County OKs zoning change for student parking

By Christopher Patton Staff Writer

Neighbors upset planners allowed apartments for UCF students without adequate parking

SANFORD — For the fourth time, the neighborhoods surrounding the Riverwind Apartments on Alafaya Trail fought Cameo Development from rezoning 2.8 acres on the corner of Carrigan Avenue and Boland Drive and building a parking lot for their tenants.

with unanimous votes. Unfortunately for the local neighborhoods, they were not so lucky the fourth time as county commissioners passed the request to rezone with a 3 to 2 vote with Commissioners Randy Morris and Carlton Henley voting no.

rezoned from a R-1AA to a R-1A that initiative failed, so on the second go around Cameo Development requested the land be rezoned Planned Unit Development.

Riverwind Apartments was one of the first student housing complexes to be built in Seminole County. When it was built, proper building codes were not in place for student housing, according to Commissioner Grant Maloy.

According to a Riverwind Apartments representative, they have 110 units with each unit consisting of four bedrooms. Codes at the time called for two parking spaces per unit, but with college students, usually each tenant of a unit owns a car.

When the complex was built, they built 308 parking spaces, but apartment representatives estimate they have an 80 to 100 car overflow today. Riverwind representa-Bienvenidos amigos nuevos!

Pan Am begins service between San Juan and Sanford airports

By Dan Ping Editor

SANFORD — Passengers arriving at Sanford's airport from Puerto Rico received an unexpected welcome from Mayor Brady Lessard Thursday.

"Bienvenidos a nuestros amigos nuevos de la isla de Puerto Rico," Lessard said to those arriving on the inaugural Pan Am flight from San Juan to Sanford. "Ahora, Sanford y San Juan somos amigos mejores."

"For our American friends I'll speak in English," Lessard added. "Welcome to our new friends from the island of Puerto Rico. Now Sanford and San Juan are great friends."

Lessard's comments came during a celebration of Pan Am's new service, which includes two daily flights to San Juan from Sanford.

"Today caps off two years of unbelievable growth for Pan Am, and we are delighted with the support we have received from the city of Sanford," said Dave Fink, president of Pan Am. "With this flight, Pan Am has returned its blue globe tail

Rebounding from bankruptcy in 1998, Pan Am has embarked on an aggressive campaign of service to underutilized airports, like Sanford's, located close to major metropolitan markets. The company began its service on Oct. 7, 1999 with daily flights between Sanford and Portsmouth, N.H.

Victor White, executive director of the Sanford airport, said Pan Am's commitment to Sanford has drastically increased traffic at the facility's new 12-gate domestic terminal.

Board pleased with Hagerty's work

By Michelle Jerla Managing Editor

SANFORD — Seminole School Board members appear to be pleased with the CEO of the county's public school system.

Seminole Superintendent of Schools Paul Hagerty received high marks Tuesday on the Board's annual evaluation. In all areas, the five board members believe he meets or goes beyond expectations.

"Dr. Hagerty continues to be at an outstanding level," Board Chairman Sandra Robinson said. "He continues to be an outstanding superintendent."

Hagerty's average score on the evaluation was 4.56, which indicates he performed above expectations. Last year, the Board deviated from the original 5-point scale, with Hagerty receiving a 7.6 out of 10 for his average score.

The evaluation is based on 15 areas ranging from integrity to See Hagerty, Page 7A

Sanford artist creates new breed for LizArt program

By Michelle Jerla Managing Editor

SANFORD — A new breed of lizard hatched Thursday at the Central Florida Zoological Park.

A group of zoo staff and visitors watched as the 7-foot lizard emerged from an egg to arrive on schedule for its first public appearance. Within minutes, the newest reptile to join the LizArt project was dusted off and ready for its short journey to Orlando.

The fiberglass lizard painted by Sanford artist Mindy Matthews is the latest edition to LizArt, a public art project designed to promote Orlando's Downtown Arts District and the Cultural Corridor. The colorful reptile is sponsored by Friends of the Central Florida

'Hurricane Xerxes' provides training exercise

By Christopher Patton Staff Writer

SANFORD — Like pieces of a puzzle coming together and forming a grand picture, city and county officials met Wednesday morning at the Seminole County Emergency Operations Center to orchestrate a successful mission against Hurricane Xerxes.

More than 100 people took part in the Hurricane Xerxes testing drill in Seminole County, but the exercise was a statewide drill that involved thousands of government personnel and volunteers.

"It's never easy," said Joe McCluan, Seminole County manager of emergency management, about coordinating the drill. "I've surrounded myself with a good staff. The county has surrounded us with good people that know how to do their jobs. The cities have done the same, and that's what makes this work."

According to Seminole County Fire Chief Terry Schenk, much of the extra preparedness is a result of lessons learned during Hurricane Andrew.

Police offer motorists two options: 'Click It or Ticket'

From Staff Reports

Law Enforcement agencies will be out in full force over this Memorial Day Holiday Weekend.

In addition to patrolling the streets and highways during this heavy-traffic holiday, they will be watching for people who insist on driving without seat belts, as well as juveniles coming from graduation parties who may be intoxicated.

According to the Florida Highway Patrol, last year over the three-day Memorial Day weekend, 43 people died on Florida's roads. Of the 43, the FHP says 33 were found to not be wearing seat belts although they were in their vehicles.

As a result, a special drive is being conducted this weekend entitled "Click It or Ticket." The highway patrol says 368 police agencies in the state have committed to strict safety belt enforcement, especially during the holiday period through June 3. In fact, law enforcement agencies throughout the Southeast — from the bluegrass of Kentucky to the coasts of Florida — will take part in the "Click It or Ticket" campaign. More than $3 million was divided between the eight states with Florida netting $700,000 to promote its seat belt awareness program.

Commission sets cap on billboards in Seminole

By Christopher Patton Staff Writer

SANFORD — The 111 billboards seen throughout Seminole County today, will be the only billboards in Seminole County ever after the County Commission unanimously approved an ordinance to cap the number of billboards to the existing amount Tuesday night.

In addition to capping the billboard limit, the ordinance also acted to lower the cap by stating any existing billboard that is destroyed and is non-conforming due to zoning may not be reconstructed. The ordinance also tried to lower the cap when a billboard is removed due to widening or other public works project, when it is removed due to development or redevelopment of the property or when the lease expires and is not renewed it has to be removed permanently.

The ordinance tightens requirements for proper ground maintenance around billboards. The ordinance states "pruning shall be done in a manner to promote the healthy, uniform and natural growth of the vegetation except where necessary to promote the health, safety and welfare of the public."

Commissioner Randy Morris added to the section that viola- See Billboards, Page 10A

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Memorial Day a time to pay tribute to heros

It appears that we have more Federal holidays to honor former and present service personnel than we had wars in which they were involved. It was just a few days ago, May 19, when we observed Armed Forces Day. Now, it's Memorial Day, Monday, May 28. It's a

..... federal holiday, so banks and most government facilities will be closed.

It was reportedly started in connection with the Civil War, with the first observance at Waterloo, N.Y. on May 5, 1865. Originally, it was known as Decoration Day, to call attention to the displaying of flags, flowers or other mementos at the graves of fallen service personnel, primarily those who fell in battle.

By Presidential Proclamation, issued in 1948, the day is also Memorial Day, Prayer for Peace, and traditionally requests the flying of flags at half-staff, in the forenoon time period.

With Veterans Day, Armed Forces Day, Flag Day and separate days for the individual armed forces bodies, I believe Memorial Day is the one I feel is to be most recognized.

For those who have not served in the military during an actual war, we have seen movies and TV shows about the fighting and the loss of personnel. Now, with the re-make of the attack on Pearl Harbor, we will see even more of the death and destruction of war.

Whether it's a movie or reality, we should all know that what we are now, where we are, and what our nation is, is directly attributed to our services, with some giving their lives in order to preserve and protect our freedom.

Therefore, I hope all citizens will observe Memorial Day, and for those with family members or friends who have lost their lives in battle, let's visit the cemeteries and show tribute.

Several local observances are also scheduled Monday morning.

In Sanford, the Memorial Day parade will begin at 10:30 a.m. at the Chamber of Commerce parking lot, travel down First Street to Park Avenue, then north on Park to Memorial Park where a ceremony will be held. Seminole Area Veterans Council and American Legion Post 53 are hosting the event.

One of the biggest events will be held Monday morning at Woodlawn Cemetery west of the intersection of Old Winter Garden Road and Good Homes Road, at Woodlawn Way.

Orange County Sheriff Kevin Beary will be this year's guest speaker. Most veterans organizations from Central Florida will be on hand with a large number of musical and vocal groups. Events include an exact replica of the Liberty Bell, a 21-gun salute and Taps. A parade will begin at 9:15 at Woodlawn Way.

For more information on the Woodlawn Memorial, call 407-293-1361.

Whether you attend the Sanford or Woodlawn event, please take some time to consider the meaning of this holiday, and if at all possible, pay a visit to your local cemetery. Take the children and tell them why you are paying tribute to these men and women.

Let Memorial Day be just that — one day each year, when we express our appreciation to those who fought for us, and died for us.

Remembering our veterans

Sanford Mayor Brady Lessard presents American Legion Post No. 53 Commander Ken Fernin, middle, and Post No. 53 Vice Commander Ed Herral with a proclamation designating May 28, Memorial Day, as "A Special Day to Honor Our Heroic Dead." Sanford's Memorial Day parade is scheduled to start 10:30 a.m. Monday behind the Sanford Civic Center with a special ceremony beginning at 11 a.m. in Memorial Park.

Hospital wants Oviedo annexation

By Nick Pfeiffauf
Staff Writer

OVIEDO — Monday night, Florida Hospital formally presented to the Oviedo City Council a petition for annexation of the hospital's 22.5 acres into Oviedo city limits. Currently, the acreage is located in unincorporated Seminole County at 8000 Red Bug Lake Road, near the entrance to the Oviedo Marketplace.

The petition was submitted to the five member council by Senior Vice President Kenneth W. Bradley and Assistant Vice President Robert Fulbright.

"On behalf of Florida Hospital, we respectfully submit this petition to begin the process of annexing our developable property into the City of Oviedo," Fulbright told the Council. "This annexation allows Florida Hospital to begin meaningful discussion about meeting the future health care needs of Greater Oviedo."

Since 1991, Florida Hospital has had a presence in Oviedo with the Florida Hospital Medical Plaza at 1410 West Broadway Street. As part of the purchase of the Winter Park Memorial Hospital in July, 2000, Florida Hospital acquired the property that is now being petitioned for annexation. On the land sits Florida Hospital Oviedo Outpatient Services, a 46,000 square foot medical office building with services including rehabilitation and sports medicine, diagnostic imaging and lab services.

Oviedo City Manager Eugene Williford could not be contacted regarding the next steps the City Commission may take. Under normal conditions, the plan would have to go through the city's planning department first.

Magic scholarships awarded to local students

Lyman High School student Stephen Christian was awarded the University of Central Florida (U.C.F.) Minority Scholarship and Oakridge High School student Yordanos Tewolde received the Magic Achievers Scholarship. Both received their scholarships in a surprise presentation at their high schools on Thursday, May 3.

"The Orlando Magic is proud to provide this opportunity to deserving individuals like Stephen and Yordanos," said Scott Bowman, director of corporate and government relations for RDV Sports. "They were awarded these scholarships for their exemplary community and academic achievements. We would also like to recognize the University of Central Florida for their partnership in providing the U.C.F. Minority Scholarship."

The U.C.F. Minority Scholarship, in its seventh year of existence, provides $20,000 ($5,000 per year) to an African-American student residing in Orange, Seminole, Ocoola or Brevard County who meets the academic and financial-need criteria. Christian will attend U.C.F. in the fall.

The Magic Achievers Scholarship awards one high school senior $4,000 ($1,000 per year). The winner must reside in Orange, Seminole, Ocoola or Brevard County and meet the academic and financial-need criteria. The academic requirements include a minimum 1010 on SAT or 21 ACT score, a weighted cumulative G.P.A. of 3.0 on a 4.0 scale, extracurricular activities and honors, a letter of recommendation and a 500 word essay describing their personal qualities. The scholarship may be used at any accredited four-year college in Florida. Tewolde will attend The University of Florida in the fall.

Murder Warrant

A murder warrant has been issued for 46-year old Jerry Lee Fuller, also known as Gary Lee Miller, as a suspect in the killing of a homeless man.

The victim, John David Dykeman, 41, was found buried in a three to four foot deep grave Saturday, May 19 in a wooded area off SR-46 and Rinehart Road near Sanford. Homeless people use the wooded area as a camp. Fuller/Miller, who is also homeless, is thought to have murdered Dykeman.

The Seminole County Sheriff's Department said there is also an outstanding warrant for his arrest issued in Ocoola County on March 6, for failing to appear on a charge of contempt of court.

Anyone with information about the death of Dykeman or the whereabouts of Fuller/miller is asked to contact the sheriff's Major Crimes Section at 407-665-6650 or Crime Line at 1-800-423-8477.

Suspicious Death

Lake Mary police are investigating a suspicious death. May 22, at 6:18 p.m., police officers and paramedics discovered a dark skinned man, deceased, on Washington Avenue. The man had no obvious signs of trauma or injury and did not have any identification. He was subsequently identified by fingerprints but his identity is being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Woman Charged With Domestic Violence

Vashti Whaley, 23, of Orlando, has been arrested by Seminole County sheriff's deputies in connection with a domestic dispute Wednesday evening, May 23, in the parking lot of a convenience store on Oxford Road in Fern Park.

Whaley was reportedly involved in an argument with the father of her two children, ages two and four. According to witnesses, as the husband walked away from the verbal confrontation, Whaley got in her car, put it in drive, and struck the man, then striking the wall of the convenience store causing structural damage.

The husband was taken to Florida Hospital in Altamonte Springs where he reportedly suffered injuries to his leg.

Whaley was arrested at the scene, accused of aggravated battery/domestic violence, felony criminal mischief (for damage to store), and aggravated child abuse (children in car at the time).

Avenue, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police early Friday.

Blind justice?

America's judicial system heading toward instability

Maybe you believe that "Law and Order" and "NYPD Blue" provide an accurate portrayal of America's criminal justice system. The popular entertainment dramas give us hard-working police and prosecutors who almost always nail the right suspects. And if they don't, they admit their errors and start over in their search for truth and justice.

Maybe you believe that's true in real life as well. Or maybe you hadn't thought much about the fairness of criminal justice in America. That's understandable. Most of us don't personally know anyone who has been sent to prison on the flimsiest of evidence. Besides, the streets are safer than they used to be, and maybe you think that's all you really need to know.

It isn't. At the start of a new millennium, America incarcerates a larger percentage of its residents than any nation besides Russia. We have managed to create a precarious sense of personal safety by locking up both violent criminals and people who just make us uncomfortable — drug addicts, high school dropouts, drunks, the unskilled, the illiterate, the mentally ill. They are mostly poor; they are usually black or brown.

Some of them have committed minor crimes such as selling a couple of rocks of crack. Some have committed no crime other than being too poor to hire a good lawyer. Some of them have been convicted because of the caprice of circumstance — a passing resemblance to another man, the lack of an alibi. And a few will be executed for no better reason than that.

Even if you believe in the death penalty, you ought to be alarmed by the rate at which it is wrongly applied. A recently released study — conducted by lawyers and criminologists from Columbia University — shows that two of every three death-penalty sentences that are appealed are overturned. Those overturned sentences were not the work of lily-livered, bleeding-heart liberal judges who never met a criminal they didn't like. The sentences of death were overturned in state courts in Texas, Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia — all states where liberals are on the endangered species list.

Why the high reversal rate?

In many cases, indigent criminal suspects receive poor representation from their court-appointed attorneys. The case files are full of attorneys who were inexperienced or overworked, who slept through the trial, who were intimidated by the judge or who were miscreants themselves — later disbarred or sent to jail. The poor are rarely represented by Johnnie Cochran or Barry Scheck.

In other cases, police and prosecutors deliberately lie, cheat and flout the rules of evidence to make a weak case look strong. In high-profile cases especially, police and prosecutors are desperate for a quick conviction to put the public at ease. Too often, they don't search for the truth; they find a scapegoat.

What with a moratorium on capital punishment in Illinois and close inspections of the system in other states, the death penalty may finally be getting the scrutiny it deserves. But the problems with criminal justice don't stop there. The entire system is tainted by prejudices that fall harshly on people of color, the poor, the marginal.

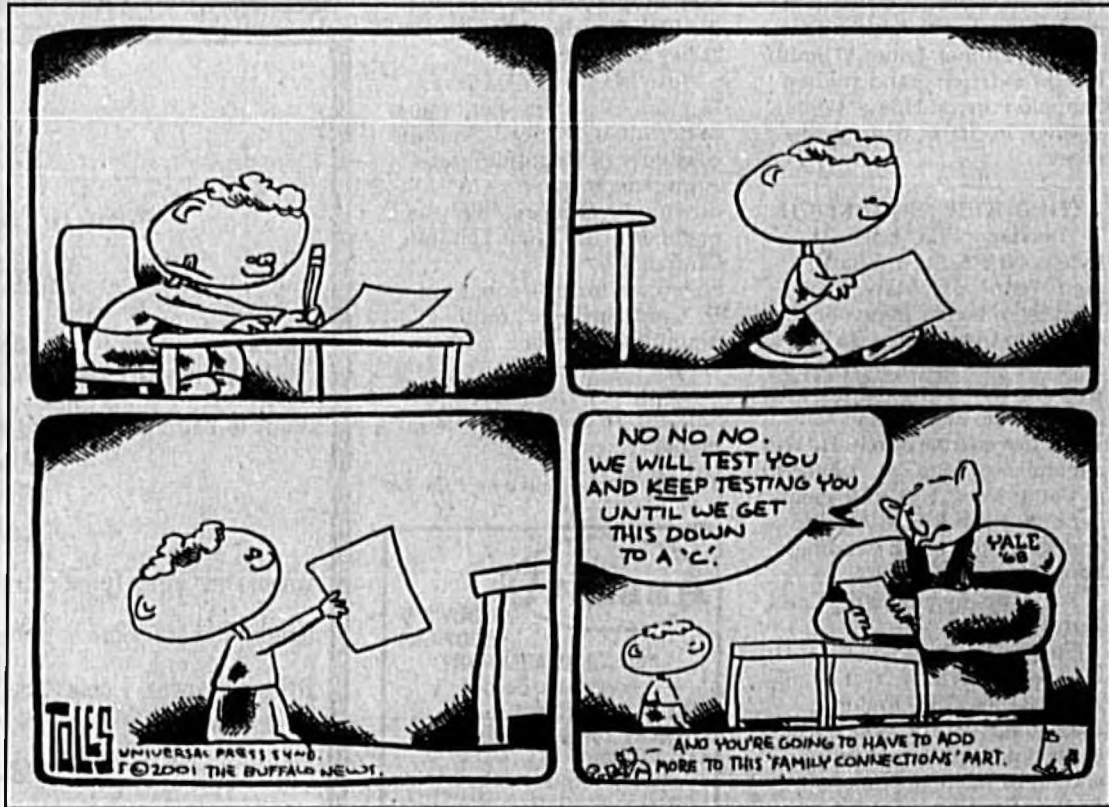

Take a look at what a Human Rights Watch study says about enforcement of the nation's drug laws: While far more whites than blacks abuse illegal drugs, blacks are far more likely to be arrested. Black men are sent to prison on drug offenses at 13 times the rate of white men, according to the study.

So, while you may feel safe at the moment, a society that reserves incarceration for its poor, its weak and its minorities cannot expect a stable future. This is short-term security purchased at the expense of long-term stability.

Greatest Generation's virtue now lost

When I was growing up in the Washington, D.C. area, patriotism wasn't something I was forced to learn. It came naturally. From the experience of my father and his brothers who served in World War II, to my mother's memory of what life was like on the home front, I was taught by example what it meant to love my country.

Cal Thomas

Mom kept a scrapbook, which I inherited. I see my Dad and his buddies. I also look at Mom's ration books and recall a generation largely untouched by the entitlement mentality that grips us today. We didn't have air conditioning in our home or car. We thought an electric fan was OK. In summer, we opened windows in our car and home.

Gasoline was cheap, when you could get it. Tires were less than plentiful because rubber, like so many other things, went to the "war effort."

Children were asked at the end of movies, which were worth seeing, to buy savings stamps and adults were exhorted to purchase U.S. Savings Bonds. Most people thought these were good things to do.

Neighbors mostly helped each other and shared what they had with those who had less. The letters Mom preserved show my Dad loved us and he loved his country. He, and we, knew that all of our armed forces were opposing evil.

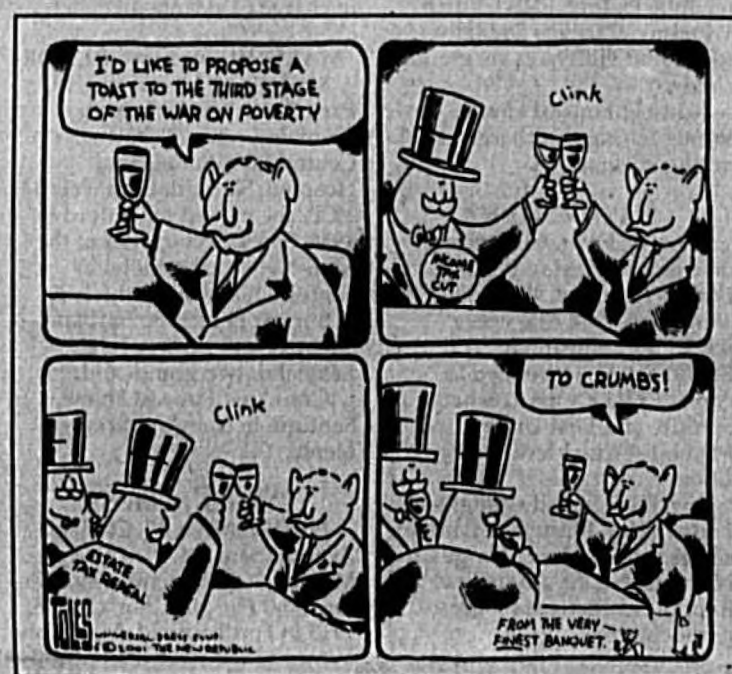

Such notions today are considered politically incorrect. Many in the current generation — the whining generation — tell us not to think highly of America. We are all one world now. In fact, America, because of her success and power, is supposedly responsible for much of the misery in the world. We consume too much energy. We make too much money. We ought to give away what we have earned to others who did not earn it and do not wish to emulate what we did to get it.

Fighting for one's beliefs and the American way of life is now considered more evil than the evil our fighting men and women have opposed over the generations. Standing for anything is regarded as racist, sexist, homophobic, xenophobic, judgmental, imposing morality and a violation of church-state separation. So, we fall for everything.

Those ideas were foreign to my parents' world. They were part of what Tom Brokaw aptly named "The Greatest Generation." Brokaw's latest book is called "An Album of Memories: Personal Histories from The Greatest Generation." (Random House) It contains letters and pictures from WWII veterans, their spouses, children and grandchildren. The book is a needed rebuke to those among us who complain of an occasional power blackout and $2-per-gallon gasoline. Our generation is spoiled and self-indulgent and is mostly unfit to carry the duffel bag of a WWII vet.

One letter among many in Brokaw's book sets the tone for what that generation can teach us. Robert Cromer, from Roundlake, Ill., became a soldier at 18 and was twice wounded. "We were privileged to grow up in a time when honor, truth, loyalty, duty and patriotism were real and meant something," Cromer writes. "Growing up in the Depression was not a great honor, but it was a classroom that taught us to be independent and innovative. We made our own toys out of orange crates and roller skates. We made our kites from newspapers and we melted lead to pour into molds to make soldiers, cowboys and Indians. We made rubber guns from a piece of 2-by-4, a half a clothespin, and a section of inner tube from a car tire..."

Cromer adds, "The community stuck together and family was very important. Parents were role models...In the back of my mind was always the thought,

"Don't ever do anything to bring disgrace to your family. I never thought of 'me first' or 'do your own thing' and neither did anyone else."

Cromer says by today's standards he and his family would have been considered poor but "nobody came around to tell us so."

Brokaw has performed a valuable service by publishing these books. Anyone wishing to know why we have so many social problems today should read these letters and understand that such problems occur because we've departed from the code of conduct that allowed The Greatest Generation to survive and prevail over the twin evils of a depression and a world war.

Their virtue, as well as their sacrifice, is what we should remember this Memorial Day and every day.

From A to Z

Art Zielinski asks people what they think ...

Memorial Day, a day our nation honors the men and women who served in the armed services, will be celebrated this weekend. The national holiday will create a long three-day weekend for many people. So our question today is, "How do you plan to celebrate Memorial Day?"

Marata Reeves, Longwood

I plan to spend the day at the pool with my kids. In the evening, we will go to a restaurant for dinner.

Sonia Mincey, Orlando

I'll be going out of town to a high school graduation and spending time with the family. We are planning a fish fry for Friday evening and a barbecue for Saturday. The rest of the time will be for rest and relaxation.

Angela Crisp, Orlando

We'll be going to Gennie Springs Park in northern Florida to go camping and visit with some of the family. We have gone camping on Memorial Day for the past three years.

Brady Hatch, St. Petersburg

I plan to go to New York City and visit friends from school. And listen to some jazz music.

Lisa Carroll, Sanford

The family will be in town and we were all in the military. We will have a cake and talk to the kids about the meaning of Memorial Day. It's very important they know why we celebrate it.

Hagerty

decision making. Each of the five board members ranked Hagerty on a scale from 1, "well below expectations," to 5, "well above expectations."

Board members were also requested to rate Hagerty's overall performance, with Robinson, Vice Chairman Jeanne Morris and Board member Dede Schaffner giving him a 5. Board members Diane Bauer and Larry Furlong rated Hagerty's overall performance a 4.2 and a 4.87, respectively.

"Dr. Paul Hagerty is an outstanding educational leader whose vision and insight into school challenges have brought SCTPS to new heights," Schaffner stated. "His experiences have been invaluable in setting high expectations and helping staff meet and exceed community standards."

Hagerty's highest rating, a 5 average, came in the area of stress tolerance. All Board members gave him a 5 in the category that includes his effectiveness in managing stress-inducing situations and maintaining composure in confrontation.

The superintendent's lowest rating, a 3.9 average, was in the area of communication, which includes developing and sustaining a timely two-way network of communication with board members, staff, media and the community. Robinson, who gave Hagerty the lowest mark for the category — she scored his performance a 3 — indicated Hagerty needs to speak more at community meetings, such as chamber of commerce and rotary events.

Nevertheless, Robinson indicated Hagerty's performance overall has exceeded expectations.

"Based on overall budget constraints, Dr. Hagerty leads this district skillfully and professionally to do what is best for kids," Robinson stated. "I applaud his enthusiasm and am very thankful he stays with us."

In other business, the school board:

- Discussed the reduction in administrative staff. As part of the budget problems the system is currently facing, and as a result of an analysis of job responsibilities, Hagerty is reorganizing his staff. In summary, there will be a reduction of two executive director positions (instruction and facilities), one home hospital teacher, two SED assistants, one half jet coach, one half physical therapist, and one curriculum resource teacher. To help in the overall leadership of the district, one new position, deputy superintendent for operations, will be established. The net savings to the district for these changes will be approximately $334,000.

- Adopted the 2002/2003 Student Attendance Calendar. Next school year's calendar for 2001/2002 is posted to the SCTPS web site and was adopted on June 13, 2000.

- Received an information item regarding the Salary Schedule Study. The item includes the scope of the study, issues and findings. Consideration for implementation will be controlled by a thorough examination of the complete study, available revenues, and applicable collective bargaining requirements. Detailed discussions and/or recommendations from the Superintendent will be provided to the Board this fall.

- Approved the contract for the SECME Summer Institute. SECME is the premier pre-college alliance that prepares and motivates historically underrepresented and geographically underserved students for technical career paths. The purpose of SECME is to increase the number of underrepresented minority students who are prepared to enter and complete studies in science, mathematics, engineering and technology (SMEI). Twenty-two Seminole County teachers will attend the Summer Institute at the University of Central Florida to be trained as leaders in the SECME strategies to promote minority students' involvement in the sciences.

- Adopted the revised Zero Tolerance policy.
- Accepted public input and approved the final drafts of the proposed revisions to policies titled "Inventories and Property Records" and "Student Conduct and Discipline Code." These policies are scheduled for Board adoption on June 12.

The next School Board meeting will be held 3:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 12.

Parking

tives said several times during their presentation that the current plan before the board was the only "viable alternative."

To deal with the overflow, Riverwind Apartments had a temporary lot further down Alafaya Trail in a commercial zone, and the students were shuttled back and forth to the apartments. Safety of the students was cited as one of the reasons why the temporary parking lot was not a solution. Riverwind purchased the property in the neighborhood from several home owners. Several neighbors were displeased with the condition Riverwind Apartments has maintained the nine vacant lots.

For more than two hours, county commissioners heard comments from the united neighborhoods, dressed in red, including individuals from the most immediate neighborhood Seminole Terrace, Kerrigan Woods and Stillwater.

"Taking a look at the situation it's a difficult one and there's no perfect solution," said Commissioner Grant Maloy who represents the neighborhoods.

Keith Wheeler, who owns a home that will have a backyard looking into the proposed parking lot, said "why should we suffer for their mistakes."

Another resident, Jim White, said "[the board] is setting a dangerous precedent for every neighborhood in Seminole County" and begged the board "to deny with prejudice." Commissioner Randy Morris agreed with White saying "I fear we are breaking into a precedent for parking in a residential area," but previously said in the meeting "certainly you (Riverwind Apartments), have worked and have come back with a more appropriate plan."

The proposed parking lot will only be built on 37 percent of the land and will have several one level garages, a cinder block wall and 80 feet of landscaped area to buffer sound. However, Commissioner Maloy was not happy with those concessions and demanded more to protect the safety of the nearby neighbors against noise pollution and crime.

Maloy insisted the apartments give the three nearest neighbors 20 feet of property to offset the issue of lost property value, a seven foot wall to interconnect with the nearby garages, 28 trees in the landscaped area and an off-duty deputy patrolling the lot for 42 hours a week during the hours of high crime.

"Yes it's not easy to swallow, but I think this is the right thing for us to do," Commissioner Daryl McLain said.

For Your Health

Do You Have Allergies To Medications?

Many of us have experienced adverse medication reactions. Usually intestinal irritation occurs. Nausea, vomiting, or stomach cramps are most frequently reported. Pain medications and anti-anxiety agents particularly will produce drowsiness, altered speech, changes in thought processes or hallucinations. These are known and quite commonly expected side effects that are not major allergic reactions. In most cases this does not pose a problem. The medications can be avoided and something more tolerable can be substituted in most cases. This does present a problem if a situation arises in which there is no substitute. Sometimes a substitute can be found, however, it may have a potentially more toxic effect. One would like to avoid such a medication substitution.

If you experience an adverse drug reaction it is necessary to record specific symptoms of the reaction. You should know the name of the drug (generic, common product name, or trade name). An accurate and detailed description of the reaction should be recorded. It is important to accurately recall the time relationship from the ingestion or contact with the drug and its time relationship to the allergic symptoms. Not to be forgotten are the circumstances and disease process, which prompted the use of the medication. This sometimes is overlooked and may hold important information concerning the response to the medication.

On occasions drugs are used in combination and it is unclear as to whether the combination or a single drug accounted for the reported reaction.

This is particularly important in antibiotic use because events may dictate future use of specific antibiotics or similar types that may be the only medication effective for treating life-threatening infections. Substitutes may have limited effectiveness and in some cases may be much more toxic with side effects that are poorly tolerated. One would not desire to limit future life-saving treatment based on an inaccurate account of a prior minor drug side effect.

Major allergic reactions may involve abnormalities in heart function, breathing difficulties, significant blood pressure changes, or loss of consciousness. Drugs causing these effects should be avoided. Minor side effects involving stomach irritation, itching without rashes, cramps and minor bothersome discomforts should be categorized as minor side effects to be anticipated with the future use of the medication.

If you experience a major drug reaction you should carry an alert bracelet or necklace that identifies the drug or product that caused the major allergic response. It is advisable that you consult your healthcare provider concerning any known or suspected drug allergy. You should not simply discontinue taking the medication. Making the inaccurate assumption that you are allergic without consultation may not be the best decision. By performing an in depth evaluation of the circumstances you may find that there are other things that can be done to make medications more tolerable.

In many cases you may have an opportunity to eliminate allergic reactions through a process called desensitization. Many who have experienced serious major allergies to medications have been successfully treated and been able to utilize these medicines without adverse effects as a result of this therapy. You may desire to consult an allergist, immunologist or your primary caregiver to review the potential benefits of desensitization.

NEWS FOR WOMEN

Foods That Provide Health And Nutrition

(NAPS) - The latest trend toward functional foods is encouraging news for women experiencing the discomforts of menopause and who want a natural alternative to Hormone Replacement Therapy (HRT). Functional foods are products that provide health benefits along with nutritional value. One of these foods is Flax & Soy Clusters Granola, a granola with natural ingredients that are said to ease common menopausal discomforts such as hot flashes. Created by Zoe Foods, a Boston based natural foods company, the granola's key ingredients - flaxseed and soy, provide phytoestrogens, fiber, protein and omega-3 fatty acids - which also help promote heart health.

The granola has taken a unique route to market. Our granola is based on a recipe my mother developed to help reduce her menopausal hot flashes," says Tori Stuart, founder and president of Zoe Foods. "My mother's physicians advised her against using HRT because she was at high risk for breast cancer. After extensive reading, research and discussions with physicians, she learned that flaxseed and soy are both natural ways to control fluctuating levels of estrogen. When she couldn't find a product that blended these two ingredients, she made her own, and it worked! The frequency and intensity of her hot flashes lessened and menopause no longer interfered with her life."

Flax & Soy Clusters Granola is a naturally sweetened blend of dry-roasted soybeans, ground flaxseed, grains, and fruit. Research shows that incorporating flaxseed and soy into the diet may minimize hot flashes.

Nearly 30 million American women are of age for menopause. Menopausal characteristics vary, but the most common ones include hot flashes, night sweats and irregular periods.

 were up 105 percent from the same time last year," White said. "Five years ago there were zero passengers coming through this airport. Now with domestic and international flights, there are 1.3 million people coming through Sanford every year."
 Pan Am's service is winning rave reviews from customers, like David and Lois Jordan of Allentown, Pa. The couple were in town for a nephew's wedding, and were at the airport to pick up Lois's brother Bob Mohr.
 "We weren't sure what all the festivities were about when we got to the airport," David Jordan said of the balloons and band on hand for the San Juan flight. "We're going to tell Bob we did all of this for him."
 "We had already booked our flight on Delta when we learned Pan Am flew nonstop into Sanford from Allentown," Jordan said. "We had two layovers, and it took us six hours to get here. From now on, if we're going to Florida, we're using Pan Am."
 Jordan said the San Juan flight from Sanford was particularly appealing because his son has a vacation home in St. Croix. "It's almost impossible to get from Allentown to St. Croix," Jordan said. "With Pan Am we can get to San Juan very easily, and then it's just a short flight to St. Croix."

 Pan Am officials said response to the San Juan flight has exceeded expectations. Even before the first flight, the airline added a second daily flight from Sanford to San Juan. So far, more than 10,000 customers in Puerto Rico have reserved seats for the service to Sanford, with 100 percent bookings through August.

 Zoological Society Inc., and 28 individuals and companies raised $3,800 to bring it to life. Matthews, who is a marine biologist by training, painted more than 20 other lizard varieties and an array of bugs, butterflies and botanicals on the 40-pound sculpture to create a world of reptiles and their habitats. Its name — a perfect description of the artist's canvas — is "Lizardz, Lizardz, Lizardz."
 "I've been painting my entire life, although I normally paint fish," Matthews said. "And, I've never been able to separate art and science."
 According to Central Florida Zoological Park Marketing Director Andrea Farmer, the idea to sponsor a LizArt lizard originated more than six months ago when Charley Williams, who serves on the zoo's board of directors, read about the project. He started a campaign to raise money for the sculpture, and Matthews was given the commission to paint it.

 Lizardz isn't just a piece of art. Zoo officials hope the colorful reptile will raise awareness of the various kinds of reptiles in the world and at the zoo.
 "Lizardz does a couple of things," Farmer said. "It creates more appreciation for lizards, and we hope people see it and think more about them and conservation efforts."
 After Lizardz, Lizardz, Lizardz hatched out of its paper maché and wire egg created by Janet and Alan Hoffberg, he was taken to Orlando's Antigua, where he will remain for several weeks until he travels to his new home on Orange Avenue's Metcalf Building. Once he arrives at his new home, he will be one of more than two dozen other painted fiberglass lizards placed throughout Downtown Orlando as part of the LizArt project.

 At the end of the year, all of the lizards will be sold at public auction, with all net proceeds going to the Downtown Art District. Zoo officials hope Lizardz, Lizardz, Lizardz will then return to the zoo.
 "We hope we can find more friends of the zoo so we can raise enough money to bring the lizard home," Farmer said.

CONSOLIDATED PLAN FUNDING SUMMARY PROPOSED 2001-2002 FUNDING SEMINOLE COUNTY, FLORIDA VOLUSIA/SEMINOLE HOME CONSORTIUM (SOUTHERN SECTOR)

Notice to Citizens:
 Seminole County is the recipient of federal grant funds through a number of programs administered by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). These include the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program, the HOME Investments Partnership Program and Emergency Shelter Grants (ESG) Program. These programs are designed primarily to assist the County's low and moderate income residents. In order to streamline the administration of these programs, HUD has consolidated all of the local planning and citizen participation requirements for these various federal programs into a single administrative process called "The Consolidated Plan."

Consolidated Plan Summary:
 The Consolidated Plan represents the combined efforts of the County, its residents, local organizations, and social service providers. As part of the Plan development process, the County solicited ideas from a public hearing and a Midway community meeting. The County also used the Five Year Consolidated Plan approved by the Seminole County Board of County Commissioners and HUD in order to design activities and projects in conformance with the goals established in the Plan.

Based on this information and analysis, the County developed a One-Year Action Plan. This Plan sets priorities for County Activities in the upcoming year (Beginning October 1, 2001).

The County Has prepared a One-Year Action Plan. The proposed uses of funds for the fiscal year beginning October 1, 2001 are:

One of the major differences in the state's response is the Florida Firemen Association has split the state into eight regions. Each region has an operations center where equipment, emergency vehicles and personnel can be deployed to any disaster throughout the state. Schenk is currently the regional coordinator for Central Florida and is expected to become the state chairman in July.

"We are considerably more prepared now (than in 1997)," said Seminole County Public Safety Director Ken Roberts. "The intensity is not there because what you're not having is those phone lines jumping off the walls. The whole idea behind this exercise is to put a name with a face."

For the first half hour of the drill, the team responded to some rapid flooding in the county, but at 10:06 a.m. the team was challenged with its first tornado over the Seminole Pines mobile home park.

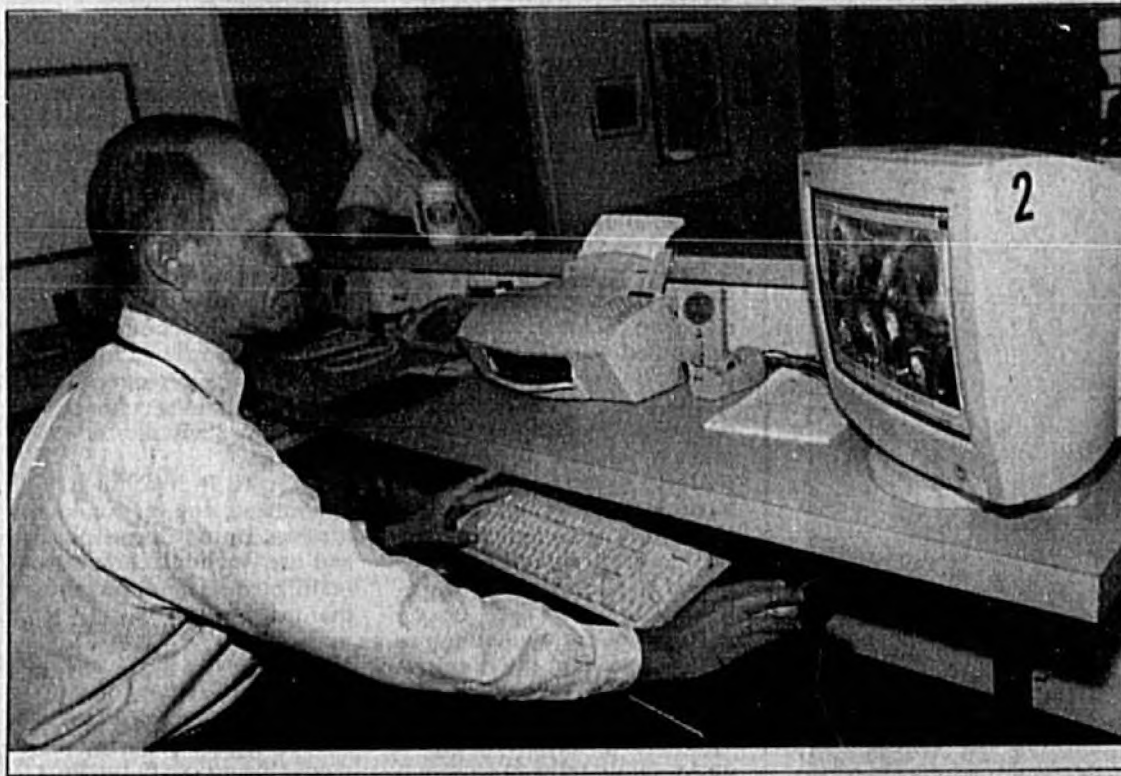

During the exercise, operations were occasionally hindered as the power was occasionally cut and the county wide radio system was in a soft failure mode. These unexpected events let officials see the "impact and how the team responded."

For severe emergencies, Staff Sgt. Gilbert Yap of the 260th military intelligence out of Miami was also present to pass along military assistance requests from the county.

"This was all setup after Hurricane Andrew," Yap said. "There was no mutual agreements then and a lot of legalities have been solved since."

At 10:38 a.m., the team encountered its second tornado at the Palm Valley mobile home park. Working hard to plot the path and destruction of the tornadoes was GIS program manager Al Hill.

"We can get to it (the effected areas) several different ways," Hill said. "We have GPS equipment in all the fire trucks and they traditionally drive to the edge of the effected areas - all we have to do is connect the dots. We can also take a hand held GPS and fly the boundary of the effected area in a helicopter. Forest services are currently using the same technique to fight forest fires."

Without the aerial photos and the detailed maps with 140 layers of information provided by Hill and his team of topographers, the operations center would have a hard time quickly identifying the most effected areas, but according to Hill the maps also make the reporting to federal agencies easier.

Also using the highly informative maps is SGTV which has a live feed from the operations center. According to SGTV station manager Matt Chester, they put briefings live on cable channel 9 to give the public the quickest and up-to-date hurricane information.

At 11 a.m., Hurricane Xerxes had arrived in Sanford with winds of more than a 100 mph and bringing an additional 3 to 5 inches of rain across the county.

Emergency situations began to flood the system and consequently this is when the team made some of its learning mistakes.

According to McCluan, one of the biggest challenges of the drill is "to get people to think out of the box."

"Altamonte Springs opened a school but didn't tell anybody," he said. "First of all, the county opens shelters - not the cities. When anybody does anything they have to think of the ramifications first. That's why we make mistakes here - it's part of the education process."

Not all the participants in the hurricane exercise were county and city officials as several volunteers provided a helpful hand to the cause. Known as the "last line of communications," Jeff

Atwood, public emergency coordinator for the radio amateur communication emergency services, manned the short waves at the operations center and the several amateur radio operators who setup outposts at the hospital and shelters.

Also volunteering his time as an amateur radio operator was David Flagg, who is the district emergency amateur radio operator for the east central district. He communicates with Tallahassee in times of the disaster.

Perhaps the most popular volunteer for the hurricane drill was the Salvation Army who provided breakfast, lunch and snacks to the team.

"The people from the Salvation Army are fabulous to us," McCluan said. "They didn't have to do this because it's training. As long as they (the team) don't spill any stew in the computers we'll be fine."

laws," said Chuck Kelly, District 5 liaison for the Florida Department of Transportation.

FDOT, in cooperation with Florida State University and the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, will then conduct a comprehensive evaluation of the nine day "Click It or Ticket" campaign. All eight southeastern states will conduct an evaluation to gauge the effectiveness of the campaign.

"It's not all about going out and writing as many tickets as you can - it's making the people aware," Kelly said.

According to Kelly, by raising Florida's seat belt usage to the national average of 72 percent, 111 lives could be saved, 2,397 injuries could be prevented and it could save more than $95 million.

However, enforcing the safety belt law in the state of Florida is a little more difficult than in other southeastern states. For example, Tennessee plans to setup safety belt checkpoints where violators will be ticketed if they are not wearing a seat belt. Unfortunately, law enforcement agencies in Florida have to stop a seat belt offenders for a primary offense (speeding, DUI, reckless driving, etc.) first, and then officers can ticket individuals for not wearing a seat belt.

"Unfortunately, the legislature won't pass that in Florida," Kelly said.

In addition to the "Click It or Ticket" campaign, officers will conduct a Zero Tolerance Operation targeting alcohol consumption by underage persons with the main emphasis on graduation parties. That drive will continue through June 2.

The Seminole County Sheriff's Office is warning parents or party-givers that they will face criminal charges if they are supplying alcohol to persons under 21. Even under parental supervision, it is still illegal for their children and other friends to be consuming, or in the possession of alcohol.

In addition to local streets, deputies will patrol in hotel and motel areas, as well as the roads to and from the beaches.

The punishment for use and/or possession of alcohol by a person under 21 can be severe, especially if one is driving at the time. It could be tacked on to other charges such as reckless driving, collision with property damage, driving under the influence, and other charges. Appearing before the judge will not be a pleasant experience.

For some, who may be merely standing outside a residence holding a can of beer, the punishment could be lower, but may also include additional charges such as disorderly intoxication, and in a drunken state, may involved resisting an officer with or without violence.

Regardless of how one celebrates this weekend, driving or graduating, buckle up, and keep alcohol away from juveniles. This is always a concern, but with the major crackdowns this weekend, officers, deputies and troopers say it is a time for extra caution.

Staff writers Christopher Patton and Nick Pfeiffert contributed to this article.

Billboards

tors may have to replant vegetation of the same size and species.

Much of the county commissioners' discussion centered on whether the ordinance violated property owners' rights.

"When we get into a property right discussion we try to protect the property owner's interest," Morris said. "I still think the billboard company has a vested interest to keep in good standing with the property owner. I think there is a good economic balance between the two parties."

Commissioner Carlton Henley concurred with Morris, but added "part of our problem is the way this thing is set up." Henley believes the billboard permit issued through the county should be with the property owner rather than the billboard company.

"If we adopt and we see we have a problem we can amend," Morris said. "I don't think anybody is right or wrong here."

Morris also worked to get additional language added to the ordinance that would allow for cut-outs or protruding portions of the billboard. An example of a billboard with a cut-out is the one on Interstate 4 that has the alien E.T. sticking his head and hands over the Universal Studios advertisement. Morris cited the cut-outs allow for more "creativity" in the billboard, which make them more pleasing to the eye.

The cut-out language was not included in the ordinance, but Chairman Dick Van Der Weide gave staff 180 days to come back with a comprehensive inventory of the existing billboards, additional cut-out language and language considering relocation of billboards that are in a cluster.

More than a dozen residents commented on the ordinance. The majority applauded the board for their actions, but several individuals cited the billboard cap will raise advertising rates for billboards which will affect small business owners.

In other business, commission discussed an ordinance drafted with the intent to "maintain the rural character" along State Road 46 in the Wekiwa area.

The ordinance includes regulating the distance structures can be placed from the roads, the height, color, material and size of signs and the amount of buffer and landscape from the road.

Commissioners will vote on the ordinance at their next meeting on June 12 at 7 p.m.

Raines' season ends prematurely

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

MONTREAL — Tim Raines' triumphant return to major league baseball from Lupus and a year's retirement, took a terrible hit last weekend as the veteran outfielder suffered an apparent season-ending injury to his biceps and shoulder. Nothing has been officially announced by the Montreal Expos, but Raines himself confirmed that things don't look good.

Arm and shoulder injuries could sideline veteran outfielder for the rest of the year

The Seminole High School graduate and Sanford resident went on the disabled list on May 4th with a strained left shoulder and was taking batting practice in preparation to return to the Expos' roster.

But during a swing, the 41-year old suffered a tear to the biceps muscle and labrum (the muscle surrounding the shoulder) in his left arm and surgery has been recommended, which would probably end the season for Raines.

Raines said it still has not sunk in that his season could be over and that he was still hopeful that something would work out that he could return.

Raines, a .295 career hitter who won two World Series rings while playing with the New York Yankees, was hitting .265 in 22 games as a pinchhitter and left fielder for the Expos this season.

Braves hold off Mariners

Appel, Dennis power Braves to Minors City Championship

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

SANFORD — A change in the weather turned a potential blowout into a nail-biter, but in the end it was the Elks Lodge #1241 Braves claiming the title of the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Babe Ruth Baseball Cal Ripken Minor Division City Championship Series with a 12-9 victory over the Sunland Corporation Mariners.

The game on Tuesday at the Sanford Youth Baseball Complex at Chase Park got off to a late start because of lightning in the area, but the thunderstorm passed to the east of the complex without dropping any moisture.

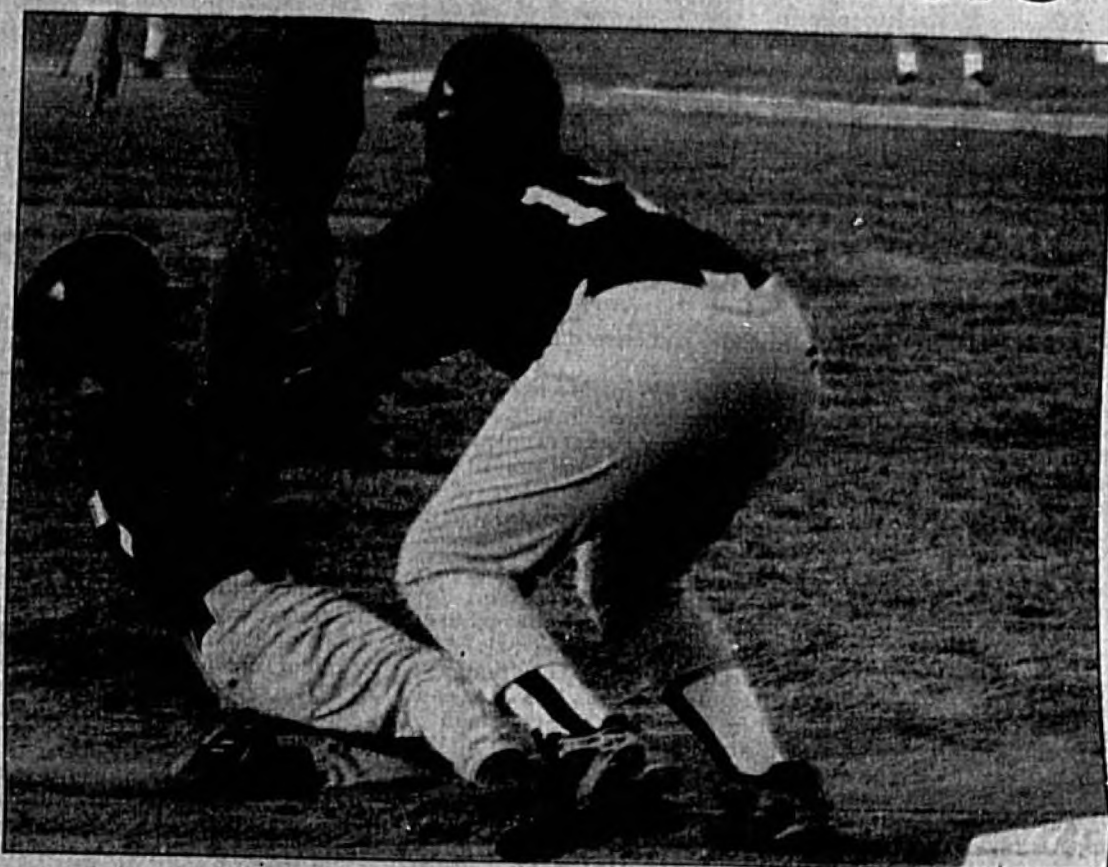

Once the game got started the Braves, who were undefeated in the tournament and had beaten the Mariners 13-5 over the weekend, looked like they would win the title in a walk, scoring eight runs on 10 hits in building an 8-0 lead heading into the bottom of the fourth inning.

But a change in the wind direction blew the rain back to the complex and the change seemed to take some of the wind out of the Braves' sails, while invigorating the Mariners.

Braves starter Michael Prevatte Jr. had been outstanding through three innings, allowing only a triple to Jacob Pyle and striking out all three batters he faced in the third inning.

But he tired noticeably in the fourth inning and lost his control of the strike zone, walking four, and coupled with an infield hit and two errors, the Mariners got right

The Minors (9-10 year olds) showed Tuesday night at Chase Park that they could play just like the pros. In the top photo, the Mariners' Jimmie Daniels III (No. 17) tags out the Braves' Brett Allen as he tries to stretch a double into a triple in the first inning. But Allen would get his revenge an inning later (right) tagging out Jacob Pyle (No. 7) as he attempts to score on a grounder to first in the second inning. The Braves hung on to win the game 12-9 and finished the tournament with a 3-0 record and was crowned the 2001 City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Department Babe Ruth Baseball Cal Ripken League Minor Division City Champions.

Local anglers take second in Wolfson

By Greg W. Walker
Special to the Herald

PALATKA — Eddie Bussard of Deltona and John Bitter of Maitland had made no plans to fish the 12th Annual Wolfson Children's Hospital Bass Tournament in Palatka on Saturday, May 19, on the St. Johns River.

Bussard, a professional angler/guide, formerly of Sanford, had booked a charter for that day and Bitter, a B.A.S.S. professional angler, was to be in Gainesville to help his son find housing at the University of Florida.

Friday afternoon Bussard's client backed out, and Bitter's son changed his plans, so the two anglers made a last-minute decision to fish the big paying tournament.

"We actually didn't decide to fish until 7:30 (Friday) night", Bussard said.

In a lot of angler's minds, Bussard's and Bitter's decision would merely turn into just another weekend fishing trip, and the possibility of even finishing in the money would be very remote.

Nothing prepared, no pre-fish time in waters miles away from home. No lines re-tied or baits selected. Add to that Bussard and Bitter arrived late at the Palatka riverfront, and drew boat number 502 among a total of 522 teams competing.

"Ain't got a chance," some would say.

Cardinals lead Babe Ruth City tourney

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

SANFORD — The Cardinals posted their second impressive victory in as many days as they moved to within one win of securing the title in the City of Sanford Recreation and Parks Babe Ruth Baseball City Championship Series.

The double elimination tournament, for players 13-to-15 years old, opened on Wednesday at Zinn Beck Field with Jonathan Ilean throwing a one-hitter and striking out seven and the Cardinals offense scored 10 runs in the fourth inning as they routed the Cubs, 18-1.

The late game saw the Mariners score six runs in the fourth inning to erase a 6-3 deficit as they outscored the Red Sox, 9-7.

The tournament then took a weird turn on Thursday as neither the Red Sox or Cubs could field enough players for their elimination game, causing a double forfeit and knocking both teams out of the tourney.

That left the championship to be decided between the Cardinals and Mariners.

And it was the Cardinals who again got a strong pitching performance and plenty of offense as Lynden Merthie fired another one-hitter, striking out 13, and the Red Birds bats came up with seven hits as they bested the Mariners, 8-3.

The tournament will now take off for the Memorial Day weekend and will return to Zinn Beck Field on Tuesday for a 5:45 p.m. game with the Mariners needing a victory over the Cardinals to force a winner-take-all game at 8 p.m.

Contributing to a 10-hit Cardinals attack against the Cubs were Lynden Merthie (double, single, two runs, two RBI), Antonio Miller (two sin-back into the game, trailing just 8-6.

The Braves then took advantage of wildness on the part of two Mariners relievers, scoring four runs without the benefit of a hit in the top of the fifth inning to take a 12-6 lead.

With the time limit closing in, the Mariners had one chance to tie the game (only six runs are allowed in any one inning in the Minor Division) in the bottom of the fifth inning and force the game to another inning.

The Mariners did score three runs and had the bases loaded, but Ryan Stiffey got a strike out to end the game and clinch the championship for the Braves.

With one out in the top of the first inning, Michael Robinson got all the way to third on a throwing error and Brett Allen followed with a double and the Braves had a quick 1-0 lead.

Allen was thrown out trying to stretch the hit into a triple, but Prevatte kept the inning alive with a single. An intentional walk to Andre Debose and a double steal set up a two-run single by Appel, who stole second and scored on a single by Stiffey.

The Mariners looked like they might cut into the lead in the bottom of the second inning as Jacob Pyle ripped a lead-off triple. But Jimmie Daniels III grounded to Stiffey at first, who stepped on the bag for the first out and fired to Allen at the plate to gun down Pyle for a double play.

The Braves doubled their lead in the third inning as Debose singled with one out, stole second, and got to third on an error, from where he scored as Stiffey reached on an error. Towan Dennis, the number 8 hitter in the Braves line-up, then laced a shot to the left field fence, and by the time the running had stopped, Appel, who had walked, Stiffey and Dennis had all crossed the plate.

The Mariners got back into the game in the fourth inning as walks to James Mitchell and Jeremy Gentry, and an error, loaded the bases with one out.

The Braves actually should have gotten out of the inning without allowing a run as the next batter struck out and Jacob Pyle hit a tapper out in front of the plate that was fielded by Prevatte.

But Allen also chased the grounder and Prevatte did not realize all he needed to do was run and touch the plate to end the inning and he just held the ball, giving Pyle an RBI single and keeping the bases loaded.

Daniels then reached on an error allowing two more runs to score and when Corinthian Freeny and Benjamin Bates walked, a fourth run scored, and two more runs would cross the plate on wild pitches, ending the inning with the maximum six runs scoring.

That set the stage for the fifth inning that saw seven runs score, four by the Braves, on no hits, 10 walks, on catcher's interference, two errors and three wild pitches.

Contributing to a 10-hit Braves attack were Ryan Kusev (two singles), Towan Dennis (home run, two runs, three RBI), Brett Allen (double, RBI), Robbie Appel (single, two runs, three RBI), Ryan Stiffey (single, two runs, two RBI), Michael Robinson (single, run, RBI), Andre Debose (single, three runs), Michael Prevatte III (single, run), Hayden Vass (single), Tyler Groves (run) and Christopher Robinson (RBI).

Also playing for the Braves, who were coached by Mark Allen, were Tymair Noble and Brandon Stiffey.

Doing the damage for the Mariners were Jacob Pyle (triple, single, run, RBI), Jeremy Gentry (run, RBI), Anthony Centeno and James Mitchell (two runs each), Ethan Cartwright, Jimmie Daniels III and Corinthian Freeny (one run each), and Cody Tilson and Benjamin Bates (one RBI each).

Other members of the Mariners, which were coached by Gene Pyle, were James Pyle and Peter Rosa.

It has also been learned the Minors A and Commissioner's District All-Star Tournaments, as well as the 11-year-old tournament, will be played at Chase Park in June.

As the sun rises behind Palatka Memorial Bridge, anglers listen for their boat number to be called at the 2001 Wolfson Children's Bass Tournament on the St. Johns River last weekend.

Fishing

Continued from page 1B As fast as they made the trip on the road north to Palatka from Sanford, they traveled nearly the same distance by water back south, up the St. Johns to fish familiar waters.

A gamble for sure, and stretching the odds even more to bring a few fish to the scales. Using up precious fishing time to travel 80 miles, while most are wetting lines and putting fish in the boat.

Fishing Producto six-inch Vibrator paddle-tail worms in junebug color and Producto six-inch, black/blue tail jiggle-Tail worms, Bitter and Bussard flipped the plastic worms in pads all day. "We have been using Producto lures for years," said Bussard. "Producto is an excellent product, and Mike Skat and the guys at the Sanford plant have treated us well."

"We were strictly flipping pads," said Bitter. "We weren't bed fishing, but I saw our biggest fish. As we moved through the pads, she came out and swam right in front of me. I dropped a jiggle-tail worm in front of her, but she just swam by."

"Just seconds later she swam out from under the pads in clear view, so I flipped the worm at her again, and this time she bit," laughed Bitter. The big fish weighed seven pounds.

Bitter and Bussard had a limit by 1 p.m., culling a few fish, then it was time to make the long trip back to the Palatka Riverfront. There the lead was held by a father and son team, Wayne and Derek Black of San Mateo, a community just across the river from Palatka.

The Blacks, who had went out early in the second flight as boat number 60, had weighed in 23.30 pounds, with a 9.77 lunker bass in the creel.

With two bulging sacks of fish, it looked as if Bussard and Bitter might overtake the leaders, but fell short by only 1.89 pounds weighing-in a total of 21.41 pounds.

"It was the difference between their big fish and ours," said Bitter. "Their fish was a nine pounder and ours was a seven."

Bussard and Bitter collected $4,000 for the second place win.

Winners Wayne and Derek Black earned $10,000 for the total weight, and another $5,000 for big fish of the tournament.

Ted Ensminger, promotions manager of Bass Pro Shops Outdoor World, Orlando, has been the tournament launch and weigh-in director for the Wolfson tournament since it's beginning. Ensminger congratulated Bussard and Bitter for their second place win.

"Of course it is not first place, and you don't take home the biggest prize, but anytime a team of anglers, in a last-minute decision, throw their rods in a boat, and take-on this kind of competition, and come out second, I take my hat off to them," said Ensminger.

"The Wolfson draws the best of the best," added Ensminger. "These are all veteran, serious anglers, and everyone thinks he can win."

The Jacksonville Wolfson Children's Hospital at Baptist Medical Center has received over $500,000 from the proceeds of the super-tournament held annually in Palatka. It is the largest one-day bass tournament east of the Mississippi River.

In addition to Bussard and Bitter, other Seminole anglers competing in the tournament included Hank Gallagher, Gil Ammerman, Mike Skat, Charlie Youngers, John Youngers, Wayne Russell, Frank Dodson, John Sobik, Bud Burgess, Clint Boyles, and Chris Boyles.

Larry Thomas had a single and Patrick Sesson scored the run for the Cubs.

The Red Sox scored two runs in the top of the first inning, but the Mariners answered with three runs in the bottom of the first frame.

The score was still 3-2 when the Red Sox scored four runs in the top of the fourth inning and appeared to be headed for victory.

The Mariners, however, answered right back in the bottom of the frame, again, this time scoring six runs to take the lead for good.

Luke Kimmig was the winning pitcher, coming in to finish off the fourth inning, then allowing only one run on two hits over the final two innings.

Providing the offense for the Mariners were Mike Koshel (two singles, two runs, RBI), Dekwayn Debose (single, two runs), Cody Miller, Richard Nelson and Chris Hallman (one single and one run each), and Cleo White and James Richardson (one run each).

Doing the damage for the Red Sox were Shelton Stiles (two singles, run, two RBI), Sean Jackson (double, two RBI), Kevin Lowe (double, run), Eric Bryant and Joe Hollowell (one single and one run each), Edward Barfield (run, RBI), and Daniel Apps and Darrell Jackson (one run each).

In Thursday's Winner's Bracket game, the Cardinals took a 5-0 lead before the Mariners could dent the scoreboard in the bottom of the third inning.

After seeing their lead shrink to 5-2, the Cardinals put the game out of reach by scoring three runs in the top of the sixth inning.

Powering the Cardinals attack were Kahalid Farakahan (double, single, two runs, two RBI), Antonio Miller (two singles, two runs), Lynden Merthle (single, run), Jonathan Bean and Terrance Moring (one single and one RBI each), Levi Gilb (two runs), and Donnell Hicks (run).

Mike Koshel singled and drove in a run for the Mariners, while Dekwayn Debose scored three runs.

Hydrant Hues

Fire plugs aren't just engine red anymore

By Nick Pfeiffaut
Staff Writer

Years ago, you could tell the occupation of a person by the color vehicle he or she drove. All private vehicles were black. But a white truck delivered milk. A green one delivered bread. A red one meant it was a fire truck, etc. Well, from the red fire truck, came red fire hydrants. It was the common color for decades.

Now, we have just about every color you could imagine on our vehicles, and fire plugs are no longer just red. While there are still red fire plugs in Sanford, some are now light blue, green, orange and even multi-colored. The fire department isn't trying to beautify the neighborhoods by adding color to the landscaping, but are reacting to recommendations by the government's National Fire Protection Association regarding "Marking of Hydrants".

The amount of water pressure available from any particular hydrant can generally be judged by the color of the hydrant.

- Light Blue — Class AA, has a capacity of 1,500 gallons per minute or greater.
- Green — Class A, has an output capacity of 1,000 to 1,499 gallons per minute.
- Orange — Class B, rated capacity of 500 to 999 gallons per minute.
- Red — Class C, rated capacity of less than 500 gallons per minute.

Several fire hydrants around Sanford have more than one color. The plug at French Avenue and Commercial Street, near the Seminole Herald building, is green but has an orange cap. Sanford Fire Marshal Mike McGibeny said this hydrant operates off a 6-inch line, which would give it a Class-B rating, at 680 gallons per minute.

The hydrant at Celery and Mellonville Avenues, near what used to be the Seminole County School Board offices, is green but has a dark blue cap.

"That's a very powerful hydrant," he said. "It comes off an 18-inch water main and is definitely a Class-AA."

However, he was not sure of the color on the markings.

"It may be miscolored," he said. "We'll have to look into that because maybe it was painted before the color codes were established."

McGibeny explained that the base color is the one which determines the capacity, so these two double-colored hydrants are considered Class A.

McGibeny said the colors are "recommended" rather than mandatory.

"But we're trying to bring as many as we can into this color classification," he said.

There are also private hydrants.

"Those are mostly at shopping centers," he said. "They have a master meter that comes off the city water supply, but are divided up around the various buildings or major stores. These are usually red in color."

Sanford Fire Chief Tom Hickson said the amount of pressure on a particular hydrant does not necessarily mean how many feet of fire hose can be attached.

"We have a certain length which we hook up," he said.

Next time you're out and about, look for the different colored fire hydrants. Don't pay any attention to the one in Paw Park in Sanford, a fenced-in park for dog lovers. That hydrant has its own colors to appeal to the canines, and is not connected to the city's water system.

Fire hydrant facts:

Fire Hydrant — NOUN: An upright pipe with a nozzle or spout for drawing water from a water main. Also called fireplug

- The first fire hydrant was invented by George Smith (a fireman) in the early 1800s.
- Early water systems used hollowed out logs for water mains. The method of obtaining water for fire fighting purposes was crude: pits dug at specified intervals to expose mains. A hole was then dug and a wooden plug was inserted. These plugs were known as fire plugs and this term is still commonly used to identify fire hydrants. When a fire occurred, the plug was removed allowing water to fill the pit. Fire apparatus took draft from the pit; however the flow of water from the pit was usually so meager that the system was seldom an effective aid to fire fighting.
- Today, there are more than 15,000 fire hydrants in the United States.
- In Michigan, it is illegal to chain an alligator to a fire hydrant.

Stardust Service Unit holds annual bridging ceremony

Bridging is a very special ceremony in Girl Scouts. It signifies the end of a girl's journey through one level of Girl Scouting and the beginning of her journey through the next. The Stardust Service Unit of Girl Scouts in Lake Mary held their annual bridging ceremony on Monday, May 21, in Holy Cross Lutheran Church.

Mary Rowell

A very special guest at the ceremony was Lake Mary Mayor Thom Greene. The mayor told the girls how important it was to stay in scouting and commended them on their hard work and dedication.

Before the bridging, there were two very special recognitions. Two seniors, Brittany Bolton and Kristin Lauth, received their 10-year pin. The service unit's Gold Award recipients were also honored. The Gold Award is presented to girls who complete a project that provides service to the community. Before planning the project, the girls must complete about two year's worth of work on Interest Patches and Leadership. Girl Scout Troop 148 held a Black Culture Festival for the school children of Seminole County on Feb. 3. About 600 children attended the festival. The troop members recognized for the Gold Award were Brittany Bolton, Kim Clay, Karima Clayton, Meredith Hoyer, Kristin Lauth and Stephanie Rowell.

After the recognitions, three Daisy troops, six Brownie troops, one Junior troop and three girls from one Senior troop bridged. This is the first time in three years the service unit has had Seniors bridge. Because the Seniors were bridging to adults, their troop presented each with a Lifetime Membership in Girl Scouts.

Bryan Tyrrell, a Sanford Middle School student, was recently named a United States National Award Winner in foreign language by the United States Achievement Academy.

Tyrrell was nominated for the national award by Ms. Ohl and Ms. Marquez, teachers at Sanford Middle.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in America's history.

Certainly, United States Achievement Academy winners should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said George Stevens, executive director of the United States Achievement Academy.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors and other qualified sponsors and upon the Standards of Selection set forth by the Academy. The criteria for selections are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Tyrrell is the son of Elwin and Becky Tyrrell of Sanford. Grandparents are Willie Tibbetts of Sanford and Pat and Elwin Sr., Tyrrell of Sanford.

The Seminole High School National Honor Society celebrated its first end of the year brunch Saturday, May 19, in the Heathrow Country Club.

Seventy NHS members and parents attended the event, which included dinner and a program.

The current NHS officers, including President Natasha Chida, Vice President Keldra Daniels, Recording Secretary Jennifer Fitzgerald, Corresponding Secretary Kimberly Corso, Treasurer Scarlett Rosler and Historian Isyana Iswan, were introduced by NHS sponsor Gail Bonjone. The officers were honored with gifts and their individualized colored stoles for graduation. Each student also received a National Honor Society pin and flowers, as well as a gift to take to college.

Senior members attending were called to the podium individually for their traditional graduation stoles. Each current officer welcomed the new officers with carnation bouquets.

Next year's officers include President Shara Volk, Vice President Blake Longstaff, Corresponding Secretary Sumeet Patel, Recording Secretary Ed Chu, Treasurer Modollne Pierre, and Historians Jaebel Quinn and Shoshana Hacker.

Mr. Bracken administered the NHS Pledge to all inductees and Seminole County School Board Chairperson Sandra Robinson was guest speaker.

The brunch ended with Chida lighting a candle and passing "the torch of leadership" to Volk. The new officers plan to meet this summer to plan for the upcoming year.

The Andrew J. Bracken Chapter of National Honor Society recently inducted 145 new members.

Author reviews his book for Literary Group

The May meeting of the Literary Writers Inc., Southeastern Outdoor Group of the Sanford Woman's Club was extra special to the members and guests. A noted author, W. Everett Beal, visited the club and reviewed his book, "Southern Winds."

Arriving from his home in Kingsland, Ga., where he and his wife Judy now live, Beal's southern gentleman charm made an immediate hit with the literary ladies. He is the nephew of Lourine Messenger, a life member of the club.

Beal has written over 400 articles for magazines and newspapers and is currently a member of the Georgia

Doris Dietrich

Writers Association, and the Georgia Outdoor Writers Association of which he is former president. He has also appeared in radio and television programs and the movies.

Born and raised in Valdosta, Ga., after eight years of college, he moved to Griffin, Ga. where he owned and operated a pharmacy. He later owned another pharmacy in Gainesville, Ga. when he retired and he and Judy opened a Christmas Shop in Dillard, Ga. The couple lived at Sky Valley for 16 years, returned to Griffin and later moved to Kingsland.

A source said, "The author lived and breathed every moment of 'Southern Winds.' It was compiled on top of the mountain, in the sand by the sea and in the air and will stand the winds of time. The title 'Southern Winds' was selected by Judy Beal as it best reflected the change in the South."

Beal told the women that all have a book within themselves. He explained that the book, which took him three years to complete, was a lengthy process for him. He reviewed the book, according to Mindy Tooley, and shared many of the incidents that he included in his story.

Mindy said, "The book is a personal reflection of the author's life in the South. He explained his relationship with his parents and how they influenced him." She added, "Mr. Beal was a pharmacist and throughout the book, he shared both humorous and tragic stories of his time serving the public. He also incorporated the changes in society and how this impacted him. He described a diary written by his parents and included a passage from their honeymoon to a Florida Beach: "Oceans of love and kisses on every wave."

The author described the process of getting "Southern Winds" published which took five years. Mindy said, "The first group that assured him of publication actually misrepresented the process to 300 authors and had taken $3 million of their money. The group was arrested and are now in prison."

Mindy continued, "The ladies were very impressed by the soft-spoken, southern-accented author. Mr. Beal autographed one of the member's personal copies with the following: "Enjoy and share my touch of Southern American history."

Two copies of the book were autographed and presented to the Sanford Public Library in memory of club member, the late Mrs. Austin Smith, a past club

Williams honored through spiritual music and celebration

Sister Gloria Williams, minister of music at Progress Missionary Baptist Church, was honored as musician and music director 6:30 p.m. Saturday, May 19. This dedicated servant was honored in a worship and musical service. She has served 16 years at the church.

Master of ceremonies was the Rev. Ben Adams, pastor of Rejected Stone Church.

The Scripture was read by Sister Christine Luster, and Sister Marjorie Timmons welcomed the guests to the honor program.

The audience was entertained by renowned mime artist Robert Hayes, who performed the rendition "You Are the Center of my joy" and dedicated it to the honoree.

Musical selections to feed the spiritual soul were rendered by the choir of Rejected Stone Church with selections of "Something Inside Of Me Telling Me To Go Ahead" and "Let The Redeem Of The Lord Say Yes."

The city of Sanford Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Celebration Choir, under the direction of honoree Gloria Williams, was at the console and lifted their voices in song with the selections of "Rejoice"

(The Beatitudes taken from St. Matthew) and "Come Let Us Worship The Lord In The Beauty Of His Holiness" with Dorothy Holmes and Andra Hayes as soloists.

The young singer, Master

Demetus, sang from his soul the selection "Just Ask In My Name" and the final tribute was from the Cynthia Dixon Family. They dedicated and sang "On Time God" to Mrs. Williams.

Sharing their love to the honoree was the St. John Metropolitan Baptist Church Praise Team, which presented the dramatization of "The Creation."

Words of inspiration were given by Pastor Emory Blake who spoke of her Christian attitude and great contribution to the church, school and community in the gift of music. Williams' talent has touched her many music students, who she teaches weekly. In her honor, one of her students, William Tillman Jr., played the new arrangement of "Give Me A Clean Heart."

Tributes of love were given by her family, daughter Andra, and granddaughter. Other presentations were given by Pastor Emory Blake, Deacon Tracy Cashe, Sister Delorus Cashe, Sister Delores Williams, Rev. Benjamine Adams and the M.L.K. Jr. Steering Committee and Celebration Choir stood as committee member Linda W. Medlock presented the honoree a dozen red roses as a gift of love for her dedicated work and services with the M.L.K. Jr. Celebration Choir.

With a heart full of love and gratefulness and appreciation to all who helped make her grand and glorious 16th Anniversary a success.

Tradition-minded grandma unsparing with rod

DEAR ABBY: I will be having my second child in a few weeks. My mother is coming from her home in Malaysia to help for the first month I am back from the hospital.

Dear Abby

I am grateful for her help, but I am also worried. She strongly believes in spanking and slapping her children and grandchildren. I was raised that way. In Asia, spanking is a common form of discipline in schools and homes. I am against it.

Last night, I was talking to my mother on the phone. My 3-year-old daughter was tired and began crying. I told Mother I would call her back after my daughter was asleep.

My mother told me to slap her. I was horrified.

I told her I do not spank or slap my child. My husband and I believe in "time-outs." My mother doesn't think they are effective. I told her that slapping a child could cause damage to the eardrum and deafness. I even told her that when she spanked me as a child, I hated her for weeks. It made me a more rebellious kid.

Naturally, she disagreed. She said she had spanked my nephew with a cane a few days earlier.

Abby, what do you suggest I do to "knock" some sense into my mother's head? I don't want her to spank my 3-year-old when she cries.

DESPERATE MOTHER
IN TEXAS

DEAR MOTHER: A good talking-to is a far more effective way to discipline children than hitting them. Corporal punishment not only destroys a child's self-esteem and trust, but it also enforces the idea that "might makes right."

Hitting a child when he or she misbehaves means that the adult has "reacted" instead of using the situation as an opportunity to teach more appropriate behavior. Children learn best in an atmosphere of cooperation, through teaching, discussion and observing adults who display responsible, loving, self-disciplined behavior.

When your mother arrives, you and your husband must make it clear that you will not tolerate hitting or slapping. Explain that you want your daughter to love her grandmother, not fear her and dread her arrival.

If the child should misbehave, make it clear that you or your husband will handle the discipline — and then show her how you do it.

Contrary to popular belief, you CAN teach an old dog new tricks. Perhaps your mother will learn from your example.

If she doesn't, she must not be left alone with her granddaughter.

DEAR ABBY: Your recent letters about people during World War II who betrayed themselves by customs and mannerisms reminded me of a joke that made the rounds during that time: If military guards were on duty and a stranger approached, the guards would ask him to prove he was an American by singing the SECOND verse of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

If the stranger knew the words, the guards knew he was a spy.

KATHRYN WEEKLY,
LAKE LAND, FLA.

DEAR KATHRYN: Funny! Even if someone knows the lyrics of the first verse, the melody is so difficult to sing that few true-blue Americans have mastered it.

DEAR ABBY: As a baby boomer "coming of age," my hair has gone from brown to 60 percent gray. When filling out forms and documents that ask for color of hair (like driver's licenses), what should I write?

PRE-SENIOR MAN
IN ARIZONA

DEAR PRE-SENIOR: Since you're more than 50 percent gray, I'd say it's time to grin and declare it.

Choose battles carefully when changing your teen's behavior

QUESTION: In the interest of keeping peace in the household, you have suggested leniency with rebellious teens on issues that don't really matter. What does this mean in practical terms? Give me some examples of demands that would rock my daughter's boat unnecessarily.

James Dobson

DR. DOBSON: Well, you will have to decide what the non-negotiables are to you and your husband. Defend those demands but lighten up on lesser matters. That may indicate a willingness to let her room look like a junkyard for a while. Close the door and pretend not to notice. Does that surprise you? I don't like lazy, sloppy, undisciplined kids any more than you do, but given the possibilities for chaos that this girl might precipitate, spit-shined rooms may not be all that important.

You have to ask yourself this question, "Is the behavior to which I object bad enough to risk turning the canoe upside down?" If the issue is that important, then brace yourself and make your stand. But think through those intractable matters in advance and plan your defense of them thoroughly.

QUESTION: I am a single mother with a 5-year-old son. How can I raise him to be a healthy man who has a good masculine image?

DR. DOBSON: As I think you recognize from your question, your son has needs that you're not properly equipped to meet. Your best option, then, is to recruit a man who can act as a mentor to him — one who can serve as a masculine role model.

In her book "Mothers and Sons," the late Jean Lush talked about the challenges single mothers face in raising sons. She says the ages 4 to 6 are especially important and difficult. I agree. A boy at that age still loves his mother, but he feels the need to separate from her and gravitate toward a masculine model.

Admittedly, good mentors can be difficult to recruit. Consider your friends, relatives or neighbors who can offer as little as an hour or two a month. In a pinch, a mature high-schooler who likes kids could even be "rented" to play ball or go fishing with a boy in need.

Dr. Dobson is president of the non-profit organization Focus on the Family, P.O. Box 444, Colorado Springs, CO 80903; or www.family.org. Questions and answers are excerpted from "The Complete Marriage and Family Home Reference Guide," published by Tyndale House.

Whigham Cast In TV Movie

Another Sanford son has made the big time.
 Beth and Frank Whigham are probably filled with the ultimate of parents' pride this week after viewing TV's "Submerged" on May 20. Their son, Shea Whigham, played the role of the ship's compassionate commander in the true story of a submarine, the USS Squalus, that sank on a trial run May 23, 1939.

After eight years of struggling, Shea has finally arrived on the show biz scene. With a host of relatives in Sanford, he was brought up here and in Lake Mary where he was graduated from Lake Mary High School in 1987.

At the time, tennis was his forte and he was the recipient of a tennis scholarship to Tyler Junior College in Tyler, Texas. As fate would have it, Shea injured his wrist which led him to studying drama. It didn't take long for the aspiring actor to realize he had found his niche. He loved it!

Shea went on to study acting at the State University of New York in White Plains where he met his wife, Christine. He later formed his own company and produced off-Broadway shows. World travel is not new to Shea. "Submerged" was filmed in Rome and Malta and he recently returned from Prague where he filmed a movie with Anthony Hopkins. The Squalus crew was honored this month in Washington where Shea viewed the movie for the first time.

The rescue of the Squalus is the only successful submarine rescue in history. Although 26 men were trapped, 33 survived the maritime ordeal and were rescued the next day by a Diving Bell. It was a poignant moment for Skipper Shea when he finally abandoned the ship. Shea performed his role par excellence and the community should be very proud.

Shea's brother, Jack, an upcoming lawyer who is interning in Miami, arrived home to view the TV special with his parents. Shea was at his Manhattan home with his wife and two children, a little girl, 3, and a baby boy, 8 months old.

Congratulations are in order. Watch Shea go!

The delicacy of Crepes

Crepes are delicate thin pancakes that can be served with a numerous combination of sweet creams, fresh fruits, and chocolates when served as a dessert. Or, they can be served with rich fillings of stews, such as chicken and vegetables, lobster and asparagus, and crabmeat with basil sauce.

Crepes are one of the most sophisticated but easy and fun meals to prepare. They are delicious when made from a smooth, light batter, with ingredients of eggs, milk and flour. It is important to let the batter rest before cooking. The relaxation of gluten in the flour makes them tender.

In France, crepes are traditionally served on Shrove Tuesday to celebrate renewal, family life, and hopes for good fortune and happiness in the future. It is said that if you touch the handle of the frying pan and make a wish while the pancake is turned holding a coin in the hand, your wish will come true.

Crepes form an integral part of every family celebration. Served with white wine, they take pride of place on all joyful occasion.

Sica Nacu

Anatole France wrote in "Le Temp": "sprinkled with sugar and eaten hot, they form an exquisite dish. They have a golden hue and are tempting to eat. Thin and transparent like muslin, their edges are trimmed to resemble fine lace. They are so light that after a good dinner, a man is still willing to sample three or four dozen of them!"

Traditional Crepe Batter
 4 1/2 cups of sifted flour
 6 eggs, beaten
 1/2 Teaspoon salt
 4 1/2 cups milk
 1/2 cup powder sugar (just for the one you would use as a dessert)
 1 tablespoon of oil or butter (optional)

Beat eggs with salt and add flour until creamy, then add the milk and sugar and oil. For a lighter in calorie solution, add half milk half water.

Let the batter to stand for two hours, or until the next day in the refrigerator. (When you do leave it for the next day, you need to add a little bit of water, and mix well before cooking). Place a handled skillet on medium heat. Add a drop of cooking oil, or butter, or pan spray. Wipe the extra fat off with a paper towel. Pour about three tablespoons of the batter into the pan. Cook until dry in the middle. Flip or turn with your fingers on the other side. Dry for three seconds. Turn onto a large plate. After cooking them, you can store them by placing parchment paper in between and in a closed tight container for up to one week. Or you can freeze them for several months.

Lobster And Asparagus Crepes

Red pepper (just a few flakes),
 3 Tablespoons of sherry
 3 Tablespoons of red onion, sautéed
 Fresh sage
 Salt

Preheat the oven at 350 degrees.

Mix all ingredients together in a bowl, and blend very well. Start by placing three asparagus spears in the middle of the crepe, then spoon the filling and roll the

Apple And Walnut Crepes

Make some sweet crepes. Lightly brown some thin slices of apples in butter and sprinkle them with brown sugar, all spices, and nutmeg. Add some peeled, wet walnuts. Fill just in one quarter of the crepe and fold over in four like a triangle.

You can flame them for more of an impressive presentation with Calvados or Grand Marnier liqueur. Serve them sprinkled with more sugar.
