Congressional Battle
Opens Over Disposition Of America's
Merchant Shipping

Theme Is Placed
Before Committee

Hearings Expected To Result In Decision
Of Private Control

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—(INS)—Three major plans to aid the American Merchant Marine were before the House Merchant Marine Committee today. The Congressional battle over the U. S. Shipping bill was reopened.

The hearings and decision of the committee are expected to pave the way for a final decision by Congress on the question of government or private operation.

White (R) of Maine, committee chairman, promised to submit a report to the House for a vote within 30 days.

The principal plans before the committee are:

- Bill of Senator Jones (R) of Michigan, which passed the Senate providing for continued government operation by the Shipping Act. The bill requires unanimous vote of the House to sell government ships to private operators, as it authorizes to recondition up vessels, and authorize the appropriations of millions of dollars for replacement vessels.

- Bill of Rep. Wood (R) of Iowa, said to be favored by many administration leaders, which provides for an indirect subsidy to private shipbuilders and operators.

- Bill of Rep. White (R) of Maine, providing for a direct subsidy to owners to maintain service on routes declared necessary by the board, the amount to be determined upon receipt of bids with maximum payment fixed in the bill.

- It also gives the Postmaster-General authority to make favorable mail contracts to private American ship operators, provides compensation for maintaining vessels suitable as navy auxiliaries, government loans at 2 1/2 per cent, and compensation as naval reserve officers and men for members of the service.

McLarnin Defeats Terris By Knockout During First Few Seconds Of Fighting

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—The lightweight division, almost canceled by the deaths of Gans, McAdams, Nelson, LaVigne, Welsh, Grillo and other immortals, had its number one fight, the first since Benny Leonard passed into the limbo of pugilism "forgotten." He is a loachinvar from out of the West, indeed—a young knight of the mailed fist, with the face of a cherub and the punch of a poleaxe—Jimmy McLarnin by name, and poisonous by nature.

McLarnin qualified beyond further praise for a title match with lightweight champion Sammy Mandell by knocking Sid Terris frigid last night with a punch so fast as to be quicker than Terris' reaction. Sidney, hit on the chin with a left and a right in the first two minutes of play, simply stood transfixed for a dramatic second or two and then collapsed on his face to be counted out. That night, the greatest thing this writer has ever seen, was so fast that it defied the message of the knockout to Terris' brain by at least a full second.

It was all over in 1 minute and 47 seconds but a sell-out crowd of some 10,000 had seen what it wanted to see, the making of an overnight sensation who will pack them in and turn them away from now on until further notice. He is the new one-shot man, the latest killer and they devotedly love that kind.

Did Dempsey say he was through? What of it, forsooth? We expect to hear McLarnin and we expect to hear Mandell and we expect to see a better man turn up, which may be soon.

Color? Why you just can't help but like him with that puzzled, innocent pan and the harp of Ireland on his green bathrobe. Tough? Well he took a few sharp ones from Terris during the brief interval of the bout and didn't even look disturbed.

Speed? My cracked lip simply won't stand it. Terris was kangarooing at his best when that left and right went over and down—the pride of the East was no more.

They started very carefully, Terris wearing an extremely superior expression while James did his best to look determined and succeeded only in looking very boyish. After fiddling for a half minute, Terris suddenly crossed a right to the head and the clonk and suit men thought it was great. The punch was a bit high or other-wise it would have done more than merely rock Jimmy backward.

Followed next a succession of Terris lefts. He was bounding about in great glee and shouting his straight left from all angles. McLarnin extended nothing flabby. He was concentrating on the problem of pinning Terris in a corner.

Sidney decided that was not for him and began circling to the right. Half through this maneuver, he decided to double back. That was the end. McLarnin whipped over a left hook to the chin and with the same motion he scored with that right.

"That hurt you, Sidney" was thought running through the writer's mind as he observed the unique spectacle of Terris standing still, for once. The clock ticked a second and Terris continued to stand as one in a trance. It ticked another and he was gone—flat on his face, out.

Indoor Track Games To Be Held Tonight In Madison Garden

NEW YORK, Feb. 25.—(INS)—A great struggle which is likely to see the national A. A. U. Indoor track and field championships go West after an Eastern sojourn of a year and which is also expected to underscore the names of those athletes who will form the American Olympic squad are the major points of interest in the national championship games to be held tonight in Madison Square Garden.

Fifteen Chicagoans, most of them champions, are favored to carry off the national team title for the Illinois A. C. Whatever fight they get from the East will have to come from the New York A. C., present holders of the crown, for no other organization east of the Alleghenies appears strong enough to do this singlehanded.

The individual features of the championships appear to be Ray Conger of the Illinois A. C., and Sabin Carr, of Yale.

Ten of the fourteen national indoor track and field champions will defend their titles. The four champions who will not appear are Lloyd Hahn, Willie Plant, Willie Goodwin and Ove Anderson.

Kalinin's Wife Is Dismissed As Head Of Children's Home

MOSCOW, Feb. 23 (ANS)—Alexandra D. Kalinina, wife of the President of the Soviet Union, Michael Kalinin, narrowly escaped trial by a discreditable court for alleged negligence in the administration of homeless children's asylums in the State of Russia. The State Soviet which ordered the legal proceedings, rescinded the decree and contended itself with discharging Mme. Kalinina as director general of the State Homes for Incurable Children.

Soviet law respects no personal ties. Yet the action against Mme. Kalinina, an extremely active and capable feminist, has generally been deemed as hasty. She was charged with having refused to hear complaints about deplorable conditions in a number of children's homes. After a riot in the asylum which bore her name, the State Soviet ordered an investigation which disclosed that 300 ragamuffins had revolted and escaped because of "intolerably unsanitary and immoral conditions." The home was plundered. Furniture that couldn't be carted away by the young savages was smashed to pieces. The estimated expense of reestablishing the place was so great that the home was ordered closed.

Mme. Kalinina has done much removing thousands of beggar waifs from the streets, but the lack of funds and proper teachers has hampered the training of the youngsters. She has been separated from her husband for some time, and is living in a modest apartment a mile from the Kremlin.

"I'll say it has power—and Westinghouse Brakes have everything stopped for stopping"

This is immediately evident when you examine the car—doubly evident when you try a drive.

Chandler is the first American automobile to adopt Westinghouse Vacuum Brakes—and is, therefore, America's easiest and safest car to control at any speed. A light touch on the brake pedal—lighter than you use on the starter button—brings Chandler to a quick "cushioned" stop.

"Touch-and-stop" brakes... and "touch-and-go" power! The new Big Six by Chandler takes on other sixes anywhere it meets them—and merrily outsteps them and in the same spirit Chandler's new Royal Eight is always ready to show its heels to other eights.

For Chandler has added still bigger reserves of power in its Pikes Peak Motor. Another big point in Chandler's favor is its "One Shot" centralized lubricating system. Press a plunger and the chassis instantly lubricates itself.

And with all these superiorities, today's Chandler is by far the most beautiful and luxurious Chandler ever built.

Thirty magnificent new models—$995 to $2195, f. o. b. factory. Come see. Come drive. Compare!

Five coast guardsmen of the lower East Coast were recently acquitted of killing a rum runner by the name of "Red" Shannon. The government men ordered Shannon's boat to halt and when the command was ignored they opened fire. Scoffing at the law, even the prohibition law, is becoming rapidly more dangerous.

Some day there will be "Express Highways" between Miami and New York on which the speed limit will be not less than one hundred and fifty miles an hour.

Sale Of The Gas Plant

The Herald notes with interest and satisfaction the sale of the municipal gas plant. We feel certain that ninety per cent of Sanford citizens are pleased with the action of the City in disposing of the property, believing the sale to be a particularly good piece of business at this time. Transfer of the plant from municipal ownership to that of private control is expected to solve a problem that has come to be an exceedingly sharp thorn in the public side. Sanford people now look hopefully to a more efficient operation of the plant and more reasonableness in the amount of their bills.

The gas plant under city supervision has been a failure from the start. At a time when the people were aroused to the necessity of providing themselves with a better water system to protect their health and guard against fire, it was very easy to obtain their support for a bond issue with which to acquire water, gas and light plants. Four years ago purchase of the three utilities was authorized. The waterworks was acquired as was the gas plant. Nothing was ever done about the electric plant, fortunately for Sanford.

To begin with the City spent nearly a hundred thousand dollars for a gas-plant and system, which was immediately junked with the exception of about twenty thousand dollars worth of equipment. With the remaining two hundred and sixty thousand dollars authorized, an almost new plant was placed in operation. Under City supervision for nearly three years, the plant has lost money steadily, and last year the deficit was more than twenty-five thousand dollars.

Shouldering this enormous burden the people were also forced at various times to endure poor service in the form of gas pressure that was not sufficient to meet ordinary needs. We have been subjected to exorbitant bills and for the past two or three months they have been prohibitive, as if to keep coals on an already hot fire. After experiencing these various injustices, it is small wonder that local citizens welcome private ownership of the gas works.

The price which the plant has brought is highly satisfactory. It equals the amount of the outstanding bonds for this purpose, and with the sale the City is relieved of the necessity of raising more than thirty-three thousand dollars annually with which to pay interest and provide a sinking fund to retire the bonds. Another phase of the transaction worth consideration is that the property will again be placed on the tax books to bring the City a good revenue which it has missed for three years.

From every point of view the sale is gratifying. We've had a costly experiment, but the experience has taught a valuable lesson.

Slow Procedure

The announcement from Washington the other day that Harry Sinclair, recently convicted on a charge of contempt of court, and sentenced to one year in prison, may not actually be called upon to go to jail for over a year, causes a natural reversion of resentment among those who believe in immediate punishment as the most effective deterrent to crime.

We do not hold that persons charged with crime should be unduly rushed before the courts and summarily convicted. We do not believe that any fair-minded person would object to the process of law consuming sufficient time for the accused to receive the benefit of every possible means which might tend to prove his innocence. No one wants a man to suffer unjustly at the hands of the courts.

On the other hand the practice of prolonging trials to such extent that people grow weary of hearing about them, and become exasperated at having to pay for them, and finally become convinced that it is cheaper to turn the criminals loose than to try to convict them, is becoming more and more obnoxious and right thinking people are rapidly reaching the point where they will not stand for it.

The Times-Union comments wisely on the attitude of the Supreme Court in not encouraging delay in the action of the law, as follows: "The supreme court of Florida, by recent action, is not encouraging delay in criminal cases brought before it from lower courts where convictions have been secured after trials of those charged with serious crimes. Within the past month the state's highest tribunal has affirmed first degree murder convictions and sentences in five cases, indicating that the supreme court is not in favor of delay in the law that justly and properly has been made to apply in the cases brought before it for final decision.

"Of the cases recently disposed of affirmatively by the supreme court one has been dragging along since 1923, when was committed the crime, of murder, with which the defendant was charged, and on which charge he was convicted and sentenced to suffer the severest penalty the law can impose. For five years this particular case has been in the courts, passing through one legal proceeding after another. And now, after the supreme court finally has affirmed the conviction and sentence in this case the defendant still has the way open to appeal to the pardoning authority, which has the very final say in the matter.

"Although every defendant at the bar of justice has constitutional assurance of a fair and speedy trial it is evidently not the purpose of the law to delay justice unwarrantedly, by unnecessary proceedings, or otherwise, but only to safeguard and protect every right to which the accused is entitled under the law. Nevertheless, in many instances, ways and means are found for getting delay in the carrying out of sentences passed upon those duly convicted, until it seems, occasionally, at least, that courts and juries, and even the law itself, are of no avail. But it does happen, and it has happened conspicuously in this state, that the higher court, when appealed to, can and will expedite the carrying out of sentences properly and justly arrived at and imposed. In the five cases here referred to the court has sustained the findings of the lower courts and more of delay in the execution of the law appears unlikely.

"Courts, perhaps, are more fully cognizant, than heretofore, of the fact that the people are entitled to at least as much of consideration as are those duly convicted of serious criminal offenses, that if crime's to be checked, and the people given more of that protection to which they are entitled under the law, there must be reasonably prompt administration of the mandates of the law, and equally prompt movement for carrying into effect the legal penalties provided in the law pertaining to criminal acts. The supreme court of Florida gives evidence of holding to this view, which is a gratifying indication that improved procedure, especially in criminal cases, is coming into vogue."

TAMPA'S AIRPORT TAMPA TRIBUNE

Tampa will assume an important position in the aviation world after next week, when it will be enabled to offer to aviators one of the best appointed airports in the country. Indications are that the formal opening of the airport, to take place next Wednesday, will be an event of outstanding interest throughout the country. In the extent of participation and in the attention which is being received from aviation enthusiasts and from the press, this Tampa occasion promises to be the most notable of its kind in many months.

Government planes and private planes will be here in large numbers. Some of the best known and most famous fliers of the country will attend and take part, headed by Clarence Chamberlin, George Haldeman and Eddie Stinson. The arrangements for the event, handled by local organizations, under the direction of R. Wallace Davis, are receiving much attention, and Tampa will make a creditable showing. The Tampa airport is only four and one-half miles from the center of the city, on Tampa Bay Boulevard. The field has been graded and includes two runways 5,000 feet long and 500 feet wide. An adequate hangar is being built. With a commodious and well arranged airport, Tampa will be in position to receive the benefits of the rapid development of air travel. This city unquestionably will be included in the principal air routes from northern sections to southern points in this country and to our neighboring countries of Central and South America and the islands of the Caribbean. The advantage of this facility, commercially and otherwise, is readily apparent. AD Tampa should join in making the airport opening, February 22, one of the greatest occasions of the year.

Lon Chaney Film Features "Texas Guinan" Night Club

One of New York's famous night clubs was reproduced on an elaborate scale at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios as a setting for "The Big City." Lon Chaney's new vehicle playing today at the Milane Theatre. The club is practically a replica of the famous tavern of Texas Guinan actress and night club hostess, who started the metropolis with her daring innovations.

The club with spectacular ballet and other features, was used as the scene for a thrilling hold-up in the new picture in which Chaney plays a gangster leader. The story is a mystery romance of the New York underworld, with Chaney as a czar of the underworld, and Marceline Day as the heroine, a shopgirl emmeshed in one of his plots. James Murray plays her sweetheart, a young gangster, and the cast includes Betty Compson, Virginia Pearson, John George, Mathew Betz, and others of note.

The story hinges on a love between the young gangster and his sweetheart, and the gangster chief, with the holdup, a sensational police battle, and a gangster war as thrilling incidents. Tod Browning directed the play from his own original story, scenarized by Waldemar Young.

FASHION HINTS

PARIS, Feb. 27.—(INS)—Furs seem to remain as much a part of the fashions for the spring season as for any other. They are now an important part of the collections of the large houses and are being shown together with fresh spring frocks and filmy clothes for summer.

Baby lamb in beige or gray with collar and cuffs of fox dyed to match promises to be a favorite for early spring days. A coat of Hudson seal has a collar and bands down the front of gray furs, and at other of the same dark fur has a wide collar of white ermine and five full bands of the same fur on the lower part of the sleeve.

Clever working of the fur is seen in a coat of curving stripes of summer and winter ermine. A black astrakhan has striking sleeves of ermine in flaring circular flounces. A milk coat has two large circular motifs of the skirt which are repeated on the deep cuffs.

The silhouette for daytime coats is generally made more ample at the top with exquisite shawl collars of a contrasting fur. Broad-tail, seal, mink, shaved lamb, astrakhan and ermine are the most used, worked into motifs of geometric design. For evening there are lovely chinchilla capes.

Lucien Lelong is showing several charming satin cloaks with great cascading cuffs of white fur. There is rarely a collar, and fur is seldom put about the bottom.

Mrs. Coleman Honors Mrs. George Conger

One of the most delightful affairs of the past week was that of Saturday when Mrs. Walter S. Coleman entertained at a bridge luncheon at her home in Dreamworld, honoring Mrs. George C. Conger of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Candy and cereals were the delicacies featured in both the decorations and other details. Bowls and baskets filled with litchins, red sweeties, candy, colored candies and gypophyllas were placed with pleasing effect around the rooms where tables were set for play. The same motif was carried out in the dining room in the beautifully appointed table, centered with a silver basket holding candy, colored candies and red apples. At either side of which were two cursive candles in enameled holders. The tables were done in suggestions of spring.

Following several interesting progressions Mrs. Howard Long was awarded the prize for high score. Mrs. J. C. Gibbs received the consolation prize. A memento of the occasion was given to the guest of honor, Mrs. Conger. Mrs. J. Murray Dobbin and Mrs. Ritzke of Rockwell, Ontario were recipients of gifts typical of Florida.

Budapest Square Is Scene Of Gory Duel

BUDAPEST, Feb. 24.—(INS)—Budapest's most prominent square with Kosuth Plaza became the scene of sensational bloodshed when at night two Hungarian officers, nursing a long-time enmity against each other met and fought a duel with swords and can in the glare of electric lamps in which one of them was severely wounded.

The row started when Major Ranzemberger "challenged" his opponent Colonel Pronyay by sneering at the latter's wife, born Countess Palfy Dam and former lady-in-waiting of the Empress Zita. The colonel released his wife's arm, rushed toward the major and asked him: "Anything you want, please?"

"Nothing from a man like you, to be sure," came the defiant answer, whereupon Pronyay lifted his heavy cane slitting it to the major: "Let's fight it out, defend yourself!" Ranzemberger immediately drew his saber and struck at Pronyay's head. The latter countered by stretching forth his left forearm and Ranzemberger's sabre cut into it twice and deeply.

Daily Fashion Hint

A NEW COMBINATION
 This model in honey dew crepe de Chine offers a complete undergarment. The gathered lower sections, which may be of lace or self-material, make a slip or petticoat unnecessary. The closing is under the left arm. Darts in the front of the braisette make it fit snugly, the entire garment being supported by shoulder straps of ribbon. Medium size requires 3 1/2 yards 36-inch crepe de Chine and 1 yard of 36-inch all-over lace, with 3 yards of trimming for the lower edge.

Chicago's Flop House Runs Short Of Bums

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—(INS)—Wanted—more bums.
 Chicago's new flop house for "down-and-outers" isn't half filled every night, according to E. E. Nison, "Slaphop of the Holmes."
 "We have room for 1,200 men every night but in the first week the new flop house has been opened there have not been enough bums to occupy all the cots."
 "We give the men a clean place to sleep in a well-ventilated warm house and it doesn't cost them a dime."
 The new flop house was begun by the Gospel Loop Church and Mission. The first month's rent was paid up by Nison.
 "We have converted many bums who in turn gave us a little money to operate upon." That's how we keep it going," Nison explained. "But we need more bums."

United States' Population Will Probably Amount To 200 Million In 70 Years

 The United States probably will round out into a nation of 200,000,000 inhabitants in about seventy-five years and then stop growing.

This was given today as the opinion of experts at the U. S. Public Health Service, who said the present excess or births over deaths is approximately 1,000,000 a year.

The birth rate of about 20 per 1,000 population, however, has been declining in the last ten years, not only in the United States but in other civilized countries. The decline in the birth rate probably will be greater than the fall in the death rate, which becomes lower as science increases the span of life. Medical scientists said that it has been found that all civilized nations have a gradual increase in their population up to a certain maximum—as a rule to a population which can be properly supported by the natural and artificial resources of the country—and that then the number of inhabitants remains at a fairly constant level.

This country, in the view of the great accomplishments of science, would have difficulty in supporting a 200,000,000 population, according to the public health service. Chemistry particularly will be a factor in providing the necessary food, better transportation will make greater cities possible, inventive genius will put the farms on an urban standard of living.

The decline in the American birth rate is not race suicide, experts declared. While economic pressure tends to reduce families by the application of birth control, there are believed to be many biological factors as well that tend to cut down the size of the American family.

Experts said that the character of food, increasing mental work, climate, the greater pressure of life today, and general standards of living are believed to have a pronounced influence on the birth rate. The crowded up apartment dwellers of the city, even barring birth control, is not so likely to have a large family as the man and woman on the farm.

Increased culture, education and higher standards of living are deemed the large family of yesterday. Public health officials, especially speaking, these conditions are the intellectual standards of the people are higher.

Because of the controversial nature of the subject, public health authorities declined to comment upon the advisability of scientific birth control, other than to say that parents should not bring into the world more children than they can properly rear.

Officials feel that nature may be

POLICE ARREST LARGE GANG OF MAIL ROBBERS

 Lines leading out of the little hamlet of Evergreen Park. All of those had been cut, showing that the robbery had been carefully planned in advance. But the alarm quickly spread and within an hour Chicago police officials, post office inspectors and county highway officers had begun what appears to be a record cleanup for a major robbery.

"Never in the history of Chicago crime has such a quick cleanup been achieved," declared Deputy City Engineer "Whitney" 26 hours after the train holdup, we had in custody practically every participant. And we have confessions sufficient to obtain conviction of all the players.

From their captives, police learned the loot was divided into seven shares of $7,000 each, with $1,000 set aside as a legal defense fund in case of emergency.

SENATOR SAYS MINERS PLIGHT IS BLOT IN U. S.

 "Aren't these injunctions pretty drastic?" asked Senator Wagner, (R) of New York. "Yes, I guess so," replied the judge, "but we issued the injunctions to get the miners into court to see just what they were going out there."
 No hearings have been held on the injunctions, although they were issued last Aug. "I think it's mighty funny that the strikers aren't pressing for a hearing," said Judge Langham. "I'd think they'd be clamoring for it. My impression is they don't want a hearing." "I think it's getting into dangerous ground to issue injunctions against singing church hymns," interposed Senator Wheeler (D) of Montana. Judge Langham declared he recently bought some 10,000 books for the strikers, and "exhorted them to use the church for religious purposes." He denied vehemently he was interested in miners covered by the injunctions, but said he had some mine stock. Miners told the committee they have been unable to get Judge Langham to set a hearing date.

Today's itinerary included Rochester, Clymer, Commodore and Arden. The committee will leave for Washington late tonight.

Ceylon Is Slated For Gasoline War Within Near Future

BOMBAY, Feb. 27.—(INS)—The activity of the Standard Oil Company of New York in Ceylon indicates the possibility of a gasoline price war between that organization and the Asiatic Petroleum Company, which for many years has held a monopoly in the Ceylon market.

Until very recently, the Standard Oil Company traded only in kerosene oil in Ceylon, but its representatives here have now applied to the government for a concession to build oil tanks at the Kollonai reservation, a tract of land specifically set aside for deposits of oil and gasoline.

H. B. Applegate, the Standard Oil Company's manager in Ceylon, interviewed by a press representative, made no secret of his company's plans.

"I cannot say definitely, however," he added, "that they will be carried out. But there certainly is the possibility that we shall be selling gasoline in Ceylon before the end of this year."

NEW INDUSTRIES FURNISH JOBS TO MANY IN BRITAIN

874,000 Get Employment In 34 New Industries Which Have Been Developed And Expanded In Past 4 Years

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(INS)—Thirty four new industries have been expanded and developed in the past four years in England, as a consequence of which an additional 874,000 people have been given employment, Lord Gainsford, president of the Federation of British Industries, declared before a meeting of the American Chamber of Commerce here.

"In spite of what England has gone through," the great industrialist declared, "the spirit of enterprise is not dead here. We have had troubles and hardships, but we have survived, and today the atmosphere of peace is more prevalent between employers and employed than at any period in our history."

"With the sound finance of our country, and the continued expansion of industry, I believe we shall pull through and gradually become a prosperous nation."

Lord Gainsford paid tribute to industrial conditions and general prosperity in America in the following terms:

"The wealth of the United States is not sufficiently appreciated here. Although America has only seven per cent of the world's population, its inhabitants possess 40 per cent of the world's coal production, 20 per cent of its automobiles, 30 per cent of its railways, 60 per cent of the world's pig-iron production, 50 per cent of the copper, cotton and lumber in the world, and 50 per cent of its telephone communications."

"You have in the United States more gold than you know what to do with," he continued. "I often wonder what you are going to put up a gold statue like the statue of Liberty. You don't want more gold, and you are not going to have more of our commodities. There is a great difficulty before you, and I wonder what is going to be the result of the large American investments outside your own country."

London Flats For Workers To Match Gotham Tenements

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(INS)—Modelled on a plan resembling the "golden flats" for low-salaried workers erected by John D. Rockefeller in New York, a new block of cheap apartments are shortly to be built in one of the most crowded slum districts of London.

The London County Council has acquired three square blocks of land, upon which new stand derelict shops and lumbered-down houses, and mean flats where whole families are compelled to live in a single room. The district which is being improved is that in the neighborhood of Ossulston Street, adjoining St. Pancras Station.

The foundation stone for the block of buildings has already been laid and the plans call for an imposing structure, a veritable honeycomb of neat, modern flats, which will be obtainable for a very small rental. At each end of the block there is to be a garden courtyard, around which dwellings will be grouped, and all arrangements are being made so that tenants will have ample air and light.

The construction is part of the slum clearance scheme undertaken by the London County Council.

England Will Try To Grab American Speed Boat Record

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Britain next year hopes to take from the United States the honor, long held by the latter, of having the "fastest speed craft" on the water.

There is now in course of completion a acres British motorboat with a designed speed of 90 m. p. h.—40 m. p. h. more than present British records, and about 22 miles more than the maximum rate which F. Garfield, the crack America motor-boat racer has attained.

The boat has been designed by the Sunbeam firm, of Wolverhampton, and will have two power units developing 600 h. p. each. The hull is of remarkable hydroplane design.

The boat will be ready for trials on Southampton water immediately the motor-boat season opens, and Major Garfield, holder of the world's record for motor speed on land, will pilot it.

SMART HOME FOR SHOES

A shoe rack that hangs on the inside of your closet door is the cleanest, most convenient and simplest way of keeping shoes off the floor where they get dusty and soiled. A most attractive one may be easily made at home in a short time and at almost no expense. Any baker will sell you one of his empty flour bags for a very few cents and one of those, with five yards of bias tape and two small brass or celluloid rings is all you need to make a case that would cost at least a dollar in any of the shops.

The sack is swiftly unripped by pulling out the chain stitching. To remove the slumping, hard the inner pieces of sack in between over night. Wash out with lukewarm water. The average bag is 36 by 40 inches. Cut off a strip 32 by 22 inches and fold in half so that you have a piece 10 inches wide by 22 inches long. This is the back of the case. The pockets are made out of two strips of the cloth, each nine by thirty-six inches. The top edges should be bound with tape, which should be of some bright color, and the lower edge laid into four box pleats and then bound. The pockets are stitched down to the back, four inches apart. The outer edges of the case are then bound with tape all the way round. A narrow strip of the goods stitched about two inches from the top of the case holds the small strip of wood—a piece of old window blind slat will do—that keeps the case taut.

Sew one of the celluloid rings at each top corner and the case is finished. It will hold four pairs of shoes. By slipping out the strip of wood, the case can be easily laundered.

DISMISSAL ENDS GADJA'S CAREER IN CZECH FORCES

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—(INS)—A doubt of Generals of the Czechoslovakian "armies" had "just" dismissed General Rudolf Gajda, former chief of staff of the Czechoslovakian forces, to a common soldier. As a special favor to him, it declared him a "Neurosthetic" and dismissed him in order to save him the mortification of having to shoulder rifle and pack again. For he is only 30 years old.

This action of the Czechoslovakian generals writes "Finis" under one of the most romantic careers of the world war which in fourteen years carried the 22-year-old druggist's clerk Rudolf Gajda from a common Austrian soldier to the heights of military grandeur and back again.

It has also written "Finis" to the Fascist movements in Czechoslovakia of which Gajda was the head and which one day would lead forward to converting Czechoslovakia into a second "Mussolini."

Drafted By Austria

At the outbreak of the world war in 1914, Gajda was drafted into the Austrian armies. He was taken prisoner by the Russians and became a member of the famous Czech Legion that later tramped through Siberia and to save which killed troops, including Americans, were landed in Russia.

Gajda soon became a leader in the Legion and changed his name to Gajda. He helped Admiral Kolchak, partisan of the Czar, to fight the Russian Bolsheviks and was a brilliant victor for which Kolchak rewarded him by making him Lieutenant General. That was in 1919.

But an irretrievable hankering after political conspiracies which later proved his downfall put him at odds with Kolchak and a year later he returned to his home—now in the now-founded Republic of Czechoslovakia.

The fame of his deeds had preceded him and he was celebrated as a national hero and had every expectation of becoming commander-in-chief of the armies of the new republic. He was then not yet 30.

The Czechoslovakian were just being a French military mission. General Pelle who was a French military school to the soldier's trade first.

Gajda went to Paris to but either because of a bit of or because of a bit of blation, he conspired with the shevists, whom he had bargained for a high post in the Red Army which was at war with Poland and surrendered from military secrets to the shevists who apparently used him only a tool.
