CASSELBERRY · Seminole County Commission Chairman Randy Morris was a busy man on Wednesday.

In the afternoon, Morris an-nounced he was seeking a second four-year term as a county commissioner. He is being opposed by Bob West, state field. director for the Christian Conlition

In the evening. Morris talked to 100 residents of Fern Park/Cassselberry who are unhappy about their area being the hotbed of adult entertainment businesses.

Morris told the residents they were victims of a "creeping cancer" that had been slowly progressing for 30 years. The SOBs - appropriately named sexually oriented businesses have been here a long while."

The county adopted a strict adult entertainment ordinance last summer, is currently battling two clubs in the courts and is negotiating with the legally existing clubs to spruce up and comply with county guidelines.

These clubs realize that if they are going to stay, it will be under our terms not theirs," Morris said. "And we're going to push it to the limit."

Morris did not talk about the grandfathering of the clubs to the group, which opposes the businesses staying in the Fern Park/Casselberry area.

Adult entertainment: Talk and action

Although three of the commissioners, Morris included, are known to favor grandfa-thering. Morris said "No one knows how anyone is going to vote until it happens."

Early in the evening at the Casselberry Branch of the Seminole County Public Library, Morris had several terse exchanges with the residents. Defiantly, he explained the things that the county had done and would continue to do.

The county has never had a better relationship with each of the cities," Morris said. "We're See Morrie, Page 2A

FERN PARK - The House of Babes is about to get itself a new name - Risky Business.

According to Kevin Fall, Capital Programs Analyst for Seminole County, the owners of the adult entertainment club have consented to rename the business.

County staff suggested a name change as part of the negotiations with the adult entertainment industry. The House of Babes is one of the clubs which would like to be grandfathered by the county commissioners.

Will alleged affair besmirch Clinton's reputation?

BY DAVID FRAZIER Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Allegations were levied Wednesday against President of the United States Bill Clinton regarding an alleged affair with a White House intern. Not only has the president denied the incident, he has also denied that he tried to cover it up through illegal means by telling the intern to lie about the alleged affair.

Monica Lewinsky, 24, was 21 and a volunteer intern in 1995 when the supposed affair occurred. Attorney Kenneth Starr, who had been working on the Whitewater probe, is now investigating these allegations.

The president is also under attack from a sexual harassment lawsuit filed by Paula Jones.

According to reports, Vernon Jordan, a friend of Clinton, supposedly encouraged Lewinsky to lie about the affair; an affair that lasted up to one and a half years. A Pentagon worker, Linda Tripp, allegedly has at least 10 tapes that has Lewinsky talking about the affair. In an interview with the Public Broadcasting System, Clinton denied having done anything wrong. "I did not ask anyone to tell anything other than the truth, Clinton said, There is no improper relationship." Local residents have spoken out about the latest accusations against the president. In fact, almost half of the people interviewed on Sanford's First Street Thursday morning said that Bill Clinton should be impeached, an idea brought about by congressmen who think it would be a viable action if the charges are proven. "It's very sad that we even have a president to make us think about this," said Maxine Kasper, of Deitona. Kasper's husband Charles also agreed: "I think he should be Impeached if all this is true," he said.

"I think he will get out of it," found guilty, he should be im-peached." Vernice McCarty said, "He should have higher morals, and send a proper message to other politicians." However, Clinton did have a share of supporters. "It's not an offense that has to deal with the running of the government," said Dave Dreifwerst. ELLEN GOODMAN

Who's running the Unabomber show?

BOSTON-It is no wonder that we stumble so often when we're forced to decide whether someone is bad or (also) mad. After all, we barely speak the same language.

The medical world talks about mental illness. But the law only talks about legal insanity. The public wonders whether some defendant is mad as a hatter. The judge only has to determine if a defendant is competent enough to stand trial.

This is how it goes now in the case of Theodore Kaczynski who appears to be both certiflably nuts and legally competent.

Was anyone really surprised when the mathematician-turned-hermit, the accused Unabomber, interrupted the trial before it even began to read something he had written, something "very important"?

Was anyone truly surprised that he apparently protested in the judge's chambers against being represented by lawyers who want to portray him as mentally unstable?

Ted Kaczynski did what he does best. He disrupted the system. If he is crazy, a former prosecutor told CNN outside the courthouse. then he is crazy like a lox. But this man spoke as if Kaczynski could not be both sick and smart, delusional and deliberate. A psychotic fox.

This is at the heart of the trial of a man who worried in his journals that society would see him as "a sickie" rather than a political philosopher. A man who has refused to see a psychiatrist, who has been found "competent" to stand trial according to that low legal standard and so is permitted to direct his own defense.

What does society do about a man who writes with clarity that The technophiles are taking us all on an utterly reckless ride into the unknown." And then tells his lawyers that he believes satellites control people and place electrodes in their brains. A man who is accused of deliberately planning and building bombs that killed three and maimed 29. But says he was controlled by an all-powerful organization he couldn't resist.

is Kaczynski as crazy as Jeffrey Dahmer. who killed and ate his victims? As crazy as John Salvi, who killed two women at abortion clinics which were, he insisted, part of a conspiracy by the Ku Klux Klan, Freemasons and the Mafia against Catholics? As crazy as Colin Ferguson, who killed 6 and wounded 19 Long Island rail commuters and said he was charged with 93 counts because it was 1993?

All of these men were found to be legally responsible for their actions. Indeed Ferguson was allowed what Kacrynski may want--to gan and was sent to a mental hospital, insanity has become a hard defense to muster. As Michael Perlin of NYU Law School says, "There is no question that jurors consistently reject the insanity defense in cases of people who were severely mentally ill and didn't know what they were doing."

It is raised only 1 percent of the time and successful one-quarter percent, and even then, almost always when both sides agree that the defendant is out of his mind. Today, Perlin says, "Society wants to try just about everyone.

The law holds people responsible for their actions while medicine tries to help those who are ill through no fault of their own. These two inexact sciences meet at the juncture where evil confronts illness. In a lock-'em up era, we have come to believe that insanity is a loophole for evil, not a diagnosis for disease.

David Gelemter, a victim of one of the bombs allegedly constructed and sent by Kaczynski, calls the Unabomber an evil coward who deserves to die. But the bizarre part of this story is that to declare him evil and go for the death penalty, we have to accept Kaczynski's own view of reality.

We have to agree that the world he constructed over 20 years in a cabin in Montana is not the delusion of a paranoid schizophrenic. but the rational view of a political ideologue. Sending letter bombs was the rational act of an anti-technology terrorist, not a madman controlled by some omnipotent force.

Not only does Ted Kaczynski insist he is sane, but here is the clincher: The law agrees. Having found him "competent," at least for now, he has won a degree of autonomy and power equal to the time when he forced his Manifesto onto the pages of The New York Times and The Washington Post.

Indeed, as Northeastern University law professor Rose Zoltek-Jick says wonderingly,

SALT LAKE CITY--In a recent survey commissioned by Franklin Covey Company, researchers found that Americans strongly value education and lifelong learning more than ever. In years past, "lifelong learning" was a phrase colleagues in education circles used among each other, but the concept now appears to have broad-based support among the general public.

Ninety-eight percent of Americans think it is important to keep job skills up to date. With the current rate of technological advances, it is easy for people to find themselves left behind. To better ensure job security, people are now recognizing that they must keep their skills and knowledge up to date in order to meet performance expectations," explained Charles Farnsworth, vice president of education for Franklin Covey Company, a leading global provider of productivity, life management and leadership development training.

The America Speaks national study of 600 adults, ages 18 years or older, 50 percent male and 50 percent female, also reports that 66 percent of the public believe that acquiring knowledge helps you get ahead. In fact, people earning higher levels of income ($75,000 and more, per year) are twice as likely (30 percent vs. 15 percent) to agree "strongly" with this statement than those who cam less.

This is a great illustration of the American Dream," continued Farnsworth, Those who have worked hard to educate ence that this is true." The National Household

Survey: Americans value lifelong learning

Education Survey (NHES:95) shows a substantial increase in adult educational activities from 1991 (32 percent of adults) to 1995 (40 percent of adults -- 76 million adults) and indicates a continuing trend. This growth pattern is consistent with the findings of previous research utilizing adult education data from the Current Population Survey from 1969 to 1984, which also showed significant growth over time. NHES:95 also states that the most prevalent adult education activities were in workrelated courses and personal development. The America Speaks survey indicates that two out of five adults read selfimprovement books. In addition, the survey shows that college educated people are more satisfied with their lives than people who did not con-tinue their education after graduating from high school (72 percent vs. 64 percent).

Support of lifelong learning takes on a more personal context when about half (46 percent) the population wishes they had taken parenting classes before having children. Older parents, who presumably have teenagers, express a greater desire for parenting classes (50 percent age 55 and over vs. 44 percent age 35-54 vs. 43 percent age 34 and under). Also, about half the population (47 percent) wish they had taken relationship classes before getting married.

'Our Franklin Covey 7 Habits Stores concept is targeted toward this growing trend and the statistics in this survey show us that people are hungry for the products and services our stores provide," stated Stephen Covey, author of the newly released The 7 Habits of Highly Effective Families and the 10 million best selling The 7 Habits of Highly Effective People. He is co-chairman of the newly merged Franklin Covey Company, who spon-sored the America Speaks study. We are filling a real consumer need and desire. The public believes that life-long

Covey continued, "No matter what level of formal or on the job education training you have obtained, with the unbelievable rate of change in today's world economy, you can assume that your knowledge has a half-life of about four years--and in some fields much less. Thus, the constant need for continued education and learning. Franklin Covey 7 Habits Stores will provide the resources to continue this process."

Preventing unwanted phone calls

Special to the Herald

TALLAHASSEE -- A record 61,000 Floridians have taken steps to prevent unwanted telephone calls by having their home numbers placed on the state's "No Sales Solicitation Calls" list, Florida Agriculture and Consumer Services Commissioner Bob Crawford said today.

Crawford's department administers the Plorida Telephonic Sales Act, a 1987 law that prohibits most commercial telemarketers from calling any telephone numbers on the list. The law also fequires solicitors to accurately identify thems lves and their business so that anyone receiving such a call will know who is calling.

"Complaints about telephone solicitation calls are among the top consumer complaints received by our office," Crawford said. "Florida consumers can help insure their privacy and avoid many unwanted calls by joining our program.

most telephone calls, some telemarketers are exempt from the no-call law. Solicitors may still call in response to a request of the person being called, to enforce a contract or collect a debt, or to sell newspaper subscriptions. Solicitors may also call any person with whom the solicitor has an existing or previous business relationship, and to raise money for a charitable organization.

Crawford encourages anyone who is on the list and receives calls from non-exempt telemarketers to obtain as much information as pessible from the caller and report it to his Department on pre-printed postcards provided to all subscribers to help them report this information.

The Department has authority to seek civil penalties against any person or company that violates the law. During the past 18 months, partment has collected nearly the De

Best way to catch a man is to lure with rod and reel

DEAR READERS: I recently printed a letter from "Wilting Wallflower in Arizona," a woman who asked me to put out the word to men that the way to attract women is to dance with them.

To my delight, I received this clever rebuttal:

DEAR ABBY: All my life I have loved fishing, as do most other men I know. It is exciting, fun and great exercise. Couples fishing together are so romantic. When I see a woman who can fish with a man, I'm instantly fascinated by her and so are my friends.

Why, then, are women who can fish so hard to come by? Women are supposed to be charming, romantic and good companions. Fishing is all of that. Yet most women are "dancers" who say, "I don't fish."

I thought women liked attracting men. I know some people say women are dense. But this fact cannot escape anyone's attention: A woman can attract men by going fishing.

Will you please put out the word for us and tell women how sexy and attractive they are when they're fishing?

WAITING WITH BAITED HOOK IN NEVADA

DEAR WAITING: 1 receive letters every day from women who complain about how hard it is to meet men. Women, now you have heard it from the source! Get off the dance floor and onto the lake, river or ocean. You won't even have to take lessons. My experts tell me that fishermen love to tie knots. With the right bait, there's no telling what you might reel in! Trust me.

DEAR ABBY: Here is my 2 cents for "Bent Out of Shape in San Francisco." It is sad that he lost his car and tried to keep the female, but his priorities are acrewed up. They should be:

1. Fix car. 2. Dump girlfriend

Since he bought the car 30 years ago, he is about my age (50). I, too, have a classic car that I drove off the dealer's lot in 1968. I've never found a woman I would trade the car for. Classic cars are too hard to find nowadays, and the restoration costs are high.

Most of the women I've met bailed out when the going got tough, and yet my car (and motorcycle) are still there taking me to job interviews and getting me through the difficult times

It's far better to be alone and lonely than to be married and lonely,

PAT IN FONTANA, CALIF.

DEAR PAT: Sorry about your bed luck with females. However, far more women stick it out rather than bell out when times get tough. Fiftleth wedding anniversaries are common, and that's testimony to the ability of many females to last for the duration of a run of bad luck. Parthermore, they're a lot coll-or and warmer to muggle up to than cold steel and leather on a chilly night.

Arrow Force VI sneaks into SAC elite behind Traina

SANFORD _ You may not have noticed, but there are more than a few good teams playing basketball in Seminole County.

So far this season, three teams - Lake Howell, Oviedo and Lake Brantley - have been ranked in the state's top-10 for Class 6A basketball.

Then, throw in the fact that Lake Mary beat Class 4A No. I-state ranked Cocoa and pounded Lake Brantley a week ago and Lyman stunned Oviedo.

Then Lake Brantley beat Lake Howell.

While everything is topsy-turvy, one team is sneaking up on everyone and is now tied for first place in the Seminole Athletic Conference. That team is Seminole, a Class 5A squad that has been competitive for several seasons but now seems on the verge of excellence despite a low standing in the district.

Last season, Arrow Force V made a run through the state playoffs but never gave the impression that they were for real.

That's all changed this season. Arrow Force VI is winning the close games and has recovered from an 0-2 district start to become a threat to go a long way in the states.

The main part of the equation is coach Bob Traina.

Traina is in his sixth year (hence, Arrow Force VIJ. His teams have struggled at times but if you look at his overall career, it's pretty clear that Traina can coach. He led Suncoast High School in Riviera Beach to several state championships, then headed for Martin County High School in Stuart where he replaced legendary coach Don-Wallen and was also a successful coach before landing at Seminole.

Traina runs the gamut of emotions throughout a game. He can yell, be alignt and caim, and brings out the best of his team which seems as chemically balanced as any in the county.

A lot of coaches would have blown up at the end of Tuesday night's game at Lake Mary. Arrow Force VI tied the game in the waning moments,

Lions clinch top seed Win over Rams makes Oviedo boys No. 1 in district

By KELLIE WERNER Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY _ It's been a really tough week for the Lake Mary boys' basketball team.

Since last Friday, it has suffered three losses. First, their best player, Paul Betk is out indefinitely after a freak injury last Friday. Second, Lake Mary suffered a heart-breaking loss under strange circumstances Tuesday night to Seminole.

And lastly, Oviedo, ranked sixth this week in the state's Class 6A poll, served them their third loss, this one in overtime, 83-78, last night on the Ram's home court.

"My hat's off to Lake Mary," said Oviedo coach Ed Kershner. "They played hard and they are coached very well. I really think the difference was the free throw percentage. We hit them at the right time. This was a great game tonight and I would have paid to see it."

There were a lot of things besides free throws that Oviedo did right in last night's game.

Lake Mary shot out to a quick 10-0 lead in the first quarter before Oviedo came alive. Brian Cullen hit another "three" to open the second quarter and after another two points, Lake Mary rallied for five unanswered baskets. The Rams only scored once more before the half, on a three-pointer by point-guard Jerome Bingham, and the Lions had a 33-31 lead at the half.

Mid-way through the third period, Oviedo had a 10-point lead and appeared to be on its way to a win. Lake Mary, however, outscored the Lions 10-6 and only trailed 56-50 at the start of the final quarter.

Register and Josh Cullen combined for three three-pointers to bring their team to a 17-17 tie with the Rams at the end of the period.

Nine quick points brought Lake Mary to a 61-61 tie, but not before Scott Moore scored five of his 19 game points, denying Lake Mary the lead.

"This is my first year on the team," Moore said, "and everyone had taken me in and treated me like a brother. It felt really good to win tonight, especially since the game was so close."

Back-to-back three-pointers landed Lake Mary in another tie with Oviedo with only 12.9seconds left in the game. Register hit one of two at the line, and then so did Lake Mary's Randy Abrams and the game went into over-time with a 69-69 acore.

Oviedo drew first blood in the extra four minutes, then played catch-up throughout overtime. Every time Lake Mary scored, the Lions answered. Finally, with one minute left, Oviedo' went up 79-78 and never looked back. Register and Brad Combes hit both of their free throws on their final attempts and put Oviedo over the top, 83-78.

"I cannot say enough how proud I am of my entire team," said Lake Mary coach Mike Gaudreau. "It would have been real easy for them to fold, one of the biggest parts of their, team is missing. I had a long talk with each of them and told them they had to change their roles. Instead of scoring two a night, they had to score 10. We threw everything at Ovtedo except dressing out the coaching staff and my kids played an unbelievable game."

With their win tonight, the Lions clinched the top spot in both the Seminole Athletic Conference and in the Class 6A-District 3 race.

Securing the top seeding in the district is a big plus for us," Kershner said. "There are six good teams in there besides us and any one of them could win the district. This just gives us a little bit of help."

Next up for Lake Mary (14-7) is an away game at Winter Springs on Friday night at 7:30 p.m. Oviedo (18-4) will also be on the road on Friday and will face Central Florida Academy, also at 7:30 p.m.

Register steps up play to star for Oviedo

BY COURTNEY LEFTEN Herald Correspondent

C. LAKE MARY _ It was the closest game of the season and Brian Register was right there in the thick of it all.

Last night, Lake Mary hosted the Oviedo Lions, who are currently ranked No. 6 in the state and No. 1 in the district and conference. "Anything could happen from now till state but it does feel good," Register said. The winner of the game was determined by the team who could step up to line and make the freethrows. For Oviedo, that was not a challenge and ultimately won them the game, 83-78 in overtime. Brian was four weeks late coming into the season and wasn't fully in shape yet. He has really stepped up for us. Brian was the key in rebounds and free-throws tonight," said Oviedo coach Ed Kershner. "I appreciate everything he has done for Oviedo." Despite the fact that Register was 11-for-13 at the line and scored 23 of his team's 83 points, he handled the intense pressure under the tight circumstances. "It was an up and down game. When the crowd is yelling you just have to block everything out. I couldn't have done it without Brad

Shooting woes continue for Magic By JEFF BERLINICKE Herald Staff Writer

ORLANDO _ Get over it, Shaq in gone.

That's what Orlando Magic coach Chuck Daly seemed to be saying Wednesday might at the Orlando Arena after the Magic dropped its 15th game of the last 19, 91-84, to the visiting Milwaukee Bucks, a team battling the Magic for one of the final playoff spots in the East-then supposedly went to the line for a chance to take a lead with under 10 seconds remaining. Terri Patrick, one of many unsung heroes on Seminole, went to the free throw line and made the front end of a one-and-one.

Then, the referees determined that Seminole waan't in the bonus and negated the free throw.

Most coaches would have gone ballistic and cost their team a technical.

instead Traina calmly planned a perfect inbound play and Zeke Seymore hit a 10-foot jumper to give Seminole the win and the game.

It was just the latest in a long line of big games Arrow Force VI has pulled out recently, including upeets at home against Lake Brantley and Lake Mary as well as a road win over the Rams.

Seminole doesn't have any superstars. Like Oviedo, it wins with a team organization and a different hero every night. Seymore and Daryl Redding get most of the headlines and most of the points, but don't forget about other key factors like Cornelius Blue, Patrick and Chris Westhelle. They all play a big factor in Seminole's success and you can see the team gelling more and more every night.

Arrow Force VI is pretty much in the middle of the district pack since not all schools play a home-and-home series, causing the first of head to head matchups to be the games that count in the district race. As a result, despite an impressive record in districts, Seminole will have to pay for some early season losses that were avenued during rematches as the team has come together.

But this season's team is much stronger than last season's which finished 14-21 but earned a trip to the state's Sweet 16. That team had to upact people along the way. This year's shouldn't have to encak up on anyone.

Traina's program is improving right along with the rest of the Seminole High programs. Basc-ball and football have taken major strides toward becoming state powers and Sylvester Wynn's girls basketball team is fighting for a district title. It's a good time to be a Seminole and Arrow Force VI is one of the reasons why.

Last Second Shot: With UCF on the verge of breaking into the big time with a major conference alliance, why in the world are they using Mike Kruczek as an interim coach?

The last thing UCF needs is instability as it tries to compete with the big boys. Kruczek has proven he can run an offense, and look at what he's done with Heisman candidate Dauate Culpepper. He also has name recognition, having played for the Super Bowl Steelers of the early 'BOs.

Having an interim coach will only hamper recruiting and create a tense situation at a time when the school is on the verge of something big. Forget about bringing in a retread. Give Kruczek the job and a nice contract and watch UCF grow.

Brian Register (No. 25) has become one of the steadlest players for Oviedo since rounding into shape after joining the No. 6 state-ranked Lions four weeks late from a stint as a star tight end for the Oviedo football team.

Kotova dominates as Raiders win

From Staff Reports

SANFORD _ All you need to play is five players right?

Playing with yet another starter out of the lineup, the Seminole Community College women's basketball team continued to roll on as if everyone was their as the Raiders crushed Mid-Florida Conference foe Florida Community College at Jacksonville, 75-40, Wednesday evening at the Seminole Community College Health and Physical Education Center.

Starting forward Therese Westergren, a good outside shooter and ballhandler, missed the game, along with starting guard Gemma Riley, who missed her fifth straight game with an injured knee, but luckly SCC got 6-foot-2 freshman center/forward back from a week-long battle with an illness, giving the Raiders six players in uniform.

But one person who was not missing was 7-foot center Jaana Kotova.

Big things were expected from the freshman from Estonia when she arrived back in July and she has played very well. But Wednesday night, SCC fans got a glimpse of how dominant she can be. Kotova made 13-of-22 from the floor and scored a game-high 30 points. But she also pulled down 18 re-bounds and blocked an amazing 15 shots. For good measure she also collected , two steals. The only blemish on the state sheet for her was an uncharacteristic 4-of-11 effort from the free throw line.

Kotuva scored 15 points as the Raiders took a 40-22 halftime lead on the Stars (10-11), a perennial power in the M-FC, and then added another 15 in the second

Also contributing for BCC were Daria Rudruyvtacva (21 points, five rebounds, two assists, six steals), Crystal Tanner (13 points, three rebounds, eight assists, nine steals, one blocked shot). Sweeney (eight points, two rebounds, two assists, three steals), Issy Medhanie (three points, 10 rebounds, six assists, five steals) and Winsom Clark (three rebounds, three steals, one blocked shots).

The Raiders have won five in a row and are now 18-4 on the scason. They will now have a week to allow some injuries to heal before traveling to Orlando for a crucial Mid-Florida Conference battle with Valencia Community College, which was 19-2 on the season at last report, at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, January 28.

ern Conference.

Once again, poor shooting down the stretch cost the Magic what should have been an easy victory and a way to get some confidence back after a disastrous west coast ewing that saw four losses in five Eames.

"At some point, some of our people who have been here a long time need to realize they don't have the same shooting range they used to have," Daly said. It's not the same as when Shaq was here."

It was giaring last night. Orlando shot only 34 percent in the fourth quarter as they were still in the game. Clearly, somebody has to start hitting the shots.

"I don't think we have anybody who can make a shot in the last quarter because we've tried everybody," Daly said. "I feel like this is a recording."

Orlando had no field goals in the final five minutes as Milwaukee extended a two point lead and Orlando couldn't recover. In the final period, the Magic was 5-of-21 overall from the field.

Darrell Armstrong led the Magic with 19 points, playing 40 minutes. but also committed eight turnovers in one of his poorest efforts of the season. Rony Seikaly had a quiet 18 points and Bo Outlaw had 15 for the Magic.

The shooting woes included numbers like Nick Anderson's 1for-6, Geraid Wilkins' 2-for-9, Horace Grant's 3-for-9, Derek Harper's 2-for-7 and Setkaly's 4-for-12.

Somebody has to step it up and that will probably not be bad boy Vernon Maxwell. He was signed last week by the Magic to his second 10-day contract. League rules allow only two of those so he must either be signed for the rest of the senson or released by next week. Maxwell came to the Magic two weeks ago promising a good attitude and made it two weeks with out his first flare-up.

He was fined by Daly for an unexcused absence from practice yr aterday.

"He was fined and we'll have to move on from there," Daly said; adding that Derek Strong should be ready to play by Friday which, not coincidentally is when the Magic have to make a decision on Mad Max.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a healthy 69year-old woman with normal blood pressure. Last year, I had a TIA that lasted about six hours. I recovered completely. Two months ago, while driving. I suffered a severe headache and slight confusion. This was followed by a similar episode a week later.

My doctor diagnosed migraine, which I've never had before, and put me on Elavil, an antidepressant. Should I be doing something else?

DEAR READER: You bet you should.

A TIA (transient ischemic attack) is a temporary stroke, usually caused by a small blood clot that becomes wedged in brain tissue. Unlike a completed stroke, in which permanent damage occurs, a TIA resolves within 24 hours because the body dissolves the clot before it can cause damage. Nonetheless, this is a significant warning that a more disastrous neurological event is waiting in the wings especially since you have had two further attacks. At this point, your physician should be aggressively searching out the source of the blood clots.

In my opinion, you need a CT or MRI scan of your brain (to check for 27 bleeding), as well as a Doppler ultrasound of your carotid arteries. These tests will, among other things, show the presence of arteriosclerotic plaque, the presumed origin of the clots

It is reprehensible that your doctor diagnosed migraine (extremely unusual to develop at your age) with-out obtaining the tests I mentioned. If he is disinclined to follow up with the testing, insist on a referral to a neurologist. In my view, you're sitting on a time bomb.

If you haven't had bleeding into the brain, you should be treated with anticoagulant drugs - at the very least, aspirin. If significant arterial blockage is present, you may have to consider surgery or other techniques to unblock the arteries. In any case, you can ill afford to wait - because if I'm correct, you're a candidate for preventable, serious future consequences.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Stroke." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

Centrum; however, now that I am over 50. I have changed to Centrum Silver. I was surprised to discover that my pharmacy charges half again as much for the Silver. Why?

DEAR READER: I don't know. The two types of multivitamins are basically identical, except that Centrum Silver contains less iron, vitamin K and phosphorus, and has no tin at all. Such minor alterations do not, in my opinion, justify a price discrepancy. suspect that the manufacturer has priced the Silver to be more profitable purchase supplemental vitamins, most of which are not needed in the because the product is marketed to presence of a well-balanced and nutriolder people, who are generally more health-conscious and well-heeled than tious diet. the young. In each year, there are far more good declarer-plays than defenses. However, the latter, because they are so rare, tend to receive more pu Nicity. But not always. I spotted this deal while reading through the biddingand-play records from the final of last year's Spingold Knockout Teams. How would you expect the play to go in five diamo

In the other room, South was in five diamonds undoubled. West led his singieton club, East taking dummy's king with his ace and returning the two. Working out what was happening. Grant Baze (South) ruffed with the di-amond king. Then he led the spade king. If West ducks (as he should), declarer gets home because the missing trumps are split 2.2. And when West took the trick, declarer won the spade

This duped the declarer completely. He won with his jack, ruffed a heart in the dummy and discarded his final heart on the club queen. It's a pity there wasn't a photographer on hand to snap South's expression when West ruffed. Immediately, Marek Szy-manowski (West) cashed the spade ace to defeat the contract.

Is it surprising that Baze, Lesniewski, Szymanowski and teau Tipton Golias, Cezary Balicki and Adam Zmudzinski won the Spingold with play like that?
