

Legion Reaches Finals On Jim Hawkins' No-Hitter

Sanford Edges Winter Park, 1-0, For 13th Consecutive Victory

By SAM JACOBSON

Jimmy Hawkins literally wrote his own page in the annals of Sanford Junior Legion baseball history as he fired a sterling no-hitter against Winter Park to bumble the Packers, 1-0, yesterday in the second round of the District Six tourney currently being held in Orlando.

The sturdy left-hander "Hawk" undoubtedly stole the tournament spotlight as he cut down batter after batter in the close, hard-fought contest to lead the "Baby Birds" to their 13th straight triumph. He really had a rough time, for the pressure on him was double that usually brought to bear on a pitcher going for the once-in-a-lifetime hitless game.

In several instances he was working with men on base and even time he was faced with the realization that one wild pitch would not only ruin his bid for glory but could also cost the game.

Yet each time he managed to reach back for that "little something extra" to render the Orlando County outfit helpless. On only one play did he need any super help and that came in the eighth inning.

Jim Hawkins playing in left field, rose to the occasion with a sliding, twisting, star-studded, backhanded catcher of a drive with base hit written all over it. It was a good thing that Hawkins did come through so splendidly because for the second straight day the top bats of the locals were almost fatally silenced. This time "Lefty" Eidel did it as he shackled the "birds" with a neat five-hitter. It must be mentioned, though, that the Winter Park outfielders received quite a workout.

Sanford as usual seized the initiative early in the game. Yesterday it was in the first frame when Bates and Junior Metts felled out successive singles and Jimmy Kriker was hit by an pitched ball to load the bases. But Eidel had down forcing Johnny Jones to ground out and end the inning.

In the third, however, Sanford was not to be denied. With one away Bates reached first on his second single. Junior Metts popped out, but Hubba Hulsebush belted a towering 310-foot triple to drive in Bates with what proved to be the winning run.

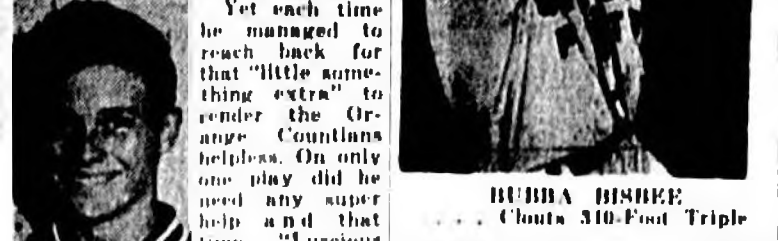

The win was probably the most strategic one of the meet for the Campbell-Leesburg Post 53 representatives in that it definitely set them up in a "tallor made position" for the 4th encounter tomorrow night in Tinker Field. Their opponent will be either Winter Park or Orlando.

In the meantime, the two Orange County teams culled today in a game to decide which will face the "Baby Birds." An injury to Winter Park ace Wendell Snodgrass means Orlando the favorite.

In either case Sanford will have a definite advantage over the survivor. Winter Park, since Snodgrass's mischance, has only Eidel for the mound while Orlando has but an assortment of second rate hurlers.

"Chick" Kriker, who shut out Orlando Monday on two hits will go for Sanford.

DIAMOND DURT: The "Baby Bird" ballplayer's all testify that center Al McMillan just about fell off the bench in a wild upset when Bates came up with his

HUBBA HULSEBUSH Clouts 310-Foot Triple

Hawkins returned the opposition in order all but twice yesterday. The Winter Park outfielders gathered in not fewer than ten Sanford fly balls throughout the afternoon. Quite a total for a seven inning game.

McMillan's strongest drill on fundamentals and frequent location of "Run! Run!" are really beginning to pay off for Sanford. Without the hustle and trained reactions that he has instilled in them, the locals probably wouldn't have won these last two games.

A book could be written about the trials and tribulations of the Leesburg Lakers during the past two years... there have been exactly five field managers for the Lakers, now Packers, in that short span...

The Cuban Negro Chico Fundora has been the center of more than one fuss and he has figured in the firing of a manager... From the other side of the baseball operation, two young dynamoes—Wendell Snodgrass and John Latawh—have attracted the attention of baseball scene with no experience during the middle of last year and added the then Leesburg Packers to their chain of enterprises...

The brother combination which successfully built W.I.B.E. into a going concern had the right combination of youthful Wendell, bubbling over with ideas, and the older and more prudent Paul to lend balance to the business operations...

Chilepe was benched and shelved for a long period, returning with recurring headaches, which numbered his days with the Packers...

Smith Takes 6th Victory In Relief; Sanford Plays In Orlando Tonight

By KENT CHETLAIN

Manager J. C. Dunn's bludgeoning propelled the Sanford Cardinals to a narrow 4-3 victory over the Lakers in Leesburg last night, ending the Redbirds' three-game losing streak. The combination of six Leesburg errors and Dunn's smoldering bludgeon proved sufficient to topple Sanford's perennial nemesis Roland Ortega.

Beating Ortega for the first time this year in five encounters, Sanford battered the little "junkball" twirler from Cuba for 10 hits, including Bill Silverthorne's 2 1/2 double of the year.

Tonight the Cardinals will invade Orlando to engage the Packers in a battle for fifth place. A victory for the fifth standing Redbirds would insure Sanford the No. 5 spot, since Sanford is trailing by only a half-game. Manager Dunn will probably throw in National Guard veteran Dave Leonard (4-1), Ernie Palmeri (12-5) or Paul Smith.

The latter worked the last two and two-thirds innings last night to earn credit for the victory. Smith also appeared the night before here against Leesburg. He blanked the Lakers last night from the seventh on after taking over with two men on from Clarence Ingram.

Ingram started the game and lasted until the seventh with one out, turning in a creditable job of fingering Dunn's relief. Clarence in the seventh after observing Ingram was tiring. The Sanford skipper was in a good position to know and as it turned out it was a wise decision. Dunn caught the entire content, since regular receiver Bill Harris will be sidelined for nearly two weeks with a jammed thumb.

Smith fanned two and passed just one in his stint in earning his sixth win as against nine strikeouts. It was a big night for the "Big Boy" Jay Dunn. The Sanford skipper drilled out three timely singles to drive in three runs, boosting his season's RBI total to 25. With three hits in five trips, Dunn hiked his season

Dramatic Changes Expected In Russia

LONDON (AP)—The British government was reported today to be convinced that Premier Georgi M. Malenkov would total power in the Soviet Union. Qualified informants said Prime Minister Churchill and his colleagues, on the basis of their own information from Moscow, would not be surprised if changes even more dramatic than the purging of Lavrenty P. Beria take place in the Russian hierarchy, and within the foreseeable future.

Government spokesmen did not express these views officially but on private opinions were given considerable support by Acting Prime Minister R. A. Butler's statements to Parliament yesterday.

Opening a foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons, Butler explained the Western Allies had proposed a Big Four foreign ministers meeting on Germany and Austria even though they might await further and perhaps even more sensational events behind the Iron Curtain, and above all wait to see who are likely to remain the real repositories of power in Moscow with whom we will have to negotiate.

Uncertainties about the Soviets, according to Butler, led the British to shelve for the time being Churchill's proposal for a ten-level party between the Russians and the West.

Within the context of this thinking, British officials today pondered the meaning of the apparent failure of three high leaders of the Red army to attend an important meeting of Russian military men in Moscow last week.

The sudden eight-day postponement of the meeting of the Soviet Union's parliament, the Supreme Soviet, which had been set last week for July 28 and now has been put off to Aug. 5.

The Moscow meeting of the Red army bosses was called to hear denunciations of Beria, the deposed police chief formerly considered No. 2 man to Malenkov.

British officials noted that the absentees included one of the two deputy ministers of defense, Marshal Alexander M. Vasilevsky (the other deputy, Marshal Gerasim Zhukov, spoke at the meeting); Marshal Ivan S. Konev, before Stalin's death commander of Soviet ground forces and an honor guard at Stalin's bier; and veteran Gen. Sergei Shtemenko, a former army chief of staff.

Heavy Rains Hit Widely Scattered Sections Of U. S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Up to 3 inches of rain hit sections of drought-stricken Texas during the night as thunderstorms swept across the central and southern plains states.

Several drought areas reported the heaviest rainfalls in a year. However, the storms could not be classed as drought-busters.

Shower rains were reported to fall south and west of Lubbock and Amarillo reported 1 inch.

The Atlantic coast also reported rain early today. Baltimore had a 6-hour fall of 3.27 inches. Other reports included Washington, 1.06; Martinsburg, W. Va., 1.07; and Charleston, S. C., 1.05.

Heavy rains have eased drought conditions in Southeastern states, but they came too late to be of much help to farmers in many areas.

Heaviest rains have fallen in Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, and North Alabama and Georgia.

Five consecutive days of downpours filled rivers in south and central Mississippi to near the flood stage. The drought-ridden north Delta also found some relief, but Gov. Hugh White said it was too late to replace hard-hill pasture hay and grain. He has appealed for federal aid for farmers.

Orlando Bridge Team Takes Honors

By WILSON LANDLEY
An Orlando team walked off with top honors again last night during weekly duplicate play at the Sanford Woman's Club.

Captain Henry Chase, USA, and Mrs. William Clifton took first place with a score of 111½. In the runner-up spot was Cecil Times and Fred Stein with 107.

Third position went to Mrs. Fred Stein and Mrs. E. E. Anderson with 102½. Fourth place finishers were Mrs. Bertie Roberts and Mrs. Earl Higginbotham with 100½.

All contestants mentioned above were awarded fractional master points. Ten tables participated. Average was 81.

In Monday night's duplicate play at the Orlando Bridge Club, Irving Feinberg and Charles Somerby were second.

The hand shown below is taken from last night's play and shows how careful play often produces that extra trick so important at duplicate.

Caccavajo Makes Final Report

needs of most lines of industry, manufacturing, along with rail, highway, and water transportation facilities with ample room for expansion.

Super excellent highways for passenger cars and for motor vehicle shipments.

A plentiful good supply of labor.

Outstanding banking facilities.

Excellent fire and police protection along with low insurance rates.

In his discussion of what particular classes of industries will find economic location in or near Sanford, Major Caccavajo pointed out this question should receive a great deal of attention and study before any rational location decision can be reached. He said there are so many factors which bear on the question of the proper location for some lines of industry that the City can afford to defer decision in most cases until the actual requirements of these industries can be collected, tabulated, and studied.

"Looking over the list of more than 50 commodities from this area handled by the Sanford State Farmers Market, Caccavajo pointed out there is a ripe field for exploitation in this respect, and it is worth a try.

In discussing what property within and without the City limits is best adapted for industry and proper housing developments, the consultant asserted that "the map of the City showing location of the railroad lines, parks, and side streets makes it clear that plenty of space can be found to suit almost any kind of an industrial plant which would come here. In fact there is ample area available for almost any number of plants, large or small. Good locations for industry are among the most easily solved problems.

Major Caccavajo submitted several pages of short paragraphs which could be used in preparation of a brochure by the Industrial Board or by the Chamber of Commerce.

Wight Is Named To FHA Committee In Seminole County

Henry Wight was appointed to the Farmers Home Administration committee for Seminole County this week, Curtis J. Green, local supervisor for the agency, announced today. The appointment was made by William F. Shadick, state director at Gainesville.

Mr. Wight is a livestock farmer and long-time resident of Seminole County. His experience in farming, Green said, fits him well for his new assignment in aiding others to become successful in farming.

Green explained that the county committee must approve all applications for Farmers Home Administration credit before loans can be made.

Mr. Wight succeeds Park T. Tyro, truck farmer of Sanford, whose three-year term expired June 30. Members who continue to serve are Percy Chapman, Sanford and Tommy McLain Jr. of Geneva.

Mr. Green said a new committee chairman to serve through next June will be chosen at the next meeting. Mr. Tyro was chairman last year.

deFuniak Building Damaged By Blast

DE FUNIAK SPRINGS (AP)—An explosion and fire damaged a two-story frame building in downtown De Funiak Springs early today, and routed members of a family from their beds.

Peter Miller, owner of the apartment and business building, estimated the loss at more than $20,000. Two apartments and a beauty shop were damaged.

The town's volunteer fire department saved a nearby office building.

Miller and his family barely escaped the blast. He said they were awakened by the explosion of 10 gallons of paint stored in an upstairs apartment which was being repainted.

Let's Paint Up And Spruce Up

The advantages of keeping one's home painted and in good repair, of seeing to it that the yard is kept free of unsightly undergrowth, the lawn mowed and the plantings attractive are manifold indeed, and we need for a continuous provision of a civic effort looking toward a more beautiful place in which to live.

America's Maritime Needs

Hoyt S. Haddock, executive secretary of the C.I.O. maritime committee, recently appeared before a Senate Commerce Subcommittee to testify to the need for an expansion of our merchant fleet. He told the Senators that our lack of an adequate merchant fleet before World Wars I and II cost unnecessary losses in lives, property and money. He added that the cost of building ships in time of war is exorbitant and wasteful.

Haddock said that our merchant fleet should be able to handle at least 50 per cent of our foreign trade in peacetime and should be capable of expanding to meet our needs in case of an all-out war. His testimony was similar to that given by other witnesses from the Navy, the Maritime Commission and the shipping industry.

Haddock's warning should be taken seriously. American production methods worked miracles in turning out ships on short notice during World War II. But if we had already had an adequate merchant fleet the energy we spent on the ship-building effort might have been diverted elsewhere. There is no reason why a country which has our capacity for production should not have the kind of merchant marine which will meet our peacetime needs and at the same time provide us with a backlog of security in the event of war.

Boom In Church Building

In June of this year $38,000,000 worth of church building projects were begun throughout the United States. The peak year in this field was 1951 when over $462,000,000 was spent in constructing churches. If the present rate continues through the rest of this year that peak will be surpassed.

The success of religion can never be measured by material standards but the fact that so many churches are being built is an indication that people in this country are going to church in greater numbers than ever before. The erection of a church is not a temporary thing. The people who pay to build churches do so because they intend to use them and have their children use them for many years.

The church building boom, which has been going on steadily since 1947, coincides with the rise in the sale of books with religious content and background. Both of these facts point toward a genuine revival in religious interest in a generation that seems unable to find any security anywhere else.

Emissary To Korea Fit For Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter S. Robertson is a 59-year-old Virginian who comes into a room like a much younger man. He looks like one you'd pick at first glance for the job of calming people down.

That may have been a reason why President Eisenhower sent him to South Korea in June to talk to President Syngman Rhee. Another was the fact that he is assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

At the time, as he is now once more, Rhee was the biggest problem in the Far East. He was threatening to block a Korean truce. Rhee is an extraordinary man who needs more than ordinary handling. He got it from Robertson, now back here.

The grim Robertson looks like a relaxed and self-confident businessman, which he was: an investment banker in Richmond until Eisenhower tapped him for the State Department.

But, unlike some other State Department officials, past and present, Robertson is neither pompous nor afflicted with that vague and rubbery kind of talk which grows like weeds in the language of diplomats.

This is not Robertson's first job with the government but he has never a career diplomat. He has an outstanding quality in view of his realism. He does not seem like a man looking for a job. He has been head of the U. S. business mission in Amsterdam, N. Y., and head of the U. S. mission in London.

Maintaining a comparatively fresh coat of paint on a house and elimination of rotten wood and structural deterioration are just good business, for nothing depreciates the value of a building quicker than neglect in these respects. How often have we seen a house lacking paint, needing new screens, a possible patch job on the roof, a straightening of the gutters, suddenly transformed from an unsightly and undesirable property into an attractive and valuable asset.

From the selfish, personal satisfaction angle everyone should take pride in maintaining a home that isn't an eyesore, that contributes something to man's inherent appreciation of artistic and harmonious arrangements. A man's home should be a reflection of a man's character and surely no one wants his personality identified with shoddiness, ugliness, and the spirit of indifference.

But there is a community consideration that should motivate us all to keep our homes and properties spruce and span, so that the entire town will benefit from a more favorable impression on visitors, will appear more desirable as a place to live, and therefore enjoy a faster growth. The aesthetic appeal of a town is as important as any other and it is one that can be attained by individual attention in the matter of keeping spruced up.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

Solomon had a great reputation for wisdom, but he neglected the proper raising of his family. His son saw the kingdom divided and its strength lost. Solomon missed the point. And they blew the trumpet and said God save King Solomon.—I Kings 1:39.

The height of impatience is a jet pilot who just can't wait to get there.

A headline proclaims: "Short TV Program Said To Be Best." Well, at least better.

The government has announced rising food prices forced living costs to a record high between May and June. At least we can take some consolation in the thought that we are privileged to be among those present in the most expensive era of our history.

Drew Pearson describes the differences between ex-Soviet Police Chief Beria and Premier Molotov as over "states rights" and somewhat similar to those differences between our tidesland oil senators and senators believing in federal controls. Mr. Pearson is a master in the art of creating a pernicious analogy between something that is good and honorable and something that is totally despicable; of placing someone as fine as Senator Holland, by indirect, in the same category as communist conspirators, of twisting the truth and torturing the evidence to fit his own unhappy style of journalism.

The Reader's Digest tells us that temperatures in the United States have a 200-degree range between the highest and lowest ever recorded. The lowest was 66 degrees below zero in Yellow Stone Park in 1933 and the highest was in Death Valley in 1912. We have no reason to take issue with these figures but in the matter of the highest temperature a friend just back from Oklahoma tells of a couple of men out there who died of heat prostration in an air-conditioned restaurant and he insisted the asphalt streets in one town became so fluid he had to use a rowboat to cross the street.

had worked for the State Department where he got to know intimately both Chiang Kai-shek and his Nationalist government, and the leading Chinese Communists who were out to wreck Chiang.

He was part of the special mission, headed by Gen. George Marshall, which tried to get Chiang and the Communists to live up to a truce. Robertson illustrated foresight later, in 1948, when he testified before a House committee on postwar foreign aid.

Chiang he described as a patriot, and he urged Congress to give him all-out aid.

Otherwise, he said, the Communists would take China, which they did despite some U. S. help for Chiang. At the same time he made it clear he knew the Communists well.

"Some of them are my personal friends," he said. But he had no illusions about their intentions. He would have short patience with anyone who has the notion the Chinese Communists, like Yugoslavia's Tito, could be won away from Moscow. "They hate America," he said.

At the time Robertson went to Korea, Rhee had whipped himself and his people into a lather, threatening to fight the Chinese single-handed.

Rhee was highly emotional, and even extreme in his position. He was understood. He had devoted his whole life to one great goal: saving independence for Korea. But from the Japanese and now from the Communists. Robertson does not look upon Rhee as an eccentric. He considers him, as he considers Chiang, a great patriot, a man dedicated to his country.

Rhee was so emotionally charged that in his early meetings with Robertson—they had 13 altogether the Virginian let the old man speak for 30 minutes without interruption to talk himself into calmness.

When he had apparently convinced Rhee his best course was to go along with the United States, the two men signed an agreement, which has never been made public, and wrote a joint statement, which was.

The statement was so vaguely worded it must have been intentional, perhaps to avoid the Rhee anything which might appear, in the eyes of his countrymen, as a capitulation to the United States.

For that reason was followed, at almost the very moment the statement was being made public, seems inexcusably crude, thoughtless and boastful.

Someone connected with Robertson's party, or some other government agency in the Far East, told correspondents Rhee had made concession after concession and even had exclaimed to Robertson: "You have conquered me."

For a sensitive, self-conscious man like Rhee that must have been a galling dose to swallow. It may even have been a fever in causing him to lose sleep with other provisions to how up again, and see more drastic action.

Women Have Rights To Ulcers

NEW YORK (AP)—Lady, do you have an ulcer? Particularly, if you are in the business world, why not? Are you letting your own fair sex down by refusing to have an ulcer?

Men used to enjoy almost as much of a monopoly on ulcers as women did on motherhood. Not anymore. In a century that believes in fair play for all, modern women are no longer denied the right to acquire ulcers as well as money.

Some experts believe ulcers are becoming increasingly common in both men and women.

Are more men getting ulcers as a result of the fact they feel insecure because they have to compete professionally with women? Dr. Lawrence E. Dinkler, Jr., Cornell University medical professor, leans to this theory. And, he added, "More women have ulcers now than when they stayed home and let their husbands make the decisions."

It seems to me that in this theory science stumbles and falls flat on its premises. Since when did women, merely because they stayed home and had babies, let their husbands make the major decisions? In what distinct climate, what golden age of mythology, was this ever true?

The art of making up her husband's mind for him is important today? Have modern women lost the feminine ability to decide? Are they adrift, confused, and muddled, thus dooming themselves and the weaker male sex that leans upon them to an ulcer-ridden future?

Not at all. Not for that reason anyway. Her invasion of the male business world hasn't bedeviled women. Nothing about men copes with a woman. At best it can only five years in these vineyards will her an ulcer.

I think one of the real reasons for the increase of ulcers lies in the spread of a new business cult known as "ulcer worship." The ulcer is less an ailment than a badge of success, the proof that a real go-getter has been ceaselessly going and getting.

Ulcer idolatry has reached such a point in some fields, notably advertising, television and movie-making, that anyone who works five years in these vineyards without developing an ulcer is regarded suspiciously as hopelessly shiftless, a secret malcontent, or a born showoff.

"This has given rise to the false, or guilt complex, ulcer." "The boss has got a bad ulcer, and if I don't get one, too, he will start thinking I'm not doing my fair share of worrying," reasons this victim. And sure enough, he comes down with an ulcer. You've got to stand in line for them. That's grim.

But there is a flat rule of thumb in such cases. If the boss has two ulcers, no wise hired hand will start bragging to himself he has three. That might give the boss the idea your ulcers came from worrying how to get his job.

The social and business advantages of an ulcer are obvious. It is an excuse to drink or eat as little or much as you like, get out of dull parties or conferences, and act as cranky as you want to, on the grounds "I ain't me acting up—it's that darned old ulcer."

Is it any surprise, then, that ulcers are now more popular with both sexes? The wonder is that women ever let men monopolize the ulcer for so long.

Why, it is far, far too good a thing for men. They never really knew what to do with it. Watch the ulcer grow, now that women have discovered its true possibilities.

Money Demand Grows

NEW YORK (AP)—The demand for money continues to grow—and the supply is tightening up again. This report is a report on the money market.

Bankers expect the demand for credit and for new capital will reach new heights in a few more weeks. And they report that the Federal Reserve Board lowered bank reserve requirements as a result of the recent U. S. treasury borrowing of about six billion dollars.

Banks were forced to set up reserve balances to support their subscriptions to the new issue. Money became tight again.

The financial story, as the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland says, is the "very strong current and prospective demand for credit from both public and private borrowers."

The U. S. Treasury isn't the only one looking for more cash these days. The Cleveland bank forecasts that mortgage debt may expand this year by nine billion dollars. A similar expansion in mortgage debt incurred in excess of repayments took place in 1952.

The Department of Commerce says the demand for mortgage money continues high, even though there was some slackening off in new home starts in May and June.

Business firms have told the department they plan to spend a record amount this summer and fall in expanding their plants and buying new equipment.

Profit statements now coming in indicate that business savings show in depreciation allowances and retained earnings—are still high. This will help finance the plant expansion. But more new capital will also be needed.

In the last three months corporations have raised about 2 1/2 billion dollars in cash by selling securities, the Commerce Department reports. The total raised that way in all of 1952 was a little more than 8 billion dollars.

Higher interest rates in recent months have discouraged some corporations from borrowing. But apparently most expansion plans are still going through on schedule. Bank loans to business are due for their seasonal rise in the coming weeks, and the rise will start from a very high level, since loans have fallen much less than normal during the late spring and early summer. With a large demand anticipated, bankers see little chance of interest rates weakening.

The supply of savings available for investment would seem huge if stacked up against any but the present great demand for money. Consumers are saving a sizable portion of their high personal incomes. Business savings are also high.

Part of this, the commerce department points out, comes from fast depreciation write-off for tax purposes granted builders of plants used in defense production.

But the demands for more money always seem to keep even with or ahead of these savings, which are drawn upon for new capital. A fairly tight money market is expected for some time by bankers.

Nationwide Phone Stoppage Is Hinted

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A CIO Communication Workers official said a walkout of Indiana Bell Telephone Co. workers today in three cities may be a prelude to an almost nationwide work stoppage in the Bell Systems.

Mrs. May Mann, Indiana director of the union, told the Associated Press that a telephone "might be scarce" across the nation within a few days.

About 80 plant and traffic workers walked out at the South Bend, Michigan City and Culver exchanges.

Mrs. Mann said the union members are growing restive, not only in Indiana but in other states over what she called "stalling tactics" of the Bell systems in negotiating new contracts.

Sanford Cards Regain 5th On 4-1 Win Over Orlando

Dave Leonard Hurts 5th Victory; Orlando To Play Here Tonight

By KENT CHETLAIN

A return to pitching form has paid off for the Sanford Cardinals in the last two evenings. After edging Leesburg 4-3 Tuesday night, the Redbirds bounced back to cut down the Senators in Orlando last night, 4-1.

The two-game winning streak placed, displacing Orlando, Sanford in now just two games removed from the first division and fourth place Jacksonville Beach Sea Birds. The Cardinals are six games in back of the league leading Daytona Red Hats and second standing Daytona Beach Islanders.

Tonight, the Redbirds will battle Orlando in the finale of the two-game at the Memorial Stadium beginning at 8:30 o'clock. For Sanford it will probably be "Earnest Ernle" Palmeri hurling. He will be seeking to extend his straight and also be out for his 13th triumph of the season.

Last night, Bill Samuels started the balling, Sanford ending across two runs with the bases loaded. From that point, Sanford added two more runs in the fifth and coasted behind the straight balling of starter and winner Dave Leonard, plus the relief slants of "Eugene" Paul Smith.

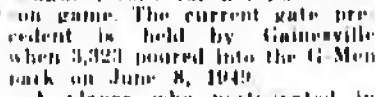

Leonard, who just recently returned from two weeks of National Guard summer camp maneuvers, made an impressive first start in three weeks by blanking the Senators until the seventh. He fanned five and walked four in his stretch and Smith, making his third appearance in as many games, whiffed two, passed a pair and didn't allow a hit nor a run.

It was Leonard's sixth victory in 11 decisions this year to give him a better than 500 record of 6-5. It may be with Leonard back on the firing line, Sanford can muster the hurling spearhead to notch a first division finish.

Manager J. C. Dunn's slendering lineup continues to batter enemy hurling with consistency. The Big Guy drove across his 16th run of the season and pounded out two singles to keep his average up at a solid .344 level. While Tommy Leonard collected only one-for-three, "Wahoo"

Merchants Night May Draw 4,000 Tomorrow

The Sports Register

By KENT CHETLAIN

Tonight is the big night for the Sanford Junior Legion nine, representing the Campbell-Leesburg Post No. 53. Sanford's pride and joy will be seeking to annex the Orlando District tournament championship and a free ticket to the important Area Tourney in Clearwater next week.

The Area meet is the last step before the state Legion finals to be held the week after next in Ft. Pierce.

The Jubilant legionnaires have formed a motorcade to accompany the red hot Junior Legion club to Orlando this evening for the final game in the District with the winner of yesterday's Winter Park-Orlando contest. Sanford will be seeking its 16th straight victory in Legion play this year. As yet the locals have not been beaten and the law of averages might be piling up on them. A loss this evening in Orlando would not knock the props from under the Sanford state title dreams, since they can lose one game in this double elimination. However, it would extend the finals over until tomorrow afternoon, at which time the locals must win out to cup the District crown.

John Nault, Manager Al McMillan and all the members of the Campbell-Leesburg post are to be commended for sponsoring this team. The publicity secured from it will be John stated yesterday "be of inestimable value to Sanford as a whole."

Tomorrow night is the big baseball night in Sanford. It will be Merchants Night at the Memorial Stadium when the Sanford Cardinals play the Lakeland Pilots. Almost every merchant in Sanford has purchased blocks of tickets at a reduced rate from the Seminole County Baseball Association for distribution to customers.

In addition, prizes will be given away at the game. Last year's Manager Chuck Aleno will be in town tomorrow night along with the All-Time Florida State League batting champion Al Pirtle. Aleno led his Pilots to victory over the high-flying Daytona Beach Islanders Tuesday night with a grand-slam homer off Bobby Locke. The hit sent Locke to the showers, probably the first time that has happened this year in the dimly lit Islander park. Aleno, incidentally, came back in the second game of that twin bill at Daytona to pound another homer, though the Pilots lost that one.

According to President John Callahan of the Sanford Cardinals, 1,000 tickets had been sold through Wednesday morning with many others yet to report their final sales. Callahan believes that with good weather tomorrow evening, nearly 4,000 fans will pack the stadium. He thinks that last year's record crowd of 3,390 will be surpassed, because out of the 4,500 tickets sold, many were in south large blocks and were not completely distributed. This year more merchants went in on the deal and smaller allocations have been made, insuring maximum distribution.

Just to give you an idea how well organized this year's Merchants Night is, there are 99 businesses sponsoring it and giving away tickets for the game. Raymond Kader, Merchants Association chairman of the gala event, has been doing an ambitious job of coordinating the project with the assistance of his committee and the Cardinal brass.

Last year "Merchants Night" game attracted the largest single gathering of people in Sanford at any one event. This year it is anticipated that nearly 4,000 people will be on hand to break the Memorial Stadium single game attendance record. Crates have been obtained to be used as seats for the overflow crowd which will undoubtedly spill over on to the field down the line.

Besides the regular baseball fans of Sanford, there will be a large representation of Navy men, their wives and families. This year with the reduced prices for sailors and their families, Sanford has had the largest Navy following in its history. They are among the more enthusiastic and vociferous of the Cardinal partisans, too.

Vickery Wins 20th As DeLand Takes Over F-S-L Lead

By The Associated Press

DeLand's Red Hats had three causes for celebration today: They beat arch-rival Daytona Beach, 7-3, last night, their Jim Vickery has won his 20th pitching victory, and—best of all—they are on top of the Florida State League.

The triumph moved DeLand into the lead by 23 percentage points over the Daytonaans who won the first half and led the second half from the start a month ago.

Jim Vickery

Vickery struck out 14 and gave up seven hits to make his season's record read 20-7. He is the second 20 game winner in the league. Jacksonville Beach's Joe Angel became the first Saturday.

Four singles, an error and three walks in the first two innings at the expense of Lawrence Locke led last night's game for the Red Hats.

Other action saw third place Leesburg paraded four pitchers to the mound but they couldn't check Cocoa. Climax of the scoring was a 7-run spurt in the seventh. Dave Dayvault took the decision on an eight-hitter.

Lakeland's victory was the Pilots' first this year over Jacksonville Beach. Bob Kitchen walked in the sixth to force in the winning run. Meanwhile, Hal Hamm kept eight Sea Birds blows well scattered.

George Wilson, outfielder for the Minneapolis Millers in the American Association, recently hit three home runs in three successive innings against Kansas City. The innings were the sixth, seventh and eighth.

Sanford Attendance Hits 33,550 Mark In 44 Home Games

Following the big "Clown Night" game last Friday evening with 1,008 paid at the Memorial Stadium the Sanford Cardinal baseball attendance hit the 33,550 mark for 44 home contests this year.

With a paid total of 28,615 during these games, the Redbirds are maintaining an average of 650 paid admissions per game, or better than 50 more admissions than averaged last year.

In 1952, the home attendance for the regular 85 games played by the Seminole Blues was 30,360. At the present projected rate of 650 paid customers, the Cardinals will draw 42,550 by the end of the season, or an increase of about 4,000 over the 1952 total.

The nightly total gate including women and the knuckle gang of 33,550 will project out to a 49,550 total for the season and an average of 702 nightly.

Here are the attendance figures this year to date:

Classic May Break FSL Gate Mark; Sanford To Play Lakeland Pilots

The year's largest single crowd at an event in Sanford will probably congregate at the Memorial Stadium tomorrow night when the Sanford Cardinals tangle with the Lakeland Pilots on "Merchants Night."

About 4,000 tickets had been sold through yesterday to the merchants participating in this joint civic effort to help the Sanford Cardinals and the Fernand-Lakeland Memorial Hospital. All excess profits after this season will be turned over by the Redbirds to the hospital as original plan.

President John Callahan predicted an even larger crowd at this year's Merchants Night than the 3,390 who attended last year's first venture sponsored by the Sanford Cardinals. Callahan based his forecast upon the fact that almost twice as many merchants banded together to make this year's Merchants classic larger than ever.

"While we sold 1,600 tickets last year and expect to sell 1,000 this year," Callahan explained, "we have succeeded in selling more tickets in smaller lots to more merchants. Last year, many merchants purchased huge blocks of tickets and weren't able to distribute them completely. This year it is different. Most of our ticket allocations were made to businesses who order 25 or less. In other words these tickets will be distributed more fully and thus more people will have the opportunity to see the game."

He lauded the Merchants Association for sponsoring the night and particularly praised Raymond Kader and his merchants committee of Bernard "Buddy" Lake, Wally Phillips and Al Wilson.

"They have done a fine job. Just as the case of last year, it is the Sanford merchants who are preserving baseball for the local fans and community," Callahan added.

With the aid of the Sanford merchants, the Cardinals will be seeking to set a new F.S.L. attendance record for a single game during the regular season. The present record paid attendance for a regular F.S.L. contest is held by Gainesville. It was set in 1949 when 3,327 saw the G-Men on June 8. Last year the 3,390 attendance for Sanford's Merchants Night were not considered all paid admissions.

Sanford's undefeated Junior Legion baseball team will battle the Winter Park for the Orlando District Tournament championship in the finale this evening at Tinker Field beginning at 8:00 o'clock.

Local enthusiasts will join the Campbell-Leesburg Post No. 53 motorcade to accompany the team to Orlando tonight at 6:15 o'clock. They will form on the corner of Second Street and Park Avenue, according to post Commander John Nault.

Sanford's undefeated Junior Legion team will be seeking its 14th straight victory in Legion competition this year. It has won all 13 games to date exclusive of an exhibition loss to the Sanford NAAS team.

Its winning tonight, Sanford will advance to the state Area Tourney in Clearwater next week.
