

WATERWAYS IMPORTANT AS FLORIDA GOOD ROADS SAYS SANFORD COMMITTEE

GOOD REPORT SUBMITTED TO HIGHWAYS MEETING

Annual meeting of the Central Florida Highway Association was held in Kissimmee, in accordance with call, June 14th. Sanford and Seminole county were represented by Committee Chairman C. R. Walker, Secretary E. T. Woodruff and Member Executive Committee O. P. Swope. The necessary business was attended to, pending matters disposed of, reports, listened to, interesting addresses made by several, including Senator Carson of Kissimmee, State Representative F. W. Perry of Ft. Myers, after which the Kissimmee people entertained the delegates and visitors handsomely with a dinner at the Graystone.

The officers of the Association were re-elected: T. Ed. Bryan, president, L. P. Dickie, secretary and so on down, with the exception of Vice President M. M. Smith who positively declines, withdrawing in favor of St. Petersburg's delegate, Mr. L. A. Whitney. The Association was loath to relieve Mr. Smith, whose telling work in behalf of good roads in connection with this organization is greatly appreciated. However Mr. Smith, assured the assembly that he would be with the movement heart and soul, just the same and as much as ever.

Among the most interesting and important of the reports presented was that of the Waterways Committee, prepared and submitted by Secretary Woodruff and followed by an eloquent and forceful appeal for the cause from Chairman Walker. The delegates testified their hearty approval of both the report and the following plea by vigorous applause. Sanford and Haines City were considered as places for holding the December meeting, the latter winning when the votes were counted, it being considered more central and thus better accommodating those coming from the southern parts of the district. The waterway report being of general interest we give same in full as below:

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Central Florida Highway Association:

Your Committee on Waterways begs leave to report as follows: Fully realizing that the development and construction of the Florida link of the Great Intra Coastal Waterway Maine to Key West is of largest importance and inconceivable value to our state and populace as well as to the nation, this committee has conscientiously let nothing get by that could possibly be utilized in furtherance of this commercially and strategically invaluable project. Briefly as may be resuming what has been attempted and accomplished, it should be stated that on November 14 and 15 last was held at Ft. Lauderdale the third annual meeting of the Florida East Coast Canal Association, Secretary E. T. Woodruff was delegated to attend and foster the interests for which this committee was appointed. At that meeting he urged getting together of the East Coast Canal advocates with the natural and engineer recommended St. Johns route boosters, in the belief that by so doing tangible results would follow, whereas with contending factions claiming recognition, accomplishment was delayed and indeed prevented.

The idea of uniting took much better than was to have been anticipated, the outcome of which was a call for a mass meeting to be held in Sanford, February 2nd, 1917. On the date named, delegates from most of the eighteen counties directly in touch with routes stated assembled. The object of the conference was outlined by Mr. Woodruff who then called Mr. C. R. Walker to the chair. Addresses were made and discussion was general. Among the good and practical things presented was a lengthy elucidation from Consulting Engineer Isham Randolph of Chicago, well known through out the country as well as in Florida and needing no introduction to a Kissimmee audience, owing to the fact of his identification with projects for developing this state having led to his some time since report on improving Kissimmee River for navigation and by that improvement drainage a vast acreage of valuable land herabouts. His views, entire, could with profit be repeated to this assembly, but time forbids. A single pertinent paragraph should, however be recorded here, as it points the judgment of an expert, and that judgment you will note is precisely in line with the official decision of the Board of Engineers. In his Scientific review of the subject, Mr. Randolph says, "I am not the champion of any favored route, but I can see advantages of one route over another, and I should be derelict in my duty if I did not point out the items which constitute these advantages. From Jacksonville to Sanford, a distance of 131 miles, the St. Johns river, Lake George and Lak Monroe afford a waterway which would but little expenditure of money for dredging to give it the desired depth of 12 feet. It is entirely proper, for our military and naval authorities to consider every public improvement upon which the United States is expected to expend money from the viewpoint of its usefulness to the army and navy in time of war, hence, an interior channel, out of reach of the guns of a hostile fleet would have the preference over a channel so near the coast that it could be swept by gun fire. But it may be urged that the St. Johns route can only be carried, we will say, to Salt Lake Creek, and then a channel must be cut across into Indian River, and from thence vessels using the waterway would be exposed to gun fire. This is a true statement of the case, but if the passage from Jacksonville to Miami, or Key West must be made, it is far preferable that 171 miles should be made in safety than that the whole voyage should run the gauntlet under hostile fire."

After due consideration and discussion the mass meeting voted a committee on resolutions, which committee requested and received suggestions, from any and all disposed, and later appeared with the below, which was unanimously adopted:

Whereas our public roads are being successfully and rapidly built and improved by public local cooperation under the Government agencies of counties, or special tax road districts;

And Whereas our public water roads are either lying idle and neglected, or are being unsuccessfully and slowly improved by either private exploitation or by the United States under the jurisdiction of the War Department;

And Whereas in Texas and other states the land road system is being applied to water roads and the construction of artificial and the improvement of natural waterways is being undertaken by public local cooperation under the Government agency of Navigation Districts;

And Whereas the water highways, both rivers and lakes, of Florida are greater in extent and of more importance than those of any state in the Union;

And Whereas the East Coast of Florida and South Florida have not reached a stage of development that requires for continued economic progress, the speedy and practical improvement of our main waterways;

Resolved, That a Navigation District be created comprising the counties of Duval, St. Johns, Clay, Marion, Putnam, Volusia, Brevard, Lake, Seminole, Polk, Osceola, St. Lucie, Palm Beach, Dade, Lee, DeSoto and Broward, for the construction of improvement of the following water highways:

From Jacksonville to Key West and the Gulf of Mexico, via the following routes: The St. Johns Valley, Kissimmee Valley, Lake Okeechobee, Caloosahatchee Valley, the entire East Coast

RUSSIANS ORDERED TO PROCEED

LITTLE NEWS FROM EITHER FRONT--ZEP DESTROYED

Another Zeppelin airship and its entire crew has been accounted for by a British aviator. Flying high on a bomb dropping raid on the Kentish coast of England, the monster aircraft was set on fire by the guns of a pilot of the Royal Flying Corps, who went up to give it battle, and the Zeppelin fell a mass of flames, to the ground. Another dirigible that accompanied the raider made its escape.

Little fighting, except by the artillery wings is taking place on any of the various war fronts. On the front in France held by the British, aside from the artillery duel, there have been only minor operations in the nature of raids and a continuation of the aerial activity that has been so pronounced for weeks past.

Near Hurbach, the Germans, in a night attack seized portions of trenches held by the French, but later were forced to give back most of them in a counter attack. On various sectors artillery duels are in progress. Considerable activity continues in Belgium in the regions of Stenstrate and Helvaux.

In Macedonia, the artillery duels that have been in progress for several weeks are still going on, but the expected infantry attacks have not yet been developed. Meanwhile the Entente forces continue to throw troops into Thessaly, the occupation of various towns having been accomplished without untoward incident. French cavalry now has reached Pharsala and Domokos, south of Larissa, while Demiri has been occupied by the British.

Although quiet still prevails on the Russian front, there seemingly is an indication that hostilities soon will begin there. The Russian Duma has passed a resolution calling that a separate peace with Germany would be treason toward Russia's Allies.

Petrograd, June 17.—The Duma, in secret session has passed a resolution for an immediate offensive by the Russian troops.

The resolution declares a separate peace with Germany or prolonged inactivity on the battle front to be ignominious treason toward Russia's allies, for which future generations never would pardon the Russia of the present day.

"The Duma therefore considers," the resolution adds, "that the safety of Russia and the maintenance of the liberties which have been obtained lie in an immediate offensive in close cooperation with Russia's allies."

Petrograd (via London), June 17.—The announcement last week that the cabinet had decided to suggest a conference of the Entente Allies for examination of treaties was followed today by the publication of the note sent to the other government in question.

The note suggests a conference to revise the agreements existing among the Allies as to war with the exception of the London agreement, which provides that none of the signatory powers shall conclude a separate peace.

Petrograd, June 16.—(via London, June 17)—The first act of the Pan-Russian congress of all councils of workmen and soldiers' delegates, upon which depends the immediate destiny of Russia in regard to both international and domestic questions was to ratify the expulsion by the provisional government of the Swiss Socialist, Robert Grimm, who is reported to have been the medium through which the Germans attempted to arrange a separate peace with Russia.

Grimm's case was taken up when the congress assembled tonight, immediately after the delegates had elected as their president N.-G. Tcheldse, president of the Petrograd Council of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates. Grimm's expulsion was approved by a vote of 640 to 121.

FLAG RAISING A. C. L. DEPOT BIG EVENT

PATRIOTIC RAILROAD EMPLOYEES HOIST OLD GLORY ALOFT

With a program unexcelled by any previous occasion and with an audience of not less than one thousand persons, Old Glory was lifted and turned loose to the breeze over the Atlantic Coast Line passenger station Sunday at four o'clock.

The flag production and raising was the result of combined effort on the part of the official staff and local employees of the company in Sanford and heading the list as their chairman was A. D. Parrish, chief dispatcher, who is well known for his energy and enthusiasm once he takes hold of a thing.

Not a hitch came about in the carrying out of the program. The flag, a large one, was used by Miss Adeline H. G. a member of the ex-superintendent's family, and in even time the flag reached the top of the flag pole precisely as the band finished the Star Spangled Banner, and caught by a smart wind from the south, seemed to reach toward the north, mutely telling of a solid Union, never to break again. The Home Guard augmented by the Lieut. Kitchin's command from Monroe, drawing water in attendance under the command of Capt. Geo. Herring, and during the flag raising stood at attention and salute.

The speaker of the occasion was Hon. Cary D. Landis, and in his masterful way he told the story of the flag from its birth in '76 to the present day and pointed the prediction that at the end of the present hostilities, without doubt Old Glory would be victorious and have a bigger, better meaning because of our fight for democracy and justice.

Other speakers were Rev. Brownlee of the Presbyterian church and Rev. Hyman of the Baptist church, both of whom paid tribute and all honor to the flag and to our leaders.

The last speaker was representative of E. W. Hansen, of the Coast Line, and in no uncertain terms Mr. Hansen announced that all grace to the flag. He spoke of the one hundred per cent loyalty of the Coast Line men and advised that no sacrifice was too great, no burden too heavy to bear in order to make our flag again victorious and to bolster up and carry out the wishes and commands of our President and congress.

Chief Dispatcher Parrish closed the program in well chosen words and again spoke his appreciation of the large attendance and the success of the occasion.

Board of Trade

Business is better today in Sanford than it has been in six years and instead of beginning a summer in a dull way, every prospect for a business increase is in evidence.

The Board of Trade is every day receiving inquiries for homes, farms and various kinds of business interests. The latest wants are from two gentlemen who wish to construct a modern steam laundry in Sanford and another who wants to establish a candy manufactory, and still another who wants to open up a branch ostrich and alligator farm in Sanford.

Mayor Scot Beaton of Waycross, Ga., and Mr. J. M. English of Clearwater were Board of Trade visitors Saturday night. These gentlemen are the guests of Mr. Geo. McDougal, who is one of the most progressive Board of Trade members in the city.

The board of governors' meeting was well attended last night with Mr. C. R. Walker, acting president in the absence of Mr. F. F. Dutton, who is away on business. Several matters of importance came up and were handled in a very satisfactory way.

When the North Chapter of the Red Cross made their county levies they taxed Seminole county to the limit simply because they know that Seminole's slogan "producing not

PRESIDENT DESIGNATES THIS RED CROSS WEEK ASKS YOUR ASSISTANCE

CHAIRMAN NEAL WANTS CO-OPERATION OF SEMINOLE COUNTY

This is Red Cross week arranged by the order of President Wilson and the Seminole branch will make special efforts in interesting every one in this county to take a hand in assisting in this great work. Dr. T. A. Neal, the chairman, makes an appeal to you in the following letter to The Herald:

By special proclamation President Wilson has set aside this week as Red Cross week and urges everybody to do all in their power to help in raising funds for war relief. This means that we must not only contribute of our means for the relief of our own boys who will be ill or injured but help our allies who have long borne the brunt of the fighting, for they are fighting for our liberty as well as their own.

Let us not make the mistake that England did of sending our boys to the firing line without ample provision for taking care of them. She, like ourselves was unprepared when her first troops were hurried to the front, and consequently many of her soldiers suffered for the lack of necessary means of relief. This is no longer a need that is distant it is near at hand. Our own brave boys are going daily to don Khaki and shoulder the rifle. Let us have the equipment go forward on the same boat or ahead of them to take proper care of them.

The subscriptions can be paid all at once, if you are able, but by monthly installments, if you prefer. This is really the better plan, because you will then use self sacrifice in anticipation of the monthly payments and your contribution will thus be better for you as well as for the boys at the front.

Special committees will call on you this week for your contributions. Please make them as liberal as your means will justify. If the committee fail to find you look them up and give your contribution anyway. There will be a rally Thursday night at seven thirty in the park, enlivened by music by our local band. The home guard and the squad of soldiers guarding the bridge at Monroe, will be here to give us a demonstration drill. Let every loyal citizen who appreciates his liberty, who cherishes the memory of our brave patriots who died to obtain that liberty, who hopes to hand this heritage down to his children and his children's children come forward and help in this fund which is so urgently needed.

BIG WORK FOR CHILDREN

Mother of Sanford, will you not send your boys and girls to the Woman's Club on Wednesday morning at ten o'clock? There is going to be a big meeting of children for the purpose of assisting the Red Cross in its whirlwind campaign for the war fund. The children are to give the mites—pennies, nickels, dimes and quarters, preferably from their own little savings but they are going to have a part to play in the grand work. Will you help? Girls and boys from five years to sixteen come to this meeting and hear all about it. Every mother who reads this article please tell some other mother to send her child or children. We want to enlist the children, we want their inspiration, enthusiasm and patriotism—an endless chain to send out into Sanford to bring back the pennies for AMERICAN BOYS IN FRANCE.

Junior Guards to Meet

The members of the Junior Guards are requested to meet at the corner of Sixth street and Park avenue on next Thursday evening, 7 o'clock for a short drill and then to march to the park where the special rally is to be held. The troops from Monroe and the Sanford Home Guards are also to march in this rally. It is hoped that every boy in Sanford between the ages of 12 and 17 will join the Junior Guards. Those over 17 should join the regular Home Guards.

Trip to Kansas City

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Chapman and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Russell and children left this morning for Kansas City and will make the entire trip in their cars. They have a trailer with all the camping outfit and with separate folding cots covered and mosquito proof they will be comfortable in the woods each night. Ralph has promised to tell The Herald about the trip after they arrive at their destination.

High Cotton Record

New York, June 18.—There was renewed activity and excitement in the cotton market at the opening today, with pice making new high records for the season. Demand was stimulated by sensational strength in Liverpool and unfavorable private crop reports. Around 25.40 for October, or about $3.50 per bale above Saturday's closing price, the demand was checked by realizing and trading became less active.

Business Meeting at Baptist Church

A business meeting of importance is to be held at the Baptist church on next Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, June 20th. It is urged that all the members of the church be present on account of the importance of the measures to be discussed. Some of them are as follows:

- Report of building committee.
- Appointment of a new building committee.
- Read the legal application for incorporation.
- Discuss matters of discipline.
- All members are urged to be present.

Among The Theatres

Alice Joyce Always Attractive
It has been said that the motion picture star of today has no trouble in looking attractive for she is always cast in a society drama with beautiful frocks and luxurious settings. In "Her Secret," the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon Feature both written and directed by Perry N. Vekroff which is at the Lyric Theatre on Monday one finds Alice Joyce who is cast as a stenographer, most attractive in a tailor made dress and business surroundings. "Sure," as the old Irishman said, "It's not the fine features, but the fine lass that counts." Harry T. Morey is co-starred with Miss Joyce.

"A Woman's Fight"
Geraldine O'Brien, Broadway favorite, to be seen in "A Woman's Fight."

A man is expected to sow his wild oats and then become a useful and respected member of society. Will society let a woman like down a mistake? Can a woman unjustly imprisoned be blamed for using her only weapon to escape? Is any punishment too great for a man who blackmails a very repentant and now thoroughly good woman for what she has done in the past? These are questions asked and answered in the Pathe Gold Rooster Play, "A Woman's Fight." Lyric Tuesday.

"A Woman's Fight," one of the famous Pathe Gold Rooster plays, to be shown at the Lyric Theatre on Tuesday is a powerful drama, which is of special interest to every woman. The play was produced by Popular Plays and Players under the personal direction of Herbert Blache, and it features Geraldine O'Brien, supported by a superior cast, including Thurlow Bergen, the well known "legitimate" star.

RETAILMERCHANTS AID TO PROGRESS

Community Depends on Store-keepers' Progressiveness.

CLOSE TEAMWORK NEEDED

Cities and Towns Are Central Places For the Distribution of Merchandise, Therefore There is a Close Relation Between the Retail Merchant and the Success of His City.

Why is a city?
Because there must be a central place for the distribution of merchandise, says Dr. Frank Stockdale in the Town Development Magazine.

Cities and towns were originally created for this purpose, and they have never lost this primary function, even with the addition of manufacturing interests.

This being so, it is easy to see the close relationship between the retail merchant and the success of his city. The people follow commerce. If the merchant through his retail business fails to provide that standard of barter and exchange the people demand, his city will suffer as a city. I challenge any one to point to a city that is known as a live city that does not have alert, progressive and aggressive merchants. By the same token you will find the dead, declining city the home of merchants who are dead to their opportunities and to the possibilities of retail merchandising.

Every dollar that goes across the counter of a store puts 30 cents into circulation. This money goes to pay salespeople, landlords, bankers, delivery men, insurance, taxes and every other kind of contribution toward the upbuilding of the local community. If these 30 cents are being put into circulation infrequently, that community as a whole will feel the lack of those things which go to make it a desirable place in which to live and work.

The development of his city is in a large measure directly up to the retail merchant. If the degree in which he develops or fails to develop those things which make for good merchandising his city will be developed or retarded. In saying this I do not wish to add anything more to the already heavy burdens the retail merchant now carries, but they are facts of existence and progress in our city life which must be faced.

This is not a criticism of retail merchants either individually or collectively. They are not wholly responsible for the evolution in business that has taken place in this country in the last ten years. They cannot be wholly blamed for the fact that their competition has shifted from the fellow across the street to the department stores of the larger cities and the mail order concerns of national scope. Improved transportation and means of communication have brought these things about, and the average retail merchant finds himself facing a condition for which he is ill prepared. He finds the conditions of merchandising changed almost overnight, while he and his store remain the same. But he cannot shirk the responsibility that affects him directly and every member of his community indirectly. This is the responsibility of keeping at home the trade which is drifting away, carrying with it in its drift the people who make his city and all that city stands for.

The situation, however, is not hopeless. The retail merchant is awakening to his problems and is finding the method of solving them. Just now he is pausing long enough to analyze the whole problem which confronts him. The retail merchant has at last realized the vital and fundamental fact that all the competition that has been and is causing him worry is competition that uses that modern weapon—advertising.

The retailer has taken stock of himself in a measure, and he finds that the only competition that has ever really disturbed him and his community comes from the merchants who advertise. Today he also realizes that advertising is not merely a matter of space. He must use space, but he must use that space to say something really worth while. And to say something that is really worth while he must do something that is really worth while. Stripped of verbiage, the whole proposition comes back to one of common sense and efficiency in retailing.

A Municipal Bat Roost.
The only municipal bat roost in the world has been erected at San Antonio, Tex. The bat has been discovered by Dr. C. A. Campbell of San Antonio to be one of the greatest enemies of the mosquito, which is largely responsible for the spread of malarial and other germs.

Mr. Campbell is authority for the statement that the yearly toll of this nation to malaria is conservatively $100,000,000. He has also demonstrated that a single bat will consume as many as 200 mosquitoes in one night. As it requires seven days for the cycle of evolution to complete itself in a mosquito that has bitten an infected person before it can transmit the disease to another, it will be seen that in regions where many bats are flying all night the chances of catching the mosquito and stopping the infection are large.

An Imaginary Interview.
"Did you say that the times are out of joint?"

"Yes," replied Hamlet. "You see, I have to be content with old time phraseology. If I could have used modern terms I should have said that our engine is missing or that we're running on a flat tire."—Washington Star.

War Films.
War films, says the Boston Transcript, have proved to be very useful in modern warfare. Used only as an experiment at first, they have been of such practical value that the return of the cinematograph operator from his aerial reconnaissance is always impatiently awaited at headquarters.

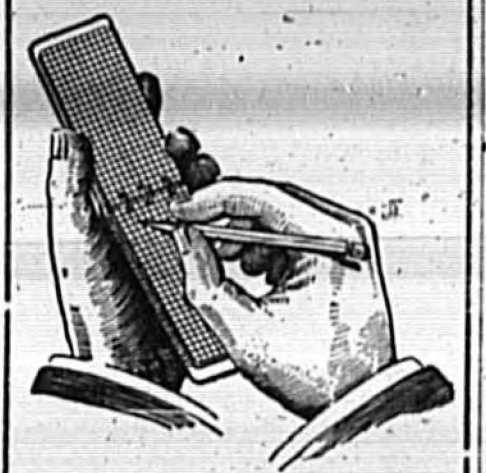

The moving picture man who volunteers for this work undertakes a very difficult and daring feat. He must be a master of his profession, have nerves of steel and be willing to take great risks. More often than not he is obliged to fly at a low altitude, for otherwise his pictures would be without value. Many men who have gone out on those perilous expeditions have never returned.

The war films show the experienced observer a great deal that is going on behind the enemy's lines. The trenches are clearly visible. It is even possible to discern the men digging trenches or placing big guns in position. The cinematograph men have often brought back excellent pictures taken from waterplanes that show the movement of ships and the track of enemy periscopes.

Changing All the Time.
When the change in the use or number of use of some household item makes a widespread change in the sale of a lot of hardware items. For some years men have been taking the place of carpets. This means the sale of fewer carpet tacks, tack hammers and carpet stretchers, but more carpet beaters. Again the introduction of vacuum cleaners cut down the sale of carpet beaters.

So in like manner the present fashion of hanging pictures from moldings has about put picture nails out of business, but largely increased the sale of molding or picture hooks. In somewhat similar fashion not many foot scrapers are in use because concrete sidewalks are so universal. The growing use of food choppers has materially decreased the sales of mincing knives and wood bowls.—New York Times.

Value of Skim Milk.
The department of agriculture has discovered that about 17,000,000,000 gallons of skim milk are annually wasted in this country.

Every farmer knows that skim milk will fatten hogs. That proves that it has a nutritional value. The food value of milk is not entirely destroyed by the removal of the cream and butter fat. There is a lot of protein in the residue, and this protein is good for the human system. Some people cannot drink whole milk; it disagrees with them. These same people thrive on milk from which the cream has been removed. The department of agriculture is right in calling attention to the fact that 17,000,000,000 gallons of excellent food have been overlooked in these days of high cost of living.—Cleveland Leader.

The Hawaiian Language.
The language of Hawaii is very simple. To one who hears it for the first time comes the conviction that the aboriginals expressed their sentiments in primitive vowel sounds, to which some consonants have been added. Each vowel is sounded as in Latin, and the words are easily pronounced by one who is patient and wishes to speak distinctly. The pronunciation will be all the better if the speaker will draw out, almost drawl, the vowel sounds, for which reason the language is well suited to the doleful Hawaiian wail. Say Hoo-noo-luu-luu and let the word sing itself.

Jam For Breakfast.
People who like to eat pastry or other irregular dishes for breakfast should be consoled to learn that no less a man than Herbert Spencer ate strawberry jam at his morning meal. He did it to avoid monotony, believing that digestion was best served by keeping the stomach entertained with variety. He is said to have told of a man who went into a decline from a too steady diet of mutton chops.

Comparison.
"Sometimes I think a street car is better than an automobile," remarked Mr. Chuggins. "Why?" "When a street car goes wrong you can blame the company, but with an automobile you've got to take all the responsibility yourself."—Washington Star.

Grammar and Greed.
Mrs. Peavish says that if she could have another chance she would rather marry a man who splits his infinitives than one who hates to break a dime.—Galveston News.

That's the Idea.
The man who wants to marry happily should pick out a good mother and marry one of her daughters; any one will do.

Use Rubber Models.
Rubber models of essential parts of cows have been invented in England to give girls who are learning to be milkmaids practical instruction.

Too Much Confusion Now.
"Do you think women ought to smoke?" "I should say not. It's hard enough as it is to tell who's the man of the house."

What Did She Mean?
She—"Let us sit nearer the music." He—"But then you can't hear what I'm saying to you." She (rising)—"I know. Come along."—Boston Transcript.

Without Petals.
Many showy flowers have no petals, but their places are taken by the sepals, as in the case of the lily and the tulip. Some flowers, so called, have neither that are showy, but the bright colored parts are merely floral bracts. Bougainvilleas, poinsettias, and dogwoods are examples, also the milk-white spathe of the calla.

COWPEAS AS FOOD

Comparable With Meat In Nutritive Value—May Well Be Used More Extensively as Human Food

The following recipes for the use of cowpeas are from the Weekly News Letter issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture:

Cowpeas, or southern field peas, which despite their name are really a kind of bean are, like other dry beans, comparable with meat in the kind of nourishment contained in them, and can, in the opinion of specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture, well be used more extensively as human food. They are commonly used in the south, where they are extensively grown, but are practically unknown in the north and northwest, where other, often more expensive, beans are consumed in large quantities.

There are many varieties of cowpeas, of which the white and black eye sorts are considered particularly desirable for the table. In palatability, digestibility and nutritive value they compare favorably with other beans, while their delicate and pleasing flavor lead many to consider them equal, if not superior to the latter.

Cowpeas are used on the table in three forms—in the pod, shelled green and shelled dry, corresponding, respectively, to string beans, shelled green beans and dried beans, and calling for much the same methods of preparation for the table. The dry cowpeas are by far the most common. Like dry navy or lima beans, cowpeas may be boiled with a bit of fat meat or baked and served in place of lean meat or other food rich in nitrogen. Boiled and mashed through a colander, the beans form a foundation for numerous dishes. They may be creamed with milk and butter, like mashed potatoes, formed into croquettes with bread crumbs and fried or baked; made into a loaf with bread crumbs, minced vegetables, milk, and seasonings, or made into soup.

A delicious combination dish, called "Hopping John," may be made as follows: Boil 1 quart of cowpeas and a scant pint of rice separately and mix together when done. The rice should be seasoned after it is cooked. Bacon or a beef bone boiled with the cowpeas adds a desirable flavor to the dish. Recipes for other cowpea dishes follow:

Baked Cowpeas.
Cook 1 quart of large, white, dry cowpeas slowly in water until they begin to soften. This will require 5 or 6 hours. Put them into a bean pot, add one-half pound of salt pork, and either 1 tablespoonful of molasses or a small onion cut up fine. Cover with water and bake slowly 6 or 7 hours. It is well to have the pot covered except during the last hour.

Give Your Liver a Square Deal

Your best friend is your liver. When you keep it in active condition, you are likely to have good health. Let it get sluggish and you'll suffer with either sick headache, sour stomach, dizziness, foul breath, sallow complexion, indigestion, constipation or some other disorder of the stomach or bowels. In treating all these ailments Martin's Liver Medicine acts like a charm. It cleans the impurities out of the system, takes away that tired feeling, tones up the stomach, relieves biliousness, acting gently on the bowels and restoring the body to its normal, healthy condition. Martin's Liver Medicine is also splendid for children and babies. Try a bottle of Martin's Liver Medicine and if it does not give satisfaction, you can get your money back from your druggist. Price 50c for large bottle. Accept no substitute. For sale by R. C. Bower, Sanford, Fla.

Cowpea Soup
1 tablespoon butter or pork fat
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 stalk celery, finely chopped
1 cup dry cowpeas
Salt.
Soak the peas 8 or 10 hours in water enough to cover. Fry the vegetables in the butter, add the peas in the water in which they were soaked, and cook (preferably in a double boiler) until the peas are tender. Put the mixture through a fine sieve and add water enough to bring it to the consistency preferred. Reheat. If this soup is thickened with 1 tablespoonful of flour mixed with a little water, the pea pulp will not sink.

Puree of Cowpeas
(Used like mashed potatoes.)
Soak 1 pint of dry cowpeas in cold water over night. Cook until soft in just enough water to cover. Drain and pass through a sieve. Season with salt, pepper, one half cupful cream (or milk and a tablespoonful of butter or other fat), and 2 teaspoonfuls of brown sugar. Beat thoroughly, reheat and serve like mashed potatoes.

Baked Cowpeas and Cheese
(Substitute for meat roll.)
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon finely chopped onions
1 tablespoonful finely chopped sweet green pepper or celery.
2 cups cooked cowpeas
1/2 cup grated cheese.

Press the peas through a sieve to remove the skins and mix with the cheese. Cook the onion and pepper or celery in the butter or other fat, being careful not to brown, and add them to the peas and cheese. Form the mixture into a roll, place on a buttered dish and cook in a moderate oven until brown, basting occasionally with butter or other fat and water. Serve hot or cold like meat.

Desperate Warriors.
It has long been a moot point whether single or married men make the best soldiers. Some maintain that the lack of wife and family tends to make a man more reckless of his life, therefore a good soldier. Others say that the married man is almost a veteran when he enters the ranks, being injured to combat, therefore a good soldier. A French colonel was once questioned upon this point. "Both are right," said he. "Look yonder! Do you see that battalion of happy, devil-may-care fellows? They're all single men, and they would take their lives in their hands. But look again! Do you see those taciturn, somber, ghomy looking men there? They are all married, and in a hand to hand fight they are terrible." "What is the name of the battalion?" asked the inquirer. "They are called," said the colonel gravely, "the Children of Despair."—London Chronicle.

Walk For Health.
A state board of health advises: "Take time to walk—or make time to walk. The pernicious habit of hopping on a trolley car to go a block or two robs many of the necessary health preserving exercise they should have. Walk for health!"

The recommendation is sound, but why should those who ride in automobiles be left out? The inveterate users of motorenas need to be told to walk more quite as much as the rest of us. Nowhere is the riding habit easier to acquire than where an automobile is at beck and call. Even the workers who deem the trolley car a necessity would often be advantaged by keeping their nickels in their own pockets and thereby inviting more physical and mental vigor. We are all sinners when it comes to the failure to keep in touch with the open.—Springfield Republican.

Pot and Kettle.
There is a proverb much heard nowadays that we never could see the sense of, "The pot can't call the kettle black." Why not, we should like to know? The kettle is black. It ought to be called black. Who has a better right to speak with confidence about the faults of the kettle than the pot, which has for years hung on the same crane, and inhaled the same smoke? If there is anything that would make the pot seem less sooty in our eyes it is giving us a clear reflection of the image of the kettle. Shall no one point out blackness anywhere unless he knows himself to be speckless? Would the pot rise in its indignation if it followed the custom of its critic and said, "The kettle is white, as white as I am"—Independent.

New York City's Bridges.
Irrespective of the elevated railroad system comprising the Second, Third, Sixth and Ninth avenue lines and the elevated portions of the Broadway and Lenox avenue sections of the subway, New York city has forty-two bridges spanning the East and Harlem rivers, Newtown creek and other waterways. These roads over rivers, including the Brooklyn, Manhattan, Williamsburg and Queensboro spans, among the greatest in the world, represent, with the real estate requisite for their approaches, an investment by the municipality of more than $125,000,000.

His Enjoyable Trip.
"Have a big time on your trip to New York?" "Oh, yes; I invited a native New Yorker to go out and see his town and he seemed delighted with it."—Florida Times-Union.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS AS CIVIC CENTERS

Milwaukee Keeps Buildings Open at Night.

RECREATIONAL ACTIVITIES

Public Schools Open in Evenings For Recreational Purposes That Are Semieducational and in Some Cases Wholly Educational in Nature—Eight Social Centers.

We in Milwaukee have not spent much time in discussing the question "The Ideal Community Center" nor in debating whether such undertakings should be municipally financed or supported by membership dues, whether the emphasis should be placed upon recreation, upon education or upon civic and forum activities, whether to cater to the young people, hoping that their presence will sooner or later attract the parents, or vice versa. The great question with us was, how to get the schools open at night for recreational purposes and keep them open, writes H. O. Berg in the American City. The modern popular conception of the word "recreation," it seems to me, is rather erroneous. To the average mind it suggests the quest of pleasure or sport. The subject of recreation has many phases. It is really a question of leisure. Many desire to spend their leisure otherwise than at games, entertainments, etc. Sewing, cooking, millinery, needlework, mechanical drawing, literary study, music, dramatic work, debating, civic study and discussion, are desired by many for a portion of the time, thus making the problem one of providing wholesome recreation that is semieducational and in some cases wholly educational in nature.

With this conception of leisure, seven Milwaukee schools and one special building are at present being used as social centers, while nine other schools are being used for evening schools which may conduct special recreational activities if desired. No formal demands were made by citizens for the location of these social centers. The movement being a new one and its possibilities and values being at the time unknown, no one seemed to care to take the responsibility of rousing a neighborhood sentiment for a social center.

The wider use of the school plant was achieved on the strength of the state law which authorizes school boards to establish and maintain special activities, such as evening schools, social centers, library branches, etc., by means of a special two-tenths of a mill tax, providing the question has passed at a referendum of the people. Milwaukee adopted the policy of using its schools for social centers, believing that supervision of recreation is an educational problem and that civic economy demands a more open use of the public schools. The schoolhouse is usually the neighboring center from a geographical standpoint. It ought also to be the focal point of the neighborhood from a civic and community standpoint. This can easily be accomplished through a social center housed in the school building and run in connection with it, for such a center has at its command hundreds of the world's best advertisers—children. Each social center in Milwaukee issues a weekly newspaper which is carried into the homes by the children of the regular day school. A social center proves itself a marvelous connecting link between the school and the home—a link sadly missing in many educational systems.

Arousing the People.
A unique plan for promoting a city has been evolved at Gallon, O., by the chamber of commerce. A large cash prize was offered to the citizen who could furnish the best plan for getting the entire citizenship to promoting Gallon. As a result, meetings were held in the factories to enlist every workman to talk and advertise Gallon. The chamber of commerce has established a speakers' bureau. Results are already being shown, for Gallon people are being awakened to the opportunities, and every one is becoming a salesman for the town.

Good Likeness.
"Did Miss Sourgrin have her photographs taken yesterday?"
"Yes."
"Good likeness?"
"Yes; must have been, for she refused to have them and demanded another sitting."—Exchange.

A Shrub and a Tree.
Southern California boasts one native species of acacia, the cat's claw (a. greggii), which is but a shrub in that state, but becomes a tree in Arizona. It bears small pale yellow flowers and an abundance of very sharp thorns.—Argonaut.

Early Paper.
When paper was first made in England, in 1588, it was only of a brown color, and it was not until about 1600 that white paper was produced, and even then it was of inferior quality.

Settled Him.
He—But you say yourself that your father is anxious to get you off his hands. She—Yes; that's why I don't think he'll listen to you.—Boston Transcript.

A man's task is always light if his heart is light.—Wallace.

Pathetic.
Tramp (to woman)—Can you give me something to eat, madam? Woman—No; there ain't a thing in the house, an', besides, I've got a couple of letters to write an' no time to bother. Tramp (pleading)—Madam, let me lick the stamps. I can't starve.—London Telegraph.

Two Definitions of Thrift.
Thrift is the indulgence of independence. It is not related to greed or parsimony and will gladly be your servant.
Thrift is acquiring something when you have nothing, conserving what you already have and adding to it.

Just Reversed.
City Girl—That hen is acting very queerly, just as though she were hatching a plot. Country Maiden—On the contrary, she is plotting a hatch.—Baltimore American.

May Be Something to It.
"How do you account for his great popularity?"
"Well, I imagine it is because he doesn't want to do all the talking."—Detroit Free Press.

A Sable Philosopher.
If you can't light a fire on de hills, mebbe you kin stir a blaze in de low grounds, an' no matter how little it is de world'll see de flicker.—Atlanta Constitution.

Make sure of doing one unselfish deed each day, and soon you will be acting unselfishly all day long.

Very Different Things.
Good air and freezing to death are very different things, though many men seem unable to detect the difference.

Plant Is a Fly Trap.
It has long been known that such plants as "Venus fly-trap" actually catch and squeeze to death flies and other insects alighting on their leaves, but the discovery is comparatively recent that the plants digest the softer parts of their prey by means of a peptic ferment secreted by the leaves.

The Bishop at Holy Cross Church - At Holy Cross church on Sunday (2nd Sunday after Trinity), the Right Reverend Cameron Mann will administer the sacrament of confirmation at the service at 7:30 p. m.

For those who are not familiar with the church, the confirmation service will be found especially interesting as it shows how the apostles themselves gave this sacrament to those whom they had previously baptized, and that from those first days it has been faithfully administered in the apostolic church.

The necessary alterations now are being made on the building of the Church of the Holy Cross to accommodate the large new pipe organ which is about to be installed. The contract for the organ was signed by the rector the first part of last March and the instrument is now being built at the large organ factory of Henry Pilchers' Sons of Louisville, Ky.

Proclamation of Red Cross Week

Inasmuch as our thoughts as a nation are now turned in untied purpose towards the performance to the utmost of the services and duties which we have assumed in the cause of justice and liberty;

Inasmuch as but a small proportion of our people can have the opportunity to serve upon the actual field of battle, but all men, women and children alike may serve actively by making it possible to care properly for those who do serve under arms at home and abroad.

And inasmuch as the American Red Cross is the official recognized agency for voluntary effort in behalf of the armed forces of the nation and for the administration of relief.

Now, therefore, by virtue of my authority as President of the United States and President of the American Red Cross, I, Woodrow Wilson do hereby proclaim the week ending June 25, 1917, as Red Cross Week during which the people of the United States will be called upon to give generously and in a spirit of patriotic sacrifice for the support and maintenance of this work of national need.

WOODROW WILSON. Washington, D. C., May 25, 1917.

We've Noticed It. Make the best of things as they are. The big-mouthed man can't improve his looks by eating green persimmons.

A people misled by their Kaiser at last became very much wiser. And said "Abdicatet! We've had enough 'Hate.' Our system's all wrong—we'll revise her!"

A sore headed legislator jumped on Bill Russell of the Palatka News the other day because he printed something in the paper about him. Reports show that after he jumped a rail he also jumped off again at the request.

Mayor McKay of Tampa who is editor of the Tampa Times and by F. Stovall, editor of the Tampa Tribune have been appointed quartermaster and commissary respectively of the Tampa Home Guards. This means that the boys will eat.

Winniford and Orlando both have to markets. We believe that the merchant can be tried in Lakeland this fall, and that it will prove a profit both to the farmer and the city man who wants to purchase the best and freshest produce.—Lakeland Telegram.

It is too bad that there are not enough aldermen in Sanford with sufficient backbone to pass an ordinance against the glaring headlights. They are dangerous and after a few more accidents some of the aldermen will wake up and see their mistake.

Prof. A. L. Hatch, principal of the Toledo school has been honored at the summer school at Gainesville by being elected editor in chief of the Florida Alligator, the University official paper. The selection was a wise one as Mr. Hatch is one of those versatile young men who can do anything that is given him and well. Prof. Hatch and Seminole county have been honored.

Joining the Red Cross isn't a painless operation, nor does your application have to lay over until the next meeting to be voted on. You simply say, "I want to become a member of the Red Cross," limber up, take yourself loose from a dollar and you will be more appreciated and are a full fledged member, entitled to all the working rights and benefits of the order.

Those who have failed to attend a revival at the Presbyterian church have missed a spiritual treat and a moral uplift and have lost more than they can realize of all.

that is good for their well being. This is the time for prayer—the most crucial time in our life and this fact will be brought home to us in the uncertain terms in the next twelve months.

Governor Catts never did a better thing than to appoint James Perkins judge of this circuit and Joseph Jones states attorney. They were the choice of the people at the Democratic primary and they are the choice of the people now and their good work at every term of court here only the more firmly cement the good feeling that everyone in this county has for both of these learned, gentlemanly jurists.

Germany subs are sinking ships faster than we can make them and in a few months the people who have been making light of this war and standing back on the Red Cross movement, on the home guard movement, on the preparedness movement, and on every good and wise counsel that has been given to them will wake up to the painful fact that America is in the first real war of her existence since the civil conflict and waking up will get busy after it is too late.

MARLOWE AS EDITOR
The editor of The Herald and the business manager will attend the meeting of the Florida Press Association at Jacksonville the last of this month and Secretary Marlowe of the Board of Trade has kindly consented to look after the paper in our absence along with the rest of his multitudinous duties—an offer by the way that is appreciated by us more than words can tell. Mr. Marlowe will endeavor to make the edition of The Herald of Friday, June 29th a booster edition and we have told him to go as far as he liked and the only restrictions placed on him is that he keeps the paper out of court for libel suits. While not claiming any honors as a writer Mr. Marlowe is nevertheless a good one—in fact is a good man wherever you place him and that he will get out The Herald on Friday, June 29th in good shape is assured, otherwise we would not trust him with this great responsibility.

Therefore look for the special summer solstice on June 29th and help him all you can by sending in your advertising matter early.

SANFORD BOARD OF TRADE
If that fifteen per cent increase is not granted the railroads or if any less is granted them much of the credit for the reduction is due to D. C. Marlowe of this city, secretary of the Sanford Board of Trade who represented the growers and shippers of Florida and presented their side of the case in no uncertain terms. Those who were present at the hearing in Washington state that Mr. Marlowe handled his subject like a general and the railroads could not pick any flaws in his statement of facts. That he had the facts and the figures at his finger tips and his clear and concise arguments went straight to the mark.

If this fifteen per cent increase is not granted or if that increase is cut the everlasting gratitude of every grower and shipper and merchant in Florida is due to D. C. Marlowe—don't forget that, and while you are thinking of this, you merchants and growers of Seminole county don't forget that if you are not a member of the Sanford Board of Trade after having shared in this benefit YOU ARE A SLACKER IN ALL THAT THE WORD IMPLIES and you should and will receive the condemnation and scorn and contempt of your fellow citizens. This is only one of the many benefits to be derived from being an active member of the Board of Trade and as the days go by there will be others and unless you are a member you will note the difference between being a real citizen of this county or a slacker in the midst of those who are unselfishly bearing the burdens of the community.

From this time on the Sanford Board of Trade expects every man to do his duty.

MILK INSPECTION
Every city in the United States that has a milk inspector is calling on him to get busy these summer days and every smaller town that has no milk inspector is asking for a milk inspection regardless of whether such a move has been made heretofore or not. Milk is an important article of diet in the summer time and since the price has gone above the reach of most folks those that can afford milk want to know whether it can pass inspection or not. The following from the Orlando Reporter-Star is a fair sample of the cry that is going up from all the cities regarding pure milk:

"Comparing the publication of the report of the milk inspection in Jacksonville with that in Orlando, the Reporter-Star is compelled to the conclusion that the Orlando inspection is farcical, and of no real use to the people. The average person doesn't know what the bacterial count in a cubic centimeter of milk means and unless there is some explanatory note to go along with the published report the figures don't mean anything.

The report published in the Jacksonville papers gives an index to the inspection figures as follows:

Index to the quality of the milk in the different classifications is as follows:
Class AA—Certified milk; none produced or sold in Jacksonville.
Class A—Excellent; Bacterial content below 10,000 per cubic centimeter.
Class AX—Pasteurized milk; should be below 10,000 per cubic centimeter.
Class B—Very good; bacterial content 10,000 to 50,000 per cubic centimeter.
Class C—Good; bacterial content 50,000 to 100,000 per cubic centimeter.
Class D—Poor; bacterial content 100,000 to 200,000 per cubic centimeter.
Milk with a bacterial count of over 200,000 per cubic centimeter is considered unfit for use unless cooked.

This report is made in accordance with this index, and when one reads it he knows whether one is getting the right quality of milk. If he isn't he can change, and he should.

This paper has stressed the importance of milk and water inspection. Providence has been kind to Orlando. There are only a few malignant cases in this city at present but unless the city authorities exercise themselves actively and in the right direction, the city will have an epidemic some day that will cause the people to fairly ride the necks of those responsible for it."

THE SILVER BULLET
Make no mistake; no sharpshooter on the firing line can do more deadly execution among the Huns than the man, woman or child who subscribes to a Liberty Loan bond.

Every bond purchased is a bomb exploding in the packed ranks of the barbarians. Every block of Liberty Loan bonds acquired by a patriot is a mine blowing up a block of Boches. The violators of women, the murderers of children, their crop-eared, bull-necked generals, their imbecile princes, their half crazed emperors, all alike dread the "silver bullet"—the Liberty Loan bond!—far more than they fear shrapnel and the bayonets of infuriated and outraged civilization.

As the warlocks and ghouls and unclean things of legend were vulnerable to the silver bullet, so are these savage assassins and barbarous murderers of Prussia in real life afraid of what the storm of silver bullets—which we call Liberty Loan bonds may do to them.

The storm, if it drive hard through their bestial ranks will leave wounds too terrible ever to heal. Every patriotic citizen of this decent, peaceful land of ours, which has been so foully outraged by Germany that it has been driven into a war of self preservation can deal a deadly blow at the outlaw empire by subscribing to these Liberty Loan bonds.

No youth in the front line trenches doing his bit for civilization can accomplish more than those who cannot stand beside him out there, if only they keep up the volley of silver bullets.

For these volleys mean death to violators and murderers; death to these insulters of Christ, these ferocious and filthy scoffers at the Faith which Christ taught them when the whole world was barbarous.

Make no mistake; the hundreds of thousands of Christian Armenians tortured, outraged, murdered by Turk and Kurd died because Berlin willed it—said "yes" to Enver Bey. That is the truth; that is the Prussian, Hohenzollern; that is the Kultur; that is the vile degeneracy of a perverted people who have learned to acquiesce in the most monstrous crime ever perpetrated upon civilization—the war by the Teutons and Turks upon everything decent, honorable, clean and sacred that has been evolved in the world through the teachings of Jesus Christ, of Moses, of Buddha, of Mohammed.

No woman of our revolution moulding bullets for the Ragged Continentals performed a more valuable service to liberty and civilization than the woman of 1917 who subscribes to a Liberty bond.

Make no mistake; the silver bullet will find its billet. Now, mould it, you Americans, and slay the Beast!—Robt. W. Chambers.

The House On the Hill

By PAULINE D. EDWARDS

A girl was pacing the hall of a country house impatiently. Presently she stopped and called:

"Come, Molly; the auto's waiting."
"All right, Imogen; I'll be with you as soon as I can be on my vell. Have you your goggles?"
"Goggles? Nol Do you suppose I would make myself hideous by wearing such things?"
Imogen went out to the piazza, where at the foot of the steps the automobile was waiting, and said to the chauffeur:
"You needn't go today, William. I'm going to drive myself."
"Yes, miss."
"Is everything all right?"
"Yes, miss."
"Come, Molly; let's be off."

Molly came hurrying out, trying to adjust a veil and pull on a pair of gloves at the same time, a somewhat difficult feat to perform. The two got into the auto, and the machine chugged down the driveway to the gate. It was a mild spring morning, and the roads were fine. Imogen was quite an expert driver, and there was nothing to mar the pleasure of the trip till they had been out a couple of hours and were some thirty miles from home. Then one of the tires subsided and let the wheel to which it belonged down on to the ground.

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Molly. "What shall we do?"
"There's a sheet or stable or something over there; let's go over and see if we can get any help."
Having placed the auto on the side of the road, they both walked the hundred yards that separated them from the house and found a man in overalls tinkering with an automobile.

"Oh, how fortunate!" exclaimed Molly. "It's a garage."
"We've got a puncture or something," said Imogen to the man. "We've left our auto out there in the road. Would you mind coming out to see what's the matter?"

The man left his work, went with them to their auto, inspected the wheel and said:
"It's not a case of puncture. There's a rip in the tire."
"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Imogen. "Can it be fixed?"
"Not here. I haven't the tools."
"What shall we do?"
"I'll put enough wind in it to get your machine into my garage, and there it must be left till you can get another tire. I see you have no extra."

The man managed after much difficulty to get the auto into the garage. Then he said to them:
"I will take you to your home, and you can send some one out with an extra tire to take your auto back."
"Do you think that's the only thing to do?"

"Yes. Please wait till I go to the house and get off these overalls. I'll be back in a moment."
He went up a byroad and disappeared. The two girls occupied themselves looking at an imposing mansion on the top of a hill, at the foot of which they waited.

"That's a fine house," said Imogen. "I wouldn't mind being at the head of that house—that is, if I had a husband to be."

"At the foot," supplied Molly. In a few moments the man returned in chauffeur costume.

"I should think you'd be hungry," he said. "It's past lunch time, and you'll not get home before 3 o'clock. Perhaps you'd better go up to that summer hotel," pointing to the house they had been admiring, "and get something to eat. It's not yet opened for the season, but I think you'll find something to stay your appetite."

"What a beautiful site for a hotel!" exclaimed Imogen. "We thought it a private house."
They climbed the hill, were admitted by a maid in white and black uniform and shown into a dining room having none of the appearance of one belonging to a hotel. There a delicious luncheon was served. On attempting to pay for it the maid said that there was no one in the house to receive cash and they would have to pay another time.

"We'll leave it with the man at the garage down there," said Imogen.
"Yes, miss," the girl assented.
Returning to the garage, they found the man waiting for them with an auto ready. They entered it and started for home. On the way home the chauffeur became more communicative, and Imogen remarked sotto voce to Molly that he used very good language for an auto tinker. When they reached the house Imogen took out her pocketbook, asking him how much his charges would be, including the luncheon.

The chauffeur replied that there was no charge for the ride; on the contrary, he had been much honored. As for the luncheon, he owned the house in which they had lunched, and in this, too, they had honored him.

The girls looked at each other in consternation.
"But you said," Imogen protested, "that the house was a summer hotel."
"I lied there," said the man imperturbably.
The three sat regarding one another for a few moments, then burst out laughing.

"Pardon me," said the chauffeur. "I couldn't help it. You walked right into your own trap."
That was some years ago. Today Imogen is at the head of the house on the hill, and the gentleman chauffeur is at the foot of it.

NOTICE

To Teachers and Pupils of Seminole County Schools

The Board of Public Instruction of Seminole county, in regular session on the 6th day of June, 1917, passed the following resolution and ordered same to be published in the Sanford Herald:

Resolved, That all public schools of Seminole county shall open for the fall term on the THIRD DAY OF SEPTEMBER, 1917, and shall close for the Christmas holidays on the TWENTY FIRST DAY OF DECEMBER.

By adopting this schedule the first semester of four months will have been completed and mid-term examinations held, before the Christmas vacation.

This applies to all schools of the county, both white and colored, and there will be a uniform course of study prepared for the various schools, and the teachers will be expected to conduct their schools according to this uniform course of study.

The above action was taken after due consultation with the principals of the Junior and Senior High Schools of the county, and with their hearty approval and recommendation.

Respectfully, T. W. Lawton, Supt. Public Instruction, Seminole Co., Florida. 84-3tp

Exempt Husbands

Washington, June 13.—Among the thousands of letters reaching the provost marshal general's office these days from wives, mothers and sweethearts, asking exemption for their men, officials were amused today to find several from wives recommending that their husbands be conscripted. One woman said her husband did not want to go to war, war, but had no good reason for not going, "but 'tipped' the War Department that it would be just as well to make a soldier of him.

Vote for Flager

Bunnell, June 18.—In the referendum election yesterday held in portions of St. Johns and Volusia counties not a dissenting vote was cast against the creation of Flager county, and a precedent has been established for the state.

Charter for the new county was granted by the recent legislature, subject to a referendum vote of the people of the territory affected.

The new county becomes a fact on July 2, with Bunnell as the county seat.

Presbyterian Sunday School

Next Sunday will be "Decision Day" at the Presbyterian Sunday school. No efforts will be made to move immature children to a premature confession of faith. But the members of suitable age will be asked to a complete consecration to the will of God. These special programs occupy the closing exercises.

HAYES LEWIS LANDS

Catts Fires Dowling in Duval County's Sheriff Office

Jacksonville, June 14.—With a commission as sheriff of Duval county signed by Gov. Sidney J. Catts, H. Hayes Lewis, former collector of internal revenue for the district of Florida, arrived here this morning from Tallahassee, where he had been called into conference with the Governor after the latter had definitely decided upon the removal of Sheriff W. H. Dowling. Governor Catts signed an order removing Sheriff Dowling from office yesterday at 4 o'clock and one minute after 4 o'clock signed the order commissioning Mr. Lewis, and at the same time addressed a letter to the board of commissioners of Duval county to meet in special session next Monday morning for the purpose of approving the new sheriff's bond, which will be $10,000 in amount.

The removal of Sheriff Dowling as sheriff of Duval county has been considered in the realm of possibility ever since Governor Catts was inaugurated as Governor, and when the convening of the legislature it was the belief that no action would be taken until after adjournment of the assembly. After adjournment on June 2 it was stated in usually well informed circles that the removal would take place before June 15, and that Hayes Lewis would be the successor to Mr. Dowling. Mr. Lewis was relieved as collector of internal revenue after a term of four years on June 1. James M. Cathcart having been nominated his successor by the President.

It is probable that Mr. Lewis will take office Monday. Unless Sheriff Dowling carries his case to the 1919 legislature and succeeds in having the Governor's action disproved, Mr. Lewis will continue in office until Jan. 1, 1921. Mr. Dowling is serving his second term as sheriff, beginning from the first of January this year. Under his first term he served from 1912 to 1916.

PEOPLE AND EVENTS

are profiting from the large acreage planted in peanuts and other plants of this variety.

Crops of the peanuts can be planted as late as July 1. And the good prices for the nuts are insured almost beyond a doubt. Many farmers are expected to put in many acres of peanuts for fall crops.

Who Will Be Officers

The fittest only will become officers. Men who show no aptitude in the training camps will be discharged. "Immature, weak looking or unrepresentable officers are absolutely out of the question," says Adjutant General McCain. "The other requisite is military efficiency, which applies both the ability and the mental and physical energy to instruct, manage and lead." In conclusion Gen. McCain states that during the period of organization of the first 500,000 men, officers for the second 500,000 must be trained and selected. Many of these will be selected from the reserve officers, from the ranks of the regulars, national guard or the selective forces in the first increment and also of the second series of officers, training camps. "Thereafter," he added, "officers will be obtained by promoting officers and men already in the service, thus giving those who have volunteered or have been drafted for military service full opportunity to earn promotion to the exclusion of those not in actual military service."

Low Rates to Jacksonville

The Atlantic Coast Line have announced an especially cheap rate to Jacksonville and return on account of the meeting of the Florida Press Association which will meet in that city on June 28-30.

A rate of $1.20 for the round trip will be given. Tickets on sale June 27th and 28th, good for return July 1st.

M. E. DISTRICT CONFERENCE

Many Ministers and Laodmen Here Attending Meeting

The district conference for Miami district convened in Sanford Wednesday morning. The opening sermon was preached by Rev. C. W. Inman Tuesday evening.

The conference was well attended and a very valuable session was held for four days. Questions of vital importance to the church were discussed. Reports show progress along all lines.

Dr. Alderman, president of Southern College is in attendance.

Dr. J. Edgar Wilson, editor of the Florida Christian Advocate and Dr. J. M. Gross, pastor of the Methodist church in Ocala were also present.

The conference closed last night with a sermon by Dr. E. A. Harrison of Lemon City church.

Ladies of the Maccabees There will be the regular meeting of the Ladies of the Maccabees Monday evening at 7:30 at the Woman's Club.

Prominent Visitors

Distinguished visitors in Sanford are Mayor and Mrs. Scott F. Beaton and two daughters, Alberta and Julia of Waycross, Ga. In the party is also Mr. Carleton Ulmer. They are the guests of Mrs. G. C. McDougal on Celery avenue. The trip made from Waycross, in two cars, leaving in the early morning and arriving in Sanford in the late afternoon.

Mrs. Carleton and daughter of Arcadia are the guests of Mrs. L. Y. Bryan and Mrs. Leslie Bryan, before leaving the state for their summer outing.

Miss Julia Laing went up to Jacksonville on Wednesday for a weeks visit with friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Symes have taken a cottage at Daytona Beach for the rest of the summer.

Miss Ruth Ridge, state secretary of the Red Cross association was in the city yesterday and held an important meeting with the executive board of the local auxiliary.

SAVE THE PINES:

American Forestry Association Sends Out a Call For Help.

The American Forestry association has sent out widely the following call for help in saving our pine trees from the white pine blister rust:

WARNING! White Pine Trees Being Destroyed. They Are Valued at $20,000,000, and the White Pine Blister Rust Is Killing Them.

A disease known as the white pine blister rust threatens the destruction of all the white pine and other five-leaved pine trees in the United States. It has already appeared in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pa., S. Carolina, Wisconsin, Minnesota and in the Pacific Northwest.

There is no known cure for it. It kills the white pines infected, and it spreads rapidly. The spores of seeds are blown from the diseased pines to currant and gooseberry bushes. They germinate on the leaves of these bushes. The leaves then produce millions of spores or seeds of the disease, which are blown by the wind from the bushes to the pines, and these, even those several miles distant from the nearest bushes, are infected, become diseased and die.

The white pines in New England are worth $5,000,000, in the lake states $2,000,000, in the western states $3,000,000 and in the national forests $20,000,000, or a total of $32,000,000.

Unless the ravages of the white pine blister rust are stopped these pines will be destroyed. The American Forestry association urges people in all the regions where the disease has been discovered to destroy at once all currant and gooseberry bushes, diseased pines and others exposed to infection. This will help to stop the spread of the disease.

PUBLIC MARKET DAYS.

These Have Been a Success in La Crosse, Wis.

Tried out as an experiment, public market days have proved a real success in La Crosse, Wis. The suggestion originated in the agricultural bureau of the La Crosse Chamber of Commerce, and notices were sent to farmers in the country around the city asking them to bring produce to the city on fixed days and display it for sale. The matter was taken up in a very logical and sensible way with the farmers, and they were told that city folk would naturally expect a little better prices by buying direct from the producer. At the same time it was pointed out that the grocer and butcher would not suffer, for farmers would thus be inclined to buy from them more manufactured and imported food products. Certain days were fixed for the public market, the farmers came with their produce, and the townfolk came with their purses. The produce sold readily. The farmers had money to buy in La Crosse stores, and the plan was found to work well all the way around. Now La Crosse folk are urging the building of a market house to make the market permanent.

Court Upholds Billboard Ordinance.

Following a recent decision by the United States supreme court upholding the validity of Chicago's billboard ordinance of 1911, which prohibits billboards on residence streets without the consent of more than half of the property owners, Everett L. Millard, chairman of the City club art committee, announces that a movement will soon be launched to abolish billboards in all residence districts.

The decision means hundreds of billboards must be removed. The court held that the city has power to enforce the ordinance to the limit. The ruling is the climax to a legal contest which started a year or so after the passage of the ordinance. One company had sought to enjoin the city from enforcing the law.

To Save Sand Dunes.

Commercial and civic organizations, women's clubs and art leagues of Illinois and Indiana have joined hands for the establishment of a national playground on the sand dunes of Lake Michigan. Very definite demands will be made upon congress to save what is claimed to be the only extensive tract of natural scenery now left in the middle west. War has already been declared on industries encroaching upon the shore and land speculators attempting to make easy money out of the dunes.

Municipal Rinks.

In Rochester and Mankato, Minn., the commercial clubs are advocating the establishment of municipal skating rinks.

Hadn't Changed Much.

"Dat, what was the labor of Slay-plus?" "Slayplius rolled a stone up a hill and as fast as he rolled it up it rolled down again. It was a mythological episode. Nothing like that today." "Oh, I don't know," interposed, "Washing dishes is just like that."

WEST GENEVA AVENUE

Mrs. Jack Vaughn spent Sunday on the east side, the guest of Mrs. W. N. Culp.

O, how thankful we all are for the nice little rain showers the last few days.

Mr. Will Robinson and daughter, Gladys enjoyed the day very much Wednesday with Mrs. Jack Vaughn, eating melon with Mrs. Vaughn who has some very fine ones.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Robinson were visiting in town Monday, also attending to some shopping.

Mrs. Jack Vaughn and Mrs. Will Robinson and children, with Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Culp all had a nice outing at the river fishing and enjoying the day out Thursday. All report a very good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fortier were visiting Mr. Fortier's mother a few days last week and we are sorry to know Mrs. Fortier stays on the sick list so much.

Will Robinson was kept pretty busy last week putting up tomatoes for the contractors at the packing house and also several crates for Mr. Culp of the west side.

UPSALA AND GRAPEVILLE

The marriage of Miss Ebba Stedt, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Stedt of New Upsala and Mr. Jesse Lee, the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee of the west side was solemnized in Sanford on the fifth of June, 1917. Jesse has won a fair flower for his bride. May he cherish and protect her and may they have many happy, useful years of married life. They will be at home with her partners for the present. The groom is engaged in night work on the railroad at Rand's Siding.

Mrs. Ballinger has not been at all well again this spring and went in to see the doctor Wednesday, afterwards spending the day with her old friends, Mrs. V. C. Collier and Mrs. Wm. Leavitt. The former she found was also sick with malaria.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlson of the west side spent a pleasant day with their old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Niels Swanson on June 3rd, Elmer Tyner kindly bringing them out.

Upsala was well represented at the rally at Lake Mary, on the 3rd. It was a splendid day, being a feast for both soul and body. Miss Price is certainly an enthusiastic worker in the Lord's vineyard and we hope it is contagious. We are thankful for all the good suggestions, and they were many from the different speakers and trust we can benefit by them. Cooperation of the homes

Clear Your Complexion with This Old Reliable Remedy—

HANCOCK'S SULPHUR COMPOUND

For pimples, black-heads, freckles, blotches and tan, as well as for more serious face, scalp and body eruptions, lice, eczema, etc., use this scientific compound of sulphur. As a lotion, it soothes and heals; taken internally—a few drops in a glass of water—it gets at the root of the trouble and purifies the blood.

Physicians agree that sulphur is one of the most effective blood purifiers known. Remember, a good complexion isn't skin deep—it's health deep.

Be sure to ask for HANCOCK'S SULPHUR COMPOUND. It has been used with satisfactory results for over 23 years.

and schools was emphasized, each needing the other. We hope to keep ours an evergreen Sunday school but it will depend upon the parents. And we believe that from "the little white or brown church in the vale" will come helpful influences for our daily lives if we will only give it a bit of our time. "Take time to be holy." Mr. and Mrs. Emil Magnuson are always helpful, taking over ten in all in their wagon, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Lundquist and two children going over with Carl Pierson; Mr. and Mrs. Ballinger with their pony, while a few walked—but we got there.

Many friends will sympathize with George Ballinger in the death of his brother Charles of Lexington, Neb., in his 78th year, June 4th, 1917. Death was caused by hardening of the arteries, after being confined to his bed, fifteen days. We had expected them with us in Sanford, but the serious illness of his wife with cancer prevented this. They looked forward to a winter home here. This makes the fourth death in the family in six years, only one sister now remaining of the seven children coming over with their parents from Gloucester, England in 1850, settling in northern Ohio, where most of their lives have been spent.

It was a treat to have with us again, Rev. Edwards of Jacksonville, who has charge of these Presbyterian churches in the state, last Sunday for an evening service. Floyd Sjoblom bringing him over. Rev. Edwards took for his text: "There is no other name whereby we may be saved, but the name of Christ, and making it plain as he so ably can. Rev. Thompson, former pastor has gone back to Indiana, but it is hoped that Rev. Baldwin will be able to supply us as soon as he returns from Virginia, where he has gone for his wife's health.

EAST SANFORD

Mrs. C. B. Curry and children of New Smyrna have been guests of her daughter, Mrs. Will Prevatt.

Rev. J. W. Bartlett of Enterprise has his regular appointment at Moore's Station church Sunday, June 17.

Harry Wicks is in the A. C. L. Hospital at Waycross, Ga., having had quite a serious illness. We are pleased to say he is recovering.

The Coulbourne family who have resided at Lake Onoro for several years have moved to Plant City.

Mrs. F. F. Dutton and daughter, Frances left Sunday night for New York city and will also visit in Philadelphia and Chicago. Master Junior Dutton will remain here with Mr. Dutton.

Stewart Dutton left on Friday with a party of friends by auto to spend the summer, with his grandparents in Golden, Illinois.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Tyler have taken an apartment for the summer in Jacksonville and are very pleasantly located.

Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Beck and son, Maurice, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Drosser and daughter, Helen, left Sunday for a week's trip to Palm Beach, Miami and other points.

Joe Cameron, Ed. J. Cameron, A. T. Rossatter and F. E. Dutton started for points on Lake Okechobee Wednesday in the Cameron car for a sight seeing trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Gilso and G. C. Chamberlain were dinner guests Sunday at the pretty new Dietrich home.

G. C. Chamberlain had as guests for a joy ride to DeLand and Lake Helen Sunday Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Ellsworth and Horace Chorpeng. Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Hart and daughter, Ruby are leaving Monday in their Buick car for a month's stay on the east coast, including a visit to Jacksonville, Miami and other points.

Mrs. Susie Squires and son, Herbert are leaving Jacksonville Saturday on the Arapaho for Good Ground, Long Island to remain until late fall—a party of more than fifty friends and neighbors gave them a surprise visit Tuesday evening, bring cake and lemonade to serve. The evening was delightfully spent in visiting, all wishing the travelers a safe return.

Joe Cameron is having two silos erected at his home farm, each with a capacity of 115 tons. One large silo was built there last summer. Mr. Slack has charge of the work.

City council of the city of Sanford, Florida met on June 4, 1917, in regular session at 7:30 p. m. Present, C. H. Dungee, president pro tem, and Councilmen W. W. Abernathy, F. L. Miller, John Adams, R. A. Newman and Roy Symes. Absent B. W. Herndon.

Minutes of last meeting read and adopted.

Councilman Miller offered the following resolution and moved its adoption: Be it Resolved, by the city council of Sanford, Florida, that necessary legal steps be taken preliminary, to the pavement of Sanford avenue with brick north to Tenth street, north to the present brick pavement, same was laid over until the sentiment of the property owners was obtained.

Councilman Miller offered the following resolution and moved its adoption: Be it Resolved, by the city council that Palmetto avenue be paved with brick a width of twenty one feet from Second street south to Tenth street; provided the city can make suitable arrangements to finance the construction of same, and be it further resolved that the city attorney be and he is hereby instructed to prepare a draft of a paving ordinance for the pavement of Palmetto avenue, as above stated. Adopted.

Councilman Miller offered the following resolution and moved its adoption: Whereas, the brick pavement on French avenue is in very bad condition, and whereas the present width of said pavement is not sufficient to accommodate traffic over same; therefore, be it resolved by the city council in regular session that the present brick pavement on French avenue extending from First street to Ninth street, be and the same is hereby condemned, and be it further resolved that the city attorney be, and he is hereby instructed to prepare the necessary ordinance providing for the repaving of French avenue with brick a width of twenty one (21) feet from First street to Ninth street, and be it further resolved that the city attorney be and he is hereby instructed to collect no further paving accounts against the property owners owing bills for the pavement of French avenue. And be it further resolved, that when French avenue is re-paved, and at such time as property owners owning property abutting thereon settle with the city for their proportionate part for the repaving of French avenue, that said property owners be given credit by the city of Sanford for any amount now due on them on account of any paving lien the city may hold against them or may have heretofore held, even though said paving lien has been heretofore paid by any of said property owners for the pavement of French avenue. Adopted.

Mr. E. T. Woodruff presented a petition signed by property owners asking that Third street from Magnolia to Palmetto avenue be paved, which was read and city attorney instructed to prepare ordinance for same.

Petition signed by property owners on Palmetto avenue between Second and Sixth streets asking that same be paved, was read and laid over for further consideration.

An ordinance granting to Charles E. Woods; his associates and assigns certain rights, franchises and privileges was placed on its third reading and read in full and passed. Vote as follows: Ayes, C. H. Dungee, W. W. Abernathy, F. L. Miller, Jno. Adams, R. A. Newman and Roy Symes. Nays, none.

On motion carried, finance committee was authorized to pay Southern Utilities Co. for Vouchers held by them, as much as they conveniently can.

On motion carried, street committee is authorized to purchase two cars of shell for Fourth street from Oak avenue to railroad.

Mr. Laing came before the council and complained that certain sewer connections were necessary, and on motion carried the sanitary inspector was instructed to get names of all those near sewer that were not connected.

The reports of the several departments were read and ordered filed.

Oviedo Red Cross

The Oviedo branch of the North Florida Chapter of the A. R. C. held its regular meeting on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Woman's Club house.

There was quite a large number of the members present, and four additional members were added to the branch.

The society has been very busy of late in the making of supplies and they now have a shipment ready to send to Jacksonville. They have set Wednesday of each week for their regular sewing day.

The society will give a silver tea Tuesday afternoon for the benefit of the branch.

Transplanting Palm Trees.

It is almost impossible for even a lettuce ship to be removed from the spot where it has taken root without a consequent drooping and period of suspended growth. But nowadays great palm trees are uprooted and carried hundreds of miles from their native soil and climate with scarcely a wilted leaf.

The secret of the success of transplanting such trees lies in the preliminary work. This is begun fully six months before the time for the moving of the tree. First the roots are dug around and carefully cut, and the plant is side boxed. Three inches are allowed between the balls of roots and the boxing. This space is next filled with earth, which is well tamped down. Thus the tree is made to stand in the box in which it is to be moved, without lifting it from the earth. Here it remains during the six months of preparation. It is thoroughly mulched and given the best of care, so as to induce a plentiful side growth of roots. At the end of the six months it may be lifted and shipped. It will show no signs of fatigue at the end of its journey, however far it may travel.—Popular Science Monthly.

Japan's Narrow Railways.

When the railways of Japan were first planned the narrow gauge of three feet six inches was selected for them, because it was cheapest to build and equip and was thought best suited to the country's narrow highways and steep grades. Now the 6000 miles of Japanese railways, all of narrow gauge, are found to be sadly behind the times, and a movement is on foot to rebuild them to standard gauge, although the cost is estimated at nearly $400,000,000. At present the trains are slow, the fastest expresses making less than thirty miles an hour; the coaches are low and narrow, and the sleeping cars are cramped and inconvenient, while most of the railway inventions of other nations cannot be used because of the difference in track gauge and size of cars. The director of the imperial railways favors the change, in spite of the cost, and estimates that the main Tokaido line could be converted to broad gauge in twelve years and the other lines on the main island of Japan within twenty-five years.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Too Busy.

When a thing that really ought to be done presents itself, take it and work it out somehow without hurry or nervousness, even though your hands are already full. Don't think "I'm too busy." And, above all, don't say it aloud where any one can hear you. Being too busy carries an implication of fussy activity as contrasted with efficient effort. To be too busy is necessarily an admission that your job is itself too big for you or that you are doing things which do not necessarily belong to your job or that you are not working wisely and efficiently. Pitiless logic inevitably drives your hearers to one of these three conclusions. If you are "too busy" you ought to resign or reorganize.—Publishers' Weekly.

What's In a Name?

His grandfather is in the employ of Uncle Sam, engaged in passing back and forth mail for dependent humanity. His father, Mr. D., also earns his bread by the same useful work in the Indianapolis postoffice. Since these men of two generations are connected with the mail service, they doubtless expect little Dick to follow in their steps. Friends of the family are sure that this is the intention of the parents, the child's name being the proof. The mother liked Hilda, and the father liked Franklin, so the child became Richard Franklin D., or for short R. F. D.—Indianapolis News.

Ancient Fishermen.
A codfishery about Newfoundland was conducted by Normans and Bretons as early as 1501, and there is a tradition among the fishermen of the bay of Biscay that one of their number, who had been fishing in the western Atlantic, informed Columbus of the existence of land in that region before the illustrious explorer had begun his memorable voyage.—National Geographic Magazine.

Pelicans' Pouches.
The pelican is commendably regular in his habits. The parent birds catch fish and after eating their fill deposit the others in their pouches under their bills and carry them to their young. These pouches will hold from three to eight pounds of fish.

Getting Experience.
"Is your boy Josh doing well?" "Of course," replied Farmer Corn-toast. "Josh has managed to be so patient with his last boss that I'm kind o' hopeful he'll be able to come back to the farm and get along with me."—Washington Star.

The Denarius.

The denarius, translated penny, was a Roman silver coin in the time of Jesus and his apostles. It was the principal silver coin of the Roman commonwealth. From the parable of the laborers in the vineyard, in the twentieth chapter of Matthew, it would appear that a denarius was then the ordinary pay for a day's labor.

The Expensive Columbus.
The discovery of America cost a little more than $7,000, at least so say some documents that were found in the archives of Genoa. These documents give the value of Columbus' first voyage as $20,000. Columbus' annual salary was $300 a year, the two captains who accompanied him received a salary of $200 each, and the members of the crew were paid at the rate of $2.50 a month each.

"Long on Short Whistle."

Ask each one of a company of fifty people to rise separately and remain standing for one minute. There will be 50 different records, varying from 10 to 60 seconds. Ask 10 workmen each to bring you a short and a long board, and you will get 20 different lengths of board. These illustrations are used by a railway man to emphasize the necessity of a mechanical device to eliminate the element of uncertainty as to what constitutes a "long" or a "short" whistle by a locomotive. It is not right, he says, to trust the safety of a trainload of passengers to a guess upon a guess.

Not Even That.

Many a man who imagines his executive ability is sufficient to control the affairs of a nation would not even make a successful book agent.

Cleans Coral Beads.

To clean coral beads, dissolve a teaspoon of borax in a pint of warm water. Dip the coral in, and when clean pass through tepid water. Dry by rolling in a soft towel.

Society on Vacation

There has come a lull in social affairs with the exodus of Sanford's society set to the mountains and seaside resorts...

If a colored person gives you a wedding present it means great prosperity.

Personal Mention

Mrs. Anna Walker left on Monday for Braidentown where she will live with her son, Mrs. Harry Walker.

Mrs. Belle Atkins left on Monday for Jacksonville to visit her daughter.

Mrs. Charles Lee of Oviedo is the attractive guest of Mrs. W. P. Carter.

Mrs. Aylett-Fitts, Jr., and two children are visiting Mrs. Sheldon at New Smyrna.

Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Chase left on Tuesday for Exeter, N. H., to attend the graduation of their son, Randall.

Rev. C. W. Inman of DeLand and Rev. B. K. Throver of Tampa are guests of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Jinkins this week.

Mrs. F. E. Steinmeyer returned on Tuesday from a pleasant visit with friends in Madison.

Rev. W. G. Fletcher of Homestead is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. L. R. Phillips.

One hundred Methodist ministers are expected here this week to attend the annual conference of the Miami District.

Presiding Elder Siebert of Miami is the guest of Rev. and Mrs. F. E. Steinmeyer.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. McCuller left on Sunday in their car for Marianna where they will spend a week with the family of Mrs. L. P. McCuller.

Mrs. E. M. Galloway returned Saturday from Memphis and Chattanooga, Tenn., where she received many delightful social attentions.

Judge and Mrs. Stringfellow were among those who visited Washington, D. C., last week. They will be away about three weeks visiting in Virginia and Chester, S. C.

Mrs. Joe Harrold has as her guest Miss Eva Youngs of Dallas, Texas.

Miss Belle Dickens spent a few days last week in Sanford with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dickens.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Roumillat are spending a month in Washington and New York.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Eldridge and the Misses Virginia and Irene Baughn left Monday for Hullette, Virginia.

We take pleasure in correcting the error in name of Mr. C. C. Cobb whose engagement to Mrs. Agnes Vaughn was announced in the last issue of The Herald.

Sweet Potatoes

Gainesville, Fla., June 9, 1917. If sweet potatoes are properly planted and cultivated they will produce 150 to 400 bushels per acre.

In order to get a good yield on average land it is necessary to apply 400 to 1000 lbs. of fertilizer per acre. (Some growers apply 1500 to 2000 lbs.) analyzing about 4 per cent ammonia and 6 per cent phosphoric acid.

Well rotted stable manure is also good. It may be cheaper to buy a ready mixed fertilizer of the above analysis.

The application may be made a week or ten days before setting the vines; although some prefer two applications using one-half of the fertilizer before planting and the other half when the plants are making vines.

The following list of sweet potato plant growers has been submitted to this office: Bear Head Farms, Pine Castle, Fred M. Preston, Orlando, Route No. 1

A GERMAN MYSTERY

Celery Asparagus Grows Evidently Has Designs on The Herald

One day this week a German or rather a man who is of German descent but who is now an American citizen came into The Herald office with three yellow vegetables looking something like pumpkins. He gave them to the editor with the dark and mysterious air of the man who expects to place a bomb and then cut and run.

It seems to be a cross between a muskmelon and cantaloupe and then some and this local Burbank has something that will find a ready sale on the market, despite the deceptive appearance of the melon. They are light yellow, with smooth rind and are different from anything in this line and if they are bombs they should be exploded in every household every morning because they are all to the good.

Home Drying of Vegetables

A new Florida State Bulletin (compiled by Miss Sarah W. Partridge, District Home Demonstration Agent) on Home Drying of Vegetables has just been received. The general directions, with specific rules for drying sweet corn are here given. Instructions are also given in the bulletin for drying beets, peas, onions, cauliflower and other vegetables.

General Directions

Equipment—Vegetables may be dried in an ordinary oven, in trays, racks, over the kitchen stove, in the sunshine, or in dry kilns. Drying vegetables in the sunshine is a slower process than by drying them by any other means suggested, and the product is not quite so good in color or flavor.

Drying Racks—Drying racks, carrying a number of trays, one above another, and made to fit the oven or to be placed on top of a kitchen stove, may be purchased for this work. Others with a metal base furnace are on the market. Drying trays have been made at home of wire netting such as is used for screening purposes. These trays are arranged one above another with a small space between. They are supported in a frame of wood or metal. The heated air passes easily through the perforated trays and evaporates the moisture.

Thermometer—To determine the exact temperature a thermometer should be used. Place the thermometer in a glass containing oil of any kind and place it in the oven. By this means the true temperature of the oven is recorded. The thermometer in the oven should register 44 degrees Centigrade (C.), or 111 degrees Fahrenheit (F.) at the time the vegetables are placed in the oven.

Wire Basket—A wire basket will be found convenient as a carrier when plunging vegetables into boiling water.

Containers—In almost every household some containers well suited for use in packing dried vegetables will be found. The small box already lined with paper and used as a commercial pack for crackers, the small tin box used for sweet wafers, the tin cans used as containers for coffee, tea, baking powder, etc., are suggested as good containers that will be available for home use.

Caution—Packages of dried vegetables should not be opened until the contents are to be used. If allowed to stand uncovered they will lose their crispness.

Selection and Preparation of Vegetables for Drying

Selection of Vegetables—To get the best results when drying vegetables care should be taken in the selection of the vegetables to be used. They should be sound, not over ripe and freshly gathered.

Preparation of Vegetables—Vegetables that are to be dried should be thoroughly cleaned by washing. When washed, they should be cut into suitable lengths, plunged into boiling water, allowed to come to a boil, and boiled from 3 to 6 minutes. Juicy vegetables, such as onions, beets, etc., are given the shorter time. This short period of boiling so acts upon certain properties of vegetables as to cause vegetables to retain much of the fine flavor that belongs to them in the fresh state.

Method of Drying Vegetables—When thoroughly drained, vegetables are spread in thin layers in the drying pans, which have been cleaned by washing in soda water. The pans are then put into an oven registering 44 degrees Centigrade, 111 degrees Fahrenheit. This heat is slowly increased. The drying is finished at 55 to 65 degrees C., 132 to 149 degrees F. The finishing point is determined by the condition of the vegetable. All of its moisture should be evaporated. The drying requires from one and one-half to three hours. When the drying is complete, pack immediately.

Packing—Evaporated vegetables should be packed, while hot, in tin or pasteboard boxes lined with parchment paper. When packed in large quantities, parchment paper should be placed between the layers. If the container is of tin, when the lid is placed on the box or can paste a strip of paper so as to cover the edge of the lid of the can. This completes the seal.

Pasteboard boxes should be covered with a heavy grade of wrapping paper, or preferably oiled paper, and sealed. If the outside of the container is painted with paraffin a perfect seal is obtained.

Sweet Corn

Corn for drying should be young and of good quality. It should be husked and silks; put into slightly salted water and cooked for 15 minutes; drained well and cut from the cob; placed in drying pans and allowed to stand for twenty minutes; placed in an oven which should be at the required temperature, 44 degrees C., 111 degrees F., and finished at 55 to 65 degrees C., 132 to 149 degrees F. When dry, pack.

When ready to use the corn, rinse it well, allow it to stand overnight in water, and when ready to cook, boil it in the water in which it has stood.

Soup Mixture or Julienne

Soup mixture is made by combining various vegetables, such as carrots, celery, parsley, rutabagas, salsify, leeks, cabbage, etc. In preparing these vegetables, they are cut in thin strips, little more than one inch long. Each variety is boiled separately and dried according to general drying for drying vegetables. They are then mixed in the desired proportions and packed.

When they are to be used, rinse in cold water, and put them to soak in lukewarm water. When they have absorbed a sufficient amount of water they may be boiled and added to soup, or the water and vegetables may be boiled in soup.

Beardall Family in War

The story brought in an Associated Press dispatch from Tampa yesterday telling that three sons of one family had volunteered, that the mother and daughter were preparing to enter the Red Cross and that the mother had offered all her property, consisting of two hundred acres of land, to the government, has a worthy duplicate of similar sacrifice in Orlando. Mrs. Florence Beardall has three sons, and all of them will soon be in the active service of the country. Lieut. Jack Beardall, of the United States Navy, has been on ship duty for some time. Recently William Beardall enlisted as a member of Company C, and Dr. H. M. Beardall has applied for appointment in the Medical Reserve Corps. Mrs. H. M. Beardall expects to volunteer in the Red Cross service when Dr. Hal is called. This will leave Mrs. Florence Beardall all alone in Orlando, but she will have the solace of the proud service her sons are rendering their country.—Orlando Reporter-Star.
