FERA DENIES MISTREATMENT OF 2 FAMILIESCharges Hurled At Ft. Pierce Found Without Foundation

JACKSONVILLE, Dec. 6.—The Florida Emergency Relief Administration yesterday denied the families of Henry W. Taylor and J. M. Lee of Fort Pierce were starving and denied relief, as the men were said to have reported to Marvin H. McIntyre, assistant secretary to President Roosevelt.

Taylor and Lee called at the Warm Springs, Ga., executive offices Wednesday with a committee from the Florida Unemployment Council and made their charge.

McIntyre telephoned State Administrator Julius F. Stone, Jr., asking an investigation and report of the situation.

"Neither Mr. Lee's nor Mr. Taylor's family is starving," Stone replied in a telegram. "Mr. Lee has received $12.80 work relief for the month of November and commodities valued at $5. He would have received $6.10 work relief in addition had he not left Fort Pierce on a mission for the Unemployed League on a date assigned to work.

"Mr. Taylor is classified as an unemployable because of age and physical condition. However, his wife is employed by the relief administration on a work relief basis, which has given her $12 for November. The average monthly relief expenditure per case in the state of Florida is $12, which indicates that these two families have not been discriminated against or neglected.

"The Unemployed League, represented by Mr. Lee and Mr. Taylor, has been attempting to serve as an intermediary between the relief administration and relief clients.

"We deal directly with the client. This intermediary function we have not encouraged because it tends to misinterpretations of actual situations; for example, the present one. Our refusal to recognize the Unemployed League as an intermediary has not been agreeable to them."

Pensacola Offers To Cut Interest On Delinquent Tax

PENSACOLA, Dec. 7.—An ordinance was adopted by city council Wednesday night eliminating all interest and penalties on delinquent taxes on condition delinquent payers take advantage this month of the city's new installment payment plan.

Council also passed on first reading an ordinance imposing a tax of $2 per pole on all poles erected within the city by telephone, telegraph, electric light and power companies, and defeated, 8 to 2, a motion to close all places of business within the city from 9:15 A.M. to 12:15 P.M. on Sunday.

The new tax ordinance, it was explained, makes it possible for delinquent taxpayers to take advantage of the city's new plan to divide delinquent taxes into 40 payments.

Councilman Turner explained that many local persons owe taxes, with penalties and interest, to a total amount more than the property is worth, and this plan makes it possible to get some returns from such property. Councilman Bear added that the ordinance gives delinquent taxpayers a chance to take the same course that a business does in taking bankruptcy.

FERA Laborers Will Get 20 Cents Hour

Ocala, Dec. 6.—(AP)—R. E. McDonald, regional administrator of District 3 for the Florida Emergency Relief Administration, announced yesterday a reduction of the minimum unskilled labor wage scale to 20 cents an hour on relief work projects.

McDonald's announcement followed a conference with representatives of 12 counties of the district. These are Marion, Alachua, Bradford, Union, Columbia, Gilchrist, Dixie, Levy, Sumter, Citrus, Hernando, and Pasco.

The publicity department of the University of Missouri, in commenting on the school's football team, which is experiencing another unsuccessful season, is publicizing a statement from a hotel manager to the effect that the Missouri football players are "perfect gentlemen."

Traffic Judge C. B. Fox fined Attorney Frederick Dubovsky $3 each on six parking violation tags and gave him a suspended sentence on 22 others in Oakland, Cal. One tag was for double parking and the other 21 for overtime parking.

INSULLS HAPPY OVER ACQUITTAL

It was a happy moment for Samuel Insull, Sr., and his son, Samuel, Jr., when they and 15 other defendants were acquitted of mail fraud charges by a jury which deliberated only two hours. They are shown smiling their pleasure in the courtroom shortly after the jury's verdict was announced. The trial, which was held at Chicago, lasted eight weeks. Insull, Sr., still faces other charges which grew out of the collapse of his vast utilities empire. (Associated Press Photo)

Farming Talmadges Can't Agree On Which Is Better Farmer After Year's Work

ATLANTA, Dec. 7.—The farming Talmadges are nearing a showdown as to which is the better farmer.

The governor has always insisted that his wife, Mrs. Eugene Talmadge, is "a much better farmer than I am, and one of the best farmers in Georgia," and Mrs. Talmadge has returned the compliment.

But now they are running separate farms, and when the year's operations are over, the public may have the answer. They are running farms of different types, so it may develop into a no-decision affair, but the governor and the first lady are going at their tasks with enthusiasm.

"You know I have been farming all my life and right now I think one of my keenest pleasures is to get on a horse and ride around my farm, looking and working, and seeing how things are going. It's a lot more fun than bridge. I'll tell you."

Governor Talmadge, whose red suspenders were one of the bright spots of his recent campaign for re-election, runs the old family farm in Monroe county, 40 miles from Atlanta. He is near enough to his farm to be able to go down there on afternoons when state matters are not pressing.

W. E. Kirchoff Takes Over Mayfair Hotel On Five Year Lease

W. E. Kirchoff, Jr. of this city has leased the municipally owned Mayfair Hotel for a five year period, it was announced this afternoon by Mayor W. A. Leffler.

Mr. Kirchoff, a winter resident for the past several seasons, and widely known as a bulb grower who operates on a nation-wide scale, has made a cash payment covering terms agreed upon but not announced.

He will make every effort to have the hotel renovated and re-opened in time to announce its opening on or shortly after Jan. 18, and he will secure the services of competent hotel men to staff the plant.

Mayor Leffler's announcement followed a special meeting of the City Commission at noon today. The meeting developed the fact that certain Jacksonville interests had suffered a temporary set-back in their plan to take over the hotel today.

The Herald was reliably informed yesterday that Jack J. Kerns, manager of the Taring Hotel in Jacksonville and James P. Gage, recently resigned as manager of the Henry Grady Hotel in Atlanta, had interested several persons in the hotel and were ready to sign a contract.

The commissioners today were in receipt of a telegram from Mr. Kerns in which he stated that one of his backers had stepped from the picture and that use without cost. H. H. Coleman, local manager for the Florida Power and Light Co., yesterday advised the Commission at a special meeting that if they desired they could have 210 additional lights turned on under terms of the contract.

He listed them as 34 overhead, middle-of-the-street, lights; 115 white way lights which could burn all night, and 61 white way lights which would burn from dusk to midnight.

The cost of operating the 210 additional lights would approximate $4400, which is nearly half of

ACL PROTESTS PAYING SCHOOL TAXES IN COUNTY

Attorneys Offer To Settle $5000 Debt For 1933 At $1800

Protesting against a $5000 school tax levy for 1933 on the claim that the entire levy is illegal because it was not based upon the probability of a 99 percent collection of taxes, the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad has offered to compromise the debt on a 33 1/3 percent basis.

The compromise was presented at the December meeting of the Board of Public Instruction, held at the office of Superintendent of Schools T. W. Lawton on Wednesday, and it was placed in the hands of Board Attorney Fred R. Weller for investigation.

The compromise offer was tendered by Col. W. E. Key, head of the A. C. L. legal department in Florida and Leroy Giles of the law firm.

Resolutions depicting the recent death of C. W. Culpepper, Board member from Geneva, also were read and spread upon the minutes of the meeting.

SCOTT SAYS U. S. GOING TO HELL' WITHIN 5 YEARS

Technocrat Returns To Page One With Dire Predictions

NEW YORK Dec. 8 — Howard Scott, the technocrat man, came out of obscurity last night, banged his fist on his desk and announced that things were going to hell in five years.

From now on it is technocracy against the field.

"The Democratic landslide in the election was no accident," said Mr. Scott, "and Mr. Scott, a six-foot four-inch fellow with a hard eye and determined manners, was expected momentarily and that it would be best under the circumstances if the President did not make it."

The appeal to have been nationally broadcast but discarded after the suggestion by Colonel Lindbergh, was quoted.

Mrs. Lindbergh has asked me to request the return of her baby boy.

It is a request no man would refuse.

Anytime within the sound of my voice know where that baby is. I ask that they immediately communicate with the proper authorities and if they do not mind God have mercy on their souls.

U. S. Moves To Protect Dry States From Gin

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP) — It was announced unexpectedly today that a suit has been filed in behalf of Sir John Simon, British Foreign Secretary, in respect to statements that he was interested in armaments firms and that his conduct British foreign affairs was thereby affected.

The brief announcement from authoritative quarters was all available for the moment in what appeared to be a sensational development in a proposed British inquiry into the manufacture of arms.

Notice of the rate change was given in telegrams from C. Capps, traffic officer of the board Air Line Railway in Washington immediately after approval by the commission addition to effecting a large reduction in the citrus industry, reductions are expected to congested points of transhipment here to cheap water rates and to more fruit into inland cities a wider distribution.

BIBLE WEEK FOR TODAY

EVERLASTING LIGHT: Thy sun shall no more go down; neither shall thy moon withdraw itself; for the Lord shall be thine everlasting light and the day of thy mourning shall be ended.—
SOLOMON.

MARITIME INVOCATION

Lady, will you go with me over the dark, the wave-demented sea?

Lady, I must tell you how frail love's boat is;
I must bring to your notice
the swells on the beach,
the spray, foam-flushed of shipwrecked.

Lady, are you brave enough to go on such a journey?
You will be safe enough,
your hand in mine, till you know that passion's star is a falling-star calling far into the dark, and getting no reply.

Ah! Lady, though touch may fail us,

waves intervening,
there is no night so outrageous that our minds, bidden together may not weather
our hearts mortised as one rudder.
Hail! hail toward love's horizon Lady, the dawn, the dawn shall break there, and, the sun shall rise on these dangerous,
these tide-worn waters.

Lady, will you go out with me on such a long journey, and in such a sea?

'em!

In Roxbury, near Boston, some thing new in assault and battery is puzzling police officials as well as members of the "stronger sex" who do not like to be massed up by aggressive females. It seems that a number of young men recently have had the embarrassing experience of being seized by a strange "woman hugger" who runs the streets at night lurking in dark corners to suddenly pounce upon her victim, kissing them violently, and then quite as suddenly, disappearing into the darkness. A sort of female Blue-beard, perhaps.

Speaking of faithfulness, a story from Rock Island, Illinois paper, tells about a Scotch collie which for ten years has been walking at the bottom of the elevator shaft of a local hospital. It was ten years ago that his master, suffering from a shell fracture following an accident, confined the dog to the elevator on his way to the operating room, bidding him not to wait for him. The dog has been waiting for ten years, fed and cared for by attendants of the hospital, but refusing to leave the vicinity of the elevator shaft unless his master has come along.

Bring Home The Bacon!

From time immemorial it has been the practice in this country to elect men to Congress who could get the most for their particular districts. If a representative could bring back a new postoffice, or a canal, or drain some worthless swamp, he was re-elected; if not, he was retired and someone was put in his place who at least promised to do it. This practice on the whole has worked fairly well with the result that the country now has a good many postoffices, canals, and dredging districts, many of which no doubt are unnecessary, but which after all have not bankrupted the country.

With the coming of the depression, however, and the increasing need for aid among large numbers of conflict minority groups, this practice of electing "go-getters" to Congress has assumed an added importance, which has resulted in replacing many a conservative representative, who promised merely a postoffice, with some more enterprising and ambitious politician who would bring back at least the south wing of the federal treasury itself. In the present membership of Congress are many, perhaps a majority, who have pledged themselves to raid the federal treasury for all it is worth.

As a cloak of respectability for their raiding party, they have invented various schemes which in reality benefit special minority groups but which they proclaim are for the good of all and, of course, will produce a great wave of prosperity. The bandit who sticks a gun in your ribs and steals your wallet justifies his action by reasoning that he is hungry and that you probably came in possession of it by some dishonest means yourself. So it is with Congressmen, they readily cite a thousand injustices of the existing order, point to a few notorious crooks among the outstanding exponents of the capitalistic system, and then proceed to rob the taxpayer for the benefit of some special interest.

Among the most formidable of the raiding parties which will be concentrating on Washington next month are the legions of the Townsend pension plan. They would relieve the federal treasury of $200 a month for every man and woman over sixty years of age. There are ten million in this group of persons, but there are 110,000,000 who are not in it. There is another potent faction representing primarily the wheat farmers of the Middle West. They would have the federal government float a bond issue to pay up the farmers' debts. This would take about $7,000,000,000 and would help about 5,000,000 farmers. The other 115,000,000 people in the United States would have to pay for it.

Then there is the soldiers' bonus, a controversy of long standing which has been dwarfed to comparative insignificance by other more recent and more ambitious proposals. Immediate cash payment of the bonus would require $2,800,000,000 from the federal treasury for about 4,000,000 ex-soldiers. None of these proposals touches upon the real victims of the depression who are after all the unemployed. There are at least a dozen formidable Special Volumes before the act date.

This celebration is very significant to the Christians of today. Our English Bible, the King James translation, owes a great deal of its literary excellence to the translation of Luther which was completed and published in 1534. The German translation was the means of forming the modern German tongue. Before that time there were various Germanic dialects of a barbaric nature which differed greatly from each other. The German Bible of Dr. Martin Luther was instrumental to a great degree in forming the literary German language which is used to this day. Samuel Taylor Coleridge said: "Luther's miraculous and providential translation of the Bible was the fundamental act of the construction of literature."

Before Luther's time there were at least 17 versions of the Bible in the Germanic tongue, according to the Hebrew scholar Reuchlin. These translations were undialectic, coarse, stiff and very difficult to understand since they were not written in a standard language. Luther had a difficult time in translating the Sacred Scriptures from the original tongues, Hebrew and Greek, into a language which he himself was in trouble especially in translating the Old Testament prophetic books. He said it was intended to make the Hebrew Prophets speak German. Sometimes he sought two, three, or four weeks for a single word. But by the gracious and providential guidance of the Almighty God, Luther completed the monumental task of translating the Bible into the language of the people. The common people were enabled to search the Scriptures in their own language.

Eighty-four years before this time Gutenberg had invented the printing press with movable type, thus redding the printing process a great deal. The price of a Bible before this period was prohibitive. The lowest price of a Bible was $75.00, and the average price was $300.00. But after the marvelous printing device was put into practical use, the Bible in popular language was printed in many editions. Anyone who could afford it had an opportunity to purchase a Bible. Johann Bebel, known as Celsius, said in Luther's time: "Even shopkeepers and women became so absorbed in Bible study that they were able to debate with doctors of theology."

This translation of four long years of labor, toil and sacrifice, of the entire life of the author, was a revolution in the history of the world. It made the Word of God available to all men. It was a great work of art, a masterpiece of literature, a work of genius, a work of God.

Some judges have attempted to frustrate this type of collusion by demanding the name of the co-respondent. Others have threatened to disregard altogether this type of evidence. They now plan to refuse to grant divorces altogether if there is any indication of the grounds being "arranged," or if the identity of the co-respondent is not revealed in open court.

In this country it is possible to obtain a divorce for any reason that a distracted man or woman may think of. Sometimes, of course, it is necessary to go to Reno to do it, but one never has any difficulty in getting a divorce if he or she really wants it.

It is not easy to decide which is the better method, the English system which keeps unjoined couples together until they are ready to kill each other; or the American system where the ease of divorce prompts such legal action when a little restraint might ultimately result in a happy married life.

TO THIS AWAKENING we have contributed by making and ending a noble experiment. In the summer of 1933 the American people actually undertook to regiment themselves under the Blue Eagle. They had fallen under the universal spell. For a few weeks at least almost everyone had visions of a platinized economy in which everything would be wisely planned. In practice the experiment amounted to encouraging business men to organize monopolies, encouraging the American Federation of Labor to attempt to organize a monopoly, and then by trying, from Washington, by means of hot and tired officials to make all the schools produce a symphony.

The effort was very costly. It worked just effectively enough to make some prices and some wages even more rigid than they would otherwise have been, and thus to delay readjustment and thereby to increase unemployment. It plugged up, or at least slowed badly, the pump which the Administration was trying to prime. But though it was always a misdirected effort, a waste of time and energy and good intentions, the result has been better than might have been anticipated. The N. R. A. was a convincing experiment. It was, indeed, incomparably complicated and confused, though it will be a long time before anyone would seriously imagine that the economic life of this nation is still in the same condition as it was before the New Deal came into existence.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Dec. 9.

The Golden Text is from Jeremiah 10:10, 12, "The Lord is the true God, he is the living God, and an everlasting king . . . He hath made the earth by his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heavens by his discretion."

Among the citations which come prior to the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible, "He that loveth the heaven and the heaven of heavens is the Lord's thy God, and the earth also, with all that therein is" (Deut. 10:14).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, "All that is made is the work of God, and all is good. We leave this brief, glorious history of spiritual creation (as stated in the first chapter of Genesis) in the hands of God, not of man, in the keeping of Spirit, not matter,— joyfully acknowledging now and forever God's supremacy, omnipotence, and oneness" (p. 621).

Refreshments were served at a late hour in the luncheon room by the hostesses.

Mrs. Stowe Entertain Rose Garden Circle

The home of Mrs. E. B. Stowe on Cameron Avenue was the scene of the regular meeting and luncheon of Rose Circle of the Garden Club of Sanford held yesterday morning with Mrs. Fred E. Wilson presiding. A general discussion of plans for cleaning the pier, vacant lots and roadsides near the city was had.

An exhibit of unusually attractive Christmas wreaths, made by Mrs. Ester Curlett, was arranged in the Swope living room. Mrs. Covington explained how the wreaths were made and told of decorations in churches and other holiday aornaments in Florence, where she wintered one year.

Mr. J. C. Bills, Jr. read a letter from Governor Shultz in which he asked the members not to burn ever pine or timber lands since burning such lands destroyed the "nesting" or "future forests" of Florida.

Lunch was served in the room at the noon hour on small tables by the hostess as is still by Mrs. T. L. Sullivan. Quantities of pink gladioli, pink radiance roses, and varicolored snapdragons were used to adorn the rooms where the members were gathered.

After luncheon the members motored to the triangle at the intersection of Geneva and Park Avenues where they planted an evergreen tree in honor of Mrs. W. E. Watson and as a token of appreciation for her two years service as president of the Garden Club. It was announced that the tree will be lighted during the Christmas season.

Traffic Policeman Clothed With New Dignity As Safety Educator To Public

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 8.—John Law, mental concept of the traffic patrolman, has been clothed anew. He may still wear uniform and badge. On his hip, there may be a service revolver. However, from his shoulders there fall the dark folds of the scholastic gown and there is something suggestive of the mortboard in his peaked cap. All this, because John Law is emerging more clearly in his essential role of educator.

This thought was crystallized at the recent Second Traffic Officer's Training School, conducted by the Political Science Department of Northwestern University and the Evanston Police Department at Evanston, Ill. Instructors in different courses at the school developed this theme throughout the two-week session.

The 100 or more officers in attendance were told that the principal function of a police department is education. The purpose of law enforcement, the instructors stressed, does not find its true end in revenge upon the offender. The offender is punished for the sole purpose of warning the public and of deterring the offender and others from further violation.

Thus, through education, violations can be prevented, the instructors indicated. Law observance programs, however, are successful only when public sympathy and co-operation have been obtained. Generally, the officers were told, the police department itself, and not the public, is to be blamed when the public does not give it support. If a police department is not receiving support, it is not doing its work, the officers heard. The police department's job is to get public support through education, they learned.

NEW ARGUMENTS DELAY SIGNING OF CITRUS PACT

AAA Official Claims Associated Group Has Acted Unwisely

TAMPA, Dec. 8.—Not a foot of headway in an effort to settle the wrangle in the citrus industry, with fresh reports of disorganized market conditions, was made yesterday at a two-hour meeting called by the Associated Citrus Growers and Shippers.

The Florida Citrus exchange and other groups which already have signed the marketing agreement sent no representatives to discuss the personnel of the control committee.

Fifteen directors of the associated group attended H. C. Bad-cock, of Orlando, the chairman presided.

John S. Taylor, president of the Florida Citrus Exchange, was there. He made a brief statement, urging everybody to sign and talk later.

"I do not know that we have any interest in the present controversy, except that our growers want the marketing agreement," Taylor said. "It seems to me that the sooner the agreement can be made effective, the sooner we can, as representative men of the industry, co-operate for the good of all, especially the growers."

"As far as the control committee is concerned, it will be satisfactory to us when it is satisfactory to the secretary of agriculture and to the different representative groups, we have no quarrel with the committee as it is now constituted. We will have no quarrel in the future with the committee as it may be appointed by the secretary. The main issue is the agreement itself. All these minor points about which you hear so much, should be and could be settled, all probability, when we are properly organized. As we are now it seems impossible to bring all the loose ends together. So why not agree on the agreement, then work out an agreement on the little disagreements."

But the blunt speech was made by A. W. McKay, representing the Department of Agriculture at Washington.

"There is nothing I can do to settle this controversy except to urge all of you to sign the marketing agreement," he said, reading from a prepared statement. McKay said the association had taken an unwise stand—one that is costing them a lot of money and the growers at large still more.

"You are offered an agreement in which the proration plan is virtually automatic, to which the secretary of agriculture is a party and which will be supervised by his representatives," he said. "This should be sufficient assurance that the agreement will be operated fairly."

Movies Recovering As Stars Turn To Dance Acts

By ROBIN COONB

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8.—The film industry, which virtually began on dancing feet, is giving every indication of getting back on them.

The first "movie queens" were Annabelle-the-dancer and Carmen Miller, whose pre-show renown was but incidental to their great or glory in the New York music halls of the nineties.

Between Annabelle and Carmen and today's Fred Astaire, first dancing star of the pictures, lies a long stretch of years in which the screen, from the standpoint of dancing, was scarcely rich.

Yet even in silent films there were memorable moments when grace and rhythm excited film fandom. An asset to "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" was the tangling of Valentino with Alice Terry. For a time Mae Murray, in "Peacock Alley," "Flamingo" and "The Merry Widow," contributed her acting with her dancing. Then there was Gilda Gray, who in "Aloma of the South Seas," and "The Devil Dances," contributed to her creations on the screen.

Numerous other silent films embodied the dance, but sound naturally speeded it to a wholesale revival. Silent movie dances were "lost" unless symphony orchestras accompanied them, and symphonies traveled only with first-run tours.

Musicals brought in the dance wholesale, with chorus girls, stars, and Alberto Rascas ballets tripping over the sound stages. They brought Marilyn Miller, cintillating toes and Ruby Keeler's energetic tapping. But neither Miss Miller nor Miss Keeler had a vehicle in which dancing was such an integral part of the action as it was in "The Gay Divorcee." Fred Astaire came honestly by his renown as the talkies' first dancing star.

Today Hollywood in dance mad as never before. George Raft and Carole Lombard, who performed in "Boleto," are repeating in "Rumba," and the team of Velos and Yolanda are helping out. As a team they have a new Paramount contract. Old southern dances are revived in "Mississippi," and prominent in "Hallelujah Walk" is the Hawaiian dance number.

Spanish dances, the "can-can," old waltzes and plains and fancy ballroom dancing are to be found on set after set—and the movies literally on their feet.

On their feet, with heads in the clouds occasionally. The ballet is important in "A Midsummer Night's Dream," with Nina Hefford premiere danseuse of the Reinhardt production) enrolled for the same duty in the film, while Harriet Hooton, the late Ziegfeld's ballet artist, is to contribute to the film story of the producer's life.

Tiger Stirs State Out Of Depression

ATLANTA, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The depressions—judging from the increased enrollment in colleges and universities this year—is lifted.

That is the opinion voiced by Dr. John T. Tigert, president of the University of Florida, Gainesville, at the 1934-35 enrollment at the University of Florida this year showed a 22 percent increase, with the freshman class taking 1,600 percent jump.

Incidentally he said Florida is entirely out of the depression.

Gorman Claims Conditions Tense In Textile Industry; Hints At Another Walk-Out

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(AP)—Francis J. Gorman, textile union leader, last night asserted conditions in the cotton textile industry were "precariously near intolerable" and demanded management co-operation to bring about improvement.

The statement of the first vice president of the United Textile Workers was made in challenging what he termed a "rosy picture" painted by the annual report of George A. Sloan, president of the cotton textile institute.

"Let me say the picture is anything but rosy and unless cotton textile tactics are changed it may be great deal less pleasant than it is even now," Gorman said.

Sloan, he asserted, "has failed in his duty and has done almost nothing to help in a decent and constructive adjustment."

"Mr. Sloan had the unutterable nerve, bordering on the insulting, to say that the recent strike was not a success, charging it was an effort to impose upon a majority of non-unionists the will of the union. That is nothing short of downright misrepresentation."

"The strike was such a smashing success," he said, "that I don't believe Mr. Sloan or his infinite associates want another one. He would be astounded and possibly a bit frightened if he knew the clamor that exists in textile mills for another strike immediately."

Travel by railroad to Yellowstone National Park increased 130 percent during the 1934 tourist season over 1933. The 1934 total was 12,385 persons.

RICHBERG EXPLAINS NEW DEAL

Kirchhoff said he was ready to confess there have been many mistakes of policy and errors of judgment in the formulation of the NRA order.

Both price-fixing and wage-fixing he called bad machine.

"But a wise man often needs medicine that may help him to get well although it will not keep him well," he said.

"So long as cut-throat competition threatens to be not the life but the death of trade, and success to promote not so to prevent monopoly, we may need to fix the level below which there should be no price competition."

"So long as employers will compete for profits by underpaying and over-working men and women, it may be necessary to fix minimum wages and maximum hours. Ultimately, in accordance with the principles of self-government, determination of wages and hours for the mass of workers must be found in honest collective bargaining."

Of a long range program, Kirchhoff said:

"It is all too clear that we must develop new agencies of human cooperation to meet the new economic conditions produced by the industrial revolution."

"It is pathetically absurd to suggest that we can create these new agencies in a year or that we can perfect them in a decade. It is plain that we must begin a long, slow process of trial and error, the statement and restatement of principles, the building and rebuilding of organizations and a personnel equipped for public service, the writing and rewriting of administrative law, the gradual development of a public understanding and a sound support of principles and procedures."

"This is the task ahead of us—if we are to maintain our political faith and to adapt our political institutions to that control of our economic welfare which is necessary to the present generation and will be demanded by the generation now rising to power."
