

"Happy Landing!"

To a boy on leave, Home's the most beautiful place on earth

THERE is something warm and satisfying to all who inject into their daily work a human quality. That is why Florida Motor Lines gets such a lift out of its "home delivery" of our boys in service . . . HOME, the cherished destination, the scene they've dreamed of for months on end. It's been our most heart warming job to help their cause. You'll understand when you see him step out of the familiar car and greet you, swinging open the white picnic gate and hurry up the well-remembered walk. He's the kid whose sweetest home—the one who misses everyone. He's home today and a peek of trouble for the Axis, battling for you and me . . . and this opportunity to steal a few precious minutes home comes like a heavenly blessing.

Sure, young fellow with the service ribbons, the trinkets from Tripoli or gadgets from Gaines, you've earned your way back to a proud Mother and Dad. And it's been our pleasure and privilege to bring you.

In fact, the bus lines are the first and only carriers that insist upon seeing Service Men first. WE'VE ASKED ALL WHO TRAVEL TO AID TRANSPORTATION BY PLANNING

THEIR TRIPS BEFORE OR AFTER THE MIDSUMMER RUSH — BY GOING ON MID-WEEK DAYS AND TAKING LITTLE SACCAGE. It's good to know that civilian passengers have honored these suggestions with eagerness and pride.

For this is only a fraction of Florida Motor Lines' general bus service to America and the rest of the world. Many people go by bus simply to see friends, military camps, shopping, and to take their families and have a good time by any other name. Florida Motor Lines is doing her share of the job and she'll do it every day.

Farley Urges All To Shoulder War Sacrifices

Says Excuse-Making Has No Place in U.S. At Present Time

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 16. (AP)—James A. Farley, former Postmaster General, said in an address recently that excuse-making had no place in war time as he called upon men and women of all walks of life to "shoulder loyally the sacrifices which are called for."

"Today our problems, at the front and in our homes and mines and factories, loom almost too difficult for man's solution," Mr. Farley said in a Flag Day speech to the Cambridge Elks.

"And they will be, if we do not strike at them from solid foundations.

"In this time of emergency we must not take the easy way of blaming others and excusing our selves," said Mr. Farley, former National Democratic Committee chairman.

"Yet, unfortunately, we are witnessing today the finest flowering of the art of excuse making. It has no place in war time. Finding a reason for not doing what we do not want to do is one kind of resourcefulness which does no credit to Americans in fighting for their lives against the most ruthless organized brutality that ever showed itself on this earth.

"Let me say to you with all the sincerity of which I am capable," Mr. Farley declared, "that every thing that this flag means, every blessing that it confers upon us as a people, and every right that it protects, arose from one principle—the principle that a free people may choose those who will govern them.

"When this national leadership of majority selection, determines upon the course of conduct necessary for the successful prosecution of a war, every individual has a patriotic obligation to support that leadership.

"It is true, we have a right to express our disagreement with a course of action which we believe to be wrong in an effort to secure changes and betterment, but we have no right to weaken the hand of our National government in the prosecution of the war."

Mihailovitch Pledges Aid To Allied Invasion

Says 250,000 Troops Await Signal To Capture Axis Airdromes

LONDON, June 16. (AP)—General Draja Mihailovitch reported Saturday from the mountains of Yugoslavia that a force of 250,000 Yugoslavs are waiting for the invasion signal to take arms from secret hiding places in a coordinated uprising against Axis troops.

In a radio message from one of his secret headquarters, he promised to dominate the greater part of the country and to take over all Axis airdromes within twenty-four hours after the Allies invade Yugoslavia success said.

"My forces stand ready to use these arms when the Allies land in Yugoslavia," he said.

CANNING CORN
 By Isabelle S. Thurbay
 Extension Food Economist
 In Central and Northwest Florida, corn is being served as "roasting ears" and also being canned. Today, let us consider canned corn is a good source of food energy and vitamin B. Yellow corn also contains provitamin A in valuable amounts.

Many Florida home-makers do a splendid job every year in canning corn cream style, evidently preferring this style for use in puddings, soups, or as a supplementary vegetable.

Many insist that only sweet corn is for the table, that field corn is intended for stock feed, and that corn for both feed and human consumption is a "starchy" term. Much depends upon the full selection of tender, juicy corn of good flavor and on good cooking and canning quality. Corn should be picked in the morning while it is cool. Sweet corn deteriorates with amazing rapidity, so it should never be kept long after being gathered.

Corn for cooking or canning should not be too young or too old. It is most nutritious and of highest quality during the last few days of the milk stage. It is at its best only a very short time and soon passes from this sweet, succulent stage to the hard, tough, starchy stage. Its growth should be watched closely so it may be gathered at the right time.

Cream Style Corn
 Shuck, silk and clean carefully. A stiff brush is helpful. Cut corn from cob without pre-cooking, but not too deeply. Scrape from cob with back of knife. Put in kettle and for every pint of corn add one cup boiling water and one teaspoon sugar and salt mixture. Water must be added so the corn may not become a dry, tough mass in the jar or can, the amount varying with maturity and method of canning. Allow corn to boil 10 to 12 minutes. Add more hot-water if needed, for it is important that the pack be loose and moist. Fill boiling hot within one-half inch of top. Seal and process immediately in pressure cooker.

Whole Kernel Corn
 Gather several days earlier than cream style corn. Cut from cob only deeply enough to remove most of kernel without hulls. Do not scrape cob. Add seasoning and enough boiling water to cover corn and bring to boil. Boil five minutes. Fill boiling hot, seal, and process. Whole kernel corn requires a less severe process than cream style corn since heat penetration is more rapid.

Medieval Paralans used to wear a finger or even an arm on the shoulder of a chest and the looser would lop off the lost member and cauterize the wound in salt water kept handy.

Southern Girls Are Given Best Chances

By H.W. BLAKESLEE
 AP Science Editor
NEW YORK—Your chances of getting married are greatest if you live in the South.

Second come the northern states and last the far west. These figures are from the Statistical Bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

As these figures were gathered recently, the far west was coming up with a rush. Its marriage rate was rising faster than that in the south or north. In all three areas the marriage rate has been rising since 1940, because of the war. Some married before war started, others probably because they had more money from war jobs.

In the south 9 percent of eligible persons of 15 years and over wed each year. In the far west this rate has been 5 percent.

Age does not seem to make much difference in the south. The rate there at 45 and older is twice the rate of northern marriages of similar ages and about three times that of the far west. Among women under 20, relatively twice as many southern girls go to the altar compared with their northern sisters.

As people grow older men remain marriageable at much higher rates than women. Between 40 and 49, the national marriage rate of eligible men is 13.5 thousand and only 3.5 per thousand for women.

Although it has its own Parliament, Northern Ireland is politically a part of the United Kingdom.

There are about 150 people in Buenos Aires, largest city of Latin America.

Indians in Canada are minors under the law and their affairs are administered by the Indian Affairs Branch of the Department of Mines and Technical Surveys.

fighters went out again over the Aegean sea, setting to an enemy schooner.

The day brought also an announcement that further study of reconnaissance photographs had established that the Flying Fortress attack of June 5 on the Italian naval base at La Spezia had scored a direct hit on the forward deck of a 35,000-ton Italian battleship of the Littorio class. Her deck plates were buckled and it appeared that a forward gun turret also had been hit.

A clean sweep of the Italian islands in the Sicilian strait was concluded, meanwhile, by British warships which brought the island of Lampedusa under Allied control. Lampedusa, the fourth such island to come under Allied control, was not garrisoned by the Italians and probably will not be by the Allies considering its minute size.

NEW YORK (AP) — June 15, 1943, another great day in the history of this war.

It will be the second anniversary of the German invasion of Russia, the beginning of the third year of the enormous campaign which many thought, at its start, would last only three weeks to three months.

But even more important it will be the date by which Hitler, to make one more venture in the east, must have started on his course.

June 22, is also, according to broadcasts by the Berlin radio, the date upon which the Nazis expected the United Nations to launch a major continental invasion effort.

Hitler has already lost one valuable month of the fighting weather which has limited German arms each year to offensive operations between May and November. A year ago, on May 8, he stated his campaign on the Kerkh peninsula of the Crimea. This year, he has let May slip past without a major move.

That can be interpreted to mean the German will not strike in the south, that they have abandoned, for this year at least, any gamble on getting the riches of the Caucasus, the oil of Baku.

They never have made a serious effort in that direction. Their southern campaign last year was limited to a few divisions, designed as a diversion while they made their main effort to strike north through Stalingrad against the heart of Russia.

That diversion proved fatal to their own plans, because it weakened their own strength in the battle of Stalingrad to a point where the Red Army could, and did, check them and throw them back beyond their Taganrog-Kharkov-Kursk starting point.

One At A Time

They seem to be avoiding that mistake this year, the mistake, as Josef Stalin put it, of "chasing two hares at once."

They seem to be avoiding that mistake this year, the mistake, as Josef Stalin put it, of "chasing two hares at once."

The Caucasus bridgehead they cling to last winter and are defending so stubbornly this spring around Novorossiysk, now appears to have been left as a decoy for Russian forces. Instead of being used as the spearhead for a German offensive against the Caucasus, it has been kept as a bastion of German defense against Red Army attacks.

The Russians have not been deluded into diverting any great forces to this sector at the expense of the vital center. They appear to be battering down the bridgehead gradually, with artillery as the main weapon, but keeping their main forces opposite the principal German concentration on Russia's western front.

Having sacrificed a month of fighting time in the south, the Germans cannot afford to lose a minute of their potential period of operations in the center. They started their pompous march east on June 22, 1941, later in late spring they launched their

4. While strongly supporting the idea of subsidies, Roosevelt said he thought he would not send congress a message on the subject because the legislators already knew that was the one way to buck inflation. If they had a better way, he said, they could come out with it.

Office Cost

In discussing subsidies, the President spoke of $1,500,000,000 to $2,000,000,000 as the possible cost, but said these were just figures he had taken from the newspapers. But assuming they were correct he said that would be only 1 1/2 to 2 percent on a $100,000,000,000 cost of the war.

Presumably he referred to an annual cost of this year's war spending has been officially estimated at $100,000,000,000.

When discussing the question of a food tax, Roosevelt said one proposal of this organization had related the case of a farmer who was not able to get a freight car he needed for movement of his crops.

The President went on to say that it seemed what was wanted was a man who could tell Joseph R. Eastman, transportation administrator, that food had got to move before anything else. Eastman, he continued, Donald Nelson, board of the army and navy might have weapons to move because they were needed at the fighting fronts, but Eastman would have to tell them they couldn't be transported because all the freight cars were being used by the food cars.

He then told of the Bill of Rights as written into the Constitution that guaranteed freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of assembly, freedom of the press and protection of homes from unwarranted search, which latter provision he said was violated only during prohibition days.

The first thing a dictator does to crush liberty is to stop freedom of speech, and follows this by getting control of the press," he added.

Referring to the fact that American homes were free from an unwarranted search, Mr. Warren said, "there is no danger of our homes being broken into by burglars of the state in order to search them as elsewhere in the world." Rights of citizens to trial by jury was cited by him as another instance of the rights of American.

The Sanford Lodge of Elks, Camp 11-Lessing Post of the American Legion, the Jacksonville Naval Air Station Band, color bearers of Company C of the Florida State Guard, flag-bearing boy scouts, representatives of the Sanford Naval Air Station, and civic leaders combined to make the program, directed by Elks Exalted Ruler, Dr. L. T. Doss, an extremely effective and impressive one.

Prior to the opening exercises, the Exalted Ruler and Elks officers, Joel S. Field, Peter Thurston and Fred A. Dyson, the Naval Band under direction of Bandmaster U. O. Paynter, played a number of selections and also played at intervals during the program.

Opening prayer was by the Rev. J. B. Root. The oath of allegiance was read by Mayor Edward Higgins, raising and lowering of the flag was under direction of the Band of the Legion.

Visitors on the platform included: Lieut. A. W. D. Groninger, Capt. Lee Gillman and Mrs. John major offensive June 22, 1942, from Kharkov. They must start again by June 22, 1943, if they are to get anywhere.

Major Objective

Their major objective throughout the war, has been destruction of the Red Army. The German's capacity to strike at that goal has diminished progressively, from a three-front offensive in 1941, to a two-front offensive in 1942, and probably to a single-front offensive in 1943.

Their objective has correspondingly diminished. Probably, it has now reached a point where the hope the Germans could hope to do this year would be to knock the offensive power out of the Red Army before the Allies strike in the west.

Stalin does not think the Germans can do that.

Another two or three powerful blows from the west and east are being held in his last speech May 11, "for the catastrophe of Hitler's Germany to become an accomplished fact."

For driving while drunk, Raymond R. Palmer, was given a penalty of $100 fine or 60 days and had his drivers license revoked. William M. Brown, a servant, for driving while drunk and without a license was given a fine of $10 and costs or 30 days. Bond of $11 such was arrested by Alfred Henry Collins and by William H. Robinson on charges of drunkenness.

Negroes charged with failure to take treatment for contagious disease included Archie L. Knight, case continued, Anna Conway, $5 and costs or 30 days and William Holt, $10 and costs or 30 days.

The case of William James, charged with being keeper of a house of ill repute, was continued.

Other negro cases were: Robert Young, reckless driving, $10 and costs or 30 days; Henry Thomas, drunkenness, $11 bond, arrested; LeRoy McClendon, reckless driving, $11 bond, arrested; Steve Williams, reckless driving, $3 bond, arrested; Amos Conway, $5 and costs or 30 days; and Wilbur L. with certain rights not enjoyed by citizens of other countries, among them being the rights and the pursuit of happiness," he said.

He then told of the Bill of Rights as written into the Constitution that guaranteed freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of assembly, freedom of the press and protection of homes from unwarranted search, which latter provision he said was violated only during prohibition days.

The first thing a dictator does to crush liberty is to stop freedom of speech, and follows this by getting control of the press," he added.

Referring to the fact that American homes were free from an unwarranted search, Mr. Warren said, "there is no danger of our homes being broken into by burglars of the state in order to search them as elsewhere in the world." Rights of citizens to trial by jury was cited by him as another instance of the rights of American.

While O. P. Herndon, past executive ruler of the Elks, told of the gradual evolution of the Flag, boy scouts of Troop "5" in turn carried out various flags, starting with the earliest British flag, the Union Jack. Three English flags preceded the Colonial flag of 1775, which had red and white stripes, and a pine tree in the apex later replaced by the 12 stars.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

WATER, SEED AND CULTIVATION WILL CONVERT ANY DESERT INTO A GARDEN. IT DEPENDS ON WHO PLANTS THE SEED. DON'T TURN A GARDEN INTO A DESERT. KEEP YOUR CORNER OF THE WORLD A GARDEN, NOT A DESERT. The desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose. (Isaiah 35:1)

THE OLD MEN OF BALLYHOG

From SPIRIT: What are the old men saying? On the heel of the wind? Why are the old men crying? For all they have earned!

Quick, tell them to sit down. Wipe the old tears from their eyes. Now they are as white as the sheet. What need have they to be wise? And their pipe will do them. It's the soot of the fire in their eye. And no common dirt. HENRY F. McLAUGHLIN

As the Tampa Tribune says it, Mussolini has antagonized his Pantheon.

The war will cost the United States $100,000,000,000 this year. That's right, 100 billion dollars, which is a lot of money even in the United States. At the close of World War No. 1 the United States had a national debt of $26 billion. The Government now has how much? $100 billion!

Sanford is going to celebrate the Fourth of July at home this year. With the annual exodus to the beach somewhat curtailed by gasoline restrictions and transportation difficulties, there should be plenty of people in Sanford to witness the parade as well as to participate in it. It should be a gala occasion.

To sign or not to sign, that is the question which is confronting President Roosevelt as he contemplates the "no strike bill" which is vigorously demanded by the nation at large and as vigorously opposed by labor in general. Of course he could let it become law without his signature, but that would be hardly the way of a strong man.

Something for the South to consider, something for Florida to ponder, are the figures submitted in Congress the other day by the surgeon general of the Army who says that Florida ranks highest in syphilis rate in the entire country and that among negroes in this state 100 out of every 1,000 or nearly half, have it. That is a condition which should be corrected, no matter what it takes.

Although it should be up to all government officials to set an example in observance of law and order, a Maryland State Controller drove a state-owned car to Georgia for his son's wedding. The incident reminds us of a former President of the United States who during the prohibition era permitted a cargo of liquor to be brought into the United States in violation of the law for his personal use.

The Supreme Court holds that you cannot compel school children, who do not want to, to salute the flag. To do so would be like compelling William Tell to bow to his hat in the public square. No thing is surer than you cannot install patriotism by force. But the looks and attitudes of one's associates when one refuses or fails to go along with the rest is generally sufficient to effect conformance. We do not see any reason why any American should not want to salute the flag. But we see no reason for becoming alarmed if some scoundrel neglects to do so.

Herald subscribers who complain about carrier boy service can help us to render better service by being courteous and prompt in paying their carrier boys. It is pretty discouraging to a boy who has 100 or 150 customers to be told to come back later when he calls for his money. A few such customers can make his work just twice as hard as if everyone kept just the right change on hand and paid him promptly. And when a boy becomes discouraged he loses interest in his work, is careless and does not try to keep the roads clean.

Argentine Revolution

The army revolt in the Argentine, led by members of democratic and pro-Allied factions, which has resulted in the resignation of President Peron, has been designated by the majority of Argentine citizens as pro-Allied in feeling, and want no more dealings with the Axis. Free elections were demanded by the revolutionaries, as well as a change in international policy.

The demand for change in foreign policy alone might simply mean that the Argentines saw which way the cat was about to jump, and wanted to be on the winning side. But the serious and strong demand for free elections goes deeper into revolutionary and democratic feeling. It makes the revolt seem like a sincere effort at democracy.

The full inside story of the Argentine for the last few years remains to be told. But in any case, this latest move gives a sense of relief to all other nations in North and South America. If the democratic, pro-Allied party can hold its gain and remain in power, there will be less danger from fifth columns in these parts. It will be a battle won in the submarine warfare.

Letter Writing

Letter writing, once in danger of becoming almost a lost art, has come into its own once again, as wives and sweethearts are separated from their loved ones by the hundreds of thousands. Probably never before in the history of this country has the desire to be a good letter writer been so widespread.

Some excellent suggestions for home-folks on what to write soldiers, sailors and marines are contained in a recent bulletin from the Office of War Information. You can't write about the weather because that is a military secret, but here's what you can tell him:

- 1. How the family is doing everything possible to help in the war.
2. How anxious the family is for the boy's return.
3. How the family is getting along financially.
4. How well and busy the family is. Give details.
5. What's doing in the community—news about girls (single) he knows, doings of friends, who's marrying whom, exploits of the home team and other sports events, social doings, effects of the war on the home town. Reminiscence a little about past events and places the boy used to visit. Enclose clippings from the home town paper.
DON'T TELL HIM:
1. Your troubles. He has troubles of his own.
2. Your complaints. He can't do anything about them.
3. About things you are deprived of. He can't supply them.
4. Doleful predictions about the future. He's fighting for that future now.
5. Unnecessary details about financial troubles. If there are things he should know about family finances, and he is in a position to do something about the situation, tell him. But don't string it out.

No One Ever Kicks A Dead Dog

"How can you control your emotions?" asks Dale Carnegie in Your Life magazine. "A book of four hundred pages would be required to answer that question adequately; but, quickly, briefly, here is one suggestion that has helped others immensely: Always try to find some bright spot in a situation that threatens to upset you."

"For example, back in 1929, a national convention was created in educational circles when, at the age of thirty, Robert Maynard Hutchins was inaugurated as president of the University of Chicago.

The older generation shook their heads. Criticism roared down upon him like a shale slide overwhelming a mountain goat. He was this and he was that. "Too young, inexperienced!" His educational ideas were cockeyed! The very day he was inaugurated, a Chicago paper denounced him in an editorial.

"When his father, Dr. William James Hutchins, read that editorial he might have become indignant because his son had been attacked unfairly; he might have set his heart pounding, his stomach churning and made himself miserable for days. Most fools would have done precisely that; but the senior Dr. Hutchins, president of Berea College, Kentucky, realized that there is usually some bright prospect, some redeeming factor, in almost every situation no matter how bad it may seem.

"So, in a flash, he saw that this newspaper attack was in reality a tribute to his son's achievement. He remembered that Lord Bacon declared that if you are never criticized, that is a sure sign you are nobody. So Dr. Hutchins took the editorial criticism as a compliment. "No one ever kicks a dead dog," was all he said. "The next time you and I are tempted to give way to fear or worry or resentment, let's try to find the silver lining—just as Dr. Hutchins did."

Twenty Years Ago Today

Miss Dorothy Kump, a charming bride-to-be of next week was the honoree yesterday afternoon when Miss Florence Henry and Mrs. Donald Whitcomb entertained at a miscellaneous shower at the home of the former on Magnolia Avenue.

Green and white brick ice cream and angle food cake, iced with white, carrying out the color scheme were served by: Misses Anna DuBoise, Catherine Byrd, Sarita Lake, Carmeta Barber, Claire Zachry, Ruth Henry and Mrs. Raymond Phillips. On each plate were miniature brides in dainty dresses of crepe with little veils, fastened on the top of the cake. About 65 guests enjoyed the delightful social courtesy.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

Triumphant in Congress as no recent president ever has been, Roosevelt faces now on his own real test—his power to pull the country out of its slump.

In honor of Miss Gladys Handerson, Ned Nancy, Bill Stamper and Roy Echols, members of the 1933 graduating class of Seminole High School, a number of their friends entertained with a picnic Wednesday night at Sand Lando Springs with Mrs. J. D. Dossy, Mrs. L. M. Leinhardt, Mrs. Don McDonald and Mrs. W. M. Hays as hostesses.

Present with the honor guests were: the Misses Martha McDevitt, Freda Gans, Sara Hays, Edna Leinhardt, Marion Hays, Mary Louise Walsh of Wilton, and Mrs. C. G. ...

FROM A WAAC AT DAYTONA BEACH

But the track from your own party's area. Yes, sergeant, but I awake nights thinking of things for private as it is. I have gone the whole again and it's on the double for us to form for our little walk to lunch. Here's what I like about this meal and my pet. I walk back on my beautiful white smooth beach with the same beautiful sea that is so near to you, looking on the shore as I walk along. March back again to afternoon class and home just in time to change shoes and get on beach for physical training. After the physical and that over, the most loved time of all, the day (if you will) is the time when you can take your toothbrush and towel before you or more others get the same idea (which they always do), slip over the surface lightly and in 15 minutes must, with the same old whistle and a call of "Fall out on the double," begin our platoon formation outdoors. It is really dark out, just before dawn, but with roll taken we can rush back to ready our rooms for inspection. Clothes must be hung just as, bed made absolutely according to Army regulation, shoes polished, strings in, in order to a row under bed, no dust or dirt anywhere! That is just a sample, but when your Company Commander inspects, she finds something! To make our cleaning a little more exciting there are not enough brooms and such to go around, but we soon learn to snuff out at night and place it carefully in the closet. "Fall out again at 6:45 and march in formation about eight blocks to the Cleason Hotel where we eat all our meals. I won't gripe about our food, even in fun, because I treacherously think they do a fine job. We go back to our quarters as we wish but no loitering. Eight o'clock must see us once again near the Cleason where we begin classes that carry us through to 11:30, when we march back once more just to give us time enough to run to our room with a sigh and sink to the floor for a rest. Bed must be ready for inspection until 4:30 P.M. and no room for chairs. A free minute is too good to be true, of course, so the dear old sergeant once again blows her treaty horn and we are told to police grounds. That means picking up everything

Marine communications men built it under fire. And it has been kept built. The "Guadalcanal Tel & Tel" covers well over a thousand miles of wire. That is where some of your telephone material went. Families And Service Men Enjoy Picnics

Over 100 service men and their families attended the weekly Sunday USO picnic at Sanlando and a number of the sailors expressed their enjoyment of this type of entertainment to William J. Weis, camp director, because, they said, while family groups may attend, a feature of the picnic which is growing more popular, Mr. Weisop said, is group singing with guitar accompaniment by Willard Connelly.

Railroad Travel Rush Spreads Through Nation

Officials Fearful Of July 4 Congestion, But Oppose Curbs

CHICAGO, June 16—Congestion and over-crowds on passenger trains has been mounting rapidly in the last two or three weeks throughout the country, but railroad officials are still confident that rationing of space or some other drastic measure to curtail civilian travel can be avoided, a survey in this railroad capital of the nation indicates.

Traffic managers of the major railroads admitted almost without exception that passenger service, as a result of the current travel spurt, is fast approaching the saturation point in most areas, with congested conditions that have prevailed for some time on eastern railroads spreading now over the rest of the country. Both military and civilian travel appear to be heading toward weeks of furloughs and the latter because of the advent of the vacation season. Railroad men here believe that the long July 4 week end may provide the crucial test of the ability of the carriers to meet both demands without some system of travel priorities.

Some Stand 12 Hours

The consensus, however, is that the congestion will discourage enough civilians from making non-essential trips to ease the situation before the break down point is reached.

The extent of the congestion is indicated by the fact that many through trains are leaving and arriving Chicago with almost as many standees as seated passengers in the coaches. Travelers report having to stand in the aisles and on the platforms of coaches from as far as Pittsburgh and Omaha, Neb.—both trips of over twelve hours—although such experiences are not the general rule.

The sleeping car situation is equally acute, both east and west from Chicago. All Pullman accommodations on popular trains to the West Coast were reported today to be booked a month in advance, space to New York and Washington—with few exceptions is sold out a week ahead.

Business men finding it necessary to go from Chicago to eastern cities on short notice, particularly on week ends, have been offering as much as $50 for a berth or bed room to persons holding space engaged in advance on eastbound trains.

Furlough Travel Blamed

Passenger agents reported, however, that this situation is alleviated somewhat by the fact that some Pullman accommodations usually become available a few hours before train time. This space is either released by last-minute cancellations or through the addition of an extra car or two to the train.

Railroad men placed the major blame for the current congestion on furlough travel by service men. It is a common experience, they said, for 500 to 1000 soldiers to appear unexpectedly on the platform of some remote station and completely fill the coaches of a through train, thus displacing the passenger service of an entire line.

The heavy furlough travel is a

Soldiers On Army Maneuvers Given Excellent Care

SECOND ARMY MANEUVER HEADQUARTERS, 50 M. E. WHERE IN TENNESSEE — June 16, (Special) So your soldier has become ill on maneuvers, and you're worried about him, because, after all, the hospital he's in is only a tent. But you needn't worry—that tent hospital has its own motto—"We can do everything that the most modern civilian hospital can do"—and it can prove it.

The quote is from Lt. Col. C. F. Adams of Abilene, Texas. If he said just after operating on a soldier with acute appendicitis in a tent of an Evacuation Hospital, training with Second Army troops for war zone service and at the same time taking care of the illnesses and injuries that are bound to accompany such a large group of maneuvering army.

The operating room in which the soldier lost his appendix wasn't whitewashed, and there was a minimum of chromium plate. There's a minimum of germicidal lamps after operating on a patient. The operating room has an emergency lighting system for use if generators ever fail. The tents are of blackout material and can't be seen at night, although brightly lighted inside.

Against the time when it may be serving troops who have been in the hospital without a chance to bathe, the hospital has special unit for sterilizing venous clothing. The same unit will provide the soldier with clean clothes while his clothing is being refreshed.

Three gasoline operated generators supply electricity for operating room and laboratory, and the operating room has an emergency lighting system for use if generators ever fail. The tents are of blackout material and can't be seen at night, although brightly lighted inside.

as taking pulse and temperature, is taken off the nurse's overworked shoulders by the enlisted staff.

The hospital follows a carefully moving army while remaining in continuous operation. When the time to move comes, half of the set-up transfers its patients to the other half, then is lead on trucks and moved to the new location. This half—or, as the army calls it, the forward echelon—can be torn down and loaded in six hours, and be in operation again six hours after the new site is reached. Meantime, the rear echelon is evacuating its patients to general or convalescent hospitals and also getting ready to move.

When fully set up, the hospital has almost 300 tents, including those which house the staff.

A hospital loading or setting up reminds you of a circus. It should be because the army copied circus methods. Every tent has its own truck, and everything in that tent canvas, poles, beds, securis, equipment—has its own place in the truck. With enough practice, the hospital can be set up in darkness, which is what will have to be done in a war zone.

Three gasoline operated generators supply electricity for operating room and laboratory, and the operating room has an emergency lighting system for use if generators ever fail. The tents are of blackout material and can't be seen at night, although brightly lighted inside.

Tom Sharkey Says Police Kept Him From Winning Heavyweight Title; Mack, Barrow Differ On Infields

By DILLON GRAHAM
AP Features Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 16.—Sailor Tom Sharkey says the police kept him from winning the world heavyweight boxing championship fight with Jim Corbett in San Francisco, June 28, 1905, while he was still in the Navy, and in New York in 1908. Each time the match was stopped by the police "I was the unluckiest man in the world with Corbett," reminisces Sharkey. "I could have been champion in 1905 except for the police. The first time I fought him was in the old Mechanics Pavilion in San Francisco. I floored him in the first round. He was a clutch one. He'd hold me in a clinch and say to the referee, 'Why don't you make this man quit hitting?' The referee jumped into the ring and stopped it in the fourth round. It was called a draw and there I was, way out in front on points.

"In New York, the police stopped it in the ninth round. Honest John Kelly, the referee, gave me the decision on a foul and called all bets off. Corbett wasn't champ then.

"In 1907, when Corbett lost the title to Fitzsimmons at Carson City, Nev., I put up $10,000 to fight the winner but got the run around. I had won from Fitz on a 7th round foul the year before, 1909, when I also boxed Sullivan a three-round exhibition.

Sailor Tom had 54 official fights from 1893 to 1904 and lost to only four men, twice to Jeffries, twice to Gus Ruhlin, whom he knocked once in 27 seconds of the first round; once to Fitzsimmons and to Pete Everett. He was never knocked out but was stopped twice, by Fitzsimmons and Ruhlin. He won his first 18 bouts by knockouts, 11 of them in the first round.

Sharkey laughs now over the only match he lost on a foul—to Pete Everett, a miner and local favorite in Cripple Creek. He knocked out Pete with one punch on the bout opened. The referee turned away. "I rushed over to him and said why don't you count that man out?" Pete wins on a foul," he said. "Like I do, I hit him on the jaw." I said, "The referee pulled out a .44 gun and said, 'I said Pete wins on a foul.' I looked at the gun and said O.K. 'You win.'"

Sharkey, now living in San Francisco, is hale and hearty as he approaches his seventieth birthday. He is a government patrolman at the San Francisco Port of Embarkation.

NEARLY 30 years after he broke up his famous $100,000 infield, Connie Mack still regards that quartet as just about the best in baseball history.

"It was the best infield I ever had," Connie says when conversation turns to the combination of Stuffy McInnis at first base, Eddie Collins at second, Jack Barry at short and Frank Baker at third. "There were two outstanding infields" the sage of Shibe Park declares. "The other was the Chicago Cubs' Chance, Evers, Tinker and Steinfeldt. There has been a lot of discussion over which was better."

The infield that cost Mack "practically nothing" gained the $100,000 label after their antics on the diamond had brought the A's four championships and two world series triumphs during the 1910-1914 era. If the foursome had played a decade later, in Babe Ruth's day, it probably would have been known as the million dollar infield.

Connie explained to our Philadelphia operative, Ted Meier, that he was able to get the four for practically nothing because there

Daring Football Expected; Anything Can Happen, Says Bible

AP Features

AUSTIN, Tex.—There will be no danger of over-coaching in college football next season. So says Dana Y. Bible, the veteran University of Texas mentor, who takes the view that the boys will not have much time for athletics and "we certainly will not go through long drills on fundamentals."

"There is a big question as to whether the military groups will have time to take part in inter-collegiate athletics," he said. "If they do have some free time, we certainly should not use all of it in hard grind. We shall have our practices short, snappy and as interesting as possible."

But he thinks the same will have a lot of color. "You can't just expect anything to happen," Bible commented. "In other words, it will be more or less wide open—rather daring."

He also anticipates good attendance at games played in the thickly populated areas.

"There is plenty of money in circulation and I think these games will be well-attended," he explained. "But there is not going to be the intense interest of other years, and with the people wanting to co-operate in regard to travel and with rationing of gasoline, time, etc., I don't believe people from a distance will come to the games."

He thinks attendance will hold up at Austin, Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth but says "I would imagine places like College Station (where Texas A. and M. is located) and Fayetteville, Ark. (site of the University of Arkansas) would be pretty hard hit."

Bible definitely believes football should be carried on in wartime. "I just don't believe there is any training with the exception of military tactics that prepares a boy more perfectly for the armed forces than a vigorous competitive program," he asserted. "Commenting on the prospect of the use of squads next fall, he said the schools will get their players from army and navy groups sent back for special courses, from reservists not called to active service, and from other sources.

An announcement recently from Capt. John L. London, commandant of naval unit at the university, indicated that V-12 trainees will be able to participate in football—even on road trips. Capt. London said these trainees may take short out-of-town trips and that leaves may be extended in emergencies or on special conditions.

The Southwest Conference has passed rules permitting trainees to participate in intercollegiate athletics.

Prague, capital of Czechoslovakia, has a wealth of medieval architecture equalled by few other European cities.

ENRICHED

SWISS APPLE CHARLOTTE

This recipe was a favorite of the famous editor of Gourmet when she was abroad. It was served frequently in Switzerland and France. You will find the delicate flavor and the sugar saving quality of the beautiful combination of apples and toasted bread.

12-14 slices stale bread
3 cups cooked apples

1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 cup sugar

Trim crusts from bread and butter both sides. Line bottom and sides of buttered loaf pan so that it is completely covered with buttered bread slices. Combine cooked apples, sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg and fill pan. Place buttered bread slices over top. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes or until brown. Turn out and serve with cold custard.

A.E.F. Gasoline Is Released To Ease Crisis

100,000 Barrels Distributed But Little Effect Is Noticed

NEW YORK CITY, June 16.—(AP) One hundred thousand barrels of the gasoline stored in New York for the use of the armed forces were released for civilian use during the last week in an effort to alleviate the serious shortage in this area, it was disclosed yesterday at the New York regional office of the Petroleum Administration for War.

The release gasoline, which was taken from reserve stocks that could be replenished before ships had arrived to transport it overseas, was apportioned to a number of large gasoline distributors so that it would go through the regular trade channels. Nearly all of it had been moved by yesterday.

Although the 100,000 barrels or 4,200,000 gallons, represents nearly one-third of the daily allotment in June for the entire seven-state Eastern area, it had apparently had little effect up to today upon the retail gasoline supply in New York.

Louis Kimmel, business manager of the Gasoline Merchants of Brooklyn & Queens, Inc., 4710 Clarendon Road, Brooklyn, said that three-quarters of the association's member stations were closed Saturday, and would remain closed over the week-end.

Sixty inspectors of the Office of Price Administration, assisted by police, were out Sunday looking for gas assure drivers, they will continue their scrutiny of announced that in the twenty-four-hour period ended at midnight Friday, sixty motorists had been questioned by police and registration numbers of 378 automobiles were taken for investigation by the O.P.A.

Meat Plants In Cincinnati Closed Today

Packers Insist Beef Costs Them More Than They Are Allowed To Sell It For

CINCINNATI, June 18, (AP)—Virtually all greater Cincinnati beef, veal and lamb packing plants were closed today, or in the process of closing, because, officials said, they could not operate under the Federal price ceiling regulations. One spokesman said, "We have lost $45,000 in the last six weeks. Beef has been costing us about 27 cents a pound and we sell it at 23 cents."

London, June 18, (AP)—Food Minister Lord Woolton, replying to a housewife who asked when the butter ration of two ounces weekly would be increased, said, "You'll get more butter—probably in 1946."

Jacksonville, June 18, (AP)—The OPA acted yesterday to halt an epidemic of retail price increases in beer and soft drinks here.

Many stores were reported to have jumped their soft drink prices from five cents to six, seven, eight and ten cents. Increase in beer prices from 11 to 15 cents a bottle also was reported in a number of cases. Warning that violators of price ceilings are subject to fines or imprisonment, A. W. Pikepost, district OPA price officer, said: "Price increases in these items are prohibited and will be discontinued. We are advising all retailers that price cannot be raised above the March, 1942, ceiling."

Men Delinquent At Draft Board Asked To Report

E. B. Carter, selective service clerk, today called attention to a large number of men listed as delinquent in reporting for physical examination, appearing for induction, and in filling out questionnaires. "If anyone should know the whereabouts of these registrants please report to his board at once," he requested. "If these registrants fail to report and we do not get information on them, they will be turned over to the F.B.I. for prosecution," he added. The following negro registrants are listed as delinquent as to physical examination: Sylvester Wilson, Leroy James, Horodun Williams, Eddie Lewis, Freddie Baker, James Ditts Charles, Clifton Wesley Thomas, John Henry Lee, Harry Topples, James Mack Williams, Wilbert Davis, Sylvester Pringle, Willie Nell, Nick Igerville, Willie Flager, George Anderson, Paul Blake, Jr., J. Parrish Named Head Of United Growers

ORLANDO, June 18, (AP)—A concerted drive to seek substitution of pound per acre citrus price ceiling at the retail level rather than the wholesale level now being used under present OPA regulations was ordered by members of United Growers and Shippers Association yesterday at their annual meeting. J. Parrish of Titusville, was named head of the drive. Parrish is a member of the United Growers and Shippers Association and is one of the most outstanding leaders of the industry. He was elected president of the association at the meeting. Parrish is a graduate of the University of Florida and has been in the citrus business for many years. He is also a member of the National Citrus Association and the Florida Citrus Growers' Association. (Continued on Page Two)

Audit Made Of County Affairs Shows Soundness

The affairs of the Board of Commissioners of Seminole County, according to the recent general county audit by W. R. England, assistant state auditor, have been efficiently and economically managed, and the County is in sound financial condition. "Budgets have been properly prepared, the audit states," and with the exception of a few individual items, have not been exceeded. Records have been well kept. Depository balances are satisfactorily secured. "The Board is in good condition as to both its current obligations and funded debt," according to the audit report of the Board, which covers the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, 1941 and Sept. 30, 1942. "The finances of the county appear to have been well administered and expenditures closely matched," it is stated. "There was an increase in resources amounting to $19,817.02, and a reduction in outstanding indebtedness including the above item of $81,843.29. Expenditures during the last year were greater than during the first year covered by this audit, but analysis of the expenditures shows that the increase was caused mainly by war conditions. Current expenses are promptly paid. "The bonded debt of the county was refunded Jan. 1, 1941, and maturing in 1946 with interest (Continued on Page Two)

WLB Hands Mine Dispute To The Courts

Labor Leaders Urge President Roosevelt To Veto The Anti-Strike Legislation

WASHINGTON, June 18, (AP)—The War Labor Board decision on the soft coal wage dispute is expected today and informed sources say it will leave up to litigation the issue of partial to partial pay. The bulletin is expected to say in effect that the board is passing up for a ruling on the issue and that if the miners feel they have a case they may turn to the courts.

WASHINGTON, June 18, (AP)—Three of organized labor's leading spokesmen advised President Roosevelt yesterday that the labor disputes bill now before him would hamstring the AFL and CIO to withdraw from it. They said the bill would virtually destroy unions and minority rights, violating the guarantee of free speech, and encourage strikes.

Call It Wicked. The three leaders said the legislation "is a wicked, vicious bill, it is the worst anti-labor bill passed by congress in the last 100 years in any form of covert or malicious. It is the very essence of Fascism. It destroys the philosophy of voluntarism on which free trade unions are founded."

Their memorandum cited a section of the bill which provides that no member of the WLB shall participate in any decision in which the interests of an employer, officer, employee, or representative of either party to the dispute are involved.

Officers of Central Florida, Inc. of which Mayor William Beardall of Orlando is president and Mayor Higgins is secretary, addressed the meeting.

Capt. Woods Asks 100 Boys To Be At Boys' Club On Monday Morning

The opportunity for Sanford boys to have their own club, club house and grounds has at last arrived, according to Capt. George Woods, director, who stated that the old Hines home at French Avenue and Tenth Street has been donated by the City for use as a boy's club, as well as the block on which it is the sole structure. Capt. Woods said today he wants at least 100 boys equipped with hammers, shovels, hand saws, nails of any size, peck of any color, paint brushes and buckets to report at 9:00 o'clock Monday morning at the Club House to start repainting and transforming it into a suitable boy's club. "There are a lot of things to be done here," he said. "The boys will be able to do for themselves such as painting, fixing windows, repairing window screens, and cleaning up in general." In addition there will be bookshelves to be built, lockers to be built, and game tables to be made. "Outside of the club there will be a baseball field, a tennis court, a boxing ring, making jumping pits, fixing up concrete base, tramp rope and swings to be built, and a lot of things to be done. We need a lot of boys. Boys are requested to come in

Wounded, But She Lives To Sail Again

This gallant Allied cargo ship lies on a deck of the U.S. transport ship, awaiting the loading of repairsmen who will send her again to the west. She was damaged during the attack on the transport ship, but she survived and is now being repaired. The ship is being loaded with supplies and equipment for the war effort. (Continued on Page Two)

Enlargement Of Ration Program Indicated OPA

More Funds Demanded To Include Items Not Rationed Now

WASHINGTON, June 18, (AP)—Food, milk, clothing and electricity hold the list of possible new rationing programs although petroleum was also mentioned. It was highlighted by the publication of a report by the OPA budget in which funds were asked against the continuation of a more rationing program that may be necessary during the fiscal year ending July 1. Officials said they do not intend to ration gasoline, but they are expected to be ordered to ration other items. "Some other food or beverage besides milk are considered as rationing possibilities for rationing and restriction and other national food items may be controlled separately from the general ration plan."
