14 Hearings Held Before Housholder Durina February

Activities of the office of Seminole County's Juvenile Judge included 14 hearings during the month of February, Judge Ernest Housholder revealed today. The hearings were held in the judge's chambers.

The Juvenile Court committed four children to the Seminole County Jail during the past month. Two boys were sent to the Florida Industrial School at Marianna, said Judge Housholder, and one returned home from the school after completing the prescribed term there.

The activities of the Juvenile Judge also included one runaway child from Georgia being returned successfully to his home.

The Seminole County Sheriff reported six complaints on juveniles who were investigated by the judge's office.

Larry Jones, Juvenile Counselor for Judge Ernest Housholder, investigated 50 cases of absent students, both white and colored, from the Seminole County Schools. Five cases of neglect and child abuse were reported.

School Officials Praised By Bailey

"I want to commend your school officials for furnishing the leadership that made this school possible," Thomas D. Bailey, Superintendent of Public Instruction for the State of Florida, told a packed auditorium at Pinecrest School yesterday afternoon as the school was formally dedicated.

"Florida has been a leader for some time now in providing a school program for its youth," said Bailey who made the principle address as he was flanked by County and City officials and leaders on the platform of the school's modern stage.

"Our teachers in Florida today rank among the top three States with 98% of them having four year college degrees in comparison with 85% in 1940," he said. "They are better prepared to do a better job than ever before," Bailey told his audience.

However, as he painted a word picture of the school program throughout the State, and as he spoke of the children looking for homes for them—will there be an education, he said, "There's room in our hearts and in our room in our schools."

Bailey commended the legislature for their presentation of the school program of Florida and said, "We are on the threshold of greatness in this State."

"The American school today is the greatest single agency to which you and I can look to the improvement of our Democratic way of life," he said.

However, he said, we know we don't have the perfect institution, we know we have faults. But anyone who is critical of our schools should be willing to help improve them.

"It takes intelligent people today to take part in a democratic government," Bailey said.

And he concluded, "I now dedicate this modern school plant." (Continued On Page Eight)

Rotary Club Hears College Students Tell Of Native Homelands

Re-Dedication Is Held For Salvation Army Citadel Here

The work of The Salvation Army was begun 25 years ago in Sanford by Captains Jones and Bivans. Today we are not only re-dedicating this building in which the work was begun, we are also re-dedicating the work itself. These were the words of Lt. Colonel H. W. Young, Divisional Commander of The Salvation Army South Atlantic Division, as he gave the principal address at the re-dedication service of the remodeled Citadel, yesterday.

Ralph Smith chairman of the meeting stated that William Booth, the founder of The Salvation Army, once said that, "The Salvation Army was begun under one hat and I wore that hat."

"Since that time," stated Smith, "The Salvation Army has grown to be a world-wide organization serving in 80 countries and colonies."

"The Army has also grown since its beginning in Sanford, and today marks an accomplishment which will enable the services of this organization to be extended to more people," stated Smith.

The stirring marches and melodic selections heard in the preliminary music were rendered by The Orlando Ceceps Band under the leadership of Bandmaster Nicholas, St. Captain Bert Rowland, Commanding Officer of the Orlando Corps, after the invocation, immediately followed by the Scripture reading which was read to the congregation by Mrs. Lt. Colonel H. W. Young, Sergeant Beverly Nichols, of the Orlando Corps, offered a vocal solo, "Bless This House," after which guests of the local Corps were remarked of the history and program by Ralph Smith, chairman of the Advisory Board.

Lieutenant Raymond Luce, commanding officer of the Sanford Corps, extended to the Salvation Army, and to the local visitors at the special program, a warm welcome.

Following the re-dedication address by Lt. Colonel Young, the Rev. Robert Spear Jr., pastor of the Sanford Nazarene Church, offered the prayer of a-dedication, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" was the congregational hymn sung, before Captain Vern Hall, Commanding Officer of the Ocala Corps, gave the benediction.

Three Countries Viewed

The advancement of international understanding, good will and peace, got another boost today at the Sanford Rotary Club when three young students at Rollins College spoke of their homelands.

A young man from Puerto Rico, and another from Venezuela, and two young ladies, one from Brazil and the other from Cuba, the Rotary Club members a clear insight into the three countries which are "good neighbors" to the United States.

Mrs. Dorothy Evelyn explained today that her father was born in British Guiana, a descendant of the well-known English diarist and historian John Evelyn. Her mother too, was born in British Guiana. The 19-year-old native of Brazil told the Rotary Club that she attended an English school, "Escola Britanica," and then a private school "Colegio Notre Dame". Her high school courses were English, Portuguese, French, Latin, geography, history, science, math, home economics, religion and art.

An outstanding athlete, she has participated in track, javelin, discus, broad jump, basketball and volleyball. She cooks, sews, knits, crochets and embroiders and admits that she makes most of her own clothes.

Mrs. Evelyn is attending Rollins on the Central Florida Scholarship, the Algerion Sydney Sullivan monetary award and a loan scholarship. She gets no help from home financially, she said, since she must help her sister attend school and her brother attain his master's degree.

She has done odd jobs to help pay her way through school including work at the College Post Office, sewing for a seamstress, typing and counseling at a girl scout camp. On many occasions she has done the Samba in her native costume and talked over TV stations on Brazil.

"God was nice to me," explained 19-year-old Elina Aguerro, as she explained that she was among seven girls selected by the Rotary Club of Daytona Beach to attend Seabree High School on a scholarship. "I learned to understand and like more than ever the American people and I believe I have helped American people to understand us," she said.

Attending Rollins College on a Rotary Club Scholarship, Miss Aguerro explained that the Daytona Beach Rotary Club helps her each month with money to help her through college.

"My major is International Relations and I dream to be in the diplomatic service some day," she says.

Miss Aguerro told the Rotary Club today that she is the daughter of a newspaperman and has a sister who is a high school senior and two brothers one 13 and the other 20.

Vicente Antonetti of Puerto Rico also told of his plans for the future as well as his family and experiences in his homelands.

The three speakers were introduced by Mrs. Robert E. Withersell secretary to Dr. A. J. Hanna of Rollins College.

People Slowly Fouling Very Air They Breathe

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 50 hours 20 people were dead. Another smog squatted over the refinery town of Pozo Rica, Mexico, 1953, leaving 22 dead and 320 in need of medical care.

The great London smog of 1953 set off a wave of respiratory illnesses and hastened an estimated 4,000 deaths.

A study by W. C. L. Hemen, director of the Industrial Hygiene Foundation of America at Pittsburgh, indicates the killers in the London and Donora smogs were acidic salts from coal smoke that dried the fluids in the respiratory tracts and caused irritations.

Each of these fatal smogs has been brought about by a peculiar weather condition known as temperature inversion.

Smogs occur most frequently in natural bowls and in river and lake valleys. Masses of warm air moving down from the upper atmosphere settle over the bowls and become compressed. When the mass drops low enough to touch the sides of the bowl, it is considerably warmer than the air at ground level.

Since cool air has a tendency to settle and the warm air already is pressing downward, this mass lies like a blanket over the community, holding and concentrating the air pollutants.

In most cities there is enough turbulence in the air to carry off or disperse much of the pollution.

Part of the research by the federal government will be a study of these temperature inversions.

N. L. Faith, chief engineer for the Air Pollution Foundation in Los Angeles, said, "There is evidence that automobile exhaust is the No. 1 culprit in air pollution."

One major byproduct of the air pollution study in Los Angeles was the announced discovery by Dr. Paul Kotin of chemicals in the air which caused skin cancer in mice.

Dr. Greenburg, in hearings on air pollution legislation last year in New York, put the finger on automobile exhausts, too, saying "they may be a factor in the recent alarming increase in lung cancer."

While the automobile industry does not concede the apparent connection between exhaust fumes and air pollution, it is giving considerable study to the problem.

Eight different automobile makers spent more than a million dollars last year in a joint effort to control the release of hydrocarbons from exhausts. One of their experiments, so far unsuccessful but promising, involves the use of an after-burner on tailpipes.

Aside from the health problem, economic loss because of air pollution is enormous.

Metals corrode, synthetic fabrics are damaged, buildings are streaked with soot and so, for that matter, is your home. Soiling generally is a big factor.

An economist, Weldon B. Gibson, in 1949 estimated the annual bill to be more than $10 each for every man, woman and child.

If Gibson's figures are still valid the loss today would figure out to something like $1,600,000,000 annually.

In September of last year industry suffered the loss of its first suit for personal damages because of air pollution. There have been a large number of suits by employees under workmen's compensation laws, many of them successful, but none quite like this.

Paul Martin, his wife and daughter raised cattle on a 1,500-acre ranch near the Reynolds metal plant on the Columbia River near Troutdale, Ore. Reynolds makes aluminum and the smelting process gives off fluoride fumes.

Martin claimed his first damage in 1950 when his cattle, pastured about a mile from the plant, became ill. The court decided the cattle suffered fluorosis and awarded Martin $47,000.

Dog's Life Might Be Better

NEW YORK (AP) — The next time you feel the need for sympathy, don't complain that you're living a dog's life. It might be better than your own.

A dog's life, canine specialists agree, is getting better and longer all the time.

His life expectancy is up about 30 per cent. Vaccines and antibiotics have all but eliminated many of his diseases and eased the effects of many once fatal infections.

New techniques in surgery are being applied in his behalf. He is getting better food and, on the whole, receiving better care both in ailments and in health.

But not all of these blessings are unshared. Like man, the dog is running into certain penalties that come with longer life. More and more, he is suffering ailments normally associated with old age. And because he is living longer, his numbers are increasing far beyond the demand for dogs.

Dr. Hadley C. Stephenson, professor of veterinary medicine at Cornell University, said recently the average life expectancy for a dog is now about 12 years.

"Many live longer than that," Dr. Stephenson told the Oklahoma Veterinary Medical Assn. "There are 300 dogs in the country that I know which are 17 years old or more. That's about 80 years in humans. The average dog used to live to be about 7 or 8."

At Iowa State College, Dr. Hugh Simpson has specialized in an operation to restore the vision of dogs afflicted by cataracts. Since December 1954 he has performed 85 such operations, most of them successful.

Dr. Stephenson estimated there are 23 million dogs in 17 million homes today. There is the matter of dogs without homes or in Vague) and Alice Pearce. "We haven't had any problems," remarked director Miller, not even pausing to knock on wood. "All the girls have been as nice as they can be."

"Of course, I took pains to see that there would be no cause for irritation. In the matter of wardrobe, the finest of fabrics and designs were chosen for each of them. Each was asked if she was satisfied with her clothes, and efforts were made to follow whatever suggestions they had."

"Before production started," Miller added, "I had them come to my office individually and rehearse their parts. I wanted them to understand and be satisfied with their characterizations. In a picture with so many characters, you're apt to lose sight of some of them if they're not firmly in mind beforehand."

Actresses sometimes blow up if they find another star has a bigger dressing room. Miller said he solved that by ordering 11 dressing rooms all the same size.

"Far from having friction, the girls have done everything to get along. You'd think there would be an uneasy situation because of Alyson and Blondell having been married to the same man (Dick Powell), but there isn't," Miller said.

Fifty million steelhead trout eggs from the west coast are being played in Michigan streams.

David Miller Least Envied Man Among Film Directors

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The least envied man among film directors is David Miller, who has the tough task of guiding 11 actresses in a movie about women.

Miller, 25-year veteran of film making despite his youthful looks, is directing "The Opposite Sex." It's a modern, musicalized version of "The Women," written by the ambassador to Italy, Clara Booth Luce. Now well into the shooting, Miller says his dolls are happy as clams.

Such was not the case in the first filming of the play (1939). It starred such high-powered people as Norma Shearer, Joan Crawford, Rosalind Russell, Joan Fontaine, etc. Reports are that the queens would vie to see who could arrive on the set last.

The new version has such figures as June Allyson, Ann Sheridan, Joan Collins, Dolores Gray, Ann Miller, Joan Blondell, Vivienne Segal, Barbara Jo Allen (Vera

Support Organization That Helps Needy; Join Red Cross Today!

Many of us often forget about the Red Cross from year to year—and depend upon the remainder during March about the membership drive and fund campaign on which it so heavily depends.

Around the world, throughout our country in every State, and right here in our community there are those who daily depend on the Red Cross for help in their time of need and stress.

When trouble or disaster strikes, however, our thoughts immediately turn to the humanitarian organization which through 76 years of continual service, has been on hand to alleviate suffering and to ease the burdens of those who are deprived of home and livelihood.

Last Thursday, here in Sanford and in practically every community in the United States, volunteer workers started their annual Red Cross Roll Call.

A membership in the Red Cross, as generally accepted, is one dollar. However, no limit is placed on the amount that they may contribute as our gift for the work that this humanitarian organization completes every year.

Here in Sanford, there has been no calamity of a community-wide scope, at least not in recent history. But there is no reason to believe that it could not happen here. If we are assured that time should come—you may be assured that the Red Cross will be on hand to lead their aid in the time of need.

We can recall with vivid mental pictures the disasters caused by floods in the north and in northern California—the hurricanes that wiped out villages and towns—fires that threatened to take away life and limb—our boys overseas and in camps away from home. It was there that the Red Cross gave a helping hand as thousands of dollars poured into those areas to give relief to suffering humanity—hundreds of workers appeared on the scene to survey the damage, assist in the care of the wounded and injured—to take care of the homeless—and guide a struggling band of citizens back to normalcy again.

Thousands upon thousands of dollars are needed to carry on this work in the year ahead and the Red Cross—those who know what suffering really is because of their actual contact with it call on us to pour out our hearts in the form of memberships in the American Red Cross.

No doubt someone will call on you and ask you to become a member of the Red Cross. Before you offer your gift—survey in your own mind all that has been done in the past year alone and measure your gift accordingly.

Just remember what has been done for others and put yourself in the shoes of those who suffered and imagine, if you can, what you would like to receive.

Many of our community leaders are volunteering their time and effort to make this year's fund campaign a complete success. A budget has been set and from that a goal has been taken that amounts to only $8,000 or a little more for one of Florida's fastest growing communities.

Of the total goal, $1,300 has already been subscribed and pledged by the personnel of the Sanford Naval Auxiliary Air Station which leaves to Sanford itself and Seminole County as a whole, a very small budget to meet.

This time there should be no monthlong campaign. With a goal so small, the total should be reached in just a few days.

With the wholehearted cooperation of every Seminole County citizen the task is small. If you have no one calling on you in the next few days, we suggest that you call 800 and ask someone to pick up your membership. Or you can do it still easier. Just make out your check and mail it to the Seminole County Chapter, American Red Cross, Sanford.

We should have to say very little more to make the March 1956 Seminole County Chapter, American Red Cross membership and fund raising campaign a complete and overwhelming success.

Suppose we adopt this habit. Every time you meet your friends this week, why not ask them the question "Have you joined the Red Cross?" Make yourself a volunteer worker and enlist your entire neighborhood in the biggest and most complete campaign in history.

The Red Cross needs your help. Disaster strikes without notice and without any warning whatsoever. Funds are needed then to cope with the problems which confront the trained workers who meet this disaster and calamity right full in the face.

Be a Red Cross member tomorrow. Let it not be said that any of us let our neighbor down when the need is so great. That neighbor may be next door, in your hometown, in your home State, in Germany, Korea, or wherever there may be a Red Cross worker to hear the cry for help.

The Red Cross cannot function, cannot move, cannot turn its hand, without your help and mine.
 Join the Red Cross today.

NO-CONFIDENCE MAN

Seminole County Business One Of Many Issues

By SAM DAWSON
 NEW YORK (AP)—Business rather than the presidential campaign is expected to be one of the many issues in the presidential campaign. The enthusiasm voiced by many top industrialists and financiers over President Eisenhower's decision to run again sounded mostly one note: it would bolster business confidence.

The business leaders appeared to accept the belief widely held—rightly or wrongly—that this is a "businessman's administration."

Opponents of the administration may be expected to step up their charges—right or wrong—that Washington's policies of the last three years have tended to favor the interests of business, to make "big business" bigger and to make competition rough for small business.

Business has been increasingly sensitive about its position and about public opinion in the last 20 years or so. Particularly since World War II, business leaders have tried hard to "get the business story across"—to make the rank and file of the citizenry understand that healthy business meant a generally healthy nation, that business wasn't a wholly selfish thing but had the general welfare at heart too.

Business leaders realize that

Nixon Feels Self-Conscious

By JAMES MARLOW
 WASHINGTON (AP)—Richard M. Nixon—tall, dark, 43, and an unusually active vice president—can't help feeling self-conscious. At this moment he doesn't know whether the Republicans will pick him to run again.

But he has plenty of time—between now and his party's convention next August—to work to keep his job and wonder what, if anything, he's done wrong.

He has worked hard for the Republican party—and for himself, of course, since he is ambitious—and for President Eisenhower, who has repeatedly praised him. He has strong Republican support in Congress and among state chairmen and national committeemen. But there is some Republican sentiment for ditching him. He has been a controversial figure—certainly among Democrats.

When the time came for Eisenhower to say he'd run again—as he did Wednesday—he lauded Nixon once more but declined to say whether he wanted his vice president as a running mate again in 1960. He will wait until the convention, he said.

Eisenhower knows that because of his health the voters this year will give solemn thought to the President and his choice. He chooses that a vote for the vice president on Eisenhower's ticket may be a vote for president.

Nixon was a hard campaigner in 1952, and again in the 1954 congressional campaign, which the Republicans lost. The Democrats, shooting around Eisenhower, made Nixon a main target just as he did with them.

Nixon said the usual things. He called the Democrats "Doomocrats" and "Democrats" and he spoke of then President Truman as that "piano-playing letter writer."

Those weren't the things which turned the Democrats' fury against him. It was the way he charged them with being "soft" on communism, and with letting Communists penetrate the government.

Truman apparently despised him. Last November Truman was quoted—later denied—using profanity—saying "I don't like the ——" and "I don't care who knows it."

Last Feb. 3 Truman exploded hardest. He accused Nixon of having called him a traitor. Nixon on Feb. 13 denied he had called Truman a traitor or the Democratic party a traitor of treason. Leonard W. Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, said he'd give $1,000 to charity if Truman could prove Nixon called him a traitor.

Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said Hall was "splitting hairs" and trying to "clean up" Nixon for the 1954 campaign. He didn't show where Nixon had actually called Truman a traitor.

But he said Nixon tried to give that impression and accused him of being the "leading practitioner of a cruel and malignant political weapon—the net-quite-libelous smear."

Without calling them traitors to their country, Nixon once did use the word in speaking of Truman, former Secretary of State Dean Acheson and 1952 Democratic presidential nominee Adlai E. Stevenson. On Oct. 27, 1952, he said those three men were:

"Traitors to the high principles in which many of the nation's Democrats believe. Real Democrats are outraged by the Truman Acheson-Stevenson gang's toleration and defense of communism in high places."

STRIKE CALLED

LAKELAND (AP)—Otis G. Nation has called a strike of his citrus pickers union for April 2. He says there are 8,000 workers in the organization.

Nation also reports he is asking the Florida State Employment Service to remove certifications for migratory workers imported from the West Indies to work in groves.

He said such migratory workers are not, under the law, permitted to work during a strike.

The union is an independent one.

Answer To Retirement Blues

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK (AP)—There are people who do want to do it in this world—whatever there's to be done—and there are those who don't care.

John B. Crooks always did what was to be done. He always smiled, but he also held behind his smile the fierce pride all true craftsmen have in a job they love.

Last summer, after 23 years in the same old salt mine, Johnny Crooks was put out to pasture on a well-earned pension. But, like many another retired man, he became desperately unhappy. He could himself by going out and taking a job in a new field.

The best remedy for retirement blues might be interested in Johnny's story. Here it is:

In 1928 Johnny, a handy-legged boy of 14, solemn in the dignity of those bristles and bowler hat, applied for and received the post of night office boy for the Associated Press, then as now the world's largest news gathering organization, for a salary of $4.30 a week. The day office boys got $2.50.

It was a big sacrifice for Johnny. In his heart he really wanted to be a jockey. He was built for it in aliveness of body and a whip-like agility of mind.

Instead he became a typewriter boy, one of the fastest of his day.

For 40 years he was the news messenger of the Associated Press, filing on cards the history of a generation of news as it was made each day to day.

He also filed in his heart, and when you asked him for it—well, it was there, Johnny was a long keeper in loyalty. He was strictly an organization man. He didn't get to travel much himself—there was a family to be raised—but he traveled and suffered in spirit with scenes of foreign correspondents.

His closest buddy was the late Bill Miller, dean of war reporters at his time, whom Gandhi once said he expected would be walking in heaven. They both have reached heaven, close then, but Jim hasn't found a way to get the story through.

When Johnny Crooks, this shining reservoir of news history, went to pasture last summer there was a big gap left in the office where he had worked for so long. It was a spiritual thing.

Johnny wasn't happy either. He cherished the inscribed gold watch it was what he wanted—and other farworn souvenir gifts for more than half a century of service. He had the pension. He also was free now every day to watch the morning workouts at racetracks where, as a boy, he had dreamed of riding.

But he missed the daily bugle of duty, the active feeling of belonging.

After nine endless, restless weeks, Johnny heard of a part-time stenographic job in a Wall Street law firm, applied for it and got it.

He found age no handicap in adjusting to a new job technique. He is buoyant again, happy in new loyalties. The name of the firm that gave him this break—Johnny says if I mention it please make him a partner—is Flood, Conway, Walsh, Stahl—and Johnny Crooks.

Johnny, who has more bounce to the ounce at 68 than many a man half his age, gives this as his personal recipe for keeping pep:

"Don't despair. Don't overeat. Do everything in moderation. And attend church regularly."

Rare Lung Infection Strikes Victim Suddenly

By HENMAN H. HUNTER, M.D.
 THE word laryngotracheobronchitis is almost unknown in itself, but the disease it stands for is no joking matter. It is an acute respiratory infection.

Grave Outlook
 The outlook for a victim of this infection is grave. Pneumonia develops as a part of the disease instead of becoming a complication.

While laryngotracheobronchitis can occur at any age, it usually attacks infants and children. Fortunately, it is relatively rare.

It Strikes Suddenly
 Most cases occur in late winter or in early spring. The disease strikes suddenly. Sometimes it might attack during a cold, but usually the victims have been in apparent good health.

At the onset, the patient will become restless and excited. He will breathe only with difficulty. He may cough almost continuously, but will be able to bring up little despite the heavy secretions which threaten to block his throat. Breathing also serves to increase breathing and his fever will be high.

Swampy Secretions
 A doctor should be summoned immediately. He may have to perform a tracheotomy to permit easier breathing and he will prescribe antibiotics and sulfonamides right away.

Humidity in the bedroom should be kept high—about 90 per cent—but the temperature should not be permitted to rise above 78 degrees.

This can be accomplished best with special vaporizing devices which raise the humidity without permeating the room with steam. Generally, steam vaporizers of boiling water in a pan or pot will overheat the room.

Don't smother the patient's face. Handle him gently. Your doctor may prescribe phenobarbital in small doses to prevent him from becoming restless.

Oxygen should be given to help him breathe. Sometimes a doctor may use a Mother Liquefying device—a semipermeable metal tube from 12 to 18 inches long—to provide an air passage through the clogged throat while preparing for a tracheotomy.

Swampy Air
 J. E. I. has a sun lamp daily. Can any harm come from it?
 Answer: It is doubtful that any harm can occur from short daily exposure to an ultraviolet lamp or sun lamp. However, excessive exposure to the lamp can cause chronic skin disorders.

Margarette Gregory To Marry Ed Satterfield In June Rites

Your Girl Scouts

BY Miss C.
Hello! Hello! Hello!
Here we are again. Hope you are waiting to read what the rest of our laws mean to us.
"A Girl Scout is a friend to animals." We teach kindness to all. The girls are taught how to care for pets. Almost everyone loves a pet. There are very few homes that don't have some kind of a pet. Wouldn't it be wonderful to help a group of girls form a new Scout or Brownie troop and let them know that they too are "Pets" of yours?
"A Girl Scout obeys orders." Obedience is one of the laws of Girl Scouts are taught that obedience to the law is essential. They are to obey those who are responsible for their welfare whether they like it or not. Self discipline that comes from obeying is just as important as courage. It takes courage and integrity! This is just another of the things you can help the girls learn by aiding us to secure the kind of leaders they need.
"A Girl Scout is cheerful." Doesn't it make you feel wonderful to see happy girls? To help her have good companionship, leadership and training is an almost positive way to put a smile on a little girl's face. Contentment and pleasure lead to smiles. Joy and happiness are catching.
"A Girl Scout is thrifty." Being thrifty doesn't mean having that things you want and need but using what you have wisely. Not only money and material things but your time and health as well.
How many of us are using our time, talents and energy wisely? A Girl Scout troop is a good place to use it to a good advantage.
"A Girl Scout is clean in thought, word and deed." Our girls are taught to respect their minds and bodies so that their actions are such that others respect them too. If thoughts are directed to things worth while she will not stoop to words and deeds that will bring shame upon herself or others. If your minds are kept clean, your thoughts cause your words and deeds to be clean and good. We were all made by God, in His image and likeness and to fulfill His purpose, therefore we must so live that we will be worthy of our Creator.
That is our Girl Scout Laws and what we try to teach. May you all feel as I do that no bad can come out of a program such as this and you will offer your help. WE NEED YOU ALL!
I'll try to keep in touch with you all so until then we are hoping for more—Good Scouting!

Also an announcement was made of the reception to be held April 23 honoring all the dignitaries. Any member desiring to attend Grand Chapter was asked to please contact the Worthy Matron.
The Chapter was saddened by the passing of one of its past Matrons, Mrs. Pearl Tyre.
The Chapter room was beautifully decorated with baskets of white snap dragons and a smaller vase of dog wood was placed on the pedestal in the East.
During the social hour, Mrs. Marjorie Shepard and her committee invited everyone to the dining room for lovely party refreshments.
Delicately sandwiches and lovely green frosted cookies and orange juice were served. The serving table was beautifully decorated with green and white streamers. White candles cast a soft glow over a beautifully appointed punch bowl and pink azaleas adorned the table. Approximately 50 members and visitors were present.

Four Berths Remain Empty in NCAA Basketball Tourney

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press
Only four berths remained empty today in the sprawling, 25-team NCAA championship basketball tournament, and two of the vacancies may be filled by tonight.

All four spots are reserved for conference champions—the Southeastern, Big Ten, Big Seven and Ohio Valley.

The SEC is putting its entry to a vote. Alabama, already in possession of its first title since 1934, ordinarily would get the berth.

But because the Tide's five regulars are four-year men and ineligible under NCAA rules, the SEC members must decide whether to send Alabama's second team or Kentucky, which would get second in the conference.

Iowa can collar the Big Ten title and journey berth by getting past Indiana tonight at Iowa City.

The Big Seven could be decided tomorrow night with a Kansas State victory over Kansas.

Western Kentucky and Tennessee Tech meet in the first phase of a three-way playoff for the Ohio Valley title Wednesday. The winner then meets Morehead Ky. Thursday for the crown.

Five teams gained berths by winning conference crowns over the weekend.

N.C. State swept through the Atlantic Coast Conference tourney as Vic Melodet set a three-game playoff record by scoring 70 points clipping Wake Forest 76-64 in the final.

West Virginia repeated in the Southern, defeating Richmond 59-58 in its tourney finale on Sat. Rod Hundley's layup with 43 seconds left.

Dartmouth won its first Ivy crown in 10 years after losing three of its four league games. The Indians rallied and capped a nine-game winning streak by beating Brown 90-79 in double overtime.

Houston, though idle, won its first Missouri Valley title as Oklahoma A&M eliminated St. Louis 82-69.

UCLA clinched the Pacific Coast title by sweeping California in a pair 85-80 and 84-82.

Rundown On Facts In Wes Santee Case

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—You can't tell the players without a program, so here's a rundown on the principals in the strangest track and field case in American history:

Wes Santee—America's No. 1 miler. Suspended for life by the Amateur Athletic Union for accepting excessive expenses after being cleared by his own district association on the same charges.

A temporary injunction enabled him to run in the Knights of Columbus Columbian Mile last Saturday. His winning time was 4:13.8.

Charles P. Grimes—Santee's attorney, and off the results thus far, a mighty successful one. He fought off an AAU appeal.

Pinky Kober—Chief of the AAU's track and field committee, who wrote the report that convicted Santee. He acts as announcer at Madison Square Garden meets and only he knows how he felt when he was forced to announce Santee as an entry in the mile.

Dan Ferris—The big man in the AAU, who usually says nothing that might get him in trouble on any side. This time he thought he was on safe ground, though, and warned meet promoters that they'd be thrown out of the AAU, if they had any truck with Santee. The courts decided otherwise and he had to back down.

A very Brundage—Here's the key man All-powerful in Olympic circles, athletes, coaches and governments fear him. To put it mildly, he is no admirer of Santee.

Santee's temporary injunction runs out Friday and a hearing will be held in New York State Supreme Court to determine if it should be made permanent. If it is made permanent, then the miler is an amateur in good standing no matter what the AAU says and he'll go in the Milwaukee Journal Games Saturday.

Before the Columbian Mile, Brundage thundered from his California retreat:

"If I were those amateurs, I wouldn't run against Santee."

That was enough for anyone. Most of the other big names checked out. They ran in a "special" mile, won by Ron Delany in 4:11.4.

The rest of the K. of C. meet was buried under the Santee controversy, but there were some fine performances, namely Dor Bragg's 15-15 1/2 pole vault and George Snyder's 6:1 60-yard dash. Bragg's effort was the highest ever in the Garden and Snyder's clocking equaled the world indoor record for the distance held by numerous runners.

Other winners were Charlie Pratt of the Army in the 60-yard hurdles (7.2), Charlie Jenkins of Villanova in the 600 (1:10.3), Horace Ashenfeller of the New York A. C. in the two-mile (9:05.3) and Frank McLaughlin of St. Joseph's of Philadelphia in the 1,000 (2:14.1).

Justice of the Peace To Be Candidate For Re-Election

Justice of the Peace W. Hugh Duncan, announced today his candidacy for re-election of the office of Justice of the Peace, Fourth District, in Seminole County, subject to the Democratic Primary of May 8.

"I deeply appreciate the confidence bestowed upon me by the people in electing me to serve them during this four year term, and have at all times made myself and my services available to the people and the Peace Officers at any and all hours when called upon," Duncan said in making his announcement.

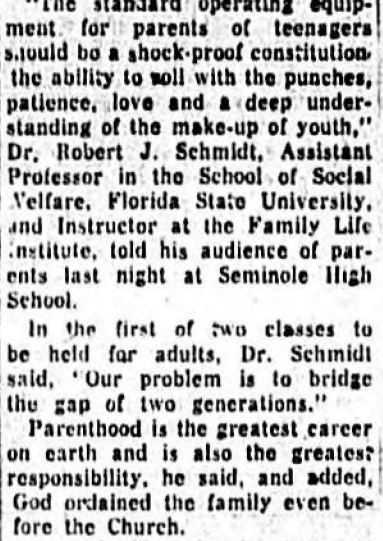

"During my present term I have handled almost 2,000 criminal cases and processed them through this Court at no one cent cost to the tax payers of this County."

Duncan was born 50 years ago at Boynton (Franklin County), Ga. He was educated in the schools there and came to Sanford in 1923. He married the former Lenora Edwards of Colbert, Ga. They have three children and two grandchildren. They reside at 803 Catalina Drive in Sanford.

"This office has been dormant for several years when I assumed the post in January 1953 and I have made every effort to give our citizens the service they deserve and have kept the office of Justice of the Peace the closest to the people of all our offices," Duncan said. "If re-elected I plan several improvements in the services during the next four years."

Duncan is a member of the First Baptist Church of Sanford, Secretary of the Sanford Lions Club, a member of the Elks, the Florida Association of Justices of the Peace and Constables, the Peace Officers Association, and the Seminole County Sportsman's Association.

He said, "I feel that we would get better and more rounded representation in our State Legislature if we elect a better cross section of our business and professional leaders, and for that reason, being a small businessman with an outlook toward growth of both our County and State, I am announcing my candidacy for this important office of our State government."

"Every citizen likes to see his or her government operated on a business-like basis," said Bales. "Therefore, with a businessman elected to represent the people of our County, Seminole County can be assured of a practical representative looking after the affairs of their State and County government," he said.

75,000th Landing Made

Heavy Attack Squadron Five while conducting carrier qualification operations aboard the USS Coral Sea recently had the honor of completing the 75,000th landing made aboard that ship.

Lt. Bill Hill and Aviation Electrician 2c Edward Crisman, both residents of Sanford, were awarded a giant decorated cake honoring the event by Coral Sea skipper, Capt. William E. Gentner.

As the memorable landing was made at night, the usual ceremonies of having the cake shared by the ship's deck crew were dispensed with. The cake was airlifted under guard, to the U.S.N.A.A.S. where all hands of VAH-5 helped dispose of it in the customary manner.

The 75,000th landing also marked Hill becoming the first "Savage Son" to complete the squadron's day-night-all-weather carrier landing syllabus in the A3 aircraft.

This week the squadron is conducting exercises aboard the USS Randolph, a carrier newly converted to the angled flight deck.

JUDGE ERNEST HOUSHOLDER
Housholder Pays Qualifying Fees For Re-Election

Judge Ernest Housholder today announced that he is a candidate for re-election and has paid his qualifying fees for such privilege in the sum of $400.

The Judge says "that it is coincidental that at this same time 40 years ago that the people of Seminole County elected me to my first public office and that was County Judge."

Miller told the press this week that he feels that the tremendous growth now being enjoyed by Seminole and Brevard Counties is sufficient to entitle each of these counties to a Senator of its own.

Miller contended that the promotion of legislation that will benefit Seminole and Brevard Counties is a big business enterprise and should be entrusted to a tried and tested successful business man. He is the proprietor of the Paul Miller Motel Apartments in Indian Lake and was formerly the owner of the Packard Automobile agency in Melbourne.

Mrs. Katherine Miller has been named campaign treasurer for her husband.

Action Relaxes Tension

Buford Boone, publisher of the Tuscaloosa News, Tuscaloosa, Ala., said in a telephone interview today that Autherine Lucy would have been "killed" had she returned to the University of Alabama.

He said that action by the board of trustees had "considerably relaxed the tension" in the Alabama city which has rocked with racial news since the Negro sued for admission.

"It's beyond comprehension and imagination what an extremely serious situation we had up here," the well-known southern publisher said.

Miss Lucy, 26, was "permanently expelled" by the board of trustees of the 123-year-old university at a secret meeting last Wednesday night.

The trustee's action came within hours of an order from Federal Judge H. Hobart Grooms ordering her readmission to the university. She had been suspended Feb. 6 after riots on the campus over her presence.

Commenting on the Autherine case, Boone told The Sanford Herald "We were on the rugged edge of mass murder. She would have been killed if she had returned."

The publisher has worked with Gov. Jim Folsom and other members of the press in Alabama to work out a solution to the racial problem.

Letter Will Solve Dilemma Over Road

A letter will solve the difficulties which grew out of a complaint that a Seminole County road was hazardous, according to a motion made this morning at the meeting of the Seminole County Board of Commissioners.

E. D. Reinhart was notified, through the Seminole County Attorney, that dirt was removed from a road on the West side of Seminole County.

According to an agreement this morning, Reinhart will receive a letter stating that "there is no basis for the complaint on the removal of dirt," signed by the Board of County Commissioners.

Mrs. Reinhart speaking to the Commissioners following the agreement on the letter said, "We do not wish to imply that Mr. John Meisch has neglected the road for it has been scraped time and time again."

Revealing that there will be additional construction on another section of property, Reinhart asked the Commissioners, "I am wondering if there is any animosity — I know that I have not made anyone fonder of me?"

Commissioner Otis Fouracre said, "I don't think that there is anyone on this Board that will take that attitude."

Reinhart said that he was in a hazardous condition and when I see something hazardous I will report it."
