Serve Cups in Cups

THE Biblical reference to "blind guides, which strain at a guat, and swallow a came!" (Matthew, xxIII, 24) is paralleled by the more modern problem of the housewife who will not serve soap because she has no soup plates. No one could reasonably ask her or her family to swallow camels—but why not serve the soup in cups?

Arthur Brisbane, famous editor, is responsible for this brilliant suggestion. He recently wrote:

"I consider good soup to be the most important item of food on the whole list, and I suggest that housewives be reminded that for children, and for all purposes, the cup is the simplest, most easily handled receptacle for soup.

Every Household Has Them Every Household Has Them

"Every household has coffee cups or tea cups. They can be pushed aside on the table after the soul is Inished, and the rest of the meal can go on, the plate on which the cup rested being the dinner plate.

"I think it would be a good thing to let people realize that youp of itself, with bread added, in the soup, or vegetables, potatoes, or other things in the soup, constitutes a complete meal."

All Sorts of Soupe

And what a variety of soups ar-available, already prepared—in cans. There are asparagus and beel soups, beel bouillon, chicken soup, clan-broth, clam chowder, consomra-Julienne, mulligatawny, mutten broth, okra onion, oxtail, oyster pea, pepper pot purés of bean-and celery, plain soup stock, towate, erseam tomate purée, totomato cream, tomato purée, to-mato-okra, green turtle, moci-turtle, vegetable soup and ver-micelli. Just get a can and fill your cupa.

You know him of course; he's the merchant who so kindly extended you credit when you asked for it. And no wonder you are ashamed to look him in the face after neglecting the statements he sent you.

Getting right down to brass tacks don't you think a merchant is mighty obliging when he extends you credit? Don't you think he's a pretty good follow to let you have merchandise that cost him REAL MONEY, on YOUR face value?

Are you going to ruin your good name by allowing bills to go unpaid; ruin credit that you obtained by having a good reputation?

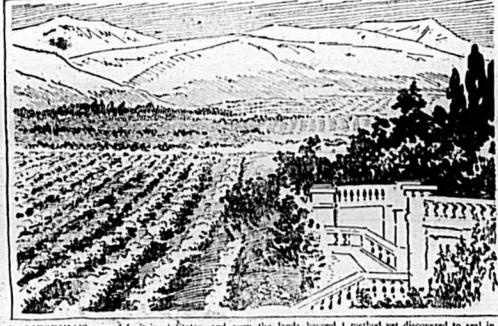

There may come a day when you will need credit solely; if you keep in good standing now the time of need will find everyone generously ready to help you.

CALIFORNIA'S CANNED FRUITS

(ALIFORNIA'S canned fruit industry nets this great Western much every year as its annual pro-duction of gold. How inconceivable duction of gold. How mooncevatic this statement would have seemed to the Forty-niners who treked across the prairies in covered wagons or circled the Horn in sailing ships in quest of California's precious yellow metal in the early days of the gold-rush. Communities sprang up almost overnight at that time, and it is curious to recall that in California, today's land of plenty in whose peace and sunshine so many, people go to spend their declining years, port this sudden new population.

But there were a few far sighted men among those pioneers who saw that California's real wealth lay in her sunshine and the soil of her fertile valleys. These were the men who started that State's great fruit

More than ninety per cent of this country's canned peaches and practically all of its apricots are packed in California plants. The cenning of fruits there today has become a highly specialized industry, and many varieties have been developed which are particularly adapted to

An Army of Experts

Experts watch every step in the growing of these fruits, from the selection of the stock, care of the soil, cultivation and pruning, to the picking of the perfect sun-ripened product at exactly the right time. The orchards are carefully located in just those parts of the State n just those parts of the State here each variety grows best. Play Ball

The crack of a hickory bat against a horsehide covered sphere will be music to the ears of many fans this afternoon when America's Big League baseball teams begin their race for the pennant championship. Foul weather is pre-dicted for most of the "openers" but that will not detract from the enthusiasm of the spectators, many of whom will be there to feel the pulse of their favorite teams while others seek to "razz" some pet aversion.

The tired and sedentary business man, pop bottle and canuts in hand, gazes upon the greensward dotted with weating athletes, and gets a great deal of relaxation and natisfaction in contemplating how enjoyable it is to alt and watch. Hoodlums from the gas house district occupy - a sizable portion of the bleachers and what fun they get out of giving the "raspberries" to the boys who don't like it, is nobody's business. And woe unto the player who gets too lose to them for they are usually very adept at "winging" irleibats and what-nots. There are some, however, among the great crowds who really appreciate the fine points of America's national pastime and who get a quickened heart furnishes the press with the opportunity of disclosing how useless it is to speculate upon the merits of the various teams and to prophecy upon their comparative chances. It is with this in view that we submit the following concise reaumes of the two Big Leagues:

National League: Red hot contest is expected with the Chicago Cubs favored, although closely pressed by St. Louis Cardinals, New York Glants and Pittsburgh Pirates. Chicago, colorful team, with heavy litters comparing favorably to the Yankees. Murderers row includes Riggs Stephenson, Hack Wilson, Cuyler and the great Rogers Hornsby, Pitching staff also great. John McGraw has built a formidable team at Gotham while Cardinals with great pitching staff and bunch of timely hitters and good fielders offer Cubs biggest threat.

American League: Consensus of experts is that the Yanks will repeat but there are several authorities who think Miller Huggins' pitching staff will break. Connie Mack's Athletics are still strong enough to win the pennant in anybody's league except one in which the Yunkees are nembers. The Mackmen are by far the best bet against the Yanks and may wrest the flag from them-if the expected dump in New York pitching materializes. Runners-up will e Stanley Harris' Detroit Tigers and Walter Johnson's Washington Senators. The latter appear the best bet for third position.

As Forbes Sees Florida

Florida can well afford to ignore occasional brickbats that may be hursed by disgruntled critics because for every lerogatory thing said or published about the state there are score or more of complimentary remarks expressed hroughout the country. Those who boost the state are perons who occupy positions that attach great significance to their expressions. These were thoughts that ran through our mind as we road recently a timely article by B. C. Forbes, internationally known economist, on the subject of Florida. Mr. Forbes, whose word carries with it tremendous weight and influence, was recently in Florida and saw he things about which he writes. His remarks, published in the magazine bearing his name, are as follows:

"Florida is now building solidly. In a talk, before the Tampa chamber of commerce on March 19, I said: 'It would be much safer to buy well-selected Florida real estate than to buy the popular stocks on the New York Stock exchange." Within a week the stock market was crashing disastrously. On one day market values in New York lost more than a billion dollars.
