WILBUR APPROVES PLAN TO SEND MEN FOR BIG TRYOUTS

Urges High School Coaches to Prepare Athletes for Olympic Tryouts

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 13.—Prof. G. Elmer Wilbur, president of the Florida High School Athletic Association, is thoroughly in accord with the idea of having coaches of High School look closely into the matter of sending Florida boys into the Olympic try-outs next spring. He is bringing the matter to their attention as suggested by Ray Greene, Amateur Athletic Union Commissioner, and member of the Olympic committee for the United States.

In replying to a letter received several days from Mr. Greene calling the matter to his attention, Professor Wilbur says that "with the wealth of material we have in our grand State in Track and Field athletics and in swimming and tennis I can see no reason why Florida should not be well represented in the try-outs and also in the final selection. Florida, great in all respects, will also come to the front in this line if we will all pull together."

"In anticipation of this," he continues, "I will send out a letter to every member of the association urging the principals and coaches to pay special attention to this matter, and in addition will urge the formation of a committee of competent judges to act with you at the track and field meet, the aquatic meet and the tennis meet to determine who might be possible contenders."

"Count on me," Professor Wilbur concludes, "to assist you all I can in this work and I know every school in the association will co-operate with you to the limit."

GATOR FOOTBALL STAR'S RECORDS

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 13.—Marvin U. "Red" Mount is probably the hardest worker on the Florida Gator line-up this year. "Red" as he is familiarly called, played right end and although he had been competition for the position, he was in a number of games during this season. He is 25 years old, the dean of his team, stockily built, five feet eight inches in height and tips the scales at 160. He is strong on the defensive and good on the offensive; altogether one of the most consistent players on the end.

Mounts began his career as a football player in Oklahoma, where in 1914 he was on the team of the University Preparatory school at Tonkawa. He played on the team again in 1915 and was graduated in the spring of 1916. That fall he played on the S. A. T. C. team at Oklahoma A. & M. College. He entered the University of Florida in 1921 and won his football letter the first year. He is one of those who helped to put Florida on the football map in 1922. He played left end both these years but was shifted to right end at the beginning of this season.

Besides being a hard worker as a football player, Mounts is a hard working student. He is taking the Smith-Hughes work and will graduate next year.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 13.—"Spick" Stanley, a former Duval High star and a strong contender for the quarterback and half position on the University of Florida's team of "Fighting Alligators" this year, was one of the reasons for the team being in high gear all the time. He put up a strong bid for the quarter's berth and made the regular sweat to hold him down.

Spick hails from Jacksonville, and came here with the memorable class of '22. He played with the freshman team that won the Southern title last year. In his High School days he was picked as an "All-State man," and brought from Duval a great football record. In addition to being a good man at quarter, he can be shifted to half, performing well in both positions. He passes, runs ends and backs the line for good and consistent gains at all times. He weighs 160 pounds and has two more years at Florida.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 13.—The utility man of Coach Van Fleet's charges this year was Edgar Todd. The value of Todd's playing to the team lay in the fact that he could substitute for two different positions. Although his best playing was done at left end, he could down left tackle almost equally as well. This two-fold ability made him a valuable player. Todd is from St. Petersburg where he played his first football with the High School team of that city. His first position was at left guard, but in his last year he played fullback. He was going strong on the freshman team last year until the middle of the season when he suffered a broken collar bone which put him out for the rest of the season.

SISLER AND RUTH RECEIVE AWARDS

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—The board of directors of the American League meeting here today formally awarded the 1923 league championship to the New York American league club and voted to give individual awards to George Sisler and Babe Ruth, the two players decided to have been the greatest value to their clubs in 1922 and 1923 respectively. The form of these awards was not decided on.

The board also sent a message of condolence to the relatives of "Wild Bill" Donovan, who was killed in the twentieth wreck at Fortzthe, N. Y., and decided to continue to share for Louis Crigier, catcher of the Boston club, until he is restored to health.

The board will meet again tomorrow.

"AFTER THE GRIND WAS OVER"

EDDIE COLLINS, PREMIER SECOND BASEMAN OF WHITE SOX FOR SALE

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Eddie Collins, premier second baseman of the American League and captain of the Chicago White Sox, is for sale or trade and may become manager of the Washington Club for the 1924 season.

Frank Chance, newly appointed manager of the White Sox, made the startling announcement tonight that Collins had been announced to the player market. This announcement was the most important to come from the convention of more than 200 baseball leaders who assembled here Monday to set their house in order for the 1924 season.

Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Club, while not denying that he had talked over the prospect of landing Collins, and admitting that he was in a receptive mood, declined to make a flat statement, declaring, "I can't say anything now."

One of Last to Depart Collins, if he is not traded, will be one of the last two players who remained on the club wrecked in 1920 as a result of the world's series scandal of 1919.

The convention opened today with a half-dozen meetings, including a session of the board of arbitration of the national association of minor leagues, which thrashed out the dispute over the presidency of the Pacific Coast League.

CLOCK TO BE REMOVED.

The big clock that has been suspended from the building at Park Avenue and First Street, formerly occupied by the First National Bank, is to be taken down according to an announcement made Thursday by F. P. Forster. Unless some provision is made to have it installed elsewhere, the clock will be stored away, said Mr. Forster. For several years it has been broken and is being controlled by a master clock located in the bank. It was installed at a cost of $1,500 and cost approximately $100 a year to maintain it.

TO ERECT BOWLING ALLEY.

Sanford Elks decided at its meeting Wednesday night to build bowling alleys at the clubhouse at an early date. Equipment will be ordered soon and will be immediately installed for the benefit of its members.

The Elks also voted to send out Christmas baskets to the poor as has been their custom for many years. A special committee headed by H. B. Lewis will look after that matter. Anyone knowing of a family in need, is requested to get in communication with Mr. Lewis.

To Entertain Children

Cho-Cho, the health clown, will be here Friday afternoon to amuse and entertain the school children of Sanford. He will appear at the Milne Theatre at 2 p. m. under the auspices of the Seminole County Child Welfare organization. Cho-Cho is a jolly jester of fun and great renown. His antics queer and full of mirth have entertained more kids on earth and in his drill and funny way there is a lot he'll have to say. All the while he's easily playing a lot of health hints he's conveying, impressing you with diet rule for the clown he is no fool. In fact he's very wise indeed. And while they're all with laughter roaring, their little minds are quickly storing the good advice he has to tell about the way they can keep well.

Newspapers all over the country have written about Cho-Cho's wonderful entertaining powers. He was for many years a circus clown and understands children, reaching to their very hearts with his laugh provoking stunts. Millions of children have seen him and love him not only for the happy moments he has given them, but for the good he does in bringing simple hygienic facts and health laws. Every school child is invited. No admission charged.

The fruits of victory that the Allies won are apples of discord.—Washington Post.

Tomorrow is the last day to pay your final installment of your income tax.

The power of the press is fully recognized by the telephone girl when the papers are late.

The old year will soon be a memory. What are you planning to do to make the new one better?

It was such a day as this that inspired Lowell to write "What is so rare as a day in June?"

Making other people happy is the best way to insure a happy Christmas for yourself.

The ancient and oriental game of Mah Jong was invented in a curio shop in Fifth Avenue.

"Thousands Flock to Gland Clinic" reads a newspaper headline. Certainly, if our ancestors weren't monkeys, our descendants will be.

Taxpayers whose incomes are under five thousand dollars per year are rejoicing over the fact that the new forms will be snort and snappy. Something to be thankful for anyway.

In about another hundred years of these periodical Mexican revolutions, the United States government may awake to fact that you do spoil the child when you spare the rod, after all.

Every now and then there's a surprise for newspaper readers; latest being a picture in the Portland Oregonian which offered eight ten-cent presents in some kind of a "show" contest, and every one clothed in conventional gowns. Not a bathing suit evident in the bunch!—Times-Union.

You can just bet that made the editor of the T.-U. sore. With the estimated cost of operating the federal government reduced $275,000,000 during the next fiscal year, and the Mellon tax reduction plan favored by the President, certainly it is only fair to expect larger and better Christmas presents this year.

Happiness, and brightness in God's service, is a great gift. We are told to make melody in our hearts to the Lord. How can we do this unless we are bright and cheerful and serve Him gladly? You must live the life, not merely do the work. Live a quiet, peaceable life with God, and the work will come out of it. You will do it, simply, unconsciously.—H. Mansell.

Professor Vernon Eiegel, Ohio director of education has requested school superintendents in his state to use newspapers in teaching and he has recommended that students read newspapers for general information and education. Eminent educators are realizing more and more the value of the daily paper as an intelligent factor and a means to general understanding of current events and world conditions.

"Thirteen" in History

Much importance has been attached to the number "Thirteen" by thoughtful people, some believing it lucky while others take the opposite stand. Whether or not this numeral has such merits, it is interesting to look into the historical records where "thirteen" has been a factor.

Several months ago the Postmaster General received from members of the history class of the Shepard College State Normal School, Sheperdstown, West Virginia, a petition asking that the government again issue postage stamps of the thirteen cent denomination.

Thirteen reasons were given as follows:

America was discovered on the night of the thirteenth of the month.

The republic originally consisted of thirteen colonies. The first official flag had thirteen stars and thirteen stripes. The American Eagle requires thirteen letters to spell it, as does also the motto, "E Pluribus Unum."

The first word to pass over the trans-Atlantic cable was transmitted on the thirteenth of the month.

The silver quarter is written all over with thirteen. Around the head of Liberty are thirteen stars; the eagle bears an olive branch with thirteen leaves in one claw and thirteen thunderbolts in the other. On his breast is a shield bearing thirteen bars and his beak is a ribbon bearing the motto with thirteen letters; each wing has thirteen feathers and it takes thirteen letters to spell quarter dollar.

There are thirteen letters in John Paul Jones' name.

There were thirteen ships in the first American navy.

Perry's victory on Lake Erie was won on the thirteenth of the month.

The stars and stripes were raised over Fort Sumter on the thirteenth of the month.

Gen. Pershing arrived in France on June 13, 1917.

The thirteenth amendment to the constitution freed the slaves.

It would not cost any more to make a thirteen cent stamp than any other one.

Just what action was taken on the petition has not been learned but it is safe to guess that Uncle Sam seriously considers the advisability of granting the request, superstitious persons notwithstanding.

No Compromise or Surrender

Certain elements in both major political parties are "feeling out" the sentiment in the country on the proposal to modify the Eighteenth Amendment by allowing the sale of beer and light wine.

This is sometimes called a "Compromise" and some political leaders seem to entertain the belief that just such a plank should be adopted by their respective parties in order to insure success at the polls next November.

But is such a thing to be called a "Compromise"? Will it not mean surrender to the liquor forces and the undoing of the good already accomplished by the abolishment of the open saloon. Senator Arthur Capper in opposing such a move, says:

It is no compromise. It would bring back the saloon.

It would bring the Brewers' Association back.

It would bring back more than ninety per cent of the entire liquor trade.

It would bring back a new evil in the cultivation of the so-called "home trade" in beer.

It would bring back a five billion dollar liquor bill and violate every economic argument against license.

It would bring back a lower standard of living; more pauperism, and more drink-caused crime.

It would bring back whiskey as a bootleg adjunct to beer saloons.

It would bring back everything the American people have tried to destroy by the prohibition law.

It is no compromise.

CONGRESS IS BACK on the job again after its longest vacation in eight years. It does not contemplate a session of legislative achievement. There will naturally be more politics than anything else. It is true the republican party is bothered, as the New York Times says, about appropriations, immigration, tax revision, the bonus, transportation and agricultural relief, all of which will have a bearing on the 1924 election—Macon Telegraph.

THROUGH THE PROPER exercise of the three H's—Head, Hand, Hart—are we educated. And to be educated is to live, for education means development, unfoldment. There is only one thing worth praying for, and that is to be in line of evolution—growth. There is no happiness elsewhere, save in the consciousness that we are tunnelling toward the light, slowly but surely. To know this is to live. We are all sons of God and it doth not yet appear what we shall be. Our windows are open directly toward the East!—Elbert Hubbard.

Reduction of Taxation

A statement from the Budget Committee

There can be no doubt that Secretary Mellon's recommendation to Acting Chairman Green of the House Ways and Means Committee that the next Congress make a general downward revision of taxes has struck a responsive chord throughout the country. It is concrete evidence, the kind that can be understood by every American home, that after a disastrous world war, the United States have passed the critical period of readjustment.

The approach to normal conditions has not been opened without a considerable effort, however, and it will be well for a citizenry, encouraged by Secretary Mellon's statement, to keep this in mind. The surplus of receipts over expenditures which has resulted at the close of each year since the war ended, was made possible only by a program of economy in the conduct of public business. This program received definition in and an impulse from a new budgetary system which became operative in 1921.

Administrative requirements were reduced to a minimum and constant pressure was exerted to anticipate tendencies on the part of Congress to return to the former system of ill-considered, extravagant appropriations. A revolutionary change in the attitude of administrative departments toward the expenditure of the public money was effected and Congress, on the whole, was diligent in its attention to the program of economy. It is a fact that this attitude on the part of the executive and legislative branches will continue.

The issue between this new method of conducting public affairs and the old system is now laid before the people for their consideration. Through their representatives in Congress they must now decide whether they prefer general reduction in Federal taxation or whether they prefer that the lid so tightly clamped down on Government expenditures during the last three years shall be lifted. Either the program of economy and efficiency in Government affairs must be continued or the proposal to reduce taxes to any appreciable extent must be given up.

As an economic problem the present proposal to reduce taxes can be readily understood. It is estimated that taxes collected during the year 1922 upon the business of the year 1921 will yield revenues in excess of expenditures to the extent of $432,000,000. This is the margin within which tax reductions may be made and this margin will be reduced dollar for dollar in the proportion that expenditures not now contemplated by the Government are authorized by Congress.

Compared with the total of expenditures this margin is not large. Gauged, however, by the benefits direct, which a reduction in taxes to that amount would bring to more than 14,000,000 taxpayers, it is an enormous sum. Relief from payments to the Government is but a part of the benefit thus to be conferred. Of vastly greater importance in the long run would be the fulfillment of Secretary Mellon's prediction that easement in taxes will bring an increase of funds available for investment in productive industries. Such an outcome would mean not only more income for persons employed but a reduction in the cost of the necessities of life upon which those incomes are expended.

A Friend

By E. E. Violette

A friend, to be a friend, must be intensely human; he must needs be imperfect that out of his own shortcomings and longings he may be altogether magnanimous in his judgement. A friend believes in you, even with a chance to doubt, when others have become faithless; he trusts in you and in a forgiving God when an unbelieving generation is listening for unclean rumors at the open door of hell.

A friend is one who needs no explanation; he is devoid of curiosity because he knows your good outweighs your evil. When he sees you in conversation with one of questionable name, he raises no query because he knows that "birds of a feather" do not always "flock together". And when another asks about it, your friend gives you an alibi, because he knows the querist is your enemy—and a dupter. A friend may love his money, but he loves you more, and he will meet your needs out of his own necessities when you have nothing left in which your bank could take a mortgage. A friend never offers an excuse for his friendship; society can not make him lie—to you—or about you. When you are down your friend is never out. He never plays solitaire; you are always a welcome guest in his game. A friend is your lighthouse when the sea is rough and the night dark. When you give vent to joy he is your exclamation point; when you weep your friend is by your side. Burns died in poverty for want of a friend in time of need. A single friend could have saved Socrates from the hemlock. Jesus was put to the rood because he had no brave friend.

And you must die. Then your acquaintances may send flowers. In his room alone your friend will weep and pay—and he will grave your epitaph. And generations to come will pass God's Acre where you sleep, and they will read it and say: "Here lies one who possessed great wealth—he had a friend."

Breaking the Republican South

Asheville Citizen

From time to time the Republican party puts forward plans for breaking "the Solid South." Just now the Republican National Committee, holding sessions in Washington, is at work on a program that will break the heart of many Southern Republicans. It is proposed to reduce the number of Southern delegates to the Republican National Convention from 167 to 83. This pruning of the Southern delegations was begun in 1914; the indications are that it will be drastically enforced this year. The G. O. P. leaders in other sections, and not a few in the South, agree that Republican representation from Southern territory should be more in keeping with the number of Republican votes cast. And under this rule Republican states outside the South will be granted larger representation while the brethren below Mason and Dixon line will have to be content with less of power, and the loss of pie that goes with political strength. But contentment will not reign among Southern Republicans. Southerners of this party need admit that in many congressional districts they poll a negligible vote or none at all; and yet they protest that they have borne the heat and burden of the political warfare in the South with tenacious fidelity to the party of Lincoln and Roosevelt. They concede that the shrinkage in the number of offices incident to the coming of prohibition and the elimination of a vast army of revenue officers has made Republicanism less attractive to those who follow on for the loaves and fishes; still they assert that this is no way to build up a strong Republican organization in southern states.

But apparently the Old Guard leaders are determined on surgery. Hiram Johnson indorses the idea, evidently calculating that he has little influence in these parts, anyway. Democrats observe the workings of this electoral reform with much satisfaction, convinced that it postpones the day when their party lines may be broken, because of its possibilities for breaking southern Republicans from voting the Republican ticket.

After a short visit here, Mrs. Sneed and Mrs. Witherspoon will leave for points down the east coast to spend the remainder of the winter season.

EVERY WEEK Bridge Club.
 Among the delightful social affairs of Thursday afternoon was the bridge party given by Mrs. G. F. Smith at her home on Magnolia Avenue. The guests were the members of the Every Week Bridge Club and one extra table of players.

The color motif of red and green prevailed in the decorations, quantities of exquisite red roses being used. After a number of absorbing games of bridge were played, scores were counted and prizes awarded. Mrs. Forrest Lake holding high score among the club members and Miss Wilkey, held high score among the guests. Both were presented bridge pencils and markers.

Mrs. Smith served a delicious salad course with ice cream and fruit cake as refreshments.

Among those enjoying this pleasant afternoon were Mrs. S. D. Chittenden, Mrs. E. M. Galloway, Mrs. M. H. Mabry, Mrs. D. L. Thrasher, Miss Katherine Wilkey, Mrs. Forrest Lake, Mrs. Raymond Key, Mrs. S. E. Barrett, Mrs. Walter Wright, Mrs. J. G. Sharon, Mrs. W. J. Thigpen, and Mrs. L. P. McCuller.

G. I. A. PARTY.
 The approach of the Christmas season was evidenced in every detail of the delightful party given at the home of Mrs. Lilja on Wednesday evening, with Mesdames Lilja, Walthom, Bandy and Lyles as hostesses.

The color scheme of red and green was most effectively carried out in the decoration of the entire lower floor by the use of quantities of poinsettias and red roses combined with ferns and Christmas wreaths. Large Christmas bells adorned the doorways and chandeliers. In the dining-room the table was centered with a lovely "four-tier" birthday cake surrounded by silver candlesticks holding red candles.

During the evening Mrs. Robert Walthom rendered an exquisite musical program which was greatly enjoyed by the guests, and Miss Geraldine Muriel delighted her hearers with several highly entertaining readings given in a most charming manner.

The hostesses, whose birthdays were being celebrated, were showered with a number of lovely towels. These were opened and much admired.

At a late hour delicious refreshments of congealed fruit salad, fruit cakes, olives, orange biscuit, fruit cake, pound cake and hot chocolate were served.

This was the last, but by no means the least, of a series of parties given during the year by the G. I. A. members and was thoroughly enjoyed by Mesdames Brubaker, Metcalf, Tyre, Lilja, Grow, Jenkins, Smith, Torrance, Moye, Griffin, McConnell, Crossby, Calhoun, Gunter, Courrier, Bandy, Crawford, Telford, Moye, Tapp, Lyle, Walthom, Singleton, Taylor, Stevens, Minarik, Bayless, and the Misses Ida Grey and Geraldine Muriel.

JUNIOR PLAY A SUCCESS.

In fine fashion and with a large crowd in attendance, the Junior class of Sanford High staged the annual junior play in the High school auditorium, Thursday evening.

The comedy, "Lost, a Chaperone," was played in beautiful style by the 1923 Juniors, who worked faithfully for several weeks under direction of Mrs. R. C. Maxwell and Mrs. G. E. McKay.

The plot of the play was very clever. It happened that there was a girl's camp and a boy's camp within a mile of each other. The girl's chaperone had missed her train and had failed to arrive at camp, greatly frightening the young ladies. However, with a display of bravado each tried to show her camp-mates how brave she was. Three of the girls discovered the boy's camp, one of whom was a cousin of a member of the girl's camp. The girls enter the camp at different times, and it is very amusing to see the surprise of both parties when one of the girls walked unexpectedly into the boys' camp.

George Higgins, acted by Lee Peck, had all of his clothes wet and was compelled to stay in his tent while his chum, George Abbott, taken by Warner Scoggin, entertained the girls as they came into the camp. The other camper, Fred, taken by John Brumley, finished the trio of campers in Higgins' outfit.

After each of the three girls had finished berating him to get his camp-mates and come over to scare the rest of the girls that night, the three boys decided to give them a real, sure bluff scare. They borrowed some old coats from a party of young engineers who are camping near them and set out for the girls' camp. After they leave their own camp, the young engineers, Raymond Fitz Honery, part taken by Harry Woodruff, Dick Norton, by Harton Mabry, and Tom Crosby, by Albert Connelly, decide to pull a bigger surprise by rescuing the marauding Yale boys. They capture Higgins' disguised gang, who in the meantime have frightened the girls nearly to death and were, at the time of the capture, eating them out of "house and home." About this time the chaperone arrives, who proves to be Higgins' mother and the climax is thrilling with its many funny explanations.

The girl characters were taken by Jean Maxwell, Mildred Holly, Vidua Shipp, Georgia Mobley and Olive Newman, who played their roles more than creditably. During the first act the girls were visited by a farmer's wife and daughters, who threw the entire house into fits of laughter. These parts were taken in their best manner by Carol Stone, Florence and Dorothy Mero. The chaperone's part was taken by Nina Mae Cook, who showed that she had the real spirit of a chaperone.

Among the boys, all did their parts well. Lee Peck and Harry Woodruff made a regular hit with the house.

Between acts the High School orchestra, which is one of the best in the state, gave the audience a keen bit of enjoyment. Miss Mary Stoinoff and Joe Reisenstein rendered a violin duet, accompanied by Mrs. Wagner. This part of the evening's program was highly appreciated. A specialty act, "The Gossips," put on by four junior girls, was very much enjoyed.

Lee Peck sang a solo between the second and third acts which was highly enjoyed. Readings of keen interest were given by the Misses Margaret Cowan and Janet MacFarlane. The Schirard boys, John and Bernard, gave one of their cornet and saxophone duets which never fail to please an audience.

ANNUAL BALL.

The attention of the members of the Social Department of the Woman's Club is called to Article VIII. in the club by-laws regarding the annual ball:

"Each member is entitled to a complimentary invitation for husband or escort. Also, each member may have the privilege of inviting two guests by paying one dollar for each invitation. The invitation may be secured by sending in writing the names of the guests, the remittance and the member's cards to be enclosed, with the invitation, to the chairman of the invitation committee. Any named deemed ineligible by the committee shall be referred to the board."

"All invitations must be issued in the name of the Social Department." Mrs. W. A. Fitts, chairman of the Social Department urges all the members to hand in their guests names by next week, so that the invitations can be mailed promptly. The ball will be held on Dec. 28.

EAST-SIDE PRIMARY PARENT-TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

A very interesting meeting of the East Side Parent-Teachers' Association was held Thursday afternoon at the East Side School.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. H. C. Dufosse, and much business transacted. Miss Abbie Doudney, the county nurse, gave a very instructive talk and also gave out pamphlets and books that will prove helpful to the mothers and teachers. Mrs. Dufosse appointed the following committees:

Program—Mrs. W. Morton Thigpen.

Press—Mrs. Fred Daiger.

School Grounds—Mrs. W. J. Morrison.

Mrs. R. C. Bower, Mrs. A. L. Betts, and Mrs. Fred Daiger.

Child Welfare—Mrs. Forrest Gatchel.

Hostesses—Mrs. A. M. Phillips, Mrs. E. Higgins, Mrs. Lamb, and Mrs. Brown.

Parent—Mrs. Brown.

The next meeting will be held on the second Thursday in January, and it is hoped that every mother in the East Side School will attend.

The meetings are most inspiring and bring a closer relationship between the homes and the schools.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Master Julian Stenstrom, the bright young son of Mr. and Mrs. Orin Stenstrom, was host at a lovely party Thursday afternoon at his home on Laurel Avenue, in celebration of his fourth birthday anniversary.

Red and green, the Christmas colors were used to advantage in the various rooms, and lovely bowls of roses and pansies were placed on mantles and cabinets. Games of all kinds were played during the afternoon, the little tots being assisted in these by Thelma Minor, Junitta Smith and Katherine Tillis.

Late in the afternoon the children were invited into the dining room for refreshments. The dining table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with the large birthday cake led by white and topped with four tiny red tapers in rose holders. Refreshments of ice cream topped with poinsettia stick-ups and cakes were served.

Master Stenstrom was the recipient of many beautiful gifts and proved himself a delightful host. He was assisted in entertaining his guests by his mother, Mrs. Orin Stenstrom, and Mrs. Mahlon Wright, Mrs. Frank Adams and Mrs. A. W. Smith.

About 40 children enjoyed this happy occasion.

An exhibition of pictures for the purpose of raising funds for the purchase of pictures for the local school rooms will be held in the Grammar School next week. It is said the collection will be an unusually fine one and a more than ordinary interest.

In addition to the pictures on display will be the privilege of inspecting every class room. The teachers of the various classes will welcome visitors and become acquainted with them. The children are eager to have the parents visit their rooms and appreciate the excellent and attractive accommodations which your tax money is providing for them.

Rooms and exhibitions will be open for inspection from 3 to 5 o'clock on the afternoons of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week. Principal and teachers extend a cordial invitation to every one interested in the schools and children, to be present on one of these afternoons. The small admission fee of 10 cents will be charged for adults, but all school children are admitted free.

IDEAL HOUR BRIDGE CLUB.

One of the prettiest of the Christmas bridge parties was that of Thursday afternoon, when Mrs. Endor Curlett entertained members of the Ideal Hour Bridge Club and a few other guests at her attractive home in Geneva.

The card tables were placed on the sun-porch overlooking the spacious lawn now a riot of color with the flaming poinsettias and other fall flowers.

Scores were kept on cunning Santa Claus tables and the afternoon passed all too quickly in the spirited game of bridge. Mrs. G. D. Hart holding high score among the club members was given a lovely potted fern. Mrs. E. P. Morse won the guest prize, also a potted fern. The low score prize, a small dog went to Mrs. John Meisch.

Following the awarding of the prizes, Mrs. Curlett served Mary Ann cake topped with whipped cream, stuffed dates, candy and coffee. The favors were miniature poinsettia baskets filled with salted nuts.

Those enjoying the cordial hospitality of Mrs. Curlett were Mrs. John Bender, Mrs. John Meisch, Mrs. Harry Heeger, Mrs. G. D. Hart, Mrs. Ludwig, Mrs. Redpath of Orlando, Mrs. Wagner, Mrs. E. Roland Reed, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. E. P. Morse, Mrs. Feitner of Osceola, Mrs. Eichnor, and Mrs. Charles Brumley of St. Augustine.

THIRTEEN BRIDGE CLUB.

Mrs. A. B. Wallace was hostess Thursday afternoon, entertaining at bridge, the guests being the members of the Thirteen Bridge Club.

The rooms were most attractively decorated with vases of red roses together with Christmas suggestions. Marking the places of the players were dainty Christmas tables, and the afternoon was merrily spent, with an interesting game of bridge. The prize for high score, a lovely luncheon set, was won by Mrs. F. E. Roumillat.

At the conclusion of the card game, Mrs. Wallace served a tempting salad course.

The guest list included Mrs. B. L. Perkins, Mrs. R. A. Newman, Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. John McNamear, Mrs. W. C. Hill, Mrs. Claude Howard, Mrs. F. E. Roumillat, and Mrs. G. D. Bishop.

In The World Of Sports

Walter Camp Gives Football Features Of 1923 Grid Year

- 1—Loosening up of line play.
- 2—Broadening of base in backfield from which attack radiates.
- 3—Replacement of bulky line-men by more rangy type.
- 4—Distribution of weight tending out to tackle and ends.
- 5—More concealment of intention in forward passing.
- 6—Improvement of the defense to forward passing.
- 7—Recognition of "boomerang" effect of intercepted passes.
- 8—Increase of speed in backfield.
- 9—Improvement in covering kicks.
- 10—Greater reliance on field goals.
- 11—More mental sagacity and initiative in players.
- 12—Increased overorganization in coaching and scouting staffs.
- 13—Increasing tendency to the use of more men in a game.
- 14—Greater dependence upon individuals as specialists.
- 15—Better and wider placing of men on defense.

Jeffries Will Train Firpo
BAKERSFIELD, Cal., Dec. 14.—James J. Jeffries, former heavy-weight champion of the world, has accepted an offer to train Luis Angel Firpo, the "Wild Bull of the Pampas." Jeffries told a representative of the Bakersfield Morning Echo, at Taft, last night, where the former champion refereed a boxing bout. Jeffries' contract to train Firpo is said to call for a remuneration of about $75,000. Jeffries is quoted as declaring "Firpo will be a wonder when he has learned to use both hands."

It has been a great struggle, perhaps the greatest in football history, and on the sectional fields of battle the following scarred and battered teams are still wiggling: Pacific Coast, California, (undefeated); Middle West, Illinois and Michigan (both averaging one thousand per cent in the Conference); East, Yale and Cornell (both undefeated); South, Vanderbilt and Washington and Lee. If the two best teams, whichever they are, could be picked from the list, couldn't they provide an exciting afternoon!

OLD GAME OF FOOTBALL IS GOING ASSERTS WALTER CAMP IN REVIEW

In reviewing the 1923 football season in "Collier's, the National Weekly," Walter Camp lays particular stress upon the evolution that is going on in the game. The loosening of the play of the line, the broadening in the backfield of the base from which the plays radiate, the improvement in methods of concealing the ball on rushes and of concealing the intent on forward passes, and the increased ability of teams in defending against the pass are prime elements in this evolution, Mr. Camp relates.

The former Yale star goes on to point out the gain that usually comes to a team and to a coach who dare to take chances with innovations with sound fundamentals on which to base them. Mr. Camp implies that, if enough major elevens cast their lot with this progressive school of football, there is serious danger of the defenses being outstripped by the strides of the attack.

The increasing advantages of this changing modern game to the spectator are the subject of a series of interesting paragraphs in which Mr. Camp points out the clear manner in which the man with the ball is "hiloetted" behind his interference. The critic adds, however, that this feature of the play is not so apparent to the defending eleven, which must peer through a swirling mass of players to find the runner.

Mr. Camp ascribes Harvard's failure this season to the fact that the Crimson "tried no football it had not played for the last six years." And, inferentially, he attributes much of Yale's success to the fact that the Elis were bristling with new and daring football which swept their chief rivals off their feet. Mr. Camp believes that the Maryland game, in which Yale at one time was trailing by 14 to 0, was a boon to the Eli coaches, who thus were shown the weakness of their eleven before an open attack.

FURED BY FACULTY

EAST LANSING, Mich., Dec. 14.—Maurice J. Taylor, captain of the 1923 Michigan Agriculture College football team, and Richard Demerel, member of the squad, have been indefinitely suspended, Dean Robert S. Shaw, acting president, announced late Wednesday.

Four other men, whose names were withheld, were placed on indefinite probation. The action followed charges that the six men attended a fraternity dance under the influence of liquor and proceeded to disrupt the party. Taylor and Demerel were expelled from the fraternity of which they were members.

but them up to this. Go out there and get that band away from here this minute. Then I'll attend to you later." I got the band away all right. And I got meself away with it. We reached Dinty's just as the pinochle tournament was about to start. "Did it work, Jiggs?" Dinty asked me.

"It worked fine," said I to Dinty. "But if you don't mind, Dinty, I'll stay the night with you. I've just got a feeling somehow, that I would be more comfortable at your house than I would be at home. Deal me in!" Copyright, 1922. International Feature Serv. Inc.
