

County Eyes $94,000 For Zoo Park Improvements

By MICHAEL BEHA
Herald Staff Writer

Central Florida Zoo officials made their pitch Tuesday but it may be several months before they learn whether Seminole County commissioners will catch the ball or let it drop.

Executive Director Al Rozon told commissioners the zoo needs $94,000 to make repairs to termite-infested picnic shelters, rotting timbers on an elevated nature trail and the zoo's access road which is eroding because it has no sealer.

Commission Chairman Sandra Glenn, who is also on the zoo board of directors, said she isn't ready to make a decision on the funding. "I'm just on a fact-finding mission."

The facilities in need of repair are in the 89-acre park outside the zoo itself. Maintenance of the park is the responsibility of the zoo's board of directors.

The board wants commissioners to foot the bill for the maintenance of the park facilities so money collected by the zoo can be spent on expanding the zoo's exhibits.

Rozon said the zoo has raised $100,000 this year and said the money is pledged to build a reptile house and hooved animal exhibit.

'We have no plans to move this zoo whatsoever. I am not for the move.'
— Zoo Board President

And despite promises from zoo officials that the zoo will remain at its present location, at least one commissioner wants to look at a study being conducted by the University of Central Florida to determine the feasibility of moving the zoo to Turkey Lake Park in Orlando.

Zoo board President Newman Brock said even if the study determines that the move is feasible, it will not automatically be moved. Several board members will resist any attempt to move the zoo, he said.

"We have no plans to move this zoo whatsoever," Brock said. "I am not for the move."

Brock said even if the zoo's directors do elect to move the zoo, to the 175-acre park it would not take place for several years.

"It's not going to be like we'll pack up the animals on a flatbed truck and make a parade to a new site," he said. "The zoo is not going to move in one year or two years, if it ever moves."

The study will be presented to the zoo board by Jan. 15. Any discussion of moving the zoo before then would be "premature," Brock said.

Commissioner Robert Sturm said it would be "premature as well" for commissioners to discuss providing funds to repair the park when they aren't certain if the zoo will remain there.

He said commissioners should not make a decision until after the feasibility study is received.

Commissioners agreed to examine possible ways the improvements could be funded and will discuss the request at a work session Monday.

Robert G. "Bud" Feather said he is reluctant to pledge any money to the zoo when the county has other parks that they can't afford to repair.

The repairs at the zoo are the responsibility of the zoo board, he said.

Rozon said the board could not afford to spend much on maintenance of the shelters, which were built in 1973 with federal grant money.

Because of its debt load and other obligations the board has concentrated on improving zoo exhibits. He compared the situation to a family that spends all its available funds to buy a new house and then has nothing left to spend for furniture.

Sorenson Wins Fifth Mayor Term

Registering the highest voter turnout among the four cities with an election Tuesday, Lake Mary voters gave their incumbent mayor a fifth term in office, elected one new councilman, sent four candidates to a Dec. 21 runoff for two council seats and approved one of three city charter proposals.

A detailed new charter was approved by the electorate, but proposals to expand council terms to four years and to create single-member districts for four of the five council members were soundly defeated.

And by approving the detailed new charter, the voters also eliminated future runoff elections after the one scheduled to be held in two weeks.

Walter Sorenson, 40, the city's mayor for the past eight years, overcame opposition from Councilman Dick Fess, 37, a vice president of ComBank, and ex-councilman Vic Olvera, 48, a plastics moulding supervisor, to win another two years.

The vote was 407 for Sorenson, 338 for Fess and 50 for Olvera.

At the same time, former three-term councilman, Burt Perinichief, 43, a director of choral activities at Seminole Community College, received a landslide 85.5 percent of the vote (855 votes). His opponent, Josef Stern, 54, employed in visual communications at the Westinghouse Corp. received 111 votes.

All three members of the Stern family — father Josef, son James and daughter Susan, who had made it a family affair by running for three different council posts in the election — were defeated.

Sent to a Dec. 21 runoff for Seat 1 on the council were George F. Duryea, 35, a certified public accountant, and Charlie Lytle, 33, an account executive with Gulf & Western Corp.

Duryea received 343 votes to 332 for Lytle. The other two candidates in the race, Barbara Ball, 39, and Susan Stern, 29, received 77 and 30 votes, respectively.

For Seat 2, the runoff will be between Russ Megonegal, 61, retired, and Bill Durrenberger, 39, an estimator and in charge of permit processing for McCree Inc., Orlando. Megonegal received 339 votes to 283 for Durrenberger.

Eliminated in the first go-round were Colin Keogh with 172 votes and James Stern with 23 votes.

Some 52.3 percent (811) of the city's 1,550 registered voters turned out to cast ballots. City Clerk Connie Major predicted a turnout of 850.

In the Dec. 21 runoff, Mrs. Major said she expects 550 voters or 35.5 percent to turn out.

The City Council's effort to inform the electorate of the content of the proposed charter revisions was apparently successful. The voters chose to approve a detailed charter, but voted 2-1 against the other proposals. The tally was 404 in favor and 294 against the detailed charter while the amendment to expand terms to four years was defeated 486 to 283 and the amendment to create single-member districts was defeated 492 to 251.

Day After Brother's Death Gen. Joseph C. Hutchison Dead

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford's highest ranking Army officer and former Seminole County Commission chairman, Lt. Gen. (Army retired) Joseph C. Hutchison died Tuesday afternoon at the age of 88 at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford following a long illness.

A resident of Indian Mound Village, his death followed by only one day the death of his brother, Henry J. Hutchison, 78.

Funeral services are planned for 11 a.m. Friday at First Presbyterian Church with the Rev. Virgil L. Bryant Jr. officiating.

Born Sept. 17, 1894, in Cross Hill, S.C., Mr. Hutchison moved to Sanford in 1915 and taught mathematics and athletics at Sanford High School for two years.

In 1960 he was elected to the Seminole County Commission and was named chairman. He served until 1964. He was elder emeritus of the First Presbyterian Church of Sanford.

Although a graduate of Wofford College, he enlisted in the Army as a private in 1917 during World War I and rose from the rank of corporal to sergeant, then second lieutenant in one year. After he received his commission, he was sent to the field artillery school in Saumur, France.

When discharged in 1919, Mr. Hutchison was executive officer of one of the batteries of the 333rd Field Artillery in France.

Soon after moving to Sanford, he met his future wife, Annie Caldwell Whitner, native of the city and they were married on Oct. 7, 1919.

JOSEPH HUTCHISON

served in the Pacific theatre of operations for nearly three years. He was assistant divisional commander of the 31st.

On Sept. 8, 1945, Mr. Hutchison was in charge of the 31st when he was given instructions to notify the Japanese forces on Mindanao that the war was over.

See Funeral Service Information On Page 10A

The framed surrender document in both Japanese and English hangs in the Mr. Hutchison's home.

He was the recipient of the Silver Star, Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star, Air Medal, the Victory Medal from both World Wars, the Florida Cross, Florida Distinguished Service Medal and many other military decorations.

In May 1961, General Hutchison was honored during Armed Forces Week with a parade and ceremonies. More than 400 military personnel participated in the salute to Sanford's war hero.

Following World War I, Hutchison was employed by a farmer's cooperative marketing association, Sanford-Oviedo Truck Growers, becoming its general manager in 1920. In 1935, he formed the J.C. Hutchison & Co. distributing firm, dealing in vegetables and he became known as an authority on celery. In 1959, he joined Chase & Co. where he was chairman of the executive committee initially and later was chairman of the board.

The Florida National Guard unit was activated in November 1940 and later absorbed into the 31st Infantry Division. Sent overseas in 1943, Mr. Hutchison

Charter Runoff Smith, Farr Win Handily In Sanford

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford's voters chose to keep their two incumbent city commissioners — Milton Smith and David Farr — in office in the city's election Tuesday.

But the voters will have to trek to the polls again Dec. 21 to make their wishes clearly known on whether they want a new charter with residency districts for commissioners or whether they prefer to retain the city's current charter.

The run-off was forced when the vote from Tuesday's Sanford city election was counted Tuesday night and none of the three charter proposals had received a 50 percent plus one vote majority.

Eliminated was the question of whether the city should have a new charter without districting.

Unofficial returns showed 44.8 percent (663 votes) in favor of retaining the current charter; 37.9 percent (562 votes) in favor of a new charter with districting; and 17.1 percent (254) for a new charter without districting.

Mayor Lee P. Moore said today, the two questions which received the highest number of votes must be placed on the runoff ballot.

He noted that the referendum on the issue is a binding one to approve a new charter or retain the current one.

Moore said the City Commission did not set any rule saying plurality (the highest number of votes) would prevail in the charter so the same rules apply on this issue as on city commission contests. Commission candidates must receive a majority vote to win.

Smith, 64, in his bid for election to a full four-year term handily defeated his opponent, Patricia "Pat" Baxley, 36, an account executive with Southern Bell Telephone Co. and co-owner of a Sanford restaurant.

Smith, a retired railroad supervisor, received 997 votes (61.3 percent) to Mrs. Baxley's 632 (38.7 percent) in her first bid for public office.

Smith was elected two years ago to the unexpired term of John Morris, who resigned to run for the County Commission.

Farr, 39, a realtor and former county and city planner, was handily re-elected to a second four-year term in office over former city commissioner A.A. "Mac" McClanahan.

Farr received 976 votes to 700 cast for McClanahan, 57, a residential building contractor.

In the election, Sanford ranked the lowest in voter turnout among the four Seminole cities which held elections Tuesday.

Only 19.4 percent (1,719) of the city's 8,830 registered voters turned out at the civic center polling place.

The Sanford City Commission was to canvass the votes at noon today.

Re-elected Sanford City Commissioners David Farr (left) and Milton Smith congratulate each other on their victories after the vote is announced Tuesday night.

Orlando Coal-Fired Power Plant OK'd By Cabinet

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Plans by the Orlando Utilities Commission to build a $546 million coal-fired power plant have won final approval from Gov. Bob Graham and the Cabinet.

Without debate, Graham and the Cabinet unanimously approved the project Tuesday night over the objections of some environmental groups.

However, Graham and the Cabinet added a requirement that the plant use the best available equipment and technology to prevent pollution.

The plant will be located in southeast Orange County.

Proponents said it is needed to meet the demands of rapid population growth in the Orlando area and to reduce the utility's dependence upon oil.

The governor and Cabinet in giving its permission to OUC to build the plant apparently ignored resolutions from the city of Altamonte Springs and the Council of Local Governments in Seminole County requesting aid to reroute coal-laden trains to the plant from Seminole County.

The two bodies last week adopted resolutions to Graham and the Cabinet, Family Lines Railroad and the congressional delegation on the issue.

The commission and council were seeking to have the train rerouted from Seminole's unincorporated area and the cities of Sanford, Lake Mary, Longwood and Altamonte Springs to a route through Callahan, the outskirts of Ocala and Lakeland to Orlando.

If it was decided to route the 2½ round trip coal-laden trains per week through Seminole, the resolutions asked that they be scheduled for low traffic times of 8 p.m. to 7 a.m.

The City Commission and Council of Local Governments also asked Florida's congressional delegation to support continuation of a coal slurry line program from the north through Georgia on to Florida as a sounder method environmentally of transporting coal to the Orlando area.

The request was made to reroute the train because of the city and Council's fears that coal dust would pollute the environment here and that the 90-car coal trains would tie up traffic at major intersections in the county.

The Sierra Club and other opponents asserted that the plant is not needed and, while meeting state pollution standards, would unnecessarily dirty water and air.

State environmental officials said the plant will emit only minor amounts of colorless and odorless pollutants into the atmosphere with no danger to public health.

IN BRIEF

Bomber Holds 7 Hostage In Washington Monument

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A man driving a truck he claimed was filled with 1,000 pounds of dynamite held as many as seven people hostage today in the Washington Monument, threatening to blow up the historic structure, police said.

Wearing a black jumpsuit and a motorcycle helmet with a dark visor covering his face, the man parked a white step-van at the base of the 55-foot marble obelisk about 9:40 a.m. and told National Park Service police to evacuate the area, said Park Service spokeswoman Sandra Alley.

Ms. Alley said the man, whose truck carried a paper banner reading "ban nuclear weapons," carried what looked like a walkie-talkie, a manila envelope "and his only request is if and when he wants to talk that a media representative be present."

Chicken Soup For Clark

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — Doctors fed artificial heart implant patient Barney Clark good old-fashioned chicken soup and carrots through a stomach tube today to treat a chemical imbalance they said may have caused a series of seizures.

Clark was in critical condition at the University of Utah Medical Center after his second setback since his unprecedented surgery seven days ago. Doctors said the imbalance may have been caused by their attempts to flush his kidneys.

Doctors had been worried the seizures, including one that caused 2½ hours of spasms in Clark's left leg, might have been the result of life-threatening hemorrhaging or clotting in his brain.

But X-rays and other tests found no evidence of bleeding or clotting in his head and no damage to the plastic Jarvi-7 heart clicking away in his chest.

Pakistan's Zia Woos U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pakistani President Mohammad Zia ul-Haq, seeking a full $3.2 billion aid package, is trying to assure President Reagan and other U.S. leaders he is not interested in building a nuclear bomb.

"I have put forward Pakistan's point of view and now Congress will vote according to their conscience," Zia said, after a tough session Tuesday on human rights, drugs and nuclear non-proliferation with the House Foreign Affairs and Senate Foreign Relations committees.

He told the House panel he is personally dedicated to halting the flow of narcotics to the United States, which gets 55 percent of its hard drugs from the West Asian nation of 85 million people. But he also urged the United States to do more.

Toppling Tower Kills 5

MISSOURI CITY, Texas (UPI) — A 4-ton antenna being hoisted atop a broadcast tower to construct the nation's tallest commercial tower spun like a top and crashed to the ground, possibly because a cable broke, a videotape shows. Five workers were killed.

The falling antenna toppled the 2,000-foot tower into a mass of twisted metal Tuesday. Five men strapped to it were killed and three others working below were injured by falling debris.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Floodwaters receded in Missouri after peaking at a record 20 feet over flood level, but Illinois residents piled sandbags in anticipation of more rising waters that forced at least 36,000 people from their homes in a three-state area during the past five days. Overall damages in Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas — the hardest hit states in the Mississippi River Valley — could top $50 million, state authorities said Tuesday. Damage was estimated at $325 million in Arkansas, $150 million in Missouri and untold millions in Illinois. Winter weather moved across the Rockies and Southern Plains, strewing snow and freezing rain from central Kansas across the panhandles of Oklahoma and Texas.

Expansion Of Commissioner's Terms Defeated

Mitchell, Grant Win Commission Posts

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood voters Tuesday re-elected incumbent City Commissioner J. Russell Grant by a landslide, chose Bill Mitchell for a new term on the board and soundly defeated a proposal to expand commissioners' terms.

City Clerk Don Terry's prediction that 20-22 percent of the city's electors would go to the polls proved to be a bit on the low side as the turnout reached 27 percent. A total of 1,066 of the city's 3,938 registered voters cast ballots in the contest.

The proposed charter revision to expand the City Commissioners' terms from two to four years was defeated to the delight of all four candidates for two city commission posts. The tally was 199 votes for expansion, 775 against.

Grant, 57, a rancher who owns a heavy equipment sales and service business, won re-election by a 2-1 margin for a fifth two-year term over his perennial opponent, Robert Daves, 55, an insurance loss control specialist. The vote was 681 for Grant and 345 for Daves.

Grant attributed his victory to the people recognizing that "I have done a good job and tried to be fair about everything. I had a lot of good people helping me," he said.

The defeat of the charter amendment was no surprise to Grant. "I didn't think the people wanted it to start with," he said.

BILL MITCHELL RUSSELL GRANT
...big winners in Longwood

Daves said the 27 percent turnout showed that a lot of people obviously "hated to vote." He said the voters he expected to go to the polls after work from 6 p.m. on didn't materialize.

Daves, who had run unsuccessfully three times previously, noted that he received five votes less Tuesday than two years ago.

"I guess my popularity is declining," he said. "I guess it's time to hang up the gloves. I don't see any future in running anymore." Noting that he walked door to door during his campaign, Daves said he was disappointed in his loss. "The good responses I got didn't convert into votes," he said.

Daves was pleased, however, that the proposal to expand commissioners terms in office was soundly defeated.

In the second a City Commission race, Mitchell, 54, a district manager for Handleman Co., defeated former City Commissioner Larry Goldberg, 43, by a vote of 612 to 428.

Mitchell previously served 18 months on the City Commission before being defeated two years. He said he and Goldberg both ran clean campaigns.

Mitchell said he will concentrate on solving city drainage problems and paving new streets when he takes office in January.

Goldberg said he was disappointed by his defeat, adding he ran an honest, clean and sincere campaign. Goldberg served nearly two terms previously.

Stone Upsets Schutte In Casselberry Council Contest; Dec. 21 Runoff Set

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

A three-term Casselberry City Councilman was defeated in his bid for re-election Tuesday and top contenders in the races for council seats 1 and 3 face runoffs on Dec. 21.

Casselberry firefighter Frank Stone, 35, defeated incumbent Frank Schutte, 54, 917 to 715. Stone, who received 56.1 percent of the vote, has been with the Casselberry Fire Department for 4½ years and has been a vocal advocate of the city's proposed paramedic program.

State law requires that Stone resign his firefighter's job when he assumes office in January.

In a binding referendum, the voters Tuesday approved the establishment of an Advanced Life Support Program (paramedics) by a vote of 895 to 626. The program will be funded by an additional tax for at least two years of $1.25 per $1,000 assessed property. The new tax would be levied beginning with the 1983-84 fiscal year. City voters approved a similar referendum a year ago, but the city was asked from levying the tax by the state because of improper wording on the ballot.

Facing each other in a runoff for council seat 1 will be Richard Russo, 45, who received 786 votes (or 48.7 percent), and James W. Hill, 43, who received 412 votes (or 25.5 percent). Russo, an aerospace engineering company administrator at the Kennedy Space Center, and Hill, a math teacher and softball coach, will be vying to fill the seat left vacant with the resignation of James Lavigne who ran unsuccessfully for the state Legislature.

Other candidates in the race were Michael Bratman, 58 votes; Margaret Driggers, 165 votes and Bertha Rines, 190 votes.

Forty-eight-year-old incumbent councilman Bill Grier, top vote getter in the seat 3 race with 781 votes (or 48.8 percent), will be up against Carl Robertson Jr., a 49-year-old furniture store manager, who received 651 votes (or 40.2 percent). Valentino Zeek, 48, finished third with 212 votes.

A total of 1,661 persons cast ballots in the election, or 27.3 percent of the city's

BILL GRIER CHARLES GLASCOCK

6,070 registered voters that was just under City Clerk Mary Hawthorne's prediction of a 28 percent turnout.

City Council members receive $5,400 a year for their part-time service. Winners will be sworn into office on Jan. 10 as will former Councilman Charles Glascock, 55-year-old hardware store owner, who was unopposed in his bid for mayor.

Glascock will fill out the unexpired term of current mayor Owen Sheppard whose resignation is effective Jan. 10. Glascock's salary for the one-year stint will be $21,281.

Ex-Policeman Faces 20 Years For Arson

Former Sanford police officer Walter Jones could be sentenced to 20 years in prison when he appears before a Seminole Circuit Court judge today. However, Jones' lawyer is expected to ask the court to grant Jones a new trial.

Jones, a 13-year police veteran, was convicted Sept. 10 by a Circuit Court jury of soliciting to commit arson, second degree arson and burning to defraud an insurer.

During the trial, three people testified that Jones asked them to burn his 1839 Jerry Avenue home in Midway in exchange for a portion of the money he would receive on an insurance claim.

Jones also faces charges in Orange County of defrauding an insurance company where which paid him a $28,000 settlement on his policy. He is also charged with one count of grand theft, and could face 15 years in prison if convicted of both charges.

Meanwhile, defense lawyer Jack Bridges is expected to ask Judge Dominick Salfi to order a new trial for Jones, saying that pertinent evidence in favor of his client was not allowed to be entered in the previous trial which resulted in Jones' conviction.

"Jack says the state opened the door for the new trial during questioning of a witness from the defrauded insurer," prosecutor Steve Brady said. "He claims that the witness brought up the fact that Jones took a polygraph test and that the results of that test (Jones passed) should be admissible based on the fact the prosecution brought it up. We never did."

"I have reviewed the transcripts of the trial and Jack is the one that was questioning the witness when the polygraph was mentioned," Brady said. He did not bring it (the results of the test) out then. The state did not bring it out and I don't see where he has grounds for a new trial."

Bridges was out of town and could not be reached for comment.

Jones' sentencing is scheduled for 1:45 p.m. today in Salfi's chambers, Brady said.

"I imagine the issue of the new trial will be taken care of prior to the sentencing," Brady said.

Fired Bank Clerk Sues Ex-Boss For $2.4 Million

By TENI YARBOROUGH
Herald Staff Writer

A Lake Mary man who was fired after he refused to ignore a jury duty summons is suing his former employer for $2.4 million.

In a suit filed in Seminole Circuit Court earlier this week, Carl W. Neidhart is seeking damages and lawyer's fees from his former employer, Robert Fintel, assistant vice-president and comptroller of the Pioneer Federal Savings and Loan Association.

In his suit, Neidhart contends that while he was employed at Pioneer's Clearwater office as an accounting clerk, he received a summons to appear for jury duty in Seminole County for the week of July 13.

Neidhart was fired July 6 after telling Fintel about the summons and his intentions to comply with it, according to the suit. However, Fintel contends Neidhart was fired for insubordination, not because he chose to appear for jury duty.

The suit further states that Pioneer officials have told Neidhart's prospective employers that he was dismissed for insubordination. Neidhart maintains such information has harmed his chances of finding a job.

Meanwhile, Seminole Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leffler ruled last month that Fintel was in contempt of court for dismissing Neidhart because of Neidhart's refusal to disregard the court summons as he claims Fintel instructed him to do. Fintel is scheduled to be sentenced Dec. 15 and could be fined $500.

MISSING WOMAN FOUND

Deputies rescued a Paola woman from Lake Monroe Monday after her boat engine failed to start and left her drifting for several hours on the lake.

Deputies began searching the lake for Linda Pugh, 30, of First Street at 6 p.m. after receiving a telephone call from Ms. Pugh's father, Herbert D. Patton of Sanford.

Patton told deputies his daughter went fishing at about 1 p.m. in a boat on Lake Monroe and had not returned by 8 p.m. Deputies said they found Ms. Pugh adrift in her boat about 100 yards from the sea wall near the Lake Monroe Inn at about 7:30 p.m.

Deputies added that such incidences are common on the lake and that people fishing there should always wear reflective life jackets and carry a flashlight.

Ms. Pugh's boat had lights but after it gets dark out there on that dark-water lake it's difficult to spot them," sheriff's spokesman John Spolaki said. "People need to think ahead and equip their boats with lights, flares and reflective life jackets."

CASSELBERRY MAN HELD

A 35-year-old Casselberry man was being held in the Seminole County jail today under $5,000 bond following his arrest at 9:22 p.m. Monday on two charges of possession of marijuana and two charges of sale and delivery of the illegal drug.

Frederick G. Joseph of 140 Lemon Lane was arrested by undercover agents after they said they brought marijuana from a man on two separate occasions in Casselberry.

Agents said they purchased two baggies of marijuana for $75 from Joseph on Dec. 2 and later, on Dec. 6, purchased more marijuana.

Murder Suspect 'A Very Jealous Man'

Describing her ex-husband as an extremely jealous man capable of physical abuse when he drinks, Rosa Perry testified Tuesday that she saw Edward Lee Perry shoot David Castor three times in the head, killing him.

Perry, 48, an Altamonte Springs mechanic, is on trial in Seminole Circuit Court for the June 24 first-degree murder of Castor, 41, of 607 Sherwood Court, Altamonte Springs. The trial began Monday and is expected to continue today and possibly Thursday.

Ms. Perry, 38, the accused man's wife of 16 years, took the witness stand Tuesday and testified that less than two weeks after she and Perry were divorced, Perry came to her home, where she was visiting with Castor, another couple and their children, threatened Castor, then shot him three times in the head and threatened to kill her, too.

Ms. Perry said she had received a call from her ex-husband the night of the fatal shooting and "it sounded like he was calling from a bar." She said he wanted to know who was at her 603 Sherwood Court home and Ms. Perry told him no one was there and for him to stop calling her.

Ms. Perry said her husband was an "extremely jealous man" and that he "always thought something was going on between David (Castor) and me. There wasn't and he and David had even talked about it several times.

"I've never seen a man die before," Ms. Perry said, tearfully. "But, I knew when I saw the bullet hit David in the head and he fell down and didn't move, I knew he was dead."

PURSES STOLEN FROM CAR

Two men stole two purses from a Sanford woman's car as she sat in the vehicle in a medical center parking lot at 819 E. First St.

Louise H. Nelson, 68, of 411 Scott Ave. told police two men came up to her car and grabbed the two purses, one belonging to her and the other to her daughter, Serita Tindall, 32, of 1505 Terrace Dr. in Sanford. She said the two men fled toward Second Street with the purses which collectively contained about $50, police said.

Police said the incident occurred at about 3:48 p.m. Monday.

MAN ATTACKED WHILE MAKING CALL

A 50-year-old Sanford man told police he was attacked and robbed by three men who jumped him while he was making a telephone call at the Park and Shop convenience store at Third Street and Sanford Avenue.

Harry D. Stout of 700 S. Magnolia Ave. told police he was making a telephone call at about 12:15 a.m. Saturday when three men came up to him, shoved him to the ground, kicked him in the mouth, then stole $6 cash and fled.

Police said Stout was treated for cuts and bruises he sustained in the attack.

Perry then told Ms. Perry not to move and threatened to shoot her, too. He also apologized to the Murphy's two children saying he hated to shoot Castor in front of them, then fired two more bullets from a 9mm automatic handgun into Castor's head, Ms. Perry said.

Seminole County Medical Examiner Dr. G.V. Garay testified Tuesday that any one of the three shots, one of which lodged in Castor's brain, could have been the fatal shot.

When Altamonte Springs police entered the home, they found Castor's body and saw Perry holding the suspected murder weapon in his hand. Perry told police that Castor was sitting there drinking beer with his ex-wife, that he told Castor he couldn't do that and shot him. — TENI YARBOROUGH

Little Guy Will Get High Interest Break

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After Jan. 5, almost anyone with $2,500 will be able to get the high interest rates of money-market funds and be assured of federal insurance of up to $100,000 on regular checking and savings accounts.

Federal regulators Monday swept aside almost every restriction to give savers and investors money-market rates on their federally insured checking and savings accounts.

Some of the new rules take effect Dec. 14 and the rest Jan. 5.

The committee of federal regulators decided Monday to go beyond what was already authorized for Dec. 14 and allow financial institutions to offer unrestricted withdrawals and transfers on the accounts.

It will be the first time banks and savings institutions have been permitted to compete directly with Wall Street's popular money funds which have used high rates and convenience to build their assets to a $231.5 billion this month, an all-time high.

Now the banking and thrift industries are waiting to see how the mountain of $300 billion in their low-interest passbook accounts, earning as little as 5.25 percent, moves in reaction to the attractive new insured rates.

The low interest banks and savings and loans have been paying on their passbooks have allowed the industries to reinvest savers' money and add to the institutions' earnings. If the banks and thrifts attract most of the deposits in the new accounts only from their own less-costly accounts the total effect could be lower earnings.

But the federally regulated institutions hope to get back much of the money that was drawn to the uninsured money-market funds.

Businesses using the accounts will be subject to several restrictions not imposed on individuals. They will be limited to six transfers a month on the accounts, no more than three of which can be by telephone. But the commission asked for comments in anticipation of removing even those limits.

By creating the new money-market accounts the regulators made obsolete existing NOW (negotiated order of withdrawal) accounts which had been the first to pay interest on checking balances.

A host of other savings certificates became obsolete as well, leaving only those with a maturity of from six months to 2½ years with major government restrictions on interstate ceilings. The committee asked for comments in the next 45 days on a schedule to speed up their deregulation.

Several Charged With DUI

The following people were arrested in Seminole County on charges of driving under the influence (DUI) of alcoholic beverages:

— James P. Shelton, 36, of 118 Sunland Drive, Sanford, arrested 12:40 p.m. Sunday, charged with DUI and failure to maintain a single lane. Shelton was arrested by the Florida Highway Patrol along U.S. 17-92 about two miles north of Lake Mary. Bond was set at $500.

— Tammy Jo Stanovitch, 23, of 1151 Bayou Drive, Casselberry, arrested 3:10 a.m. Sunday, charged with DUI. Ms. Stanovitch was arrested by troopers along State Road 436 in Casselberry. Bond was set at $500.

— Dennis Wayne Bremser, 30, Hollywood, arrested 12:25 p.m. Sunday, charged with DUI and careless driving. Bremser was arrested by troopers along County Road 419 about two miles east of Winter Springs. Bond was set at $500.

— Thomas Charles Connell, 42, of 176 Mobile Manor, Longwood, arrested 10:15 a.m. Saturday, charged with DUI. Connell was arrested by troopers along State Road 434. Bond was set at $500.

— John Edward Davis, 52, of Umatilla, arrested 2:38 a.m. Saturday, charged with DUI and failure to maintain a single lane. Davis was arrested by Lake Mary police along Lake Mary Boulevard. Bond was set at $500.

— Ribby Hogan Dennis, 48, of Orange Boulevard, Lake Monroe, arrested 7:15 p.m. Saturday, charged with DUI. Dennis was arrested by Winter Springs police along State Road 434. Bond was set at $500.

— Vincent James Bruciale Jr., 38, of 201 Mellonville Ave., Sanford, arrested 2:17 a.m. Monday, charged with DUI and possession of marijuana. Bruciale was arrested by troopers along U.S. 17-92 west of Sanford after they responded to the scene of an accident. Troopers said upon their arrival at the scene they discovered an overturned vehicle and saw Bruciale moving about in the car. Troopers told Bruciale to remain still until the power lines, which were down because of the accident, could be removed. Bruciale was subsequently arrested and jailed under $5,000 bond.

The Walls In Global Villages

International trade is usually a boring subject for the average American. But as the planet shrinks through miracles of jet travel and satellite communications, mankind finds itself dwelling in a "global village" where free barter is essential to material well-being. Economic interdependence has always existed, of course. Now, it is much more immediate and meaningful.

About one of every six manufacturing jobs in this country depends on foreign sales; two of every five acres of farmland are plowed for export. Thanks to international trade, which generally has been permitted to flow freely, 225 million American consumers enjoy a larger choice of goods and at cheaper prices.

During the decades following World War II, international trade thrived as nations recovered, thanks in large part to freer trade provided by the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade negotiated in 1947. Now, however, the advent of the worst worldwide recession in a half century is producing acute trade problems. Developing nations, which have borrowed too heavily, are scarcely able to service their debts, let alone pay for imports. Moreover, the strengthened U.S. dollar has meant higher prices for U.S. goods sold abroad. The result has been serious trade dislocations and imbalances. The U.S. trade deficit for 1982 will exceed $2 billion, an all-time high.

The reaction to all of this in most countries has been to circle the wagons and, without repudiating GATT outright, to erect bureaucratic trade barriers that effectively shield hurting domestic industries from foreign competition. France, for example, now requires all video records imported to be cleared through customs at Poitiers, a tiny, out-of-the-way place with a custom staff of four individuals.

In an effort to fortify the world against this rising wall of protectionism, the Reagan administration last year led in the convening of GATT, the first full meeting of the 88-nation group in nine years. The four-day conference at Geneva, which recently adjourned, was an enormous disappointment and a near-disaster.

In acrimonious exchanges, Third World delegates set themselves against the industrialized democracies, which in turn were divided against each other. Indeed, the biggest obstacle to agreement was refusal by the European Economic Community to phase out a $7 billion subsidization of farm exports, which places U.S. agriculture at a great competitive disadvantage.

A vaguely worded statement at conference end, paying lip service to free trade, could not camouflage the world's swift passage in the opposite direction. Already, there are outcries in Congress from farm-state representatives who threaten a trade war with Europe. The prospect of the U.S. dumping its huge dairy-product surpluses on the world market has only infuriated the French, Dutch and Danes; it did not intimidate them.

President Reagan, like all of his immediate predecessors, is committed to the principle of lowering barriers to the free flow of trade. It becomes increasingly clear that one of his chief challenges will be how to stave off the insanity of higher trade barriers at home and abroad. No one yet has provided a rational answer to the problem of how long the United States can turn the other cheek to its international trading partners who refuse reciprocal free trade, exploiting the U.S. market while protecting their own.

Reciprocity must be the key element in the tough bargaining that lies ahead for U.S. trade negotiators. Otherwise, if the world forgets how protectionism, as exemplified by the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act, deepened the Depression during the 1930s, it will surely repeat the folly. This must not be permitted to happen because the heightened interdependence of our global village will vastly magnify the disaster of any trade conflict.

BERRY'S WORLD

"My husband and I want to get a divorce so we can both use the new 1040 EZ income tax form."

Every time athletic teams from Seminole High and Lake Mary High get together for the next year or so, it will mark the start of a rivalry. The Rams, in their second year of operation, struck a big blow for their cause when their girls basketball team beat the Seminoles in the season opener. Usually it takes several years for a school to build a successful sports program, but the Lake Mary basketball program has already arrived. Coach Bill Moore has put together a solid starting five with 6-2 twin sisters Peggy and Laura Glass, Lisa Gregory, Kim Averill and Michelle Swartz. All are juniors except sophomore Averill. The Rams were 4-0 going into Tuesday's game with Winter Park. Last year, they played mostly 2A competition and advanced to the sectional before losing to eventual state champion Clearwater Central Catholic. Much of the success is related to the fact that some of the girls have been playing together for several years on Seminole Youth Sports Association teams. Mike Averill, Kim's father, coached the Glass twins, his daughter and Gregory. Their competition during most of those years came from Mona Benton and Maxine Campbell, two of the Seminoles' top players. That rivalry will switch to the wrestling mat Friday when coach Scott Sherman's Fighting Seminoles take on the Rams at 8 p.m. at Seminole High School. Lake Mary, 2-0, has made quick strides in this area too. Coach Frank Schwartz and assistant coach Doug Peters proved their squad was for real last Friday when it upset Lake Brantley. Seminole, 0-2, will have all it can handle. The Tribe lost to Lake Howell and Oviedo last week. Ronnie Watson, Vince Clark and Gary Gonterman are all quality wrestlers, but Sherman is having trouble at his upper weights. Schwartz has a tough squad, especially in the lower and middle weights where Ivan Carbia (100), Jack Likens (107), Bob Olson (140) and Brent Blakely (157) are all good. Robert Rawls, a 6-9, 320-pounder, is awesome at unlimited. The rivalry switched from indoors to outdoors a week (Dec. 17) later when coach Howard Hawkins' booters and coach Larry McCorkle's Rams go at each other on the soccer field. Seminole will once again be the site of what is billed "The Mayor's Cup." The first kick is at 7 p.m.

DON GRAFF Vietnam Veterans Memorial

It has been called a black gash of shame, a wailing wall, an insult to those it is intended to memorialize, a tribute to Jane Fonda. It is none of that. It is the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington, two walls of black granite dedicated Veterans Day weekend with much publicity and some lingering controversy over the design.

That controversy was technically resolved barely a month before dedication with a compromise agreement to add a flagpole and sculpture to the stark walls of the original design by Maya Ying Lin, then a student of architecture at Yale and winner in a nationwide competition.

Sculptor Frederick Hart is now at work on a larger-than-life, realistic depiction of three soldiers in battle gear. With final approval from the Fine Arts Commission and National Capital Planning Commission, it will be positioned at the memorial entrance plaza some 50 feet from the wall.

That should be within the year, at which point the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund will close up shop. The individual primarily responsible for the memorial, from conception to completion, will be calling it quits much earlier, however. Jan C. Scruggs, fund president, figures he has a few months more of paper work, after which it will be best to bow out.

Scruggs' role may well be the most memorable aspect of the memorial story. A Vietnam veteran, an enlisted man and severely wounded, he was on the staff of the Labor Department's Office of Civil Rights and beginning work on a Ph.D. in psychology and counseling when he had, as he puts it, a monumental idea.

That was in 1979, and for the first four months he was the memorial fund. He provided the seed money — $2,500 from the sale of a quarter-acre lot in Harper's Ferry, Va., he had purchased not long before with $2,800 left him by his father.

Gradually, he interested others in his idea — others, fortunately, including such as Sens. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., and John Warner, R-Va., who could be of powerful assistance in mobilizing government and public support.

Eventually, the veterans groups came in. The American Legion pledged $1 million to the $50 million construction cost; the VFW a quarter of a million. More money came from corporate sources, and from hundreds of thousands of individuals in $10 and $20 checks. The government's sole contribution is the site, on national park land.

Then came the design dispute, not entirely unforeseen. The entire project, intended to heal the wounds of Vietnam, was recognized by its originators as "a little bit of a time bomb" because it would also inevitably reawaken bitterness dormant for the greater part of a decade.

The attack on the design was essentially political rather than artistic, and the compromise is offensive to many concerned with the integrity of the original design. Scruggs thinks otherwise.

Arguments over the design probably will continue for decades, he says. But the important thing is that the memorial exists. And, as evidenced by the outpouring of veterans for the dedication and the nationwide response, it is contributing to a healing.

As for Scruggs, the memorial may have been the end of plans for a Ph.D. He's thinking now of a new career in broadcasting, utilizing skills gained in his three-year crash course in public communications.

And (Un) Equal Justice For All...

WASHINGTON — Carved in stone over the impressive portico of the Supreme Court is the motto: "Equal Justice Under Law." Unfortunately, this basic principle of democracy isn't being followed by federal prosecutors around the country.

For example: Someone who defrauds a bank of more than $1,500 in Houston, Texas, can expect the feds to prosecute. But a few hundred miles north, in Dallas, the fraud or embezzlement has to reach $5,000 before it will be prosecuted by the U.S. attorney's office.

In California, the federal prosecutor in Sacramento will spring into action if a con man or embezzler gets away with more than $500. In San Jose, it takes a $5,000 swindle to interest the U.S. attorney.

These examples of unequal justice are detailed in a still-unreleased, 96-page report by the General Accounting Office. The investigation was requested three years ago by Sen. Max Baucus, D-Mont., a member of the Judiciary Committee.

The GAO investigators found that the nation's 96 federal prosecutors have virtual autonomy in three key areas — deciding whether to take a particular case, deciding when a case should be turned over to state authorities for prosecution and deciding whether a suspect should be allowed to plea-bargain.

"The lack of uniformity among districts creates disparities in the treatment of suspected violators," the GAO study concludes.

Referring to the northern district of California, for example, the investigators found several cases of embezzlement that weren't prosecuted because they involved less than $5,000. These cases would have met the dollar cutoff points in five of the seven districts the GAO studied — namely, southern Ohio, eastern Kentucky, southern Texas, eastern California and Maryland — "and would have been likely candidates for prosecution," according to the report.

The difference in criteria among the various federal prosecutors might not be so serious if the cases they reject were actually pursued by state district attorneys. But too often the cases aren't even turned over to the state prosecutors.

"As a result of establishing declination policies without adequate coordination with local officials, some cases go unprosecuted," the auditors found.

For example, between Oct. 1, 1978, and March 31, 1980, in the eastern district of Kentucky, exactly one of 104 cases the U.S. attorney declined to prosecute was referred to the local authority for action. During the same time period, in the southern district of Ohio, only 46 of 319 cases the federal prosecutor declined were referred to state officials.

One U.S. attorney told my associate Tony Capaccio that the divergent policies for rejection "reflect the different sizes and

ANTHONY HARRIGAN Eyeing The New Issues

Americans are going to hear a lot about infrastructure in the next two years. Infrastructure is about to become a political issue.

"In terms of current public discussion, it means roads, bridges, water lines, sewers and other necessary public facilities.

The United States has been able to grow and prosper because it has a strong infrastructure. The continent became a single economic unit because of excellent highways and railroads. The most dramatic example of infrastructure is the interstate highway system which spans the nation.

Unfortunately, America's infrastructure is in bad shape. The nation's 42,500-mile interstate highway system is deteriorating at the rate of 2,000 miles a year. One out of every five bridges in the country requires total rebuilding or replacement. In many communities, antique sewers and water lines are breaking down.

Liberals see the deteriorated infrastructure as a prime political issue for 1984. The New Republic, a liberal magazine, recently described it as such. Now, the liberals are calling for massive public works programs.

There's no question: public works must be undertaken in many areas. Unfortunately, the money for these projects will be hard to find. The interstate highway system was built when American industry was at its peak in the late 1950s. In a deep recession, with many deteriorated basic industries, the tax money isn't available for huge new public works programs.

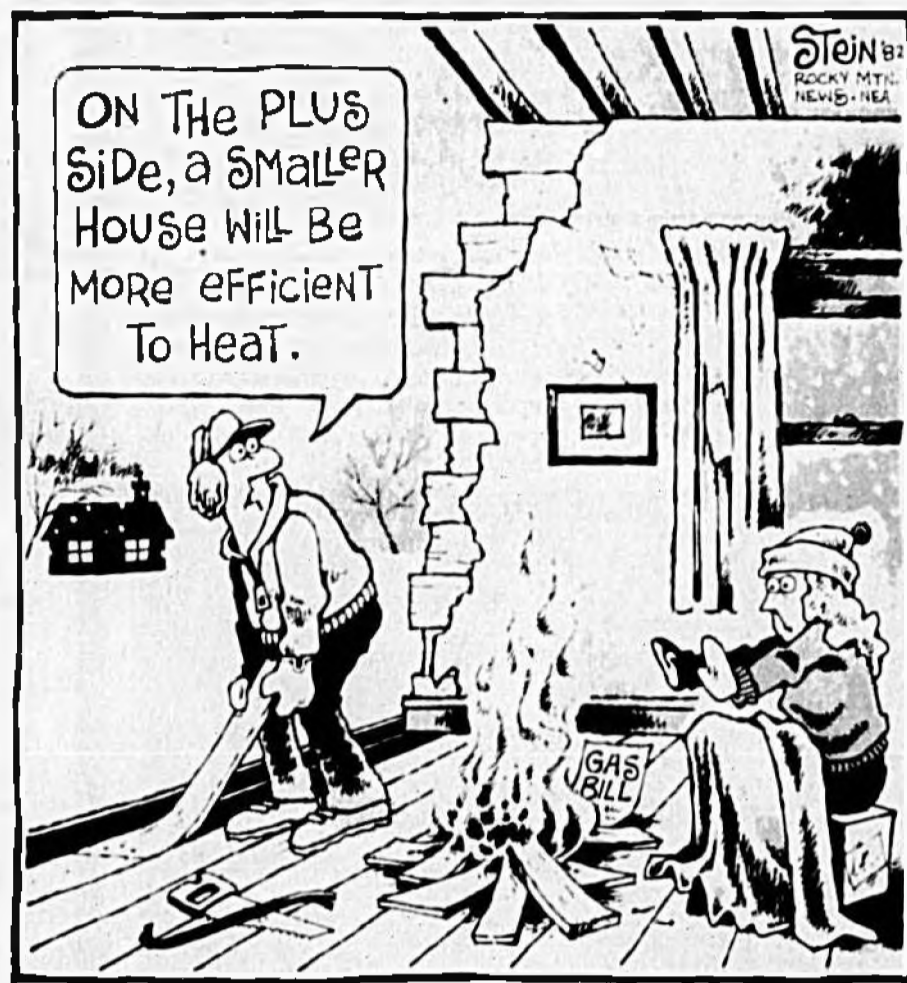

President Reagan's plan to impose a nickel-a-gallon tax on gasoline won't solve these problems, although it will result in a heavier tax burden on motorists.

Fortunately, there may be a middle way for the nation. Dr. Samuel C. Florman, a civil engineer, writing in Technology Review, reports that new ways are being found to repair rather than replace existing infrastructure. He notes that "Chemical companies are hard at work developing epoxies, paints and other substances that will patch, clean, cover and generally preserve existing installations. Engineering societies are giving prizes to proposals for rehabilitating old bridges instead of building new ones. A "make do" outlook is being developed, which is very appropriate in hard times.

One bright aspect of the infrastructure problem is that the rehabilitation process will utilize people with basic talents. As Dr. Florman says, "Robots are not about to take over, and the age of the trowel and the wrench has not come to an end." In short, this situation will provide employment opportunities for people displaced in automated businesses and industries.

It's important that the American people develop and maintain perspective on the infrastructure situation. The country can't afford to throw money at the problem in the manner of the 1960s. Practical, cost-effective proposals for improving infrastructure must be developed in the mid 1980s.

Grandiose federal programs aren't the right approach to the pothole problem.

JEFFREY HART

More On MX Missile

The decision to deploy the MX missile in a "dense pack" cluster is probably justified, and represents the conclusion of a process begun during the Carter administration.

Carter's solution, which proved to be politically unacceptable, was to spread the deployment over several Western states and move the missiles from silo to silo in a shell-game that would confuse Soviet targeting.

Reagan's proposal, however, does give rise to a number of reflections, both about the dense-pack scheme itself and about related matters.

What the MX is supposed to do is close the "window of vulnerability" and also send a signal of our determination to Moscow.

Let us consider the first, in the light of what I call the "drawing board" principle. What the "window of vulnerability" means is the gap between the estimated time our Minuteman missiles become vulnerable to a Soviet first strike, perhaps 1988, and the time our supposedly invulnerable new Trident submarine program becomes operational, perhaps five years later.

In theory, that "window" is there. It is there on the "drawing board." On the principle that no president can take even the smallest risk with the survival of this nation, Reagan is, as I say, probably right to go ahead with a more modest deployment of the MX than Carter proposed.

But let us meditate upon the "drawing board" principle.

I take it as axiomatic that as weapons technology becomes more and more advanced, the risk of malfunctioning becomes greater. When I was in Naval Intelligence, I heard hair-raising stories from my flag-officer elders, who had fought the Pacific war. In the early fighting, for example, our torpedoes simply did not go off. A direct hit on a Japanese ship just went "clunk." And, after all, we had had considerable experience in testing torpedoes.

Now all of the projections involving intercontinental ballistic missile warfare remain "on the drawing board." We have no experience with that kind of warfare. A single missile, tested under what amounts to laboratory conditions, has proved impressively accurate. No one knows how, under actual war-fighting conditions, a thousand ICBMs will function. At the very least, there will be a large element of uncertainly. All of our experience with technology indicates precisely that.

But uncertainty, even today — and without the MX — is the enemy of the first-strike. If you are to launch an atomic attack, you must have confidence that it is going to "work" — that is, with some high degree of success (approaching at least 90 percent), disable the enemy. Probably even 90 percent is not good enough.

A 90-percent effective Soviet first strike would, perhaps, leave us with 50 deliverable atomic bombs and a dozen deliverable hydrogen bombs. The Soviet tacticians would then have to bet that the American president, viewing a devastated and dying America, would "rationally" not deliver his missiles against the U.S.S.R.

That is not a bet I would make. But it also seems to me that the Soviets cannot count on anything like a 90-percent effective strike against our deterrent, even now, with the obsolescing Minuteman.

A Soviet strike would be run by computers. Their computer technology is not impressive. Soviet technology has performed best at the lower end of the scale — e.g., the Kalashnikov machine gun — but progressively worse as we reach electronic levels: the performance of Soviet equipment in the Israeli war against the P.L.O. and the Syrians in Lebanon.

The conclusion of this line of reasoning is that no Soviet leader, given the uncertainties and the apocalyptic penalties for failure is going to launch a first strike against either Europe or the United States. As DeGaulle said, when he established his independent atomic capability, France cannot defeat the Soviet Union, but it can "tear an arm off." He meant that the French can "take out" Moscow, Leningrad, Odessa, and so forth, and that the Soviet leadership cannot defend that.

So, then, why is Reagan probably right in wanting to deploy the MX in dense pack?

Paradoxically, the decision is political and psychological and arises out of the pacifist trends in this country since our defeat in Vietnam.

In a political sense, the pacifism makes the MX approval by Congress necessary.

What Reagan wants to tell the Soviet leadership is that the United States is serious about its own survival.

practices of different districts." He explained that "an embezzlement of $5,000 might be a pretty big deal in Iowa, Wyoming or Minnesota," and added that "in the rural areas the locals just aren't competent to handle bank-robbery investigations."

A Justice Department official said the problem of federal coordination with state and local law enforcement "is being fully resolved through establishment of law-enforcement coordinating committees."

Maybe so. But meanwhile, the present crazy-quilt system of prosecution permits some astonishing results. In the southern district of Texas, for example, a suspect caught with 134 pounds of smuggled marijuana wasn't even brought to trial; he was "diverted" to a supervised rehabilitation program by the federal prosecutor.

In the same district, a man indicted for smuggling 15 pounds of cocaine faced 15 years in prison. But he was allowed to plea-bargain on the understanding that he wouldn't be given more than a three-year sentence.

Technology Is Feared More Than Recession

NEW YORK (UPI) — American workers worry more that they will lose their jobs because their skills become obsolete than because of the recession, says Dr. Richard Adamsky of Temple University.

Adamsky, professor of vocational education at the Philadelphia institution, also is a consultant for ITT Educational Services, Inc., of Indianapolis. His conclusion that workers fear technological obsolescence more than the recession was drawn in part from a survey just made by the ITT vocational training subsidiary.

Adamsky said this survey indicated 81 percent of workers doubt if they have the skills to keep their present jobs or find new ones. About 21 percent want to change careers anyway, for various reasons, including doubts about their present skills.

About 62 percent believe they need more specialized training and 67 percent said the only way to get new skills is to go back to school.

Adamsky and Richard H. McClintock, president of ITT Educational Systems, said the proprietary vocational schools of the country are trying hard to provide the retraining workers need to remain competitive in the job marketplace but choosing the right vocational training school from among the hundreds offering courses is not easy.

Adamsky conceded there has been widespread criticism of vocational training programs in both proprietary and public schools for training people in skills already obsolescent.

Adamsky said the bottom line in choosing a vocational school is its record in placing its graduates in actual employment. The next best criterion, he said, is determining if a school is properly accredited. One may have to go to considerable trouble to verify both the placement record and accreditation. The principal accrediting organizations are the National Association of Trade and Technical Schools and the Association of Independent Colleges and Schools. Both are in Washington.

But Adamsky said the best career training is that being done by the armed forces. "This is so much the case that industry is borrowing or even pirating military training methods."

The same point was made recently during a television interview by Narvin Cetron, author of a currently popular book entitled "Encounters With the Future." There are several chapters in this book about changing job skills in the years ahead. Cetron told United Press International the armed forces is doing by far the best job of retraining workers and giving them skills for which there really will be a future market. Among corporations doing a good job in vocational career training, he praised Control Data Corp. of Minneapolis and ITT.

Both Adamsky and Cetron said the armed forces have big advantages: a lot of money, plenty of expertise and the discipline and authority to compel servicemen and women to work hard at the training courses.

Elves Are Busy Answering Letters

SANTA CLAUS, Ind. (UPI) — Santa's Elves say they are busy these days helping Santa Claus answer letters from children all over the world who want to know what's on their minds.

Santa Claus, Ind., located in the southwestern part of the state, has a population of 652 and draws between 30,000 and 50,000 letters from children each year. Some of the letters come from as far away as Africa, U.S. Postal Service clerk Sandra Clignon said.

One resident, Jim Yell, 88, has been an important part of the Christmas spirit, playing Santa Claus for more than 60 years. He says his experience has taught him the greatest source of satisfaction is a simple one: "The smile, the smile — not only on the children, but grandpa and grandma."

Yellig said his spirits are buoyed by the dozens of children who whisper their dreams to him each weekend.

"That's my payoff," he said. "It helps me a lot, kind of brings me back to the good old days and I don't seem to have much trouble when I put on that suit. I'm very happy about that."

"This is my 62nd year coming up... I held more children this year than I ever have," he said.

Santa's Elves, a volunteer group, tries to answer each child's letter, Ms. Collignon said, but sometimes the letters have no return address.

Such was the case in a letter from Steve, postmarked Kansas City, Mo., which read: "This is from Steve to Santa. I hope you can make it to my house. Please bring me what I want. I love you, Santa."

When they do list a return address, children receive a form letter from Santa, said Mabel Ryan, one of the organizers of Santa's Elves.

Santa writes, "My elves are busy getting your toys and presents ready. You will be surprised when you see all the packages by your Christmas tree."

Center Teaches Free Enterprise A La Disney

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Enterprise Square took $10 million and four years to create, but founders of the 60,000-square foot monument to free enterprise expect it only to break even.

The center's mission is not to turn a profit, but to teach others how the economy and the entire free enterprise system works — or is supposed to work, said Robert Rowland, executive director and designer of the attraction.

The center, which opened Nov. 13, is designed for the fifth grade level and above, Rowland said.

Some of the props — such as the klutzy spaceship with extraterrestrial Muppets aboard — are aimed more at the bubble gum crowd. But even touring business executives were not disappointed, Rowland said.

Although the center doesn't threaten Disney World's position as the premier animation attraction, Rowland said Enterprise Square incorporates a combination of the latest technology.

Taking a cue from the video game craze, the center features enough video equipment to satisfy an army of Pac Man and Defender fans.

Instead of zapping a fleet of star cruisers, game players must defend their assets against the forces of the free market. The games allow players to try their hand at running businesses from a lemonade stand to an oil drilling operation.

True to their free enterprise ideals,

Enterprise Square administrators plan to market their copyrighted video game programs.

About 90 donors, such as Phillips Petroleum of Bartlesville, Okla., contributed up to $2 million each to finance the $10 million center and create a $5 million endowment fund to pay its $700,000 annual operating costs. Of course, in keeping with Enterprise Square's theme, no government funds or tax-free bond money was used, Rowland said.

With tickets at $2.50 and $3.50 per person, the non-profit Enterprise Square should be self-supporting within two or three years, Rowland figures.

Although the center is located on the campus of Oklahoma Christian College, Rowland said there is almost no reference to religion in the material presented. A contingent of economists decided how principles of the free enterprise system would be presented.

"We are emphasizing America has a foundation of faith in God, the constitutional form of government and free enterprise," he said.

There is a video presentation of capitalism versus socialism but Rowland said, "We try to stay out of things that are political as such."

The "Great Talking Face of Government" — a 20-foot tall outline of a face using television screens for its eyes, ears, nose and mouth — lectures on the role of government in the marketplace, such as controlling monopolies.

Now Joe Is Somebody

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A teenage deaf-mute named Joe didn't legally exist until a judge gave him a last name and issued a birth certificate, a document that gave him a mother and a chance to get a job.

It took just three minutes in Superior Court Judge Ronald Swearingner's chambers Monday to erase 19 years of anonymity for the young man who has spent his life as a nameless nomad.

Joe became somebody Monday — taking the legal name Joe McKinney. His new birth certificate gave him an identity.

The only clue to his real identity is a hazy childhood memory of being abandoned in a mountain cabin.

The dark-eyed youth entered the courtroom with Virginia McKinney, a deaf woman who last summer gave Joe the first real home he can remember. She legally adopted him after the birth certificate was issued.

"It's fantastic. I can't believe it," Mrs. McKinney whispered moments after Swearingner issued the birth certificate. "Joe is, because the judge said he is."

"He has a right to live, to be, and be a 'boss.' I intend he will never live on the streets again."

Joe, whose age was estimated to be 19, had been unable to find steady work because he didn't have the birth certificate necessary to obtain a Social Security card.

Mrs. McKinney, director of the Center for Communicative Development in Los Angeles, communicates with Joe through sign language. She said he dimly recalls being a small child whose mother left him in a mountain cabin.

Joe then began a nomadic life, sleeping under bushes and in cars until he was befriended and turned over to California Department of Rehabilitation authorities.

"He talks about walking, walking, walking — of being starving, hungry and sick. That's the story of his life," she said. "When he sees a derelict sleeping in a doorway he says, 'that used to be me.'"

A newspaper story brought in some donations that enabled Joe to rent an apartment and learn to live indoors. When the money ran out in August, Mrs. McKinney took Joe into her home in Los Angeles.

The petition to the court described Joe as having been orphaned at an early age and having lived an "animalistic," and "hand-to-mouth" life in Los Angeles for the past seven years.

Doctors who examined Joe determined his approximate age, and an arbitrary birth date of April 1, 1963, was assigned. UCLA anthropologists who studied his possible ethnic origins could not make a positive determination, attorney Jan Smith said.

She said Joe recalled being in the cabin in the snow, and was able to identify pictures of snow shoes used by the Paiute Indians who live in Nevada and California, west of the Sierra mountains.

Mrs. McKinney said she wants to travel with Joe to places with snow-capped mountains and cabins, hoping to find his mother.

If you'll have ceiling insulation put up, we'll put up part of the cost.

Our Watt-Wise™ incentive will pay up to $300 to help qualifying customers have proper ceiling insulation installed by a contractor. This could reduce your air conditioning costs considerably.

If an FPL Home Energy Audit indicates that adding insulation is beneficial, you'll receive a Watt-Saver™ certificate. The certificate is redeemable with any participating insulation contractor. FPL will verify that the installation meets our specifications.

Will everyone benefit from Watt-Wise incentives? Yes.

These incentives are less costly than the oil necessary to generate the electricity wasted by inefficient homes. Every 600 kilowatt-hours of electricity not used is a barrel of oil no one has to pay for. This also helps us postpone the building of expensive power plants. The less oil we use, and the less new building we have to do, the more we can help hold the line on everyone's electric bill.

Abscam Report Expected Out; All 800 Pages

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate report on the FBI's controversial Abscam operation is "in the home stretch," may run up to 800 pages and will be out on time, members of the committee said Tuesday.

Sen. Warren Rudman, R-N.H., speaking to a reporter after a closed meeting of the eight-member committee, said the report would run to 600 to 800 pages because it is "enormously complex."

Committee Chairman Sen. Charles Mathias, R-Md., said, "We expect to be able to file the report, on time, on the 15th of December."

The Los Angeles Times reported during the weekend a draft of the report found that FBI officials conducted their investigation "in a sloppy manner, and it was largely accidental that the loosely controlled probe avoided major legal problems."

The Times said the report also found that none of the seven members of Congress convicted of bribery and conspiracy was illegally entrapped.

Asked if the story is accurate, Rudman said it was "too brief and fragmentary" to give an accurate representation of the report. Mathias declined comment.

One of those convicted in Abscam was Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., who resigned from the Senate under threat of expulsion last March. Williams' resignation led to creation of the special committee to investigate the way the FBI handled the investigation.

Others convicted in the Abscam probe were former Reps. John Murphy, D-N.Y.; Michael Myers, D-Pa.; Frank Thompson, D-N.J.; Raymond Lederer, D-Pa.; Richard Kelly, R-Fla., and John Jenrette, D-S.C.

Lennon's Death Is Noted

NEW YORK (UPI) — A flurry of publicity surrounding Yoko Ono on today's second anniversary of John Lennon's shooting death is not intended to exploit her husband's fame, a spokesman for the Japanese singer-artist says.

During the week of the anniversary Miss Ono has emerged from her reclusive life in the Dakota apartments, the fortress-like building near Central Park where Mark David Chapman stunned the world by killing Lennon Dec. 8, 1980.

Early today, ABC-TV's "Last Word" program broadcast a videotape of Miss Ono and her son thanking those who wished them good fortune.

Controversy Continues

Cameras Are Not In Every Courtroom

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — It's been close to two months since a two-year experiment permitting cameras in North Carolina courtrooms was scheduled to begin. But, there has yet to be the first photograph or broadcast coverage of a trial.

Courtrooms were opened to photographers Oct. 18 but two restrictions placed on camera coverage have proven to be a stumbling block although media representatives are working with the judiciary to clear the way.

One of the problems is the creation in each county of a media committee to handle coverage arrangements. The other problem, which is the more troublesome to solve, is the state Supreme Court's requirement that cameras be placed behind partitions or in booths so no one in the courtroom can see or hear them.

In January 1981, the U.S. Supreme Court unanimously ruled states may allow televised criminal proceedings without violating a defendant's right to a free trial.

The ruling came on a challenge to Florida's practice of permitting television and still photography in the courtroom. Florida experimented with the policy beginning in July 1977 and, two years later, it was approved for general use by the Florida Supreme Court.

The North Carolina Supreme Court agreed to the experiment following a request by the North Carolina Press Association, the North Carolina Association of Broadcasters and the Radio-Television News Directors Association of the Carolinas.

North Carolina and Florida currently are the only Southern states permitting cameras in courtrooms.

"We believe that this experiment will further educate the public on the so-called mystique of the courtrooms," said Ben Waters of Capitol Broadcasting Co., who has been involved with the cameras in the courtroom issue for several years. "The judicial branch of our government is the last portion to be opened up to the electronic media; the legislative branch and executive branch have already done so."

"We are mindful of the importance of fair trials but we are also aware of all the studies that have been done in states that have cameras in the courtroom that have shown this right to a fair trial has not been impaired."

Waters, representing the news directors association, and attorneys for the state broadcaster and press groups, are working with Superior Court Judge James H. Pau Bailey of Raleigh on plans for a camera booth. Bailey has been a longtime supporter of cameras in the courtroom.

Bailey has approved sketches of a booth and a carpenter for WRAL-TV in Raleigh is building a prototype, which will be portable and will fit over courtroom benches.

Waters said media members decided to go with a portable booth instead of trying to construct more permanent booths in courtrooms throughout the state. The state Supreme Court has said the cost of the booths must be paid by the news media.

"No two courtrooms are alike which is part of the problem in coming up with a booth," Waters said. "We have to be very conscious of the fire codes and not block egress and ingress."

"The one thing common in most courtrooms is that they have benches for the audience to sit in. What we have come up with is something that can be put on the back two rows."

Glenn Hargett of WJNC Radio in Jacksonville, president of the news directors organization, said media groups are concentrating their efforts in Raleigh and Wake County because of Bailey's willingness to help them come up with something that will meet the requirements set down by the Supreme Court.

"The thought process is not to try to get cameras in courtrooms all over the state," he said. "Rather we want to approach it by saying 'Let's see what works in one county and then expand from that county to other counties."

But one constitutional law expert believes the major problem in the experiment is not the booth, William W. VanAlstyne, a Duke University law professor, told last month's meeting of the North Carolina Bar he believes the experiment violates the equal protection clause of the Constitution.

The state Supreme Court, while agreeing to allow coverage of some trials, prohibited coverage of adoption, juvenile, child custody, divorce, probable cause and alimony cases. Also barred are proceedings before clerks of courts and magistrates, hearings of motions to suppress evidence and proceedings that involve trade secrets.

The court also refused to allow photographic coverage of testimony by police informants, minors, undercover agents, relocated witnesses and victims and families of victims of sex crimes.

VanAlstyne said the U.S. Supreme Court struck down a Massachusetts law that closed courtrooms during certain types of testimony.

The state Supreme Court recently revised its directive, agreeing to permit cameras in appellate hearings without requiring them to be in a booth.

In Cuban Libraries

Documents On Florida's Early History Are Found

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Documents that will enhance accounts of Florida's early history have been discovered in Cuban libraries by University of Florida researchers.

Historian Bruce Chappel and archaeologist Kathleen Deagan traveled to Havana late last month to begin poring over Cuban archives. They also visited a small village that was the site of "New St. Augustine," where the residents of St. Augustine fled after Florida was deeded to the British in 1764.

"We know what's available in Florida and Spain, but Cuba's been an unknown, since we've never had an opportunity to make a survey to see what's available on Florida down there," Chappel said Monday. "It's been a tremendous step forward finding out what's down there and, just as importantly, what's not there." Chappel said UF historians are especially fascinated by Cuban historical archives because of the university's massive collection of Spanish-era documents — the world's largest such collection with more than 2 million pages.

"Cuba was Florida's link to the outside world and the more we know about the people in Cuba, the more we can interpret about Florida," Ms. Deagan said. "It will help us place what has been dug up in Florida into the larger context of the Caribbean."

The trip was approved by governments of Cuba and the United States.

The researchers praised the Cuban librarians and archivists who helped track down the old records.

"I've never met a more cooperative atmosphere," Chappel said. "I've never learned so much in so short a time."

The investigators called for further cooperation between universities in the United States and Cuba in historical research.

"They don't know what we're doing and we don't know what they're doing," Ms. Deagan said.

Chappel said religious records of the Louisiana Infantry Regiment, stationed in Spanish West Florida between 1787 and 1821, are in Cuba. The records contain personal information such as marriages and deaths of the soldiers and their families.

"A number of historians have been interested in finding this material," Chappel said. "They had it out on a table when I walked in."

Brothel Open House For Women

BATTLE MOUNTAIN, Nev. (UPI) — A brothel madam threw a champagne "open house," for women only so they could see what it was like inside a bawdy house.

"I wanted to do it for the ladies because they always ask me what it's like in here," Julie Hickman, a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club, Chamber of Commerce and the Humane Society, said after the bash. "It's the biggest party I've ever had. I got five cases of champagne."

Ms. Hickman, operator of the Calico Club, invited about 300 women from Battle Mountain and neighboring towns.

The women tried on the latest styles at a fashion show and talked with the six prostitutes who worked for Ms. Hickman.

High-Tech Jobs Plenty

ATLANTA (UPI) — If you're in school or stuck in a dead-end job and want a career with a solid future, think about jobs in high-technology.

Workers in the high-technology field — particularly computers — are going to be in demand in the future, said Les Janis, director of the Georgia Career Information System at Georgia State University.

A recent Georgia Tech study estimated 220,000 new jobs will be created by high-technology industries in Georgia in the next 20 years.

Along with computers, those high-technology industries include communications, aviation, fiber-laser optics and medical technology.

Jobs in these fields aren't all engineering or technical in nature.

Janis said. Like any other business, high-tech firms need accountants, sales staffs and management personnel.

Despite the increasing use of packaged programs, computer programmers will be in demand in the future, Janis said, especially to help link computer systems using different languages.

According to a companion study by the University of Georgia, the demand for workers in traditional manufacturing industries like textiles, apparel and paper will decline in the next decade. The study also reported that more manufacturing industries are applying advanced technology to their operations.

This means the jobs of the future will require workers with the mathematics, science and communications skills to work with computers and sophisticated office equipment. These skills will be needed by all workers, whether professional or blue-collar, Janis said.

In considering jobs with a future, it's often important to make an early career decision. Students headed to four-year colleges can usually wait to make career decision because the first two years of most college programs are general foundation courses, Janis said.

But Janis said students headed for technical jobs need to make career decisions in high school.

Doctors Warn Dieters

Starch Blockers Don't Cut It

BOSTON (UPI) — Starch blockers that blitzed the market promising weight loss without dieting or exercise, do nothing to keep the flab off and may be harmful, a study published today said.

"We conclude starch-blocker tablets do not inhibit the digestion and absorption of starch calories in human beings," doctors said in the New England Journal of Medicine.

An accompanying editorial, however, said the long-term effectiveness of the starch-blockers, "although highly unlikely," has not been disproved by the study, which focused on the immediate effects of the product.

"What is clear, however, is there are no clinical studies that establish the effectiveness or indeed the safety," of the products, said Dr. Irwin H. Rosenberg of Chicago.

The researchers said the blockers failed because the pancreas probably secretes many more times the amount of the enzyme that digests starch than is needed for the digestive process.

The results were based on a study of five people who were fed precise amounts of spaghetti, bread and butter. One day the subjects took three starch blockers with their meal and another day they took a placebo.

More than 200 million starch blockers hit the shelves of health food stores and drug stores in a two-year period and were taken at an estimated rate of 1 million tablets daily before the Food and Drug Administration ordered them off the market in July, Rosenberg said.

The FDA classified the diet aids as drugs whose safety and effectiveness must be proved and ordered them removed after an increasing number of reports linked them to nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, stomach pains and excess gas.

The blockers, made from plant foods such as kidney beans and wheat, have been recognized since 1943 to contain a substance that prevents enzymes from digesting starch.

Previous laboratory experiments had found rats taking starch blockers excreted more starch and gained less weight. Human experiments had suggested they blocked the digestion of starch.

But the most recent round of tests conflicted with the original findings.

Officials in five states Sept. 30, seized more than 1 million of the diet pills.

Hawaiian Storm Tosses Around Big Names At Baseball Talks; Garvey To Cubs?

HONOLULU (UPI)—Generally on the Hawaiian Islands there is a calm period before a storm.

If that's the case, the tranquility of the baseball meetings is about to be disrupted.

George Steinbrenner, baseball's hurricane, has arrived.

The principal owner of the New York Yankees blew into town late Tuesday night and he's expected to start things stirring on both the free-agent and trading fronts.

So far there has been only one trade and one minor free-agent signing since the meetings began Sunday.

But, the unresolved status of free-agents Steve Garvey, Floyd Bannister and Steve Kemp have stalled several potential trades from being made, and Steinbrenner is a key figure in negotiations with all three players.

He met with Garvey's agent, Jerry Kapstein, at the airport in Los Angeles Tuesday before flying to Honolulu and is expected to talk to Bannister's agent, Tom Reich, today.

"I had a good meeting with Kapstein, that's all I can say," said Steinbrenner. A report began circulating late

Baseball

Tuesday night Garvey had decided to sign with the Chicago Cubs but Kapstein, contacted in Los Angeles, denied it.

"No agreement has been reached," said Kapstein.

Kapstein said five clubs were still in contention for Garvey.

Bannister is said to be leaning toward signing with Philadelphia so he can play on the same team as his boyhood idol, Steve Carlton.

However, it is believed Steinbrenner will make one final pitch to land the American League strikeout king with a financial offer the 27-year-old lefthander may find difficult to refuse.

Steinbrenner also is interested in Kemp but the Baltimore Orioles are in the running, too, for the All-Star outfielder.

There are plenty of potential trades in the talking stages, but some of them hinge on the signing of the three prize free agents.

Baltimore, for example, is interested in obtaining shortstop Alfredo Griffin from Toronto but the Blue Jays have asked for outfielder Gary Roenicke in the deal. The Orioles would be reluctant to trade Roenicke unless they could replace him with Kemp.

If the Yankees could sign Bannister, it would free them to trade one of their pitchers, such as Ron Guidry, for a powerhitting third baseman, such as Atlanta's Bob Horner.

Atlanta Manager Joe Torre said Tuesday Horner would be traded only if the Braves could get a quality starting pitcher and an everyday player in exchange. "I think there's a chance we will move him, but we didn't come here with that in mind," said Torre.

All-Stars Buddy Bell and Jim Sundberg of the Texas Rangers also have been the subjects of much trade talk. Several clubs are interested in Bell, but the Rangers are trying to encourage all teams looking for a third baseman to take Larry Parrish instead.

The Dodgers are interested in Sundberg but their offer of pitcher Burt Hooton and another player for the talented catcher was turned down.

Evans Demolishes Seminoles, 75-41

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Editor

Evans High's Trojans came into the Seminole High gym Tuesday night as the 10th ranked 4A team in the state. After 32 minutes of basketball action, however, maybe the zero should be dropped from that number.

Shooting a sizzling 62 percent, coach Dick Hulet's Orlando crew demolished Seminole, 75-41, to improve to 2-0 for the season. Seminole, 1-2, travels to Daytona Beach Friday for a Five Star Conference opener game with Mainland.

"The way they shot tonight, Evans would have beaten (number-one ranked) Stuart Martin County," said Seminole coach Chris Marlette who saw Martin beat Vanguard last Saturday. "And every shot we missed, they cleared the boards."

And the 'Noles did miss a few. After hitting a fair 5 of 13 in the first quarter, the Tribe went 3 of 15, 6 of 17 and 4 of 14. Which is barely 31 percent. Evans, meanwhile, connected on 33 of 53 field goals.

The Trojans bolted to a 14-5 lead behind the excellent shooting of seniors Cleve Williams and Tony Flunker. Seminole point guard Vernon Law hit two nice jumpers to pull Sanford within 16-11 at the end of the quarter.

Flunker and Law traded baskets to open the second quarter before Evans ran off 13 straight points — eight on smooth jumpers by Williams — to take a 29-13 lead.

Sophomore James Rouse and Steve Grey countered for the 'Noles, but Flunker hit an eight footer in the paint and 6-6 John Hadley converted a three-point play with just two seconds left to give the Trojans a 34-17 halftime bulge.

Flunker had 13 points and Williams had six jumpers without a miss as Evans shot a crisp 64 percent on 16 of 25 buckets. Law had six as the 'Noles converted just 8 of 28.

"We were scared coming in here," said Hulet after the game. "I saw Sanford play against Boone and they looked pretty good. We had to do two things to beat them. Play good defense and execute well on offense."

Evans did both. Point guard Joe Wright moved the ball wherever he wanted on offense, setting up easy jumpers for Flunker and Williams. Defensively, Seminole's zone offense was forced to set up too far out. Most of the Tribe shots were rushed or forced.

"Joe Wright is like a fourth coach on the floor," continued Hulet. "He's the one that orchestrated the offense."

After William Wynn dropped in a bucket to open the second half, the Trojans turned the game into a fiasco by hitting 14 unanswered points.

Darryl Wesley, Evans' 6-8 center who didn't start, had a field day in the second half, slamming home three dunks which kept the game interesting despite the score.

Flunker, Evans' best player, had a spectacular twisting lay up and also went up by the rim for a nice tip in the third quarter.

"I was really pleased with Wesley's play," said Hulet about his senior's 14 points. "He finally woke up." Flunker led all scorers with 17 while Williams added 16.

Willie Mitchell was the only Seminole in double figures with 11 points. He, Wynn and Jimmy Gilchrist each collected five rebounds. Law had six assists.

"We got beat on the boards for the third straight game," said Marlette. "We're 6-1 (Wynn), 6-2 (Mitchell) and 6-3 (Gilchrist). We just aren't rebounding with these bigger teams."

"I don't know what the answer is. We drill and drill and drill on it in practice, but we can't do it in the game," he added.

In the junior varsity game, a cold spell in the last five minutes cost coach Tom Smith's Tribe a 55-45 decision to Evans.

The 'Noles led, 34-28, at halftime and trailed just 47-44 with five minutes remaining before going scoreless until the last 26 seconds.

Seminole, 1-2, got 18 points and nine rebounds from Kenny Gordon and eight assists from Sam Redding. Terry Marshall had nine points.

TEPEE TALK — Torie Hendricks, who started half of the time last year, is working out with the team and could be back in uniform by Friday.

Hendricks, a 6-4 shooter and leaper, was suspended prior to the season when he missed the jamboree. He is a senior.

Foul-Plagued Rams Lose First

By CHRIS FISTER
Herald Sports Writer

Usually, when someone whistles at the Lady Rams of Lake Mary, it's meant as a compliment — up until Tuesday night, that is.

The Rams were going for their fifth straight victory against Winter Park's Wildcats but the referee's whistle did Lake Mary in as Winter Park claimed a 63-57 victory at Lake Mary.

Laura Glass, Kim Averill and Michelle Swartz, all starters, picked up three fouls in the first half and Peggy Glass picked up her third just seconds into the second half. Even though they were plagued by foul trouble the entire night, the Rams battled the Wildcats until the final buzzer.

At 4:11 in the first quarter, Lake Mary committed its fifth team foul, sending Winter Park into the bonus for the remainder of the half.

But, the heads-up play of Lisa Gregory and Kim Averill enabled the Lady Rams to build a 21-13 lead as the first quarter ended. Averill scored six points in the quarter while Gregory added two points and dealt out three assists.

With less than five minutes remaining in the first half, Lake Mary took a 27-18 lead as Gregory fed Swartz for two points. Then, the foul trouble began to take its toll. At 5:10 in the second quarter, Laura Glass picked up her third foul and got long after Swartz was whistled for her third.

In a four minute span, Winter Park scored the Rams, 12-2 to take a 30-29 lead with 55 seconds until halftime. Lake Mary came back to take a 33-32 halftime lead on Gregory's jumper.

In the first four minutes of the second half, the Wildcats outscored the Rams, 8-4, to take a 41-37 lead. A jumper by Averill cut Winter Park's lead to two points but Swartz picked up her fourth foul moments later.

Down 45-41, the Rams reeled off eight straight points to take a 49-45 lead and Lake Mary led 49-47 going into the fourth quarter.

At 4:45 in the fourth quarter, Winter Park's Felisha Johnson hit a jumper that tied the game at 53-53. From that moment on, the Wildcats outscored Lake Mary, 10-4, eight of those points coming on free throws.

With the score tied at 55-55, Swartz was whistled for her fifth foul and with 1:58 remaining Winter Park started a string of eight straight free throws. Although Swartz fouled out, the referees did not notice it until about 30 seconds later when they called yet another foul on the Rams.

Lake Mary was led by Laura Glass' 15 points and seven rebounds while Peggy Glass added 13 points and five rebounds and Averill chipped in 12 points and five assists.

Winter Park's Johnson led all scorers with 17 points while Nina Tobin added 16 and Lori Spalding and Lourie Cristen had 10 points apiece.

The Lady Rams, 4-1, will host Lake Howell on Friday night. Lake Howell is 3-0.

In junior varsity action Tuesday night, three Lake Mary players scored in double figures as the Rams held off the Wildcats, 42-36.

Tasha Coleman led the Rams with 12 points while Lisa Simpkins and Becky Bellows had 10 points apiece. The JVs are 3-2.

Ole Miss Holds Off UAB, 66-54

United Press International
There was one game on Mississippi's 1982 basketball schedule that Coach Lee Hunt wanted to win very badly.

That was Alabama-Birmingham, coached by Hunt's old boss, Gene Bartow, who also had some desires along the victory line.

"We both had mixed emotions going into the game," said Hunt, "but I'll tell you one thing, I really wanted to win very badly."

And he did.
Ole Miss won 66-54 in one of three games involving Southeastern Conference teams.

Cleveland's 31 Points Ground Silver Hawks; Patriots Edge Apopka

By BRENTSMARTT
Herald Sports Writer

Whenever you hear, "It wasn't as bad as the final score shows," as you often do, you know one team got hammered.

Well, as Lyman whipped Lake Howell, 88-60, to open the Five Star Conference season in the Howell gym, the score showed the Silver Hawks did get crushed, but it truly wasn't that bad.

It wasn't until the final period in this sloppy, foul-plagued affair that the 'Hounds took a commanding lead.

The Hawks, 0-3, played an inspired game through three quarters, only to have experience and fatigue cause the bottom to fall out in the fourth quarter.

Lyman got out early in the initial stanza taking a 12-2 edge on cold Howell shooting. Mike McKnight caught fire late in the period to pump in eight unanswered points, drawing coach Greg Robinson's crew close at 16-13 at the period's end.

The second quarter was played at an even pace, with guard Alexis Cleveland carrying the 'Hounds to a 36-33 intermission edge. Cleveland scored 13 in the foul-oriented quarter.

After the break, both squads showed impressive running games as Lyman maintained a steady four-point edge. In the final minutes of the period Howell began to falter as Lyman took a 57-50 margin into the final stanza.

The fourth period told the tale as Lake Howell's forces grew tired and began to lose their composure as the wheels began to come off.

Cleveland, who would finish with 31 points, didn't help the Hawks as he cranked up the Greyhound running game to develop a 72-55 bulge midway through. The rout took total form as the Lyman subs outmanned the Silver Hawk's replacements to run up the score and run out the clock.

Greyhound coach Tom Lawrence praised his backcourt in victory. "All five guards did a real good job for the first game," he said. As for the 'Hounds hopes in the upcoming conference race Lawrence replied, "It's gonna be awful tough to stay in this conference (5-STAR) this year."

"If we are to compete we've got to get much stronger on the boards," Lawrence added.

Howell coach Greg Robinson was optimistic in defeat. "We're coming along. We're getting the program back where it belongs."

As for the rout Robinson said, "Inexperience and fatigue will do it to you every time."

In the junior varsity contest Scott Anderton's steal and layup at the overtime buffer gave the Silver Hawks a 49-47 triumph.

Walter Bohannon (15) and Anderton (10) topped Howell's scoring while Neal led Lyman with 12.

Lake Brantley's surprising Patriot won their third straight game Tuesday night, nipping Apopka, 58-55, at Apopka in Five Star Conference basketball action.

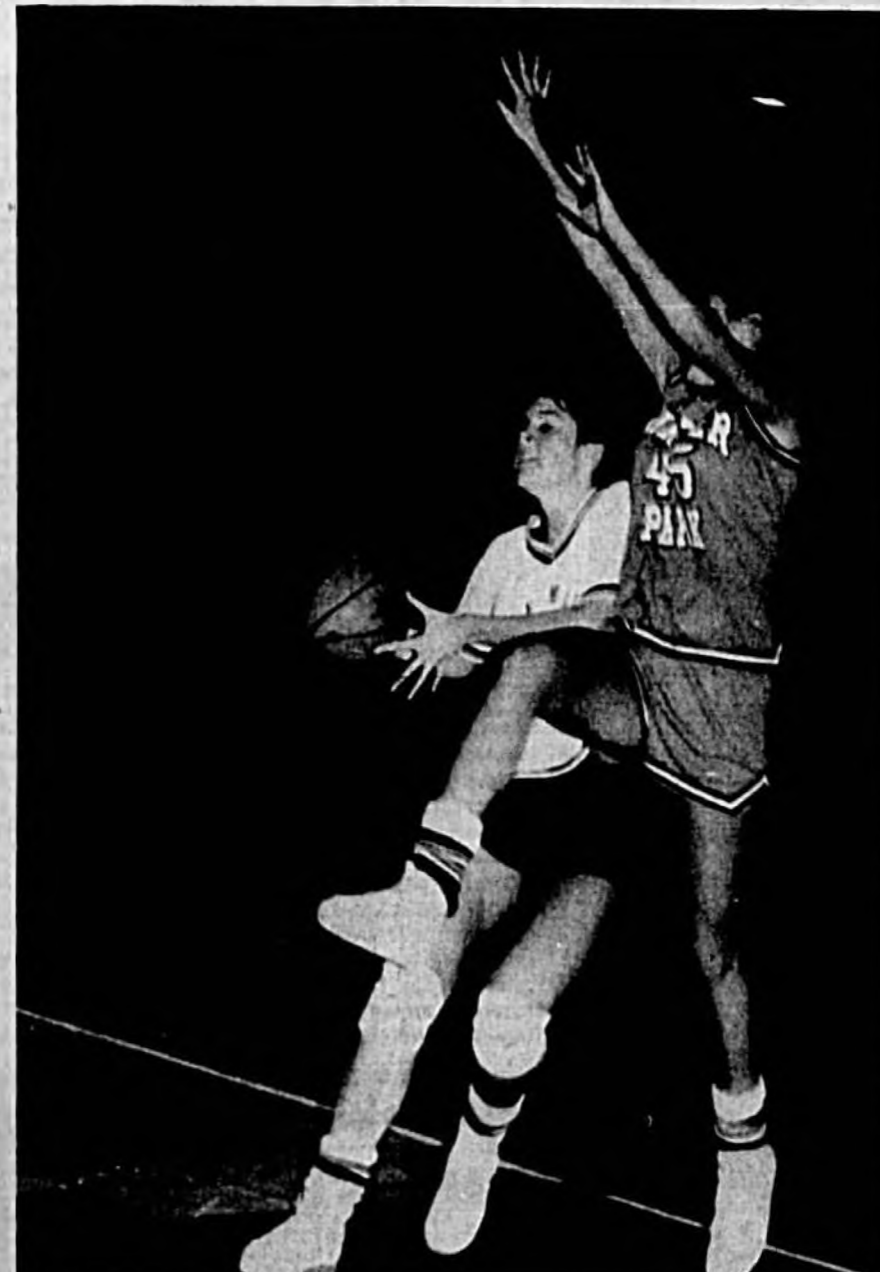

Paul Hoffman and Eric Trombo combined for 41 points as Brantley forged a 28-26 halftime lead and then added another point to its margin in the second half.

"Apopka was very physical, but we hit our free throws which made the difference," said coach Bob Peterson.

Tonight

BASKETBALL

5 p.m.
Crooks vs. Lake Brantley at SCC
Coach John McNamara's Crooks Panthers go after their 40th straight win tonight against the Patriots. Lake Brantley, 4-1, suffered its only loss to Crooks earlier this year in Lake Brantley's Round Robin Tournament.

Crooks, 6-0 is led by Robert Hill, Michael Wright and Daryl Williams. Hill is a good scorer and usually top rebounder. Wright does a little of everything and Williams is a solid point guard.

The game precedes the Seminole Community College Indian River matchup.

7:30 p.m.
Indian River at Seminole Community College

Coach Bill Payne's Riders are on a tear after winning two straight, the last one an impressive 15 point victory over the state's seventh ranked Florida College Falcons on Monday.

Tonight, SCC finds out if it is for real against the number one ranked Indian River. The Fort Pierce school claimed a one-point victory two weeks ago on a 40 foot miracle shot at the buzzer.

Rudy Kuiper, SCC's 6-10 center from Arnhem, Holland, is coming off his best game. Kuiper, a gifted shooter, popped in 24 points against Florida College on 14 22 floor shots.

He is joined in the starting lineup by guards Jimmy Payton and Keith Whitney along with forwards Ricky Sutton and Delvin Everett.

Payton, shaking off the effects on a knee injury, scored 17 points Monday including a perfect 3 of 3 from the three point range. Everett, a 6-5 forward from Apopka, added 13 points.

Seminole is 5-3 and Indian River is 9-1.

WRESTLING

8 p.m.
Lake Mary at Daytona Beach Mainland

Coach Frank Schwarz's Rams go after their third straight win tonight against Mainland. The Rams have beaten Leesburg (6-0) and Lake Brantley (4-2-0). Ivan Carbia (100), Jack Likens (107), Jeff Farron Carbia (134), Bob Olson (140), Brent Blakely (157), Ned Kolbjornsen (187) and unlimited Robert Rawls are all unbeaten. Lake Mary battles Seminole Friday and New Smyrna Beach Saturday.

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Burger King Banquet Slated For Westmonte

Burger King restaurants will honor the county football teams with a hamburger banquet tonight at 6 at the Westmonte Recreation Center in Altamonte Springs.

Players from Seminole, Lyman, Oviedo, Lake Howell and Lake Brantley will receive their Player of the Week awards. A defensive and offensive Player of the Year and a Coach of the Year will also be honored.

Tuskawilla Clinches Title

The Tuskawilla Golden Warriors clinched the SYSA Mitey Mite championship by upending Tuskawilla Blue and Rock Lake in the final two games of the season.

Two touchdown runs by quarterback Todd Carlson enabled the Golden Warriors to slip by Tuskawilla Blue, 13-7. Touchdown runs by Rafael Valle, Chris Kezsel and Chuck Read boosted the Warriors over Rock Lake. Kezsel also kicked two extra points and Carlson booted one against Rock Lake.

The Mitey Mite champion Tuskawilla Golden Warriors are coached by Randy Ferdon and the team consists of: Carlson, Valle, Kezsel, Read, Mark Brown, Larry Allen, Chad Ferdon, Jonathan Machules, Joe Justice, Billy Collabelli, Chris Mirante, Kenny Spearman, Brian Wilkes, Chad Wilkes, Kyle Mason, Danny Lunsford, Robby Wilson, Jimmy Kokesynski, Zhon Lautenback, Danny Koleski, Dawson Brinkley, Brian Ensig, Larry Kaehler, Steve Wilkes, Jeremy Russell and Jason Boaz.

Speedway Races Christmas

NEW SMYRNA BEACH — At a recent drivers' meeting preceding the regular Saturday night stock car racing program at New Smyrna Speedway, the drivers, almost unanimously, voted to race on Saturday December 25, Christmas Day.

Also, because of the publicized "We race every Saturday night, 52 weeks a year," slogan which has also been incorporated in the speedway logo, numerous inquiries from out-of-state fans and racers alike have prompted the New Smyrna Speedway Corporation to schedule a regular Christmas Day racing program featuring the super late-models, thunder cars, street stocks, four cylinders and spectator races.

The usual time schedule will prevail, with time trials slated for 7:15 p.m. and race time set for 8:00 p.m.

The next major event at the high banked half-mile oval will be the 17th Annual World Series of Asphalt Stock Car Racing which will take place on nine consecutive nights, starting on Friday, February 11, 1983 and concluding on Saturday, February 19, the night before the 25th annual Daytona 500 Winston Cup Grand National race.

As in previous years, the late-models, open-wheel modifieds and the thunder cars will be the featured divisions of racing. New Englander Ben Dodge Jr. will also return as chief announcer for the $125,000 Series.

Defending champions Dick Trickle (late model) and Greg "Superman" Sacks (modified) have already sent in their entries.

Prospective entrants are reminded that in order to qualify for the nightly $25 bonus for taking the green flag in the main, invited drivers along with a $25 check or money order must be postmarked by January first. Early entrants also qualify for 50 extra points awarded to the car each night of the series.

NFL Players Vote Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — NFL players are to vote today on the tentative contract that ended the 57-day pro football strike.

Ed Garvey, executive director of the NFL Players Association, said the union's 1,500 members will vote by signed ballot.

Player representatives from each of the NFL's 28 clubs will report the results of the voting to NFLPA headquarters in Washington.

"We'll give them until 6 o'clock California time to call," Garvey said Tuesday. "That's 9 o'clock Eastern time."

Garvey refused to predict the outcome of the voting.

The player representatives voted, 19-9, during the weekend to recommend ratification of the pact, reported to be worth $1.6 billion over four years.

NFL Management Council spokesman Jim Miller said in New York. "We're optimistic. Since the player reps voted for it, it indicates the players will vote for it."

Baltimore Colts' player representative Mike Ozdowski said, "It's not what we set out to get, but it's definitely a major improvement over what we had at the start of the negotiating process. Both sides made major concessions."

Nordiques Rip Bruins, 10-6

United Press International

Quebec Coach Michel Bergeron was "satisfied" with the play of his Nordiques Tuesday night. It's hard to figure what would have made him excited.

"To score 10 goals against the best defensive team in the league is satisfying," Bergeron said, after Marian Stastny had two goals and added three assists and Reul Cloutier struck for three goals at Quebec to lead the Nordiques to a 10-6 victory over the Boston Bruins.

"Although the score was 10-6, we played a disciplined style, except for a short span in the second period," said Bergeron. "I think a lot of the goals in the second period were lucky ones."

Andre Dupont opened the scoring at 1:50 of the first period with a backhander. Cloutier's power-play goal made it 2-0 before Boston's Mike Krushelnyski cut the gap to 2-1 to end the first-period scoring.

In the wild second period, Quebec outscored the Bruins and took an 8-6 lead. The Bruins hit the post twice before Rick Middleton tied the score at 1:29.

The Bruins then replaced goal-tender Pete Posters with Mike Moffatt.

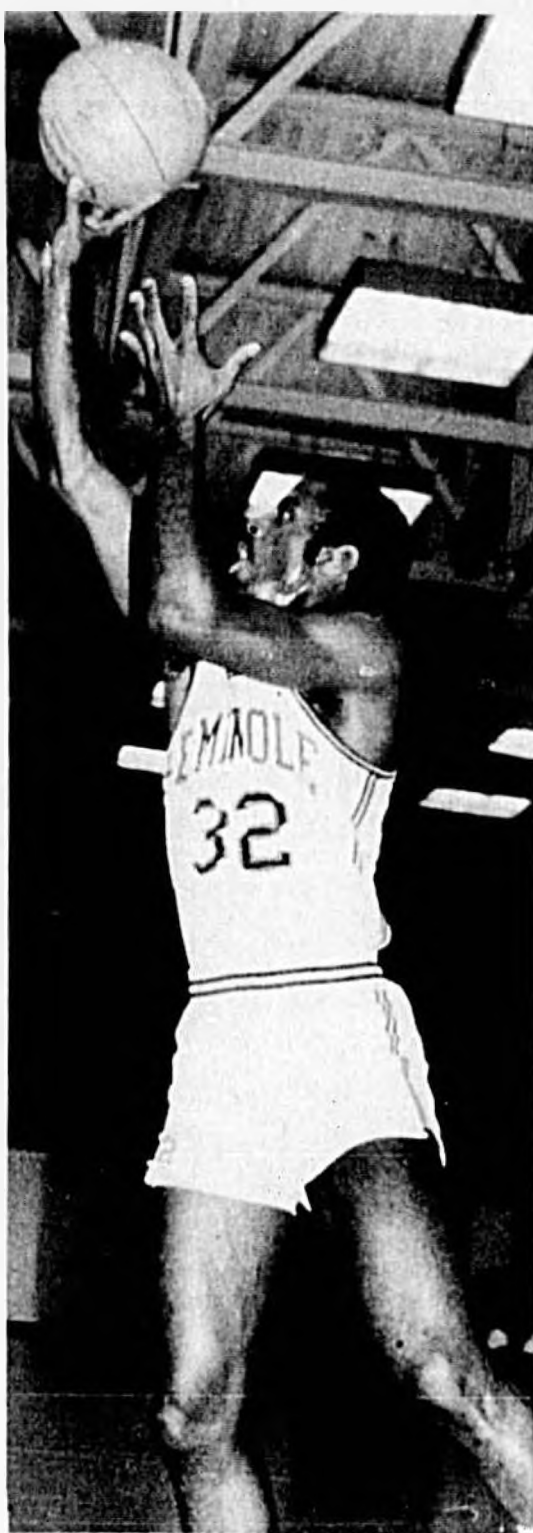

Less than a minute later, Cloutier greeted him with his 12th goal. The Bruins' Keith Crowder made it 6-3 but Marian Stastny regained Quebec's four-goal lead. Crowder scored his second goal of the game, but Quebec's Dale Hunter replied to cap the second period. Anton Stastny opened the third period with a goal at 8:28 before Cloutier, with his third goal of the game, pushed the final score to 10-6.

In other games, the New York Islanders defeated Toronto, 6-3, Washington and Winnipeg tied, 3-3, Edmonton nipped St. Louis, 3-2, and Los Angeles and Calgary tied, at 4-4.

THE GLIDER

Ricky Sutton, Seminole Community College forward, glides toward two points against Polk Community College. The Raiders, 5-3, take on the state's number-one ranked team, Indian River, tonight at 7:30 at SCC. Indian River nipped Seminole earlier this year on a 40-foot shot at the buzzer. The Raiders have won two straight. Center Rudy Kuiper scored 34 points in a convincing win over Florida College Monday.

DePaul Drops Another 1

United Press International

It's a long way from March and DePaul has already lost two games.

In the past three seasons, the Blue Demons entered the NCAA Tournament with just one loss during the regular season. They were then unceremoniously eliminated in successive years by UCLA, St. Joseph's and Boston College.

Tuesday night in Normal, Ill., things were decidedly abnormal for No. 20 DePaul. The Blue Demons lost, 76-62, to Illinois State to fall to 3-2. Their previous loss was to UCLA.

"This may be the greatest thing for us to play in a place like this, in front of a crowd like this," said DePaul Coach Ray Meyer. "Our shots were very disappointing. We panicked, our shot selection was very poor."

The Blue Demons hit just 43 percent from the floor. Illinois State, behind 23 points and 11 rebounds from Rick Lamb, shot 58 percent, including 68 percent in the second half.

The Redbirds are 4-0 and figure to be a power in the Missouri Valley Conference.

"Obviously, we're shooting toward our league and winning it," Illinois State Coach Bob Donewald said. "Of course, it's an honor to even coach on the same floor as Ray Meyer and to beat any of his teams is an achievement."

Before a sellout crowd of 8,068, Illinois State moved ahead for good, 58-56, on a basket by Raymond Malaine with 3:15 remaining. The Redbirds then sank 12 free throws in the final 2 1/2 minutes to pull away. Kenny Patterson scored 14 points and Bernard Randolph added 13 for DePaul.

Elsewhere in the Top 20, No. 2 Kentucky routed Detroit, 83-46, and No. 7 Indiana beat Notre Dame, 68-52.

At Lexington, Ky., Melvin Turpin scored 20 points and Dirk Minnifield had 7 rebounds and 8 assists in Kentucky's laughter over Detroit.

At South Bend, Ind., Steve Bouche scored 19 points and provided strong work on the offensive boards as Indiana extended its record to 4-0. The Irish have lost to Kentucky, UCLA and Indiana in the span of a week.

In other games, John Torns scored 17 points as Wake Forest rolled past Davidson, 81-62; Carlos Clark, recovering from September knee surgery, scored 18 points as Mississippi dropped Alabama-Birmingham, 66-54; West Virginia hiked its record to 4-0 as Greg Jones scored 17 points in a 65-51 victory over William & Mary, and James Stern's 22 points carried unbeaten Baylor to its fifth victory in a row with a 58-55 decision over Oral Roberts.

Pete DeBisschop and Tony George each struck for 28 points to lift Fairfield over Connecticut, 98-81; Jeff Turner scored 14 points as Vanderbilt outclassed St. Louis, 88-67; Mark West had 17 points and 14 rebounds in Old Dominion's 71-45 romp over Virginia Military; Princeton stopped Fordham, 69-54, behind 16 points each by Rick Stimus and Gordon Enderle; Kenny Austin's 22 points and 12 rebounds sent Rice over Texas Southern, 88-66; South Alabama blasted Florida International, 120-73, with Terry Cattledge scoring 26 points; Texas Christian hit its free throws in the last half minute to beat North Texas State, 64-58, and Oklahoma State defeated Tulsa, 93-75.

Kuhn Continues To Fight Dismissal

HONOLULU (UPI) — Bowie Kuhn has no intention of quitting. No, he won't go. He sees no reason to do it.

He has said he enjoys a good fight and he's certainly proving it by the way he's standing fast and refusing to bow out any of the many times he could've since falling to muster enough votes for reelection as baseball commissioner in Chicago last Nov. 1.

Kuhn's contract expires in August and it is conceivable he may not give up his job until then, by continuing to resist the efforts of those who want him out, not tomorrow but yesterday.

Realistically, however, and because the executive council eventually may feel itself forced to ask him to step down, it isn't likely Kuhn will remain in office that long, determined as he seems to do so.

He delivered a speech Monday he customarily makes at the beginning of the baseball meetings every year and it was an unusually emotional one, especially for him, a man generally perceived to be characteristically unemotional during his 14 years as commissioner.

Traditionally, whenever Kuhn addresses the baseball people as he did before Monday's major league draft, his remarks are more in the nature of a State of the Union message touching on the economic health of baseball. "I think it's commonly known as 'Bowie's Poor-Mouth Speech,'" he said, joking about it.

Milton Richman
UPI Sports Editor

He talked of many of the things he loves about the game, and many of the people in it he is fond of, and although he gave no hint he was quitting and told an anecdote in which the late Walter O'Malley assured him he could continue to lead baseball providing he had enough faith, most of those who heard what he had to say were left with the impression it was meant to be his farewell speech.

"That's what I thought it was," said twins' owner Calvin Griffith, one of Kuhn's biggest boosters. "He just told the truth about a lot of things and I thought it was an outstanding speech."

Asked if he thought the speech was Kuhn's way of bidding all those in baseball goodbye, the Astros' Al Rosen said, "It sounded that way. I thought it was a very fine speech, an exhilarating speech."

Listening carefully to Kuhn, Harding Peterson, the Pirates' general manager, felt the same way as Rosen did.

"I think he was trying to say 'aloha' and 'mahalo' at the same time," Peterson interpreted Kuhn's comments. When Hawaiians say "aloha," they use

Spurs Sting Mavericks

San Antonio Coach Stan Albeck tried to strip the "expansion team" label off the Dallas Mavericks, but Dallas Coach Dick Motta glued it right back on.

"They (Dallas) have a very good basketball team," said Albeck after the Spurs beat the Mavericks, 106-92, Tuesday night. "I think the time has passed you can call Dallas an expansion team."

Not so fast.

"Tonight we played like an expansion team," Motta said. "All the turnovers made us look very young...."

Mike Mitchell and Bill Willoughby scored 8 points each in the fourth quarter and George Gervin scored 26 points to spark San Antonio.

"It was good to see Willoughby play a good game tonight," Albeck said of the reserve forward who scored a season-high 14 points and had six rebounds and a blocked shot while the Spurs out-rebounded Dallas, 50-41, including 30-14 in the first half.

"I shot the ball good tonight, but when I'm open I've got to take the shot," Willoughby said. "We crashed the boards better tonight."

Mitchell scored 4 points during a 6-0 San Antonio streak to put the Spurs up, 87-75, and the Mavericks never came closer than eight thereafter.

Gervin scored 14 points on the third quarter to put San Antonio up, 79-70, but the Mavericks scored the first 5 points of the final period to close to 81-75 before the Spurs broke it open.

In other NBA games, Chicago downed New York, 91-85, Atlanta toppled Cleveland, 102-90, Seattle defeated Houston, 107-88, Portland downed Utah, 137-121, and Golden State topped San Diego, 121-114.

was in poor condition in intensive care, an Anderson Memorial Hospital spokeswoman said today.

Michael Jerome Austin, 28, underwent more than an hour of surgery Tuesday at the hospital for a wound slightly above his heart.

Police said Austin, a native of Orlando, Fla., was shot with a .22-caliber pistol at McDuffie High School after he told a former student arguing with a cheerleader to leave the campus.

Police said Stacy Martin, 19, also known as William Stacy Lamar Jones, was being held in connection with the shooting. A hearing for Jones is scheduled today.

Austin, the girls' basketball coach, was with his team and cheerleaders in the locker room preparing to leave for a game at Palmetto High School in Williamston about 4 p.m. Tuesday, school officials said.

"The suspect came to the school to get his girlfriend and the coach tried to run him off," Lt. Vic Mulligan said.

"He sort of went berserk and started to shoot, and the coach caught a round."

Detective Sgt. John Ricker said a quarrel broke out between Jones and his cheerleader girlfriend, who was not identified.

"The coach more or less told him to leave the school, and the suspect shot him once in the left chest," Ricker said. "There was no physical contact between the coach and the suspect."

Ricker said at least two shots were fired, but no other injuries were reported.

"The girlfriend is shaken up a little bit," Ricker said.

Cheerleader Kim Loskoski, 16, said about 12 members of the girls' basketball team and 18 cheerleaders were getting ready to board a bus for three basketball games when they heard shots.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

'Reduce The Charges' In Appledorf Murder Case

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — A lawyer for one of three teenage homosexuals charged with murdering junk food professor Howard Appledorf says Appledorf was at least partially responsible to the young men's presence in his home.

Attorney Stephen Bernstein said Tuesday that Appledorf's killers were not committing a robbery or burglary when the killing occurred, but instead were at the University of Florida scholar's home with his permission.

Under Florida law, a killing committed during another felony such as robbery or burglary is automatically first-degree murder. Because no other crime was in progress, Bernstein said, first-degree murder charges against his client, Paul Everson, should be reduced to manslaughter or second-degree murder.

'Send Mason To Hospital'

DELAND (UPI) — Former Orange County Commissioner Ed Mason is not a danger to society and should be in a mental hospital instead of a state prison for murdering his wife, says the sentencing judge.

Retired Circuit Judge Harold Vann said he was not second-guessing the jury that convicted Mason of second-degree murder. However, he said Mason would have been better off if he had been convicted of manslaughter. The law then would have permitted Vann to send Mason to a mental hospital.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Israeli, Lebanese Troops Clash; 2 Killed, 1 Hurt

United Press International
Israeli soldiers today tried to force their way into the Lebanese defense ministry east of Beirut, starting a gun battle with Lebanese army units that left two Lebanese soldiers dead and one Israeli soldier wounded, a Lebanese army spokesman said.

AREA DEATHS

LT. GEN. JOSEPH C. HUTCHISON
Lt. Gen. (U.S. Army retired) Joseph C. Hutchison, 88, of Indian Mound Village in Sanford, died Tuesday at Central Florida Regional Hospital following a long illness.

Born Sept. 17, 1894, in Cross Hill, S.C., he moved to Sanford in 1915. He was a member and elder emeritus of First Presbyterian Church of Sanford.

He was a veteran of World War I, serving in the field artillery in France, and later was an officer in the Florida National Guard Company D, 124th Infantry and in 1940 was promoted to brigadier general and commanded the 62nd Infantry Brigade. During World War II he served in the Pacific Theatre of Operations and was assistant divisional commander of the 31st Infantry Division. He accepted the surrender of the Japanese on Mindanao in the Philippines at the end of the war.

He was chairman of the Seminole County Commission 1960-64. He was a charter member of the Kiwanis Club of Sanford and honorary member of the Sanford Rotary Club. He taught school in Sanford High School 1915-18.

His business career in the growing and marketing of fruits and vegetables began in 1919 as manager of Sanford

He was appointed director of the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida in 1971. He was formerly a member of the Florida Sweet Corn Advisory Committee, director of Florida Fresh Fruit & Vegetable Assn., chairman of the board of Growers and Shippers League of Florida, chairman of the executive committee of the Florida Fresh Produce Exchange, chairman of the Florida Celery Advisory Committee, chairman of the Florida Celery Committee and president of the Zellwood Sweet Corn Exchange.

He was a charter member of the Sanford Kiwanis Club, an honorary member of the Sanford Rotary Club and was a past recipient of the Sanford Kiwanis Club's Randall Chase Outstanding Senior Citizen Award, the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce Community Service Award and the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees Good Government Award.

He is survived by his wife, Anne; two daughters, Helen Tucker and Elise Cornell, both of Sanford; five granddaughters, one grandson; and his brother, Robert Ulrich Hutchison; several nieces and nephews.

"General Hutchison was one of the finest citizens we have ever had in Seminole County," said Douglas Stenstrom. "He led by example and was an inspiration to many of the young men in our community. My brother was in his National Guard Unit. He was an outstanding public official and will be missed by everyone who knew him."

"He was a fine old man and a close personal friend," said Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore, president of Suniland Corporation. "He made an outstanding contribution to the city of Sanford and Seminole County, to me personally and to my company. He lived a good, full life."

"The county, state and nation has lost a respected leader," said Arthur Beckwith, Jr., Seminole County clerk of the court. "He was above all a gentleman whose dignity was appreciated by all with whom he had contact. The general, as I called him, was probably the most effective chairman of the board of county commissioners has ever had. His leadership will be sorely missed."

'Living To Adulthood Unrealistic'

CHICAGO (UPI) — Teenage America is struggling against booming rates of suicide, venereal disease and alcohol and drug abuse, making healthy adulthood an "unrealistic" goal for many, the American Academy of Pediatric says.

"For years society has assumed all adolescents to be healthy in the absence of obvious physical symptoms," Dr. James E. Strain, academy president, said Tuesday.

"But the simple, unheralded truth is that adolescent America faces special health problems and unique medical needs and often exist without adequate medical counseling or guidance."

"Teenage suicide, alcohol-drug abuse and disease have grown to such epidemic proportions among America's young people that living to adulthood may be unrealistic for some."

The Economy Getting Mixed Reviews

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reagan administration is embracing a rush of applications for federally insured home mortgages as evidence its economic recovery program is taking hold.

A private economist, however, looking at another set of figures — the nation's 10.8 percent unemployment rate — said he does not foresee any immediate relief from the recession.

Amid these divergent views, consumers last month were cautious. Not counting mortgages, they repaid more than they borrowed.

House and Urban Development Secretary Samuel Pierce Jr. said Tuesday applications for Federal Housing Administration loans in November reached a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 1,181,800. At this pace, it would top the record of 1,132,000 set in 1971.

"I believe these figures, along with the latest statistics on increasing housing starts and building permits, provide a good indication the president's economic recovery program is taking hold and the housing industry is on the road to recovery," Pierce told a news conference.

"As you all know, housing has traditionally led the way to recovery in past recessions," he said.

The increase in FHA loans came on the heels of last week's Commerce Department report that sales of new single-family homes dropped 0.4 percent in October while their average price climbed to $81,300.

But industry analysts said then the overall housing picture was much improved because more houses were sold than originally reported in September and far fewer unsold houses are still on the market.

Pierce credited declining interest rates as a major reason for the improvement in the housing industry. They have dropped from over 17 percent to less than 15 percent.

The Federal Reserve System reported Tuesday borrowers repaid $28.4 billion in installment debt during the month while taking on $28 billion in new loans.

Henry Kaufman, a private economist with the Wall Street firm of Salomon Brothers, said he sees more fiscal hard times ahead — particularly in the area of unemployment.

He said unemployment will likely rise slightly "and probably will peak at around 11 percent in a couple of months."

"Continued widespread unemployment and perceptions of reduced net worth" will keep consumer spending sluggish and personal savings high in 1982, he predicted.

He said the new money market accounts at banks and savings and loan institutions, authorized by federal regulators Monday, will bring $73 billion into thrift institutions in 1983 compared to just under $29 billion in 1982.

On Wall Street, the stock market registered a small gain in heavy trading Tuesday despite profit-taking that pulled the Dow Jones industrial average back from an all-time high.

The Dow Jones average of 30 blue-chip stocks added 1.29 points to close at 1,056.94. It came back in the final half hour of trading from a six-point deficit.

Building Inspector Reprimanded In Trailer Brouhaha

A Seminole County building inspector has received a written reprimand for violating county procedure by inspecting and condemning a Forest City trailer last month.

John Percy, director of Public Services and Development, said an investigation into building division employees' actions in the inspection of the West Lake Brantley Road trailer concluded that Tony Fakess, an inspector since 1963, did not follow departmental procedure in his condemnation of the trailer. Percy said Fakess violated departmental policy by inspecting an occupied building, and not informing a department supervisor or District Commissioner Robert G. "Bud" Feather before making the inspection and condemning the trailer without giving the owners 30 days to appeal or make necessary repairs.

"He didn't follow our own procedures," Percy said.

The investigation began after Building Official Don Flippin and his assistant Douglas Kerr took down condemnation signs which Fakess had placed on the trailer Nov. 15.

After William Ashworth, 1012 W. Lake Brantley Road, who lives next to the trailer, complained about the removal of the signs, an investigation was ordered.

A follow-up inspection was also ordered with Flippin, Kerr and two inspectors visiting the trailer. Exposed wires were found leading from the trailer and the owner, Paul Snider, was given 30 days to make the repairs.

Percy said the problem is the way the ordinance is written. "It applies only to unoccupied structures. It was intended to rid neighborhoods of unoccupied eyesores."

The trailer was technically unoccupied when Fakess inspected it. But it was leased to a couple who moved in several days later.

"The ordinance is kind of tricky. I'd feel more confident knowing what the terms meant," Percy said. "What's obsolete to one person may not be to another."

Cook Of The Week

Special Christmas Recipes Found In Old Books

By LOU CHILDERS
Herald Correspondent

Karen Kelley is one of the busiest women around Geneva. She is active in the elementary school PTO serving as chairman for the local school advisory committee, and is a Dividends volunteer.

Karen and her family also spend hours each week grooming, feeding and pleasure riding their two horses and a pony.

Karen is digging deeper than ever into a set of cookbooks she says she "couldn't cook without," preparing for some special Christmas baking. "The Encyclopedia of Cooking," published by Culinary Arts Institute in 1940, has over 1200 pages of interesting recipes, nutrition information, and cooking tips. The 24-volume set belonged to Karen's mother-in-law and was saved by her husband, Pat, when his Mom died — so, it has a lot of sentimental value, too.

Karen's son, Jason, age 6, is really looking forward to the time when Christmas cookies start rolling out. This year's cookies will include Cocoa Drops (chocolate is always a favorite with boys of all ages) and Old Fashioned Gingersnap — the rolled version.

As part of Christmas festivities in the Kelley household, Karen plans to cook a special meal that will include "Hens in the Nest," Cornish game hens stuffed with green beans.

"If you are expecting company and want to serve a very unusual main course," says Karen, "try Asparagus Beef Rolls. The bean sprouts on top are delightful because they crisp while baking."

Karen was born and educated in Gonzales, La., and she says she didn't enjoy her only year of home economics. "It wasn't until Jason was born" that Karen really developed an interest in cooking. She says, "I became aware of nutrition and began reforming my own eating habits, switching to whole wheat bread and raw sugar."

Karen's bread baking will take a turn toward the fancy during the Holiday Season when she makes Norwegian Christmas Bread. This bread is rich with raisins and citron, and it really looks festive if you push slivered almonds down onto the top of each loaf. Karen brushes the top of this bread with "Glaze for Breads" which can be varied by substituting 5 tablespoons of fruit preserves for the milk and sugar.

NORWEGIAN CHRISTMAS BREAD

2 packages active dry yeast
2 cups milk
1/4 cup lukewarm water
1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 eggs, well beaten
1/2 teaspoon ground cardamom
7 cups sifted flour
1/2 pound seedless raisins
4 oz. citron, sliced
Glaze for Breads
Scald milk and set aside to cool. Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Cream shortening, sugar and salt together; add beaten eggs and cardamom. To lukewarm milk add softened yeast and 3 cups of flour, beating until smooth. Add creamed mixture and remaining flour. Mix until smooth adding more flour if necessary. Add fruit sprinkled with flour. Let dough rise until double in bulk, stir down and let rise again until about doubled. Turn dough onto floured board, divide into 3 portions and shape into loaves. Place in greased bread pans and let rise until double in bulk. Brush top of loaves with glaze. Bake in 350 degree oven 50 to 60 minutes. Optional: Push slivered almonds into tops of each loaf before allowing to rise.

GLAZE FOR BREADS

1 egg yolk
2 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons water or milk
Beat egg yolk slightly. Add sugar and water or milk. Mix well and brush over breads before baking.

COCOA DROPS

1/2 cup butter
2-3rd cup brown sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour (self-rising)
6 tablespoons cocoa
1/2 cup nuts, chopped
Mix butter and sugar together. Add egg and beat well. Add vanilla and milk alternately with the sifted flour and cocoa.

Add chopped nuts. Drop by teaspoons on a greased cookie sheet and bake in a 350 degree oven 15 minutes or until done. Yield: 3 dozen 1 1/2-inch in diameter cookies

OLD FASHIONED GINGERSNAPS

1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2-3rd cup molasses
2-3rd cup hot coffee (or water)
5 cups self-rising flour
1 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
Soften shortening and mix with sugar. Add hot coffee to molasses and combine with sugar and shortening. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add. The dough is very soft and must be chilled before rolling out. Roll 1/4-inch thick and bake in 350 degree oven 10-15 minutes. Yield: 9 dozen 2-inch snaps.

ASPARAGUS BEEF ROLLS

1 pound sliced roast beef (from deli)
2 cans of 4-inch asparagus tips

2 whole tomatoes
1 stick butter
1 cup bean sprouts
Lightly butter shallow oblong baking dish. Roll 2 slices of roast beef around 1 asparagus tip and place in baking dish. Continue making rolls until all beef and asparagus tips are used. Slice tomatoes and place over beef rolls. Put a pat of butter on each tomato slice, and top with bean sprouts. Bake in a 400 degree oven for 20 minutes or until tomatoes are tender.

HENS IN A NEST

3 Cornish game hens, thawed
1 can mushroom soup
3 cups water
1 1/2 cups slow cooking rice
20 oz. package frozen green beans
Thaw green beans thoroughly and drain well. Pour mushroom soup and 3 cups of water into broiler pan and mix well. Add seasonings (1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon each pepper and garlic powder, 1 teaspoon onion salt and 1 tablespoon parsley). Stir in rice making sure it is evenly distributed. Stuff each hen with a small handful of green beans and sprinkle the remaining green beans over the rice. Place hens on top of the "nest" and bake in a 350 degree oven for approximately an hour, or until hens are completely cooked.

PUMPKIN PUDDING CAKE

1/2 cup margarine
1 1-3rd cups sugar
1 9-oz. container whipped topping with real cream, thawed
1 cup canned pumpkin
2 eggs
1 2-3rd cups flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1 cup chopped dates
1/2 cup chopped nuts
Spicy Orange Sauce
Beat margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in 1 cup whipped topping, pumpkin and eggs. Add combined dry ingredients; mix well. Stir in dates and nuts. Pour into greased and floured 10-inch fluted or standard tube pan. Bake at 350 degrees, 1 hour. Cool 10 minutes, remove from pan. Serve warm with:

SPICY ORANGE SAUCE

2 cups thawed whipped topping with real cream
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
Dash of cinnamon
Dash of nutmeg
Heat whipped topping over low heat, stirring just until melted. Blend in spices. Serve immediately.

Garden Circle

MIMOSA CIRCLE

Mimosa Circle, of Sanford Garden Club held its annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Herbert Behrens, with Mrs. Roy Partin as co-hostess.

At this time plans were made to assist members of other circles in readying the Santa Claus float sponsored by the garden club for the Christmas parade.

At the conclusion of the business meeting and planning session there was a gift and plant exchange. Members were served a traditional Christmas dinner.

Women Voters Honor Neiswender

Roger Neiswender, former county administrator who has completed 10 years of service in Seminole County Government was the guest of honor of the Seminole County League of Women Voters at the Holiday Brunch Sunday.

League members, spouses and other county officials were present for the presentation of a certificate of appreciation to Neiswender "for dedication in promoting open, responsive, efficient, and effective government in Seminole County".

"One of the first studies of the Seminole League brought forth the position that the county should hire a county planner," said Helen Smith, president of the League. Neiswender was the person hired by the Board of County Commissioners as the first planner for the county.

The wording on the certificate presented to Neiswender comes from the local government yardstick adopted by the Seminole League in 1976 and used henceforth in working to bring about good government for the county, according to Smith.

League members have worked to support a comprehensive Land Use Plan, Parklands, a Library System, Transportation, Housing and Health Care in Seminole County. In all of these areas, Neiswender has been a source of factual information and a guide in procedure to accomplish our goals, said the League president.

In And Around Seminole

AAUW Celebrates Yule Season

The American Association of University Women held their annual Christmas luncheon last Saturday at the White Marlin Restaurant in Longwood.

The decorations were festive and the members were in a merry-making mood.

Entertainment was provided by the Seminole Sweet Adeines quartet.

In recognition of Human Rights Day on Dec. 10 (Friday) Seminole Community College will sponsor a panel discussion entitled "Human Rights, Justice For All."

Panelists will include Elizabeth Williams, president of the United Nations Chapter of Greater Orlando, Abraham Gordon, Mayor of Eatonville, Tony Lewis, educator, and Joan Madison, president of the American Association of University Women. The program will begin at 7 p.m. and will be held in Room 100 at Seminole Community College.

The students at Forest City Elementary School are busy this month with special trips and programs. On Dec. 1 the second grade made a trip to Stars Hall of Fame for the "Down the Yellow Brick Road" program which enabled them to develop their understanding of the art of make-believe. They saw a puppet show, the making of a wax figure and the newest attraction, the "20th Century-Fox Screen Test."

On Dec. 10 the students in kindergarten and first grade will present a play entitled "Lover Toys at Christmas" at 10 a.m. The kindergarten pod will present various finger plays and songs.

Barney and Mary McCarthy of Winter Springs are entertaining their daughter Anne who is visiting from New York. She claims that the transition from the "Big Apple" to a Florida orange was a smooth one.

Some of us had trouble getting airline reservations during the holidays, but not so Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brady of Sanford.

Jim piloted the plane to New York for the Thanksgiving holidays and took his wife and four children along for the ride.

Eloise Jorger of Winter Springs is singing "Carry Me Back To Old Virginia." She has just returned from a trip to Chesapeake, Va., where she visited her daughter Judi Ruben and grandsons, Carl and Ross.

The big band sounds you heard in Casselberry last Saturday night were the music of Pete Klein and his records. Pete's music is a sure drawing card for the Senior Citizen Multipurpose Center on N. Lake Triplet Drive.

I wish the young folks could have seen them swinging to Glenn Miller's "String of Pearls."

"Dosey Do. Grab your partner and don your crinolines. Lady Bird in and the old crowd out."

The Senior Citizen Multipurpose Center will hold a special Square Dance Party December 8 at 7:30 p.m. Anyone who square dances is welcome to come and enjoy the calling by John Hucko. Please wear a costume.

Engagement

Dunlope-Bauer

Mr. and Mrs. Larry F. Dunlope, 1400 St. Andrews Blvd., Eustis, announce the engagement of their daughter, Toni Lyn, to Kyle Edward Bauer, son of Clarence W. Bauer Jr., 1318 Douglas Ave., Sanford, and the late Mrs. Bauer.

Born in Eustis, the bride-elect is the paternal granddaughter of Mrs. Ernest

Smith, 330 W. Seminole Ave., Eustis, and the late Mr. Donald Dunlope.

Miss Dunlope is a 1981 graduate of Eustis High School and is employed as a secretary in the Radiology Department at Waterman Hospital.

Her fiancé, born in Portsmouth, Va., is the maternal grandson of Mrs. Gussie Smith, Sanford and the late Mr. Carl Smith. His paternal grandparents are Clarence W. Bauer Sr., Melbourne, and the late Mrs. Bauer.

Mr. Bauer is a 1976 graduate of Seminole High School where he was a member of FFA. He is a 1981 graduate of the Seminole Memorial Hospital Program of Radiologic Technology and is employed as a radiologic technologist at Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford.

The wedding will be an event of Dec. 11, at 2 p.m., at Bay Street Baptist Church, Eustis.

GENEVA GIRL NATIONAL 4-H WINNER

Florida's 4-H Bread Program Winner, Carol May Sini of Geneva, receives a share of stock in Nabisco Brands, Inc., from T.T. Lithgow, Jr., president, Fleischmann Division, Nabisco Brands, at the Bread Awards Dinner held Nov. 29, during National 4-H Congress in Chicago. Fleischmann's Yeast, part of the Fleischmann Division, has sponsored the 4-H Bread Program for 31 consecutive years.

Doting Dad Opposes Bride's Groom-To-Be

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old college graduate who has had one year of law school. Last June I met the man I am going to marry. We have been constant companions since we met. He is 72 years old and a childless widower.

From the beginning, my father (age 65) has opposed this relationship. I am Dad's only daughter and the eldest "child," and he still treats me as though I were 13 years old. I haven't lived with my parents since 1977.

My problem is how to tactfully, firmly and lovingly tell my father to mind his own business. Hurry your advice, as the wedding is set for next month.

INDEPENDENT

DEAR INDEPENDENT: Every father's "business" is his daughter's happiness, so don't blame your father for opposing your decision to marry a man 49 years your senior. Your letter reveals an intelligent, articulate and strong woman. Now all you have to do is assure your father that you love him, and all you want are his "best wishes," but no advice.

DEAR ABBY: A message to "Jane," who suspects her boyfriend is a "closet gay" because she feels a certain "distance" when they kiss:

Maybe it's your breath. I've been dating a very attractive lady for about two months. I love to nuzzle, cuddle, hug and caress her, but I hate to kiss her because her breath is terrible.

Abby, how do you tell a lady she has bad breath? Sign me...

KISSLESS IN SEATTLE

DEAR KISSLESS: Tell her lovingly, confidentially, frankly and directly. But do tell her. Bad breath is often a warning signal of stomach trouble, disease of the mouth or a number of other serious ailments. It would be a kindness to tip her off. Do so without delay.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 31-year-old male with a 7-year-old daughter who was born out of wedlock. (I'll call her Betty.) Betty's mother, who was 22 at the time, was afraid to have an abortion, so she had the child but wanted nothing to do with her at the time of her birth or later.

For the first two years I raised Betty myself. It was very difficult, so my married sister and her husband took over, and Betty thinks they are her "real" parents. I contribute to her support and am considered a loving uncle.

What bothers me now is that when Betty grows up, it will come as a shock should she accidentally learn the circumstances of her birth.

I would like to tell her soon that I am her father. But how do I go about it? And what should I say if she asks about her biological mother? We live in different cities (my daughter and I) and I have no intention of taking her away from her present home.

SERIOUS AND HOPEFUL

DEAR SERIOUS: Discuss this with your sister and her husband. I think Betty should be told by you the circumstances of her birth — in the presence of the couple who have raised her as their own.

Edible Gifts Say 'Merry Christmas' In A Loving And Personal Way

These homemade edible gifts, wrapped in holiday finery, say Merry Christmas in the simplest, personal way.

CRUNCHY PEANUT BUTTER BARS
 1 cup shortening
 1 1/4 cups granulated sugar
 1 egg
 2 1/4 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
 2 teaspoons baking powder
 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
 1 package (12 ounces) peanut butter chips
 1 cup diced candied fruit
 1/2 cup chopped toasted almonds

1 tablespoon butter
 1 tablespoon milk
 1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
 35 candied cherries, halved
 In large mixing bowl, cream shortening with sugar until light and creamy. Beat in egg. Add flour, baking powder and salt; blend well. Stir in peanut butter chips, fruit, coconut and almonds. Spread into greased 16-by-11 inch baking pan. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes.

Meanwhile, in small saucepan, melt butter with milk over low heat. Remove from heat. Stir in sugar until creamy. Drizzle over warm cookies. Cut into 2-by-1 inch bars. Garnish each with halved cherry.

When cook, wrap each bar in plastic wrap for mailing or giving. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 70 bars.

COCOA MARSHMALLOW FUDGE
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 2-3rd cup cocoa
 1 package (1 pound) confectioners' sugar
 1-3rd cup non-fat dry milk powder

1/2 cup light corn syrup
 1 tablespoon water
 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 1 cup miniature marshmallows

1/2 cup chopped walnuts
 In top of double boiler, combine butter and cocoa. Cook over hot — not boiling — water until butter is melted and mixture is smooth; stir constantly.

Meanwhile, combine sugar and dry milk powder.

Stir corn syrup, water and vanilla into cocoa mixture. Blend in sugar mixture. Cook, stirring until creamy and smooth. Remove from over hot water. Stir in marshmallows and nuts. Turn into lightly buttered 8-inch square pan. Cool. Cut into 36 squares. This kitchen tested-recipe makes 2 pounds candy.

DOUBLE-DECKER FUDGE

2 cups sugar
 1 cup (1/2 pint) sour cream
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 Dash salt
 3 tablespoons cocoa (unsweetened)

1 teaspoon vanilla
 1/2 cup water
 1 cup chopped nuts (walnuts, pecans, unsalted peanuts)

1 can (14 ounces) sweetened condensed milk
 1 package (12 ounces) peanut butter chips

In saucepan, combine sugar, sour cream, butter and salt. Butter sides of pan. Mix cocoa, vanilla and water and stir into saucepan. Bring to boil and boil until 238 degrees on candy thermometer, or until a small amount of syrup when dropped into cold water forms a soft ball. Remove from heat and cool to lukewarm. Stir in nuts and beat only until mixture just starts to thicken. Spread evenly into a foil lined 8-inch square pan. In saucepan, combine condensed milk and chips. Stir until smooth and melted. Spread mixture evenly over cocoa fudge. Chill until firm. Using foil, pull fudge from pan and cut with sharp knife into 1-inch squares. This kitchen tested recipe makes one 8-inch pan of fudge.

TOFFEE BARS
 1/2 cup margarine or butter (8 tablespoons)
 1 cup oats
 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar

1/2 cup unsifted flour
 1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts

1/2 teaspoon baking soda
 1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (not evaporated milk)
 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
 1 6-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate morsels

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. In large saucepan, melt 6 tablespoons margarine; stir in oats, brown sugar, flour, nuts and baking soda. Pat firmly into bottom of greased 13-by-9 inch baking pan; bake 10 to 15 minutes, or until slightly golden. Meanwhile, in medium saucepan, combine remaining margarine and sweetened condensed milk.

Over medium heat, cook and stir until mixture slightly thickens, about 15 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla. Pour over crust; return to oven and bake 10 to 15 minutes longer or until golden brown. Remove from oven; immediately sprinkle morsels on top. Let stand 1 minute; spread white still warm. Cool to room temperature; chill. Cut into bars. Store tightly covered at room temperature. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 48 bars.

Chocolate Cake Made To Travel

Chocolate banana picnic cake is a dessert designed to travel. There's protein from the eggs and buttermilk, vitamins and minerals from the old-fashioned oats and the bananas add to the nutritional value.

The cake is moist, so no frosting is needed. If you want a topping, use a light sprinkling of confectioner's sugar.

CHOCOLATE BANANA PICNIC CAKE
 1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
 1 cup quick or old-fashioned oats, uncooked
 1 1/4 teaspoons baking powder
 1 1/4 teaspoons soda
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 1/2 cups sugar

1/2 cup butter or margarine
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 3 eggs
 1 1/2 cups mashed ripe banana
 3 1-ounce squares unsweetened chocolate, melted, cooled
 2-3rd cup buttermilk or sour milk
 1/2 cup chopped nuts (optional)
 Heat oven to 350-degrees. Grease and flour a 13-by-9-inch pan. In medium bowl, combine flour, oats, baking powder, soda and salt; set aside. In large bowl, beat together sugar, butter and vanilla until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Blend in banana and chocolate. Add flour mixture alternately with buttermilk, mixing until well blended. Stir in nuts. Spread into prepared pan. Bake 40 to 45 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool completely. Sprinkle with confectioner's sugar, if desired.

Salt Issue Rages

The salt issue is still with us. Heeding the advice of nutritionists, many people have removed salt shakers from the dinner table to cut down the natural urge to salt every dish being served. Some manufacturers of food products are now not adding salt to certain products in a line of canned foods they market; for example, Del Monte, Libby and Campbell Soup Co. These are labeled accordingly.

However, it still takes a very sharp consumer to distinguish between products to fit individual needs when it comes to the salt substitutes.

According to the Cooperative Extension at Cornell University, "Consumers are being offered table salt substitutes by large and small food stores, health food markets, drug stores and mail order companies. Related products include a light-sodium salt, a mix of one-half sodium chloride and one-half potassium chloride; salt-free shake-on seasoning mixes, composed of herbs and spices baked into a flour or starch; sodium-free baking powder substitutes, and low-sodium bouillon cubes. These potassium chloride products are not a duplicate for table salt (sodium chloride) in taste or functional properties. Potassium also has metabolic effects, and its use can cause adverse effects in those with heart, kidney or liver problems. On a large scale, the substitution of potassium for sodium might have health consequences of unknown dimensions."

A better way to decrease salt in the diet is not to add salt while cooking or at the table. Use entirely different flavorings in cooking. For example, many spices and herbs contain practically no sodium and few contain more than five mg. per teaspoon.

In a brochure published by the Campbell Soup Consumer Nutrition Center, the following are a few of a long list of substitute spices and herbs given: Use chili powder in meatloaf, bean salad and corn. Use curry in fish, chicken salad and rice. Use dry mustard in egg, tuna, cabbage and macaroni dishes.

...Gifts

 sweetened chocolate
 1 (14-ounce) can sweetened condensed milk (not evaporated milk)
 1/4 cup (4 tablespoons) plus 2 tablespoons margarine or butter, softened
 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs
 1 cup flaked coconut
 1/2 cup chopped nuts
 1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese, softened
 2 cups confectioner's sugar
 1 teaspoon peppermint extract
 Few drops green or red food coloring

In large saucepan, over low heat, melt 2 squares chocolate, 2-3rd cup sweetened condensed milk and 1/4 cup (4 tablespoons) margarine. Stir in crumbs, coconut and nuts. Press firmly into bottom of 12-by-7 inch baking dish; chill 15 minutes. In large mixer bowl, beat cheese and remaining margarine until fluffy. Beat in sugar until smooth. Stir in peppermint extract and food coloring. Spread over chilled chocolate layer; chill 45 minutes longer or until mint layer is set. In small saucepan, over low heat, melt remaining chocolate and sweetened condensed milk; spread over chilled mint layer. Chill 1 to 2 hours or until firm. Cut into bars.
 Refrigerate leftovers. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 36 bars.

HOROSCOPE by BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Thursday, December 9, 1982

YOUR BIRTHDAY December 9, 1982
Partners are likely to play prominent roles in your affairs this coming year. One alliance will be quite idealistic. Your associated efforts should prove successful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) The one thing you don't want to be today is a loner, so get out and circulate. Try to go places where you might meet someone new and interesting. A great stocking stuffer is the NEW Astro-Graph Matchmaker wheel and booklet which reveals romantic combinations, compatibilities for all signs, tells how to get along with others, finds rising signs, hidden qualities, plus more. Mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Send an additional $1 to your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead. Specify birth date.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Circumstances will be working today to help you fulfill your worldly ambitions. Fate may place you in the right spot at the right time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your greatest asset today is your concern for the good of others. This will win you friends and, when you help them, you'll also help yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Because of the favorable way you've handled yourself lately, someone who's had an eye on you may invite you to participate in something beneficial.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)

Do everything in accordance with your highest standards and ideals today and all will go smoothly. Don't let anyone talk you into doing less.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Beneficial developments will be stirring beneath the surface today work or career-wise. Be alert for signals indicating opportunity.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You have the marvelous faculty today of being able to get along well with anyone you encounter. Persons already fond of you will see even more to like in you.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Properly motivated, you'll do a good job on anything you set your mind to today. In fact, you could simultaneously handle several things well.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 23) You're a take-charge person today, but others won't find your approach offensive. They'll be rather glad you decided to handle the helm.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Conditions look promising today regarding your finances or earnings. Keep an eye peeled for ways to add more to what you have.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is a good time to go beyond the idea stage regarding a project you've been hoping to launch. Today you should be able to get others interested in supporting you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your financial prospects look good today, but the surprising twist is that you are likely to derive those benefits from sources others have pioneered.

Cures Available For Peyronie's

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have a condition called Peyronie's disease, a gristle-like growth on my penis. I've been to two different doctors. Both tell me there isn't much they can do for me and that it will go away in time. I've had it for three years and I'm 44 years old.

I've taken vitamin E three times a day but that seemed to make it more tender. I was taking vitamin E before this developed, then stopped and started it again when the doctor suggested it. I am not taking any now but I am not improving either. Is there anything you can tell me that will help?

DEAR READER—I used to think this was a rare condition but the large number of letters I get asking about this problem suggests that it is actually rather common. Doctors do not know what causes it. The problem is essentially as you describe it. It causes a crooked organ during erection and it can be so severe that it is painful and prevents sexual relations. It is more common in middle-aged and older men but it can occur earlier, as your case suggests. The area may resemble a low-grade inflammation. Vitamin E has been used for it with variable, but often unsatisfactory, results. The area often does clear spontaneously with or without medicine, which causes me to sometimes say a person recovered in spite of the doctor and not because of the treatment.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 17-4, Male Reproductive Functions, which includes a discussion of the problem. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

There are several treatments available and I think you should see a urologist who may be familiar with those

DEAR DR. LAMB—Can you tell me anything about "valley fever"? I hear it attacks the lungs and sometimes can be taken care of by surgery. But what happens if the fever is spread over all the lung?

DEAR READER—You probably mean coccidioidomycosis, also called San Joaquin Valley fever because it is so common in that location. It is a fungus disease and the fungal spores are inhaled. It cannot be spread from man to man or from animals to man. You get it from the soil and air. At first it appears as a respiratory illness. It may be mild and many people do not know they even have it. Most recover without future problems. A few have a spread of the fungus infection through the lungs and even to other areas.

Yes, local spots are sometimes cut out. And in other cases a local spot on the lungs cannot be separated from cancer by X-rays and must be cut out. But if needed there are good medicines that can be used to control the disease that has spread. Amphotericin B, an anti-fungal agent, is often used in those cases.

WIN AT BRIDGE

Sidney was a great card player, but his contract bidding left a lot to be desired. Like any old-timer who played cards better than his various partners, Sidney was something of a hand-hog. Hence, he never really considered a raise of his partner's no-trump to three, but he sure wished that he had made that bid when he saw the dummy.

The defense started with three rounds of hearts. Sidney ruffed the third one and had to try to avoid the loss of two more tricks. As you readers can see, the diamond finesse is on, but the club finesse will lose. Sidney took neither one.

He played two rounds of trumps and followed with three rounds of diamonds. When East didn't produce the queen Sidney simply discarded his eight of clubs and showed his hand.

West had scored his queen of diamonds, but had to choose between leading a club to Sidney's tenace or leading a diamond to give a ruff and discard.

What if East had produced the club queen? Sidney would really wish he had let North play in no-trump.

A festive Christmas Wreath Cake is so easy to decorate that children can learn the technique quickly.

Decorations Need Not Be Expensive

The holiday season is the time to bring out exciting desserts that are gaily decorated and served at festive tables. But your own creative touches don't have to involve expensive gadgets and hours of time. You can create an elegant holiday effect with just a few ingredients from the supermarket, using techniques that are easy enough for children to learn.

A festive Christmas Wreath Cake, created in the Kraft Kitchens, uses marshmallows as the easy decorative touch. The cake is frosted with creamy Angel Mallow Frosting, a fluffy, easy-to-spread recipe that owes its lightness to marshmallow creme and stiffly beaten egg whites. The professional looking wreath atop the cake is made using marshmallows and colored sugar. Using a pair of scissors dipped in water, cut marshmallows into crosswise slices, then dip the cut edges in green tinted sugar for a Christmas-y effect. Make three rings of the marshmallow slices around the top of the cake and "tie" your festive wreath by affixing a bright red ribbon to the top of the cake.

The same technique can be used to decorate your table by making "wreath" candle-holders. Simply attach two rings of sugared marshmallow slices to cardboard around the base of bright red candle. Marshmallow Christmas poinsettia blossoms are used to decorate napkin rings, serving platters and individual dessert plates. These are made by overlapping five marshmallow slices, dipping the flower in red decorative sugar, then adding a halved miniature marshmallow as the center.

This cake and all the trimmings make a great family project on Christmas Eve, to be served at a gala Christmas dinner the next day.

The basic techniques for making marshmallow creations are simple. Ordinary scissors dipped in water are used to cut the marshmallows. A standard-size, white marshmallow, cut into fourths across the flat side makes four slices, as does a miniature marshmallow. When using Heartthmallow marshmallows, cut five slices from each marshmallow.

No glue is necessary for these projects. The cut sides of the marshmallows stick together, and adhere to other uncut marshmallows and candies. Marshmallow creme may also be used to secure uncut marshmallows and other materials together.

WREATH CAKE

Fill and frost two 8- or 9-inch round cake layers with one recipe Angel Mallow Frosting. Arrange marshmallow slices dipped in green colored sugar in three overlapping rows around edge of cake. Add red ribbon bow.

Angel Mallow Frosting

1/2 cup sugar
2 egg whites
2 tablespoons water
1 7-oz. jar marshmallow creme
1/4 teaspoon vanilla

Combine sugar, egg whites and water in double boiler; beat with electric or rotary beater over boiling water until soft peaks form. Add marshmallow creme; continue beating until stiff peaks form. Remove from heat; beat in vanilla.

CANDLE HOLDERS

Cut cardboard circles 1 1/2 to 2 inches wider than the diameter of candles. Center candles on cardboard and secure with florist clay. Spread a thin layer of marshmallow creme on the cardboard. Beginning along outer edge, attach marshmallow slices dipped in colored sugar in overlapping rows until cardboard is covered.

NAPKIN RINGS

Cut rings 1 to 1 1/2 inches wide from cardboard cylinders (from bathroom tissue or paper towels); wrap with colored ribbon or colored paper and secure with tape. Make Marshmallow Flowers; dip in red sugar to create poinsettia. Secure to rings with marshmallow creme.

MARSHMALLOW FLOWERS

1. Cut marshmallows into four crosswise slices.
2. For each flower, arrange five marshmallow slices on waxed paper in a daisy design, slightly overlapping tips.
3. Dip inside of flower into colored sugar to coat cut sides of petals.
4. Cut a miniature marshmallow in half and press one piece, cut side down, in center of blossom.

Microwave Magic

Save Time Preparing Loving Homemade Goodies

Midge Mycoff

Home Economist
Seminole Community College

'Tis the season to be making those special goodies that you give as gifts, and your microwave can be a great help. The preparation of candies, sauces, jellies, and even yeast breads can be made easy. Less time is spent and clean-up is easier.

There are specific things to keep in mind when microwaving candy. I have found a candy thermometer to be most helpful. A large pour-type bowl with a handle is helpful too.

Other things to remember: humidity affects the temperature of candy. If possible, choose a day for candy making when the humidity is low. If the day is humid, allow the temperature to rise a few degrees higher than the recipe directs.

Stir the sugar often and make sure the sugar is dissolved. Just a few undissolved sugar crystals can cause the whole batch of candy to become sugary.

VANILLA FUDGE

- 1/2 cup milk
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup brown sugar, packed
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 2 1/2 cups unsifted powdered sugar

1/2 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon vanilla

1/4 cup chopped pecans

Mix together milk, butter, brown sugar, sugar, and salt in a 2 quart glass pour-type bowl. Microwave uncovered, 3 minutes. Stir scraping sides of bowl to dissolve sugar. Microwave 6 to 7 minutes or until mixture reaches 235 degrees (soft boil stage). Stir several times during cooking.

Add powdered sugar and vanilla. Beat on medium speed until thickened. This takes about 8 minutes. Stir in pecans. Spread in a buttered loaf pan. Let stand until set. Cut into squares.

CANDIED FRUIT PEEL

- 2 oranges
- 1 grapefruit
- 1 lemon
- 2 cups water
- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 1/4 cup water
- 2-3rd cup sugar

With a sharp knife, remove the peel from the fruit, then remove the white membrane. Cut the peel into 1/4 inch strips. Combine the peel and 2 cups of water in a 1 quart glass pour bowl.

Microwave 100 percent power for 20 minutes or until the fruit strips start to look transparent. Drain. Add 1 1/2 cups sugar and 1/4 cup water.

Microwave 100 percent power, uncovered, for 9 to 10 minutes or until is tender. Drain and blot dry with paper towel.

Toss peels with sugar. Lay fruit strips out flat to dry. Store in loosely covered container.

Extra Special Hot Drinks For Holiday Entertaining

Holiday entertaining for family and friends is extra special when delicious beverages enhance festive gatherings.

These visually-delightful hot drinks are especially easy to prepare. Since they're made with items you already have in the kitchen, you're free to enjoy those holiday drop-in guests and informal gatherings.

Sip Ups, the line of flavored lowfat ultra high temperature (UHT) milk, form the basis for these drink recipes. UHT milk is fresh, fluid, Grade A milk with no preservatives added. Through a combination of ultra high temperature processing and aseptic packaging, UHT milk keeps without refrigeration for up to three months.

With UHT milk in the pantry, the "Hot Chocolate Nog" can be whipped up in no time, and without an extra trip to the store for milk.

Or, if you want to end dinner with a flair, the "Sip Ups Aloha" will dazzle your holiday guests. Try the "Spoon-Up Eggnog" for those casual evenings by the fireplace, or the "Tropical Chocolate" for a slightly more elegant affair.

Each of these recipes has a character of its own and goes well in unusual and different-sized glasses and mugs. For a new twist to party punch, serve them in a variety of glassware on a decorative tray. The end result is so visually appealing that it can be used as the table centerpiece.

For more information on Farm Best UHT milk, please write to UHT Hot Drink Recipes, P.O. Box 54207, Atlanta, Georgia, 30306.

TROPICAL CHOCOLATE

4 cups banana Sip Ups
6 tablespoons presweetened instant cocoa powder
1 ripe banana, mashed marshmallows
Blend 1 cup Sip Ups, cocoa and banana until smooth. Pour into saucepan. Add remaining Sip Ups. Heat to serving temperature. Float marshmallows on top. Makes four servings.

SIP UPS ALOHA

2 cups banana, strawberry or punch Sip Ups.
1 can (3 1/2 ounce) or 1 1/3rd cup flaked coconut
Heat together Sip Ups and coconut in saucepan for two minutes. Pour into blender container and liquify. Strain. Reheat to serving temperature. Serve in cups topped with whipped cream. Sprinkle with toasted coconut. Makes two servings.

HOT CHOCOLATE NOG

2 eggs
1/4 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups chocolate Sip Ups
1 square unsweetened chocolate
marshmallows
Process eggs and sugar in blender until smooth. Add chocolate and Sip Ups to 1-quart saucepan. Heat, stirring until chocolate is melted and mixture is hot. Gradually pour the hot mixture into the egg and sugar mixture while blender is operating at low speed. Serve hot. Float marshmallows on top. Makes two servings.

SPHOON-UP EGGNOG

3 egg yolks
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 cups Vanilla Sip Ups
3 egg whites
3 tablespoons sugar
freshly grated nutmeg
Cream egg yolks and 2 tablespoons sugar in 2-quart saucepan. Add salt and Sip Ups. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly until mixture coats a metal spoon. Do not boil. Beat egg whites until stiff. Add 3 tablespoons sugar and beat until sugar is dissolved. Fold egg whites into hot milk mixture. Serve hot and sprinkle with nutmeg. Makes six servings.

Baking Ahead Puts More Fun In The Holidays

The key words to a more enjoyable holiday season are "do ahead." This applies to the holiday baking, too, because many cookies and cakes can be made well in advance of the big holiday rush, then frozen. This year, when "doing ahead," add some delicious new recipes to your traditional family favorites. Fudge Nut Layer Bars, Sparkle Cut-Out Cookies and Fruit 'Nut Drops have the rich flavor of cream cheese, making them stand out from the rest of the goodies on the cookie tray. All freeze well, so they can be kept on hand for the inevitable last-minute guests as well as for emergency gifts.

To make these cookies ahead, prepare them according to recipe directions, wrap securely and freeze. When ready to serve, thaw the cookies unwrapped at room temperature for approximately two hours.

FUDGE NUT LAYER BARS

1/2 cup margarine
1 1/4 cups sugar
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
3 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 12-oz. pkg. semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese, cubed
Two-thirds cup (5-1/3 fl. oz. can) evaporated milk
1 cup chopped walnuts
Beat margarine and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in eggs and vanilla. Combine flour, baking powder and salt; mix well. Press half of mixture onto bottom of 13x 9-inch baking pan. Combine chocolate pieces, cream cheese and evaporated milk; stir over low heat until smooth. Spread over crust. Sprinkle with remaining crust mixture; press down gently. Bake at 375 degrees, 30 minutes or until crust is lightly browned. Cool; cut into bars.

SPARKLE CUT-OUT COOKIES

1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese
1 cup margarine
Two-thirds cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 1/2 cups flour
Dash of salt
Colored sugar
Combine softened cream cheese, margarine, sugar and vanilla, mixing until well blended. Add flour and salt; mix well. Chill. On lightly floured surface, roll out dough to 1/4-inch thickness; cut with assorted 3-inch cookie cutters. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Decorate with colored sugar or decorative candies, if desired. Bake at 375 degrees, 8 to 10 minutes or until edges just start to brown. Approximately 2 1/2 dozen Note: Due to variation in ovens watch carefully.

FRUIT 'NUT DROPS

1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese
1 cup margarine
1 cup packed brown sugar
1 egg
2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup chopped dates
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1/2 cup candied cherry halves
Walnut halves
Combine softened cream cheese, margarine and sugar, mixing until well blended. Blend in egg. Add combined dry ingredients; mix well. Stir in dates, nuts and cherries. Drop rounded tablespoons of dough onto greased cookie sheet; top with nut halves. Bake at 375 degrees, 8 to 11 minutes or until edges are lightly browned.
