaked out by freeways and lacks the patience, nerve or coordination to drive does the rest of society a favor by not driving.

DEAR ABBY: I can sure feel for PATTY IN TACOMA, who's 25 and looks like 17. I've got the same problem, although I'm only 13 and get treated like I'm 9.

When I walk into a restaurant, I'm handed a "kiddie menu." Please don't tell me I'll appreciate looking young eventually. I've heard that so many times I could scream!

And please ask your readers not to ask us small, thin people if we have "anorexia." We're perfectly healthy — we're just small.

There are advantages to being small, however. How many 6-footers do you know who can crawl under a locked bathroom door in the airport and unlock it for all those little ole ladies who forgot to bring their dimes?

SMALL BUT USEFUL. IN TUCSON

Anti-Semitism Making A Comeback Worldwide?

By FREDERICK KIEL
 United Press International
 Police tie the blindfolded prisoner to a chair and methodically torture him with electric shocks. They scream "Jew... Jew... Jew!" while clapping their hands in rhythmic like children. It is Argentina, 1977.
 Half a world away, nine "Zionists" are marched before a firing squad. They are executed on charges of spying for Israel in the latest of a series of death sentences carried out against the nation's Jewish minority. It is Iran, 1981.

A bomb explodes outside a crowded synagogue and kills four passersby. There are charges of police indifference to catching the killers, suspected neo-Nazis. Paris, 1980.
 French Premier Raymond Barre stirs an uproar in France after the bombing by saying it was "aimed at Jews worshipping in a synagogue (but) struck four innocent Frenchmen," referring to the non-Jews killed in the blast.

A UPI world survey of recent anti-Semitic violence has raised the question of whether these attacks are part of a new pattern or are unrelated incidents in a centuries-old discrimination that has scarred the conscience of many nations.
 Simon Wiesenthal, head of the Jewish Documentation Center in Vienna and famous for tracking down Nazi war criminals, believes the world does face a reemergence of violent anti-Semitism.

"While the '70s were the years of leftist terrorism, the '80s will be the years of the rightist terrorism that may well develop into new Nazi danger," Wiesenthal said last month.
 He and others also have pointed to international ties among the new extreme rightwing groups in Europe, the United States, Canada and South America that increase the danger.

The strongest charges of anti-Semitism in recent years have been lodged against Argentina's military regime by Jacobo Timerman, formerly one of the nation's most important newspaper publishers and editors.

That career came to an abrupt end in April 1977 when 20 armed men in civilian clothes captured Timerman and dragged him away blindfolded on the floor of an automobile. He spent the next 2 1/2 years under arrest, the first six months in solitary confinement during which he says he was beaten, tortured repeatedly with electric shocks, questioned intensively about his Jewish background.

In 1979 Timerman was stripped of his citizenship and expelled to Israel, where he wrote a recently published book on his prison experiences, "Prisoner without a Name, Cell without a Number."

In the book, which has stirred widespread controversy, Timerman says Argentine Nazis seized control of the nation's security services during the crackdown on leftist terrorism after the 1976 military coup and used their power to wage an anti-Semitic campaign equal to that of Nazi Germany.

"It's curious, the extent to which the recent years in Argentina have repeated—in a different geographical context, another culture, another period, another calendar moment—the world of terror, hatred, madness, and delirium that governed the Hitlerian epoch in Germany," Timerman said in his book.

He wrote that pictures of Adolf Hitler hung on the walls of many interrogation rooms in Argentine prisons, that Jewish women prisoners were more often raped than non-Jews, and that Jewish inmates were subjected to harsher penalties and torture than others incarcerated for suspected terrorism.

"The military government that took power in Argentina in March 1976 arrived with an all-embracing arsenal of Nazi ideology as part of its structure," he said.
 Most Argentine Jewish leaders do not support Timerman's charges, although they admit there is a degree of anti-Semitism in the country, including the celebration of secret masses in honor of Hitler and an allegedly anti-Semitic morality code for public schools. The code was modified last year after Jewish protests.

"We are convinced that the origin of his (Timerman's) detention was not his having been a Jew," said Mario Gorenstein, a prominent Jewish leader in Buenos Aires. "Some of the incidents that surrounded his detention were anti-Semitic in flavor, but that is all."

"The truth is that our nation is no more anti-Semitic now than it was 15 years ago and there is less than there was 35 years ago," said Raul Kraiselburd, independent publisher of El Dia newspaper in La Plata.

In addition, Israel, at the height of the alleged wave of terror in 1978, began selling weapons to Argentina in a military relationship that still continues.

An Israeli official, questioned about Timerman's charges, would say only that anti-Semitism has not increased in Argentina recently.

"The publication of Timerman's book has neither exacerbated nor alleviated the problem, which has existed in Argentina for more than 30 years," the official, who did not want his name used, said. "There is no change."

Nazi-hunter Wiesenthal investigated the case and told UPI, "Timerman was arrested on charges of sympathizing with leftist terrorists, not because he is a Jew. However, during his 2 1/2 years in jail he was more tortured than others because he is Jewish. This is my firm belief."

While doubt exists in Argentina about the extent of anti-Semitism, the fate of Jews in Iran since the success of the 1979 Islamic revolution is clear.
 "There has been a general discrimination against Jews resulting in a breakdown of their business and social structure," said a longtime observer of Iran.

Dozens of Iranian Jews labeled "Zionists" have been executed on charges of aiding Israel, including the nine shot on a single day in July in Tabriz.

Many of the executed Jews, like plastics magnate and newspaper publisher Habib Elghanian, rose to prominence under the regime of the ousted shah, which fueled the suspicion of the Islamic militants now in power.

Across Europe in recent years there has been a series of incidents some say points to a resurgence of anti-Semitism, made more dangerous by increased police involvement and apparent international connections among the rightist terrorists.

In March of this year the police chief of the West German town of Recklinghausen was suspended after neo-Nazi leaflets were found in his home.

In France, policeman Paul-Louis Durand was suspended for belonging to France's leading neo-fascist organization and for visiting extremists in Italy just before the bombing of the Bologna train station, in August 1980 that killed 85 people, though he was not implicated in the bombing.

A right-wing Spanish extremist was arrested last month in France for the October bomb attack on the Paris synagogue. The French Communist newspaper L'Humanite charged the suspect led a gang of Spanish terrorists in the attack.

Increased anti-Semitic attacks in France since 1978 include the assassination of three Jews, the March 1979 bombing of a kosher restaurant frequented by students that injured 30 people, and a fresh surge in defamations of synagogues and Jewish cemeteries.
 The week before the bombing of the Rue Copernic synagogue, extremists fired shots against the walls of two other Paris synagogues. After Copernic, a synagogue was burned at Drancy, which was the holding center for Jews being deported to Nazi camps during World War II.

 The tiny right-wing group Falceaux Nationalistes Europeens (National European Fascists), said to be linked with extreme rightwing groups in Italy and South America, claimed responsibility for some of the attacks.

On August 1, Gergart Baum, West German interior minister, said that neo-Nazism has been gaining strength steadily in West Germany since 1974 and that "small, militant neo-Nazi groups" were responsible for an increased number of violent incidents every year.
 Baum blamed the 1980 bombing of the Munich Oktober carnival, which killed 13 people and injured 200 others, on members of the rightist Sports Group Hoffman, which he banned. He said the extreme rightist German Action Group was responsible for the August 1980 bombing of a refugee center in Hamburg that killed two Vietnamese.

Anti-Semitic tracts are smuggled into West Germany from the United States and Canada, Baum's ministry says. The ministry says it has traced tens of thousands of stickers and posters bearing the swastika and anti-Semitic leaflets to the American Nazi party of Gary Rex Lauck of Lincoln, Neb.

Nazi hunter Wiesenthal has said that Lauck, who spent four months in a West German prison, also has ties to British and Belgium fascist groups.

Despite the involvement of American Nazi groups abroad, a recent study commissioned by the American Jewish Committee showed a significant decline in anti-Semitism within the United States in the past 20 years.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Osteoporosis Cure Still Unfounded

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — The doctors say I have softening of the bones which they call osteoporosis. Each morning when I get up my back feels perfect. I do not have a dowager's hump and my back is straight. I can walk 10 blocks and ride many miles without pain. The pain is only on the left side about 15 inches from my left shoulder. It is very severe if I stoop or lift. I can't make beds. I'm 79 years old.

New England Journal of Medicine (Volume 303: 1195, 1980).

You will get a more complete picture of this common problem in The Health Letter number 6-10, Osteoporosis: Bone Softening, which I am sending you.

Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Let your doctor worry about your risk of cancer of the uterus. With regular checkups he can minimize any danger you might have.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently I lost about 40 pounds in four months. I feel fine — no weakness or any other ill effects. The problem is around my waist and hips. I look like a Bassett hound. How long does it take for the excess human skin to shrink? I am aware that age plays a role in skin elasticity and its ability to snap back, so to speak. I am a 28-year-old male.

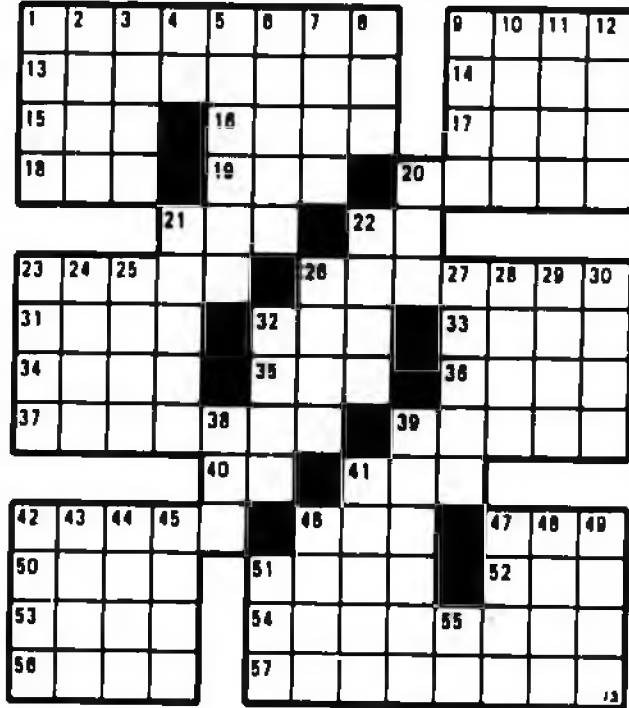

DEAR READER — Congratulations on your weight loss. A rapid large weight loss is more likely to produce the sagging effect you are concerned about. And even if young skin is over-stretched it may not "snap back" all the way. Give it a year while you exercise and adjust your life style to stabilize your weight. (I usually recommend waiting a year also to be sure you don't regain your weight.) If you still have too much skin you may need to have it surgically removed. That may not appeal to you but sometimes that is the only way excess skin can be eliminated.

I want your opinion on the medicines my doctor is giving me. I take Os-Cal, vitamin D, Premarin and Luride (a fluoride tablet). My back has not changed in three years according to the X-rays, but the doctor wrote that the most that can be done is to stop the progression. I'm worried about taking the Premarin because of a leaflet with it that said it could cause cancer of the uterus.

DEAR READER — You are being treated about like many patients are who have osteoporosis and it sounds like you have done well and have a good doctor.

There are continuing changes in thinking about osteoporosis which is so common and causes dowager's humps and other problems. It has been generally taught that if you stop the disease you are doing very well. Doctors at the University of Washington report that calcitonin, a different type of hormone related to how your body handles calcium, is more effective than estrogens and another hormone, stanazolol (Winstrol) may even reverse bone loss.

It is important to treat osteoporosis, as it is a major reason for older people to have "brittle bones" that cause hip fractures and other fractures to result from small falls. Such fractures are reported to be 50 to 60 percent less common in women who take an estrogen preparation, as you are now doing. This was recently reported in the

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, October 14, 1981

Your Birthday
October 14, 1981
This is not the year to change horses in midstream. Stay with those activities you have already begun and see them through. The rewards will be there if you do.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Gains are possible today in a situation where you share an interest, but only if you become an active participant in what needs doing. Romance, travel, luck, resources, possible pitfalls and career for the coming months are all discussed in your Astro-Graph which begins with your birthday. Mail #1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
If you wish to advance your interests today, team up with one you know to be a loyal friend. He or she will not let you down.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Persistence can go a long way today toward helping you accomplish your tasks. If you keep your nose to the grindstone, you'll turn out excellent goods.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Someone you may meet socially today could turn out to be a valuable and lasting contact. Make a concerted effort to strike up a good rapport with this person.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
Pace yourself wisely today. You have a reservoir of strength, but you can do a better job if you don't have to release your energy all at once.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
You'll have the patience today to tackle mental chores, so put aside your physical activities and get those brain-teasing tasks out of the way.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Stable conditions today make it a good time to develop any plans which could enhance your security or add to your resources. Concentrate in these areas.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Activities or things affecting you directly can be favorably advanced today. If there is some personal matter which should be taken care of, do it now.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Although you normally like to be among people, today you'll be much happier in a secluded atmosphere. Find a corner where you can be yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
You might get the opportunity today to lay a few bricks toward building a firmer foundation where a hope or wish is concerned. Construct now for a better future.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Patience and tenacity are what you need today if you hope to achieve your goals. Take things one step at a time and you'll accomplish your purposes.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
When you approach matters practically today, the results will be rewarding. Be creative, but also be logical and realistic.

111 for the United States. This low IMP total shows what a fine match it was. There were swings, but hand after hand reflected the skill of both teams at arriving at proper contracts and then playing the hands to identical results.

Here we see both teams at the same four-heart contract against the same four of clubs lead. Each dummy played the jack and South's ace won over East's queen.

Each declarer studied the hand for a while and finally decided that he couldn't afford to try a trump safety play. So the ace and king of hearts were led. When both opponents followed the hand was a laydown.

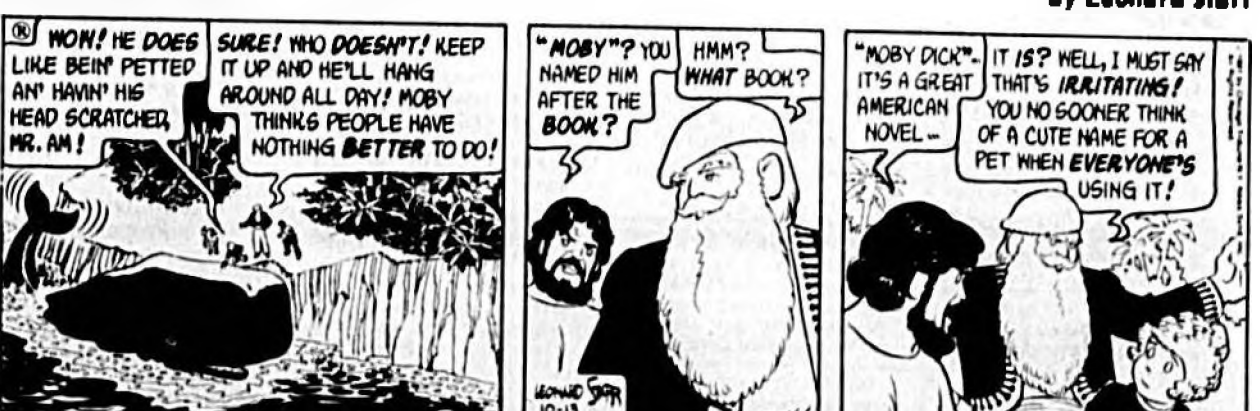

Each declarer tried for an overtrick by leading the eight of clubs but each West player went right up with his king to foil that attempt. Then he cashed the queen of trumps on which each East discarded the three of spades. Not that anything mattered at that stage. Each West was going to take a trick with his spade ace and each declarer scored his game.
