"Reds" Are Planning Demonstration In Tampa Cigar Strike

Police To Oppose Efforts of Agitators To March Upon City Hall This Afternoon

TAMPA, Aug. 14.—(A. P.) Communist influence, which has stood in the background since last Wednesday in the cigar workers' strike, came out in the open today as police prepared to prevent this afternoon a threatened demonstration by "reds" in a march on the city hall.

Manifestos, bearing the signature of the communist party of the district of Florida, were circulated here today written in English and Spanish.

In the document the national recovery act and the President's code were declared a "farce." The strikers, whose walkouts closed all except one major factory, today were unwilling to return to work under the new tobacco industry code demanding the pay effective in 1929 be re-established.

The communist documents declared the scale adopted in the code meant "slavery" for workers. Police Chief Logan learned this morning of plans for a demonstration in courthouse square this afternoon and a great march on the city hall. His statement said the police would not interfere with the demonstration but would not condone the march.

Lehman Is Back After Attending Fair In Chicago

Everything already said locally about the World's Fair at Chicago was given the further endorsement of City Commissioner H. J. Lehman, his son Rodman Lehman, and Howard Long, local business man, yesterday, a few hours after their return, by motor, from that city.

Mr. Lehman "wouldn't attempt to describe the Fair, it is so enormous." He declared that crowds are increasing daily and that automobiles from every section of the country are pouring into Chicago daily filled with sightseers.

The motor trip home, as well as to the Fair, was delightful, and everywhere were signs of optimism and better times. Only a few signs were heard to object to the N. R. A. program and its impact. Mr. Lehman said, while the majority of persons are of the opinion that "we are at the end of our troubles and are on the way to prosperity," he added:

The Lehman arrived in Crown Point, Ind., in time to attend a reunion of members of a Lehman family reunion. Following a short visit there, the family made Chicago their headquarters, and almost daily they visited the Fair grounds or other points of interest.

State N.R.A. Program Reported Favorably

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 14.—(A. P.) The state advisory committee on public works will meet here tonight for a conference with J. Ernest Cotton, newly appointed Florida engineer for the board. The members are C. B. Broadway, chairman; T. G. Brown, Jacksonville, and W. P. Burwell, Miami.

BUSINESS INCREASES

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—(A. P.) The Chamber of Commerce of the city today reported that business conditions in the area yesterday were "fairly good." Wholesale business rose to a level last week as that of the interstate merchandise market likely will be exceeded by 1933 but year's purchases.

BLUE EAGLE IS REACHING OUT FOR TERRITORY

Roosevelt And Helpers Launch New Series Of Meetings To Map Out Future

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(A. P.) The blue eagle is said by officials to be hovering over a fourth of the nation's 40,000,000 workers. To assure that the wage-raising and work-spreading bill would cover even more territory, President Roosevelt and his helpers launched a new series of meetings to map out the future of the program. The President planned to hold his first conference with Hugh S. Johnson, recovery administrator, since his return from his short vacation, then to meet with the recovery council.

Officials declined to estimate with any authority how many of the 5,000,000 men, which was the original goal, have been put to original work but their guesses ranged from as high as 1,500,000 to as low as 200,000.

A federal network, formed by volunteer and paid committees, boards, councils, is rapidly spreading over the country to carry on the anti-depression program advanced by the President.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(A. P.) With the full approval of President Roosevelt, recovery administrators yesterday fashioned plans to make the blue eagle in plans one of the most powerful signs of the federal government.

"Approval of Maryland's assignment completes the road apportionments for all states with the exception of Georgia where local differences between the governor and the state highway department have held up the program."

"While road construction is the first of public works activities to get started in a big way, the navy's shipbuilding program soon will follow creating jobs for many thousands in shipyards and associated industries."

"The navy is co-operating with the public works administration in its desire to open up jobs as quickly as possible. To this end the navy will accept early delivery on auxiliary standard fitting and other materials not immediately needed, but in order to create work at once."

"The administration has been advised that the navy expects to sign the first of the new ship contracts this week."

The public works administrator pointed out signing of a ship contract would mean employment for men in such diversified industries as pumps motors and electrical fittings.

Another Report On Un-Employment Is Expected At Meet

Another report on the local unemployment situation is expected to be released at the City Hall this afternoon at 5:00 o'clock when members of the Advisory Committee of the local N. R. A. Campaign Army will meet to discuss the progress of the program.

Mayor V. A. Speer will preside over the meeting to which all members are urged to attend. Week-end efforts to induce farmers and growers to put men to work clearing land and citrus groves have had some success, it was learned today.

General Hugh Johnson Is Ideal Type To Carry On Work Of Recovery Effort

BALBO AND MEN RECEIVE OVATION IN CITY OF ROME

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(A. P.) Hugh S. Johnson is an epitome to those who think government is a matter of politics.

Old hands at quibbling came to the capital to stage a hearing for a particular industry. They are anxious to sign a "code" of "yes," they say, "but these people that work in their homes, we are quite sure they would rather—"

When that argument, or a similar one, shows signs of becoming a stubborn argument on fight, the word is taken to Johnson, industrial administrator.

He drops his pen, chats and writes. The meeting is adjourned and the conference committee is taken into a room where the general waits.

Then begin the fireworks. "No one is quite certain what kind they are. They must differ with each industry. Big the committee comes out convinced of the general's views. The code is signed and another tale is told to the legend that is rapidly making Johnson the "wonder worker" of the decade.

The secret of the matter is no secret at all. Johnson hits from the shoulder. He uses plain language. He talks to business in its own terms. His friends say he has such an uncanny knowledge that he can put an accusing finger unerringly on hypocrisy.

For instance, there was one fight over price fixing. "If I know can't the plan work without price fixing?" asked someone. That makes the general impatient. His eyes flash. "What can be simpler?" he barks in a general sort of way. He has the ability to hit hard and leave the victim wondering whether he has been struck.

"We are putting men back to work," Johnson says. "Price fixing? Not if we can help it. How will we know when prices become extortionate? This country knows when extortion begins."

No shame, you see. He knows industry from pipe lines to men's suits. He began his career in the army, where straight talking prevailed. But he polished it off with years in Wall Street as investment adviser to Bernard Baruch, the financier. That meant (Continued On Page Three)

Employers Won't Pay For Increased Wages

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(A. P.) The N. R. A. does not expect employers to pay for the increased cost of re-employment.

Hugh S. Johnson, administrator, says "it is inevitable that the employer will raise his price and will himself pay nothing at all."

"The only restraint," says Johnson, "that is asked of the employer is that he not raise his prices any more than his costs are raised. Except in a limited class of cases there is simply nothing to the claim that any employer pays for this increased cost in re-employment."

During the first 12 days of Aug. at Collector Jno. D. Jenkins announced this morning there has been a led to the toll and collected in cash, state and county taxes totaling $215,104.

CAMPAIGN TO PARE ACREAGE BEGINS TODAY

Army Of 30,000 Workers Will Seek To Trim Nation's Annual Grain Harvests

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(A. P.) The bulk of an army of 30,000 workers will go into action in the wheat producing areas today in an effort to trim the nation's average annual harvests.

Specifically, the newest farm drive is aimed at balancing the country's requirements for bread, breakfast foods and protein more nearly with the annual grain supply.

By the end of the week farm administrators disclosed here yesterday, they intend to have the formation of county control organizations well under way over a large share of the four principal wheat producing regions.

The campaign to obtain contracts from farmers agreeing to reduce their acreage in return for government cash benefits will be rushed particularly in the large winter wheat producing region of the Northwest where planting of the crop for harvest next year already has started.

The farm administration yesterday had selected special extension workers in several hundred counties to implement the staff of county agricultural workers.

In some counties where farmers are anxious to hurry their receipts of $90,000,000 in benefit payments—scheduled to be made this fall—temporary organizations already have been established.

As soon as a farmer signs an application for a contract he becomes a member of the county organization. The first job after establishment of such a group is the breaking up of county allotments into greater allotments, on which the payments are based.

The growers' allotment is intended to represent the share of the wheat crop which will go into human and domestic consumption this year, and on which a processing tax of 30 cents a bushel is being levied to provide the funds for the benefit payments.

Farm administrators determined that decentralized organization of the wheat campaign was desirable, and that as far as possible the task of administering it should be left to the growers.

During the first 12 days of Aug. at Collector Jno. D. Jenkins announced this morning there has been a led to the toll and collected in cash, state and county taxes totaling $215,104.

This collection is attributed to the recently approved Fitch bill, and the scope of the question asked Mr. Jenkins during the past week indicates to him that the tax collection will increase considerably before Oct. 2 date of the annual tax sale.

To all agree the statements of three who believe that the Fitch bill "won't amount to much in results," Mr. Jenkins told in the office during the week to ask for a statement of taxes due on 10,000 acres of land in this county. This man stated that he intended to pay 1932 and delinquent taxes on this land, thereby putting it back on the tax roll again.

Mr. Jenkins pointed out that the amount of money collected so far this month represents the collection on lands that have been off the tax roll. "Property which produced a tax collection of $210,000," he said, "has been removed from the list of lands assessed to the state, in other words."

U.S. Warships Drop Anchor In Havana; Looting Is Renewed

MACHADO'S WIFE LANDS IN U. S. ON PRIVATE YACHT

Former President Is In Nassau Awaiting New Developments

KEY WEST, Aug. 14.—(A. P.) The wife and three daughters and other members of the immediate family of the deposed President Machado, of Cuba, arrived here today aboard the private yacht, General Juan Bruno Zayas.

Word of the arrival of the Machado yacht in the Key West channel quickly spread in the city and by the time it reached the dock the surrounding streets were filled with people.

There was no evidence of hostility. Sheriff Thompson asked military protection to aid him and his deputies in keeping order and in handling the crowd which was not allowed to go to the dock.

Mrs. Machado, her daughter, and grandchildren remained below decks. From an unofficial source it was learned that arrangements were in progress for a special train to take the party north probably to New York.

NASSAU, Aug. 14.—(A. P.) Efforts, mainly futile to communicate with friends and associates in Cuba and a shopping tour to replace the clothing in which he fled Cuba Saturday, occupied Machado today. A wireless message went to Key West to await the arrival of his wife and family.

Machado's future plans, his going to Nassau, depend on the answer from his wife and on advice he receives from friends both in the United States and Cuba.

The growers' allotment is intended to represent the share of the wheat crop which will go into human and domestic consumption this year, and on which a processing tax of 30 cents a bushel is being levied to provide the funds for the benefit payments.

Farm administrators determined that decentralized organization of the wheat campaign was desirable, and that as far as possible the task of administering it should be left to the growers.

Machado, whose request for a leave of absence yesterday through the Cuban capital into a frenzy of rumors, which caused his hasty flight from the country, and his family was safe at a resort near Havana.

"I am very tired," Machado said as he waited for a tailor to measure him for clothes—he and his companions fled with only the apparel they had on their backs—"I do not wish to talk and I want further news from Cuba."

"But I will go so far as to say the Cuban people always acknowledge debts and there will be no repudiation. I have been for eight years president of Cuba and the good must be taken with the bad, but I think I have given Cuba a good government."

"I invite you to speak to my secretary of finance," he said, turning to Averbhoff, "who will tell you that in the last month we had a surplus over expenditures. However, I do not wish to defend myself to a government."

Cuban Military Officers Order Men To Fire On All Persons Breaking The Peace

HAVANA, Aug. 14.—(A. P.)—As two United States warships steamed into Havana harbor today to protect American property, renewed outbreaks of looting and arson impelled Cuban military authorities to order their soldiers to fire on all persons violating public order.

Carlos Manuel De Cespedes, new president, completed the cabinet which virtually ignored the claims of all the old political parties and the principal followers of deposed President Gerardo Machado, followed their leader's example by fleeing the island.

Two of General Machado's country estates were sacked in celebration of the victorious revolution which forced the general to abdicate and take refuge in the Bahamas.

The presence of the warships in the harbor, the destroyers Taylor and Claxton, exercised a salutary effect, officials said and the hope was expressed that the violence attending the revolution is near an end.

The United States ship Sturtevant was as Manzanillo on a similar assignment of protecting lives and property. The warships did not indicate intervention by the United States and their presence was approved by the new president.

Disorders during the night resulted in the death of one person and the injury of another. A military order barred parades and prohibited carrying of weapons. The sacking and burning of houses will be severely repressed, the police said. It cautioned all persons to be in the homes after 8:00 P. M.

Mr. Roosevelt acted after consultation with Secretary Hull and Ambassador Welles.

In a formal statement he said the move was made "solely for the purpose of safeguarding and protecting the lives and persons of American citizens in Cuba."

It was emphasized in the White House that there was no intervention of United States troops.

Simultaneously, it was disclosed in high quarters that the President's action would bring no objection in protest from the new Cuban president, Dr. Carlos De Cespedes.

It had been ascertained before the orders were flashed for the warships to proceed.

The Roosevelt administration is known to be sympathetic to the new order in the island republic, resulting from the resignation of President Machado.

It was disclosed authoritatively also that the Roosevelt administration hoped the warships, in addition to protecting the lives and property of United States nationals, would have a stabilizing effect in Cuba and help the new regime by bringing a quick return to order.

In his statement from the White House last night, Mr. Roosevelt said he was concerned over the continued "domestic disturbances, including acts of violence, occurring in some parts of Cuba among certain elements of the population."

COMMITTEE TO MEET

The fate of a proposed labor day celebration in Sanford this year hinges upon the outcome of a special meeting of the Labor Day Celebrations Committee which is scheduled to meet at the Chamber of Commerce office tomorrow afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. Clarence E. Adams will preside, and all members of the committee are expected to be present.

MRS. STONER DIES

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary A. Stoner, 82, who died at her home in Geneva just after midnight last night after a long illness, were held in that town this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. Burial was in the Geneva Cemetery. Mrs. Stoner had resided in Geneva for some time. She was born in New York City on Oct. 7, 1850.

STREK GALT'S HELD

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14.—(A. P.) The magazine Steel reports the industry holding its gains at 44 per cent capacity production and said that a 25 per cent gain in steel ingot production in July 1933 set the daily average to 129,152 gross tons, the highest since June 1930.

BOARD WILL MEET

Having attended to the matter of awarding teachers and principals contracts for the 1933-34 school term in this county, members of the Board of Public Instruction will meet at the Court House on Wednesday morning at 10:00 o'clock to open bids for transportation. Contracts are expected to be awarded during the meeting.

W. V. DUNN, Seminole County Resident.

COMMISSION TO MEET

City Clerk F. B. Lamson expressed the belief this morning that with the return of City Commissioner H. J. Lehman, from Chicago, tonight's meeting of the City Commission will be attended by the entire Commission. In that event, the electric light rate ordinance which has gone on first reading will be up for further discussion which may occupy a major portion of the meeting, he said.

From another source it was learned that O. R. Estridge, deputy sheriff in the office of Sheriff W. J. McClelland, has had a crew of 25 men busy clearing land for the past week. Fifteen of these men returned to work this morning and they will remain on duty for about 10 more days, Mr. Estridge stated. He is clearing a 12 acre strip of land just south of the Trilsson Dance Club on the Sanford-Orlando highway.

Fed-Islander Tilt In East Coast City Tomorrow Holds Promise Of Local Victory

CENTRAL FLORIDA LEAGUE

SANFORD	7	114
Daytona	5	112
Leesburg	5	112
New Smyrna	1	102

If their batting performance against three DeLand left-handers yesterday means anything at all, the Sanford Celerys promise to make it hot for the Daytona Beach Islanders in their game at City Island Park in Daytona tomorrow afternoon.

Sanford's solid base hits were collected to score a 6 to 2 victory in DeLand yesterday. Everybody went into action for the first time in weeks, and even tiny Cy Cruse joined in the celebration by hitting a ball against the left field fence. On top of all that Bert Maxwell hit a ball over the center field fence during batting practice. The pill went over at a spot almost on a direct line with home plate. It was some wallop, said Manager Charlie Abbott today.

Manager Abbott pitched yesterday's game, by the way. He allowed eight hits, three of which came in the ninth inning although no scores came over.

When the Feds go into action tomorrow they will do so behind Tige Minor's hurling. The youngster hasn't pitched for over 10 days now, and is aching for a chance to score his second victory over that club.

The season's series between the two teams stands four wins for the Islanders and three for the Feds. As all Fed fans know, two of the four Islander wins came on errors. Cal Dennis lost a 10-inning game here on errors, while about two weeks ago he lost a 15-inning game to the Islanders on errors.

Tomorrow the Feds will have to look at George Cusack's curvball again. George has beaten the Feds twice since the second half started, and since he is a natural drawing card at Daytona, it is expected that the park will be filled with fans.

It can be said all over again that tomorrow's tilt is a "crucial" one. Every game from now on is "crucial." With the season nearly half over, and the Feds sure of going into the play-off only if they win the second half pennant, they've got to hustle from now on.

A victory tomorrow will give them a better hold on second place. That Minor will pitch his heart out is assured, while it can be expected that every man on the team will be fighting mad, trying to get out of the batting slump that has struck hard.

The most promising game of the morrow is that to be played at Cocoa between the Indians and the amazing Leesburg Bruins. When the Bruins knocked the Islanders down twice Thursday, fans changed their minds about the second half race being only between Sanford, Orlando, Cocoa, and Daytona. They had to add Leesburg to the list.

Lee Meadows, the old National League star, is scheduled to pitch for the Bruins tomorrow. Meadows has lived at Leesburg for many years and is now a district agent for the state. Opposed to Meadows probably will be Speck Kinsey, University of Florida hurler who lost his first start in the league to Leesburg 10 days ago by a close score.

The Orlando Tigers will have no trouble at all in holding on to their league-lead tie with Cocoa for they will be playing the last place New Smyrna Crackers in Orlando and a victory is dead certain. Tex Carleton may start for the Tigers, although it is more than likely that Urb Yochum, diamond-ball star signed by Orlando on Friday, will get the call. Clyde Wright will pitch for the Crackers.

Official Standings:

Coal Operators In Alabama Refuse To Agree With Union

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Efforts to formulate a single code covering the giant bituminous industry ran into new difficulties yesterday in a flat refusal by Alabama coal operators to consent to their inclusion in the general agreement proposed by union miners and union operators.

Notice that the Alabamians under no circumstances would yield on this point was served at a hearing before the recovery administration as Hugh S. Johnson, N. R. A. chief, made it clear he would not stand for the "open shop" feature which other union operators insist upon.

The code of competition offered by the Alabama group, intended to apply only to that state's coal industry and to be locally administered, provides for the maintenance of present wage scales and specifically reserves the right of workers not to enter any labor organization.

Meanwhile, an appeal to bituminous operators to "put your machines under the shed until we get out of the ditch," was made by W. C. Kane of Saline county, Illinois.

"It would take quite a lot of patriotism to apply that major operation," Kane said, "but it has worked in our country."

Kane said one mine in Illinois removed its loading machinery and increased its average employment from 240 to 303 men and that the average daily earnings were greater.

Deputy Warden Of Federal Prison Is Handed Suspension

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Patrick J. Kearney, deputy warden of the federal prison annex here, was suspended yesterday for an alleged part in conferring special privileges on Terry Druggan, Chicago racketeer, serving two and a half years for income tax evasion.

The suspension was ordered by Warden Hudspeth immediately upon his return from Washington. Hudspeth was called there by Sanford Bates, director of prisons, for a continuation of the investigation of the Druggan affair.

After an investigation late in July the department of justice announced it had discovered the Chicago beer baron, as an outside trustee, had been permitted to drive a prison truck and to visit a woman friend who had taken up temporary residence in Leavenworth.

The "woman friend," was identified by Leavenworth police as Bernice van de Houten, of Chicago. Some neighbors insisted Druggan had carried on his beer business by long-distance telephone from her house.

Druggan was stripped of his privileges and the department ordered the suspension of Chaplain James A. Ording, Lester M. Wahler, a guard, and Vernon R. Swearingen, chief motor car mechanic. The chaplain later emphatically denied any hand in the affair.

roe struck out 11 men, but nine errors back of him proved costly. Tomorrow the Grapeville team will play at Lake Monroe, while the Edgewood team plays the Sanford Junior team on the Ninth Street Diamond.

PIONEERS OF TRANSPORTATION, 200 ACTORS IN "WINGS OF CENTURY" TRUE WORLD'S FAIR THRILL

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Conquest and travel will always thrill Americans. It took conquerors brave and bold to mould America from a vast wilderness. It took conquest as courageous to gain victory over the tremendous distances between the corners of a great nation.

What patriot has not wished for the chance to turn back the years and to see for himself the struggles and the triumphs of his forefathers? A dream, a dream, a dream.

Now in the Chicago World's Fair—A Century of Progress—it is a dream come to life. For "Wings of a Century," gigantic pageant of the romance of transportation, brings it to life.

Here, in a great amphitheater, on a spacious stage whose only drop is the spread of the stars, making the outlook feel that he is gaining over the heads of the actors into a glorious future, are the actual vehicles that created the history of transportation in the United States.

Reenact Boone's Trip. As the present begins, the wilderness pathfinder of 1700 to 1750, with his fellow pioneers, beats his way across the wastes on foot, on horse, in canoes, Indians, priests, hunters and trappers all are garbed actually as they were in the days of their work.

The scene shifts to 1807. It is "Little Old New York," and the day is that of the voyage of the first steamboat, creation of Robert Fulton, opening a new chapter in water travel. The mayor and his party are on hand to greet it. Seeing the smoke, city firemen rush to the fore with buckets to save the ship from destruction, only to learn that it is meant to smoke like that.

Next come the barges of the old Erie canal of 1825, with their motley crews arrogant and happy in this, for them, last word in mode of inland travel. There is the landing of the famous Baltimore Clipper ship reenacted in the next scene.

Now 1830 brings that new wonder of wonders, the "iron horse." Across the stage move the old Tom Thumb of 1825, the De Witt Clinton of 1811, the Thomas Jefferson, famed locomotive of 1825. The famed rails carry their trains through the years up to the World's Columbian Exposition of 1893, and finally to the giant, sixteen-wheel monster of the Northern Pacific.

humor, quaint and real. More than 200 actors, directed by Miss Helen Tichen, enact Edward Hopperford's production with a sincerity and title of today. All of them are carrying their load of passengers dressed authentically in period to lend realism.

Not replicas, or miniatures are these pioneer locomotives. They are real, the actual engines that made history, and they all move under their own power. Many of them are operated by the same men who were in their cabs when they rendered actual service. Thrills run up many a chilly spine when the ancient whistles blast the message: "There's life in the old girl yet!"

Produce Old Autos. The "horseless carriage" is not long in appearing upon the scene, and long and loud are the laughs at some of the ludicrous trail-blazers that paved the way for one of the world's greatest industries. And when the newest models of 1933 automobiles speed into view, there is a world of sincerity and gratitude in the applause of the thousands who view "Wings of a Century" every night.

In a grand finale, the take-off of the Wright brothers' airplane is brought to life again to the tune of rustic fairs and far-sighted acclaim. In a final center-stage gesture, a huge transport plane of today dives into view, with the question: What will tomorrow bring? There is plenty of life in "Wings of a Century." Unlike many pageants, it moves fast and is full of of wage and hour agreements employers not reachable by federal law.

More than one hundred years older than the giant Northern Pacific locomotive with which it is pictured above is the De Witt Clinton, one of the earliest of railroad pioneers, but it still moves under its own steam in the great World's Fair transportation drama, "Wings of a Century." A scene from the maiden voyage of the first practical steamboat, invented by Robert Fulton, re-enacted in "Wings of a Century," is shown below.

BIG INDUSTRIES PLACED UNDER CODES OF NRA

Touching at his press conference upon one of the first obstacles laid before him—the question of whether strictly intra-state businesses (those confined to one state) could be compelled to adopt codes, Johnson said "it is probably true that a purely intra-state utility could not be regulated by a federal law."

But, the administrator added, "the situation that has been created by this big code business is something else" leaving the inference that where the law could not prevail public opinion against those not showing the N. R. A. insignia would be effective.

This solution of the problem of reaching every employer in the land with the intent of forcing higher wages and greater employment through shortened working hours was pushed to the fore by the administration as four additional industries were granted permission by him to qualify for the blue eagle under modified presidential re-employment agreements.

They were the drug, cheese, boot and shoe, and cotton hatting industries, employing scores of thousands of workers. More than 40 groups of employers providing jobs for millions of men now have been authorized to sign the blanket agreements with President Roosevelt, modified with their own wage and hour specifications.

Another indication of the heavy pressure which the administration expects to swing behind the blue eagle was given when Johnson told reporters that withdrawal of the insignia from any window would be "an economic death sentence."

Asserting that for the present he intended to let local committees largely take care of violations of agreements to raise wages and decrease hours of work, the administration added: "But the time is coming when somebody is going to take one of these blue eagles off of somebody's window in a clear-cut case. And that is going to be a sentence of economic death."

Hundreds of applications for temporary effectiveness of codes are used in making brashes at the fibre plant near Benson Junction, asked for a ruling on a peculiar situation in his business.

He said that it is impossible to hold negro laborers who go into the swamps seeking these buds, to an eight-hour day, and he wishes information as to how he can display the Blue Eagle and yet work his laborers as in the past.

The committee decided that until further advice is received here, wash house and packing plant employees are to come under the rulings of the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

C. W. Culpepper, Governor whose business consists of the collecting of palmetto buds which fields for one or two hours," he told her.

In addition to the mountaineers from Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee and North Carolina who contest for supremacy in singing, story telling and fiddling today, many eminent poets, musicians and composers will greet Mrs. Roosevelt at the White Top music festival.

The party arrived in Abingdon at 10 A. M. today, motored to White Top Mountain where the contests will be held and will leave for the return trip at 7:37 P. M. With Mrs. Roosevelt are Miss Nancy Cook, her partner in the Val-Kill furniture factory, and Miss Malvina Thompson, her secretary.

An N. R. A. "consumer's blue eagle" will fly in a White House window shortly.

Mrs. Roosevelt has instructed Mrs. Henry D. Mottist, the housekeeper to do all she can to aid and encourage establishments which have signed the President's re-employment agreement and will herself sign the consumer's agreement.

are on file and the administration is concentrating upon pushing these through as fast as they can be amended and approved.

The controversy-generated code for the bituminous coal industry moved slowly ahead at a hearing but there was slight indication that the various groups among the operators were nearer an agreement and the difficult question of labor unions remained unsolved.

Farm Return Move Proving Practical In New York State

MINEOLA, N. Y., Aug. 12.—New York state's "back-to-the-soil" movement is providing one of the most economical and best means of rehabilitating families of unemployed, according to the report of the Emergency Work Bureau filed here recently. Returns on the investment are about 1000 percent, H. G. Peterson, director of the bureau, said.

Wealthy residents of Long Island's north shore have donated the use of 80 acres of land from their estates. These tracts are being worked by 965 families. The state, through the Temporary Emergency Relief Administration, furnished $10.47 worth of seed to each family. Returns in vegetables to each group so far has averaged $137.14. For $6823 spent, $91,069 has been realized in produce.

Each family has spent an average of 50 hours working the pasture farms. The produce cannot be sold, but must be preserved for winter use. Gardens were given to those receiving small relief or no relief at all. Along with the gardens went such necessities as a garden plan, line, rule, spade, pall, rake and hoe. There are 168,404 gardeners in New York State. Mr. Peterson said in his report, "There is a farmer-supervisor at each subsistence farm, with W. E. Geoghegan, of Cornell University, in charge of the state-wide movement."

Second List Of Blue Eagle Owners Posted

A second list of names of Sanford employers who have signed the President's Agreement was posted on the bulletin board at the postoffice this morning by Postmaster J. P. Hall immediately following receipt of the list from Jacksonville.

More than 150 names are on this second "Honor Roll," so that a total of over 200 names are posted on the bulletin board. Names are classified under various business headings such as Grocers, Shoe Stores, Ready-to-Wear stores, etc.

ing one of the companies of such an organization, the organization representing that industry will have a strong incentive to make the violators behave themselves.

"On the other hand there is a grave danger in such an association as that because it is a combination and might lead it to effecting a monopoly or exploitation, which is something that we must watch; and therefore my idea is that from one to three members of this administration sit in that association without vote but with veto power without veto because if I do not want the government to be committed on anything that is done. "Now, as complaints come up through that organization, if they are not satisfactorily and promptly settled by the association governing itself, it has been my idea—and I say all this is somewhat tentative—that it then becomes a question of polling.

"I never expect to have any policemen in this organization if I can avoid it for the reason that I think such duties should be turned over to the Federal trade commission as if it is its job, although I do not think the federal trade commission is now accomplishing what was in the minds of its proponents.

"As far as we are concerned we will assume that it is a polling organization until there is something more definite." Johnson added the law provided

The committee also expects to continue its gathering of data as to increases in employment and payroll, and all such information will be presented to the Advisory Committee as quickly as it is compiled.

Major L. H. Connelly, head of the Information Bureau, asked for definite or emergency rulings on two questions which had been put to him.

He stated that Sanford-Oviedo Truck Growers Inc., officials had asked him whether or not employees of their wash-houses are to be effected by the blanket code as to work hours and wages.

The committee decreed that until further advice is received here, wash house and packing plant employees are to come under the rulings of the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

In addition to the mountaineers from Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee and North Carolina who contest for supremacy in singing, story telling and fiddling today, many eminent poets, musicians and composers will greet Mrs. Roosevelt at the White Top music festival.

The party arrived in Abingdon at 10 A. M. today, motored to White Top Mountain where the contests will be held and will leave for the return trip at 7:37 P. M. With Mrs. Roosevelt are Miss Nancy Cook, her partner in the Val-Kill furniture factory, and Miss Malvina Thompson, her secretary.

WE HAVE accepted the provisions of the Industrial Recovery Act and take pleasure in displaying this emblem as evidence of our co-operation with the President in his campaign to increase employment.
