Southward Plucks Longwood Sign, But Other Candidates' Remain

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

A billboard, touting the candidacy of legislative candidate Pat Southward, was up on State Road 434, west of State Road 427, for two-to-three days last week before it was ordered removed by the city of Longwood, said Andy Anderson of Peterson Outdoor Advertising today.

Anderson said he received calls from the Longwood city clerk (Donald Terry) and city administrator (David Chacey) saying the billboard was in violation of the city's sign ordinance which allows political signs of only four square feet, Anderson said. He added that Mrs. Southward ordered the sign removed "because she preferred not to be in violation of the law."

However, "there are many political signs throughout the city that are larger than the four-square-foot limitation."

But, Mrs. Southward is the only political candidate against whom the four-square-foot political-sign limitation is being enforced, according to Terry.

Noting that conviction of violating the sign ordinance is a misdemeanor punishable by a $200 fine and/or six months imprisonment, Terry said he was instructed by Chacey to order the sign removed after Chacey received a complaint.

"I don't believe there will be any effort to enforce the law on any other candidate," Terry said, adding that Mrs. Southward's billboard was in clear violation of the law.

Terry said the city council two years ago noted in its minutes of a meeting that the size limitation would be waived for political candidates in that particular election. He said he would have to research the record to find what the new sign limitations are. He added that the city ordinance banning political signs larger than four square feet has not been amended to permit larger signs.

City Commissioner J.R. Grant said today that the sign in his opinion should have been allowed to stay up. "I'm not against billboards anyway," he said. Grant said no waiver on the size of political signs has been given by the commission this year.

Commissioner June Lormann said she had heard that the city received some complaints against the billboard, but was unaware of any other signs being up which were in violation of the city law. "Someone should drive around and see who's violating the law," she said. "I'll bring it up at tonight's city commission meeting."

Chacey was not available for comment at city hall.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Southward said today she doesn't wish any controversy concerning the sign or its being ordered taken down to detract from her campaign against incumbent State Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood.

Brantley said today he made no complaint about the sign and didn't ask anyone else to complain. "I hoped the sign would stay up. I'm disappointed it was taken down. If the ordinance is being enforced on one, it should be enforced on all," Brantley said.

Brantley added that he has no signs posted within the Longwood city limits.

The billboard sign said: "Pat Southward Can Do A Better Job Than Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Brantley. Vote Pat Southward."

City Officials To Consider Ballot Issues

Sanford City Commissioners, at a 7 p.m. meeting today, will discuss a series of four questions which may be placed on the Dec. 2 election ballot.

Continue a five-member commission but require that four members be elected from specific districts while the mayor is elected at large.

Members of the black citizens committee, led by Rev. Amos Jones, are expected to give their input on each of the questions at tonight's meeting.

In other action, the commission will discuss the county's proposal to drop a road tax which is distributed in part to the county's seven cities. Under the plan, Sanford would lose $9,273.

City Attorney Vernon Mize is to discuss a proposed ordinance creating a municipal code enforcement board. The board would have authority to enforce city ordinances dealing with zoning, signs, occupational licenses and fire codes.

Clerk Gets Petitions Against Paulucci Plan

Seminole Elections Supervisor Camilla Bruce Wednesday will begin certifying a petition from Lake Mary requesting the repeal of zoning granted by the city council a month ago for Paulucci Enterprises.

The city council rezoned the 23-acre parcel at Paulucci's request to permit construction of three acres of commercial and 20 acres of apartment and townhouses on a tract at Lantana Lane and 46A in the city. Their plan is to build 140 multi-family units at the site.

Lake Mary City Clerk Connie Major said today a committee led by Councilman Gene McDonald turned over petitions containing 202 signatures, seeking repeal of the rezoning ordinance. City law requires 174 signatures of registered voters.

Mrs. Major said she received the petitions at 1 p.m. Friday and delivered them to Mrs. Bruce's office at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Bruce said her office will begin the certification work on the petitions beginning Wednesday. "It shouldn't take too much time," she said.

Mrs. Major said after the petition is certified, city law provides that the council may reconsider its action and repeal the ordinance or the question of repeal will go on the Dec. 2 city election ballot.

'Poor Richards' Kelly, Stone Face Tough Tuesday Primaries

MIAMI (UPI) — The political futures of U.S. Sen. Richard Stone and Congressman Richard Kelly may hinge on the outcome of Tuesday's Florida primaries, or the runoff primaries that follow Oct. 7.

State elections director Dorothy Glisson predicts only about 40 percent — or 1.7 million — of the 4 million registered voters will cast ballots Tuesday. Balloting begins at 7 a.m. and ends at 7 p.m. local time, with northwest Florida's central time zone being an hour behind the rest of the state.

Stone's freshman record in Washington was considered so vulnerable that five Democrats — three of them with strong political credentials — jumped at the chance to challenge the millionaire Miamian's renomination. And six Republicans are bidding to take a shot at the job in November — three of them with statewide recognition.

Kelly, under federal indictment in the "Abecan" case, has an uphill climb to win a fourth term from central Florida's eight-county 5th District. Besides two strong Republican primary challengers, he faces a scheduled Oct. 21 trial for accepting a $25,000 bribe from FBI agents posing as representatives of favor-seeking Arabs.

Stone has drawn the ire of labor organizations, who have picketed his few campaign appearances in the state. He also drew sharp criticism from conservatives for favoring the Panama Canal treaty and perceived inability to respond effectively to the immigration crisis that has flooded south Florida with 122,000 Cuban seafarer refugees and more than 15,000 Haitian "boat people" this year.

Stone is predicted to be pushed into the Oct. 7 runoff by either state Treasurer Bill Gunter, who fell 10,600 votes short of beating him in 1974, or popular State Sen. Kenneth "Buddy" MacKay of Ocala. President Carter adviser Richard Pelt-

Sanford Phone Service Interrupted

Long distance phone service in and out of Sanford was disrupted Saturday night and Sunday morning when a cable from Sanford to Jacksonville was cut just west of the Sanford.

Southern Bell Sanford Manager C.E. Wilson said a backhoe operator working on Upsala Road sliced through the cable at 6 p.m.

For several hours it was impossible for residents of Sanford and Lake Mary with phone prefixes of 321, 322 and 323 to either make a long distance call or get an operator.

Late Saturday evening, rerouting of calls enabled some long distance traffic to get through, Wilson said. The cable was repaired at 4 a.m. Sunday.

Wilson said the problem caused by the back hoe operator was made worse, because the unidentified man digging the trench refilled the hole over the cut cable with trash and dirt. Wilson advised anyone doing any digging near buried phone lines to call Southern Bell first to prevent future cable breaks.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Polish Strikes Persist; Church Eyes New Regime

WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — Scattered strikes persisted in Poland today, including a walkout at a major tourist attraction and a general strike in Bialystok near the Soviet border, dissident sources said.

At the same time, a church spokesman disclosed that new Communist Party Chairman Stanislaw Kania, who took over Saturday after the strike-triggered ouster of Edward Giersek, had held powerful behind-the-scenes party jobs in the Giersek era.

And he cast doubt on the victorious strikers' expectation that the government would meet their demand to begin national radio broadcasts of Roman Catholic mass by next Sunday.

The spokesman said Kania had been in charge of the army, security and church affairs for the party during the past few years of Giersek's regime.

OPEC Predicts Saudi Hike

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Saudi Arabia, America's biggest oil supplier, is about to jack up its price by $4 a barrel, an increase of nearly 15 percent, says the president of the Arab-dominated OPEC oil cartel.

Belkacem Nabl, who doubles as Algeria's oil minister, also indicated in an interview the Saudis may soon cut back oil production — a reduction that other oil experts say could reach 1 million barrels a day.

Such a move would have a solid impact in the United States. America relies on Riyadh for nearly 24 percent of its daily oil imports and has capitalized on Saudi contributions to a world oil glut to build its own reserves.

Saudi oil presently sells at $28 a barrel, lowest among the 13 members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Elk City Residents Thrilled Native Named Miss America

ELK CITY, Okla. (UPI) — President Carter's visit to Elk City last year was a kick, but having hometown girl Susan Powell crowned Miss America 1981 was even better, says Mayor Larry Wade.

"Of course, it was great to have President Carter visit here," Wade said Sunday.

"But it was more marvelous to see a young lady growing up in your community and be a warm, gracious part of it, then to see such a great success," he said.

Burglary Suspect Eludes Dogs, Copter

By DAVID M. RAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

A search for a burglary suspect Sunday night was unsuccessful, as the man, who dove out a window of a south Seminole home as deputies arrived, eluded police dogs and a helicopter.

Deputies did arrest one other suspect in the burglary inside the home he had allegedly broken into.

Deputies say they were called to 1683 Northwestern Ave., at 8:45 p.m., on a report of a burglary in progress. Inside the home, they say, they found Gordon R. Jerome Jr., of 2020 Trailwood Drive.

A second person jumped through a bedroom window into a nearby orange grove, they say. Maitland police arrived with police dogs to aid Seminole County deputies in the search. The Orange County Sheriff's Department responded with a helicopter to search the grove.

More than two hours later, deputies called out the search for the second suspect. Jerome was taken to the Seminole County Jail, where he was held in lieu of $5,350 bond on a count of burglary.

FIRE DAMAGES LAWYER'S CAR

Seminole County fire investigators say they will try to determine today whether a fire which extensively damaged a car owned by Longwood attorney Jamie Jamison was caused by a mechanical problem, or as Jamison believes, deliberately set.

Longwood Commission To Consider Assessments

By JANE CASSELLBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

The Longwood City Commission will act as a Board of Equalization at 7 p.m. at the city hall for improvement assessments to Longwood Industrial Park and at 7:15 p.m. for paving assessment to Wayman Street.

The regular city commission meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. with a public hearing on an ordinance increasing the monthly fee for sewage treatment service.

Also up for approval will be an ordinance increasing water rates.

The commission will consider a petition for annexation from N.A. Calzasa for annexation to the State Hotel on Highway 17-52.

The annexation is expected to act on recommendations of the Charter Advisory Committee. Among the changes favored by the commission at its August 27 work session were the deletion of the charter rule that forbids a commissioner to serve as mayor for more than one year in succession; and lowering the percentage of signatures required for a petition from 8 percent to 15 percent.

The following resolutions will be voted on:

- paving and improvement of Wayman Street;
- installation and maintenance of water lines, drainage and sewerage lines for Longwood Industrial Park;
- Approval of a promissory note to be issued to ComBank of Seminole County;
- Improvement, repair and servicing of Wayman Street from Orange Avenue to State Road 64;
- Installation and maintenance of a traffic light opposite Townhome Plaza on State Road 64.

Site plans submitted by Shannon and Whittle Shad Addition and INTERTEC Components, Inc. both of Baywood Industrial park will be considered.

The city attorney will report on the status of a Handy Way store suit and the proposed Code Enforcement Board.

BURGERS TAKE SILVER, JEWELRY

Thieves forced open a sliding glass door of a south Seminole home Saturday night and took at least $2,000 worth of property, deputies say.

Erna Sheets, 214 Tangerine Drive, told deputies the burglars left with $2,000 in silverware and an unknown amount of jewelry.

Hua Resigns As Premier

PEKING (UPI) — Hua Guofeng resigned as premier in a major victory for China's strongman Deng Xiaoping, but Deng faces a much tougher fight in the power struggle to oust Hua as chairman of the Communist Party, analysts say.

Deng and six other vice premiers also resigned on mass Sunday, handing the reins of government over to a collective leadership headed by master economist reformer Zhao Ziyang, China's new premier and a protégé of Deng.

The major change affecting more than one-third of the State Council was carefully orchestrated by Deng to remove the aged and the uncooperative and separate the government from the party.

Board Backs Tampa-London Route

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Civil Aeronautics Board law judge today recommended that Pittsburgh, Baltimore and Tampa join 15 U.S. cities now offering nonstop air service to London.

"We've hardly got Crown School started because everyone was so jubilant over good fortune and Susan's good fortune," Wade said.

In Elk City, Ms. Powell's family and friends await her homecoming.

NATION IN BRIEF

Man Holding Bremer Diary Wants To Be Named Owner

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — A construction worker who found a diary believed written by would-be assassin Arthur Bremer wants to be named owner of the diary.

Sherman Griffin of Dalton and his wife have asked the court to rule that because Bremer — who is serving a 63-year sentence for the shooting and paralyzing of former Alabama Gov. George Wallace during a 1972 presidential campaign rally at a Laurel, Md., shopping center — abandoned the document he no longer has any claim to it.

Bremer reportedly received $15,000 for the publication rights to the 113 pages composing the second half of the diary.

Albany Gas Tanks Explode

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Wary firefighters spent the night on the capital's waterfront where two gasoline storage tanks exploded in a fire that injured nine people, caused $1 million in damage and routed about 1,000 residents from their homes.

The fire — at a Mobil Oil Corp. tank farm on the Hudson River — burned out of control for more than six hours Sunday, then flared up again briefly at night, forcing firefighters units to stay on the scene today as a precautionary measure.

Eight of the injured were firefighters and the ninth was a Mobil employee. One of the firefighters was hospitalized in fair condition suffering from smoke inhalation, but the others were treated for smoke inhalation and released.

Newark Teachers Return

Philadelphia school officials vowed to open schools today for about half the district's 228,000 students — despite the nation's largest teachers' strike — but advised parents the students would be sent home early.

Walkouts by at least 35,000 teachers nationwide, most of them involving money, affected over 600,000 students today.

There was some good news, however. The strike by the 5,500-member teachers' union in Newark, N.J., ended and a possible strike by school bus drivers in New York City's 1-million-student district was averted.

Measles Eradication Near

ATLANTA (UPI) — Health experts credit mandatory measles vaccinations as the biggest factor in the drive to eradicate the disease by October 1982, although some states are not as stringent in enforcing the requirement as others.

President To Face Battle In New York

United Press International

President Carter was philosophical about the bad news from New York's Liberal Party, but could offset it with good news from Detroit.

The big United Auto Workers voted overwhelmingly to endorse him for re-election, and President Douglas Fraser promised Sunday, "The full resources of our union will be mobilized to defeat Ronald Reagan."

The UAW's secret ballot vote by nearly 3,400 local union leaders gave Carter 89 percent to 3 percent for Republican Reagan, 2 percent for independent John Anderson, 2 percent for Citizens Party candidate Barry Commoner and 4 percent for no endorsement.

But the decision of Liberal Party leaders to urge Anderson's endorsement was a blow. It would be the first time in its 36-year history the party failed to support a Democratic presidential candidate, and it appeared certain to cost Carter thousands of votes that could mean the difference in a close election for the state's 41 electoral votes.

When asked about it by reporters on his return to the White House from Camp David Sunday, Carter did not appear taken aback. "We'll try to win anyway," he said.

The Republican nominee began his trip by attending a "Super Senior Sunday" gala, and in a speech promised that Social Security will be "strong and reliable and protected" if he becomes president.

While Reagan spoke, Carter-Mondale volunteers mingled with the crowd and urged Anderson's endorsement was a blow. It would be the first time in its 36-year history the party failed to support a Democratic presidential candidate, and it appeared certain to cost Carter thousands of votes that could mean the difference in a close election for the state's 41 electoral votes.

Oswald Grave Hearing Today

FORT WORTH, Texas (UPI) — The Park plot.

In court Friday, Marina Oswald Porter gave starting testimony that she now believes the grave might be empty and for the first time raised doubt as to whether she married the real Lee Harvey Oswald.

Despite his current effort to stop an exhumation, Robert Oswald considered, and then rejected, having his brother's body dug up two days after its burial on Nov. 25, 1963, in order to have the remains cremated.

The possibility of unearthing the body also was discussed secretly by the Warren Commission and federal investigators for months after the assassination.

Transcripts from a Jan. 21, 1964, executive session show an extensive discussion of exhuming the body and either cremating it or moving it to a secret mausoleum. The concern appeared to be possible vandalism.

SEMINOLE COUNTY COMMISSION DIST. 3 REP.

What's This, Tax Favoritism?

The notion that tax favoritism is proper is accepted in a variety of quarters. President Carter has set forth an "economic revitalization" program that provides $1 billion in the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1 and $2 billion the following year for loan guarantees, development plans, direct loans and interest subsidies to aid investment in distressed areas. Citizens in self-reliant communities will be required to pay for this special assistance. The program is unfair to progressive cities.

U.S. Rep. Jack Kemp, a leader in the other party, has his own proposal for tax favoritism. Congressman Kemp would encourage economic development by setting up "enterprise job zones" in deteriorated inner city areas. Within these zones, selected by the federal government, businessmen would be offered various tax advantages.

Social security taxes would be reduced for both employees and employers. The capital gains tax on investment would be lowered. Businesses would be allowed to use more advantageous accounting procedures.

The object of these proposals is to revitalize decayed business areas and to provide new employment for inner city youth.

This plan is better than the usual package of federal handouts and relief for inner city residents. But it is a flawed plan in that it would mean special privileges for selected communities.

Heaven knows productive enterprise needs relief from oppressive federal regulations and unfair tax burdens. But the relief, when it comes, must be available to business everywhere in the country — all types of business and all locations. It would be unfair to give advantage to enterprises in a few, government-approved zones and deny it to the vast majority of tax-paying enterprises.

Equality under the law is a fundamental American principle. Communities that have managed to handle their problems and maintain a good business climate should not be penalized for their success.

If this country is to climb out of the current recession, the next Congress must dismantle the super-regulation that exists. It must eliminate or reduce the capital gains tax. It must set a new, lower minimum wage for youths. It must eliminate the various roadblocks in the way of business revival.

President Carter promises to "put millions and millions and millions of people back to work in new jobs, exciting jobs, and stimulating jobs."

The United States desperately needs a revival of enterprise. But the entire country should be regarded as an enterprise zone, not just a few areas in troubled inner cities.

ROBERT WAGMAN Detroit Fights Safety

WASHINGTON (NEA) — If you listen to the public-relations statements coming out of Detroit, the auto industry will work its way back to financial health by building high-quality, fuel-efficient cars that will be competitive with foreign imports.

But if you read dozens of recent industry filings with the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, you may get the impression that Detroit thinks it is impossible to profitably build a safer car. The auto makers seem to believe that they can become financially viable again only if they are allowed to ignore many proposed and current safety regulations.

Some attention has already focused on General Motors' attempt to get the government to postpone the regulation that automatic restraint systems or air bags be phased in starting with the 1982 model year on all cars sold in the United States.

But Detroit's campaign goes far beyond this regulation. Basically, the auto makers are asking that a number of safety regulations — some that have yet to take effect, others that have been in force for years — be postponed, modified or even wiped from the books completely. They also want guarantees that no new safety rules will be implemented in the foreseeable future.

It should be noted that foreign firms manufacturing and selling cars in the United States must comply with all U.S. safety requirements. Among the auto makers' many requested changes in safety regulations are the following:

Child-restraint systems: GM has asked for lowering of the current force-level requirements for child-restraint systems.

Steering columns: The industry wants NHTSA to delay the extension to vans and light trucks of rules designed to guard against steering-column injuries in crashes.

Bumpers: Car bumpers now must be able to withstand a 5 mph impact without damage. The auto makers are asking that the standard be lowered to 2 1/2 mph.

Rear lighting: NHTSA has indicated that within the next two years it will propose rules to improve tail-and-turn-signal lighting as a means of reducing rear-impact crashes. The industry is asking for more government-financed research before any regulations are proposed.

Crashworthiness ratings: This year NHTSA has begun to rate cars based on their ability to withstand 30 mph collisions. GM wants the agency to "terminate" these ratings.

Side-impact protection: GM wants to change the way NHTSA proposes that cars be tested for their ability to withstand side impacts. Industry critics charge that the standard will be weakened if the testing change is adopted.

In the last few days before Tuesday's primary election, U. S. Rep. Richard Kelly, R-New Port Richey, tried to get his two GOP opponents to join with him in adopting a high man-take-all attitude. Kelly's proposal was that, State Sen. Vince Fectel of Leesburg and Bill McCollum of Longwood agree beforehand that the one who carries the most votes in Tuesday's Republican primary be declared nominated without need for a second primary in October.

Kelly gave the challenge during a radio show on which the three were appearing in Orlando. Both Fectel and McCollum refused to accept, saying Kelly's idea was simply a publicity gimmick.

Kelly has had trouble raising money for his campaign since he was indicted for his role in the Abcam scandal. After the indictment the Republican Party cut off all monetary support for Kelly's election bid. Kelly was the only Republican among the eight national legislators implicated.

Political observers are mixed in their evaluation of Kelly's chances Tuesday. Some say that he will come in first in the primary and be challenged in the second primary by either Fectel or McCollum, since the latter two appear to be splitting almost evenly the anti-Kelly vote. Others say Kelly will come in third in a three-man race.

Sorenson has been unopposed the last two times he ran for mayor.

The Seminole County League of Women Voters announced it will sponsor a debate between the Seminole County and Seminole Memorial Hospital for voter registration.

Seminole citizens may register on Wed., Sept. 10 at Seminole Memorial from 2:30 p.m. until 7 p.m. and on Friday, Sept. 12 at any of the three Barnett Banks in the county located at the Live Oak Center on State Road 436 in Casselberry; Longwood on State Road 434 and Altamonte Springs on State Road 436. It is from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. Registrants must know their social security number.

Those who register will be able to vote in the Nov. 4 general election. The books have closed for both primary elections.

The National League of Women Voters announced the four cities it has chosen as the sites of the 1980 Presidential debates. The sites are Baltimore, Md.; Cleveland, Ohio; Louisville, Ky. and Portland, Oregon.

The League of Women Voters of Florida announced it will sponsor a debate between the United States senatorial candidates. The debate will be broadcast live on Sunday, Oct. 26 from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. from the Annie Russell Theatre at Rollins College, Winter Park.

MIAMI (UPI) — Florida Power & Light Co. which serves portions of Seminole County, will ask the Public Service Commission Sept. 18 for a reduction of $3.15 per month in its fuel adjustment charge for the next six months.

FP&L will propose a fuel adjustment rate of $11.60 a month per 1,000 kilowatt hours of electricity used, starting Oct. 1. This compares to the present charge of $14.75 per month per 1,000 kilowatts.

A spokesman said the lower fuel adjustment charge is based on expected cooler weather during the traditionally lower use winter months.

MIAMI (UPI) — The seventh tropical storm of the Atlantic season has become Hurricane Georges and forecasters said two other, Earl and Frances, could reach hurricane strength today. None was considered a threat to land.

Hurricane forecaster Miles Lawrence said if both Earl and Frances became hurricanes while Georges retained hurricane identity, it would be "unusual, but not completely unheard of" to have three simultaneous Atlantic hurricanes.

MIAMI (UPI) — Three Cuban pilots jailed since Friday as suspected spies are scheduled for a hearing today before a U.S. Magistrate in Miami on charges of fraudulent entry into the United States.

MIAMI (UPI) — Although various ways have been developed to use the waste heat from industrial plants — making alcohol for gasoline is one — one of the most fascinating uses is in aquaculture.

The tremendous amount of heat generated at Long Island Lighting Co.'s big Northport plant on Long Island Sound has been used for several years to hatch and grow oysters and other shellfish and the effort has helped rejuvenate Long Island's blue point oyster industry.

Long Island Oyster Farms, Inc., owned by Carrier Corp.'s Inmont Corp. subsidiary, operates one of two farms engaged in hatchery operations at the Northport, N.Y. facility. Flomera Oyster Co. at Bayville, N.Y., also operates a hatchery using much the same technology.

Al Johnson, a LILO official, said these two ventures produce about half the current crop of Long Island bluepoint oysters.

The idea to use the waste lagoon for an oyster hatchery was conceived by the LILO laboratory about a decade ago. The Long Island oyster industry, which once amounted to more than $60 million a year, had become virtually extinct because of overharvesting, and pollution of the oyster's natural spawning grounds.

The oyster spawns in summer months and the warm water of the waste lagoon stimulates its natural breeding and growing conditions. The oysters are fed a specially cultured algae.

Oysters aren't the only seafood being considered for aquaculture projects utilizing utility waste heat.

Public Service Electric Co. of New Jersey said it is considering aquaculture farms for trout and catfish in warm effluent water on the Delaware River below Trenton.

Public Service's trout grow to market size in nine months.

Southern California Edison Co. and Aquaculture Enterprises, Inc., of Monterey, Calif., are in the final phase of a project to grow Maine lobsters in power plant effluent waters at Ormond Beach, Calif.

Southern California Edison already has found that the Maine lobster grows 2 1/2 times as fast in warm power plant effluent as do wild lobsters. But it still is necessary to grow the project's commercial feasibility.

A stumbling block to this, according to Dr. Joseph Kelly, is the lobster's pungency and others already has had to be kept in its own tiny cell, and that is expensive, he said.

Florida Demos Plan Suit To Halt John Anderson

By United Press International
Florida Democrats planned a lawsuit in hopes of erasing independent John Anderson's name from their state's November ballot, it was reported Monday, and a panel of federal judges was to hear arguments on Maryland and North Carolina ballot cases.

The Washington Post reported that the Florida Democratic Party planned to file suit in the state circuit court in Tallahassee, arguing Anderson should be knocked off the ballot because of conflicts in the listing of his running mate.

The independent presidential candidate has named former Wisconsin Gov. Patrick Lucey as his vice presidential running partner. The lawsuit will charge that because of early filing deadlines in various states, a dozen or more different running mates are listed on various ballots, the Post said.

South's Per Capita Income Rated Lowest In U.S.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — On a regional basis, the South still has the lowest per capita income, with the highest personal incomes scattered among some Western, Northern and Atlantic "cost states."

Review "analysts released Sunday by the Bureau of Economic Analysis of the Commerce Department showed that residents of Alaska had the highest per capita income in 1979: $11,219.

Other states in the top 10 were: Nevada $10,521; Connecticut $10,125; California $10,047; Wyoming $9,922; Illinois $9,799; New Jersey $9,747; Washington $9,565; Michigan $9,403; and Maryland $9,331.

Florida's per capita income was listed as $8,546. The Bureau did not rank the District of Columbia but its per capita income was $10,570, more than any of the states except Alaska.

Residents of Mississippi had the lowest per capita earnings in 1979: $6,178, the government said. The bottom 10 states, after Mississippi, were: Arkansas, $6,333; Alabama, $6,362; Maine, $7,039; South Carolina, $7,067; Utah, $7,197; Vermont, $7,295; Tennessee, $7,345; West Virginia, $7,373; and North Carolina, $7,385.

Overall, the average U.S. per capita income was $9,773 — an increase of 139.1 percent from 1969.

Haitians Report Deaths

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Some 103 thirsty, half-starved Haitians arrived at Key West Sunday and told how 17 of their companions died while their overcrowded 45-foot sailboat foundered in the sea and the food and fresh water ran out.

Three others drowned when the overjoyed refugees rushed to one side of the wooden vessel, swamping it, as a Coast Guard rescue craft neared Saturday.

When the Coast Guard cutter Point Nowell docked at Key West with the 103 Haitians, the survivors told the grim tale of their two-week ordeal.

Chief Boatswain's Mate Robert Talliferro, commander of the Point Nowell, said the Haitians told him "they were without food or water. They had to anchor because their sail was torn."

Others who died had been dropped over the side of the boat, a single-sail, open, wooden craft jammed gunwale-to-gunwale with people.

"That mass of humanity out there alone in an overcrowded boat," he said, "it just flabbergasted me. I'd never seen anything like it before."

The Point Nowell was on patrol duty in the Florida Straits as part of the blockade trying to stop the Cuban refugee sea when it was summoned by a Coast Guard plane to go to the Haitians' aid, Talliferro said.

Suicide Pact Suspected As Elderly Couple Killed

MIAMI (UPI) — The dying wish of an 82-year-old man was that his family understand he shot and killed himself and his crippled wife of 60 years as "an act of love" — not of violence.

"It was a Romeo and Juliet story. They just didn't want to live without each other," said Dion Sena, administrator of Homestead Manor where Vivian and Charles Ivins were found dead Saturday.

Mrs. Ivins, 80, had been living in the nursing home since suffering a disabling stroke two months ago. She could not walk and had arthritis. Her husband, who recently learned he had cancer, visited her daily so they could share meals.

"They loved each other," said Sena. "They were always holding hands, always together."

Police said Sunday Ivins left a note for his son and other relatives, went to the nursing home, shot his wife in the head, then shot himself in a wheelchair.

"No one heard any shots. A nursing home aide discovered the bodies — Ivins sitting slumped over in a patio chair, his wife beside him in a wheelchair.

At their feet was a box and a bag that police believe the retired Army colonel used to carry the gun to the nursing home.

"It was evident that she knew what he was going to do," said Dade County Police Homicide Detective John LeClair.

TLL VOTE TO PUT AMERICA BACK TO WORK!

WE OPPOSE MR. FLOYD Because...

On Thursday, Sept. 3, 1980 the Altamonte Springs City Council voted to approve a proposed 106% increase in property taxes. The commission in a 3-2 vote adopted a resolution proposing property in the city be taxed at $7.06 for each $1,000 of assessed value. Property was taxed this year at $3.43 for each $1,000 property value. Mr. Floyd voted with two commissioners for the majority vote. The value of taxable property in the city this year increased 46% from $333 million to $497 million. This increase alone at the old millage rate will generate an additional 46% in tax revenues. The HOMEOWNERS RIGHTS COMMITTEE does not believe Mr. Floyd's political brochures stating he practices "sound budget planning". If Mr. Floyd is elected to the Seminole County Commission, we believe he will continue his practice of fiscal irresponsibility with our tax dollars.

McEnroe Masters Borg In U.S. Open Final

NEW YORK (UPI) — So much for the Grand Slam, and along with it, the question of whether Bjorn Borg ranks among the greatest tennis players of all time.

Australian championship later this year. When he got to Roscoe Tanner in the quarterfinals and South Africa's surprisingly tough John Kriek in the semi-finals, most people figured he was a good bet to beat the second-seeded McEnroe the same way he did in this year's Wimbledon final. It didn't turn out that way at all.

McEnroe took care of that personally Sunday, defeating the often injured Swede in an up-and-down 74, 64, 67, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4, 6-2. Borg's last triumph in the Wimbledon final. It didn't turn out that way at all.

McEnroe also demonstrated that with all Borg has accomplished on the tennis court in his 24 years, and it has been considerable, he still doesn't quite rank with the likes of such Hall of Fameers as Bill Tilden, Fred Perry, Ellsworth Vines, Jack Kramer, Paue and Laver. Not yet, anyway.

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI) — Wayne Levi is a man of modest ambition but he wants to be remembered as more than just the average golfer.

San Diego Eliminates Rowdies

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — The San Diego Sockers routed the Tampa Bay Rowdies Sunday night and won a mini game shoot-out 2-1 to advance to the North American Soccer League's American Conference title series.

The Sockers will play a home-and-home series with the Fort Lauderdale Strikers with the winner advancing to get one shot past the Sockers' big goalie, Volkmar Gros.

PEPPER PIKE, Ohio (UPI) — Beth Daniel has just won the biggest first prize in the history of women's golf — $50,000 — and now has a good shot at becoming the first woman golfer to top $200,000 in a year.

The 25-year-old native of Charleston, S.C., continues to make a big name for herself Sunday by winning the World Series of Women's Golf by one stroke over Nancy Lopez-Miller.

A Day For Quarterbacks In NFL

Terry Bradshaw contributed to the Houston Oilers, Billy Sims proved something to the rest of the league and Bert Jones proved something to himself Sunday on Opening Day in the NFL.

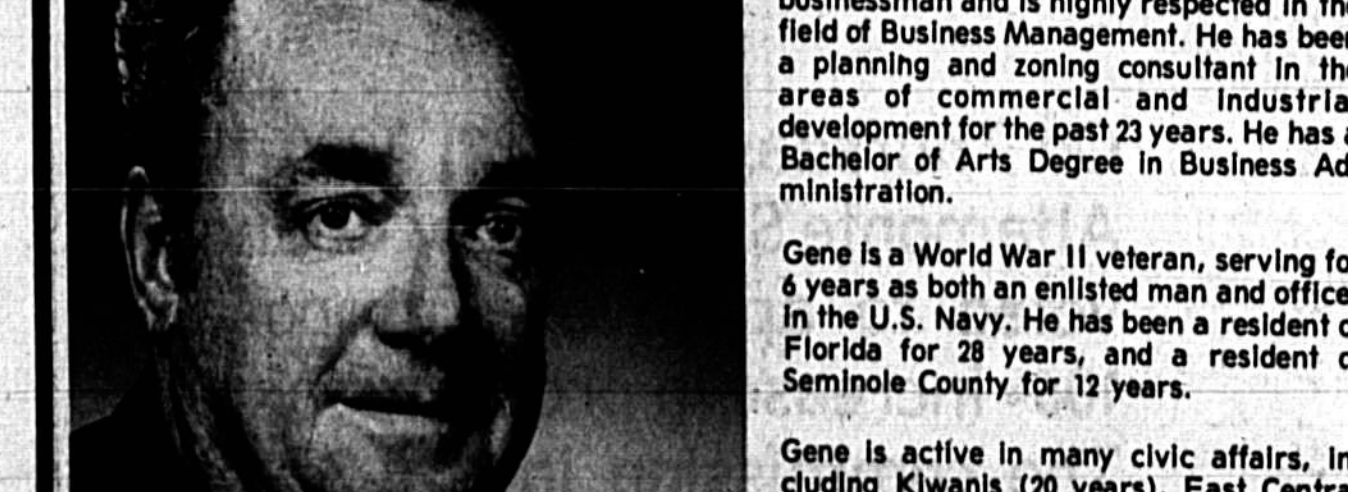

The quarterbacks came out smoking all over the league and Bradshaw, the first best quarterback in the fourth quarter, led the Pittsburgh Steelers to a 31-17 triumph over the Houston Oilers — the club they've beaten in the last two AFC title games.

Allison Captures Capital 400

RICHMOND, (UPI) — Bobby Allison knew that early in the Capital City 400, his Ford Thunderbird wasn't the fastest car among the Grand National drivers; that honor belonged to Darrell Waltrip and his Chevrolet Monte Carlo.

However, Allison was easily the most powerful car on the track. He breezed through slower traffic and avoided serious tire trouble, unlike Waltrip who was forced to pit on the 343rd lap with a blown front tire.

TV Actors Break 'Emmy' Date; 'Lou Grant' Garners 6 Awards

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—The "Lou Grant" show, a series about life at a big-city newspaper, walked away with six Emmy awards as a night the stars did not come out for television's tribute to itself.

Edward Asner, named best lead actor in a dramatic series for playing the title role in the "Lou Grant" series, was not present at Sunday night's award ceremony. Neither was Barbara Bel Geddes of "Dallas," named best lead actress in a dramatic series. And neither were the musicians.

The entire program had to rely on taped music. Most big-name performers boycotted the ceremony to dramatize the 8-week-old actors' strike against movie and television producers. But the show went on anyway.

"I regret that I wasn't there in my monkey suit," said Asner, who watched the show at home. "But a strike is even more sad, I think we were missed."

"We demonstrated to a very large population throughout the nation who might not be aware of the fact we are on strike that we are depriving ourselves of the joy of being at the Emmy awards to demonstrate we have a very serious strike on our hands."

Asner's show took four other awards, including best dramatic series. "Lou Grant" also won writing, direction and music composition awards, along with a supporting actress statuette for Nancy Marchand, who plays the publisher.

"Soap," "M-A-S-H" and "Taxi" dominated the comedy awards.

The bride had been harbored by the bridegroom's father and friends, and many side dishes that the mothers of the bride and bridegroom with the help of friends had prepared.
The patio tables were covered with burgandy cloths accented with pink and green plants grown by the bridegroom.
After a wedding trip to St. Augustine, the couple will make their home in Sanford. The bride is Advertising and Display Manager at Penney's store in the Sanford Plaza. The bridegroom is the owner and manager of Pineview Nursery.

Guys Think Tailored Type Prefers Girls

DEAR ABBY: What does a healthy, normal, 25-year-old girl do when no man will date her because she looks like she's "for girls?"
I'm tall, slim, athletic and a college graduate. I keep my hair short because it's more convenient for tennis, swimming and sailing. I wear very little makeup and prefer tailored clothes. Get the picture? I love fun, but I'm not asked for dates, so I do what other dateless girls do—I go out with the girls.
Several people have told me that guys think I prefer girls. Nothing could be further from the truth, but I can't wear a sign to that effect.
So tell me, Dear Abby, how can I let a man know I am a warm, loving female who would be thrilled to death to have a date, a love affair and eventually a husband, without throwing myself at a guy's feet?
FRUSTRATED IN SANTA MONICA
DEAR FRUSTRATED: Don't throw yourself at a guy's feet, but do pitch a little. Come up with tickets to something or an invitation somewhere, and invite a man to be your escort. If you strike out, don't be discouraged; try again with another man. God helps those who help themselves.
DEAR ABBY: Here's the scenario: My wife and I are having dinner in a lovely restaurant. A friend of ours (a woman) spots us just as she is leaving, so she stops by our table to say hello. Naturally I stand up as soon as she approaches our table.
She says, "Please don't get

JENNIFER J. LAUMEN

UCF Student Finalist In 'Face Of '80s'

Jennifer J. Laumen, daughter of Hubert Laumen of 2504 Windward Court, Orlando, is one of 12 finalists chosen from thousands of entries in the nationwide search for the "Face of the '80s."
The finalists and the 11 other finalists will be presented at a gala party to benefit the American Musical and Dramatic Academy today in New York.

The search for a face that exemplifies the contemporary concept of beauty was conducted in 50 states through 2,500 Merle Norman studios and was co-sponsored by Ford Models. The winner of the international competition will receive a two-year modeling contract from the Ford Models for not less than $50,000.
Jennifer, 5-foot-8, a blue-eyed blonde, is 21 and hopes to pursue a career in public relations. She is a student at the University of Central Florida where she majors in marketing and is on the dean's list. Jennifer is interested in music, especially piano, and tennis.

Walking Program Helps Trim Fat

Dr. Lamb
DEAR DR. LAMB—A year ago I quit smoking and I feel better but I do have trouble with my weight. Everything I eat and look at turns to fat. I'm 36 years old and I never had a weight problem before. I can't seem to eat three meals a day without putting on weight. So I've limited myself to two meals and no snacks. Can you send me a balanced diet so I can eat more and not have it turn to fat? When I first quit smoking, I was eating everything in sight. Now the craving has stopped but the weight doesn't. Incidentally, I had a complete hysterectomy four years ago. Is that adding to my problem?

DEAR READER—Many people have an increased appetite when they quit smoking. Part of this is a nervous habit which helps to explain why they smoked in the first place. It also makes a difference what kinds of food you eat. As you've requested, I'm sending you The Health Letter number 47, Weight Losing Diet. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1561, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

The weight losing diet I'm sending you will provide a 1200 calorie balanced diet that you can use. If you need more calories because you're losing weight too fast or don't feel like you have enough energy, you can increase the amount of foods on the diets. You'll be happy to know that from a health point of view, you're better off to quit smoking even if it causes you to gain weight. Heavy cigarette smoking is a bigger health hazard than being overweight for most people. Of course, you might not like the effects on your appearance of gaining weight.

Presuming that your ovaries are in place, from a hormone point of view, you're like a normal woman and there should be no significant endocrine factors that are influencing your overweight problem. I can't overemphasize how important it is for the public to understand this point. A woman who has had a complete hysterectomy but still has her ovaries may still develop cancer of the ovaries. In the interest of early detection, she should have regular examinations just like all other women.

Oswald: "West is the sort of player who might have used that six of clubs play as either a true or false signal so you have no information from the play as to the location of the king." Alan: "You are looking at eight top tricks. The club finesse is a 50 percent chance for your ninth trick. You can also get your ninth trick if the king is in dummy. It's only a 50 percent chance so at first blush you want to take the 50 percent chance represented by the club finesse." Oswald: "Now look at the West hand. You see four diamonds and the king of clubs so apparently neither line of play will win." Alan: "Nevertheless you should make your contract. Just rise with the ace of clubs and cash your four spades while checking the jack and ten of clubs. Tom diddly. West will have to discard a diamond or the king of clubs on that last spade and the squeeze will give you the ninth trick." Oswald: "For the record, this is the best percentage play. It works if the king of clubs holds the six of clubs and the fourth heart and East promptly leads the

YOUR BIRTHDAY

SEPT. 9, 1980

This coming year you will have many lucky opportunities. One you divide in, it will all go well. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You're very lucky today when teamed up with others, provided they have your high standards. Avoid those who don't. They spell trouble. In making important decisions today, be careful you're not just seeing things as you'd like them to be. Without your rose-colored glasses, success will still be yours. ARIES (March 21-April 19) The only thing that can stop you today is indifference to your work. If you get past that, you're in for an extremely pleasant surprise. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You're quite lucky today, but not with others' possessions. Do things with them, but let them maintain control over their own belongings. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be advised not to bank too much on advice today. You might be better off to figure things out yourself as each step unfolds. CANCER (June 21-July 21) Yesterday you were quite secure in your thinking, but today a little confusion may be in concealing your work. A pal will be there to put you on the right track. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you're feeling rich today it may be just an illusion, so don't be too quick to run off and buy any frivolous items. Think about your family first.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're quite lax about details today. Because of this, you're flexible when opportunities slip through your fingers. Keep alert.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Stay in control and don't let it all go in a flash. With your acquaintances lead you down the garden path today. You can still get what you want by buying a little time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'd be wise today to keep your successes or lucky breaks to yourself. Jealous listeners may undermine or even do something to reverse your good fortune.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't let self-doubts over whether you can handle

Ethel Carver weathered the storm this morning to vote for her choice in precinct 29 at Sanford Middle School. A paper cup caught several drips from the leaking roof at the polling place. Mrs. Carver and other voters brought their umbrellas with them.

Rain May Put Damper On Election Turnout

Thunderstorms early today could have cut voter turnout locally by as many as 1,000 to 10,000 persons, according to Seminole Elections Supervisor Camilla Bruce. "The rain certainly put a damper on the turnout," she said. "Yesterday was such a nice sunny day and it rained bullfrogs today," Mrs. Bruce said. The elections supervisor had been predicting that 50-65 percent—33,000 to 37,000—of the county's 67,411 qualified voters would cast ballots at the county's 67 polling places. "I'm reducing my prediction after that rainfall," she said, adding she now feels 40-45 percent—27,000 to 30,000—will vote. Mrs. Bruce said one major problem was encountered in the county today. Precinct 12, which is located at Florida Federal Savings and Loan at the northwest corner of State roads 436 and 434 in Altamonte Springs, was not opened at the required 7 a.m. time. "The bank was supposed to designate a person to be in charge of opening the polling place and letting the poll workers in," she said. "But he didn't show up." Mrs. Bruce said she received calls saying an "awful lot" of voters left angry. When she personally went to the polling place, she said, however, poll workers told her that no one left angry and most they would be back to vote later in the day. All polls close at 7 p.m. The usual things such as voters who had not registered by the Aug. 4 deadline showed up in several precincts, "but that always happens," she said. All of the registered voters could vote in some part of the election. Those who were not registered as either Democrats or Republicans could vote in a non-partisan judicial contest.

Hurricane Frances May Pose Problems For Land

MIAMI (UPI)—Hurricane Frances pushed westward across the Atlantic today with 100 miles of open sea ahead of it but forecasters said it eventually might be "somewhat of a problem" to North America. Tropical Storm Earl, which could become a hurricane today, raised no such threat. Late Monday night the center of Frances was located near Latitude 12.5 North and Longitude 29.4 West, or about 60 miles west-southwest of the Cape Verde Islands. It was moving west at 12 miles an hour and that speed and direction was expected to continue through today. Frances became a hurricane late Monday morning and in less than 12 hours its sustained winds increased to 110 miles an hour. The National Hurricane Center at Miami said a slight further strengthening is likely today. Earl's center was near Latitude 15 North and Longitude 44.4 West, or 750 miles southwest of the Azores. It was moving north at 15 miles an hour but it is expected to begin turning northeast and picking up forward speed today. Earl's sustained winds were estimated at 70 miles an hour but an increase was expected today and only a 5-mile-an-hour increase is needed to push it over minimum hurricane strength. However, the Hurricane Center said it was no threat to any land area. Hurricane Forecaster Paul Hebert said Frances was the only one of the two storms that could ever affect South Florida or the Caribbean. "But it is a long distance away."

Auto-Train Loses Loan, Declares Bankruptcy

By DAVID M. RAZLER
Herald Staff Writer
Auto-Train Corp. declared bankruptcy just before Federal District Court in Washington, D.C. closed Monday evening after the company's expected $100-million deal fell through. The company has filed under Chapter 11, a section of the law which allows a business to continue in operation while attempting to work out methods of repaying its creditors. The company has notified the Interstate Commerce Commission it intends to keep the car and passenger carrier routes between Sanford and Lorton, Va., running for at least the near future, a commission spokesman said this morning. Despite the Railway Reorganization Act bankruptcy protection, which will last at least the next 90 days and prevent Auto-Train's creditors from attaching company property or using the courts to force payment of the money owed by Auto-Train, no decision has been made yet on when the American Stock Exchange will allow the company's stock to be sold again. The $1.7 million loan deal between Auto Train and Banque Keyser, Ullmann et Suisse fell through Monday when the Securities and Exchange Commission told company officials the insurance policy to secure the loan was improper, said Tom Tucker, a financial public relations consultant serving as spokesman for Auto-Train at its Washington headquarters. Tucker said last week that the loan, expected to be finalized sometime in the coming weeks, had been insured by the British Banking Corp. Keyser, Ullmann et Suisse has told Auto-Train the loan would be re-evaluated if the carrier comes up with a new proper insurance plan, Tucker said. Auto-Train's board of directors met Monday and sent its petition to a District Court judge late in the afternoon, Tucker said. The petition for protection and reorganization was granted at 4:18 p.m. Daniel Linhardt, attorney for the ICC Consumer Protection division, said this morning that the ICC had not even seen Auto-Train's pleadings before the court, because it received notification of the action after the courthouse had closed. He said the commission was interested in doing everything possible to keep the trains running. About $4 million has already been collected from customers in prepaid reservations, he said. A spokesman for Seaboard Coast Line Inc. said this morning that Auto-Train could continue to use SCL tracks and train crews if it continued paying $19,500 a day before each train left. SCL insisted on the prepayment plan Thursday after threatening to cancel Auto-Train's contract entirely. Auto-Train owes Seaboard about $4.5 million. Auto-Train's next scheduled run leaves Friday, said the Seaboard spokesman, who expects the prepayment to be made Thursday. The $1.7 million loan cancellation precipitated the bankruptcy action by eliminating the company's last hope of obtaining cash quickly to pay off some of its $10 million debt, Tucker said. In addition to the Seaboard debt, Auto-Train is also in arrears on a $1 million loan from the Paul Revere Insurance Co. (Hartford, Conn.), over more than $2.2 million to the Internal Revenue Service, and owes hundreds of thousands of dollars to customers who canceled reservations but have waited 70 to 80 days for refunds, ICC officials say. Failure to make good on court judgments has led to seizures of Auto-Train property by the Seminole County Sheriff's Office. Future seizure of Seminole County property has been blocked by the bankruptcy action, Tucker said. The bankruptcy action will protect not only the company, but the jobs of 550 persons, about 300 of whom live or work out of Sanford, Tucker said.

Sanford Straw Ballot Approved

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer
Sanford voters will be asked a two-pronged question in the Dec. 2 city elections. Do you want a change in the method of electing city commissioners? Those who respond to that question with a yes will be given the option of selecting one of three choices: — A five-member commission consisting of five commissioners and a mayor elected at large but with the requirement that each commissioner reside in a separate district. — A five-member commission consisting of four commissioners and a mayor elected at large but with the requirement that each commissioner reside in a separate district. — A five-member commission consisting of four commissioners and a mayor with the four commissioners elected on a district basis and the mayor being elected at large. Each commissioner would have to reside in a district and be elected by the voters of that district. — A seven-member commission consisting of six commissioners and a mayor with four of the commissioners elected on a district basis and the remaining two commissioners and mayor being elected at large. The commissioners Monday night discussed for more than an hour the issues and how they are to be placed on the straw ballot. The discussion included Rev. Amos Jones, who is heading a committee seeking change and members of that committee. The commission voted unanimously on the above proposal. The exact wording of the ballot question must be finalized. Commissioner John Morris suggested the way the question should be worded in a complicated motion which was then explained in simpler terms by Mayor Moore. Jones said the effect of the vote would be that those who want to retain the current method of electing commissioners—all run at large—would vote to the question. Those in favor of change, he said, could opt for one of the three alternatives. If the majority votes for a change, Morris said a charter study revision commission would be named to consider changing the charter. Moore said other problem areas in the charter could also be studied at the same time. He suggested one problem area which should be changed is the section setting the candidate qualifying period for nearly two months. Jones and those members of his committee present—Dr. Velma Williams, Sandra Gaines, Dr. J.C. Ringling and Mary Smith—indicated they were satisfied with the commission's action. Jones asked the commissioners several weeks ago to change the number of commissioners and the way they are elected to give all segments of the community representation.

Longwood Votes Down Paving Project

The Longwood City Commission again backed down under pressure from a few private owners and voted 3-2 against paving Wayne Street from Orange Avenue to State Road 434. The defeated resolution called for dividing the cost of the paving and improvements by one-third between the city and property owners on each side of the street at $24.7 a running foot. Eleanor LaPell of 701 E. Church St., whose property is bounded on one side by Wayne, objected that the commission had brought the matter up again at the July 28 meeting "at a late hour" after voting 4-1 to abandon the project two weeks earlier. "The residents are opposed not only to the cost, but additional traffic it will generate," said Mrs. LaPell. "Since I have been sitting on the commission," Commissioner June Lormann said, "I have heard nothing but paving and when we try to do something we get objections." Voting for the resolution Monday night were Mayor Steven Uskert and Commissioner John Hepp. Both men said they thought the city was giving the property owners a break as they personally favored the owners paying all of the cost. Subsequently Mrs. Lormann made a motion the city pay the full cost for paving Wayne with Commissioner J.R. Grant providing a second. The motion was defeated 4-1 with Mrs. Lormann voting against her own motion.

Man Robs Savings And Loan

Law officers were searching for a man suspected of robbing a Casseberry savings and loan association just before noon today. The suspect, described as a 5-foot, 7-inch slim white male wearing a blue shirt and cap carrying a handgun, stole an undetermined amount of cash from the corner of State Road 436 and Winter Park Drive, police say. At 11:42 p.m., the suspect carrying a brown canvas bag, walked up to a teller, pointed a gun at her and demanded she fill the bag with large bills, police say. She complied, and he fled on foot, police report, adding no other details were immediately available.

Having failed to come to any agreement, the commissioners voted unanimously to hold a work session Monday at 2 p.m. to decide "once and for all" on a uniform police policy for paving assessments.
