

Elementary Level Preparation Important To Child's Future

By Jane Casselberry

The value of preparing a child for his future at the Elementary School level was stressed by the guest speaker at Tuesday night's meeting of the South Seminole Elementary Council of Teachers and Parents.

Introduced by program chairman Bob Means, Ray Shreckengost, advanced program manager of Martin Co., emphasized that with today's rapid technological advances, the school and parents must adapt in order to prepare children for the changing, modern world.

Preceding the 8 p. m. meeting in the school auditorium, parents were invited to visit classrooms for a half hour period.

Mrs. Vernon Catron, president of the organization, presided during the business meeting. The devotional and pledge to the flag was led by Miss Helen McMullen and minutes of the November meeting were read by Mrs. William Cass, secretary. A report from Mrs. Charles Lockyer, treasurer, stated that the remainder of NDA Funds have been spent to obtain a movie projector now in use at the school.

Receipts from the "Gala Night in Paris" Fashion Show held the evening of Dec. 5 neared $300. Red and white checked table cloths used on tables at the show are now on sale for 10 cents each. The group voted to place in escrow the $200 pledge, set aside in this year's budget towards the purchase of a piano for the school, until after the County School Board holds its budget meeting next summer at which time it is hoped that matching funds will be made available.

Mrs. William Dunn gave a report on needs of the school library and new faculty members were introduced.

Parents were urged to attend the next County Council meeting on Feb. 15 at 8 p. m. in the Pinecrest Elementary School Auditorium at Sanford when George B. Stallings Jr. of Jacksonville will be the principal speaker. Stallings, member of the State Legislature, is author of the bill requiring Florida Schools to teach a course on Communism.

Refreshments were served by Third Grade Homeroom mothers in the cafeteria following the meeting.

Slavia 4-H Clubs Have Busy Month

Lynn Eustice

January 4th found the senior 4-H Boys of Slavia and their guests listening to Sgt. Vince Smallwood of the Florida Highway Patrol speak on safety on the highways and the Highway Patrol as a career. He was most interesting and many facts were learned at this meeting.

Do you know we have over three million licensed drivers in Florida? We are ninth in population in the nation? Over two and three-fourths million vehicles are licensed? In Florida in 1961 there were over 130,000 traffic accidents. Every four and-a-half minutes there is an accident, every 15 minutes someone is hurt, and every eight hours someone is killed. In 95 percent of the accidents the cause is a traffic law violation.

Florida has ten safety officers in the Highway Patrol giving talks to organizations and working on the prevention of accidents. All highway accidents are cataloged and discussed to decide just how they could have been avoided so we can have a safer Florida in the future.

In 1961 1,145 people were killed in accidents and 46,000 were hospitalized. The main objective of the Highway Patrol is to prevent accidents. However, it must have the cooperation of every driver.

We, who heard Sgt. Smallwood, are better drivers I am sure, for we realize the laws were made for our safety.

On January 16th the boys and girls presented an interesting program showing 4-H work to the Parent-Teachers League at St. Luke's Christian Day School. The girls gave talks on camping and most had made posters to illustrate the important facts.

They plan a camping trip this spring at which time they will try out their skills learned in 4-H. The boys held a mock meeting with regular business and reports to show the parents that they do follow parliamentary procedure and pay attention to the business at hand. Following the program Mr. Cecil Tucker, County Agricultural Agent, installed the officers of both Clubs.

He also announced that without the leadership of Mrs. Paul Lukas and Mrs. Paul Mikler and their helpers and pilots, the 4-H Clubs could not progress as they have done.

Regular meetings of the boys and girls clubs were held the second and fourth Wednesdays at school. The first meeting was used to prepare for the P. T. L. program—the second meeting of the girls was used to discuss the Sanford Fair. Miss Wilson was on hand to give details and answer questions.

The boys spent some time in their garden club. They are now selling vegetables and strawberries grown from seed and small runners (strawberries). All the boys have cooperated and completed their part in this project.

The Senior Boys met at the home of Paul Lukas, Jan. 21, to "Learn By Doing" — and both greased their cars and changed the oil under the direction of Mr. Lukas.

The 4-H girls and their mothers attended a special two-hour class at the Patricia Stevens Finishing School in Orlando.

Miss Anna Marie gave us a talk on introductions, how to walk, how to sit, how to dress, how to use makeup, how to fix your hair, how to diet and answered questions from both the girls and adults. We found that few of us were sitting and walking correctly — but it would take time to remember to "keep your lower ribs from leaning on your tummy," "keep your hips tucked under," and "keep your tummy in."

Plans are being made to attend the Tampa Fair in the school bus—including all three 4-H clubs — Boys — Girls and Seniors!

All three clubs are planning exhibits in the Sanford Fair—as well as individual exhibits. All the girls will take part in the County Demonstration Day on March 3, and the Dress Revue on May 3.

Looks like a busy spring as well as a busy January!

Graduation Date Changed

The Seminole County School Board Thursday approved a change in the date of high school graduation this year, because teachers complained that graduation exercises as set up now interfere with the planned program of work for seniors.

The new dates will set graduation day as June 11, a Monday, with baccalaureate services on the preceding Sunday, June 10.

Thursday, June 8, will be the last day of school for all students.

In other business, the board approved payment of a plumbing bill incurred by clogged up sewer lines at Lyman School, which proved expensive to repair, due to the age of the lines which had been installed in 1926 and were found to be crystallized. The plumbing bill was $488.

The board also accepted surplus funds from the hardware bids for Bear Lake School and South Seminole Junior High School after the plans for a cafeteria were cancelled due to insufficient funds and the low bid on the Bear Lake School was less than had been allowed. In all a total of $4,109 was accepted in surplus funds.

Bids for lunchroom trays by the Longwood School, which are being purchased by the Longwood P-T-O, were opened and the low bid of $504.50 accepted. Bids were turned over to Mrs. Charlotte Whitmore, lunchroom supervisor, for implementation.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former New York Yankee star Gerry Coleman, now a CBS radio broadcaster, has received a citation of merit from the National Exchange Club, sponsor of National Crime Prevention Week, for "his valuable contributions to the prevention of crime."

Mass Feeding Program Slated

A course in Emergency Mass Feeding will be held at the Longwood Elementary School Cafeteria at 7 p. m. today, Mrs. Charlotte Whitmore, Seminole County Lunch Supervisor announced at a recent meeting of the Seminole County School Food Service Assn.

The course is also open to the public, Mrs. Whitmore said and will be held every Monday night at the same time and place, for six weeks.

Other business under discussion at the meeting was a talk by State President, Mrs. Elizabeth Nixon, on School Lunch and its Part in the School Program, Mrs.

Nixon also invited all members to attend the State Convention to be held in Panama City in April.

The group also heard a panel discussion, with representatives from eight different schools in the county. The panel was composed of a Parent from the Oviado school; a Teacher from the Sanford Grammar School; the Principal from Pinecrest School; a Senior High Student from Lyman School; a Junior High Student from the Sanford Jr. High; an Elementary Student from Lake Mary; School Lunch Worker from the Longwood School and the Moderator from Seminole High School.

Special guests at the meeting were R. T. Milwee, superintendent of schools, Principals George Dabbs and John Angel and Asst. Principal, Louise Kusky. School Lunch Supervisors Nelson Axton and Helen Harris from Orange County as well as several members from the Orange County School Food Service Assn. also attended.

The Emergency Mass Feeding program is being sponsored jointly by the Civil Defense Dept. the Board of Public Instruction and the SCSFS.

Demo Women Hold District Meet

Representatives of the Democratic Women's Club of the Fifth Congressional District voted Saturday to prepare a resolution requesting the State Democratic Women's Clubs to support the proposed After Care Bill.

County and Juvenile Judge Vernon Mize, speaking at the district meeting held at Spencer's Restaurant Saturday, told the women's clubs that the After Care bill had passed the House of Representatives at the last meeting of the Florida legislature, but died in committee in the Senate.

The main purpose of the bill as proposed, Judge Mize said, is to supervise children committed to state training schools while they are on furlough and after they are released. The bill would authorize appointment of counselors, assigning them to certain districts, where they would then counsel with the juvenile before he was committed, keep in touch with him during confinement, prepare a social history of the child, talk with his family and try to prepare the child and his parents for his return.

Judge Mize stated that in the 32 months he has served as Juvenile Judge, he has already seen children returned from the training schools to a bad environment at home, with the result that all the training and adjustment that had been made was wasted.

"Florida is one of six states that do not have an after-care program for juvenile offenders," Judge Mize remarked. "Although the state's adult parole system ranks with the best in the nation,"

"Children are important, too," the Judge said, "and keeping a juvenile delinquent from becoming an adult delinquent is a primary aim."

The Judge pointed out that it costs the taxpayers $1,000 to $1,200 a year for the average stay of a juvenile at training school, to provide his food, clothes, medicine, housing and on the job training.

Arthur Dosier, director of the Florida Industrial schools estimates that with the help of after-care counselors, a juvenile could be released three to six months earlier than they are now. This would provide room in existing facilities for 20 percent more children. The four schools, two at Ocala, one at Marianna and one at Okeechobee, now house about 1,200 juvenile delinquents, about 1,200 boys

Heart Queen Contest Rolls In High Gear

The contest for Queen of Hearts at Skata City Roller Rink is rolling into high gear as four more candidates are announced for the campaign which will end Sunday night when the proceeds in the jars are counted and the winner determined.

All receipts from both the contest and the roller skating party and show will be channeled directly into the fight against heart disease, the nation's Number One health problem.

The four new candidates include Linda Patterson, a 15 year old freshman at All Saints Catholic School, who resides in Casselberry whose hobbies are skating and collecting records; Lorraine Wagner, also 15, is a sophomore at Lyman High School, a member of the Beta Club and a resident of Altamonte Springs;

Youths Predominate At Program

By Jane Casselberry

A predominantly youthful audience heard McDonnell Electronic Technician Peter E. Wright speak at the Lyman School Auditorium last Thursday night. Wright was introduced by Miss Tory McClellan, president of the Lyman School Missile Club which sponsored the program.

McDonnell Aircraft manufacturers the space capsule used by our astronauts and Wright is connected with the Mercury Project at Cape Canaveral.

He brought with him an animated color movie entitled "Journey Into Space," that proved both interesting and informative as it depicted a manned orbital flight from launch to recovery. After showing the film, Wright answered questions from the audience concerning all phases of the Mercury Project.

He said that final checks already had begun on Pad 14 in preparation for launching Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. into orbit Wednesday if all goes as planned.

He explained that it was fortunate that the last attempt was called off because of weather since, later, a hole was detected in the booster.

In answer to a question, he said that the capsule must be brought back to earth after the fourth orbit or it would have to make 16 orbits in order to be in proper position to re-enter the earth's atmosphere again. This would be dangerous since provisions are made for the astronaut to remain aloft only for a 24-hour period, he said.

The first orbit takes approximately 100 minutes and succeeding orbits are completed in approximately 90 minutes each, Wright explained.

He told the group that the most crucial spot during the orbit is the Bermuda Tracking Station as the team station there only has six minutes to decide from information being sent to them from the capsule and other tracking stations whether or not to bring the capsule back from orbit. Their decision is based on the attitude of the capsule, the condition of the man and the speed of the capsule.

Asked why the capsule is black, Wright explained that it is made of the heat resistant metal, titanium, and that not even a fingerprint is allowed on the outer surface since any foreign matter might cause a hole to burn through the metal during re-entry.

He described the heat field at the big end of the capsule which is shaped like an inverted parabolic dish. During the capsule's re-entry into the earth's atmosphere, the heat is concentrated in the center of the shield and dissipates out to the edge of the capsule. He stated that catastrophic relays fire the escape rocket to get the capsule clear in case it becomes necessary for the rocket to destroy itself.

Wright described the extreme care used in making sure that there are no loose objects or foreign matters inside the capsule which could cause trouble while it is suspended in free space.

There seemed to be no end to the thoughtful questions presented to the speaker by the eager youngsters and finally the Missile Club Sponsor, Mrs. Catherine Martin, had to call a halt.

She explained that the students seem to have an "insatiable curiosity about anything to do with missiles and space and that they look towards space as young Columbus once stood on the dock and studied the horizon of the Mediterranean Sea.

"Who knows, some of these bright youngsters may be our future space explorers or at least have a part in planning the vehicles that take them there," she pointed out.

Chevalier Runs Away With TV Music Frolic

By Doc Quigg
WESTLANDIA, U. S. A. (UPI)—My, but it's vast in here. Vast bucks pass to and fro among the hangs and whippers, bowing the white to M.now. It's a nice place to visit, but I wouldn't want to live here as many hours a day as Madison Ave. vows the average American family has it: set on: Five and a half.

The longtime proprietor of this column has departed these precincts, and you'll have to suffer along with me for a few days until we can get ourselves a new boy, one who knows something about the business at hand. It sometimes seems that the idea of a TV column is to provide you with the chance of reading it so you can hate yourself for turning on what you did last night. But you'd better start hating yourself if you didn't turn on NBC's "The Broadway of Lerner and Loewe" Sunday night. A more tuneful, professional frolic through the wonderful songworld of one of history's most successful collaborations would be hard to imagine. I was talking with Julie Andrews, one of the principals, not long ago and she volunteered she thought Maurice Chevalier "is probably the hit of the show." She can delete the word "probably" now. Chevalier picked up the show and ran away with it. His rendering of "Camelot" was one of the defeat things he has done in an entertainment career that—as lyricist Alan Jay Lerner had occasion to remark—now is in its 61st year. The words of the poet Lerner in that song could apply to the whole fine hour: "In short there's simply not—a more congenial spot—for happy ever—altering than here in Came-lot." From the time, at the start, when Chevalier walked through stage door and said "Evening show begins like these," to the end, when his footsteps echoed across a bare stage, the show was a joy to behold. And a man wish he could afford a living-color set. Miss Andrews never was better on TV. She looked radiant. Richard Burton's bit from the throne scene in Camelot came over on this show even better than on the Broadway stage, I thought. Robert Goulet was in fine voice. Stanley Holloway got to the church on time, as only he can do it. The Chevalier-Holloway duet of "Almost Like Being in Love" made me wish that television would produce "Brigadoon," one of L. and L.'s best efforts. If it should, I'm for Norman Jewison, Sunday night's producer-director, to do it. He produced with style and neatness. Practically the entire show was a Lerner-Loewe recital, except that Burton did a few limitations and worked in some Shakespeare and told how his feet felt before curtain time—they curl up like clenched fists. A tidy bit of information. He never said how he got them open again. What a happy salute Lerner, Loewe, Broadway, and show biz.

DEAR ABBY: I know you don't approve of eloping, but this case is different. ### Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

Another old bridge proverb is that a peek is worth two finesse. Peeking is not considered proper, but you can frequently obtain the same results by counting the opponent's hands. South ruffed the third heart with dummy's jack of trumps. East discarded a diamond. At this point South could have drawn trumps and taken a diamond finesse against East with reasonable safety, but South wanted to make his contract absolutely sure. He played dummy's ace of spades, ruffed a spade, cashed his ace of trumps, led a trump to dummy and noted that each opponent had started with two trumps. Now he discarded a diamond on dummy's king of spades and ruffed out the jack of spades. When both opponents later followed to the fourth spade he had a complete count. West had shown up with six hearts, four spades and two clubs and he could only have one diamond. A diamond to dummy's ace accounted for that card and South led and finessed dummy's jack with complete safety.

We The Women: By Ruth Millet

Remember when— A compact was something a woman carried in her purse to keep the shine off her nose—instead of being a small car? The twist was something you gave to a lemon peel to garnish a drink—and not a dance? A siren was a sexy movie star—and not a defense warning signal? The name "Jackie" brought to mind a portly TV comedian—and not the beautiful First Lady? The term for an unshaved, dainty stranger was bum-instead of beanie? The word "space" was more frequently teamed with "closet" than with "outer"? The word association for "jet" was "black" instead of "plane"? A beehive was a house for bees instead of a hairdo? Needlepoint referred to handwork, rather than to high heels? The word "swing" made you think of a porch instead of a dance floor? A shelter was a place of protection from the elements—not from enemy bombs? "Birch" brought to mind a tree, instead of a society? "Sick" meant physically ill—not sick, sick, sick? Children speculated about the man IN the moon—not who would be the first man ON the moon? Women frosted cakes instead of their hair? You heard the word aid, you didn't immediately think of "foreign," but "first"?

Not Guilty Plea In Hog Stealing

DELAND (UPI)—A Lake County deputy sheriff and a Mount Dora policeman were among five men who pleaded innocent Tuesday to charges of stealing hogs in Volusia County.

Preliminary hearing for Deputy Noel Griffin Jr., policeman Tom Ledford, David Shelly of Mount Dora, and two Orlando plumbers, Jim Adkerson and Carl Benson, was set for Feb. 26.

Authorities charged the five with shooting hogs with a high-powered rifle after crossing the St. Johns River from Lake to Volusia County in an aircraft.
