Mrs. D. L. Thrasher Entertains
Mrs. D. L. Thrasher entertained at her beautiful home on Monday evening last. A large number of guests were present and the evening was spent in playing dominoes in the popular game of forty-two. The game was progressive and very interesting. At the close it was found that Mrs. R. J. Holly and Mrs. B. F. Whitner had made the highest scores and both were handsomely rewarded.
Dainty refreshments were served at a late hour and crowned an evening of enjoyment, adding another leaf in the history of Mrs. Thrasher's social successes.

It is needless to add that Mr. and Mrs. Gabbett will receive a warm welcome on their return to Sanford.

New Railroad into Florida
A movement has been started to build a railroad from Bay Minette, Ala., to Pensacola, Fla., by the Baldwin County Colonization company. The distance makes the plan a feasible one, and as the country through which the road would pass is a rich one, it would prove a paying investment.

The name of the new road will be the Elberta, Mobile and Pensacola Railroad company, and has been incorporated with a capital stock of $50,000, and the line will be about 100 miles long. Henry C. Barting, W. J. Levery and C. N. Staiger are among the incorporators.

OFFERS LAND IN FLORIDA

Husband of American Woman Wants to Establish Colony of 5,000

The New York World of last Friday contains the following:

Paris, Jan. 14.—Duke Pompeo Littà, belonging to a noble Milanese family, but naturalized a citizen of France, offered through the Italian Ambassador here today an extensive tract of land in Florida for a colony of 5,000 earthquake survivors, that "a new Messina" may arise in a country which he describes as fertile and easy to exploit.

The colonists could be employed in cutting forests, mining phosphates and raising cotton, fruits and vegetables. The Duke would allot to each family two farms, one free and the other to be worked at a small rental.

He has already discussed the question of transportation with steamship companies, and he hopes that the American Government will waive immigration restrictions.

The tract in Florida is known locally as Myakka.

Duke Littà became a French citizen in order to obtain a divorce from the former Countess Rosa Tarsis, a famous Italian beauty much admired by King Victor's father.

Then the Duke married (in 1808) Mrs. Jane Johnston Perry White Scafe, daughter of Archibald Sydney Johnston Perry of Charleston, S. C.

About that time Duke Littà divided up the ancient estate of his ancestors into 137 tracts, each of which he let to a peasant family at a nominal rate. But after eight years of Socialistic experiment—land reform he called it—he applied to the court to regain possession of his lands.

SUPERINTENDENT HOLLOWAY

Thinks the Counties Will Look After Their Educational Interests

Superintendent of Public Instruction, Hon. W. M. Holloway, expressed himself to the Tallahassee True-Democrat as having entire confidence in the willingness and ability of the counties of Florida to support their schools during the standard term of eight months. He also thinks that the present unsettled condition of the State's educational affairs will be of short duration, since the coming legislature will, beyond all doubt, make some provision for permanent state aid, the legality of which this time will be unchallenged.

Last year, seeing the state unable to meet its indebtedness, the majority of the counties advanced the money needed to pay the salaries of their several teachers, and it is Mr. Holloway's opinion that they will continue to do this until all necessity for doing so is removed. He also thinks that the counties will individually make provisions for at least one central high school. They alone can make legal appropriations for this purpose, as the state law now stands, and as they are the main beneficiaries of an undisturbed and adequate school system, they doubtless will do their full duty in this direction.

SANFORD SIFTINGS

Busy Celery City to Make Fine Exhibit at Jacksonville Exposition

[Sanford Cor. Florida Fruit and Produce News] Sanford is one of the most progressive cities in the trucking districts of Florida. Many new people are moving attracted by the splendid climate, the fine farming lands and the excellent transportation facilities, while others are daily driving about the country, making inquiries and looking for desirable places at which to locate.

This place is going to be well represented at the Jacksonville Exposition. The following have agreed to contribute, and there is no doubt their exhibits will be worth considerable to this county and section:

W. G. Aldridge, 5 crates of celery; M. F. Robinson, 5 boxes of oranges; H. H. Chappell, 5 crates of celery; J. M. Oglesby, 3 crates of celery; L. A. Brumley, 4 crates of celery; A. T. Rossiter, 5 crates of celery; J. P. Wynn, 3 crates of celery; A. McDonald, 4 crates of celery; R. E. Millen, celery, lettuce and cabbage; W. H. Bartley, barrel of cabbage; Joe Cameron, 5 crates of celery; J. B. Starling, 4 crates; Bart Herndon, 4 crates of celery; Jim Cowan and Mr. Hickson, 2 crates of celery; E. E. Brady, 2 crates of celery; M. M. Stuart, 2 crates of celery; A. Flitts, 2 crates of celery; W. J. McBride, 2 crates of celery; E. K. Enzor, 2 crates of celery; C. F. Williams, 3 crates of celery; W. S. Thornton, 2 crates of celery; J. D. Hoskins, 2 crates of celery; J. N. Whitner, 5 crates or more of celery; W. H. Howard, 5 barrels of cabbage; Mike Rotundo, 5 crates of celery. —ORANGETTE.

BIG PRICES FOR VEGETABLES

Sanford Products Make the Growers Prosperous

The stories of Sanford's great celery delta seem beyond belief, and yet to be here and in touch with both grower and commission men gives an insight into the trucking industry, and as it expands and unfolds its possibilities it is difficult to believe that any one section could hold much wealth in the soil.

R. Muse, who is farming on W. J. Hill's place on the west side, stated to a Herald representative one day this week that the lettuce on a quarter-acre of land had netted him $400, and he now had celery planted on the same land which, at $2.00 per crate, a low price, would net $600, thus making $1,000 from one-quarter acre of land, or on an acre the amount would be between $3,000 and $4,000. This did not seem possible, and yet in conversing with other growers it was found that Mr. Muse was actually deriving that amount from the ground.

If a man can get $4,000 from an acre of vegetables in the Sanford district it is little wonder that the city is growing so rapidly.

SANFORD IS PROGRESSING

Celery City is Putting on a Great Many Improvements

[New York Produce-News] Soon Orange county will finish paving Celery avenue. This city has had its part done for two or three years, but Celery avenue grew so fast that it was soon outside of the corporation limits, and out of sight, so the county commissioners are doing their part of the good work.

The truckers will soon start to bleach their celery, and in ten days or two weeks they will begin to ship in carloads. Cauliflower and other vegetables are moving now and of excellent quality, and the truckers find ready market for good stock.

The Sanford & Everglades railroad is nearing completion. This road is built through the celery delta and Lake Jessup. The rails are already laid up to Beardall avenue, and now they talk of operating an electric trolley line on the same rails to points in the city limits. They are not only going to raise truck, but they are going to get it to the market.

Prof. Chapman's Readings

The entertainment furnished by Prof. J. Madison Chapman at the Congregational church Thursday evening was an entertainment in the true sense of the word. The professor was at his best and his auditors were kept in touch with him from beginning to end by the brilliant and interesting manner in which he addressed himself to his subjects. There was solid enjoyment for each listener and he who failed to be benefitted thereby must surely be in need of medical treatment.

BRICK STREET PAVING

First Street To Be Paved Without Delay

OTHER STREETS ALSO PAVED

First Street Will Be Paved Forty Feet in Width With Avenue Effect

One of the most important steps in the material improvement and progress of Sanford will be begun in a few days being nothing less than the paving of First street and parts of several other streets in the city. The contract was closed on last Tuesday and the assurance of good streets thus given to our citizens has caused favorable comment for the mayor, city council and bond trustees. First street is a very wide street and a forty foot space paved with brick will give ample accommodation to traffic and leave a space on either side which will be utilized for beautifying the streets by palmettos and other tropical verdure. The paving will start at the crossing of the Atlantic Coast Line and extend to Sanford avenue.

From First street the work will be continued upon Railroad way and Commercial street will probably be paved as far as Park avenue thus giving the principal streets a fine appearance.

The contract was closed with the Augusta brick concern and the streets will be paved with the best of vitrified brick and when finished will be a lasting monument to the progressive people of Sanford. Nothing will add so much to our growing city as this street paving.

BENEFITS OF THE NEW RAILROAD

Sanford & Everglades a Great Boon to Growers

The Sanford & Everglades Railroad will be completed to Lake Jessup in a few weeks and already cars are being run upon the part completed, the first load hauled last week being a car of fertilizer.

This new road will prove of inestimable value to the growers, as it will enable them to get refrigerator cars at their very doors.

Last year a certain per cent of the celery was lost because the last load gathered in the field at night was left until next morning, and then hauled to the railroad, sometimes a distance of five or six miles. This season the growers can load the celery into the cars at night and none of the crop will be lost by the haul.

As soon as the railroad is finished the traction road will be started and will belt the city, and in all probability go out a distance on the west side, thus giving the people of the celery delta the best transportation facilities in the state.

The railroad and traction line will do more to develop this section than any movement ever started, and the material progress of Sanford will date from the laying of the rails.

Sanford Exhibit in Good Shape

The following letter was received from Mr. C. H. Lefler regarding Sanford's exhibit at the Jacksonville Mid-Winter Fair: "Sanford was ready with a creditable exhibit of crate celery, lettuce, growing beets, growing tomatoes, growing celery, strawberries, ginger, cabbage, cauliflower and decorative ferns when the procession started and was the only one."

Mr. Lefler should receive the cooperation of every citizen and be aided in every way possible in order that Sanford's exhibit shall be the best at the fair.

Sanford Strawberries

Those growers who planted strawberries this season have realized handsome returns and next year there will be about one hundred acres planted in berries. R. H. Muirhead remembered The Herald office this week with some very fine berries. Mr. Muirhead has been very successful in growing strawberries and finds a ready market for most of them here in Sanford.

Arbor Day

According to State regulation Friday in February is designa Arbor Day and it will be duty all the schools throughout this city a suitable program prepared for the occasion.

CURBSTONE GLEANINGS

A Budget of Opinion "Just Between You and Me"

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

"A Chief is Among Ye Taking Notes, and Faith, He'll Prent 'Em"—So Says Saunterer.

Special Correspondence to The Herald. A Sanford Man in New York. I'm lonely in this noisy town. They all seem "on the make." Each tries to get the other down. And nothing succeeds like a fake. There's hunger and lavish display. Silk, satine and rags thrown together. Hard times for all that they say. Volcanoes they're trying to smother. Society, arrogant brash. The needy, hard, fierce and scowling. There's certainly coming a crash To send pompously bowling. Thaw-Nesbitt shows of vice are given— Poor women their souls must sell; I think of home! a breath from heaven In this horrible blast of hell.

Did you know that "Sanford Day" at the Exposition is an assured fact?

That pure food label is a great fraud. I purchased a can of tongue one day this week, and while enjoying a portion of it noticed a black object in the meat. Quickly extracting it and retiring a safe distance on inspection disclosed a bunch of horse hair. I did not look through the contents of the can or a whole set of harness would probably have been found.

The Old Woman. Was it you, young man, we heard using those words when speaking of your mother? "The old woman." A nice phrase to be using about the dear soul who kept her vigil over you in your infancy, kissed away your tears in childhood and remains your trusted friend in maturity. Is this all the love you have for the silver haired mother who bathed your scorching brow all through the long sleepless nights of affliction, when your brain was wild with burning fever? Is there no other term you can find for her whose love has followed you through every trial, tribulation and misfortune of your life? Has mother, through all these years of labor, watching and waiting, been wasting her love on a worthless bunch of clay, who, in the rosy dawn of manhood has no other term more fitting than "the old woman" by which to address or speak of his mother? Mother, young man, is the sweetest name in all the world and should be held in reverence by every boy. The time is coming when her feeble hands will be folded, her watchful eyes closed and the lips once warm with mother's love be cold, the fond heart whose anxious beatings once followed your wayward feet will be stilled forever. So while you can, call her mother; you will miss her when she's gone. Remember what she has suffered for you. When every friend has forsaken you, mother is as true as steel. And now that she is step by step going down life's other side, to near the water's edge and to step across, comfort her old age by speaking kindly and affectionately to her, and make her feel that life was not lived in vain and all the toil without recompense. Lead her gently through old age and when you speak of her or to her do not style her as "the old woman," but place a kiss upon her wrinkled brow and say "mother," and in a way to repay her for the many heart aches she has suffered in your behalf. Sing to her softly, and see the light of love come to her eyes as she hears her boy say in tones which seem to her as gentle as the rustle of an angel's wing. "Mother, I love you."

Now let the ultra religious people be mollified. Taft has been to the theatre only once in twenty years.

Since the bold robbery at Phil Elder's store when the burglars carried the safe from the store, and at a distance calmly rifled it, I have been afraid they would return and carry away my good friend, Phil. Such nerry gents would tackle anything.

Where is my boy tonight? You are his father or mother, and if you desire to lay your hands upon your boy within five minutes any night, you wouldn't know where to find him. He's on the street somewhere, or at the railroad depot jumping on freight trains, but just where, with whom, in what engaged, what plot or what executing for the shrewder who plot for him, you could not tell life of you. He has a good home ought to be there at night. He should be somewhere else with the moral courage to he shall be where he should hope that he will escape the chances are slim. Why don't you do the boy's best to keep him home tonight? He'll come when he will thank you for or reproach you for not doing it.

We're right in the swim, aren't we? With an electrical theatre a' going and a real circus a' coming.

I often wondered why ministers would persist in talking long after they had gotten their idea before the congregation. It is a weariness beyond endurance to wriggle in a pew waiting for a preacher to saw off his discourse, when he no longer has anything to say. Apropos to the thought I found this in the Homiletic Review for December: I would have our minister quit when he is done with the subject of his sermon. All special matters should be attended to before the sermon. The habit that many ministers have of telling stories, especially exaggerated stories, from the pulpit, and stories about themselves, is bad. A minister should never speak of his deceased wife from the pulpit, especially if he has a second or other subsequent wife.

Long-winded, idealless sermons, together with a prayer by some visiting clergyman, as long as the old national pike, are responsible for the men preferring to stay-at-home or go down to the club, or out driving.

"Holl is right here on earth," says a Chicago preacher. Isn't "on earth" superfluous?

The Housewife's Part. The Saunterer has often noticed that the most conspicuous banner in Labor day processions was one that no one will question, to the effect that "The laborer is worthy of his hire." Now I suggest that this indisputable fact could be amended without losing any of its force or effect by making it declare that "The laborer is worthy of his or her hire."

Do you "lords of creation" ever consider the daily burdens the poor housewife has to bear? How many of the aforesaid lords have made New Year's resolves to assist in shifting some of these burdens from the shoulders of our weak but patient sisters? Listen to a recoument of the housewife's part and don't kick if the "kid" is turned over to your tender (?) care while your better half is discharging these never-ending household duties:

- Oh, men, and oh, brothers, and all of you others, I beg of you pause and listen a bit. And I'll tell without altering any of it. The tale of the housewife's part. Mixing and fixing. Brewing and stewing. Heating and heating. Lifting and lifting. Stomping and stomping. Toasting and roasting. Kneading and kneading. Straining and draining. Peeking and peeking. Choosing and using. Reasoning and reasoning. Paring and paring. This is the housewife's part. Filling and spilling. Pounding and pounding. Creaming and creaming. Skimming and skimming. Mopping and mopping. Coring and pouring. Shelling and shelling. Grinding and grinding. Mending and mending. Firing and firing. Carving and serving. This is the housewife's part. Oiling and boiling and broiling. Buying and trying and trying. Burning and turning and churning. Pricing and pricing and pricing. Feasting and feasting and feasting. Scanning and planning and scanning. Sneezing and sneezing and sneezing. This is the housewife's part. Aching and aching and making and shaking. Heating and heating and heating and heating. Oh, men, and oh, brothers and all of you others, Do you envy the housewife's part!

Charlie Reade, the novelist, has the honor of taking the palm. In describing a scene in Tampa he writes: "Her elastic footsteps slapped the pavement as she spanked along with a swish of her skirts through a mad swirl." We wonder if her shoes were full of feet and if there was any room left in the street?

A faint murmur reaches my ears about a larger bond issue to be arranged that will cover the many improvements about to be made in this city and will enable the council not only to pave First street and part of several other streets, but will also give the city a first-class sewerage system and place our city in a most healthy condition before the summer months arrive.

Night riders in Tennessee are depending on alibis for acquittal; may never have heard of such things until this trial.

A great helper to gladness is a happy home. Many of us would never be able, day after day, to face life with its struggles, its duties, its antagonisms, were it not for the renewal of strength which we get in our home. A true home is a little fragment of heaven let down on earth to inspire us with patience and strength for the way. There are men whose nightly return to their homes always means needless misery to their households. They find fault with their dinners, with their household bills, with the children, and with everything else. They make sarcastic remarks that burn and scarify the sensitive souls of their wives. They carry home the worries of business. They "take it out" of their families for everything that has gone wrong in the day's work, and some are cowards enough to revenge upon the innocent and helpless those wrongs and affronts which they have not had courage to resist and resent upon the offender.

There is one great redeeming feature in the so-called sheath gowns now worn by the ladies. It takes very little goods to make a dress and consequently the husbands are all in favor of the quick fit.

With the advent of the tourist season comes the worthless fakir together with the vagrant and bum who would also escape the rigors of a northern winter. Sanford, being as it is at the head of navigation on the St. Johns river, gets more than her quota of this class of undesirable citizens. They first arrive in Jacksonville and are immediately hustled out of that city by the vigilant men of Chief Vinzant. The daily boats of the Clyde River Line present the most convenient and cheapest route of egress, so here they come as far as the boats run. But I wish to assure these fakirs and bums that the Celery City is not intended to be a harbor of refuge for such as they and all received a warm—if not hospitable—welcome by Chief Lee and his lieutenants.

The watch cry here is "Move on—move quick." Yours for Progress, —THE SAUNTERER. Potato Barrels 35c F. O. B. here. Huntington Mills & Cooperage Co., 25-1f Huntington, Fla.

LETTER FROM GOTHAM

A Former Resident of Sanford Writes Second Letter

HAS DEEP INTEREST IN SANFORD

And Talks of Florida Matters in General—New York Gossip of Interest to Floridians

New York, Jan. 19, 1909.

To the Editor of The Herald:—Heartiest congratulations to the State of Florida on the election of Governor Gilchrist, the account of whose formal inauguration to that high office as published in your issue of Jan. 9th was read with great interest and satisfaction by the Floridians resident in New York.

From my personal recollections of Gen. Gilchrist, which date back to 1893, when I was a member of the State Senate, I have every cause to feel that my home state has placed the administration of its public affairs in safe, honorable and capable hands.

Though for several years an exile from the beautiful and historic shores which the foot-print of the white man was first impressed in token of his advent on the American continent, I have never ceased to consider Florida as my home state and have watched with jealous concern her steady progress on the course to the grand destiny which she should command by every natural right.

Nothing can be more conducive to her steady advance on that promising road than the election of efficient officials whose loyalty to and zeal in the public cause are unquestioned and have stood the crucial test of time.

Let the winds run high, the waves arise, and the welkin roar; With a good pilot at the helm, what need to fear the breakers on the shore.

Passing from state to local issues, congratulations are also due to Orange county on the election of Sheriff Kirkwood. Honorable, fearless and energetic, he may be relied on to discharge the duties of his responsible office to the best interests of the community.

With all those who knew his lovable nature and the excellent qualities of his heart and mind, I join to deplore very sincerely the loss of a good man and a true Christian in the death of my old friend, the Rev. R. W. Lawton, of Oviedo.

The news of the completion of the first section of the railroad from Sanford to the Everglades speaks volumes for the spirit of enterprise of the men of your locality. Having always advocated the reclaiming of the Everglades as a land of infinite promise for the cultivation of sugar cane and vegetable growths, the recent sale of over half a million acres strikes me like a cherished dream come true.

I am not familiar with the records of all the big land sales in recent years, but possibly this may be the largest since 1881, when I negotiated the purchase and made the selection of the four million acres acquired by the Diaston Land Company in different parts of the state.

The popularity of Florida as a winter resort is growing year by year. My railroad friends inform me that, notwithstanding the mild weather so far, the exodus of Gothamites for the Land of Flowers is greater than ever.

In my late preambulations through the labyrinths of Gotham I have met Mr. Mabry, nephew of ex-justice, now clerk of the supreme court, Milton H. Mabry. Like myself and others, he feels homesick. I loaned him my copy of The Sanford Herald, which he likened to a whiff of fresh country air.

Young Mr. Mabry is in the legal department of the business conducted by that enterprising and successful real estate man, John Weather.

In conversation with a prominent and well informed engineer I was gratified to learn that the building of the East Coast Line, from Jacksonville to Key West, for which the state is indebted to the enterprise of Henry M. Flagler, is considered by experts as one of the greatest and most venturesome engineering feats of the present age.

The large and constantly increasing shipments of celery from Sanford to this market are attracting the attention of the big dealers in produce. The quality is approved and if prices can be met with other distant competing points Sanford should command the market.

A Rise in Values We have the warrant of the historians for the fact that the Island of Manhattan was acquired by the Pale Face from his Red Skin "brother" for a sum total of some twenty-four dollars, part in cash, part in the useful commodity of glass beads.

The tax assessment rolls for 1909 opened yesterday to public inspection fixes the valuation of real estate in New York City at $8,364,995,810. In the language of Mr. Mantallini, the odd cents "be demned."

A comparison of the above figures, even at this late day, would seem to justify the opinion that Pale Face played Jacob to Red Skin's Esau, when that little real estate deal went through.

This year's appraisal represents an increase of $472,000,000 over that of 1908. What the actual increase will be after the swearing off ceremonies commencing today and ending March 31st are concluded will depend largely on the skill of the participants in the familiar game of "Dodge the Taxes."

The new law specially designed to trap the absentee New York millionaires seems to have failed in its intended effects. The assessments made last year under this law, which were very heavy, shrank to some $5,500,000.00. The swearing off was proportionately heavy. The same failure applies practically to the personal tax system which has ever been a theme of odium and ridicule.

No one realizes this better than President Purdy, of the Board of Assessors who is advocating the repeal of the personal tax law and the imposition of the entire burden of taxation on real estate.

It is interesting to note that Andrew Carnegie is slated for a $5,000,000.00 assessment, which is the largest imposed on any individual, excepting Mrs. Russell Sage, who is taxed for the same amount. The Laird of Skibo may be relied on to honor the public draft. He has developed no tendencies to exercise his conscience in feats of "swearing off."

The name of William Waldorf Astor, the distinguished expatriate, is conspicuously absent from the personal tax list. Mrs. Ida A. Flagler, against whom a decree of divorce was granted to Henry M. Flagler some years ago in Florida on the ground of insanity, appears for the first time on the New York tax list. Her property is assessed at $2,000,000. Why she has never been taxed before, if legally subject to such taxation today, does not appear. She is a resident of Westchester county and has been under the constant care of Dr. Carlos F. McDonald, the celebrated alienist, ever since her removal to this state.

The big buildings, hostleries, fashionable clubs and large apartment houses have been heavily assessed. Among the most prominent are: The Metropolitan, Mutual and Equitable Life buildings at over $16,000,000 each. The Waldorf-Astoria and the Pennsylvania Terminus are also taxed in excess of that amount. Some fifteen buildings are assessed at over $5,000,000. Those assessed at from one to four millions are too numerous to mention.

This is wealth truly. The good Lord save Gotham from the fate of Messina. Where would money enough be found to rebuild it?

The Common People vs. Gas The American reading public is more or less familiar with Cartoonist Oppen's conception of the Common People. This aggregate individuality is portrayed in the form of an insignificant looking person of the middle class who wears glasses and a pained expression of countenance. This poor little fellow is being constantly made the butt of ridicule by a band of large, heavy, overfed and underworked bullies, who represent some of the most pernicious forms of corporate greed.

In his daily contentions with these gay buccaneers Mr. Common People is always getting the worst of it, which accounts for the settled expression of melancholy in his countenance. Once in a great while he gets real mad, and by hook or crook lands a blow on one of his persecutors. This he has quite lately succeeded in doing and a bully by the name of Gas Trust is nursing his solar plexus.

The upholding of the 80 cent gas law by the U. S. supreme court as constitutional will cause the New York gas companies to disgorge a trifle of nine millions which will be very widely distributed among the New York population. How will the gas trust get even?

The advice may be irrelevant, but New York householders are recommended to watch their meters closer than ever. Yours truly, —W. R. MARKS.

DAINGEROUS COUNTERFEITS.

Boqus Quarters and Halves Are Works of Art.

Shovers of queer money are active in Tampa and West Tampa, says The Times, and have an unusually slick article to pass out. Receiving tellers at several banks have detected the fraudulent stuff and turned it back to the innocent depositors who have been caught by the distributing agents of a very complete factory.

The denominations are quarters and half dollars of 1907 and 1908 vintage and all are well executed. The most dangerous one of the batch so far turned up and turned down is the half-dollar bearing the 1907 date. Its appearance would deceive an expert. The die work, milling and all details are seemingly perfect and at least sufficiently accurate to fool anyone not looking for the fraud. It has a "soapy" or greasy feeling to the expert touch and was thus detected. The music of its ring on a counter is not a sixteenth note off, but when it is broken it fractures as only an alloy does. Silver will not break in any such fashion.

The quarters are not so artistic in workmanship and the spurious quality should be readily detected by any of the recognized tests, but any of it would pass "in the dark" or under ordinary circumstances, as few people look carefully at change when received.

As a matter of precaution it would be well to closely examine all the silver in your possession, and if in doubt as to its genuineness take it to a bank and have the experts assure you as to its true character. There may be spurious dollars in the repertoire of the rogues who are making the stuff and the quarters and halves may only be feelers or the advance test.

During the Fair hundreds of thousands of dollars will be circulated in Tampa and at the grounds and change will be made in a hurry. Post-graduate queer shovers would have a juicy opportunity for broadcasting their substitute money and Tampan and their country friends might become custodians of a very large sack of junk, worth less than nothing. Whether it is being imported from a distance or has its origin nearer home has not been determined at this time, but the main idea is to prevent its being circulated.—Tampa Times.

FERTILIZER THAT PAYS

Results in Celery Growing Are Fully Demonstrated

C. M. Drodwater, the genial representative of the E. O. Painter Fertilizer Co., took a representative of The Herald out through the celery section in his automobile one day this week. The place of H. H. Chappell was thoroughly inspected by the party and the vegetable industry under the able direction of Mr. Chappell is a revelation to the average citizen.

He has one five acre tract planted to celery and it is one of the most beautiful sights ever presented to the eye of the beholder. This celery was planted on the third day of November and is now two feet high and in the best of condition. Mr. Chappell has used the E. O. Painter fertilizer for the past nine years and up to this year mixed his own fertilizer; but this season the company has put out the same formula under the name of the Sanford Celery Special and other well known and successful growers have used it, among them being C. F. Williams, L. A. Brumley, A. McDonald, D. R. Brisson, C. A. Betts and several others.

This remarkable growth and good quality of celery is due to the judicious use of the Sanford Celery Special and is creating much favorable comment among the growers. A gentleman present who has travelled extensively throughout the United States said that he had never seen a better field of celery in any section and was fully convinced that with Sanford soil, irrigation and the Celery Special fertilizer a fortune could be reaped by the growers.

The new sanitary inspector is strictly on the job at all times.

The most difficult problem in Sanford today is to find the real obstructionists. They seem to have changed places.

It is up to the Council to give the city electric lights. A franchise should be granted or a good reason given for the delay.

The eternal cussedness of inanimate objects is fully demonstrated in a gas-tight engine. The H. H. engine has been up against this proposition all week.

The "wedding" of Miss Cook in New York last week cost $80,000. If the young lady stays "out" long there is no estimating the entire loss to the family exchequer.

We desire to call the attention of our readers in Sanford and Orange county to the "Letters from Gotham" now published in THE HERALD. Major W. R. Marks, the author, is well known over the State and from his distant home in New York writes entertainingly of affairs in Gotham and also in Orange county. They are most enjoyable in every way and as chatty and full of life as the Major always will be.

The street paving is assured, and now let the Council get together, meet the Sanford Light & Fuel Co., half-way, and grant them the franchise for lighting the city with electric lights. These needed improvements should be started at once, not only for the benefit of our citizens but for the effect it will have upon the strangers within our gates who are bound to return to their homes with a better idea of Sanford's progress than ever before.

They are building a concrete, fireproof town in North Dakota, and have named it Concrete. No other building material is allowed to be used, and the town will stand for ages a monument to the wisdom of its founders. When the little city of Fernie, B. C., was swept away by a woods fire some months ago, the only buildings left were three constructed of concrete. To the fireproof method of building we must all come at last, and those of us who arrive early will save a good deal of insurance money.—Tampa Times.

President Roosevelt's term is not ending peacefully. His pugnacity continues to give him trouble. In two of his messages he charges members of Congress with crippling the public service through fear of personal investigation. The House almost unanimously decided to refuse to consider and lay on the table the objectionable passage.—Democrats and Republicans alike joining in rebuking the President and many of them in their talk and speeches hinting at impeachment proceedings for his violation of the rights of Congress. Some of the members boldly charged that he is wasting nine millions of money in using and multiplying the Secret Service force in shadowing members and others who are not advocates of Teddy and his policies.

The country will breathe freer when Teddy is tucked safely away in the jungles of Africa.

AVANT! PATENT MEDICINES!

Several days ago one of the representatives of a patent medicine firm floated into THE HERALD office, and with the brazen effrontery acquired by long years of fleecing the printers out of a livelihood, offered a contract for $15 that carried $100 worth of local lines. The magnificent offer was turned down and the representative informed that the rate was 10 cents per line. He soon melted away and will never, never return with his offer.

There is no valid reason why foreign advertisers should pay less than the home people, and yet how many newspapers stop and figure up the total cost per line for patent medicine locals. THE HERALD has maintained the same rate for display advertising and local lines, and the books are open to the advertiser at all times. Each one pays the same price and if a paper makes a cut in rates the home merchant should get the advantage, and not the patent medicine fakes.

Connected with this paper is a printing office capable of producing the highest grade of office and society stationery.

SAM RUSS IS DEAD.

The following editorial tribute to one of the best known newspaper men and most brilliant writers of the State, was published in the Tampa Morning Tribune last Wednesday:

An inconspicuous news story in the Jacksonville Times-Union conveys the intelligence of the death of Samuel B. Russ, for years a figure in the newspaper circles of Florida. Mr. Russ was found dead in bed in a Jacksonville lodging house Sunday morning. By the peculiar irony of fate, a man who knew personally, perhaps more public men in Florida than any other man in the State, met death alone in the silences of the night and his body, unidentified, lay for hours before it was recognized.

Samuel B. Russ was a native of Boston. He received a thorough collegiate education and did his first newspaper work as dramatic critic on the Boston dailies. In that field he had few equals. A brilliant future opened its alluring vista before him. But the curse of drink, which followed him relentlessly from his young manhood to his squalid, unattended death-bed, led him to forsake the bright pathway which his genius might have blazed and he came to Florida, in the hope that, in a new clime and among new people, he might begin life under better auspices and rescue his intellect from the dangers that beset it.

In Florida, Mr. Russ did much brilliant newspaper work, but he lacked the inclination to sustained effort. He worked on The Tribune a dozen years ago and those who were familiar with newspaper work in Tampa at that time are fond of telling some of the interesting incidents which marked his connection with this paper. The files of The Tribune bear eloquent testimony to his unusual ability as a writer. As a paragrapher, he was inimitable. He wrote verse that was frequently touched with the real fire of genius. As a Tallahassee correspondent he was in his element. His thorough familiarity with State questions, with political alignments, and his wonderfully wide personal acquaintance with the leading men of Florida, made him a valuable representative at the sessions of the Legislature. When not connected with a newspaper, he was a "free lance" and the power and incisiveness of his criticisms and comments have been felt in more than one situation in the political history of Florida during the past quarter of a century.

In his last days Mr. Russ was out of employment, subsisting on the kindness of friends—the sombre, closing scenes of a life of "brilliant, broken plans, of blasted, high ambitions." If all the cheering, encouraging words of sincere praise he wrote about the men in whose behalf the powerful combination of his brain and pen was enlisted, could be repaid him now in death, he would have a eulogy unequaled in its eloquence. If the kindly sentiments he expressed in life could be converted into flowers for his grave, he would rest beneath a floral memorial loftier than the tallest pine of our forests and broader than the Peninsula itself. Let us hope that, after his day of sorrow and of strife

"The weary sun hath made a golden set,
And, by the bright track of his fiery car,
Gives signal of a goodly day tomorrow."

We find the following in the Orlando Reporter-Star of last Saturday:

The "Celery City" wants to watch out now for a man by the name of Gamble, who is putting up $25,000 as a gamble on celery growing near Jacksonville.

The Times-Union article states that "Nature and the transportation lines have done much to insure the success of the industry there" and that "there is a difference of ten cents a crate in favor of Jacksonville as compared with Sanford."

We have no doubt that there is plenty of land suited to celery growing in Duval county, just as there is in Orange county, outside of Sanford, but perhaps there is no better land or conditions more favorable than Sanford enjoys, so that the only thing in favor of Duval county would be the ten cents per crate saved on freight, which figured up would require 100 crates to make $10, or 1,000 crates to make $100 more than a grower makes at Sanford.

We are not sure, but we should consider the danger of freezing is rather less at Sanford, Orlando or Manatee to more than offset the saving of ten cents on a crate. However, the country is big and the Florida celery crop fits in so nicely between the California and Kalamazoo crops, that the more there is planted in Florida, the richer the State will become.

Don't worry, Bro. Howard, about the celery situation. The other fellow has tried to demonstrate the "just as good" every year and many sections of Florida grew celery long before Sanford, but none other has ever made the success or gained the world-wide reputation that Sanford has, and now if Mr. Gamble wishes to obtain a good price for his Jacksonville celery he will be obliged to label it "not made in Jacksonville" but "Grown in Sanford."

LET THERE BE LIGHT

Sanford has long needed electric lights and paved streets. The latter will be started in a few weeks. The former should be started but owing to some hitch in the council the franchise of the Sanford Light & Fuel Co. cannot be arranged. This company is ready to install a first class plant at once and the matter of franchise should be arranged at once.

THE HERALD has ever maintained that a franchise should be granted and unless the council has a valid reason for delay in this matter it should not be hung up any longer. The greatest need of Sanford today is well lighted streets. The opportunity is knocking at our door and a delay will mean another year of Stygian darkness and a step backward instead of forward.

We find the following lament in a recent issue of our county contemporary, The Orlando Reporter-Star:

It is hard to credit but it is said that even beautiful, fruitful, successful, cheerful, hospitable Orlando has "knockers" in her midst.

The progressionists of the city are doing all possible to forward its interests. These citizens talk up the town, they raise money by the thousands of dollars to set forth its advantages, the beauty and profitableness of its orange groves and gardens, the healthfulness of its climate and all the rest for which it is famous.

But after all this is done and when in response to all this effort new people are attracted here with the intention of locating or of investing, then doth the "knocker" slyly sneak around and fill the minds of these new people with doubts and scare them out of investing or locating.

These "knockers," if their true motives were investigated, would be found to have a grudge against successful men or they have a little proposition of their own which they would like to spring.

There are laws to regulate such intermeddlers when it comes to knocking the private business of any man, but for the knocker of the town there is probably no law except that of self-protection of the town and in such cases it were well if the professional town knocker were taken to the woods and fenced in.

German at Sanford House

The organization of the Welaka Club in Sanford has done much toward enlivening the social world and with receptions, dances and card parties the season has been one round of pleasure.

The first german of the season given at the Sanford House by the club was a social success and so thoroughly enjoyed by the men that their chivalrous natures were stirred to give the ladies a return for their hospitality, and Thursday night a return german was given at the Sanford House. Twenty-five couples were present and the favors and figures were the delight of those who witnessed the affair. Prof. Stumon's orchestra furnished the music and the waltzes and two steps were dreams for the delectation of the dancers.

The ladies present were elegantly gowned for the occasion and, mingling with the bright scarfs of the favors, made a most pleasing picture. The may pole and mirror figures were features of the evening, as were the flags of all nations and the ubiquitous Teddy bears.

The committee in charge deserves great credit for the many handsome and varied favors and for the elegant manner in which the affair was arranged and managed.

Punch was served in the parlors and at a late hour a sumptuous lunch of turkey salad, cafe noir, and other choice viands, was thoroughly enjoyed.

These germans are becoming very popular and the ladies, not to be outdone, will probably have another delightful affair before the season ends.

Old-Fashioned Candy-Pulling

On Thursday evening Mrs. McLaulin entertained a few of the young people at an old-fashion candy-pulling, after which delicious refreshments were served.

Among those present were: Misses Thomas of Georgia, Long, Roberts and Moore; Messrs. R. Lerta, Rowe, Lynn and Hopson.

Miss Tinnie, an accomplished violinist, will play at the meeting of the Cecilia Club this afternoon, at three o'clock.

On the Stork Express.

An assistant engineer came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Holmes yesterday morning. He is not able to be of much assistance to his dad as yet, being a lousy boy of a few days, but he can be relied upon to keep dad Holmes "on the carpet for several nights."

Many New Buildings.

Sanford is progressing along every line and one of the most noticeable is the many new buildings being erected. Among them we note that of Dr. Puleston on Park avenue, W. P. Carter on First street, the Underwood factory on Oak avenue and several others started this week. The Building and Loan Association have negotiated two loans for new residences and arranged for several more, and this season will witness great activity in the building line. Sanford could fill two hundred new dwellings with occupants at the present time and it is to be hoped that by the early fall there will be that many or more erected. The Sanford Building and Loan Association is doing a great work along this line.

With the Four Pickets, Deadwood Dick, the electric theatre, dance at the Sanford House and circus today, Sanford has not lacked amusements this week.

"Marked Copy" Did the Trick.

"MARKED COPY" on a newspaper wrapper is sure to make the receiver open and read.

Last year a southern man bought fifty copies of his local paper containing a suggestion for a factory location, marked them and mailed them to fifty individuals or concerns that might be interested.

Result: Twelve immediate inquiries, three propositions for the factory site, one thriving factory located which today pays wages to 175 persons living in that town.

FLORIDA PRODUCTS IN N. Y.

Decided Improvement in the Market For All Products

(New York Packer)

New York, Jan. 18.—There is a decidedly better feeling in the Florida orange market than there was last week. The range of prices for the average offerings on the street was from $2 to $3, with fancy Indian river fruit, including the pineapple variety, bringing $3.50.

The grapefruit market, which last week was in poor condition, due to the heavy receipts, has shown a better feeling this week, and prices on good stock range from $1.50 to $2. Tangerines sold at $2 to $3.

About the same heavy receipts of lettuce the early part of last week have been duplicated this week. If anything, the receipts of this week have increased over last week. The first three days of this week there were 55 cars of lettuce received and the demand is, of course, not very good, which is due to the unusually large receipts. The prices mostly range from $1 to $1.50, with a few fancy marks bringing a little more. The amount of lettuce received this week breaks the record being the highest for any time this year so far.

Peas sold at $3.50 to $4.50, which is a great deal higher than last week and shows a decided improvement. The stock received last week was not of the best quality, but this week it is much better, hence the higher figures.

Beans bring, on the street, from $1.50 to $3.50, with the fancy quality reaching the outside figure. Peppers are selling at $3 to $4, or about the same as last week's prices, and the prices on white squash remain about the same.

The receipts of cauliflower have been light and the prices range from $1.50 to $3.50 per basket, according to quality.

Choice tomatoes brought $1.50 and the fancy about $2.50. Eggplants are selling at $3 to $4.

The prices of strawberries are a little better than last week, stock selling on the street at 30 to 40c a quart.

and 278,700 pounds of LUCAS COLORS, sufficient to produce more than 100,000 gallons of paint, equivalent to 50 carloads of 200,000 gallons each, and which would make a train more than one-half mile long.

In addition to this Uncle Sam has used during the past year more than 25,000 gallons of LUCAS VARNISHES, ENAMELS and other products.

Uncle Sam's preference is not a matter of favor, but of QUALITY and RESULTS.

If Uncle Sam's service, as in everybody else's, LUCAS PRODUCTS have an unbroken record for satisfactory results.

DISCUSSION OF STREET PAVING

No Time For Other Matters—Electric Lights Not Yet Decided—Minor Business

The city council met in regular session last Monday evening. The regular routine of business was gone through and the matter of paving First street with vitrified brick coming in order the matter was taken up and fully discussed. Representatives of the Augusta Brick Co., and the Tennessee Company were present and presented the merits of their respective goods. After a lengthy discussion it was decided to take the bid of the Augusta firm, and they have contracted to furnish the brick and lay the same on First street.

The matter of electric lights was next taken up and it is up to the council to decide this matter at the next meeting. The Sanford Light & Fuel Co. have been seeking a franchise for lighting the city by electricity and are ready to put in a plant at once, and it only remains for the council to grant such a franchise in order that our city may have the benefit of good lights.

Business of minor importance being transacted, the council adjourned until the next meeting in February.

Hope to Emulate Sanford Prices

(Short Talks in Times-Union)

The Sanford Herald tells of the sale of eight acres of land in the Sanford district, recently, for $11,000. The land was purchased several years ago and put in good condition, and at the time of the sale had a good crop of vegetables, which will net the purchaser a neat sum. The Herald asks, "Where could you buy land, improve it and make such a profit in two years' time?" Sanford real estate is advancing in price by leaps and bounds since the value of her celery and lettuce crops has been fully established. Something like this will follow in the prices of country property in Duval county when the Duval Farm and Land Company, now organizing, has carried its plans to fruition. The Herald devotes a column and a quarter to the new company, which it seems to look upon with a jealous eye.

Band Concert Next Sunday

The Sanford Band is recognized as an organization of more than ordinary ability and their Sunday concerts are always enjoyed by a large number of people. In fact, the concerts are so largely attended that more seats should be provided in order that everyone could be comfortably seated and enjoy the music.

The first concert of 1909 will be given by the Sanford Band, in the band stand on Park avenue, Sunday, 24th, beginning at 4 o'clock.

An Amusing Incident

A rather amusing instance of absent-mindedness was manifested in this city one day this week. A stranger arrived on an incoming train and calling a colored boy told him to carry his grip to Stumon's restaurant. Nothing more was seen or heard of the man, the boy or the grip, until several days later when a gentleman took dinner at the restaurant and after paying his bill told Mr. Stumon of the loss of the grip, saying that he had hunted high and low for the boy and had telegraphed far and near without result. As he turned to go, his gaze fell upon the much-sought-for grip resting in the corner. Then, for the first time, he remembered the transaction at the depot, and was once more happy.

Children's Dancing Class

Miss Gelsie Butt has opened a dancing class in connection with her other class. Lessons will be given on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons at three o'clock, at the Hotel Wilton. Terms, two dollars for eight lessons.

A new feature will be introduced at the state fair this year. Between the races free exhibitions will be given in the race-track infield, for the benefit of the spectators. Hitherto there were unrelieved waits between the running events, but there will be something doing every minute this year. Among these new attractions will be a daily balloon ascension and parachute leap.

CHANGE OF NAME

East Coast District of M. E. Church SOUTH, NOW Miami District.

For some time there has been an inclination on the part of members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South to erect a district parsonage in the East Coast district. At the recent session of the Conference held in Miami, the trustees reported the purchase of a commodious and suitable building for a parsonage, and upon the recommendation of the Presiding Elder, Rev. E. Floy, Bishop Galloway made the change of name from the East Coast District to the Miami District, in recognition of the progressive religious spirit manifest throughout the district, and especially along the immediate East Coast.

Every district in the State of Florida in the Florida Conference of this Church now owns its district parsonage which greatly facilitates the work of the large and growing denomination. Other district parsonages are located in Jacksonville, Tampa, Tallahassee, Ocala and Bartow, and each district is called by the name of the city in which the district parsonage is located.

Announcement

Miss Cora Kays and Mrs. Marie Ketchum beg to announce to the ladies of Sanford and vicinity that they will in the near future (probably about Feb. 1st) open an embroidery and fancy goods store in the Crippen music store.

In connection with the business they will institute a woman's exchange for the display and sale of all kinds of women's products. A nominal membership fee will be charged and a small commission on the sale of goods. A list of rooms and boarding houses, with location and price, will also be kept and tourists in search of accommodations will be directed as to where they can find what they desire. This will be a great convenience, not only to the travelling public, but to our citizens as well, and the firm hopes to merit and receive a liberal patronage. Announcement of the opening will be made later.

B. Y. P. U. Organized

Last Sunday evening a large audience gathered in the Baptist church at 6:30 for the purpose of organizing a Baptist Young People's Union. Mr. Hatzlipp, president of the B. Y. P. U. in Orlando was present and made an earnest address, after which an organization was effected. The following officers were then elected: President, H. E. Tolar; Vice President, K. R. Murrell; Secretary, Miss Clara Millen; Treasurer, Miss Martha Fox. The next meeting will be held at 3:30 next Sunday afternoon, to which all are cordially invited.

Always Catering To The Best

Decided improvements have been made this week in the interior of The City Restaurant by the proprietor, Robt. L. Jones. The large front room is now devoted to dining purposes and convenient tables are placed all about. The old bar has been removed and the whole is transformed into a most desirable dining place for ladies and gentlemen, who want something a little better than is served elsewhere in Orange county. All are welcome to The City Restaurant and are made to feel comfortable and "at home."

The Rabbit's Foot To Be Here

Next Thursday night the original and only Rabbit's Foot Company will exhibit under canvas in Sanford. This is Pat Chappell's own show and this year he has greatly rejuvenated his attractions, so that it is the largest and best show of the kind on the road.

Malleu Gets Stung

A negro preacher named Henry Gray gave A. E. Malleu a check for $7 and upon presentation of the same it was learned that there were no funds in the bank for the aforesaid Henry. Malleu now mourns the loss of his "good money" and the next negro that gets a check cashed by Malleu will have to prove his account first.

CELERY AVENUE NEWS

Special Correspondence to The Herald.
The fields of celery that line Celery avenue on each side are beautiful to behold just at the present time as the celery is now fast approaching the boarding time. A drive out Celery Avenue will amply repay one.

The new Sanford and Everglades Railroad is now completed for a distance of three and one-half miles or to a point about one-fourth mile beyond Beardall avenue. Get ready boys to take a ride on "Our Road"

Mr. Tom Hawkins has just perfected an ingenious spraying machine for spraying celery. This machine is nothing more than the ordinary sprayer mounted on a hand plow and operated by bicycle sprockets and bicycle chain. Its a labor saver and a back saver. Celery growers should see this ingenious invention.

It is a marvel to go for a trip through the celery delta. At least once a month one sees on every hand new houses under construction, new land being cleared up, new people, and great of all, a sure enough railroad.

Mr. C. T. Clarke has just completed the erection of a two-story residence on his truck farm on the S. & E. Ry.

How about the picnic I suggested in my last letter? Can't we get the movement on foot? Let's try. I would be pleased to hear from some one on the subject. My address is Box 74, City. The picnic and fish fry to be participated in by the truck growers and their families and friends. Let's hear from some one.

Mrs. Angus Chappell is visiting friends in Jacksonville this week.

John H. Mitchell of Richmond, Ind., who came down to the delta last fall and purchased five acres of Beck hammock, now has in cultivation three and a-half acres, two in cabbage and the balance in cucumbers, etc. Mr. Mitchell has the distinction of being the first one to clear up and cultivate a farm in Beck hammock. He is delighted with the country and expects to make some money this season, notwithstanding his late start.

Miss Stone of Cleveland, Ohio, is visiting Mrs. T. P. Compropt.

Mr. H. H. Chappell's mother, Mrs. R. S. Chappell, is visiting in Jacksonville this week.

Will Greg, a colored farm hand in the employ of Mr. Tom Hawkins, while hunting in the hammock back of Mr. Hawkins' farm on Wednesday evening of this week, killed a large wild cat. This is the third cat killed in this hammock recently, and there is said to be another enormous one and two smaller ones there. Get busy, ye hunters.

Mr. T. P. Compropt has the banner for duck shooting this season so far, having killed 183. —A FARMER.

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS

Special Correspondence to The Herald.
Jan. 18th.—The tourist season is now on in full force and this famous resort is fast filling up. The indications are, judging by the daily bankings, that this happy family resort will be filled to its capacity within the next two weeks. The manager, Mr. S. M. Johnson, has made ample preparations for the rush by the arrival of an increase of help from his Shirley Hill hotel in New Hampshire, as the comfort of his guests is his first consideration and the open secret of his success as a hotel man.

Prominent among the late arrivals are: Rev. Dr. Tupper, Mrs. Tupper, Philadelphia, Pa.; S. Maxwell McIntyre, Mrs. McIntyre, New Hartford, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Sprague, Scranton, Pa.; Mrs. John McCullach, K. C. McCullach, Minneapolis; Le Roy Park, Scranton, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles McManus, Mrs. Clara M. Sperry, Hartford, Conn.; Hon. J. L. Briggs and wife, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.; Mr. Daniel Lees, Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. J. E. Graves, Mt. Sterling, Ky.; Miss L. A. Read, Newton Center, Mass.
Mr. Sprague and wife left Jacksonville

in his elegant touring car, but with a vexacious delay between Jacksonville and St. Augustine by getting stalled in the mud in the swamp, they were delayed four days. They are enthusiastic autoists and since their arrival are making daily trips in their car over the finely-kept hard roads of Orange county, where such a calamity could not occur, and it goes without saying that Mr. and Mrs. Sprague will be among the strongest advocates of hard roads.

Mr. Briggs is an enthusiastic hunter and is enjoying the sport and this delightful climate to the limit. He is a sure shot and it is not healthy for any living thing to get "ferinat" his gun, as is evidenced by the well filled game bag when he returns to the hotel in the evening. Quail on toast is mighty fine eating and the motion is seconded by his friends in the dining room, together with desert of pecan nuts from Oak Knoll Pecan Grove. —N. H. Fogg.

OVIEDO OCCURRENCES

Special correspondent to The Herald.
Dr. and Mrs. Hunter of Bushnell, Fla., are new arrivals in our community. The doctor intends to open a first-class drug store here in connection with his practice, and is now in Jacksonville purchasing his stock. They are a newly married couple and will prove quite an acquisition to our social life.

Mrs. Joe Lawton, accompanied by her two interesting little daughters, went over to Sanford Monday to spend a week with her sister, Mrs. Carter.

The new Methodist minister, Rev. McCall, seems to have created a very favorable impression upon his congregation. He is a forceful speaker and delivered two impressive sermons Sunday. Much good work is anticipated during his pastorate here.

Mr. J. S. Moore, who for some years has been engaged in the mercantile business here, is making preparations to move over to Sanford, which place he intends to make his future home. He, like many others, has become enthused with the celery idea and recently purchased a tract of land in the celery district, which has been cleared and is now under cultivation. He intends to continue in the mercantile business, and is now moving his stock from here into his new store in Sanford. Mrs. Moore and his interesting family have resided here for years and the whole community regret exceedingly their departure, but wish them Godspeed in their new home.

Invitations are out announcing the approaching nuptials of Theodore Aulin of this place and Miss Nettie Jacobs of Chuluota, the ceremony to take place Sunday, January 24th, at the Baptist church in the latter place. Mr. Aulin is one of our enterprising young merchants, well liked by the whole community, while the bride-to-be is a popular young lady of high intellectual attainments, possessing a sweet disposition and lovable traits of character, which are enhanced by a striking personal attractiveness.

Mrs. Harry Alexander left Monday for Dade City to spend a few days with her parents. She has been absent from her parental home for over seven months on a visit to relatives in Georgia and Alabama, and was married in Atlanta. Her many friends here are wishing her a pleasant visit and speedy return.

In conversation with T. L. Mead recently we were informed that his acreage of cauliflower was almost totally destroyed by the blight, but he anticipates substantial financial remuneration from his cucumber crop which is now progressing nicely. He is cultivating his vegetables under cover, and will have them ready for market well in advance of the outdoor crops. Mr. Mead has a beautiful place here and has been engaged for years in the culture of rare orchids and other ornamentals, and there is hardly a specie of flower or shrub known that cannot be found at his home.

The Lawton brothers intend in the next several weeks to again enter the mercantile business, and will be found at the old stand in the brick store.

The postoffice which for several years has been located in the store of J. S. Moore, will be removed to the regular quarters occupied before the appointment of Mr. Moore as postmaster. As yet we have not been able to ascertain who will officiate in that capacity.

APOPKA ITEMS

Special Correspondence to The Herald.
The McClure brothers have sold their lettuce crop at Sanford this year for $1,300. They estimate that this will pay all expenses and that they will have their five acres of celery as clear profit. Good for these worthy and industrious young men.

J. L. Dillard, one of Winter Garden's orange kings, came over with his family recently in his splendid new auto, "Reo," to visit Rev. L. D. Geiger.

Mr. Cunningham and Mr. Byrd, late arrivals from Tennessee, made a trip recently to Winter Garden, piloted by our Sam Cunningham. They will go in a day or two to the East Coast for a time and will then return and will probably purchase property in Apopka and locate among us. We will be very glad to have them do so. No more healthful spot can be found anywhere.

Rev. G. W. Hardaway preached at the Presbyterian church here Sunday and Rev. R. N. Cate preached at Crescent City.

Mr. W. Holmes is back from the Orlando hospital, looking much better. We trust that he will soon be entirely well.

B. M. Hawthorn's cabbage patch is looking fine. It must be equal to that of the famous Mrs. Wiggs.

Hugh Waters is again here from Atlanta looking after fruit and vegetables for his commission house.

Claude Hickson visited Oakland a few days ago. He was carried thither, it is said, by a little matter of the heart.

The Apopka B. Y. P. U. had a temperance meeting Sunday night. R. Starbird and one or two others made short addresses. Misses Minnie May Ryan, Ruby Richardson and Mildred Willford recited. Miss Florida Newman led the meeting.

The Tatum and Smith families are now comfortably domiciled in the Haynes cottage on Fourth street.

J. T. Willett, of North Carolina, is visiting his relatives, J. R. Womble and family.

Mrs. A. C. Starbird and Mrs. S. W. Eldredge entertained the Apopka Minerva Literary Club Friday night in the K. of P. hall. Miss Kathleen Mitchell and Mr. Leslie Rhoades, of the '09 graduating class being guests of honor. Miss McClinton was leader for the evening. The program was of a humorous nature and was most creditably rendered. Among those who read selections or original productions were the following: Mr. F. H. Davis, Mrs. Green and Misses Scott, Ruby Wilson, Mabel Eldredge, Mattie Lovell and Ethel Hickson. The exercises were concluded with an impersonation of Mrs. Wiggs, in the first chapter of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," by Apopka's talented young elocutionist, Miss Wanda Zelotes Combs. The impersonation was greatly enjoyed. Following the literary program there were some entertaining games after which delicious refreshments were served, consisting of cake, fruit punch and ice cream. Mrs. Starbird and Mrs. Eldredge are among our most estimable dames, and as hostesses of the evening on this occasion they were at their very best.

LAKE MARY MELANGE

Special Cor. to The Herald.
Mr. A. E. Sjoblom, one of our leading merchants is quite ill with chills and fever.

Mr. E. H. Hawkins left Tuesday for Edensfield. We were sorry to see him go.

Quite a number of the Lake Mary young people attended the Epworth League social at Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Humphreys of Clyde last Friday evening. All report having had a lovely time.

Mr. Oliver Keely, nephew of Mrs. A. W. Keely, has brought his bride down to see the Sunny South. We all join in congratulations and wish them a long and happy life.

Miss Florence Lovell spent last Sunday at Longwood.

Must Cut at the Root

To the Editor of the Herald:
Some men fall from knowing too little, but more fall from knowing too much; and still more from knowing it all; but I know this, that to make a Greater Sanford you must have a city council with backbone to enforce laws that are already established (and have been for years) to stop the violation of ordinances that are pertinent to streets, sanitary and public places generally. Why not save the money you pay the police? They are not required to enforce laws. Begin to cut at the root and you will succeed in your efforts to create a Greater Sanford.

—A SALESMAN.
Headquarter, Sanford.

Condemnation of a Pernicious Habit

To the Editor of The Herald:
I see that you are striving to make a Greater Sanford, and in that connection I have a few suggestions to make that may aid in our upbuilding and advancement.

I would say that whenever the citizens are in need of dry goods, clothing, groceries furniture, jewelry, wall paper, hardware, shoes, hats, etc., in fact, anything that the merchants of our city handle, that they go to Jacksonville or some other distant city to make their purchases. Whenever they have houses to build or repairs to make on their houses, stores or machinery, or any work, they should go to the same place to get contractors and workmen, as we have no such mechanics in Sanford (T). In fact, let every dollar continue to be spent away from Sanford by the majority of the citizens and we will have nothing left to build up with. In business here in Sanford I have had citizens select goods and say they would be in and let me know when they wanted them delivered. I would retain same for weeks and even months and in the meantime these citizens would purchase away from town, leaving the goods on my hands. Then these same persons will come and want a few articles on credit. These persons subsist on the citizens of Sanford. We pay them our taxes—they carry the money out of town.

The foregoing is how it has been done in the past and present up to date. As our town has been banged about, we certainly need a boom, as The Saunterer says, "with a big 'B'", and to advance Sanford first let the business men form a Protective Association. By this means we will be enabled to sell even cheaper than at present, for we have ridden ourselves and our books of the "dead beat."

Yours for a Greater Sanford.
—A MERCHANT.

The "Big Stick" Has Lost

To the Editor of The Herald:
It looks as if the remaining few weeks of the Roosevelt administration will be full of conflict—a kind of a dramatic performance, a mingled or confused mass of "my policies" against common sense.

The usurpation of the office, he has deliberately defied the judgment of the American people and the honesty of its lawmakers; he has sought to vilify rather than to elevate that august body of men.

One would suppose that the dignity of the office of President of so great a country would be a safeguard against such trifling indulgences of self at the expense of those who make the laws. His attack upon Congress is fallacious and untenable and should be resented without reserve that the true character of the man and the object of his accusations may be proven, not that I or the public desire to see his administration end in reproach and disaster, but as a warning to his successors in office that there is a limit and danger line to the exalted position of President of the United States. While he has supreme authority over all public questions and actions of men connected with the national government, they at the same time have rights which he is in duty bound to respect.

Just what these are we hope will be clearly shown by the committee appointed to inquire into the matter. However it looks now that the "big stick" has lost the battle and will surrender into the hands of the enemy or retire from the fight and be forever ensconced in its scabbard upon the walls of the temple of fame that posterity may be spared its terrors and benighted influence.

Nine million dollars for sleuths and not one penny for tribute to Congress, is not apologetical of the attitude of the President

In the secret service matter that has got Congress on its mettle, but rather it reveals an audacious attempt to impugn the power of Congress and the rights of its members to a pecuniary gain even in a legitimate transaction. I am anxiously awaiting the final developments in the matter and hope that Congress and Mr. Tillman will be sustained in their defense from the "big stick" and that it may be a lesson for good, not only in national affairs but in state and county affairs as well.

FLORIDA ORANGES IMPROVE

Fruit Shows up Better, but Prices Remain Firm

[New York Produce News]

New York, Jan. 18.—Receipts of Florida oranges this week were moderately light and a very firm feeling characterized the market. Prices showed practically no change, but the general run of the fruit was of improved quality, both by rail and steamer. The demand was mainly on the small sales and 125s and 188s sold $1.75 @ 2.25, with the 98s, which are generally thick skinned, puffy and undesirable, bringing around $1.25 @ 1.50. With the general run of fruit, russets are selling better than the brights. This is only the case with choice varieties. The high-grade brights still sell better than the russets. Good fruit is quiet. Desirable lines bring $2.25 @ 2.50. Fancy 125s are in limited demand and the market is a trifle weaker on them. As a result of increasing receipts of California fruit, the top price on fancy 126s has been $2.60. Receivers look for continued lighter receipts of Florida fruit and feel that the market will remain in fairly good condition.

There is a very light movement of grapefruit and the demand is about on a par with the motion. Fancy brights and russets sell well at $2.75 @ 3.50, with some strictly fancy well known marks exceeding these prices. Some poor grapefruit sells as low as $1. From that the prices range up to $2.50 according to quality and size.

A very satisfactory demand exists for tangerines at $2.50 @ 4 a strap. One of the features of the Florida market this season has been the constant inquiries for tangerines. There has never been a season when the fruit has been so generally good or in such strong request as this year.

FROM MACARONI DELTA

From The Herald's Special Correspondent
By Wireless Telephone

The exhilarating song of the potato bug is heard distinctly in this locality.

Seth Hopkins, our boarding house man, has found that fly screens won't keep out bedbugs. His boarders seem much discouraged.

The balmy atmosphere of the past week has been quite beneficial to corn, much more so than if it had been cold and unfavorable.

Mrs. Punk Jones entertained several of the Macaroni smart set with a fried tripe luncheon and Garfield tea yesterday afternoon. Much hilarity prevailed.

A Sanford man named Bigger at the picnic was bit by a chigger. He howled and cavorted, He worried and anorted, And cut a ridiculous figger.

Two of Bill Kornpeter's girls recited six chapters in the Old Testament at the church social last night and much hand-clapping prevailed.

Old Gil Peckham's wife had a two-ounce bunion chisled off her right foot yesterday. Doc Stebbins said the old woman's hoof bled like a stuck pig.

Asbury Smoot was kicked in the stomach while milking a balky cow yesterday, and his vermifuge appendix was knocked clean out of plum and may have to be re-adjusted.

Old man Stetson has sold his five-acre stock farm and is going to act his son Pete up in business and has started him in a shoe-shining parlor on Smoot avenue. Pete is a pusher.

Three sawlogs passed through our town to the Bean Creek mill Wednesday, and two loads of sawdust were hauled from the mill to town for sidewalk making on Plunket avenue.

Sam Dingman planted his third wife last Tuesday. She passed away quite peacefully from bilious secretions of the liver. Much sympathy is felt for Sam who seems much chagrined.

Phil Plunket says if we don't get a late frost and don't have too much dry or wet weather the seed planted in good ground, and hasn't been injured yet, may pan out good crops. Phil's judgment is pretty reliable.

We were pleased to see several citizens of Sanford in town yesterday. They spoke highly of the up-to-date and civilized appearance of our streets and citizens. They tarried with us for some time and returned to Sanford. Come again, gentlemen.

The Gilecudy family are all afflicted with St. Johns river scratches. Ophelia, the oldest girl, caught 'em sitting up with the hired man, and she give 'em to the balance of the family.

Sylvester Jenkins and Bob Stokes biked over to Bungalow Corners last Sunday to see the red headed Skinner girls. Hi Bensley, who keeps the lunch and soda stand, got over a dollar of Syl and Bob's money. The boys are great spenders.

Lycurgus Dollarhide and Cleopatra Smoot have made up and are keeping company again. They fell out over almost nothing. When they went sliding down the bump the bumps at Wonderland Cleopatra's bustle got pushed round on her side and she looked so comical that everybody yelled and Lycurgus snickered along with the rest and that made her awful mad. Well, true love never did run smooth, as Julius Caesar said, but thank goodness everything is all right now.

Another Florida Industry.

The immense paper factory which is proposed for Gainesville is assuming the nature of the real thing, as a site has been selected by two expert engineers of Boston, who have been looking over the situation for the past two weeks. The site will be located in the northern section of the city, directly between the tracks of the Atlantic Coast Line and the Tampa and Jacksonville railway.

The material to be employed in the manufacture of paper at this plant will be the stumps of dismantled pines. This will be, when completed, one of the largest paper mills in the United States. It is said that the plant, buildings, etc., will cost in the neighborhood of $2,000,000, and the industry will employ a large number of hands. The enterprise is being financed by the promoter, C. W. Chase, of Gainesville, and Eastern and English capitalists.

The manufacture of paper from the pine stump is no experiment, but an actual realization, as those interested have made numerous experiments which have finally resulted in producing a strong, perfect paper of several grades. It is claimed that the paper made from pine is superior in many instances to the product from any other fiber material.

HAPPENINGS DURING THE WEEK

Here the Readers Will Find a Brief Historical Spring Flowing For Hurred Readers

Ten buildings in the center of Princeton, N. J., were destroyed by fire last Saturday, entailing a loss of about $100,000. The Odd Fellows Hall and Terminal restaurant were among the buildings destroyed.

The Merchants and Farmers bank of Fayetteville, Ark., has been placed in the hands of a receiver.

Converted from places of demoralizing influences into places of positive educational value is the latest proposition in regard to electric theaters in Chicago.

The latest application to which electricity is put is the hatching of chickens. An electric incubator is now on exhibition in Chicago.

By the giving way of a dam at a gold mine near Johannesburg, South Africa, last week 100 miners were drowned while at work.

Saturday last witnessed the departure of the last of the United States marines from Cuba. They were transported to Newport News.

Three persons killed and twenty wounded was the result of a daring attempt at highway robbery at Walthamstow, a suburb of London, last week. Two Russians held up a party who were conveying a large amount of money intended for paying off help. They got the money but were captured before they could get away with it. Both then committed suicide.

The military academy at Peekskill, N. Y., has been destroyed by fire.

Twenty-five canary birds, chirping and singing in the glare of a blazing fire, spread an alarm that saved fourteen families in Chicago recently, although the feathered songsters lost their own little lives.

The Pope Motorcar Company of Toledo has merged into what is to be known as Apperson Toledo Motor Co., a syndicate, with Richard C. Apperson of Lynchburg, Va., at its head.

The fifteenth annual meeting of the survivors of Arctic expeditions took place in New York city last Saturday, under the auspices of the Arctic Club of America. The attendance was small but the pleasure of meeting again was great.

Buried under thousands of tons of snow and dirt and rocks which swept down the mountain side, January 23d, on Bird mine at Ouray, near Grand Junction, Colorado, several men lie buried, and their bodies must remain until the snow melts.

In a collision last week between two sections of the St. Louis-New York express on the Pennsylvania railroad last Saturday six persons were killed and several others injured. The accident was caused by the first section being stopped by obstructions on the track and a heavy fog which prevented the engineer of the second section from seeing the signals in time to stop his train.

In the Hall of Consistory at the Vatican in Rome, last Sunday, Pope Pius read the decree approving the solemn beatification of Joan of Arc. In his address the Pope said he was never so satisfied as when through the help of God he was able to raise to the altars those who, leaving on earth the perfume of their virtues, show, with the assistance of the Almighty, the miracles of heaven.

Rausill, the bandit chief of Morocco, has just paid $400,000 to get the position of Governor of Kabyles, held by an old-time enemy.

The National appropriation bill for support of Indians calls for $11,000,000.

The judgment given the State of Texas against the Waters-Pierce oil company by the supreme court, will be paid in silver dollars, delivered at the state treasury. The award and interest amounts to about $2,000,000 and it will require six clerks as many days to do the counting.

By an explosion of dynamite in the tunnel at the Chicago waterworks crib out in the lake last week it is estimated that 90 workmen lost their lives. So far, between fifty and sixty bodies have been recovered. Funeral services were held in all churches—protestant and catholic, as the remains could not be individually identified, and the victims were of both persuasions.

ISAIAH COOPER ESCAPES DEATH

His Sentence Commuted to Life Imprisonment

Tallahassee, Jan. 27.—The Board of Pardons yesterday commuted the death sentence of Isaiah E. Cooper to life imprisonment. This was the result of another investigation of the case, as there has always been some doubt about the guilt of the accused.

Six years ago, the 29th of the present month, the town of Punta Gorda was thrilled with excitement by the assassination of the town marshal, J. H. Bowman. Isaiah E. Cooper was arrested, tried and convicted, and has three times stood in the shadow of the gallows. He was condemned to death and a warrant issued for his execution by Governor Jennings, but the warrant was revoked on the eve of the event which was to take the life of Cooper in the name of the law.

Twice Governor Broward issued death warrants for Cooper, and twice the warrants were withdrawn. Cooper has remained in the DeSoto county jail at Arcadia, having the remarkable experience of having three death warrants issued for him and possessing the distinction of having three governors to sit in review of his case.

PROPERTY BRINGS GOOD PRICE

Five-Room Cottage and Two Lots Sell For $5,000

The activity in vegetable lands for the past two years has seemed to retard the sale of city property somewhat, although the prosperity of the adjacent territory is bound to mean the rapid growth of the city when the suburban property starts to bring good prices. The increase of sales in city property in the past few months has been marvelous. The Sanford Loan & Building Association has added an impetus to building, and some sixty new dwellings have been erected in the past twelve months.

Naturally, attention has been drawn to the value of city property, and for several months the activity in real estate has drawn attention of investors.

C. R. Walker has sold to Mrs. Geo. H. Fernald the five-room house and lots adjoining, making a total of 150 feet front on Oak avenue and 117 feet on Fourth street, the consideration being $5,000.

This is a very desirable piece of property, and Mrs. Fernald proposes to erect a fine dwelling on the vacant lots at once.

Several handsome residences are in process of construction and orders for more are in the hands of contractors. In a few years Sanford will be known as a city of beautiful homes, paved streets and good sidewalks and many will seek the city as a winter residence.

RAILS FOR TROLLEY LINE

Track Will Be Laid at Same Time as Brick Paving

The rails for Sanford's trolley line were purchased this week, to be in readiness for laying as soon as the brick paving on First street commences. The track will be laid in the center of the street, and this will obviate the necessity of tearing up the streets in after years for tracks. Thus, along with the street paving, will the inception of the trolley system and First street will be a busy thoroughfare, in keeping with the Greater Sanford that is to follow.

The trolley line will bring the suburban dwellers into closer touch with city affairs and will make possible a country home for the business man.

Sanford as a Tourist Center

As a railroad center, Sanford stands without a peer in this section of the state. One has only to go around to the depot and notice the various trains which arrive to discover that the amount of travel into this place is something immense. Every train is loaded to its utmost capacity, tourists from the North arriving here in large numbers. This influx of visitors is a great tribute to Sanford. It demonstrates very forcibly that the attractions here for the tourist are above the average. They recognize that Sanford is a good place in which to spend the winter. For some years these visitors have found a home on the East Coast, but the inland towns are now coming in for their share of this immigration, and Sanford stands head and shoulders above any other town.

Will Locate Italians.

Murrell & Minshew have plans perfected to locate a colony of Italians upon their macaroni farm near Macaroni Delta.

OUR STRAWBERRY CROP

The Prospect For Berries Are Very Bright

FINE SPECIMENS ON DISPLAY

Sanford May Become a Center For This Blushing Berry—Many Acres Planted

The lands adjacent to Sanford seem to bear a charm for the growers of vegetables and fruits. Every season sees a new crop planted and each and every experiment proves successful. Last fall a number of growers tried planting strawberries in order to demonstrate the statements made that Sanford soil would grow anything.

The lands are most too valuable for lettuce and celery to try other vegetables or fruits and the growers are not prone to try many experiments; consequently the strawberry venture has been watched with much interest, not only by the home growers, but other sections of Florida. The fruit has matured early and is of the finest quality and for the past six weeks the home market has been supplied with the finest strawberries that ever delighted the palate of the epicure. There is a basket of fruit on display this week at the First National Bank and the many visitors to the city have been loud in their praise of the great size of the fruit and its rich, ripe appearance. These berries were grown upon the farm of S. O. Chase, on Beardall avenue, along the line of the Sanford & Everglades railroad, and are ample proof of the quality of berries that can be grown on Sanford soil. In all there are about thirty acres of strawberries planted near Sanford and every grower states that they will realize a handsome profit from the fruit.

The great point of value regarding strawberry culture in Sanford is the sub-irrigation that enables the growers to reap a harvest every year from the same plants, instead of a constant renewal of same.

Sanford is not posing in the line light of publicity as a strawberry center, but only giving a practical demonstration of the wonderful possibilities of the soil—a soil that seems peculiarly adapted for the successful growing of vegetables and fruits.

HENRY M. FLAGLER HERE

Stopped in Sanford A Short Time On Monday Last

Henry M. Flagler, President of the East Coast Railway, Vice President and General Manager J. R. Parrott passed through Sanford on Monday enroute to St. Augustine after a tour of inspection at Port Tampa. They were in Mr. Flagler's private car attached to train 83.

They were agreeably surprised at the rapid progress being made along every line in Sanford.

Asked as to what progress was being made on the extension of the Florida East Coast Railway from Knight's Key to Key West, Mr. Parrott said that the work was being pushed to completion, and that they hoped to have trains running into the Island City within the next six months.

Mr. Flagler expressed regret that he did not have time to stop over in Sanford and be shown over the city. He said that he was going back to St. Augustine, and after remaining there for a few days would go with Mrs. Flagler to their winter home at Palm Beach, and before he left for the summer would probably visit Sanford again as he seems greatly interested in the Celery City.

AMUSEMENT PARK FOR SANFORD

Will Be Along the Line of the New Trolley Road

Sanford has long since discarded her swaddling clothes and stepped out garbed in the habiliments of a large city.

One of the greatest factors in the development of Sanford and the adjacent territory is the new Sanford & Everglades Railroad. Now that the trolley line will follow closely upon the heels of the new railroad the real development will take place at once. With the rapid growth of the city comes as a natural sequence the places of amusement where the people can spend their leisure moments. Along the line of the trolley will be erected a fine amusement park containing a race track, ball diamond, tennis courts, golf links and other sports. The spot for the park has not yet been decided upon but it will probably be in the famous Beck Hammock, a spot that is becoming famous under the magic wand of the wizard, Edgar E. Brown, of Richmond, Indiana.

It is rumored that a strong company will soon be organized under the name of the Sanford Park Co., and that a twenty acre tract in Beck Hammock will be purchased, part of it cleared and the rest left in its natural state of virgin loveliness.

Such an enterprise beside being of unutterable value to Sanford and its promoters would be a great drawing card for the tourists during the winter months.

Show Makes Big Hit

Never in the history of the five years that the C. W. Park Company has been visiting Gadsden has a better show been put on than that of last night, and never has the audience been larger or more appreciative. The canvas theatre was crowded from the stage to its entrance, and those who came expecting a great deal from the company did not leave disappointed.

The play put on last night was one never before seen here, and was interesting and entertaining from start to finish. The musical numbers under the direction of Prof. Anderson were exquisite and called forth much applause.

Ten players were all worthy of special mention, and each part was handled in such manner as to call forth much comment from the audience after the show. The company this season is the best Mr. Park has ever brought to Gadsden. The canvas theatre is undoubtedly the best equipped outfit of its kind on the road today. In fact, is equipped far better than some of the city opera houses of today. During the action of the play several of the musical numbers were introduced and they were indeed a surprise, and could not be improved upon.—Gadsden (Ala.) Evening Journal.

The C. W. Park Dramatic Company will open in Sanford Monday night, February 8th, for one week, with an entirely new list of plays. Everything new.

Prices, children 25c and adults 35c. Reserved seats 15c extra.

CELERY IS NOW MOVING

First of Sanford's Great Crop Has Started

WILL BRING VERY GOOD PRICES

E. E. Brady Receives Excellent Prices In the Field—Growers Have Bright Prospects

For several weeks the celery growers have been shipping in small lots, and as yet no one grower has shipped a solid car, although several car lots have been shipped.

E. E. Brady fell short on shipping a solid car on Monday, which would have given him the distinction of shipping the first car several days earlier than the past record. The shortage was made up by other growers and the car went forward through Crutchfield & Woolfolk and the Celery Union. The growers are realizing a good price for the celery and if the weather remains cool the celery will bring fine returns.

A number of growers will not begin shipping for several weeks yet, and some of the best celery ever raised in this section will go forward in about two weeks. The prospects for a good crop and good prices are very bright.

It is estimated that the total crop of celery from California will be 1,750 cars. Up to the 16th of January 850 cars have been moved, or about half the entire crop.

SANFORD'S FIRE DEPARTMENT

Being Brought to High Degree of Efficiency.

The citizens of Sanford should take more pride in their new fire department recently organized and lend their aid in every way to make it stronger and better each year.

Nothing adds more to property values and less to the premiums of the fire insurance companies than a first class fire department.

The fire committee of the city council has recently paid considerable attention to the fire department. A new hose wagon, more hose, new nozzles, shut-off valves and numerous other supplies have been added. The quarters have been improved, and altogether the equipment has been placed in first-class shape.

Under the skillful leadership of Chas. Hand as chief, the department has been reorganized and drilled, and in a short time Sanford will be fully protected from the dread ravages of the fire fiend.

Several hundred feet of new hose will be added in a few weeks and the boys will then be put through their paces in regular drills.

CLYDE LINE FREIGHT RATES

Big Reduction Has Been Made by the Company

The Clyde Line has made a great reduction in the freight rates from Sanford to Northern points. Growers who wish to ship potatoes, cabbage, tomatoes, cucumbers, etc., should get the Clyde Line rates before shipping. The facilities for handling vegetables have been greatly improved at this point and the Clyde Line will do all in its power to further the interests of the growers and shippers.

"The Lyman Twins."

In a big musical production. One of the most enjoyable performances of the season will be seen at the opera house, February 5, in the appearance of the Lyman Twin Brothers, the famous twin comedians, and their new elaborate musical comedy, "The Yankee Drummers." This superb production far surpasses all others in which these clever young comedians have yet appeared, being supported by some of the cleverest comedy entertainers today before the public. The production is a revelation in beautiful scenery, pretty costumes, a dainty chorus, sweet simple music, clever dancing and a wonderful display of electrical effects. This is said to be one of the finest musical comedy productions today before the public.
