OLD MISS CAMPBELL'S SECOND CROSSING

Old Miss Campbell—eighty-three—quarreled with her family in her youth, and crossed the sea.

Now, straight, she crept: "Alack!"

It's high time that I go back." Every night the trees to pack.

Old Miss Campbell, for your trip,

You will need but one white slip,

One red, for your Boatman's cap,

Circles in the Sand (G. P. Putnam's Sons)—by Isabel Valle.

A MORNARD FAIR

We always saw a girl With curly auburn hair Who brought her little birds To work at Mornard Fair.

These birds could tell the past And all that was to come. They would reveal these things For quite a tidy sum.

From many paper slips Some pink, some green, some blue. They'd pick the proper one And hold it up to you.

Your life was written there In scrawls of purple ink. And while you spelled it out The birds would sit and wink!

Lorna Tuck.

The St. Petersburg Independent calls him the "Unhappy Warter."

The French air force has been given an 80-piece band, which will doubtless play "Aldo the Music Box Round and Round" when the war birds go through their spirals, loops and tailspins.

People will not be able to travel "first class" to Europe any more. All the crack bands henceforth will be known as "cabaret ships," and the top rate will be "cabaret class." It's all in a name.

Honduras' prison population is now twice what other advanced states in the state. In the last 12 months the total number of prisoners doubled and increased three-fold. This may show that our state is a member, or that our administration is improving, or that people are becoming more immoral, or all three.

Hoover, head G-Man, has the numbers game the nation's greatest racket. Annually a million of business millions of dollars which otherwise would help the unemployed is the winter of the depression living. The G-Man has been unearthing secret money and it is a Sunday morning compared to the

Cold In The North

It isn't the better part of good sportsmanship to call attention to the misfortunes of people in other sections of the country, but the recent blizzard throughout the North compels Floridians to take cognizance of the fact that we are particularly blessed in the matter of climate.

True, our own weather hasn't been the perfect thing we some times like to boast it is or that Chambers of Commerce booklets say it is. We have had cold, we have had rain and we have had dismal days, but as "unusual" as they are and as abominable as they may be, they are as nothing compared to what other sections of the nation are experiencing.

The telegraph wires and actual pictures paint an almost harrowing scene where king winter has set his grasp. Virtually, all highways in Iowa, Wisconsin and Northern Illinois have been rendered impassable. Most roads in Nebraska, Minnesota, and North Dakota have been closed to traffic.

Low temperatures include: Williston, N. D., -30; Havre, Mont., -26; Huron, S. D., -24; Valentine, Neb., -20; Sioux City, Iowa, and Evanston, Ill., -18; Des Moines, -12; Marquette, Mich., -12; Chicago and Kirkville, Mo., -10; Moorhead, Minn., -8; La Crosse, Wis., Detroit and Port Wayne, Ind., -6.

The railroads are not able to function. Their trains are stalled under huge snow drifts or blocked by cakes of ice. Many lines have reported complete tie-up. Aviators reported seeing hundreds of stranded motorists in Iowa and Nebraska. Many communities in the blizzard belt were isolated.

In the East conditions are just as bad, with the Hudson River frozen solid, communities unable to get food, transportation of all kinds disrupted and the poor and homeless suffering and dying from the cold.

And this moves us to pity those who, of necessity, have to live in such a climate. It is a wonder that nine-tenths of the nation's population isn't centered in Florida.

Busted Bubbles

The failure of the Calgary high school teacher's "social credit" plan to free the people of Alberta, Canada, of their economic bonds teaches a good lesson of what to expect from schemes to make everybody rich. The teacher was swept into office but the people haven't seen any of the money yet.

But let us see what the St. Petersburg Independent has to say about Premier Aberhart and his pet plan:

"From time immemorial politicians have been breaking their campaign pledges, but the case of Alberta and 'social credit' calls for special treatment. It was not the ordinary instance of forgetting a promise, but a flagrant example of deliberate deceit for the sole purpose of getting votes and acquiring lucrative office.

"Premier Aberhart was elected on his promise to pay all adults in the province $25 a month out of the treasury. His opponents, honest enough to tell the citizens that such a pledge was a foolish impossibility, were tossed aside in the mad rush for Utopia. A new legislature swept into office on this fantastic program.

"Six months have passed. Are the citizens of Alberta getting their $25 a month? They are not! And what is more, the premier this week frankly came forward with the statement that they must wait an indefinite time. Now that he is in office he can offer the payment as a heavenly reward.

"Since Alberta is a community of no great differences in class and wealth, it should have occurred to the people that such payment would have to come out of their own tax money. In effect, they would be paying themselves a pension. Or, like the simple folk on the desert island, they would stimulate prosperity and employment by having everybody take in somebody else's washing.

"The basis of Aberhart's system of social credit as announced in his campaign was the monthly payment of $25 to every adult and smaller sums to every child in the province. It would not be in cash but in non-negotiable credit certificates, having the same backing as bonds. With these, Aberhart explained, a man could pay his grocer or anyone else to whom he owed money.

"Aberhart, former Calgary high school teacher and evangelist, swept the united farmers of Alberta from office with his campaign. Backers of social credit claim the basis of the depression lies in the fact that the gross income of Canadians does not equal national production, and their solution was the bonus to every citizen.

"When the Alberta legislature met this week for the first time since the election, all eyes, of course, turned upon the premier, all ears waiting to hear about the inauguration of the social credit system. A bill setting it up was indeed introduced, with the explanation that it would be ready to operate when some money was available. But Aberhart explained woefully that the treasure chest was empty and that government revenues may decline still further, and direct and agricultural relief demands may increase."

"The premier may not necessarily be responsible for that condition; his fault lies in the deceit of a campaign which promised obvious impossibilities. And, unfortunately for the Albertans, men who make such promises are not the quality of men who can handle a difficult situation.

"The voters should know better next time, and that is about all the consolation they can get out of a sorry situation."

SANFORD TWENTY YEARS AGO

Hon. Seth Woodruff, president of the Five County Fair was in the city Wednesday and noted that everything is all set for the big event and it will be the largest one pulled off in Orange County.

The young friends of Sheriff Hand will be glad to know that he is able to be out after a strenuous fight with the "grop." The boy thought he had him for a time but it came back all right.

Sanford Night At Longwood To Be Featured By Presence Of Beauty Contest Winner

"Miss Sanford" Is To Give Cup To Owner Of Fleetest Hound

Inviting Sanford's sportmen and women to participate in the "Sanford Night" program which is to be presented tonight starting at 8:15 o'clock officials of Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club track near Longwood promise one of the greatest programs of greyhound racing ever presented in central Florida. A feature of the evening will be the introduction of Miss Louise Johnston, Sanford girl who won the title "Miss Sanford" during the Jay-Cop beauty contest last week.

With members of her court, Miss Johnston will occupy a special box in the grandstand until just before the feature eighth race. She will be escorted to the judge's stand by Gordon Bennett of the Jay-Cop and Myer Goldberg, general manager of the plant. There, she will be introduced to the throng, and after the eighth race, she will present a loving cup to the owner of the winning dog, emblematic of victory in the "Sanford Handicap Cup Race."

Nine other fast events are slated for the evening's program, first of several which will be presented in appreciation of the support given the track since opening night Dec. 28.

Tonight's entries and selections, with the latter capitalized as to dogs which should finish in the money:
