

SEMINOLE'S REPRESENTATIVE WILL KNOW THE WANTS OF THE PEOPLE OF THIS COUNTY

LEGISLATION THAT WILL BE PREDIGESTED BEFORE BEING CHEWED

Seminole county has taken the lead of all the counties in the state in the matter of preparing legislation for the county and for the state before the legislature meets. This idea originated with Hon. E. A. Douglass, clerk of the circuit court, who has had experience in the assembly and who knows how difficult it is for the members of the legislature to know just what their constituents want unless they are informed beforehand. Discussing this before the meeting of the county commissioners and the school board one day last week Mr. Douglass unfolded his plan for the appointment of committees on all important legislation and the plan was immediately endorsed by these boards with the result that it will be adopted by the people of this county and other counties in the state. The plan is simple and efficient. It means that committees have been named to take up all the important legislation and these committees will take up these questions with the people of every precinct in the county. The committee on Agriculture for instance composed of farmers will meet with the farmers and every idea that can be advanced for the benefit of the farmers will be discussed and the bills framed in shape for passage in the legislature. All other matters will be handled in the same manner and the man who is elected to the legislature from this county will know exactly what his constituents want and the bills will be framed for him.

In other words the representative of this county next year will know what his people want and he can be governed accordingly. It is the very essence of good government, of democratic principles, of the greatest good for the greatest number.

At a meeting of the advisory committee, composed of Hon. F. P. Forster, Hon. L. A. Brumley and Hon. E. A. Douglass, with the committee's attendants, Secretary H. C. DuBose and Attorney Schelle Maines as named by the boards of county commissioners and public instruction for Seminole county, Florida, as a committee to make the numerous special and general legislation committees to work out the plan of legislation and suggest any changes or other helpful matters with the present laws, or to suggest new laws, the following committees were named, as follows, to-wit:

- Agricultural: L. A. Brumley, chairman, G. E. Smith, T. I. Hawkins, John Herby, Roy Symes, Ed. Putnam, Jno. Meach, Jas. A. Johnson, Jr., J. Hartley, Jr., Howard Lyman, P. A. Redditt, J. E. Partin, C. D. Brumley and L. A. Sheldon.

Assessment and Equalization of Taxes: A. Vaughan, chairman, Jno. D. Jinkins, F. L. Woodruff, E. H. Kilbee and E. A. Douglass.

General Legislation: F. P. Forster, chairman, Forrest Lake, Schelle Maines, E. A. Douglass, O. P. Swope, J. J. Dickinson, F. L. Woodruff, E. H. Kilbee, C. A. Dallas, L. G. Stringfellow, L. P. Hagan, C. F. Harrison, C. W. Entzminger, G. W. Spencer, P. M. Elder, R. J. Holly, J. D. Stevenson, E. F. Householder, H. R. Stevens, Geo. A. Cottles, D. R. Brisson, Thos. E. Wilson, E. E. Brady, A. K. Powers, A. Vaughan.

The above committees were named by the advisory committee as above stated, with a full committee present, attended by its attendants aformentioned, at a meeting held in the First National Bank at 3 o'clock, Friday afternoon, Feb. 8th, 1918. Schelle Maines, Attorney.

Lecture at Methodist Church

Dr. Edwin Hall, editor-traveler and lecturer, whose eloquence has charmed large audiences in almost every part of our nation will speak at the First Methodist church, Tuesday evening, the 19th inst., at 7 o'clock. His subject is "The Evolution of a Girl." This lecture is very humorous, pithy, pungent, practical and pleasing. Young women ought to hear it. It will make them happier and better. Young men should listen to it with pleasure and profit. In short, parents and children, old and young should avail themselves of the opportunity to listen to this great lecture which has been delivered in Boston, New York, Baltimore, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco and man Los Angeles and San Francisco, and many other smaller cities and towns. No admission fee will be charged, but a silver offering will be taken. Remember time and place—First Methodist church, next Tuesday evening, 7 p. m.

Mrs. Brownlee Improving

Word comes from Orlando that Mrs. E. D. Brownlee is greatly improved. Mrs. Brownlee has been ill for several months and her condition was such that an operation was thought necessary and she was taken to Orlando last Friday where Dr. McEwan performed the operation Saturday morning. It was successful and she has made a steady improvement since that time and her many friends are rejoiced to know that she will soon recover and soon be restored to home and family.

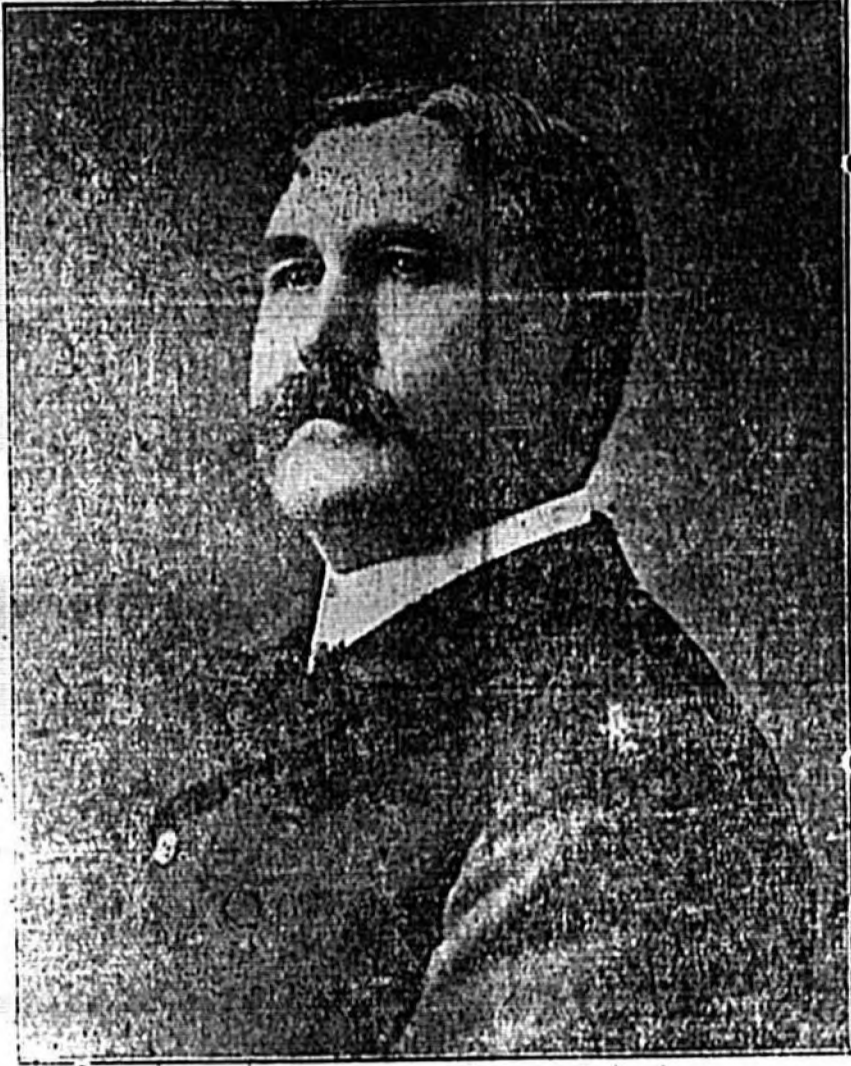

Perkins Will Move

The many Sanford friends of Mr. and Mrs. Braxton Perkins will be sorry to learn that they will remove to Daytona Beach in a few weeks where Mr. Perkins will engage in the gent's furnishing and clothing lines. He is having a sale here now to dispose of his stock before moving and after that he will pack up and go to the beach. His many friends here hate to lose him and his charming family but wish them success in their new home.

Mrs. Brownlee's many friends will regret to learn that she is quite ill at McEwan's sanitarium in Orlando.

BEACHAM WILL BE HERETICK ERADICATION FOR SEMINOLE COUNTY ELECTION TO BE CALLED

STATE FOOD DIRECTOR WILL TALK ON FOOD QUESTION AT COURT HOUSE THURSDAY NIGHT

At a meeting of the board of governors of the Sanford Board of Trade last night Mr. T. S. Huff, the newly appointed county food director asked for the cooperation of the Board of Trade in his efforts to uphold the hands of the government and wanted the presence of Hon. Braxton Beacham of Orlando here on a night to be chosen by the board. The government arranged at once for Mr. Beacham to address the people of Seminole county here at the court house next Thursday night at 8 o'clock. The address will be along the lines of food conservation and the ladies as well as the men are especially invited to attend. The merchants of the county are especially interested in this meeting and all of them are cordially invited to be here Thursday night.

BENEFIT ENTERTAINMENT INCREASE IN PRODUCTION

Lycium Directors Ask Public To Help Them Florida Farmers Are Expected To Help Nation

Owing to the expense of the Lycium Course and not as large sale of season tickets as was anticipated, the financiers of the undertaking find themselves embarrassed to the extent of at least $75. This amount will have to be paid immediately after the last and final entertainment is given by the Honolulu Attraction, date of their appearance not yet definitely known. To relieve the embarrassment above stated, the local musical and other entertaining talent of this city have very kindly come to the rescue and will unite in a delightful evening of song, recitation, instrumentalation, etc., fun and pathos on the evening of Tuesday, March 12. There will be numbers by the Ladies' Chorus whose singing is such a pleasure to their listeners, a chorus of gentlemen with not only melody but fetching song bits, organ selections by Mrs. Takach, sonnets by Mrs. Herndon, readings, sonnets, quartets and many other prime attractions, including Mrs. McGuinn in her pleasing specialties. Particulars will be stated in The Herald later.

Recruiting Station Opens

The local Army Recruiting Station is located in the Yowell-Speer building and is ready for the acceptance of applicants in all lines of the regular and national armies, for both white and colored men between the ages of 18 and 21 and 31 to 41 years. Men with previous military experience may be accepted over that age, providing they pass the required physical examination. All lines of the service are now open for enlistment and practically any trade a man may have in civil life the army will accept him at his trade. We will appreciate the calling of any one seeking information. Our station will be open daily.

Good Seed Important

Good seed is one of the most important factors in large crop yields. All seed should be tested before planting, and any showing a low percentage of germination should be discarded and better seed used. Clarence Mahoney spent several days at home this past week. Clarence was just out of the hospital. He reports army life as the greatest ever.

Fields that are now growing oats, rye or any other small grain crops, should be worked with a weeder or harrow several times during the month of March. This will not only help the growing crops but will tend toward a higher temperature in the soil, in other words will warm up the soil to the extent that it will give the crops that are somewhat backward a boost. Where possible an application as top dressing of 100 to 200 pounds per acre of nitrate of soda on oat and rye fields would be advisable and would prove a good investment. However this material is so difficult to get that we will have to make up for its lack by extra cultivation. The government is very anxious to get an increase of all crops for this year, and every available inch of soil should be put into cultivation and kept there by crop rotation.

The sweet potato crop has been to a large extent neglected. This must not be the case this year. Right now all the beds for the production of draws should be made in a warm location where they can be protected during the cold snaps that may occur, to the end that the draws will be available not later than the first week in April. The bulk of this crop should be planted not later than the 20th of June. Last year's experiences should be taken as an object lesson of the poor results obtained by late planting of this crop. Farmers should be impressed with the fact that we are living in war times when everyone is expected to do his utmost to the end of producing all the crops possible on his farm.

Vernon Castle Killed. Fort Worth, Texas, Feb. 15.—Capt. Vernon Castle of the English Fly corps was killed today in the fall of his airplane. Castle's plane, in which he was instructing a student, was flying near the ground, when another machine, manned by a cadet, approached. Seeing that a collision was imminent, Castle undertook what aviators call an "immelman turn," but the machine failed to respond and fell to earth. Castle never regained consciousness but died in the field hospital twenty minutes after the fall. At the time of the accident Castle was in the front seat of the plane, instructing his pupil, instead of the rear where the instructor usually sits. Had he been in the rear seat he probably would not have been injured. Benbrook field, where the accident occurred is 15 miles west of this city. Castle had made 150 flights over the German lines and was the hero of many exploits in the war zone. His work had been especially active on the Flanders front and covered a period of nine months. He came to Fort Worth last October with Lord Lellsley.

Basket Ball Notes

The Sanford High School girls are still in the race for the state championship in basketball which has taken on such a complex nature this year. Last Friday night the Sanford girls met and defeated the Stetson University team with the score of 24 to 10. It was a pretty game from start to finish with the Sanford players always in the lead. The Sanford girls got to see their first game of girls basket ball this year because the Duval team played the same night in the Stetson gymnasium against the DeLand High School and defeated them with a large score. Next Friday the Sanford girls go to Jacksonville to play the Duval High School at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The following girls took part in the game last Friday night: May Thrasher, Cora Lee Tillis, Helen Peck, Helen Hand, Dorothy Rumph, Ethel Henry. Jor Barchan from Jacksonville refereed the game.

Time to Make More Garden

It is never too late to make garden in Florida, says C. K. McQuarrie of the University of Florida extension division. But that does not mean that just anything can be planted at just any time with promise of a good crop resulting. Just now is a good time to plant purple top white globe turnips and white flesh rutabagas. Prepare the soil for these much as is done for ordinary garden crop, raking the soil, scattering the fertilizer, raking it in, and then planting the seed. Mustard is the standard plant for greens and it can be planted in February. Neither is it too late for English peas if they are planted right away. The Gradus variety is the best for this planting.

OTHER COUNTIES ADJOINING HAVE PASSED THE LAW

Compulsory tick eradication according to government specifications will be the next move in Seminole county. At an early date an election will be called after sufficient names have been signed to a petition circulated for that purpose and the board of county commissioners will be asked to call the election. Every other county that borders on Seminole county will soon have the tick eradication and this county will be alone in the "ticky area" unless the progressive farmers and cattle raisers and lovers of high grade stock take the matter into their own hands and call for government supervision and dipping of cattle. The time has passed for any more discussion pro and con on this important matter. It has been proved beyond any reasonable doubt that cattle cannot be raised here with profit by the man who is anxious to raise blooded stock as long as the cattle tick is allowed to flourish by the people who do not want tick eradication and many of them do not want it because they do not want to give in their cattle. Cattle dipping and the no fence law will come to Seminole county in the next few years and when these improvements do come this county will not only be the best cattle and hog county but the best farming county in the state. It takes a long time to allow these ideas to sink into the minds of some people and they fight to the last minute the idea of ticks and fences but the steady march of civilization will overcome their ancient ideas in this state just as it has in every other state and those who oppose the tick eradication and no fence laws now in after years will bless the people who advocated these new and progressive ideas.

SEMINOLE WINNERS

People Who Helped This County by Having Exhibits at Orlando

There were so many progressive and public spirited people who gave their time and attention and products to the making of a fine display at the fair at Orlando last week that many of them are apt to be overlooked. Our attention, however, has been called to the following who deserve special mention: First prize on tomatoes, Mrs. W. W. Van Ness; first prize on general collection of canned vegetables and fruit, Mrs. O. W. Wolcott of Oviedo. On the only collection of dried fruits and vegetables Mrs. Frank Johnson of Paola attracted much attention of people all over the state and also on many canned goods. This stuff was not listed and Mrs. Johnson could not take any prize, but deserved them. Mrs. Julius Takach, Mrs. George C. McDougal and Mrs. W. W. Dressor had splendid collections of fruits and vegetables and took many ribbons. Seminole county women responded nobly and generously in collecting fruits and vegetables and all of them deserve great credit as the time was short and Mrs. C. M. Berry had but little time to get the exhibits and arrange for them but these ladies are to be complimented on their great displays.

"The Million Dollar Doll" MUSICAL COMEDY THE LYRIC

Dollar Doll" 40 PEOPLE 3 BIG ACTS

PRETTY GIRLS GOOD SINGING TONIGHT

"THE MILLION DOLLAR DOLL" AT THE LYRIC TONIGHT

AMUSEMENT

"The Million Dollar Doll" coming to the Lyric tonight is an imaginative, melodious, tuneful musical extravaganza, regally arrayed in costumes of great beauty and variety, presenting a picture of color, light, movement and melody almost beyond imagination. The changes of costume and scenes are bewildering in their frequency and the final picture of the famous "Joy Zone" at the Panama Exposition and illumination of the "Tower of Jewels" presents as brilliant a spectacle as anyone could desire. Tuneful songs, that will start your feet a-going, hilarious dancing by people who have forgotten all their troubles and look only for the gaieties of life, costumes of great splendor presenting a riot of color and beauty, all presented by a company of people who look only upon the gay side of life, carry the audience along until one can almost imagine he is really on the Joy Zone at the Exposition. It is one of the biggest musical offerings of the season and in every way, represents the very best in musical extravaganza.

To-Night

Harvey D. Orr will offer the patrons of the Lyric the merry musical comedy, "The Million Dollar Doll." This new musical offering has been described as a jingling, joyful comedy with sparkling music and pretty girls.

The cast is headed by Messrs. Bushy and Burch, two comedians who stand in the front rank of fun makers and are supported by a cast of principals, all of whom have won recognition in the best musical comedy of the day. A chorus of 25, real singers and dancers, with a rightful title of "Bakery Chorus" make the cast and chorus of unequalled merit.

Costumes of dazzling beauty, sensational dances, sparkling music and a number of the latest novelties go to make up an evening's entertainment which is hard to surpass.

Just laughs, jolly tunes and pretty girls is what the management claim and this claim has never yet been disputed.

"The Million Dollar Doll"

The plot of "The Million Dollar Doll" which will be presented at the Lyric tonight is a novel one and well suited to musical comedy. The guardian of a very beautiful young lady has invested her money in a "wonderful smoke consumer" which does not prove a great success and they are about to lose all their money when they hit upon the plan of taking the young lady to the Panama Exposition and have her compete for a ten thousand dollar prize which is to be awarded to the most beautiful "Doll" in the world. They go to California by way of the Panama Canal which gives opportunity for the great "boat scene" which has been pronounced as the most elaborate ship scene ever offered the public. The last act of the play takes place on the famous "Joy Zone" at the exposition where "Doll" wins the prize and is awarded the ten thousand dollars.

The Knitter's Pace
(By Nora Archibald Smith of the Vigilantes.)

What change has come in women's looks

In these last woeful days? What face is this that critics claim is seen upon our ways? The "Knitter's Face?" What term is this?

How may it be defined? What force has moulded flesh and blood; What passions of the mind?

Should one describe the "Knitter's Face,"

He'd tell it first of all, A serious face, with steadfast chin, Firm moulded as a wall; Brows tensely drawn, eyes downward bent, Lips puckered close with care, Concentrated on the pressing task She's pledged herself to bear.

Behind this modern knitter's face, What thoughts arise and surge, With aching hearts, what bitter griefs, What tears forbid to urge! No more than soldier in the trench May she lament or moan; The "Knitter's Face" is a fighter's face, Although she fight at home.

The coal situation is getting very acute, isn't it?" asked ma, as she looked over the morning paper.

"Yes," said Peggy, "I was reading where Mr. Stomorrow, the fuel demonstrator is trying to get coal from the minds."

"But the paper says there is a shortage of anthrax coal," interrupted ma, "and that we should use voluminous coal."

"Not voluminous, ma," corrected Peggy, "buutoomany" coal!"

"I don't care what they call it," said ma, "you can't get any anyhow. It's just too aggregating for words. A pound of sugar or a hod of coal today is worth more than all wealth of the ancient inkstands."

"Who were them?" asked Peggy.

"Them was Indians as used to live down in Texaco," ma told her. "It does look as if this would never terminal."

"It will be terrible if the Russings continue their armature with the Germans, wouldn't it, ma?"

"Oh, he's a terrible, terrible man," sighed ma.

"Whom is?" asked Peggy.

"Why," said ma, "as she went to get dinner, "who but the keyser?"—Joe Toye in the Post Post.

As the war progresses we should be giving more of our time and attention to the serious part of this life and less to the frivolous and this means that all of us should get right down to business and assist the army and navy in every way. We could do twice as much real good if we would get down to the real part of life. How many of the ladies are doing something to help win the war. Some there are who have no relatives in the conflict are inclined to live as they did before the war started and who want to have the same pleasures and good times that they were wont to enjoy. The man or woman who wishes to live now as he or she did before the war is a slacker of the worst type. None of us can live as we formerly lived and none of us should attempt it and those of us who realize this should promptly frown down any one who attempts to make light of this serious subject.

After viewing the Seminole county display at the fair at Orlando I am more than convinced that Seminole county should cast about for a good location for a fair grounds and start having a fair here every year. We could start in a modest way and add to the proposition every year. County fairs are not good commercial enterprises and few of them pay dividends—that is the dividends should go for improvements each year and those who put their money into them are patriots more or less. But it does seem to me that there should be enough patriotic people in this county who could put up enough money to start this fair going next season. Think about it.

Woman's Building At State Fair Will Be Most Attractive

One of the most attractive buildings at the Florida State Fair and Exposition which will be held in Jacksonville from February 25 to March 9, 1918, inclusive, and one which will house those articles of handicraft and achievements of the gentler sex, will be the Woman's Building.

Beautiful and varied exhibits, including model home arts, embracing all lines of domestic science and economics; everything of the ideas of the women of Florida, will be displayed to advantage and attract the attention of the multitudes and committees of women will await the visitors to see that they are well taken care of. A state board of prominent women will have supervision of this department of the exhibition, and nothing will be left undone to make the department a benefit to the visitor.

Poultry Lovers Will Marvel At Mammoth Exhibit At State Fair

Poultry lovers and fanciers as well as the casual visitor to the big Florida State Fair and Exposition, which will be held in Jacksonville from February 25 to March 9, 1918, inclusive, will marvel at the mammoth exhibit of all kinds and breeds of fowl, as well as at the modern buildings which are used to house these domestic creatures, that will be shown in miniature.

The prize birds exhibited at the December poultry show in Jacksonville will be placed on display at the big state fair, and the Northern visitor to Florida will be able to see the enormous strides made in the State along these lines. To miss the State Fair is to let an opportunity pass that will always be a source of regret.

DECALOGUE OF WAR

Dr. Anna Shaw Announces One for Every Woman.

War-time Commandments Arranged by the Professor of the University of Turin.

- New York.—Here is the new "Decalogue of War," as announced by Dr. Anna Shaw:
1. Do not chatter. Keep to yourself the news you hear, your own impressions and your apprehensions.
  2. Do not listen to alarmists, to slackers, or those who would spread discouragement. Silence them.
  3. Be moderate in your spending, neither lavish in gifts nor sordid in your economies. Let everything in your life, even your daily expenses, take on at this moment its true national importance.

4. Encourage national industries, avoiding imported goods, even though they may seem better and less costly, than those made at home.

5. Do not look upon the departure to the front of those dear to you as an abandonment. Be with them constantly in thought, as they are with you, particularly in the hour of danger.

6. Do not complain of the difficulties, annoyances and privations caused by the war. Think of those who are dying for their country, and complaint will halt upon your lips.

7. Multiply your activities, in your home as well as outside, thereby rendering yourself useful to your country by the work of your hands, the warmth of your heart and the charity of your intelligence.

8. Exhibit day by day and hour by hour the same courage a man shows upon the field of battle. Instruct the ignorant, uphold the feeble, console those who are stricken; transmit your own confidence to others.

9. No matter how long the struggle may last, await victory with strength and patience.

10. If you are stricken in your dearest affections, bear your sorrow nobly, that your tears may be worthy of the hero whose death you mourn.

These war-time commandments were arranged by the professors of the University of Turin.

A Beauty Match

By JAMES BRAINARD

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

My chum, Tom Nicholson, at twenty was as likely a young feller as you ever see. He had a head of black hair thick as a mop. His well-cut white teeth under his black mustache formed a fine contrast, and he had a clear complexion. Sallie Morgan was as pure for a gal as Tom was for a man. She too had a beautiful head of hair reaching down when she stood up to within a foot of the floor.

Well, they soon got engaged and everybody said they'd make the handsomest couple that had ever been married in Jonesborough. But their beauty marriages with nothing else to back 'em up are unsartin'. Tom had nothing with which to support a wife, and Sallie wasn't a robust gal at all, so the wedding couldn't come off in a hurry. Tom was offered a position away out West, and he and Sallie concluded that he'd better accept it, and when he found he was doing well he could come for her and take her back with him.

I reckon there was a sorrowful parten, only they was buoyed up by the hope that after a year or two they'd get together again. Tom left a photograph of himself and took one of Sallie. Tom's was just like him, but Sallie's not showing her red lips and a tinge of color in her cheeks wasn't quite so pretty as the original. Sallie set Tom's picture up on her bureau and every time she combed her beautiful hair she divided her glances between the hair and the photograph.

Tom hadn't been away from Sallie ten minutes before he began to write to her. He started in while the train was rolling out of the station. By the time he reached the place he was going to he had a letter of thirty pages written, and had mailed her postals at all important stations. Sallie began to cry as her eyes were dry enough after cryin', to see the paper she was written on. The first few days after Tom's departure she only stopped written for meals.

Them letters kept going from one to the other for years. Just when they began to grow less—just when they stopped, only Tom and Sallie knew. Tom was unfortunate in everything he undertook. He got sick a year after he parted with Sallie, and was in the hospital six months. When he came out he had to begin all over again. He never wrote Sallie, that they'd better give each other up; nor did Sallie write that to him. Both hoped that some day Tom would have a stroke of luck and their dream of happiness would come true.

Well, I reckon it was about twenty-five years after these models of constancy separated—neither married anyone else—that one day an old party bald as a cot, and what few hairs was left on his head white as snow, stopped me on the street, and said:

"Aren't you Norman Dale?"

"That's my name," I answered, looking at him trying to remember him.

"Who may you be?"

"Why, Norman?" he said reaching for my hand, "don't you know me? I'm your old chum Tom Nicholson."

"You don't mean it?"

"Lord, how you've changed. I wouldn't 'a' known you, if you hadn't been pointed out to me. Have I changed much?"

"This made me mad and I remarked sarcastically:

"Not a bit. You're the same handsome feller you was when you left here twenty-five years ago."

"I want to know," he said, looking me in the eye to find out whether or no I was flattering him.

"On the whole," I added, "I think you've improved."

This satisfied him and he went on asking me about different persons he had left in the town, most of whom were dead. Finally he asked about Sallie Morgan. He had swallowed what I had said about his own appearance, so I wondered if he would gulp down what I'd say about Sallie. I said that she was more mature, but I didn't think she had lost any of her beauty. He told me that luck had come to him at last and he had come home to find Sallie, and take her back West with him as his wife.

We talked a long while about old times and then I told Tom there was to be a lecture that evening; we was all going, and he'd better go along. He said he was going to see his old sweetheart. I told him she would be at the lecture, and he consented to go with me.

Tom came to my house for supper, and a little later we all went to the lecture. Sallie Morgan sat three seats in front of us. Tom looked about for her and not seeing the girl he left behind him asked me if she was in the house. I pointed her out to him. She had grown very feebly, weighing two hundred pounds and her hair was half white; besides being very thin, for she had lost most of it after having a fever. I saw Tom shudder. When the lecture was over and we were leaving the hall, I saw my wife say something to Sallie who at once glanced at Tom. I saw Sallie shake her head and she got out of the hall as quick as she could. Tom had already made his escape. The next morning he returned to the West.

Tom was more changed than Sallie. He belonged to a family who grew old in appearance while still comparatively young.

TO DO RELIEF WORK

Red Cross Trains Women for Civilian Service.

Series of Institutes in Home Science to Fit Them as Social Service Workers.

Washington.—Scientific training and efficient service are the keynotes of the civilian relief work which has just been inaugurated throughout the country by the American Red Cross. Contrary to the popular belief that most of the Red Cross is being done by untrained volunteer workers, the latest venture of the organization is characterized by a series of institutes in home science for the purpose of training women to do social service work among the families of our fighting men.

"Financial aid for the families of our soldiers and sailors is only a small part of the problem which these families will have to face," said Mrs. Walter S. Ufford, head of the District of Columbia Civilian Relief department of the Red Cross. "There is an urgent need for trained community workers who can analyze the problem of the families to be served and bring them into touch with the community resources which can help to strengthen family life. Trained workers will be required to cope with the abnormal situation in which the war has placed the wives and children of the men at the front."

The Red Cross institutes consist of a six weeks' course which follows a syllabus prepared by Porter Lee of the New York School of Philanthropy. Particular emphasis is placed by Mrs. Ufford upon the value of the work outlined in the syllabus, not only to relieve the stress of war difficulties, but to meet the needs of reconstruction that is to follow the war. Only through scientific effort, Mrs. Ufford believes, can an adequate attempt be made to readjust the economic and social relationships when disabled soldiers and sailors come back from the front.

INVENTOR OF THE TANK

Sir William Tritton, the inventor of the British "Tank" which has been creating history on the western front and which has been a great factor in many British advances, is a man of studious inclinations. In a recent interview, he stated, "The tank has not only come to stay, but, if I may venture to prophesy, it is destined to play a predominant part in modern warfare." He is shown at work in his office.

HAS UNIQUE COAT OF ARMS

Washington Woman Uses 25,000 Canceled Postage Stamps in Making It.

Aberdeen, Wash.—Twenty-five thousand canceled postage stamps, representing 13 administrations, have been used by Mrs. Sarah Erickson, of this city, to make a government coat of arms. The stamps were gathered in the last 25 years.

The coat of arms represents an American eagle with outspread wings and below it are five spears and a shield. Three stars are from the George Washington administration. A lodge has offered Mrs. Erickson $2,500 for the picture, but she has refused it. She still is gathering stamps for the completion of the work. She will add the words "Liberty" and "E Pluribus Unum."

SENDS ONLY SON TO WAR

Widow in Straitened Circumstances, Sacrifices Her Sole Support in Cause of Humanity.

Denver, Colo.—Although widowed and in straitened circumstances, Mrs. Clara Doss Burrows, one of the few living descendants of the famous Adams family, urged her only son, Earl Gardner Doss, to enlist for service in Uncle Sam's fighting forces.

The young man is now at the Mars Island Marine Corps training station. Young Doss' great-grandfather, Elijah Adams, was among the leaders of the Mohawks, who staged the historic "tea party" in Boston Harbor just prior to the Revolutionary war. His grandfather, Gardner Adams, was a cousin of President John Quincy Adams, and fought in the United States navy throughout the war of 1812. The boy's uncle, another John Quincy Adams, brother of Mrs. Burrows, was with the Union forces in the Civil war.

Mrs. Burrows sacrificed her sole support when young Doss enlisted, but, although she is aged, she declared she would "manage to survive," and was proud that her son had voluntarily offered his services in the cause of humanity. "An Adams couldn't do less," she said.

PARROT SCARES BURGLAR OFF

Raucous Voice From an Adjoining Room Causes Negro to Take to His Heels.

Trenton, N. J.—Rebecca Girman was reading comfortably in the parlor. She heard shuffling, heavy footsteps on the toy porch, and the bell jingled perceptibly.

As the woman opened the door in response to the ring, a negro roughly pushed her aside, flung pepper into her eyes, and leveled an automatic gun at her.

"Just one yell and I shoot!" he warned her.

"What language! What language! Leave the room, leave the room instantly!" yelled a raucous voice in the next room.

The negro obeyed in all haste and has not been seen since, although the police have been hunting for him. The voice which frightened him away was a parrot's.

Clawed by a Hawk.

St. Marys, O.—Clawed some time ago in a fight with a chicken hawk, Ben H. Strubbe, forty years of age, married and residing in the Ferguson school district, is disabled with blood poisoning affecting one of his hands. The hawk was killed. It measured four feet between wing tips.

AMERICA MUST WIN

STIRRING ADDRESS OF CHARLES WHITEHURST AT TAMPA

FROM THE TAMPA TRIBUNE

More than 6,000 men, women and children stifled sobs at Platt Field yesterday afternoon when Charles W. Whitehair, of the national war savings committee, formerly a national Y. M. C. A. worker, with world wide experience addressed the great gathering which had come to attend the band concert given by the Shriners, telling the things he had seen in his three trips to the European battlefields, and telling them with all the emotion of a man who has been struck with the frightfulness and horror of modern warfare. He minced no words, and the great gathering of Americans who heard him went home with a better understanding of the slaughter, the massacre of men taking place abroad and the necessity of financial help from this side. Mothers and fathers who have boys "over there," heard him and cried and Mr. Whitehair himself swallowed lump after lump which arose in his heart as he recalled picture after picture of the terrible toll of blood.

Few who heard him realized what war was. It was not his purpose to thrill to tell of the horrible things because they were horrible, but rather to awaken a sleeping America to the awfulness which confronts them across the sea, and to instill into their minds the necessity of victory and a permanent peace. His address was pronounced by hundreds to be the best they had ever heard, and certainly Tampa has never been privileged to listen to a man from the front who could so graphically and dramatically portray the situation as it is today. The war, he said, will be won by men who go over the top and never return.

During the past three years Mr. Whitehair has made three journeys across the Atlantic to the war zone. He has seen the armies of the world in conflict and he has seen the American troops as they are in Europe. His great message yesterday was on the necessity of winning the war.

Fighting German Propaganda
"On my last trip I went from Verdun along the great western front, and realized then that we must win the war. The day before I sailed for America I stood with General Pershing in his headquarters and he said the army would hold the western front, but you will have to go to America and help kill the damnable German propaganda that the western line can't break.

"I stood September 20 in the great push toward Berlin. I saw men shot to hell before my eyes and I knew we were going to win, but the war would be won by the men who go over the top and don't come back. At a big meeting in Ohio last week the people were told that the state had sent 65,000 boys to the camps and to the front. It will be brought home to you soon that Ohio has not given enough men to fill the gap made in the British line for any two weeks since August, 1914. The smallest number of killed, wounded and missing men in any month since August, 1914, is 300,000 men. It is no longer a question of armies, but of the men and the boys of the nation. There have been more killed so far than have ever taken part in any other war.

"What about those thousand miles of trenches from the Baltic to the Black Sea? Would to God we had remembered Russia before we did. It is a world war and there are more than 7,000,000 men behind the barbed wire in prison camps.

"A year ago when I went to Europe I found our country the most hated country on earth. Germany had said and boasted they could win if the United States kept out. The allies said we were too proud to fight, but not too proud to take their gold. They could not understand our cry of democracy, while we allowed women and children of our nation to be slaughtered on the seas. Last autumn I was with the army before Jerusalem. An American journalist came through from a battle. 'Jiminy, but that was some fight,' he said. A British officer looked at him and said, 'Yes, some fight—and some don't.' That's what they thought of America.

"I came back last year feeling my nation was going into this war. An old line Republican, I changed my politics and voted for Woodrow Wilson, not because I thought he could keep us out of the war, but because I believed he would lead us into it. The opinion of America changed. I have seen thousands of lads in London marching through the streets. Five days later they would be in the trenches, where the bullets sing. They marched off without the clapping of a hand. Then when the American soldiers marched through the streets of London the people went wild. They even tried to cut the buttons off the uniforms of our soldiers.

"And France—I can't speak of France. She is bleeding white, thousands and thousands are cold. All through France and England there is not a pleasure car. They cannot eat with butter and white bread on their tables. Coal? Coal is $60 a ton in France today and cannot be procured.

"I went to the Marne in 1915. Remember what Joffre said? 'We will stop on the Marne and die on the Marne if need be.' Yes, they stopped on the Marne and I walked over the ditches filled with thousands of their men.

"Verdun? Every house and home has been hit by shell. I cannot recall it that I do not think of those immortal words, 'They shall not pass,' and thank God, they did not pass at Verdun. In stopping the Germans, the place is marked with acres and acres of graves about Verdun, bearing only the small wooden crosses, and in stopping the Germans for you France laid down the best she had! Millions were killed and wounded.

"France is not dying! She is haggard, famished, but she is not dying. France was never more determined to go on to victory—or to death. France cannot die!

"Everyone of you has someone close over there. They're a wonderful lot of lads. No, they're not in barracks, as you picture them, but they are in haymows and chicken coops and what shacks they can find. But they don't growl. I have spent a great part of my life in university centers and during my stay in France I heard less growling than I have heard in one day on an American college campus.

Make Great Sacrifices
"Those boys are a wonderful lot. They speak French perfectly. Ask them a question and they will answer, 'Oui, oui, monsieur.' It makes no difference what you ask. But when they moved up closer to the line and found themselves in shells, the men on one side, the horses and the manure piles between them, it was no longer 'Oui, oui, monsieur,' they changed it to 'Oui, oui, manure.'

"They know what lies ahead of them, those lads, and you will know in three months from now when you pick up your papers and read page after page of the names of men who are close and dear to you, men who will never return. I asked them what message I should take to America. 'Homesick.' Yes, they would all like to come home, but they will not come home until the show's over.

"Our men have not been on the real front yet. They've had a few raiding parties for Fritz, that all. September 19 I was on the front line of Flanders, with the second army. What has Britain done in the war? She has kept the seas free for us. In the Flanders segment the French hold from one-half to two-thirds of the front line trenches. For every yard of French trench, the Germans have one man. For every yard of British front they have four or five men. There's not a handful there compared with what they need.

"Then comes the day before the push. The lines behind the lines are crowded. Thousands and thousands of men, going and coming, the ammunition trains, more men, and every last one knows that tomorrow morning is zero. They are talking about the push. Months of preparation have gone before. There are mountains of ammunition. They are up and going with their gas masks, their steel helmets, the shrapnel bursting overhead. The guns are moaning. Every square foot of the ground has been made sacred by the best blood Britain has had to spill. Here is an enormous crater made by the burst of a big shell. Absolute destruction is everywhere. Not even a snag of tree four feet high is left. Airplanes are fighting overhead. The silent eye of the observation balloons are at their work. You would call it raging. All eyes are turned toward a line of white posts. I asked what they were for. They were for the walking wounded, the men who tomorrow would find their way back as best they could.

Do Not Sing in Battle
"You have heard of the men going into battle singing. There is no singing. There is not a whistle. There is not a conversation that is not a military conversation. One hand played an old hymn. Faces are like stone and every man is facing the front. They are going up like kings in a pageant to imminent death. The most lonely road is ahead. They go down to go over the top. If you take out your little pay book and make a will, and know you had written your last letter home you would not sing. The stage is set. A young lieutenant, a boy, stands there with a megaphone beside five great nine-inch guns. Young officers, young officers. The eyes of the army are above. Young officers are below the ground to tally the hit of the shells as they strike. Every shell fired in reciprocal gunfire is accounted for. Accurate records are kept. Three minutes later No. 1 is cracked. Then the call, 'No. 1, ready to fire sir, and in three minutes No. 1 is fired again! Then the wireless message from above, 'No. 5, repeat.' You know what that means. The range has been found. Orders are given and Tommy is sending back to Fritz what Fritz sent in 1914 and with compound interest. Mountains of ammunition are piled high that night, great guns almost six feet high. At 10 p. m. the gates of hell are opened. No longer is the order being given to fire No. 1 at three minute intervals. At 3 p. m. the young lieutenant watches the most colossal drain of blood in the history of the world. Fourteen thousand big guns are loading and firing as fast as they can be loaded and firing as fast as they can be loaded and fired.

"Down there he stands, that boy. Don't forget him. Zero is coming. At 5:30 a. m. hell is intensified. I have since learned that one million men were held in reserve, ready for the push. Five-forty-five, five-fifty; now comes the hell of the next ten minutes. At 6 a. m. comes the push. Over the top he goes, thinking about God, but not interested in hell. Tell me of a hell equal to a hell that I am talking about now. There is a gas that eats his flesh and bones, gas that blinds him, gas that chokes him. He goes against liquid fire, and last of all, the bayonet. Tell me hell equals that!

The Walking Wounded
"Then, after the battle. They are coming down the white path for the walking wounded. I wouldn't tell you about that scene if I could. Some of you are mothers with sons over there. They are coming by the hundreds, the thousands, creeping, crawling, getting along as best they can. Faces that cannot be distinguished. They go to the dressing station, not a hospital, as you picture it, but a barn; and they sit dripping in blood, shoulder to shoulder, waiting for their turn. I was there, at the Y. M. C. A. tent that gives the men their last drink, their last cup of tea. I stood in the presence of a boy, his face caked with his own blood, both his hands gone, and I put a cigarette between his teeth and he tried to thank me. They all try to thank you for everything you do. They don't complain. The blood is running off in streams. More than 2,000 were at one station waiting to have their wounds dressed. And here is the reason the men love their English officers. No British officer ever goes ahead of his men to have his wounds dressed.

"I saw Fritz there, a handkerchief stuck in the hole where his eye had been—a wounded German on the path of the walking wounded, his arms around the neck of two wounded Tommies. The prisoners are there, waiting to have their wounds dressed. They are not mistreated, and they go in turn with the rest. Yes, we are in this war because democracy, right and freedom are at stake in Flanders. We are going to have those prisoners go back to Germany and tell how they are treated on the other side—to carry the message which they do not now believe.

"There is only one way to get a permanent peace. Smash the western front. And the darkest days are still ahead. And shame on the man and woman who does not put every possible bit of money in the fight. They are not slackers. They are traitors! This war is going to be won by going over the top.

"If it takes every man and every penny in the country, we have got to win this war."

pehny in the country, we have got to win this war."

FOR THE HOME GUARDS

Woman's Club Will Give Entertainment to Purchase a Flag
While the Seminole Guards were having inspection a week ago it occurred to Mrs. Norris Levis that they were without a flag and while the Guards are not especially in need of a flag they are not averse to having the ladies think kindly of them and like all good soldiers are greatly appreciative of these favors. Mrs. Levis took up the matter with the Woman's Club with the result that this live organization has arranged for an entertainment to be given by Mrs. Wren McGuin and she will give an attractive program at the High School Auditorium on the night of Thursday, February 28th.

The program will be called "An Evening of Song and Story" and is replete with the best in song and story, being a collection of readings and songs given as this lady knows so well how to render them.

The Woman's Club will make a canvass for the sale of the tickets and the small price of admission and the guarantee of a first class entertainment will fill the High School Auditorium and as the proceeds are for such a worthy cause the success of the entertainment is already assured.

Fatigue and Toxin.
The idea that fatigue is due to a specific toxin, as suggested by Welchart early in the century, has been a popular one, but the late investigation of Lee and Aronovitch at Columbia university shows it to have no good foundation. There is nothing, therefore, to encourage the hope that an antitoxin may be found. In the experiments made with animal muscles, a test muscle suspended in the juice of a fatigued muscle lost much in contractile power, but the juice of a non-fatigued muscle produced substantially the same effect.

Scientific Foresight.
"How did the boy get his motor cycle?" "He seized the cycle-logical moment to ask for it."

Proper Restriction.
Put this restriction upon our pleasures: Be cautious that they injure no being which has life.—Zimmermann.

The Florida State Fair and Exposition

Is a big idea, in the benefits of which all the people of Florida are participants.
Twenty-five Florida counties have arranged for displays. The United States Agricultural and Navy departments have accepted invitations to be represented by exhibits.
Never before has there been as extensive and as novel an exhibition of the agricultural, horticultural, industrial and live stock progress of the State as will be here shown.
The future possibilities of Florida are to be demonstrated by the present performance of the State. Her potentialities for tomorrow are to be shown in her achievements of today.

Amusement—Entertainment—Instruction
Money has been expended freely but with good judgment to secure the best attractions and to assure a good time for all who come. There will be more to amuse, entertain and instruct than was ever offered in the same length of time anywhere in Florida. One may be grave or gay, busy or idle, just as the mood moves.
This Fair will be unique in that whatever the desire of the visitor, whether for clean amusements or for exhibits of endeavor throbbing with the thrill of accomplishment, it will be gratified. Everything shown will be of real and genuine interest—even those who come for a vacation will go with an education as to what Florida is.

Moving picture people making the film, "the birth of a race" near Tampa are putting on the Garden of Eden now and Adam and Eve are romping through the woods.

The fish laws have not been suspended as some suppose and on the contrary are in operation as usual.

There are some slackers in Sanford and they should read the article in this issue entitled "America Must Win" and after they read it they should get busy helping America to win.

The no fence law will be placed before the people of Seminole county for a vote in the next year and the people will vote out the cattle and hogs and allow the farmer to farm.

The idea of having predigest legislation as given on the front page of this issue is a good one.

All the border counties are having tick eradication and poor little Seminole is standing alone and telling the world that we do not believe in tick eradication.

The Sanford Board of Trade, representing the progressive men of Seminole county will make history in the next few years and the man who stands outside of the Board of Trade will be left standing outside. The Board of Trade is going ahead and keeping Seminole and Sanford on the map and the man who is not assisting in this great work is a slacker.

T. S. Huff, the food director for Seminole county should receive the undivided support of the merchants and the public in general.

Sanford's progressive and active Board of Trade has recently been doing good work, placing tourists and winter visitors in homes and finding comfortable quarters for all who apply at the Board of Trade headquarters.

Now is the time for the stores to advertise and get the people in the habit of coming to Sanford to do their buying.

Several of the state papers are boosting Braxton Beacham for political preference when the war is over and his duties as food director cease.

TOO OLD? Too old to fight, aren't you? Not too old to make a comfortable living for yourself, however, are you?

Too old to fight, aren't you? Not too old to talk, however, are you? Why not make your conversation so patriotic that the younger man will have to fight?

Too old to fight, aren't you? Not too old to bat, however, are you? Mr. Hoover will tell you what your duties are along this line.

Too old to fight, aren't you? Not too old to think, however, are you? Then why not think about this war from every angle, seeing wherein you can be of the greatest service to your country?

THE VALUE OF FAIRS The Sub Tropical Fair at Orlando has ended another most prosperous and successful season and in the midst of war's alarms this season has been one of the best, demonstrating that county fairs conducted on the right lines have come to stay.

This class of people have held Sanford back for years and they of course see nothing of benefit in fairs, shows, advertising, publicity, Board of Trade, bands, music or even an old fashioned circus.

These modern replicas of Rip Van Winkle have had more or less influence in the city and county and by this influence have kept Seminole from having a fair and grounds because having wealth they have persisted in keeping it and not a sou has come from them for any new fangled ideas of making a city here.

The Seminole County Fair Association through the efforts of the directors and the chairman, F. L. Miller went ahead and held an exhibition at Orlando that was a credit to the county.

Save the Cotton Crop Cotton is one of the War Emergency Crops that the south must produce and conserve this season.

Rules Only for the Weak. It is one of the weaknesses of mankind that it is forever establishing rules, programs, formulae.

Queer Place for Meteorites. One of the remarkable features of the ocean's floor is the fact that in some places it is covered with the dust of meteorites.

Hatch Early Chicks That the early hatched chick is the most profitable one to raise is being emphasized by the University of Florida extension division.

Spray Your Irish Potatoes Unless great care was exercised in selecting Irish potato seed, late blight is likely to attack the field in March.

Late blight is caused by a fungus which attacks the entire plant—leaves, stems and tubers.

During moist and cool weather, a downy, whitish growth is visible on the underside of the leaves.

season may be reasonably free from the fungus and desirable for planting, provided such seed have not been mixed with diseased seed or ginned along with other cotton affected with anthracnose.

New seed from fields or localities in which no anthracnose was present last season may be reasonably free from the disease and can be planted with safety.

Persons having surplus of disease-free cotton seed should inform the Experiment Station, Gainesville, giving the amount and selling the price.

To Bed Sweet Potatoes A larger acreage than usual was planted to the south's great food crop—sweet potatoes—last year but the total yield was not in keeping with the increased planting.

greater consideration. The exercise of care should have begun when last year's crop was being dug.

Some of these precautions, as given by C. Q. Sherbakoff of the University of Florida experiment station, follow.

Sort over the seed potatoes, and discard all showing any rot or discoloration. Where the grower does not save seed from his own field, he should try to get them from a field known to have been free from diseases and the root weevil.

The healthy potatoes for seed should be soaked in a 1 to 1000 solution of corrosive sublimate for ten minutes.

Mr. Sherbakoff explains this recommendation! The draws will get their food from the potatoes themselves and need no stable manure to produce a good crop.

It is good policy to rotate sweet potatoes with other crops so that potatoes will not be planted on the same soil year after year.

Sanford Entertainers will unite in something really delightful the evening of Tuesday, March 12. Details will be given in The Herald in subsequent issues. Watch for announcement.

Clarence Mahoney is home for a few days from Camp Johnston near Jacksonville where he is engaged in office work for Uncle Sam. He looks fine in his uniform and we expect great things from him when he goes to France.

The Honolulu Entertainers will be here probably sometime next month with what is said to be a wonderfully entertaining program, the attraction to be the last and closing number of the Lyceum Course.

Telephone your order for Elder Spring water to T. O. Charles, Tel. Nos. 338 and 334-W. 52-2tc

The Congregational Society, like the singers, players and readers of our city has very generously granted free use of their fine auditorium and pipe organ, so centrally and conveniently located, for the Lyceum Fund Benefit Concert March 12.

E. R. Morse of Dubuque, Iowa was a caller at The Herald office yesterday. Mr. Morse at one time was in the newspaper business but is now U. S. Marshal in Iowa and is interested in Florida Farms at Ovyledo. Mr. Morse has been to many parts of the United States but thinks Seminole county is the finest place in the world and when he gets ready to settle down for life he will retire to fine farm in Beck Hammock and live there.

Now is the time to plant your citrus trees. Visit the Lemon Baff Nurseries, Osteen, Fla., and save money or get prices. 52-5tp

The sponsors for the Lyceum-financing greatly appreciate the cheerful assistance of the entire and united home talent of our city in the magnificent entertainment that is to be given Tuesday evening, March 12th for the benefit of the Lyceum fund. This spontaneous and practically volunteer assistance relieves the burden of apprehension and lifts from their shoulders a weight that was certainly threatening serious difficulty in bearing. The local association bows its most gracious "Thank you" to each and all of the participants in the coming event.

Charlie's Impersonator Will Leave for Jacksonville

The genial impersonator who has been cutting Charlie Chaplin antics to the amusement of great crowds in the city for the past week will leave tomorrow for Jacksonville. Charlie's impersonator is on his job and if the real Charlie can beat him—well, we're from Missouri. Not only is he comical but he is an excellent acrobat, for the past few days he has delighted crowds at the Lyric Theatre.

Seminole County Guards Attention Order No. 16

At regular drill Friday night, Feb. 22nd, permanent squads will be formed. Each and every member of the Sanford unit must be present in order to get his squad assignment.

By Order C. H. Dingle, Captain Commanding Company.

Attest: W. M. Haynes, 1st Sergt.

ELKS CARNIVAL

Big Dolage in Sanford Week of March 4th

The next big attraction in Sanford will be the Elks Carnival to be held here the week of March fourth. The big show will be staged on the bulkhead if possible, at the foot of Park avenue and adjoining the Elks Home and there will be something doing for five days, fun and frolic and something to put life and activity in old and young.

The Elks will stage some special features and the people will be brought to Sanford from miles around to enjoy the features of the carnival. For the purpose of furnishing the amusement for the week the Krause Shows have been engaged and being an aggregation of clean amusements they will be allowed to show in the city limits and close to the principal part of the business section. The Krause Shows were the principal attractions of the Seminole County Fair last year and the fair association can vouch for them as being all that they claim in the amusement line.

Further announcements will be made as soon as the publicity men get here and the paper is printed and a big campaign will be put on to let all the neighboring cities know just what Sanford expects to give them during the week of March 4th.

For Rent Both stores and houses. See me and I can supply your needs. H. C. DuRose. 49-8tc

Birth of a Nation

D. W. Griffith's globe-girdling triumph, "The Birth of a Nation" comes to this city for a limited engagement at the Star, Friday and Saturday, Feb. 22-23 with daily matinees. This will positively be the last opportunity in this city to see this masterpiece which has everywhere thrilled capacity audiences with its charming love story and historic spectacles.

From the first scene to the last the film maintains the keenest interest but it reaches its strongest point in the second part when the hordes of the Ku Klux Klan are gathering for the rescue of harried whites.

The extraordinary spectacular effects, the breadth of conception and the skill of execution with which the spectacle has been made, differentiates it from all previous attempts at photodrama. The scenes range through the Civil War and Reconstruction periods, and visualize with graphic effects the places and personages of the most stirring period of American history.

So widespread has been the discussion of "The Birth of a Nation" that it is hardly necessary to outline the story. Suffice it to say that the spectacle deals with a big theme in a big way. No such wonderful photographic conception has ever before been made for the scene. A more complete idea of the conflict of armies on the field of battle could not be given, even were actual hostilities to be photographed. The onlooker sees a battle as only those on the very front line of fighting would see a conflict.

Then there is a wonderful realization of the south in antebellum days when slaves worked in the cotton field, and were sold on the block. The great Liberator, who gave the helpless the boon of freedom is seen in his very human aspect as the comforter of the oppressed, and the tragedy that snuffs out such a life is most impressive. Indeed it would be difficult to imagine a more effective and affecting scene than that showing the assassination of Abraham Lincoln in Ford's Theatre, Washington.

TO THE PUBLIC

There appeared in this paper under date of January 29th, an announcement regarding the famous Riverview Property, and Good Hope Mineral Springs at Jacksonville, Fla., stating that Mr. Nate Anderson would be in Sanford for a few weeks in the interest of Riverview. Mr. Anderson was in Sanford only a few days, made several good sales, and interested a number of people. He was suddenly called north, and as I have received a number of letters regarding Riverview as an investment, I am sending Mr. Frank S. Tousey to look after my interests in Sanford and Seminole county. Mr. Tousey has been associated with me for nearly two years. He is general manager of the Riverview estates and the Good Hope Water Company, and also secretary and treasurer of the Jacksonville Tourist Club. He will be in Sanford next week at the Hotel Carnes. I will consider it a personal favor if my Sanford friends, as well as those interested in Riverview will give Mr. Tousey a welcome.

Very truly yours, Signed: Dr. E. H. Armstrong, Owner Riverview Estates and Good Hope Mineral Springs. 51-1tc

WOMAN'S CLUB

On Thursday, Feb. 28th, 8 p. m., at High School Auditorium a benefit for the Seminole County Home Guard will be given under auspices of the Woman's Club of Sanford, they having been so fortunate as to secure for this evening's entertainment of story and song Mrs. Wren McGuin of Paola, a woman among us of pleasing personality and rare ability, she having studied under the very best masters of New York and Atlanta and has the distinction of being a member of the Dramatic League of America.

Capt. Dingle has issued an invitation to the Home Guard of the entire county, this affair not pertaining to our town company alone and one of the pleasing features of the evening will be the attendance in a body of these men.

The Club women of Sanford fully appreciating the fine work and the tremendous amount of sacrifice and effort put into this training by our men want to thus show their appreciation by promoting and giving this entertainment in which we should all be thoroughly interested and lend our support and presence thereto.

Tickets will be placed on sale throughout the county and every man, woman and child interested in our Home Guards and a cause so patriotic should buy one, although it is a full house we earnestly solicit, as everyone knows the inspiration that can be had only by large, well behaved and interested audiences.

Another very important announcement which the Club wishes to make is the address to be given by Mrs. Pennybacker, ex-president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at DeLand on Saturday, Feb. 23rd at 8 p. m. in Stetson Auditorium. Mrs. Pennybacker's subject for this evening will be "War Work for Women" and being a woman of such marked renown she needs no introduction.

It is hoped that as many as possible will accept this invitation to DeLand, as it will not only be a treat to hear a wonderfully talented woman like Mrs. Pennybacker speak but helpful to us as Club women and should renew in us an interest and patriotic spirit in the work of the times so direly and urgently needed.

The DeLand Woman's Club has made this occasion possible for all Club women interested to attend without any cost to them whatever.

It is a matter of disappointment and surprise to the committee on the work of making surgical dressings that more enthusiasm has not been shown in a work of this character, as this is a most necessary work and loyal women all over the country are doing it.

Owing to the fact that the Club has sent word to headquarters that we will take up the making of surgical dressings it should be a matter of community pride to show results by this time. Many mornings from three to five women only have appeared and we cannot hold our own with contemporary towns with so few workers. The room can accommodate twelve women each morning.

Our president, Mrs. E. M. Galloway is leaving today for Ocala to attend the state board meeting of Women's Clubs of Florida, she having had the distinction, we will recall of having been made the state auditor and chairman of finance and will be expected at this time to give her report and recommendations for financing the State Federation. This latter item sounds astounding but we know from experience and from the splendid results of Mrs. Galloway's term as our local president her magnificent capabilities and it is with the comfortable assurance we know of her undertaking this feature of the state work that she will accomplish it to the marked credit of all interested.

This state board meets on Feb. 20th and 21st to do some very important work, a better idea of which may be obtained from an extract of a letter written by Mrs. Edgar Lewis, president state Federation Women's Clubs:

"A valuable feature of this meeting will be the arrangement of the work of the different departments to suit the needs and unusual conditions of the times, planning ways and means for putting our clubs and Federation to the best possible use. Every one is needed. Please, make an effort to be present at this probably the most important board meeting of the year."

Eplith

Dusty and grimy clothes these people's name, but meanings of words are not on right planes. For one purpose are these two livings, both to the town are giving. One moves in civic work, her helpmeet the club work will shirk. Money for the club's hobby, he helped get us to keep from growing sobby. (Mr. and Mrs. Dingle's eplith.)

IN SOCIETY'S DOMAIN

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST IN AND AROUND SANFORD

Mrs. Ne ma King McLaughlin, Social Editor. Advance having guests, parties or any article for this column, it would be appreciated if they would telephone 270-J

The Hotel Carnes is simply running over with guests these days. Full every night is the word and on Sunday the piazzas were full all day, several auto parties stopping for dinner. We are certainly having our share of tourists this winter. The hotel lobby, which has recently been refurnished looks most inviting and is thoroughly comfortable. Mr. Carnes leaves nothing undone for the comfort or amusement of his guests. Card parties are given at the hotel two or three times a week and the Friday night dances have been very successful. A very informal card party was given last evening. Mrs. Keeler winning the prize, a deck of cards. The other guests were Mrs. Hadley, Mrs. Parramore, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Vorce, Mrs. McLaughlin, Col. Thrasher, Mr. Leachman, Mr. Linn, Mr. Hutchins, Mr. Davies, Mr. Latham, Mr. Herring, Mr. Ransdell, Mr. Hayden and Mr. Connor.

Miss May Thrasher was given a genuine surprise party Saturday evening in honor of her birthday. The Puleston piazza is the dandiest place in town for dancing and the young people looked most attractive to passers by. A great bowl of punch kept everybody cool, a victrola furnishing music for the evening. The boys and girls invited were Misses May Thrasher, Frances Gonzales, Frances Chappell, Helen Peck, Helen Hand, Florence and Ethel Henry, Agnes Dumas, Dorothy Rumph, Virginia Brady, Fern Ward, Randall Chase, Humb Rumph, Mr. Connor, Hawkins and Walter Connelly, G. W. Spencer, Isiss Kanner, Ed. Meish, Henry Ball, Alfred Robson, Harry Lewis and Ed. Betts.

A very jolly week end party enjoyed a trip on Mr. Russell's boat. The party went Saturday morning to Deep Creek. I won't tell how many fish were caught, as it might cause trouble, but everybody reported a good time and that's all that is necessary. Mr. Russell's guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Thiipen, Miss Kathryn Wilkie, Mr. and Mrs. Day of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Cobart, Miss Freida Stewart of Winter Park, Miss Jennie Boss and Miss Minnie Harris of Orlando, Mr. Walsh, Arthur Yowell and Russell Rogers.

Mr. J. R. Hayden is entertaining quite a party of Virginia friends at the Hotel Carnes. These gentlemen are most enthusiastic over Sanford and the surrounding country. Sunday was spent at Mr. Hayden's ranch and on Monday they went to Daytona Beach. In the party are Dr. O. C. Hutchinson, H. B. Hutchins, J. P. Leachman, R. H. Davies, F. E. Ransdell, H. W. Herring, D. O. Latham and Thos. H. Linn.

Mr. Earl Gore of Jacksonville is in the city.

Felix Frank has returned from a business trip to Jacksonville.

Mrs. Richard Marks is the guest of Judge and Mrs. Stringfellow.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Moses motored to Daytona Beach Sunday.

A. B. Bell of Gainesville, Ga., is spending some time at the Hotel Carnes.

Mrs. J. H. Ball and Billie Ball returned Friday from a delightful trip to Quincy, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlaine, Mrs. Hadley and Mrs. Keeler spent Sunday at Daytona Beach.

Mrs. John W. Diekins is expected home today after a visit of several days with her son in Macon, Ga.

Mrs. Thomas A. Neal, Mrs. J. N. Tolar and Miss Margaret Neal motored to Orlando Friday for the fair.

The many friends of Mrs. Chas. Merriwether will be glad to know that she is recovering from her recent illness.

Homer Wynne left Saturday for Charleston where he was ordered to report for service, having joined the navy recently.

Mrs. Frank and Miss Florence Frank left for Palatka Friday, after spending several days with Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Bower.

Mrs. Henry W. Diekins who has been the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Herndon for several weeks leaves this week for St. Petersburg.

Miss Mary Connor and Miss Mildred McGuin of New Smyrna were the guests of Mr. Connor at the Hotel Carnes Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Dutton and children and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Conover formed a congenial party spending Sunday at Daytona Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McKinnon are being congratulated upon the arrival of a son, Feb. 14th. The young man will be named W. M. McKinnon, Jr.

CHAIRMAN MILLER THANKFUL

And Expresses His Appreciation To All Concerned

The following letter from F. L. Miller, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Seminole County Fair Association is given below:

"The Mid Winter Fair is over and Seminole County has been awarded the grand prize. This is through the efforts of every one in the county who has extended the help towards making this exhibit of 1918 the best ever made by the county.

As chairman of the fair association I desire to express my hearty thanks and appreciation to everyone who has given the help towards that grand success accomplished. To be personal allow me to mention the untiring work of Mr. J. Tilden Jacobs of Chuluota and the work of Mr. Thos. W. Jones of Chase & Co. for his extraordinary efforts in securing the most magnificent fruit and vegetable exhibit under the most trying conditions; to Mr. Gwynn Fox for his valuable assistance in collection of vegetables; to Mr. Marlowe of the Board of Trade for his extensive campaign of advertising, and Mr. C. E. Ward for his help with the celery farm.

To the following exhibitors who really made the fair possible I wish to express particular thanks:

Mr. J. A. Brumby for the cotton, corn and meal;

Mr. J. T. Jacobs; for the display of grasses and other farm products;

Messrs. Chase & Co., for the fruits and vegetables; amounting to more than 75 worth which to gave to the display.

Mr. J. J. Mauzer for the display of cigars;

To Mr. J. M. for the display of brooms and broom stock.

Hatch & Barber Fish Co., through the manager, Mr. Drawbridge for the very fine exhibit of fish;

Messrs. Herry and Mead for the special variety of vegetables;

To Mr. Albert Dorner for the most extraordinary exhibit of broom corn, Soudan grass, beggar weed and the Honey Dew melon;

To Mrs. Johnson of Paola and Mrs. McDuggal, Mrs. Van Ness and Mrs. Dresser of Sanford for the collection of preserved fruits and vegetables;

To the Wakefield Preserving Co., of Geneva, for the display which always gives the county exhibit the finishing touch.

In case any one has been omitted I assure you that it is entirely an oversight, and although the personal mention may be omitted yet the thanks and appreciation of the fair association are yours.

We will go to the state fair beginning on the 26th where we expect to bring back the grand prize.

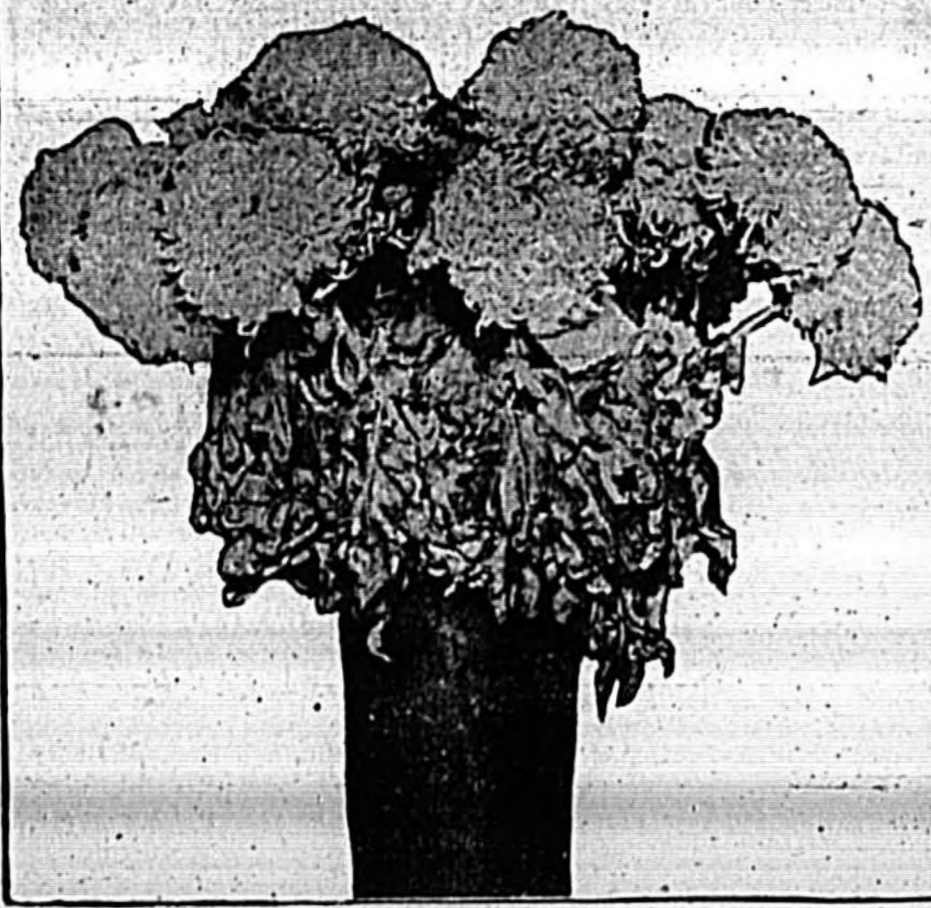

I want to assure you that we want everything that will help us win, and anything you give us will be returned to you in good condition. Help us by your cooperation and support and make Seminole county at the state fair the talk of the fair.

From a financial standpoint the exhibit at Orlando was more than a success. We brought back more than we took there and as an exhibit it was pronounced by all the best ever shown in Orlando.

Help us win and you win. Don't worry about why other towns grow, just push Seminole county to the front and we will all prosper."

F. L. Miller.

KILL BOLL WEEVILS

Early Picking and Destruction of Plants Will Insure Crop Next Year.

COVER CROPS IMPROVE SOIL

Insects Are at Mercy of Planter in Fall as They Are at No Other Time—Not Practicable to Burn Stalks in Field.

Five Reasons for Fall Destruction of Cotton Plants.

1. Hordes of adult weevils, many for each plant in the field, are killed outright.
2. Many more weevils that are in the immature stages, sometimes as many as a hundred for each plant in the field, are also killed.
3. The few adult weevils escaping will be weakened by starvation, and the great majority will not have sufficient strength to pass through the winter.
4. The development of the late broods, which experiments have shown, furnish the vast majority of weevils that pass through the winter, is cut off immediately. In this way hundreds of weevils that would develop from each plant are absolutely prevented from so doing.
5. The removal of the infested plants with the weevils facilitates fall or early winter plowing, which is the best possible procedure in cotton raising. Moreover, this plowing assists greatly in the production of an early crop the following season.

If every cotton grower having weevil-infested fields would push cotton picking to early completion and then destroy the cotton plants before the boll weevil hibernates, the destructive work of the insect the following year would be largely minimized.

Hand in hand with early fall destruction of weevils goes the practice of planting cover crops after the stalks have been removed. Such crops not only improve the soil but furnish feed of a kind Southern farmers now need. Thus the proper step to take in controlling the boll weevil will increase the production of forage and assist greatly in the production of meat.

At Mercy of Planter. Weevils are at the mercy of the planter in the fall as they are at no other time, says Farmers' Bulletin 848, "The Boll Weevil Problem," recently issued by the department. "If the farmer desires to kill these insects then he can do so. If it is not practicable to burn the stalks they can still be uprooted, thereby destroying the green-food supply of the weevils and preventing the further increase of the insects. The cotton then can be picked as the supply of labor permits. Fall destruction of weevils insures a crop for the following season."

This measure of control, it is pointed out, cannot be applied alike to all infested regions. It is the greatest importance in localities of the extreme South where the boll-weevil problem is most serious. Farther north the colder winters make this step less important. As the practicability of fall destruction depends upon the supply of labor available and upon the size of the plantings, it is a measure particularly applicable to the southern and southeastern parts of the cotton belt where the cotton fields are small and labor is sufficiently plentiful to perform the work in ample time.

Extermination in Fall. Extermination of boll weevils in the fall has not been adopted as widely as it should be, but individual instances everywhere show its value. In one of many experiments performed by the bureau of entomology—this one in Calhoun county, Texas—the stalks growing on 410 acres of land were destroyed early in October. Careful records kept during the fall each season showed that this work had increased the production more than one-fourth of a bale per acre over the crop on a check area nearby where such work was not done. Circumstances surrounding the experiments show that the advantage was probably considerably greater than indicated by the estimated increased yield, which is very conservative.

Proper Time for Work. No definite rule can be laid down as to the proper time for destroying weevils in this way. In general, the proper time is whenever the weevils have reached such numbers as to infest practically all of the squares that are being set. This may occur much earlier in some seasons than in others. Fall destruction as late as November will accomplish much, but several times the number of weevils can be destroyed if the work is done in October. The rule should be to destroy infested plants at the earliest possible date in the fall. It is much better to sacrifice a small quantity of cotton than to defer the operation. The loss will more than be made good by an increase in the next crop.

In regions where the loss of organic matter from the burning of stalks is important, it is advisable, the specialist says, to cut the stalks by means of the machine usually employed for that purpose and bury them deeply, as possible. This will cause the destruction of many of the immature stages of the weevil in the squares and bolls. Other fall measures against the weevils include plowing under infested squares, grazing cotton fields with cattle, sheep, or goats, and preventing the growth of volunteer cotton or sprouts from the old stumps.

TO FIGHT ANIMAL DISEASE

Department of Agriculture Will Wage Battle on Hog Cholera and Dreaded Cattle Tick.

(From the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A more intensive fight than ever before will be waged by the United States department of agriculture on hog cholera and the cattle tick with funds made available by the recently enacted food production bill. Between them, hog cholera and cattle-tick fever cause annual losses of approximately $20,000,000. In an effort to stem these losses and, in effect, to increase meat production, the department will put a greatly enlarged staff of specialists to work in the field within the next few weeks. Tick eradication, which is essential to building up cattle-raising in sections of the South now infested by ticks, will be extended in all affected states. Twenty-five veterinarians will be added to the department's staff to carry on the work against hog cholera throughout the hog-raising sections of the country.

FRESH WATER IS NECESSARY

To Keep Its System in Proper Condition It Must Have Water as Frequently as Desired.

Fresh, cool water is as necessary to all kinds of live stock as oil is to the cylinder of an engine. The greater portion of an animal's weight is water. To keep its system properly oiled it must have water frequently and in such amounts as it cares to drink. Hog waterers, watering systems in dairy barns, watering tanks in the pastures and good wells are good investments on every dairy and live stock farm.

GIVE NUT TREES ATTENTION

When Set Out, Properly and Given Necessary Care It Should Have Long Life Before It.

Since nut trees grow more slowly in the nursery, and require more attention to budding, of necessity, the trees cost more than fruit trees. But when properly set out and given good care, a nut tree should have a long life before it that it may some day become an established landmark.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT HELPS PAY FOR BREAD

There has been much misunderstanding about the bread program in England. It is true that the Englishman buys a loaf of bread for less than an American can, but it is poorer bread, and the British government is paying $200,000,000 a year toward the cost of it.

All the grain grown in Great Britain is taken over by the government at an arbitrary price and the imported wheat purchased on the markets at the prevailing market price. This is turned over to the mills by the government at a price that allows the adulterated war bread loaf of four pounds to sell at 18 cents, the two pound loaf at 9 cents and the one pound loaf at 5 cents.

In France, under conditions somewhat similar, but with a larger extraction, the four pound loaf sells for 10 cents.

JOHNNY M'TAGGART MADE GOOD QUICKLY

Jumped From Messenger to Great Jockey in Short Order.

Famous Little Rider Quit Delivering Messages to Mount Horse When Older Brother Was Incapacitated—Won His Race.

Little Johnny McTaggart, considered by many followers of racing the best jockey since the great Tod Sloan quit riding the gallopers, began his struggle in the big work-a-day world as a messenger boy. Johnny was born on Manhattan Island, and from a humble beginning as an A. D. T. Mercury he drifted into the racing game, where in four years' time he has worked his way into the jockey major league. Johnny, of course, got his inspiration to become a jockey from his brother, Tom, and although Tommy is a great jock, his younger brother has passed him in the matter of riding winners. The old saw about good horses making good jockeys may be all right, but according to Johnny McTaggart, the good jockeys can ride poor horses to victory, as he has done so many times.

Riding under the colors of R. T. Wilson, and piloting such horses as the great Campfire, which won nearly $50,000 for his owner last year, McTaggart holds the hopes and fears of those who follow Wilson's colors every time he mounts a horse. He was seventeen years old when he first started out as a jockey, and he scaled at 99 pounds. Today, with four years' added to his age, he can make 103 pounds and still be strong. His first race at Belmont Park, will always stand as one of the most remarkable performances. Johnny was at the track with his brother, Tommy, who was to ride August Belmont's Mission. For some reason Tommy could not ride that day, and Johnny put on the colors to see how he would look in them. Louis Fuestal, trainer for Belmont, intended to scratch the mare, when he spied Johnny and when Johnny pleaded to be allowed to take his brother's place Fuestal consented and sent him to the post with the remark that "she has no chance, anyhow."

One of Whitney's horses, Prince Eugeno, was a 1 to 8 choice in the race, and the Belmont mare was quoted in the 10s. When the horses dashed under the wire there was little Johnny, riding Mission at the front of the bunch, and then there the A. D. T. lost a mighty good messenger boy and the racing world won a star jockey.

The following year Johnny McTaggart ranked first among the winning jockeys of the country, and, although he fell down in 1915 and was second to Frank Robinson in 1916, he piloted his mounts to victories which brought the total of his winnings to $156,000.

MAKING MEATLESS DAYS PERMANENT.

In the meatless menu there is a fertile field for developing new and nourishing dishes, according to E. H. Niles, writing in the Hotel Gazette, who believes that the present shortage of meat and fats will not end with the coming of peace, but may grow more acute and continue for five or six years, thus making it worth while to develop menus of grain, vegetables and fish on a more or less permanent basis. Meat can be replaced by cereals and other protein foods, or may be served in very small portions as a flavoring for other food. In making up meatless menus this author finds our American, Greek and southern cuisines a broad field for investigation.

SPORTING JINGLES

Bad Johnson is not the most popular guy in the American league. Ty Cobb made 225 hits this year. Harry Germann will not be candidate for chairman of the national commission in 1920. Take in a wrestling tourney if you don't believe 400 pounds of these can make an awful fuss. Looks as though the International league will have a playless season in 1918. Since the Frawley lay crushed in, New York fight promoters are observing many catless days.

Date for Penn-Cornell Game. After a quarter of century the annual Penn vs. Cornell gridiron game will no longer be staged on Thanksgiving day in 1918. The colleges have agreed to meet Saturday, November 23, at Franklin field.

A Smart Blouse with Gathered Peplum.

the under-arm seams are closed, then the shoulder seams, as notched. Hem the front, then plait lower edges and adjust stay to position.

Take the vest next and plait at lower edge. Adjust on right underbody front and finish left side for closing.

To make the underwaist, close under-arm and sleeve seam as notched. Close back seam of waist. Gather between "T" perforations and 3 inches above. Line of small "o" perforations indicates center-front. Arrange on underbody, center-front, center-backs, under-arm seams and corresponding edges even. Bring the small "o" perforation nearer the under-arm seam in front to the back edge of vest and stitch gathers to position; leave under waist free forward of the small "o" perforation draw gathers to the desired size and stitch tape underneath.

Take the large collar and join front and back sections of collar as notched and sew to neck and front

A gathered peplum is featured on this handsome blouse of taffeta and chiffon cloth. It is an ideal model for the woman who is making over last season's clothes.

An attractive way to make a separate blouse is pictured here, and the most interesting thing about the model is the suggestion it offers for using make-overs. A bit of satin or taffeta that has seen former service, may be used to splendid advantage with some crepe de chine or Georgette. Perhaps the two materials may be a combination of garments of other seasons. The waist has a gathered peplum which is attached to a sleeveless outer waist with deep armholes and large collar. The collar is cut in two sections, extending to the waist in back and forming broad revers in front. There is a kimono underwaist with three-quarter length flowing sleeves. The waist closes in surplice style. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 38-inch material for underwaist, vest, collar and peplum and 1 1/2 yards 38-inch material for outer waist, collar, belt and trimming pieces.

The underbody, being in kimono effect, is very simple to make. First

Now Comes the Bungalow Dress.

Gather front and back (at upper edge) between "T" perforations. Slash front and back (at waistline) between the small "o" perforations, and finish edges of slashes to slip the belt through. Lap right front on left with center-fronts even (line of large "O" perforations indicates center-front) and finish for closing.

Close sleeve seam having rippled notches. Sew to armhole edge of front and back, matching notches. The yoke comes next. Close shoulder seam as notched; sew to upper edge of dress and to upper edge of sleeve, center-fronts and center-backs even; bring shoulder seam in

A serviceable style for everyday in this bungalow dress with round neck and short kimono sleeves. It is trimmed with buttons and braid.

It is a worthy rival of the bungalow apron—this new bungalow dress, with its round neck, short two-piece gaiter sleeves, gathered front and back, yoke and belt. It may be made of gingham, percale, chambray or madras, medium size requiring 6 yards 27-inch material. The front and back of the dress are slashed and the straight belt slipped through the openings. The patch pockets are also slashed at the top and the corners turned back.

To begin the apron, after consulting the construction guide carefully, turn hem in front at notches and stitch 2 inches from folded edge.

Maternity Dress in Blue Poplin.

the right front at center-front between the 2 large "O" perforations and finish the edges of slash. Close under-arm and shoulder seams as notched. Face collar and sew to neck and front edges of outer waist, center-backs and single notches even.

Arrange outer waist on underbody, center-fronts, center-backs, under-arm seams and corresponding edges even; sew lower edges together as far as the single small "o" perforation in outer waist and leave outer front free forward of the perforation. Slip the extension on left front through the slash in right front and fasten at back as illustrated.

Next, form a plait in sleeve, crossing on slot perforations, and bring folded edge to small "o" perforations, stitch along folded edge. Close seam of sleeve as notched. Sew sleeve in armhole as notched with small "o" perforation at shoulder seam ending in any fullness toward the notches. Hold the sleeve toward you when basting it in the armhole.

Now, join the skirt goes as notched. Slash to the left of center-front between double small "oo" perforations and finish the edges of slash for closing. Form plaits creasing on lines of slot perforations, bring folded edges to corresponding lines of small "o" perforations and press.

The stay can be adjusted to position on outside of skirt, now, center-fronts, center-backs, notches and upper edges even. Large "O" perforation in stay indicates center-front. Turn stay over on inside on line of small "o" perforations and stitch invisibly on under side 1/2 inch from folded edge, forming a casing and insert elastic the size of the normal waist and 1/2 inch wide to regulate the fullness. Adjust skirt on outer waist with upper edge 1 inch above the lower edge of waist, center-fronts and center-backs even, and close at left side front under the plait.

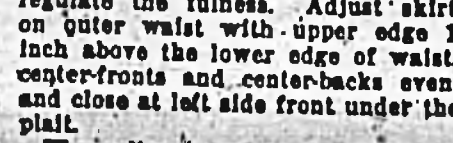

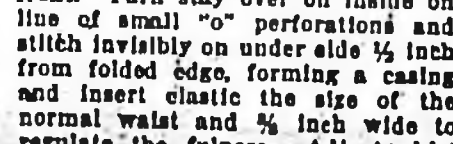

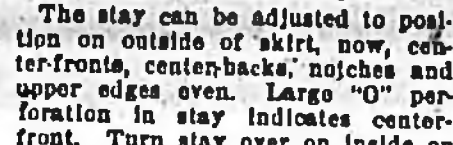

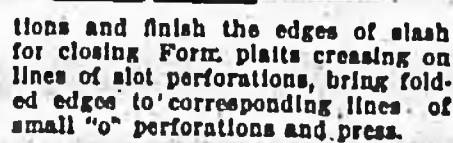

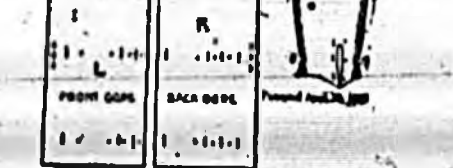

The collar is trimmed with fancy buttons to match the sleeves.

Blue poplin attractively and serviceably developed into a maternity costume. Buttons, a deep satin collar and belt of self-material trim the design.

A material that is both serviceable and neat for a maternity dress is blue poplin. It is attractive made up after this model, with light front of waist slashed so that the left side may be slipped through in sash effect. The open neck is finished with a collar having deep points at the front, while flare cuffs and buttons supply the details of the one-piece sleeves. The two-piece skirt is plaited in groups of three with panel plait effect in front. In medium size the model requires 8 1/2 yards 36-inch material, with 1/4 yards 36-inch lining for the underbody.

As a foundation, the underbody is very simple to make. Close under-arm and shoulder seams as notched, then hem the front. If the vestee is added, it may be made of organdy or chiffon. It is folded through the center on line of small "o" perforations, then adjusted to position on the underbody front, corresponding small "o" perforations at shoulder and single large "O" perforations being brought together. Tack, and lap vestee as illustrated on underbody.

To make the outer waist, slash

The New Pantalette Dress.

Under front and back on cross-lines of small "o" perforations and 1 inch above. Adjust stay underneath gathers, center-backs and front edges even; bring small "o" perforation in stay to under-arm seam. Large "O" perforation indicates center-front of stay. Stitch an inch-wide casing near lower edge of leg, with lower edge of casing at line of small "o" perforations, insert a tape or elastic to regulate the fullness.

Face the collar and sew to neck edge as notched, center-backs even. Then take the sleeve and close seam as notched. Gather lower edge between "T" perforations. Crease cuff O on slot perforations, lap folded edge to small "o" perforations and finish for closing. Sew cuff to sleeve and bring opening in cuff to small "o" perforation at lower edge of sleeve. Sew in armhole with notches and small "o" perforations even easing any fullness between the notches. Hold the sleeve toward you when basting it in the armhole.

Especially designed to meet the needs of the conservationists is this pantalette frock. It should be made of gingham or chambray.

For the woman who enters into the spirit of conservation in all of its phases, there is this pantalette dress. There is a separate skirt, but the waist and pantalettes are cut in one. The back extends over the shoulders forming a yoke effect in front, the open neck being finished with a square collar. In medium size the model requires 8 1/2 yards 30-inch material.

The construction guide must be studied carefully by the home dress maker, because the design is unusual. The pantalettes are made first, the under-arm and leg seams being closed as notched. Next, gather upper front edge of pantalettes between "T" perforations. Turn shoulder edge of back under on slot perforations, lap on front with notches and edges underneath even; stitch 1/2 inch from folded edge. Turn hem in front on small "o" perforations. Large "O" perforations indicate center-front. Close center seam from neck edge of back to hem in front.
