Commissioner David Gatchel, commenting on the improvement program said "Those things we can point our finger at won't be noticed only by the citizens here but by everyone who comes to Sanford either as a visitor or as a business man."

The street lighting program was approved first as the topmost item on the proposed expansion and improvement program of the city. Under consideration are new lights for French Ave., Seminole Boulevard to First St. on French Ave., First St. from French Ave. to Sanford, and additional lights on Park Ave. from the intersection of French Ave. to 23th St.

Second on the priority list for capital improvements receiving the go ahead from the Board of Sanford City Commissioners is the proposal to construct a Sanford Civic Center or community center on Sanford Ave. at Seminole Boulevard to house an auditorium, meeting rooms, recreation area, library and patio. The City Manager's presentation pictured the new center as a large, single story building with a large portion of glass walls.

The public library, now on Fifth St., could be sold as well as the present Yacht Club for additional funds for the construction of the new center since civic club meeting rooms and library space would be provided in the new structure. The Youth Council, Commissioners were told, has $5,000 available toward such a project.

In approving the project Mayor Scott said "The way to increase the size of the city is to have a few conventions and let the people see it." The city will now explore the possibilities of a Civic Center and negotiate for an architect to work out the preliminary plans. Included in the approval for exploration and architectural plans were the Goldsboro Recreational Area swimming pool and the breakwater for a Sanford boat basin.

Plans for a boat basin and breakwater met a cold shoulder from the commission at first. Mayor Scott suggested that consideration of this item be delayed until the Sanford-Titusville Canal is approved. However, the need for such an attraction for Sanford overcame the reluctance of some to bypass the project and it was added to the proposed improvement program.

Different ideas from members of the Board of Commissioners highlighted the discussion of a proposal to add new equipment to the Sanford Fire Department and build a new central location for a portion of the apparatus and department personnel.

Commissioner Gatchel said "I feel that we need a minimum of one new pumper retaining all of the old equipment. I consider a new station as a crying need, two new pumps as a crying need, but our immediate need is for one new pumper," he said.

Commissioner Higginbotham remarked "We should scatter our equipment out a bit."

City Manager Knowles presented a blackboard diagram of the proposed new fire station and the necessity for two new pumps to convince the Board of Commissioners of Sanford's present needs.

Commissioner Gatchel said "The plans would practically assure our city lower fire insurance rates. He then proposed that the city pursue the recommendations of the City Manager."

Also meeting the approval of the commissioners last night were two new packers for the city's refuse department, dump trucks, street sweeper and a dorer loader.

However, the replacement of automobiles for both the Police Department and the Fire Department were eliminated from the Capital Improvement program. These items would be considered in the city's annual budget.

Set aside for further study were proposals for a public works department radio network and air conditioning for the City Hall and Police Department.

The City of Sanford will immediately begin exploring the possibilities of the various projects proposed and negotiate with architects for preliminary plans and specifications.

increasing powers of the governor were amended to limit the increased powers to five years. The House had amended the teacher assignment bill to give the county school boards greater latitude in making replacements of teachers.

Yesterday's House committee meeting on segregation bills was highlighted by appearance of Sumner L. Lowry and by Atty. Gen. Ervin.

Lowry, who campaigned unsuccessfully against Collins in the May primary on a segregation platform, told the committee the Legislature should defy the U. S. Supreme Court's school desegregation ruling even if public officials went to jail.

Lowry urged adoption of an interposition resolution and said all Florida had to do to prevent integration in public schools was to say to the U. S. Supreme Court "we openly and officially defy you."

Ervin also urged adoption of an interposition resolution and said the emergency amendment proposal which would permit operation of a private school system was the only effective means of avoiding integration legally.

Only administration bill still hanging in the Senate is the proposal providing stiff penalties for false or misleading advertising by real estate promoters. It is designed to prevent out of state buyers of real estate from being defrauded by misleading advertising.

The measure was approved by a Senate Judiciary Committee yesterday after it was amended to exempt licensed real estate brokers from a provision that copies of planned out of state advertising be filed with the Real Estate Commission. Another amendment would exempt from the filing a person advertising five or less parcels for sale.

The Senate cleared up details of various other important legislation.

It completed action and sent to the governor a bill requiring State Road Department maintenance of former primary roads dropped when a new system was adopted last month.

The senators also accepted House amendments to bills to permit the game commission to trade a tract in the Jim Corbett Game Management Area near West Palm Beach for an adjoining tract and to repeal the 1955 Development Credit Corporation Law.

The game commission property is wanted as a site for a jet aircraft engine plant.

The Senate refused to accept a House amendment to its bill setting admission procedures to the state hospitals. The amendment would have required patients to be committed to the mental institution nearest their homes.

Explosions Knock Out Jacksonville's Electric Current

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — A series of transformer explosions in the underground distribution system knocked out electric current in downtown Jacksonville for two hours early today, caused minor injuries to a cab driver and shattered plate glass windows.

Dillon Kennedy, utilities commissioner, said the cause was not known immediately.

The most spectacular blast came at Main and Forsyth streets where a taxi driver was knocked out of his parked vehicle. He had a bruised hip and his taxi had minor damage.

Eight plate glass windows in a nearby store were shattered. Kennedy estimated damages to the distribution system would run "better than $10,000"

George Kinsman, vice president of Florida Power & Light has testified twice in support of the application. His testimony was similar to that of Dick W. Judy, assistant general counsel of the Florida Power Corporation. Both big utility companies will buy the fuel since it is more economical in generating electricity.

Among city officials from Florida who have appeared to tell FPC of the widespread demand for natural gas and the substantial savings promised amounting to more than 25 per cent in the delivered fuel prices in many cases — were:

Bartow, City Manager Charles Odom; Blountstown, Mayor R. W. Foster and City Clerk W. H. Hites; Clearwater, Mayor Herbert M. Brown and City Manager F. M. Middleton; Gainesville, John Kelly, public utilities manager; Lake Alfred, City Manager George Costello; Lakeland, City Manager David Payne and City Attorney J. C. Rogers; Leesburg, Mayor Alfred Smith, and City Manager J. K. Mizall; Madison, Mayor Van H. Priest; Orlando, Curtis H. Stanton, secretary of the city utilities commission; Plant City, City Attorney Paul Buchman; Starke, Mayor W. T. Jackson and City Clerk Carl Jones; Tallahassee, City Manager Arvah B. Hopkins.

Other cities throughout the state and many officials of utility companies, both municipally and privately owned, as well as engineers and fiscal agents for numerous Florida cities, also have appeared in support of the application or plan shortly to express their endorsement.

Eddie Machen, Redding, Calif., heavyweight who has knocked out Nino Valdes, scored knockouts in his first 10 professional battles. His bout with Valdes was his 13th.

Congressmen Will Inspect Stockholm

NEW YORK (AP) — Nine congressmen will go to a Brooklyn dry-dock tomorrow to inspect the Swedish ship damaged in the collision that sank the Italian luxury liner Andrea Doria.

The congressmen, members of the House Merchant Marine Committee, will look over the liner Stockholm as the first step in a probe of safety at sea.

The captains of both lines have declined to state publicly and in detail the "hows" and "whys" of the disaster. They say the full story must await official investigations.

In the congressional probe that starts tomorrow, Chairman Herbert C. Bonner (D-N.C.) said, "It is not the intention of the committee to determine questions of liability as between the two ill-fated ships."

He said in Washington the group will try to find out what examination and inspection was made during the building of the Doria and whether the two ships had conformed with the international convention for safety of life at sea.

House Votes To Become Committee To Consider 'Interposition' Resolution

Leary To Relieve Hamrick As Special Services Officer

Leutenant Commander Lauris J. Leary, USN, will assume duty as Special Services Officer of Sanford Naval Air Station, in early August, relieving Commander Lawrence L. Hamrick, USN, who is presently Flight Division Officer of the station.

As Special Services Officer, he will be responsible for providing a constant recreation program for all station personnel, and fleet units based at the Sanford Naval Air Station.

Leutenant Commander Leary relieved aboard Sanford NAS from the Whidbey Island NAS, near Seattle, Wash., where he was Executive Officer of FasRon 112.

Since entering the Navy in 1941, he has had various duties as Flight Instructor, Transport Pilot, Administration Officer, and Communications Officer, with different squadrons and shore establishments throughout the world.

Leutenant Commander Leary was the American Area European-African-Middle Eastern Area, Asiatic-Pacific Area, WW II Victory, and National Defense medals. He is married to the former Miss Dorothy Blanchard, of Newport, R. I. They have two children, Patricia, 4 and Michael 2. They reside in Sanford.

Oviedo Residents Boasting Of Big, New Drug Store

By MARIAN JONES
OVIDIO — The wheels of progress must roll on. Such is true in the Oviedo area.

Jerry Arndt has opened a feed store in the building occupied by the Oviedo Variety Store but lying vacant for many months. Nob Nagelsale has rented the C. T. Niblack building and has opened Ragdale's Radio and T. V. Shop there.

Bob was in radar in the Air Corp for four years, and following his discharge he worked for RCA for a while then decided to take up TV for he had already had radio.

King's Radio and T. V. Shop, owned by Jack King Jr. moved from its location to the store formerly housing the Oviedo Drug Store. This store, recently repainted, etc. by Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Jones, owner now displays a lovely arrangement of electrical appliances. Jack has his work shop in the back, but it is screened from view of the plate glass windows by shelves containing electrical appliances, and W. A. Ward Jr. is his assistant in the work.

We think that the Oviedo Drug Store warrants the greatest change, for when Mr. and Mrs. Jones built these two modern buildings we had visualized a drug store located there.

Well, Ross Noegel, new manager of the Oviedo Drug Store, must have been looking at the same image. For three days in July the store was closed, and all helpers plus extra help to hand and the mass movement was accomplished.

The petition between the two stores had been removed and a huge store was the result. "What a store for this size town!" is the exclamation we have heard from many visiting the store.

A brand new soda fountain, the horseshoe variety, graces the East wall. Small booths are also on hand for customers. The new lighting system is much brighter and prettier than the old one and the store boasts a huge stock.

Mrs. Elsie Fleming, Mrs. Ann Reynolds, Roy Weisenberger Jr. and Miss Mary Alexander serve you at the soda fountain while Roy Weisenberger is the pharmacist. Mrs. Weisenberger is on hand to help out in most any situation even to the books too.

The only fly in the ointment is the fact that the lovely interior of the store is screened from the public view by shelves in front of those beautiful plate glass windows. At first it was believed that they were there only temporarily but it seems otherwise now. "What a shame to ruin such a lovely place like that," is the comment heard from many.

Due to the absence of a restaurant in town, complete facilities have been installed for this purpose, Mr. Noegel says. Now those who have had to resort to hamburgers, or sandwiches of some description, can have a better choice.

Weather
Mostly fair today and Thursday except for a few widely scattered afternoon thundershowers; low tonight 69 to 74.

Residents Submit Prize Winning Entries In Contest

Prize winning entries were submitted by four Sanford area residents in the Sealy $200,000 Posturepedic Contest, it was announced today by Sealy, Inc., Chicago, manufacturers of mattresses and convertible sleep furniture.

The winners, who will receive a Posturepedic mattress from the stores where they entered the contest, now are being considered for a grand prize of $20,000 in cash or common stocks or one of 21 expense-paid vacations for two in Jamaica via Delta Air Lines.

Entrants were asked to choose a name for the Sealy Posturepedic Girl, widely used in advertising the mattress. The contest, one of the largest ever held, drew hundreds of thousands of entries.

Some 5,000 qualifying winners in the United States and Canada are to receive Posturepedic mattresses from their dealers. They were selected by the Ruben H. Donnelley Company, Chicago, contest judges. Grand prize winners will be announced in mid-August.

Local winners are: Roosevelt Green, Rt. 3, Box 104; Aletha Evans, Enterprise; Mildred Ruth Luster, P.O. Box 66, Lake Mary; Teresa Katherine Marla, 613 W. First St.

Home Ownership Important

Home ownership, now appreciated by the majority of Americans for its contribution to pleasant and healthful daily living, was cited today as one of the bulwarks in family planning for future retirement by J. W. Hall, president of the Seminole County Board of Realtors.

"There is a great deal of talk these days about the fact that our population is tending to have a higher proportion of elderly persons Hall said. "And it is true that in 1900 only slightly over 4 per cent of our population was 65 or over, compared with about 8 per cent in that age group today, and an estimated 10 per cent of our people who will be 65 or over in 1975."

"These facts have given rise to a number of government plans—many of them impractical and at variance with our traditional principles—to ease the problems of the aged."

"The truth of the matter is," the Seminole County real estate executive continued, "that there are five concrete steps which many American families can take on their own initiative to assure a financially-secure old age. Home ownership is one of these, and like the others, the earlier in life it is realized the more pleasant the retirement years will be."

Hall listed the other four elements in a practical personal retirement plan as the maintenance of a savings or investment account, the creation of a life insurance program providing for a monthly retirement income as well as the protection of dependents, an understanding of federal social security benefits, and knowledge of the provisions of company pension plans that may be available to employees.

"The important thing here," Hall cautioned, "is to realize that no one of these elements is generally sufficient by itself to provide more than a minimum standard of living for the average person. But a combination of most of them adds up to what the Chamber of Commerce of the United States has called 'the best kind of retirement plan.'"

In support of the practicality of his advice, Hall noted that today over half of the persons 65 or older have some form of lifetime income from retirement plans, and that six of 10 non-farm families are in the home owner status.

Pointing out that maximum feasible home ownership has long been a national goal of all Realtors and the National Association of Real Estate Boards to which they belong, Hall said also that average monthly home mortgage payments in this area are no higher than many rents, and that legitimate income tax advantages are often connected with home ownership.

"But the very real and direct benefits in buying a home now as a part of a retirement plan for the future are two-fold," Hall stated.

"First, by the time most wage-earners are ready for retirement, they will own their own homes free of debt and subject only to maintenance charges and to the property tax which is very reasonable here because of home-ated exemption which we have here in Florida.

"Second, if the retired family should wish to sell their paid-for home, the money received can go far toward providing for the realization of the retirement life preferred—travel or whatever the heart might desire.

After all, what more could one desire, than to live in Florida and enjoy all its advantages?"

"Home ownership—the foundation of so much of great value in our national and civic life—can also be the foundation of a secure future for the young couples of today who will be tomorrow's senior citizens," he concluded.

Airliner Lands After Trouble With Engine

ATA 411 (9)—An airliner carrying 90 passengers and a baby from Panama to New Orleans landed here today after trouble with one of its four engines.

Passengers from the plane, Pan American flight 510, transferred to another aircraft and continued on to New Orleans.

One passenger, Bill Walters of Los Angeles, said an engine on the Constellation blew a cylinder head and that its propeller had to be feathered for the long detour to Miami.

Walters said the trouble occurred when the plane was more than 500 miles from Miami.

Barltender Jan Garber was one of the passengers.

County To Get Over $22,000 From Gas Tax

Seminole County's share in the June gas tax collections comes to $22,506.77, said Ray E. Green, State Comptroller, in his report of gasoline sales and tax collected.

"Gasoline sales during the month of June with sales reported and tax collected during July totaled 117,442,965 gallons, an increase of 5,432,941 over the 112,010,404 gallons used during the previous month," Green stated in his monthly memorandum.

June sales, the report included, were also an increase of 19,306,048 gallons over the total of 93,136,916 gallons for the same month last year.

Gas collections on June sales amounted to $8,190,015, an increase of $379,298 over collections of the previous month and $1,248,599 over the $6,941,416 collected for the same monthly period last year, Green reported.

June gasoline sales this year were unexpectedly high, said Green. During past years, he commented in his report, starting with sales during May there is a leveling off, with only comparatively minor variations month to month, with September the lowest month of the year. In October, sales start to rise again. The rate of gasoline consumption during June would appear to be evidence that the summer tourist season in Florida has greatly exceeded that of previous years, Green said.

In Seminole County, during June, there were 877,150 gallons of gasoline consumed with a total tax collection of $61,600.50.

Tax returned to counties from gasoline tax collections are for road bond and road building purposes.

Deputies Not Revealed

Sheriff J. Luther Hobby said this morning that he will take over the Seminole County Sheriff's office as soon as possible.

"Arrangements must be completed for the transfer of automobiles and other equipment," Hobby said.

Earlier this morning, Hobby stated "From what I have heard and read, I have been reinstated. "However," he said, "there has been no official notification from the Governor or from Senator Douglas Stenstrom relative to my reinstatement."

Later today, Sheriff Hobby informed The Sanford Herald, "I have been informed by Senator Stenstrom who is now in Tallahassee that the action of the Senate automatically reinstates me and I am now the Sheriff."

"My next move will be to take over the sheriff's office and equipment at the earliest possible time from Denver Cordell, sheriff during the time of my who was appointed to serve as suspension," Hobby said.

"I am not quite ready to announce the names of those who will serve as deputies on my staff," Hobby informed The Herald today. He said, "Jimmy Singletary will remain as office deputy."

With the action of the Senate, Seminole County is immediately under the jurisdiction of Sheriff J. Luther Hobby, according to statements released to the Sheriff from Tallahassee. No further action or notification is necessary since the Governor's offer of suspension was not approved by the Senate on its presentation yesterday.

Dulles To Take Part In Talks On Canal Issue

WASHINGTON, 19 — President Eisenhower is sending Secretary of State Dulles to London to confer with Britain and France about Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal.

The White House announced this today shortly after the President and Dulles had discussed Egypt's nationalization of the waterway.

The United States already is represented at the London talks by Deputy Undersecretary of State Robert Murphy.

Murray Snyder, assistant White House press secretary, read this statement to newsmen:

"In view of the importance of the matters being discussed in London between Foreign Ministers Lloyd and Pincus, the President has asked Secretary Dulles personally to take part in the concluding period of their talks, in which the United States is also represented by Deputy Undersecretary Murphy."

Solwyn Lloyd is Britain's foreign minister. Christian Pincus is the French foreign minister.

Asked whether Dulles would leave for London immediately, Snyder referred questions to the State Department.

Earlier, Sen. Mansfield, (D-Mont), proposed that the United States protest the canal seizure to the United Nations General Assembly and the World Court.

Air Force Now Has Own Dictionary

WASHINGTON, 19 — The Air Force, which recently acquired its own academy, now has its own dictionary as well.

It is distributing a new, official "United States Air Force Dictionary," compiled by the Air Force Academy at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., and based upon interviews with hundreds of fliers about thousands of different words that have special meaning to airmen.

A preface says that "although the languages of Air Force people is indeed English, a certain part of it is in the nature of special usage."

Thus, in thumbing through the dictionary, you find "amiable cluster." Does it mean a gathering of friends? No, it is "a cluster of bombs, especially fragments of incendiary bombs, held together as so to be aimed and dropped by ordinary bomb methods."

And there's "delay chain." It means a "string of two parachute bundles attached to each other in which the parachute of the upper bundle is opened by the aircraft static line, the lower by a static line attached to the upper bundle."

Then there are grim and cryptic lines, like:

"Bombing encyclopedia—A collection of materials of a statistical nature used as a reference for all installations of objectives, economic or military, considered for potential military air attack, maintained by the director of intelligence, Headquarters, USAF."

Or interesting little bits of information on weapons, tucked away behind a seemingly harmless pair of words: "circular system—a system for control guidance of missiles." A note says: "The missile automatically sends out a signal to two radio stations, and times and echoes to keep itself on course."

The dictionary carries words familiar to airmen of the world and to today's jet jockeys. There is the "cooled out" engine, meaning the piston-powered engine "running on the 'dry' flame-out" jet engine. It also says that a "coffee grinder" is a "piston-type aircraft engine."

There are too the gobbledygook words of government and military. Take "infaternal." That

Defense Shifts To Counterattack In McKeon Trial

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C., 19 — The defense has shifted to a bold counterattack along two fronts in the court-martial of Marine S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon.

Defense attorney Emilie Zola Berman employed two witnesses to strike at the heart of the government's case against the 31-year-old former drill instructor from Worcester, Mass.

Meanwhile, offense in the dramatic trial, now entering its 15th day, is a wooden mockup of the Ribbon Creek area — a mockup of the sort used by Marines in planning an attack. Mockups are employed to familiarize troops with terrain features and objectives.

Berman plans to use it today to show exactly where Platoon 71 entered the marsh. The point has been in vital dispute.

Did the platoon march directly into the water? Was it marched into water over the heads of the few recruits? Or did the recruits encounter hot holes into which they dropped abruptly? Or were some members gambol in an undisciplined way to death in deep water?

Some members of the platoon appeared as witnesses to tell of plowing through the mud and grass and then sinking into water over their heads. They also said the platoon treated the march as a lark.

TOO MUCH DANCING! SANTA MONICA, Calif., 19 — After 17 years of marriage, Mrs. Nellie Frances Davidson says her husband wanted to take her dancing five and six nights a week.

An ideal marriage? No it wasn't Mrs. Davidson testified in divorce court, charging cruelty. She's 31.

Mrs. Davidson said she would accompany her husband, Bryan, "two or three nights a week. Then I'd get tired—and he'd get mad."

She was granted the divorce.

HOME OWNERS UNEASY WITH BILL

MIAMI 19—Some 250 home owners watched city workers install storm sewage last fall and thought it was fine—until they got the bill last week.

Then they learned the average lot was being assessed about $425. At a protest meeting last night, they said they thought the city, not they, were paying the

NEW POLICY TO BE CARRIED OUT

FORT PIERCE 19 — The City Commission last night voted for a "policy for the eventual integrated use of municipally owned properties and facilities by all classes of citizens."

It also set up a committee to make recommendations toward carrying out the policy.

The resolution said "We believe that in the best interest of all our citizens that the use of all municipal facilities for the time being must be maintained in the status quo."

Jehovah Witness Group Will Attend Training Program

The Sanford congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses is making preliminary plans to attend a four-day training program in Montgomery, Ala., it was announced last night.

Rush N. Stafford, presiding minister of the group, in discussing the announcement to the congregation pointed to the challenge to Christian thinking and Christian works in the rising tide of materialism.

"The object of the program," Stafford said, "is to equip every one of the preaching fellowship of Jehovah's Witnesses in the practical use of the Bible as a help in fortifying the spiritual morale of people in our community."

The announcement came as a climax to the weekly ministry-development program held at the local Kingdom Hall.

Stafford said that Jehovah's Witnesses are enrolled in ministerial training of at least five classes weekly. "We maintain," he emphasized, "that if a religion is worth believing it is worth putting into practice."

For that reason the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, sponsors of the four-day Montgomery refresher assembly have designed a program to assist Jehovah's Witnesses and their friends in advanced ministerial training.

"We sincerely hope that the training planned for us there will enable us to live closer to the Bible and its teachings." The program is scheduled for Aug. 9-12 at the Alabama State Coliseum in Montgomery.

Funeral Services Are Set Tomorrow For W. Hankerson

Funeral services for William Hankerson, colored, who passed away Friday in a local hospital, will be held from St. James Church, corner of Cypress and Ninth St., Thursday at 4 p.m.

Mr. Hankerson made his home at 1002 Cypress Ave., and was one of the oldest taxi drivers in the city having served in that capacity for about 45 years.

His survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Elvora James and Mrs. Rose McCoy of Sanford; two sons, William Hankerson Jr., and Walter Hankerson of New York City. Also several grandchildren. Miss Jacqueline Hankerson, New York City, accompanied her father here for the funeral.

(Continued from Page One) don't think it has any legal efficacy but it has tremendous psychological impact."

Bryant, who ran unsuccessfully for governor in May and is expected to make another race in 1960, compared the resolution to the state flag.

The flag, he said, has no intrinsic value but "What one of you would not follow the flag. It's a symbol of the might and power of a great state."

David, also expected to campaign for the governorship in 1960, followed up the flag analogy, reminding committee members of their pledge of allegiance to the flag of the United States.

"It says 'indivisible,'" he said. "What about that flag? This will do nothing except declare to the world we are rebels who want to break from the union of the states. The whole history of interposition is civil war and strife, tearing our own country apart."

Under the interposition resolution, the state would declare its sovereignty and assert that U. S. Supreme Court rulings violating states' rights are null and void.

Several committee members said before the vote they objected to the resolution because of the possibility it would have a harmful effect on other segregation legislation enacted during the special session.

None of the administration segregation measures mention the races or on their face purport to do anything except maintain peace and order in the state. They were carefully drawn to avoid any language which might be ruled discriminatory by the courts.

REPORT TO BE READY BY JAN. 1

ST. PETERSBURG, (AP)—A study report on the status of state owned lands in Florida should be ready by Jan. 1.

MILK PRICE EXPECTED TO RISE

MIAMI (AP)—The consumer price of homogenized milk was expected to rise from 26 to 27 cents a quart in consequence of a four-cent a gallon boost announced yesterday by South Florida dairymen in raw milk to distributors.

William A. Graham, president of the Independent Dairy Farmers Assn., said an increase in production costs made the price hike necessary.

M. L. Robinson Is Opening Furniture, Cabinet Company

"I've been making furniture since 1909," said M. L. Robinson on the opening of his new shop on French Ave., which will be known as Robinson's Furniture and Cabinet Making Co.

The building, located at 918 French Ave., is newly constructed and contains complete machinery and tools for furniture making, repairing and refinishing.

"We have equipment for doing anything in the furniture line," said Robinson.

Assisting Robinson in his shop is Herbert Asell who is completing his apprenticeship there under the direction of the well-known cabinet and furniture maker.

Robinson closed his shop in Mexico, N. Y., and came to Sanford to establish his business. "This is my wife's home," Robinson said, "and the way Sanford is progressing I decided to sell my shop in New York and come here."

The new furniture maker, other than his trade in building, rebuilding and refinishing furniture, is also a tool maker. Robinson stated that he had made many tools for the making of furniture. He has also served in a camera plant.

Robinson stated that he will, for the present, use his home for displaying the handmade furniture he will turn out in his shop. Already on display are a hutch cupboard of ponderosa pine, a grandfather clock made from butternut, a desk of white cedar, wall cabinets, chairs of Florida pine, a settee of white ponderosa, a dog box used as an occasional table, and a cobbler's bench of pine.

The cabinet maker's hobby, he said, is wood clock repairing and the making of wood gears to complete the machinery.

Robinson's wife is the former Lucille Anderson.

Capital Improvement Program Is Worthwhile, Necessary Plan

The community's future is best served when investments are made in those things which serve all of the people all of the time.

The Capital Improvement Program, coming up for a preliminary study at a special meeting of the Board of Sanford City Commissioners Monday night, received big boost as each item came up for discussion.

Included in the plan were such items as the swimming pool proposed for the Goldsboro Recreation Area. The proposal to add the swimming pool had been presented as a separate item during many of the previous meetings of the Board of Commissioners, but until the Capital Improvement Program came into being money for such a huge undertaking could not be pinpointed.

Now, without a doubt, Negro children as well as adults will have an opportunity to swim, learn to swim, and enjoy a recreation for their health as well as their physical well-being.

The planning, in the Capital Improvement Program, for the Negro swimming pool is good insurance for continued happiness for a large population in Sanford and Seminole County. This is a forward step that cannot and should not be overlooked in the spending of money derived from the Florida Power and Light Company franchise investment.

One of the important phases of the program, as presented by City Manager Warren E. Knowles, would be the providing of an auditorium in which the Sanford City Court could be held. Another forward step in providing necessary facilities for the operation of our city would be the area on the second floor of the City Hall.

Also included in the presentation of the Capital Improvement Program would be the street lighting. Here again is an opportunity for Sanford—not to mimic other cities or play follow the leader—but to provide adequate lighting for important streets. French Avenue Park Avenue, even First Street from French Avenue to Mellonville which has been described in many instances as "the darkest area of the community."

We believe that a well lighted city is a progressive city, a law abiding city, a city that will attract thousands by its aggressive thinking through the installation of lights. Only recently, a distinguished visitor to Sanford remarked "Well, I see that you still roll the sidewalks up at night." The street lighting plan from capital improvement funds would eliminate any doubt from the minds of our visitors that Sanford is still hugging to its horse-and-buggy days ideas. Now, as we have never before had the opportunity, comes the moment to take advantage of progressive planning to match the planning of the New York Giants, the State Road Department, our home builders, and our school system.

Certainly, one of the foremost needs of the City of Sanford is a modernized Fire Department with equipment to match the firefighting needs of a growing community. Offered in the Capital Improvement Plan is the suggestion that two new pumps be added to the equipment and that a new building, of modern construction, be provided in a more central location.

Too long has Sanford been held back by the inability of the city to cope with its growth and with the funds from the Florida Power and Light Company franchise agreement Sanford can now boast of a fire department second to none within the scope of cities of comparable size.

Not only will citizens see buildings mushroom up from the able planning of our Board of Sanford City Commissioners who are spearheading the Capital Improvement Program, but huge pieces of equipment necessary to look after the sanitary needs of the city will come from the "looking into the future" with a program to take care of refuse and garbage collections. Garbage packers, two of them of increased size, if plans are completed, will also be furnished.

The Capital Improvement Program is the kind of thinking Sanford has needed for many years for, as new citizens are brought within our midst because of new industry, because of Navy duty, or because of flourishing business, newer, bigger, and better facilities are needed.

There is no room for fear as the Board of Sanford City Commissioners approach the planning and the exploring into the nearly half-million dollar program of providing necessary additions to the city's facilities.

We can now look forward to the reviewing of plans, the working out of the many details, and the final conclusion to one of the biggest, finest and most progressive steps the city has taken in many years.

It is certainly true that we cannot progress, expand, and enjoy modern day thinking without the modern facilities to back them up.

From out of nowhere, in one way of looking at the new picture for Sanford, will come a Sanford Civic Center, library, recreation facilities, new fire and police protection, better health and sanitary planning, as well as an opportunity to see all of these with new lights along some of our streets.

We're not suggesting that the program be instituted overnight and without the proper planning and study, but we do suggest that all haste, commensurate with the needs of the city, be made in bringing about the reality of a program that is worthwhile and necessary.

The city of Sanford has a definite part in the growth of Florida for it is here that all of the good things of our state are gathered into one place. We have the climate, the location, the transportation, the friendliness and all of the natural resources that make Sanford a great place in which to live. Now, we're going to get the facilities to go along with them.

Front Porch Campaign Once Helpful

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Politicians today are divided on the importance of "ah-ho-stop" tours in an election campaign.

It is important, of course, for a candidate to "get out and meet the folks." But just how important is it in an age when the candidates, via television, can come in to three out of every four American living rooms?

Political leaders of both parties may be missing a bet in not revisiting the old-fashioned front porch campaign. I have been notably successful in the past in electing presidents—particularly dignified looking Republican candidates whose names were prosperity.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer recently recalled the famous front porch victories won by William McKinley and Warren G. Harding.

In an earlier contest William Harrison, Whig victor in 1840, wasn't content to rely on his front porch—he used the whole house. Harrison, who died at 68 a month after taking office, was proud of being born in a log cabin.

So horse-drawn log cabins were featured in numerous of his political parades, and these symbols of his modest beginnings helped put him in office.

In 1900 McKinley conducted a front porch campaign from his Canton, Ohio, home on the advice of his mentor, Mark Hanna—helped organize delegations of distinguished visitors to the distinguished candidate, with the Republican party picking up hoe tab for many of their fares.

While resting his feet, McKinley was unsparring of his vocal cords. From his front porch he sometimes made as many as 20 speeches in 24 hours on the virtues of "a full dinner pail."

His Democratic opponent, William Jennings Bryan, the silver-tongued orator, spoke 600 times in 28 states. He got the crowds—McKinley got the votes.

In 1900 Harding campaigned from his front porch at Marion, Ohio, telling the awestruck political pilgrims who chanced that way that what the country needed was "a return to normalcy." Gov. James M. Cox, his Democratic rival, made a whirlwind whistle-stop tour. But when the votes were counted the verdict was—for the front porch and normalcy.

Could a front porch campaign win today? The growth of mass communications would seem to make it simpler than ever for a candidate to sit at home, sip lemonade and roll up a tidal wave of ballots.

He could, under the eye of the TV camera, add such folksy touches—such as strolling out to the barbecue grill in his yard and showing the nation's housewives his skill at broiling hamburgers, even in prosperity a candidate might not want his picture taken in an election year while cooking a juicy steak.

The front porch technique offers one big advantage to the Democrats. It would save them the expense of renting a campaign train. Its disadvantage is this: The best known front porch in the Democratic party is that on Harry Truman's big, old, roomy home in Independence, Mo.—but Harry says he isn't available himself.

Do any of the announced Democratic candidates really have a suitable front porch? That could be a problem.

The most famous porch in the nation is the controversial one on the White House, built on order of ex-President Truman himself after a bitter controversy.

It would be an odd political irony if President Eisenhower, switching to the tradition of McKinley and Harding, should use that porch as a platform for a successful second term.

Actually, the porch is on the rear of the White House, but who'd care about that?

Too Late To Classify

Good will, while an intangible asset, is something we all strive to attain. Business organizations value it highly and its marketable value is considerable.

"Good will toward men" was admonished two thousand years ago and wherever it has been sincerely practiced men have prospered.

It is doubtful if any organization in the world today has done more to help fellowmen, restore faith and advance the public welfare than "Goodwill Industries."

This cooperative, non-profit organization, inaugurated a few years ago, has helped thousands to keep their self-respect, make their own way and render a worthwhile service.

No self-respecting person enjoys being on relief or becoming a burden on their family or the taxpayer. Elderly and handicapped persons found the going mighty tough until "Goodwill Industries" entered the picture.

Today thousands of such individuals are gaining a new lease on life, are happy and face the future with courage and faith all because of the help they have received through Goodwill Industries.

Goodwill Industries is an inter-denominational work-relief organization operating in 119 of the larger cities. It serves the need of the aged, disabled and handicapped by providing them with remunerative employment, and at the same time supplies needed merchandise to thousands of needy persons at very nominal cost.

Goodwill Industries solicits the support of all citizens and urges them to contribute discarded equipment or materials, clothing, furniture, electrical appliances, anything that is no longer needed.

Recently the St. Petersburg Goodwill organization paid its 100 thousandth dollar in wages to the hundreds of men and women who turn to the organization in an effort to find themselves. Most are aged and crippled. Some are women left without means of support. Others have raised families and seen them all pass on and are

Premier Nasser Is In Tight Spot

BY JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—It still remains to be seen whether the United States handled Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser well or shrewdly. He's not a simple play it off against the Reds, trying to be a gambler and a conspirator.

This army colonel, a would-be assassin in his earlier days when he sought to overthrow the hated king and remake Egypt, finally bounced King Farouk, bloodlessly, in 1952. He stayed in the background when he did it.

Now he's in a tight spot, trying to make good. He's trying to prove his right to be leader of Egypt and of the Arab world and to shepherd his people out of illiteracy and poverty and into the 20th century.

He seems to be striking out wildly now. His emotionalism burst through last week. For four days he boiled in silence over the American and British refusal to lend him money to build a dam which backward Egypt sorely needs.

Then he spat out: "May you choke to death on your own hate." The West felt he had been playing too much footy with the Russians, taunting the West, trying to play it off against the Reds, trying to be a gambler and a conspirator.

He argues he tries to make the best deal for Egypt that he can, in arms and money. To anyone of Nasser's intensity what he considers a hurt to Egypt may seem like an act of hate.

Or it may be simply that any act of frustration which jeopardizes his personal power is too hateful to be borne. At any rate he struck back—perhaps in blind rage—by seizing the Suez Canal.

The British and French reacted strongly. But how far they are willing to go to loosen his grip on the canal is still to be seen. The United States may get involved. This is probably a turning point, up or down, for Nasser.

He is not a polished orator. Action may be his only resort to win the devotion of his people. Apparently he doesn't have it, or didn't until he seized the canal, after four years in power.

When Nasser threw out Farouk, he worked out of sight as part of a group of army officers who led the revolt and led Maj. Gen. Mohamed Naguib as front man. Nasser finally pushed Naguib aside.

The Egyptians put Nasser strictly on his own—as he asked—last June by electing him president. That didn't mean he had their devotion. On July 7, Wilton Wynn, Associated Press reporter, wrote from Cairo:

"Nasser has become the leader of the Arab world. Now he faces the crisis of his life as he tackles the problem of winning over one set of people who have remained indifferent toward him—his own Egyptian public." It may be that the Egyptians, who had so many masters so long, think he can't last simply because he is an Egyptian.

The Egyptians were uninterrupted under foreign rule from 525 B.C. to 1836 when the British withdrew. The memory of it is poison to Nasser. Not long ago he recalled with bitterness that Egypt, earliest empire of the ancient world, had been occupied by Persians, Macedonians, Romans, Turks, French and British.

Nasser has ruled by force. If he loses, he loses everything. If he wins, he may dominate the Arab world and lead it under the wing of Russia. At this point the West doesn't know whether it faces major disaster: loss of the Middle East.

Poisonous Mushrooms

By HERMAN H. ROSENBERG, M.D.

DON'T be an amateur mushroom picker! While most of the hundreds of species of mushrooms are harmless, some are unpalatable; a few are poisonous and downright dangerous.

At least two, in fact—both of them Amanitas—are extremely dangerous. They contain several highly active poisonous alkaloids.

Definite Threat While you're vacationing or picnicking in the country this summer, don't become an amateur mushroom picker. Just remember that mushrooms represent a definite threat to anyone who isn't familiar with the dangers of mushroom-gathering.

There's only one way to avoid this danger—recognize and avoid the poisonous types. If you can't recognize the Amanita, don't pick any of them.

And above all, don't eat any unfamiliar types of mushrooms, especially if they have been gathered by an amateur. The safest thing to do in such a case is to throw them away. If you ignore this advice and develop signs of illness after eating of help.

mushrooms, call a doctor right away. While there are numerous different types of mushroom poisoning, the worst begins with a series of gastrointestinal symptoms in from 10 to 18 hours after eating phalloides, a type of Amanita.

The victim suffers either constipation or diarrhea, vomits extensively and develops a paralyzing abdominal pain. In most such cases, coma and death follow in from three to eight days. We know of no antidotes.

Play Safe So, it's best to play it safe. If you're not a mushroom expert—and I don't imagine many of you are—don't go picking mushrooms for yourself and your friends. And don't eat any they might pick for you.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS C. L.: My child is now recovering from a liver infection. Should I disinfect his room?

Answer: It is not likely that the infection can be spread by germs in the room, but disinfecting the room would not be of any help.

Industry Profits Higher This Year

BY SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—American corporations on the whole continue to make more profits than in the previous years. But the weakness in some key industries pull the average gains down from the heady percentages they were reporting some months back.

In the first six months of 1956 net profits after taxes for 640 corporations, the first to report, averaged 5.5 per cent higher than in the first half of 1955. But a year ago the average gains were 34.7 per cent higher than the first six months of 1954.

About three out of four corporations, however, show increases this year. In the previous year 17 did.

The industries which as a group declined this year from the profits they reported a year ago include automobiles, auto suppliers, glass, aircraft, breweries, railroads and electric equipment. The electronics group, however, was down 25 per cent chiefly because of one big company being stricken during part of the period. At midyear its books had worked back into black ink.

Utilities turned in an average 11 per cent gain in the first half of the year. The 267 industrials, combined, were up 7.4 per cent. But the 28 railroads, with 15 on the declining side and three operating in the red, showed a 23 per cent drop this year as a group.

Some industrial groups show big gains over a year ago, to offset the weakness in the auto, aircraft and rail groups.

Biggest comeback from its own private depression of 1955 was the meat-packing group which this year shows a 154.3 per cent gain in profits.

Rail equipment makers have profits averaging 65.7 per cent higher this year. Machine tool companies show combined gains of 69.8 per cent. Coal companies report a 64.5 per cent increase as they hit the comeback trail.

Oil equipment makers spurred ahead by 61.7 per cent, while the oil producers advanced 19.3 per cent to continue their steady gains

Hobby Takes Over Duties Of Sheriff's Office Today

Guests Revealed For Republican Club Picnic Aug. 8

By MARY FOWLER
DE BARY — Arrangements for the first De Bary Republican club picnic, to be held next Wednesday, Aug. 8, at Burt's Park, beginning at 10 a. m., were discussed at a meeting of the club's board of directors and chairman of committees yesterday morning.

This picnic will be the kick off of an aggressive campaign by the club members, totaling almost 200 who will meet and talk with the following candidates: Arnold Lund, for U.S. representative; Kenneth Zab, for state representative; Ralph Clayton, for state attorney; Raymond Orvington, for county judge; Mrs. Mabel Schmidt, for tax collector; Lew DeBary, for supervisor of registration; Donald Myers for county school board and William T. Moore for judge of the small claims court.

The picnic will be open to anyone; transportation will be furnished for those without cars, by applying to Ralph Witherell. Each is to bring lunch and free watermelon will be provided as well as pool privileges. There will be a charge of 50c admission to the park.

Rev. Boepple Will Speak At Nazarene Church Sunday

The Rev. E. H. Boepple, formerly of Cleveland, O., will be the special speaker during the 7:30 p. m. evangelistic hour at the Church of the Nazarene this Sunday. The church is located on the corner of Second and Maple, just one block off French Ave.

The Rev. Boepple has studied at the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago and the Missionary Training Institute of Nyack, N. Y. He is an ordained minister at the hands of Dr. Ralph Neighbors and has preached for more than 30 years.

Wright Is Named To Industry Group

Membership on the industry committee to explore ways of pushing sales of fresh Florida citrus fruit has been named and includes J. Dan Wright of Sanford, one of the representatives of the Florida Citrus Commission.

Sheriff J. Luther Hobby has taken over the office of the Seminole County Sheriff following action by the Senate and the adjournment of the Legislature yesterday afternoon.

Senator Douglas Stenstrom, on his return to Sanford last night stated, "Sheriff Hobby's suspension was sent to the Senate along with all other suspension orders which Gov. Collins has made since the close of the last session of the Legislature."

"The State Constitution requires the Governor to send these suspension orders to the Senate at the next regular or special session of the Legislature."

"The State Senate must then act on the question of whether or not the suspended official shall be removed from office. In other words, the Senate, by law, must determine whether or not the officer's suspension is to be made permanent by removing him from office," said the Senator.

Governor Collins suspended Sheriff Hobby last December in accordance with the policy he adopted at the beginning of his term as Governor that "he would suspend any public official who is indicted by the State of Federal governments."

"He is the first Governor to have adopted this policy," explained Senator Stenstrom. In the past, Governors have suspended officials after the trial and conviction upon the indictment.

If the Senate takes no action whatsoever on a suspension order of the Governor, the official is automatically reinstated upon the adjournment of the Legislature.

All of the Governor's suspension orders were sent to the Senate on Thursday, July 26, said Senator Stenstrom.

Governor Collins had advised me just before the Senate went into session on that date that he had sent his orders concerning Sheriff Hobby to the Senate for whatever action the Senate desired to take," the Senator explained.

"On the Tuesday following, having conferred further with the Governor's office and the Attorney General's office on the legal aspects of the case, I advised Senate President Davis that I was prepared to make a recommendation to the Senate."

"Under the rules of the Senate, these matters must be considered in Executive session and President Davis suggested that I bring the matter before the Senate that morning, since it was commonly believed that the legislature would adjourn on Tuesday and if we adjourned without action, Sheriff Hobby would be automatically reinstated. I felt the Senate should be acquainted with all of the facts of the case," he said.

"My recommendation to the Senate was based upon the sole fact that I could not recommend that the official be removed from the term of office to which he had been elected in 1954 by the people of Seminole County, upon charges which had not been substantiated in court resulting in conviction," said Senator Stenstrom. "To have done so would have been a determination of guilt of the official even though he had not been found guilty by a jury and would have denied the official the fundamental principle of American law that a man is innocent until proven guilty," he added.

Enterprise Church Opens Parish House For Inspection

By HELEN SNOODGRASS
ENTERPRISE — The village of Enterprise now has another valuable improvement. Last Sunday, the Rev. Leo Heston, rector of the All Saints Episcopal Church announced the new building, to be called "The Parish House," would be open for inspection. Many of the congregation availed themselves of this opportunity and were pleased with what they saw.

The building was the Old Lyman place and stands in a corner lot at De Bary and Main Sts. The back of the lot joins the property of the church, so that the north side of De Bary Ave, from Clark to Main Sts., a distance of 400 feet, will be church property. The building has been entirely reconditioned, and the main room of hall is 25 x 34 feet.

Enterprise was first settled in 1841 and in 1854 became the County Seat of Volusia County. Jacob Brock, who was an early settler, built what was called the Brock House which became a famous hotel for many years. The Episcopal Society held its meetings in the Brock House for many years, beginning in the early 1870s. The land for the church was given by Lester Clark and the church was built in 1933 at a cost of $2,000.

The Parish House was formerly the County Jail and was built in 1888 and stood near the County Court House which is now the site of the present school building.

In 1888 Enterprise had a population of 80 people and in that year the County Seat was moved to DeLand.

The firm of Thayer and Sauls had a store in what is now the parish lot and moved the old jail to the rear of their store and used it for a storeroom.

It now became a Parish House and it is hoped it may be of use for many years. The land, 150 feet on Main St. and 200 feet on De Bary Ave., with the building, is a gift to the Diocese by Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Alling of Orange City for many years and is presently the chairman of the Board of the Florida Bank of DeLand.

Cardinals Meet Apopka At 8 p. m.

The Sanford Cardinals will meet the Apopka team of the Lake-Orange League in a baseball contest slated for 8 p. m. tonight at the Sanford Memorial Baseball Stadium.

The Cardinals now hold second place in the league standings and at present hold substantial hope for the league playoff and the league championship.

Tonight's game is one of two games yet to be played in the summer baseball series.

Headlines of the front page piece read "Hometown, U. S. A. — Retired" Oldsters give DeBary, Fla., youthful bounce, fast buildup—youthful battle for better roads, against higher taxes, find loafing in hard work."

Board Opens Bids

Bids for the construction of eight classrooms and a cafeteria at Lyman School were opened by the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction this morning at the Educational Building on Commercial Ave.

Four firms and contractors submitted bids for the Lyman School expansion and addition.

Apparent low bidder for the huge contract was Henry E. Stephens of Orlando who submitted a bid of $180,750 and an alternate bid which would increase the cost by $5,200. Contract time of the bid was 200 days.

Next low bidder for the school addition was the J. C. Harper Construction Co. of Orlando whose bid was $199,400 with an alternate bid adding $5,820 and building time set at 170 days.

The third low bidder was Carl W. Hoppes of Orlando. The Hoppes bid was for $202,729 with an alternate bid adding $4,961 and contract time of 170 days.

The highest bidder was the Carroll Daniel Construction Co. of Sanford whose bid was for $210,140 with an alternate bid adding $6,382 and the building time set at 210 days.

Bids were not awarded at this morning's meeting pending a study of the bids and specifications.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Rayburn T. Milwee said that bids would be awarded as soon as each bid was scrutinized and studied.

Raceway Prepared To Present Plans To Racing Commission

History-Making Action Closes Special Session

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Gov. Collins brought the 10-day-old special session of the Florida Legislature to an abrupt end yesterday with a history-making adjournment proclamation.

The action caught the startled House of Representatives in the midst of a red-hot battle over an interposition resolution which would have declared "all illegal encroachments on the rights of states null and void."

Collins advised both houses by message that he was using his constitutional powers to adjourn the Legislature when they were in disagreement on adjourning.

The Senate, which had sped the governor's segregation program and other emergency legislation to passage, had been trying for three days to go home. Adjournment had been blocked by House forces who thought stronger legislation was needed to head off race mixing.

The formal announcement came as no surprise in the Senate, where many members had been advised the action was in prospect. Most House members appeared so startled, they sat glued to their seats.

Gov. Collins said he had been considering his adjournment action a couple of days, but had hoped that the Legislature might wind up on its own. He acted when it appeared there was a definite deadlock.

The special session of the Florida Legislature, convened by Gov. Collins July 22 to deal with segregation problems and other emergency matters, passed the following:

A law authorizing county school boards to assign pupils to schools for which they are best fitted on the basis of intellectual ability, scholastic achievement and various sociological and psychological factors.

A law authorizing county school boards when faced with the necessity of dismissing teachers under continuing contracts or hiring new teachers to make their selections on sociological and psychological factors as well as teaching experience and educational qualifications.

A law giving extraordinary police powers for five years to the governor to cope with emergencies threatening the peace and tranquility of the state.

A law giving the governor for five years power to make rules and regulations for the use of public facilities.

A resolution condemning the U. S. Supreme Court for usurping the sovereign rights of the states and urging Congress to initiate an amendment to the U. S. Constitution clarifying the powers reserved to the state.

Ministers Disclose Objections

"We are now prepared and fully qualified to present our plans qualifications and reports to the State Racing Commission at their August meeting in Jacksonville," William R. Kemp, president of Seminole Park Raceway said this morning.

The Seminole County Ministerial Association took action at its meeting yesterday at the First Methodist Church opposing a proposed tract in Seminole County. The association issued a statement which said, "We do not believe that the best interests of the people of Seminole County will be served by a further expansion of gambling through the introduction of pari-mutuel betting on harness horse racing. We believe that a state which legalizes and taxes any form of gambling to support public education is tearing down with one hand and building up with the other."

This morning, Kemp stated that the teachers of Seminole County received a $300 salary increase "by revenues derived from racing."

"We plan to continue the development of the track," Kemp said, "bitting toward making it one of the greatest attractions of the east, adding 10 additional barns and additional facilities as well as beautifying."

"We sincerely believe that with the high type operation we propose and with the revenues that will be produced, this type facility, which you must know will give Seminole County 17 times more revenue per capita than DuDe County and 10 times more than Orange County," Kemp said.

The Seminole County Ministerial Association, in its statement, said "We believe that gambling, whether big-time or private, whether legal or illegal, is wrong. We believe that legalized betting on horse or dog racing belongs in the same moral classification with betting on card games or athletic contests, pitching pennies to the line, punch boards, slot machines, bolita, shooting dice, bingo, lotteries, or the numbers racket. We oppose to gambling, period."

Kemp, this morning, added to his statement that, "We sincerely believe that harness horse racing, as we propose it at Seminole Park Raceway, will be a great stimulus toward attracting unusual and substantial wealth as well as to advance keen interest in the development of the county—in real estate purchases and other types of investments by the people of wealth which are attracted by the harness horse racing business."

"We have our plans ready to go ahead," said Kemp, "and we are gradually improving our harness training program which is attracting some of the wealthiest and best known owners, trainers and horses in the United States."

Kemp stated "We are establishing a booth at the Harrisburg, Pa., sale in November as well as attending the Lexington, Ky., trial runs in October. This publicity outlet naturally publicizes Seminole County as well as our track."

"As a slogan," Kemp said this morning, "I would use the Florida Statute as given in Section 330.018 which reads 'It is the finding of the legislature of the State that the operation of horse racing tracks in the State is a substantial business compatible to the best interests of the State and the taxes derived therefrom constitute an integral part of the tax structure of the state and counties.'"

"It is the desire on our part," Kemp explained, "to be an asset rather than a liability to the county and we promise one of the finest tracks of its kind in the nation to the people of the county."

VALDOSTA TO BUILD NEW NEWSPAPER PLANT
LAKELAND (AP)—A spy young newspaperman of 23 stopped off here to get some ideas about a new plant he is to build.

E. L. Turner, publisher of the Valdosta Times, looked over the Lakeland Ledger plant yesterday when left for Miami where he is a study newspaper there.

Turner explained plans for the new Valdosta newspaper plant are about valued and a site selected, but no contract has been let.

Legislature Close Stops Introduction Of Annexation Bill

Expected to come before the Special Session of the legislature this year was a bill for annexation to the City of Sanford by petition of the majority of the people in the area to be annexed.

However, a twist involving time prevented the bill from being presented at the special session which was adjourned yesterday afternoon.

Senator Douglas Stenstrom, in a statement this morning, explained the situation which existed and which prevented the bill from being presented according to plans.

He said "In order to present a local bill in the legislature—the kind which Representative Mack N. Cleveland Jr., and Gordon Frederick, and I intended to present at this session of the Legislature—notice of the intent to propose the bill must be published in the newspaper one time 30 days prior to its introduction."

"The notice," Senator Stenstrom said, "in this case, was published on July 3, just a few days after Gov. Collins stated that he had set the date of July 23 for the calling of the special session."

Explained Senator Stenstrom, "The 30 days would have expired today, Aug. 2, and the bill could not have been introduced today."

"This, of course, was made impossible by the Governor's adjournment of the special session yesterday afternoon," he said.

"As a consequence, any further legislative action must necessarily be postponed until the next regular session of the legislature in April, 1957," the Senator said.

Kids In Retirement Town Are Yearning For Youthful Fling

From the Wall Street Journal
DEBARY, Fla. — Older folks speak fondly of youth but some of the 106 youngsters living here, mostly children of merchants and Navy personnel stationed at nearby Sanford, aren't so sure they are overly welcome in this retirement town.

"We have to make our own fun here if we have any at all because most activities are for old folks," gripes a teen-age girl sipping a soft drink at the drug store fountain.

"Even riding up and down the street bothers the old boys," he crew-cut boy friend adds. "Someone says they got up a petition against us kids but I don't think they'd go that far."
