

Sanford Ten, Orlando Nothing

This is the story. We hate to chronicle such a sad tale. It takes away some of the prestige that the Sandspur League has enjoyed all season—that of playing such good ball that the scores were kept in bounds. Such a score looks like the Bingville Bugle games, but the result is what counts, and even the Orlando score keeper acknowledges that in spite of all his efforts the Orlando team could not make a pass. They just came out the same old way. It seems that Ray, the new southpaw recently acquired by Manager Stevens was responsible for some of this funeral notice. He has a habit of doing this way and could not hold himself in and the Tourists broke their backs trying to connect with his benders and stem winders.

Jimmy Windham and Corporal Vaiden occupied the mound for the Tourists, but they could not prevent the Tourists from slugging the hoarsehide every time they came to the bat and Orlando fans were forced to sit out eight innings and see the Tourists led to the slaughter while the Collegians batted their finest pitchers all over the lot. At the end of eight innings the referee stopped the fight. Several ladies were already hysterical and Orlando fans had to be taken off the field to the Elks' Club. The Sanford fans meantime had several attacks of apoplexy and it was decided to stop the slaughter. The police interfered and took the Orlando players home in the ambulance.

This said that Orlando is making arrangements for Rube Marquard to pitch the game next Thursday. Either that or else they will tie their pitcher's right hand behind his back and force him to fling left handed balls. Somehow Orlando has a great respect for a southpaw since yesterday's game. In closing the funeral oration we will render the following requiem set to figures:

Table with columns for player names and statistics (AB, R, H, PO, A, E). Includes totals for Sanford and Orlando.

Summary: Three base hits, Roberts. Two base hits, Lowe, Bowen and Windham. Stolen bases, Brittain, Wofford, Moreland, Ray. Hit by pitcher, Farmer, Ray and Bennett.

Left on bases, Sanford 8, Orlando 6. Base on balls, off Windham 1, Vaiden 1, Ray 2. Struck out by Windham 0, Vaiden 3, Ray 12. Umpires, Morrow and Tilden. Time, 1:46.

Cheney's Water Works Again

We have called attention to Cheney's water works before. The Hon. J. M. is now Federal Judge or will be, having been slated for the position, and we do not trifle with Judge Cheney. We are now talking about John Cheney, manager of the Orlando Water Works, electric light, gas and ice works and well able to manage everything else in Orlando or any other seaport. Resuming our resume about how nicely Mr. Cheney had the water gauge perfected in Orlando we ventured to remark the other day that he could turn on or off the water at his pleasure, and if it looked threatening for the Tourists he never failed to have it rain at the proper time. This is as it should be, for no well regulated water man ought to have any trouble in controlling the elements. Any one who has controlled the elements and the city council should have no trouble in a simple thing like rain water. Last Friday the Tourists were badly crippled and it just seemed as though they were up against it hard and defeat stared them in the face. The players were worried, the fans were worried, the directors were worried and gloom sat upon the spire of the court house and percolating down through the roof sat playfully upon the broad shoulders of B. M. Robinson.

What could be done to prevent the invasion of the victorious Collegians who were even then knocking at the city gates. Like Achilles of old, Mr. Cheney was routed from his tent and came to the relief of his stricken countrymen (accent on the country) with a smile on his face.

Nothing easier! Go back to your homes and eat the midday lunch! I have the solving of the solution already solved by the solution that dissolves. Pressing the button Mr. Cheney turned on a gentle drizzle and when the Collegicus demanded entrance into the beleagured city they were phoned that it was raining so hard that there was absolutely nothing doing. Mr. Cheney and all his cohorts then marched back to the tents under the San Juan porte cochere to the sounding brass and tinkling cymbals and tinkling glasses and the agony was over. They slept.

But they had not reckoned on Ulysses in the shape of Mayor Spencer and Wallace who crept through the city gates, where the rains from Cheney's water works had washed away the asphaltum and viewed for themselves the wonders of the rain maker.

No rain was falling then and none fell afterward. They proved that by Gray Rush and several others who were on the grounds, looking for errors that had dropped from Louis Dolive's error book.

There was no game! The rain maker had succeeded in saving his army from defeat. Leave it to Manager Cheney and the irrigation question is solved. And just for that we soaked the city yesterday in the tone of ten to nothing—but that is another story.

Soaking Express Companies

Sweeping reductions in express rates averaging, in general, approximately 15 per cent, drastic reforms in regulations and practices, and comprehensive changes in the methods of operation, are prescribed in a report recently made public by the Interstate commerce commission of its investigation into the business of the thirteen great express companies of the United States.

Dealing with the identity of interest between the various companies, the report finds that while these companies are separate legal entities, "it is of interest to regard this fact that by stock ownership and otherwise they are so interlaced, intertwined, and interlocked that it is with difficulty we can trace any one of the great companies as either wholly independent in its management or the agency of a single railroad system. So that while these companies operate separately and compete with each other for traffic, the express business may be said to be almost a family affair. An interesting genealogical tree in fact, might be drawn, showing a common ancestry in all of the larger companies. And while many names may be used to designate these companies, it is within the fact to say that aside from the operations of the minor and distinctively railroad express companies, the express business of the United States is managed by not more than three groups of interest."

McCombs Will Be Manager

Chicago, Ill., July 15.—In fullest harmony and deferring to Governor Wilson, the Democratic national convention WW the Democratic national committee in session here today selected W. F. McCombs, the New York lawyer, as chairman, which position carries with it the command of the Democratic national campaign.

McCombs is the man who approved himself so fully in the conduct of the campaign for the nomination. Previous to convening all members predicted an absolutely harmonious meeting.

It is supposed that Joseph E. Davis will be named as secretary of the committee. William F. McAdoo of New York, who was one of the staunchest supporters Wilson had from the Empire state at the Baltimore convention, may be named treasurer. There is also talk of giving this place to Herman Ridder, publisher of the great German paper, the New York Staats-Zeitung, or to ex-Gov. David R. Francis of Missouri or Edwin F. Goltra, national committeeman from Missouri.

FAMOUS "DOMEHEAD" PLAYS ON MAJOR LEAGUE DIAMONDS

Explained by Leading Baseball Players to

HUGH S. FULLERTON

BY CLARK GRIFFITH, Manager Washington Team, Who is Known as "The Old Fox" and is One of the Wisest Men in Baseball.

There never was any hard luck except mine. Whenever I hear them tell hard luck stories I think to myself that they don't know what it is. For in reference to hard luck and well laid plans going wrong I have a real instance on my mind that always will remain there. It is the losing of the American league pennant to the Boston club in 1904. The race had narrowed down to New York and Boston. We both came east from our last western trip with one point separating us. There were five more games to be played, all between New York and Boston. The Boston team had three out of the five would win the pennant. All these five games were to be played in New York, on our own grounds, one on Friday, two on Saturday, and two on Monday, and we came east believing that we had every advantage and the pennant right in our grasp. The first bad luck was when we discovered that Owner Farrell, not thinking that we would be in the race at all, had in the middle of the season leased the Highlanders' park to the Columbia university team for football on Saturday. That made it necessary to transfer the two Saturday games to Boston. We beat Boston on Friday 3 to 2, and this put us where we only had to break even in the next four games to win. Chesbro had pitched the Friday game I did my planning and decided to pitch Jack Powell the two games in Boston on Saturday, and to leave Chesbro at home to get a good rest over Sunday and to be ready to pitch the two games on Monday if it became necessary, knowing that with two days of good rest he could do it. When I got down to the depot that night there was Chesbro begging to go with us to Boston. Some fool friends of his had notified him that they intended to present him with diamond cuff buttons in Boston, and he was wild to go. I could not refuse him under the circumstances, but those $8 diamond cuff buttons cost us the championship. Chesbro was crazy to pitch, and he warmed up in Boston and declared he felt better than at any time during his life. I was angry because I had wanted him to rest, and refused him. He almost cried and said he had repeated numerous times during the season and always had won (which was true). I still said "no," that we couldn't take the chance. Then Chesbro got Keeler, Elberfeld and all the boys to come to me and beg me to let him pitch. Powell came to me and said he would keep warmed up and be ready to relieve Chesbro in the first game. I fell for it, seeing Chesbro already had warmed up and my plan of resting him was spoiled. He was good for four innings, but before anyone could relieve him in the next Boston made six runs and the game was lost. We hit Dineen hard and made six runs ourselves, and had Powell pitched we would have won easily. Powell and Cy Young met in the second game and Boston won 1 to 0. The one run was scored on the rankest kind of luck. A ball thrown from the outfield to Conroy got by him and hit a man on the foot, allowing the run to score. The ball would not have rolled five feet from Conroy, but the crowd had pushed up to within three feet of third base. This made it necessary for us to win both games on Monday, and

In the first game, in the ninth inning with two out and two strikes on Farrell, Chesbro let his split ball slip for a wild pitch and gave Boston the game. We won the next 1 to 0, but the pennant was done.

If there ever was harder luck than that I don't want to hear of it (Copyright, 1912, by W. O. Chapman.)

We sometimes hear of people being killed by kindness; about one in every ten billion.

HAPPENINGS DURING THE WEEK

Here the Readers Will Find a Brief Historical Spring Flowing For Hurried Readers

Many railroads would face bankruptcy if the pending demands of the various classes of employees for increase of wages should be granted, said B. A. Worthington, when he resumed his argument in behalf of fifty eastern railroads before the arbitration committee in New York, which is deciding the wage dispute.

Carmel Thompson of Ohio has entered upon his duties as secretary to President Taft. Thompson is the fourth secretary Taft has had since his election.

Missionaries report that the bubonic plague is spreading at an alarming rate.

Further arrests in the murder case of Herman Rosenthal, the New York gambler, who was shot down early yesterday, a few hours before he was to tell the district attorney of the police protection of gamblers, are expected to disclose whether the police or the gamblers plotted to kill Rosenthal. Several men are under the eyes of the police.

A body was found floating Monday in the Hudson, which has been identified as that of Nathan Swartz, indicted for the murder of Julia Connors, in the Bronx on July 7. It is believed that he committed suicide. Swartz confessed to his father and sister that he had entered the girl to a vacant flat near her home and there attempted to assault her, that when she began to scream he struck her repeatedly with a pocket knife. He then placed the body in the box where it was found, and later conveyed it to a vacant lot.

Sentence upon John Mitchell, the labor leader, for contempt of court, in connection with the famous Buck stove and Range case, has been postponed. President Gompers and Secretary Morrison, of the American Federation of Labor, have been given one year, and six months, respectively.

Postmaster General Frank Hitchcock told the Senate investigating committee that the Republican campaign fund of 1908 amounted to $1,658,580.25. He said that none came from any corporation and nearly all the donations were less than $500.

Plans for reorganizing the army are being threshed out by Secretary of War Stimson in a council at Washington. Two plans are under consideration. One would create a reserve composed of men who had served their enlistment in the regulars, and who, for small pay, would report at stated times for drill and inspection. The other plan would bring the army up to full war strength and eliminate the reserve idea.

The legislative dispensary committee will meet in Columbia today to hear further evidence in connection with the old dispensary system and activities of state officials. The principal witness before the committee will be Sam Nicholls, the Spartanburg lawyer, who was involved in the testimony of Detective Reed, at the Augusta hearing. Nicholls was represented as the go-between to secure a pardon for which $15,000 was to have been paid. Mr. Nicholls promises to develop compensations. He states that he will prove the accusations false and that he also will prove the telegram he is said to have sent saying the pardon was granted, as faked. It is also expected that several blind tigger operators from Charleston will be present to tell what they know of the present organized system of graft in force there at present.

Sanford Wins
A contest has been going on among Congregational Sunday schools of Florida as to attendance gained during seven months of last winter. This contest was based upon the percentage of average attendance gained over the corresponding months of the year before. The school gained 47.5 per cent and stands at the head of all the Congregational schools of the state. The nearest competitor was Coconut Grove which gained 19.1 per cent in attendance, then came West Palm Beach with a gain of 13.7 per cent. Prizes are to be given.

EFFECTS OF BOND ELECTION

Property Increases In Value And Trade Is Increased

It is believed generally by the residents of Sanford that the victory for brick roads at the election held here for the purpose last Saturday is the most advanced step yet taken by the progressive spirits who have the good welfare of Sanford at heart. It has been pointed out that the school system of the counties made little or no progress until such measures were passed as would allow the individual sections or portions of counties to act as units in arranging for buildings and equipment such as they believed they should have. This brought about a large degree of healthy competition between the various portions of counties with the result that the effort was in all cases fraught with the very best possible results.

The voting of $200,000 for the purpose of building twenty-two miles of brick road in this section of Orange county is believed to be a epoch in road building and suburban and rural development, such as has never taken place in this county. The intensive system of culture in vegetable raising has made the rural unit of farm ownership a more desirable acre and this in turn has been the direct cause of building up a very large suburban population, but this line of development has been retarded by the poor roads at the service of the county resident, even though these roads have been built of clay and marl and such other materials as have been available. Now that we are to have brick roads it is believed that those farm operators who live in Sanford will at once hire themselves back to the land just as soon as the roads are available for use. That the building of these roads will have the influence of enhancing property values is demonstrated by the fact that owners of property along the line of proposed road are now asking 25 per cent more for their property than prior to the election. So it will be seen that the idea of good substantial roads does not only have to do with the drawing of larger roads but also adds dollars to one's land account.

The territory to be served by this special road and bridge district is comprised of seventy-two sections of land and the twenty-two miles of brick roads will run through, or between, thirty-six of these sections and forty-eight of the sections will be within one mile or less of the roads, thus making their service to the territory about as potential as the same number of miles could well be. The roads will be distributed over the following routes: Out Celery avenue to the Osteen ferry, the width being sixteen feet; south from Celery avenue on Beardall avenue to Cameron City, east from Beardall avenue on Geneva avenue to the new steel drawbridge across the river at that point. The bridge is now completed and is in daily use south on the Sanford Orlando road to Robinson's Springs, west on First street to Sylvan Lake, north from First street on Monroe avenue to the ferry across the St. Johns river, which leads to DeLand.

NEW RIVER STEAMER

City of Sanford Is Being Constructed Now

WILL BE PLACED IN SANFORD

Clyde Line Gives Contract For Fine New Steamer For St. Johns River Run

Contract for the construction of a palatial new steel river steamer for the Clyde St. Johns river line has been awarded to the Merrill-Stevens Company of Jacksonville, work to commence at once and rushed with all possible speed to a conclusion.

With the award of this contract the expression of "built in Jacksonville" will be added to the term "made in Jacksonville." As stated, the new vessel will be built of steel and will be much larger than the City of Jacksonville and the Frederick DeBary, now being operated by the river line to Sanford and up river points. She will have a length of 187 feet and a breadth of beam of 42 feet and will register 700 tons.

Securing this valuable contract is a great triumph for the Merrill-Stevens Company, inasmuch as the local firm won out in competition with several northern shipbuilding firms, easily putting it over its competitors both in design and contract price.

It is understood that the steamer is to take the place of the steamer Frederick DeBary on the run with the City of Jacksonville during the winter months.

The vessel contracted for, the name of which is not decided upon as yet, but which will perhaps be called the City of Sanford, will be of a rather unique construction, in which she will have a recessed stern wheel of special construction. She is to have four decks with a pilot house on top of a Texas. The decks will be a main, saloon, hurricane and Texas. On the Texas deck will be the captain's cabin and quarters for the pilots, also six special staterooms and a smoking room. In all the vessel will have forty-two staterooms, measuring six and one-half by six and one-half feet. She is to be electrically lighted and will have steam steering gear.

The motive power of the new boat will be double Corliss engines with Scotch boilers of 1,000 horsepower, through which she will attain a speed of fourteen miles an hour. She will also have a carrying capacity of three hundred tons of freight. Her draft will be five feet.

The new steamer will be a coal burner. She will have four rudders, and with her extra powerful steering gear will be enabled to turn the many crooked bends of the river in short order. The dining room of the vessel is to be amidship, on the saloon deck, the galley being on the main deck, a dumb waiter connecting the two with the pantry aft of the dining room. The vessel is to be entirely "built in Jacksonville" and according to A. D. Stevens of the Merrill-Stevens Company will be a handsome product and one which will be a great credit to the city. Times-Union.

The Brusies Are Good

The three Brusie Sisters at the Imperial Theatre this week are worthy of more than passing notice. The little tots hardly more than babies show remarkable talent and in their songs and sketches have won a warm spot in the hearts of the people. They show the effects of careful training and their voices have range seldom seen in children so young. Mr. Brusie is a former Sanford resident, and while he expected to have good houses here at each performance is more than pleased at the great outpouring of people that have crowded the Imperial nightly and wishes to thank the people of Sanford for their liberal patronage. The little girls are entitled to full credit and The Herald can recommend the Three Brusies to the other cities who expect to have them during the season.

Sanford Wins

Sanford wins on her $200,000 bonding plan for brick roads in the Sanford district. For Sanford we are glad and also ashamed for Orlando. We believed in a unification of road interests in the county, but as that has failed, we presume the only thing left is to go it by districts. If Orlando follows Sanford it will be rough on the smaller places, but we must have roads. Let Orlando District wake up.—Orlando Citizen.

ANOTHER NEW DRAWBRIDGE

Sanford-New Smyrna Drawbridge Will Be Constructed

The county commissioners in conjunction with the residents of New Smyrna and Osteen, have arranged to build a bridge across the St. Johns river at the Osteen ferry. Plans and specifications have already been drawn and have been submitted to the war department for approval and as soon as this consent is received the contract will be let and the bridge built. The road which has just been cut through on a straight line north from First street to the Monroe ferry at Monroe, being on Monroe avenue is now passable for automobiles from DeLand and the coast and is a very great improvement over the line formerly used. This road, while new, is in fairly good condition and connects direct with the clay road on First street.

The residents of the new road and bridge districts are now anxious to have work commence on the roads at once.

The county commissioners met in special session last Monday and approved the vote taken Saturday and after the necessary legal advertising of the district has been completed the bonds will then be available for sale and work will at once commence on the building and be prosecuted as rapidly as possible.

Change In Business

A change occurred in the personnel of the B. & O. Garage this week. Oliver Hays retiring from the firm and in the future Bob Holland will have the entire business himself. The B. & O. has been very popular with the public since its inception over one year ago. Besides selling the Overland and Buick cars the B. & O. has had a first class machine shop in connection and has made a specialty of treating sick cars to the entire satisfaction of the owners. There is no more popular automobile man in the state than Bob Holland, and has many friends are rejoicing over the fact that he will continue to serve them in Sanford. The firm will be known as formerly, the B. & O. Garage and the same stand will be maintained. In a few days Mr. Holland will have a most important announcement to make to the people who are contemplating purchasing new cars. Don't buy a car until you see his new advertisement in The Herald, because he will save you money on the best self-starting car that is made and it will be right up to the minute with electric lights and all the conveniences. It will especially appeal to the ladies who are becoming the greatest lovers of autos in the city.

Booster Day At Ball Park

At a meeting of the Sanford Base Ball Association held on Wednesday it was decided to give a Booster Day at the ball park and the date was decided for next Thursday, July 25. On that day there will be a fine game of ball between Sanford and Orlando and all the neighboring cities will be invited to come in and watch us put on over one the Orlando team. The game will occur at Holden Park and ought to attract a large crowd, for the two teams have attained a state wide reputation for the many good games they have put up during the season. The day is arranged for the faithful to come across with an extra admission, in order to help out the team and every lover of good ball should be there. The admission will be 50 cents and special tickets will be sold in advance.

The Panama Canal

Everybody right now is interested in the Panama Canal and in order to satisfy the curiosity of the people who cannot afford to make a trip to Colon Manager Herndon has arranged to give a moving picture of the Great Ditch and will show them at the Star tonight and tomorrow night. The pictures are said to faithfully portray the magnitude of this great work that has cost the U. S. so much time and money, and when completed will be the wonder of the world. Some of us may never have the opportunity of seeing the work at close range and the moving pictures will give an accurate idea of the canal and all the work that is now going on at Panama.

Next Thursday will be Boosters' Day at Holden Park and all the loyal fans are expected to turn out and not only root the home team to victory, but put more money into the treasury.

CULLED FROM THE STATE PRESS

An Epitome of the Week's Most Important Happenings in the State's Domain.

W. B. Ogden, the first to make a shipment of avocados this season, has a tree from which he took 49 dozen fruit last year. Some of his trees have a very small crop, but those bearing at all are so loaded down props have had to be placed under the branches.—Miami Herald.

Actual work on the new home for the Elks in Tampa, will not begin before the last of September or the first of October. The plans selected for the club house are said to be very attractive and the interior arrangement is splendid.

The county commissioners met in special session at Plant City to submit a $65,000 bonding proposition to the voters of Plant City, the proposed bond issue to be divided among sewerage, city jail and hall and to liquidate present floating indebtedness.

The streets in West Palm Beach have been posted and the houses numbered. The postoffice department at Washington has been notified of this and the free delivery of mail will soon be inaugurated at West Palm Beach.

Everything being satisfactorily arranged the call for the state meeting at Kissimmee to organize the State Chamber of Commerce has been issued. The meeting will be held August 15th and most of the Boards of Trade in Florida will be represented. Three delegates from each body will be present. These delegates will be the presidents, secretaries and one member from each organization.

Two men, having been found dead Monday morning by the railroad track about four miles southwest of Lakeland on the A. C. L. The men were evidently sitting on the track in a drunken condition Sunday night when struck by the train, as a half filled whiskey bottle lay beside them. No marks of identification could be found on their bodies, and while awaiting information relative to their identities, a subscription has been secured to embalm them. They will then be held until claimed. One of the men is apparently about 25 years old. The other is ten years older. The only thing they had in their pockets was a shoe horn bearing the advertisement of Wolf Shoe Co., of Mulberry.

The illicit sale and use of cocaine and other poisonous drugs, which exist in Tampa, among the negroes, despite the vigilance of the authorities, is believed largely to be the blame for Tuesday's rioting, in which four were killed and two wounded. Bob Harris, a negro, after taking a large dose of cocaine, it is believed, started out to shoot at every person who attracted his attention. Those shot and killed by him are Annie Andrews, Jack Hall and Virginia Simpkins, while bullet fired by Harris wounded Mary Miller, a negro girl, and Patrolman J. T. Riggs of the police department, formerly captain of police. Policemen who arrived on the scene chased Harris into a house, in which the negro barricaded himself, firing at every person who came within range. Riggs opened the door to rescue one of the wounded women, who later died, and was shot in the left arm and right leg. Officers set the house on fire with gasoline and this drove the negro out, when he was shot by several men and instantly killed. The fire department was on the scene to assist in the capture and to put out the fire, after it had done its work. Harris' body was taken to the Reed undertaking establishment, and all yesterday afternoon men and boys struggled to get inside to see the body. Most of them were denied admission.

"But If Not—"

At the Congregational church next Sunday night Mr. Waldron will give the second in his series of "Four Young Men Who Dared." This sermon entitled, "But If Not..." tells of three of the four. Services begin at 7:30 sharp. A cordial invitation is extended to all. Sunday school opens at 10:00 a. m. and morning preaching at 11:00.

CLYDE WILL START EARLY

River Steamer Service Will Begin On September 1st

Two more Sunday excursions are to be made by the steamer Frederick DeBary, of the Clyde St. Johns river line, to Green Cove Springs, after which she will be taken off the run and given her annual overhauling. This is the information given out by B. F. Ford, manager of that branch of the Clyde's service in this city.

"You can say also," continued Mr. Ford, in his conversation yesterday with a representative of the Times-Union, "that we will this year start our daily service to Sanford forty-five days earlier than heretofore. This means that both the City of Jacksonville and the Frederick DeBary will go into service September 1.

"After the Frederick DeBary has made her excursion trip on Sunday, July 23, she will be hauled off for her annual overhauling, after which she will take the place of the City of Jacksonville, which is now performing the service."—Times-Union.

Nothing In A Daily

Apropos of the promised new daily paper. "Tis no funeral of ours, for we are not operating a daily nor a job printing office. Neither could possibly pay with the business cut up as it is in Orlando. There is not a town in the state so over supplied at such miserably low prices. All the same, if there is any paper in the city better able to furnish another daily it is the Citizen office. We think we have "the know how;" we have the plant (with the addition of a machine) and we have the subscription list and the advertising business to base it on and not being hampered with a job department could give it proper attention.

But we have watched the history of the business. We have been editor on two dailies for a series of years under different management and have carefully counted the cost and our friends who contemplate rushing into it with no experience would do well to profit by the experience of others who know the business.

Mr. Mahlon Gore can give a few dots. He was the most successful proprietor in the palmy days when everybody advertised at good prices. But he sold out to S. R. Hudson.

Mr. Hudson abandoned the Daily

Reporter when he had the field to himself. He afterward tried it, bought out the Star and published the Reporter-Star on a yearly contract with the present editor of the Citizen, but ran to the end of his string in a few months and has always agreed that a daily is a mistake. W. D. Yowell tried the Star and sold to S. R. Hudson. LaSalle and Stoneman published the Daily Record and in a little while quit the field and went to Miami.

R. J. Holly managed the Reporter-Star for a year and walked to Sanford. The Reporter-Star corporation tried it with plenty of money and gladly sold out their interests at a discount.

These are facts, and our observations are that a daily in Orlando only pays for a few months during winter. If the present operators of the daily are making money all the year they are the only people who have ever done so, and proves that Orlando is just beginning to get into shape to maintain one daily.—Orlando Citizen.

Big Things At Longwood

Longwood, July 19.—It is rumored, and the rumor emanated from a source most reliable, that early in the fall a party of Canadian gentlemen interested in agricultural developments and with considerable financial backing behind them, will pay the town a visit—will in all probability make it their headquarters—their object being not to hold land as an investment, but whatever land they secure either in Longwood or the surrounding district will be put into cultivation as soon as practicable and then divided into plats of five and ten acres, these will be rented at a low figure just sufficient to pay ordinary interest on their capital giving the workers on same the option of ultimate purchase. It is also stated that should the gentlemen in question locate here, they will contract for all the product, not only what is produced on their own lands but the production of local farmers also. It is also learned that included in the party will be gentlemen associated with two of the largest department stores in Canada with a business of over fifty millions yearly. These two firms alone could handle more truck than Longwood is at present producing. Their decision to make Longwood their probable field of operation is based on reports they have already received from one of their number as to the fertility of the soil and rapid railroad facilities.

Judge John M. Cheney

Hon. John M. Cheney, United States District Attorney for the Southern District of Florida, has a profound understanding of the law and possesses much versatility of talent. His great power with courts and juries is due to the fact that he is absolutely fair and only desirous of having justice properly meted out.

Sincerity is the foundation of his eloquence and to express his honest convictions is the purpose of his speeches. On that line he is fearless, ardent and hopeful, inspiring others with his own sentiments and beliefs. To his sincerity he adds clearness and common sense with the freedom of unconstraint which goes with a frank nature. Beyond all he has the gifts which belong to a great, natural orator, which education may increase, but cannot bestow. The power of personality, a good voice, graceful gestures, persuasiveness and force are qualities which may be enumerated, but they are not the whole of that which has given Mr. Cheney his reputation as an orator.

His thorough knowledge of the law, good judgment and ability, strength and foresight as a lawyer has enabled him to successfully combat with the best lawyers in the south.

Adopt R. & H. Bills

Washington, July 18.—The Senate today adopted the conference report agreed on yesterday of the Rivers and Harbors bill by the Senate and House conferees and the House is expected to adopt the same tomorrow. All Florida items remain in tact in the bill except a Senate amendment for $15,000 to build groins to protect the shore of Anastasia Island at St. Augustine.

This amendment has been approved by the Senate conference committee and had passed the Senate but was left out of the bill at the request of the House conferees. It was introduced by Senator Fletcher along with several other important amendments, all of the others being retained in the bill.

For the Bride.

A cynic suggests a long black veil as a suitable gift for a bride who will insist upon cooking hubby's meals herself.

New Air Line.

Aeroplane lines will at least be useful for journeys to castles in the air.

Wise Scotch Laddie.

A Scotch lad had his leg injured at a factory, and was treated for some time by the doctor without much favorable result. His mother had great faith in a local bone-setter, and wanted her son to go to him; but the boy objected, preferring, as he said, the "reg'lar faculty." Finally, however, he yielded to his mother's persuasions and was taken to the town where the famous bone-setter resided. The leg was duly examined, and it was found necessary to pull it very severely, in order "to get the bone in," as the quack expressed it. The patient howled in agony, but at last the bone was "got in," and he was bidden to go home. In a few days he would be all right, and could resume work. "Didn't he do it well?" said the joyous old lady, as they started homeward. "Yes, he did, mother," said the lad, "he pulled it well, but I was na sic a fool as to gie him the sair leg!"

Sayings From John Burroughs.

Nature is not benevolent; nature is just, gives pound for pound, measure for measure, makes no exception, never tempers her decrees with mercy or winks at any infringement of her laws. And in the end is not this best? Could the universe be run as a charity or a benevolent institution, or as a poorhouse of the most approved pattern? Without this merciless justice, this irrefragible law, where would we have brought up long ago? It is a hard gospel; but rocks are hard, too, yet they form the foundations of the hills. Man introduces benevolence, mercy, altruism, into the world, and he pays the price in his added burdens; and he reaps his reward in the vast social and civic organizations that were, impossible without these things.—Century.

Morgan's Particular Fad.

Among the many collections of art objects J. Pierpont Morgan has made in this country and in Europe is one of exactly 999 miniatures that are in his London house in Prince's Gate. The little pictures are not hung on screens in the usual manner, but are kept in a cabinet whose tray-like shelves are lined with black velvet, each miniature being securely fastened to the bottom of the tray. A New Yorker going through the Morgan house while on a recent visit to London asked the guide who was showing him over the house why Mr. Morgan didn't buy another miniature and make the collection an even thousand. "Oh, that is one of his particular pets, that odd number," was the reply.

Worthy Modesty.

Alvo Yusuph, chief judge of Bagdad, was remarkable for the modesty which accompanies wisdom. Once after a long investigation of the facts of a case, he publicly confessed that his knowledge was not sufficient to enable him to decide it. "I say," said a pert courtier, "do you expect the caliph to pay you for such ignorance?" "I do not," modestly replied the judge. "The caliph pays me well for what I know. If he were to attempt to pay me for what I do not know, the treasures of his empire would not suffice."

Kept the Waiters Busy.

A party of tourists which recently traveled over a Canadian railroad continuously for five days was served during that time, on the dining cars with 650 meals daily or 325 meals in all. This was done on two standard dining cars, each having a seating capacity of thirty persons and managed by one conductor, four cooks and five waiters. At this rate each waiter served at each meal an average of twenty-two persons, and each chair would be used an average of three and two-thirds times at each meal.—Railway Gazette.

Italians Abroad.

Estimates made by the Italian Bureau of Emigration show that fully 5,557,746 Italians, or about one seventh of the entire population of Italy, are living abroad. The chief countries where they are found are the United States, 1,779,059; Brazil, 1,500,000; Argentina, 1,000,000, and Uruguay, 100,000. There is practically no country in the world without an Italian colony. The following are the three smallest Italian colonies in the world: Azores, 17 Italians; Corea, 10; and the Island of Madeira, 7.—New York Sun.

City People Religious.

Kansas City, Mo., ranks next to Philadelphia among the large cities of the country for its religious habits. A census recently taken enumerated 22,000 names, and among these 47 per cent. were affiliated with some church. Philadelphia is one per cent. higher.

The Man on the Sunny Side.

FAMOUS "BONEHEAD" PLAYS ON MAJOR LEAGUE DIAMONDS

Explained by Leading Baseball Players to
HUGH S. FULLERTON

BY JOHN J. EVERS,

Second Baseman Chicago Cubs, Who Has for Years Been Rated as the Quickest Thinker of the Modern Game.

Perhaps I have made a lot worse plays than the one of which I am going to tell, but in my estimation it was the worst I ever made. At least it made me feel more foolish than any other I ever made, and it hurt worse. I'm not ashamed of it, because the fellow who outthought me and made me look bad is probably the greatest ball player that ever lived. At the time, however, I felt about as cheap as anyone could feel.

The play came in one of the world's series games at Detroit in 1907. We had heard a lot about Cobb and his batting and base running, but we didn't know him as well then as we do now, and refused to give him credit for everything that was claimed for him. Besides that, our pitchers were just about right, and as they were paying particular attention to Cobb, the Georgia Peach didn't have much chance to do anything. We were all tickled and were giving Cobb the laugh at every opportunity all of which made it worse for me.

The score was close in the game of which I speak and Cobb came to bat with one out and smashed a hard hit between right and center. Slagle went over fast and kept the ball from getting between the fielders in which case it would have been a home run for Cobb, and as the score was close it would have given Detroit the lead right there. The ball came to Slagle in such an awkward position, and he had to try so hard to reach it at all, that he could not recover in time to get the ball back quickly, and I ran out about thirty feet to meet his throw. Cobb had rounded first and was coming down to second with all his might. I could hear him but couldn't see him. Slagle threw the ball to me, and I tried a play that seemed wise and foxy. I expected Cobb to overrun the base a little and come back and as I caught Slagle's throw I swung and ran for the bag, without looking, intending to slide at him and try to keep him from getting back to the base. I was within ten feet of the bag and running hard when I discovered that my plan was all wrong. Cobb had slowed up as he came to second base, taken one glance at me, saw what I was trying to do, and instead of stopping, turned second base at top speed and was sprinting as hard as he could for third. I was so surprised that I hesitated for a second took a high, wild shot at third, threw the ball ten feet over Steinfeld's head into the crowd, and before Steiny could find that ball the Tigers were ahead.

It was the first bit of Cobb's wonderful base running we ever had seen, and I for one didn't try to kid him much after that, only I kept quiet and waited for a chance to pull off something on him. We came from behind and won the game anyhow, but I tell you I felt relieved when it was over and I knew my piece of slow thinking hadn't given the Tigers the game as well as the lead.

Beating the English.

The Rev. A. H. Hesketh, the missionary author, was praising in Chicago the Uganda people. "These tribes are perfect specimens of the gentleman and the lady," he said. "I know a missionary who once claimed in an address before the Muganda that they had learned their habit of frequent bathing from the English. A Muganda chieftain took this up. 'How often do you English bathe?' he asked. 'An Englishman,' was the reply, 'has a bath every morning.' 'Well, a Muganda,' said the chieftain, 'has one every evening also.'"

Cruel Realem.

John G. Johnson, the famous lawyer and no less famous art expert, was talking about some of Sargent's cruelly realistic portraits. "Sargent once painted a Philadelphia woman," Mr. Johnson said, "and when the work was finished the lady's coachman called for it. 'As the coachman was studying the portrait Sargent said to him: 'How do you like it?' The man answered thoughtfully: 'Well, sir, you might have made it a little better looking, maybe, but if you had, you'd have spoiled it.'"

See With His Fingers.

Jacob W. Bolotin, though blind from infancy, will complete a course in medicine in the Chicago College of Medicine and Surgery this month, and intends to follow the practice of medicine as a profession. He laughs at his handicap and says: "There wasn't a nerve a sinew, a vein, an artery, a tissue that the eye could behold but I could feel with the tips of my fingers. My fingers are as good as eyes. With them I can detect palpitations, irritations, and temperatures instantly."

WE WIN WITH WILSON

Mayor Spencer of Sanford has been "smiling blind tigers in that town hip and thigh," according to The Herald. Let him hand 'em over to the county authorities when he gets through with them—what?—Orlando Citizen.

The Sanford Herald shows the proper spirit in the matter of the Democratic choice when it says: "The Herald cannot lay claim to being originally for Wilson. We were for the strongest man and if he is that man we are for him if a Democrat whether he be Wilson, Smith or Jones.—Orlando Citizen.

The Sanford Herald is a good paper, well printed and edited and gives credit where it lifts news bodily. If any of our northern subscribers wish to locate in a large and progressive town Sanford would fill the bill.—Winter Garden Times.

Thank you, brother. If you were not already a Ben Davis we would call you a Pippin.

The St. Petersburg Times is seriously offended because Editor Holly of Sanford, alludes to Augusta, Ga., as "the greatest winter resort in the south." The Tribune shares the indignation of the Times. What's the matter with Holly?—Tampa Tribune.

How fretful those beach combers on the gulf are getting. Are the mosquitoes bad or is it the "rats in your bubonic belly?"

The Sanford Herald of the 9th inst. contained a thoroughly well built editorial on why its people should support the bond election for good roads in the Sanford district. This is written before the election (Thursday), but the Citizen hopes the Sanford bonding scheme will carry and that it will wake up the dead in Orlando. If progress and good roads in the Sanford end of the county does not wake up the Orlando dead, there is no sort of use expecting the horn of Gabriel will have any effect.—Orlando Citizen.

THE BLOW THAT KILLED

That last game with Orlando, wherein the score stood 10 to 0 in favor of Sanford seems to have broken up a happy family in our neighboring city. It even calls for the following editorial in the Reporter-Star:

"Men, good base ball fans left the grounds yesterday in disgust, after witnessing a few innings of the fiasco with Sanford. The team is not expected always to win, but the players are expected to put up a sufficiently interesting game to hold the attention of the spectators. When they fail to do this they fail to justify their continuance. Gentlemen of the base ball management, the townspeople have a right to demand, if not winning ball, at least a dignified effort to win. Wherein lies the trouble?"

The Sanford Herald takes off the hat to Judge Cheney. He is an able jurist, a thorough business man, a good sport and one of the boys, and if he doesn't fill that padded seat in the Federal Court to the eminent satisfaction of every one concerned we will miss our guess. The editor of The Herald has known Mr. Cheney many years and we know that he is one of the most honest and fair minded men in the world. And then he is an Orange county man and all the best things come from Orange county. Here's looking at you, Judge, before you take the toga for we do not want to face you after that.

THE CITY OF SANFORD

The Clyde Line is now building a fine new river steamer at Jacksonville for the St. Johns river service and when ready to launch the boat will be named the City of Sanford. There could be no better compliment paid our city than this act of courtesy and appreciation upon the part of the Clyde officials and in return this city should do the honors on the occasion by making it a gala day, the launching being attended by our various civic associations, Commercial Club and city officials. The two steamers on the river service will be City of Jacksonville and City of Sanford taking their names from the two terminals of this great river line, said to be one of the finest river trips in the world and with a new steamer certainly one of the grandest and most comfortable. The Commercial Club and the city council have already written to the officials and memorialized their efforts in not only giving our city the best service and a new steamer, but the delicate compliment paid our city by naming the new boat after the queen city of the St. Johns.

The Herald wishes to thank the officials for their great work on behalf of our city, and while not making any promises we rather think Sanford will reciprocate handsomely at the launching of the new steamer.

Now that the bonds for brick roads have been carried The Herald does not want to rush in and make suggestions as to the disposition of the money. There will be suggestions enough when the time comes to build the roads. There is just one suggestion that is timely, and that is the manner of starting. The firm of contractors, whoever they may be, should be urged to start the work from several different directions at once, in order that the different sections can have they same service and in order that the principal roads will be built before the tourist travel begins. Take the road from Monroe, for instance. If the work should start from the other end of the road district and only one road gang is working it would take weeks and may be months before the Monroe road would be started, and the same would be true regarding the other parts of the district. The survey and construction work will be slow at the best, and we do not think the district would get a square deal if the work is delayed in any part of it six months or a year, which is not probable, but possible.

The Herald may be asking the impossible in this request, and the contractors may not agree on this plan, but if it is feasible it should be followed.

We have urged the election on the grounds that our country friends would all get a square deal and we want to stand behind them and see that they get just that.

Sanford Heights should also be made the route to Orlando, instead of Sanford avenue, where there is nothing in the way of improvements, while the road through Sanford Heights winds through the prettiest part of Sanford. If any section of the city is favored it should be Sanford Heights.

To Piano Owners

There comes a time to take a stand. I do the most of the tuning here, because I have proved my worth. No other pianos give as good service as those I attend. My customers are my friends because of the square deal. But some abuse the relationship by making me wait long for my pay. My work is worth all I charge, and merits and shall have prompt remuneration, or, frankly, some one else must do the work, not I. My motto is, collect all bills and pay all bills. Only therein lies success and pleasant relationship.

WADE, The Tuner, 89-41 Orlando.

For Special Road and Bridge District The returns of the election held on July 15th, 1912, ordered by this Board for the establishment of a special road and bridge district, and the payment for the construction thereof by issuing bonds to the amount of $200,000.00, having been made to the Board by the inspectors of said election, the same were opened and canvassed by the Board and the canvass showed two hundred and nineteen votes for and thirty-nine votes against, establishing the special road and bridge district, the same to be paid by issuing bonds for the sum of $200,000.00 as tax upon taxable property in said district, the majority being 180 votes in favor of establishing such district and issuing said bonds.

It is therefore ordered that the following territory shall be and constitute a special road and bridge district:

Beginning at a point on the Wekiva river on the east side, on the Township line between Townships 19 and 20 South, Range 29 East, and running thence east along said Township line to the section post at the northeast corner of Section 5, Township 20 South, Range 29 East, thence running south on said section line to the section post at the southeast corner of Section 29 (on south boundary of Section 28), in Township 20 South, Range 29 East, thence running east to the waters of Lake Jessup, thence following the north line of the waters of said Lake Jessup to the St. Johns river, thence following the waters of the St. Johns river on the south side of said river to the waters of Lake Monroe, thence following the waters of said Lake Monroe on the south side thereof, to the waters of the St. Johns river west of Lake Monroe, thence following the south line of said St. Johns river to its junction with the Wekiva river, thence following the east side of the waters of the Wekiva river to the point of beginning.

That said district shall be and the same is hereby designated as "Special Road and Bridge District Number One."

It is further ordered that this order be published in Sanford Herald for thirty consecutive days.

Done and ordered in open Board this 15th day of July, 1912. B. M. ROBINSON, Clerk of Board.

away of the Police magistrate. In New York upward of 200,000 persons were arraigned before the police magistrates during the year 1910 and another 100,000 were brought into their courts by summons. Over this huge army of people, many of whom are entirely innocent of any offense, the magistrates exert an almost undiluted sway, for their decisions are in nine cases out of ten absolutely final. In other words, they pass judgment upon the personal liberty and rights of more than 25,000 citizens every month of the year, and, save in a few instances, their decisions are accepted without appeal or review of any kind. No other tribunal in the land administers justice on so vast a scale or exerts anything even approaching so unbridled a power. It is at once a court of first and last resort, presided over by a cadi, supreme arbiter of the facts and largely a law unto himself.—Century.

Humorous Court Happenings.

Judge M. W. Pinckney at a recent banquet of lawyers responded with two stories to show that there is some humor associated with such a serious thing as the law. In Dawson City a colored man, Sam Jones by name, was on trial for felony. The judge asked Sam if he desired the appointment of a lawyer to defend him. "No, sah," said Sam. "I see gwine to throw myself on the ignorance of the cote."

Here is a story credited to O'Connell, and illustrating the severe penalty imposed under the old criminal law of England as well as the gross humor of the early English judge. The jury had returned a verdict of guilty in the case of a man accused of stealing a valuable watch. The judge in sentencing the prisoner, said: "You reached for time and found eternity."

Fewer Fogs in London.

Efforts of the Coal Smoke Abatement society, in greatly reducing the volume of smoke, have been instrumental in making black fogs rare in London. A few years ago these fogs were quite frequent in London in winter, and for several days at a time the city itself and the outlying suburbs were covered by a dark, black pall, sometimes high in the air, but more frequently descending and forming a thick, dirty and greenish-yellowish substance through which the people had to travel. Fogs still occur in London, but only occasionally, and not for several years has there been an old-fashioned fog when torch bearers had to be employed to indicate the way.

Work of Youthful Writers.

A western paper recently offered a prize for the best story to be written by a pupil of the public school. Here are a few passages from the contributions: "Cora Brown was fortunately the possessor of a birthday, for she was the daughter of rich friends." "But all this time a cloud was gathering over Mrs. Delaney, which grew large as years went by, and that cloud was full of grasshoppers." "My father desired me to marry a bank president, a handsome, reckless man, fond of naught save the gambling-table." " 'Vat I dell you, vat I dell you,' shouted the Irishman." "As she entered the room a cold, damp smell met her sight."

Remedy for Damp Walls.

Boil two quarts of tar with two ounces clean (kitchen) grease in an iron saucepan of convenient size, for a quarter of an hour. To this mixture add some slaked lime and very finely pounded glass which has been previously put through a hair-sieve. Two parts lime to one of glass and worked to the thickness of a thin plaster. Use as soon as made as it soon becomes hard. One coat an inch thick will generally answer the purpose, but if wall is very damp, two coats may be applied. Paint over the cement or plaster and, if wanted, it may be papered as any ordinary wall.

Practical Aid for the Poor.

Miss Elizabeth Ross has been appointed manager of the household service office, which has just been established in Jamaica Plain, Mass., by the Women's Municipal League. The enterprise is patterned after the Brattleboro Mutual Aid Association, a neighborhood service which affords mutual aid for the sick. The plan is to furnish at cost competent nurses, to educate people along sanitary lines and to furnish employment for women and girls competent as household helpers.

Woman Opposes Suffrage.

Mrs. Clark Fisher of East Hanover street, Trenton, principal owner of the Fisher & Norris anvil works, who is known far and wide throughout the country, conducted the fight for the anti-suffragists of New Jersey against the equal suffrage bill. She appeared at the hearing to be held in the state-house, and, with aids, offered arguments against votes being given to women in that state. Mrs. Fisher was asked to take up the fight there by the New York Anti-Suffrage League.

TO DECIDE ORANGE MATURITY

Acid-Sugar Test Will Not Solve The Perplexing Problem

Commissioner W. A. McRae and Chemist R. L. Reese, of the Agricultural Department, state of Florida, have appointed a commission to decide upon a standard of acid to sugar ratio in Florida oranges...

Chase & Company of this city, extensive dealers and shippers of fruit, recently wrote to the F. A. Genth Laboratory, Philadelphia, asking that a standard be suggested of maturity of immaturity. This concern during the past winter, according to J. C. Chase, made sixty-eight separate and distinct analyses of the many different varieties of Florida oranges...

Mr. Chase, who is secretary of the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Shippers Protective Association, said further: "This letter of the F. A. Genth Laboratory, in reply to our request, indicates the difficulties of determining a satisfactory standard, and some of the troubles and expenses that are ahead of orange growers and shippers in keeping within the Florida law on the subject of immature fruit."

The letter mentioned follows: "You ask us to suggest a standard of acid to total sugar ratio, to determine the question of maturity of immaturity in an orange, and it is impossible in the first place, and, in the second place, it would be most unwise for you to have such a standard if it were possible."

"The acid to sugar contents of an orange has nothing whatever to do with the question of maturity. It would be as far away from a determining factor as would the contents of the blood of a man or woman be from the question of their maturity. The question of maturity is one for a horticulturist and not a chemist to decide."

"Even if it were possible to have such a standard, it would be most unwise, as it would mean an endless lot of analyses (and the accompanying cost) for every grower and for shipper. Please try and realize that the appearance of the fruit is no indication of the acid and sugar contents, also that each and every variety has different contents and ratio and that no two oranges from the same tree will have exactly the same contents or ratio, and what is quite important, fruit of the same variety under different conditions of soil, care, fertilization and exposure will show a great difference in the contents and ratio, whether the outward appearance is distinguishable or indistinguishable. You may think this is a broad statement, but we make it with experience, as we have found the acid and sugar contents higher in some oranges with the rind entirely green than in the fruit from the same tree with rind much colored."

"If you (or your state) adopt an acid to sugar standard it will mean a gold mine for the chemist and a troublesome and expensive experience for you and other growers of fruit, and if the result is the same, as it is in other lines where the standard requires a chemical analysis, then you will find the business soon in the hands of a few big concerns who can afford to keep a chemist constantly employed. There is no surer way of pushing the little fellow out of business than to make him pay chemist's bills. We know what we are writing, as we are general public chemists, and a number of our clients have been forced out of business by the big fellows who have enough business to keep chemists constantly employed."

"Yours truly, GENTH & ADAMSON, Chemists."

"The acid and sugar contents has only to do with the question of taste, and even here the others play a very important part."

Will Make Florida Cement

Chas. R. Gostling, Eustis, Fla., in a letter to the Manufacturers' Record says:

"I have been in Florida for the past year investigating the so-called much beds of Florida. Many of these beds, upon which I have options, as well as about five acres which I have purchased near Eustis, contain a pure white (when calcined) kieselguhr, or diatomite, or infusorial earth of the finest quality. This mineral, as it is one so conceded by most geologists, has a high value as an insulating material and scores of other purposes too numerous to mention here. I have data from users and buyers of this mineral, to whom I have submitted samples, who will contract with me for over 50,000 tons a year."

"In addition to the development of these extensive deposits of earth in Florida, it has been my privilege to get in touch with the state geologist at Tallahassee, and from his reports I find millions of tons of suitable material, limestones, clays and sand, for the production of Portland cement of a standard quality. I find that Florida alone will keep a cement mill of 2000 barrels per day capacity, running the whole year."

hassee, and from his reports I find millions of tons of suitable material, limestones, clays and sand, for the production of Portland cement of a standard quality. I find that Florida alone will keep a cement mill of 2000 barrels per day capacity, running the whole year."

An Interesting Letter

The following letter received recently by Mrs. Munson from Mr. Ball, the young man in charge of the boys at the State Reform School at Marianna will not only be of interest and very gratifying to the Wednesday Club, but should be also to every citizen of Sanford who is interested in the welfare of others, and especially those who are who are less fortunate than themselves.

The Wednesday Club has sent two boxes of books, magazines, papers, games and a few pictures to the school recently, and another box of books and also a number of school books will soon be sent.

Marianna, Fla., July 9th, 1912.

Mrs. F. S. Munson, Sanford, Fla.:

Dear Madam—In answer to your letter which I received yesterday, enquiring about the "Popular Mechanics" magazine, we do receive it and the boys are delighted with it. I have several boys who have a mechanical talent and they find the magazine a great help. Please accept our best thanks for your kindness. We have fifty boys and three girls now. Tell Mrs. Wight please I have made a lot of alterations since she paid us a visit. I have pulled down all the rafters in the kitchen and have built a workshop 110x14 feet, smoke house 25x14, woodshed 40x14. A model dairy also. A laundry with every convenience for washing and ironing the clothes. I am just preparing plans for a hospital, barr and girls' school. Any time you are in the neighborhood of the school I would be delighted if you paid us a visit.

Yours sincerely, GUY A. BALL.

ORLANDO HEADQUARTERS

Citrus Exchange May Spend Declining Years In Orange

A movement took shape here yesterday looking to bring about the transference of the headquarters of the Florida Citrus Exchange from Tampa to Orlando.

Such a plan has been on foot for practically a year, but began to assume definite form at the meeting of the Exchange in Tampa during the spring when the question was up for determination whether or not the Exchange was to continue.

Mr. W. L. Palmer's speech at that meeting formed a nucleus around which the idea has since grown. Mr. Palmer told the assembly that come what may, Orange county had adopted the plan of co-operative selling for good and all, and would continue an exchange of its own.

This sentiment struck such a popular chord that many men from the surrounding counties went to Mr. Palmer and enthusiastically proclaimed their willingness to join with Orange county in a movement to perpetuate the Exchange in the event the parent body was not continued.

The committee of gentlemen who met yesterday to discuss plans for securing the Exchange for Orlando were Judge Warlow, Messrs. M. O. Overstreet, representing the Board of Trade, Mr. Palmer, as president of the sub-exchange of this county, and Messrs. James L. Giles, W. M. Davis and Mike Smith, Reporter-Star.

Young Floridian's Success

Word has just reached Florida of the success of Frank Wideman, a student of Stetson College representing the state of Florida in a national oratorical contest, held in Atlantic City, in which young Wideman carried off first honors.

The contest was held under the direction of the Intercollegiate Oratorical Association of Chicago. The contest was very close, but the great honor was secured by the Florida young man who, according to the finding of the judges, won out by one point.

Oratorical contests preparatory for this national event were held by colleges in every state, and the winner of the contest at each college in turn met in a state contest. Frank Wideman was victor in the contest at Stetson College, and was then chosen as representative of the state of Florida, defeating the orators from the other colleges of the state.

His father, John W. Wideman, who is a member of the Governor's staff, secured a seat in the Baltimore convention for his son that he might have the benefit of hearing the oratory of the convention before entering the contest.

Young Wideman spoke on "The Question of a Century."

Congratulations from all parts of the state have been showered upon the orator since news of his victory reached this state.

The young man is a Florida cracker, living in DeLand. At Stetson College he has been president of a literary society, manager of the football team, secretary of the athletic association, and a prominent member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. His father, John W. Wideman, has his Jacksonville office at 403 Masonic Temple.

Big Trust Co. For Lakeland

A trust company with a capital stock of $125,000, and the privilege of increasing to $250,000 is the latest enterprise demonstrating the growth and progress of Lakeland. The charter for this concern is now being drawn, and the notice of application will appear in this paper within the next few days.

Those behind the enterprise are well known capitalists of the state, chief among whom are H. D. Bassett of Lakeland, Kibler Bros., of Dunnellon, Vincent Bros of Fivay, and others residing in Lakeland beside some outside investors.

A suitable room will be secured temporarily, and it is expected the concern will be ready for business within a few weeks. As soon as practicable it is planned to erect a handsome building as a home for the concern.

H. D. Bassett will be president of the company and A. B. Kibler of Dunnellon will be cashier. The latter will remove to this city and make his home here.

In addition to the names mentioned the most prominent men of the city will be shareholders, and the concern will be a financial Gibraltar. It will unquestionably be a very potent factor in developing and upbuilding the commercial and industrial interests of the city.—Lakeland Telegram.

Antiquity of Hymns

While hymns as we know them today are a comparatively recent innovation in church services, they are a very ancient institution and existed long before the Christian era.

Military Ignorance

"The late Gen. F. D. Grant," said a Washington official, "was once complaining in my hearing about an ignorant officer. He likened this officer to a certain Private Cheney. 'Where is Cheney?' 'What the dickens has become of Private Cheney?' So he declared, Cheney was sought for one whole afternoon, but no tidings of him turned up until a comrade finally said: 'Cheney? Why, I saw Cheney about two hours ago. He was talking about going to get some guncotton to sew a button on his pants with and that's the last been heard of him, I believe.'"

Work of Art Damaged

Demand for Attar of Roses

The fancy of society women for perfumes and especially for attar of roses has sent up the prices to the highest on record. Attar of roses, which is extremely rare and is perhaps the most valuable perfume in the market, now is commanding almost a prohibitive price. Despite the cost, however,

Astonished the Conductor

Rev. Dr. George W. Field of Bangor is a very absent minded man. When on the street, in the cars, or even at dinner, his mind is often so fully concentrated upon the subject of his next sermon that he appears to take no notice of surrounding circumstances. At one time, traveling between Bangor and Boston as the conductor of the train, passing through the car making collections of tickets, came to Dr. Field with hand outstretched, the reverend gentleman, glancing up quickly from a reverie, looked into his face a moment, then extended his hand and said, "Good afternoon, sir; but I think you have a little advantage of me. What name?"

Plan to Use Electric Heat

Several towns in Norway and Sweden have recently taken steps toward the general introduction of electric heating, to replace the use of stoves burning coal or wood. Few buildings in these places have central heating systems, and the tile stoves now generally used could easily be adapted to receive electric heaters. The electric current will be supplied by the public plants, which are generally run by water power.

SPORTING GOSSIP

Sanford Eight, Orlando Two

The Tourists thought they had tightened up some yesterday and after taking the bunch down behind the San Juan Hotel and giving them a heart to heart talk while rustling some pink paper in his hands Manager Cheney fondly imagined he had thrown enough scare into the Tourists to eliminate all the solid ivory from their domes.

But he hadn't. And the sequel shows that he couldn't. Sometimes even the legal lore and the strong talk fails.

Sometimes even the thought that a stranger will take the place of the Home Guards fails.

Sometimes the thought that maybe Sanford has a better ball team than Orlando creeps into the think tanks of the Tourists and they play in vain.

Yesterday was our day and the Collegians made the most of it too. Doc Wilson who writes such nice, dopey, dreamy, Lotus flavored dreams for the Reporter-Star woke up yesterday with a bad nightmare and found out that he was simply out of his class. Doc is a better writer of dreams than a pitcher and he ought to retire to the dark recesses of the Reporter-Star office and edit a dream-book. He would get farther and prove more profitable to the management. Doc did his best, but his best is too little for the hard hitting Collegians. Maybe their new southpaw will solve the question and maybe he will not. Only the future and Doc Wilson's Dream Book can tell.

Wallace for the Collegians was in his usual fine fettle. Sanford's sulphur wate acts on Father Wallace like it did many years ago on Ponce DeLeon. He gets better each game and just when Orlando is hoping against hope that Wallace will fall down he fools them again by going them one better. It does seem that familiarity would teach those Tourists something and Wallace always tries to loan them a few easy ones, but somehow or other he has their goat and he can't release the animal from the stable.

The Collegians gave a fine exhibition of tall and lofty batting yesterday that gave the Orlando fans chills and fever and before the game was finished most of them left for home to take a dose of calomel and get ready for today's game.

Today there will be a battle royal between two southpaws. We will have Ray and the Tourists will have their new phenom from the Peach Belt League, who is warranted to be a double action automatic shooter.

Only left handed bats will be used and the catchers and umpires will wear left handed masks. All the other players will have left handed gloves and all the fans are requested to sit on the left hand side of the bleachers and use left hand megaphones. The automobiles will be cranked up with left handed cranks and the wheels will all be placed on the left hand side of the cars. Left handed monkey wrenches only will be used for repairs and should any of the Orlando players get the hook it will be on the left and over the left and they will be left at the post. Below is given the box score for yesterday's game and from it Doc Wilson can evolve another dream:

That Awful Game

Sanford made it three yesterday afternoon.

To make it three, they rolled up a score of ten to nothing. We prefer to write that word out to making a cypher; it looks more decorous. Somebody said the chalk gave out at the end of the eighth inning. Personally we don't know; we had went. We didn't remain with the handful of the faithful to weep.

We didn't remain because we went to the field early, and had to wait such time for the game to be called, that the elongated tail of it endangered our meal. The game scheduled for four o'clock, actually began about four twenty, and darkness fell like a welcome pall at the close of the eighth inning.

Somebody who watched the game closely, and didn't have his eyes blinded by tears (we believe it was Harry Dickson) said Sanford actually earned three runs. The less said about the other seven the better.

In justice to the local boys it must be said, however, that it was Sanford's day. The crowd brought down their pill finding eyes with them, and it seems to the untutored looker on that they hit everything in sight. All they lacked was to make a hit with the Orlando fans, to make the program complete. And they came near doing that.

Sanford put in a new pitcher, a southpaw rejoicing in the name of Ray, which proved to be both his name and nature. He looked a lemon through most of the first inning, when he appeared to histake the score board for the plate. And his serpentine twists caught Scrappy Robinson's esthetic eye, and Scrappy laid himself out for some fun. But the lemon, sad headed and composed, grew and grew and waxed with the fillings and a new kind of vegetables in those parts. At the close he was the hero that got the wreath.

The details of the game don't have to be told, they can be guessed. Windham started in to pitch for Orlando, with White behind the bat. The celery stalks found Windham for five hits in less than that number of innings. And Vaiden went in with Beardall. And they found him for five hits.

Long toward the ending of the sixth inning, when hope had vanished, sail-CO COR ing low against the heavy sky out through Concord Park, the fans began to beat it toward the gate. We won't print the remarks they dropped as they went. It wouldn't contribute to the gaiety of the town.

We haven't any spleen in this matter. We are writing this out of a sad heart that good may come out of a ten run, ten hit and five error game. Gentlemen of the team, get right and play ball. Orlando's hat is still in the ring.—Reporter-Star.

News From Every Corner of the Earth Tersely Told in Telegraphic Ticks

Gov. Wilson eschewed politics yesterday and remained in seclusion all day at the home of a friend not far away. He slept twelve hours and expected to retire early again tonight and duplicate the feat. He was thoroughly tired, he said, from the activities of the week and did not intend to return to Sea Girt until tomorrow when he will see Senator Reed, of Missouri, a member of the national campaign committee.

More favorable news concerning the illness of Mutsuhito, the emperor of Japan, came from the palace this morning. The secretary of the imperial household announced at 8 o'clock that the condition of his majesty was considerably improved, and that the attending court physicians were more hopeful. The emperor fell asleep at midnight and had slept nearly six hours.

Terms of one-third of the members of the United States senate will expire next March. The present senate is composed of fifty-two Republicans and forty-three Democrats, with one vacancy. Can the Democrats pick up the five men they need to insure their control? Will the next election cost them some of the seats that are now theirs? Of the thirty-two senators whose terms will expire in March nineteen are Republicans and thirteen are Democrats. Contests are already on for nearly all of the seats to be made vacant.

The removal of the tariff as an issue in congress before the end of the coming week will mark an important step in the progress toward adjournment of the present session. Agreements for votes on the leading tariff bills have been reached, coupled with understandings that other important legislation either will be disposed of or hastened toward action.

The first occurred Sunday morning at nine o'clock, when Miss Gladys Gatchel and Mr. George P. Lovell were united in marriage in the presence of a few friends. After the ceremony the happy couple left for points in North Carolina, where they will spend their honeymoon.

The bride is one of Sanford's fairest daughters, having lived here for several years and has many friends among the younger set. She is the daughter of M. D. Gatchel, the well known merchant and grower.

STATE MEDICAL DIRECTORY

Sanford Physician Is Now Compiling Large Work

Dr. O. P. Miller of this city has undertaken a task that will keep him very busy for some time to come. He proposes to publish a medical directory for Florida and when that is finished will take up the other southern states. He and a large corps of assistants are busy as bees compiling data and answering the voluminous mail incident to the publication of the directory. Dr. Miller expects to issue the Florida directory about the middle of August and will then take up the matter of publishing directories for other states. The south has never enjoyed state medical directories, having to depend entirely upon a general book of information. Under Dr. Miller's plan each state will have a separate directory that will be absolutely correct. This new enterprise in time will assume large proportions and may call for a complete outfit for the accumulating of names and the printing of the same.

Maxey-Rollins

On account of the Sabbath day Cupid seemed to be in the proper humor to keep up the good work, and on Sunday evening Rev. Summers was again called upon to unite two loving hearts. The ceremony occurred at the residence of the groom, at the corner of Ninth street and Laurel avenue. The contracting parties were Miss Ella M. Maxey and Mr. Charles J. Rollins and the wedding took place at nine o'clock in the presence of the friends and relatives of the bride and groom. Both young people are well known in this city, where they have resided for some time.

Mr. Rollins, who is known to his many friends as "Joe," formerly was an employee of the Coast Line, but was injured and forced to give up active work, since which time he has engaged in business and expects to make Sanford his home. The young couple will be at home to their many friends on Laurel avenue, where they are receiving congratulations and best wishes.

At The Methodist Church

The "Missionary Team" of the M. E. Church, South, Miami District, which is making a tour of the entire district in the interest of missions will arrive in Sanford next Saturday, to be here over Sunday and conduct a Missionary Institute during the day. The entire day will be taken in the work and every person in the city should take this opportunity of hearing the addresses of the men who compose the committee.

There will be on the programme two returned missionaries who have been on the field and will give some interesting lectures.

Miss Laura Summers, a sister of the pastor of the Methodist church, who is a missionary to Korea and who will sail next month to take up the work in this field will also be here and have a place on the programme.

Services will be held in the Methodist church.

Michigan Man A Leper

Buffalo, N. Y., July 22.—The presence in this city of a man who is afflicted with what is said to be a well developed case of leprosy, has caused considerable stir. The man is Sam Isen, who says he is from Bay City, Mich., and has been in Buffalo but a short time. The authorities have taken the matter in hand and a board of prominent physicians are diagnosing his case. Some physicians have already declared it to be leprosy, but the decision of the board will determine what disposition shall be made of the case. Should Isen be found to have real leprosy, it will then be a question as to whether the state or the federal government shall take charge of him.

County Seat Awakens to the Need of Special District for Brick Roads

The good roads question has some resemblance to Banquo's ghost, it refuses to keep out of sight and is a perennial topic of conversation, both for those who have nothing to do but talk, and for the thinking progressive citizen who is ever alert to improve conditions and who in reality keeps the country growing. As a matter of fact there are very few people who do not wish good roads, the main question is one as to the best means by which to accomplish the end. It seems evident, however, that it is hardly fair to compel a man who owns a farm ten miles from the road to pay the same proportion of tax as the man who owns abutting property. One point in favor of the long paying bonds is the fact that after a brick road is built the close in property will rapidly advance in value and the assessor will constantly increase the valuation, so that the man who is the most benefited will pay the larger part of the tax.

Now that Sanford has decided to build brick roads in the Sanford commissioner district, the question has assumed new importance in Orlando and the necessity appears to meet the improvements that the celery city has started. It would not do at all to have Sanford's brick roads run out in the country ten or twelve miles and end in a mud hole. Therefore a plan has already been put in motion to circulate a petition asking the commissioners to call a special election to vote on the question of issuing bonds for building forty or fifty miles of brick roads in this district to meet the roads that will be built by the Sanford district.

Mr. Seth Woodruff, one of Orange county's most enterprising citizens and a booster for Orlando, has brought the matter into the limelight and will push it along. Some of Mr. Woodruff's ideas on the subject are foreshadowed in the following extracts from an interview.

I favor issuing $350,000 worth of bonds, payable $50,000 in ten years, $100,000 in twenty years, $100,000 in thirty years, and $100,000 in forty years. This plan of payment is to my mind an improvement over the proposed plan of retiring the bonds under the former plan of bonding, which made possible the accumulation of an immense sinking fund, with all the uncertainties which such a fund entailed.

I think this is the opportune time for bonding the district for two reasons, the first is, we would be likely to profit by Sanford's paving, in the matter of buying brick. The two sections might combine in their purchase and secure a reduction, or some plan might be worked out whereby the brick might be bought at Augusta, Ga., and lightered to Sanford by the inland route, thereby saving the expensive railroad haul.

Under this plan all of the adjacent sections to Orlando would be benefitted by the hard roads, and no complaint could be made by particular sections that they are paying for the improvement of other men's property.

I have estimated that $350,000 would construct forty miles of hard road. In a general way such a road could extend from the Sanford line of the road right straight through to the south boundary of the county, by way of Altamonte Springs, Maitland, Winter Park, Orlando, Pine Castle and Taft 22 miles.

"There would be a spur from Orlando towards Ocoee, five miles. Another towards Conway, of four miles and still another along the east Winter Park road of four miles, totalling forty miles." Orlando Notes in T. O.

STATE HAPPENINGS BOILED DOWN FOR THE BUSY

A Brief Resume of Florida Happenings That Will Interest The Hurried Reader

VICTORY FOR BERGER

Socialist Congressman Ousts A Federal Judge

Seattle, Wash., July 22.—Federal District Judge Cornelius Hanford, whose conduct on the bench has been under investigation by a sub-committee of the house judiciary committee, today telegraphed his resignation to President Taft, assigning ill health as his reason for desiring to retire from the bench.

Those who were against Hanford are jubilant. They claim that he retired under fire to keep the committee from getting down the true record of his activities as federal judge. His friends say his health had been bad for some time.

Judge Hanford's action as judge of a federal district court in Washington state have for some weeks past been the subject of an inquiry by a commission of congressman sent from Washington to investigate the charge made in the house by Representative Berger, the socialist congressman from Wisconsin, that Hanford had refused to issue citizenship papers to one Olson, because Olson was a socialist. It was charged that Hancock was a heavy drinker and frequently became drunk.

The committee has been investigating the alleged misconduct of the judge but has not yet made known its findings. In all probability the resignation of Judge Hanford will prevent a report as it certainly makes it useless.

Former Enemies Now Allies

St. Petersburg, Russia, July 22.—"To have and to hold" their present territorial and commercial rights and to put up the "no thoroughfare" sign for other nations in Manchuria and on the floating peninsula, seem to be the central ideas of the brand new pact between Russia and Japan, which is to be signed in a few days.

The new treaty provides for a defensive alliance between Russia and Japan.

This momentous development would seem to be connected with the approaching trip to Russia of the Japanese statesman, Prince Katsura, but his visit is a mere coincidence.

The actual agreement was fully concluded a fortnight ago and likely will be signed for Japan by Baron Motono, the Japanese ambassador to Russia, who was its negotiator and promoter.

Suspicious Drowning

West Palm Beach, July 22.—The bodies of W. H. Whidden and Harry Blodgett, who were drowned in the river here last Saturday, have been subject to a post mortem examination by the authorities here under the suspicion that death was not from drowning.

They were seen by a woman to drink from a bottle just before going into the water, and a partly filled bottle was found near the clothing of one of the dead men, containing a liquid, which is being chemically examined.

The doctors made a post mortem examination on both bodies, but were ordered not to divulge their findings until the convening of the coroner's jury on Monday, when a further examination into the matter will be made. The doctors were also given the bottles found near the clothing of Whidden to examine.

Whidden was formerly a policeman in this city, and was discharged last week on account of neglecting his duty. He had made sensational charges against his chief officer, the marshal, which were to have been heard this week.

At the sitting of the jury today it is expected that startling revelations will be made, though no intimation of the names of those who will be implicated has been made by any one concerned in the matter.

Whidden was about forty years of age, and leaves a wife and child. Blodgett was not more than twenty-five years old, and was only slightly known here.

Wauchula is soon to have electric lights. The Wauchula Manufacturing Co. is preparing to rebuild the factory and warehouse which recently burned. All the machinery will be driven by an electric power plant which they will install and with which they propose to light Wauchula. The contract has been agreed upon and signed and calls for the plant to be in operation.

"A half million boxes is a conservative estimate of the forthcoming orange crop of Volusia county," says the Deland Record, "as large a crop as the county has ever marketed, and the fruit will be fine also." The Record thinks that the crop for the state will exceed that of last year by a million and a half boxes, and while some may think that the amount means low prices, they may discover that the demand for Florida oranges is increasing every year, and when properly placed, there should never be a yield that would not pay well for the raising and shipping of the most healthful of all fruits.

Monday night it was actually too cool for comfort on the verandas in Kissimmee," says the Journal. "For the past ten nights a blanket has been absolutely necessary for comfortable sleeping." The Journal then says that it is almost useless to tell this truth about Florida, for the people north, east and west won't believe it.

Mr. Taylor stated that the shipments of pears from Archer during the past two weeks have been quite heavy, and that the fruit is bringing fine prices in the Eastern markets. Philadelphia has been the best market for pears this season, the returns in most instances showing that they sold for $12.50 per barrel. The yield this season is not what is termed an average crop but there are several large orchards in the Archer section, as well as in other portions of Alachua county, and the combined consignments will total hundreds of barrels. According to arrangements the Ocoee County Republican convention met in St. Cloud July 18. It is stated that this meeting a complete county ticket was named to be voted for in the November election.
