MITCHELL AND PATRICK BEGIN AIR AGITATION

Both Declare Only Separate Division Can Remedy Defects Of Administration

Mitchell Called "Colonel" By All Patrick Says Board's Suggestions Are Not Broad Enough

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The offensive for a separate air service was renewed concurrently before two congressional committees today by Major General Patrick, chief of the Army Air Service, and William Mitchell, once Gen. Patrick's assistant, and more recently the center of a quarrel over policy which led to his court-martial and resignation from the Army.

Mitchell's "Colonel" was the way Mitchell described the present status of aviation to the House Military committee. Patrick, appearing before the Senate Military committee, declared the recommendations of the president's air board did not go far enough, and renewed his advocacy of an Army air corps as a separate organization, and with an independent status like that of the Marine Corps.

The air service chief interposed no objection to the Wadsworth bill, drafted by the War Department along the lines of the air board's findings and providing for segregation of the air service under a new assistant secretary of war. He insisted, however, that the proposal was only a partial solution.

Mitchell still was addressed as "Colonel" by members of the House committee despite his retirement to civilian life four days ago. Mitchell renewed the charges against present management of aviation which led to his court-martial.

"You've got no system whatever for operation, training or equipment," he said. "The air personnel still is on duty with the army when it should be trained to prevent armies from coming together. The whole corporation is wrong."

He appealed to Congress to "give a specific mission to air power" and said $65,000,000 a year would maintain an adequate air force.

MARKETS

CHICAGO, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Fresh setbacks in the price of wheat were witnessed today during the early dealings here. A continued decline in operations at Liverpool and Buenos Aires was largely responsible for the most part selling appeared to be of a scattering kind, but no indications of better export activity were in evidence. The opening, which ranged from 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents lower, May new 17 1/2 and July 19 1/2 cents was followed by a moderate decline to 17 1/2 and 19 1/2 cents, respectively, with a lack of any special power to rally.

Predictions of liberal receipts of corn tendered to weaken both corn and oats. After opening quiet, the corn market underwent an additional drop. Oats started 1/2 to 3/4 cent lower, May 4 1/2 and later continued to recede.

In the provision market the effect of grain weakness served to more than counterbalance for higher prices on hogs.

FREE Foot Comfort Demonstration SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 6

Foot troubles are universal. Government records show that 7 out of every 10 adult people have some form of foot trouble.

You are probably a victim of foot trouble yourself. It may be only a corn, a callous, a bunion or some more serious trouble such as weak and broken-down arches. You might not know the nature of your trouble but you do know that your feet ache, pain, and get all tired out on the slightest provocation.

FOOT COMFORT EXPERT HERE

Come to our Foot Comfort Department on the above date and get a Free Demonstration. There's no charge for this valuable service. This work is in charge of a Special Demonstrator from The Scholl Mfg. Co. This is an opportunity that every foot sufferer should grasp.

In a few seconds' time, without removing the shoe, he can make a photographic print of your foot that positively shows if you do have foot troubles and to what stage the trouble has progressed. This service is absolutely free and places you under no obligation whatever.

FREE SAMPLES

Do you want to know how to stop corns hurting instantly? Come in and get a sample of Dr. Scholl's Zinc-pad. They remove the cause of corns—friction and pressure. This, antiseptic, healing.

Prince Of Wales In Country For Party With Two Brothers

LONDON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—With one arm in a sling and slumped closely to his body and waited upon by a hovey of rosy checked, bright-eyed farmers' daughters, the Prince of Wales had a pleasant time last evening with a crowd of local farmers.

His hosts were men over whose farms in Leicestershire Wales often has galloped, and sometimes rolled when he became a cropper while following the hounds. The arm in the sling is a consequence of one of these tumbles. The Duke of York and Prince Henry, brothers of Wales, also were guests of the farmers, many of them personal friends.

And it was a free and easy dinner. Jollity was the feature. All of the homely fare was placed on tables—roast and boiled joints, boiled vegetables and simple puddings.

The heir to the throne of Great Britain wore a grey lounge suit and a soft collar. A large majority of those present had on morning dress, but the Duke of York and Prince Henry donned evening clothes.

Klvana Acquitted Of Murder After 11 Months In Prison

MINEOLA, N. Y., Feb. 5.—(AP)—Stanley Klvana, who faced a jury three times and spent 11 months in the death house at Sing Sing, today is free from the shadow of the electric chair.

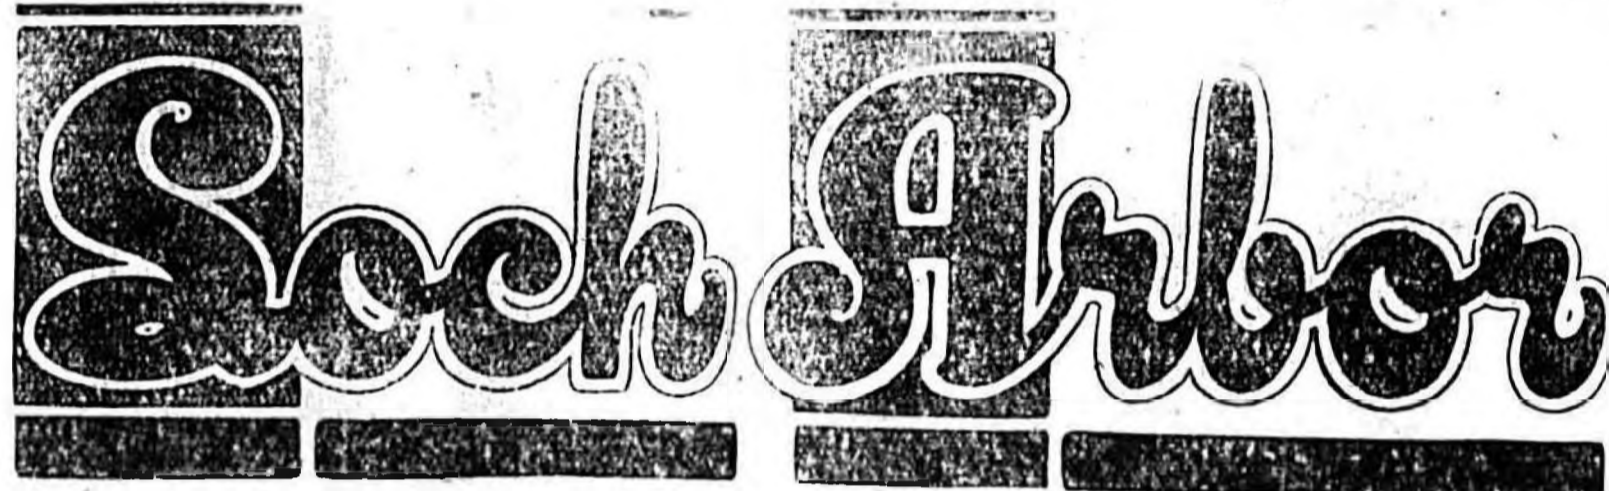

He was acquitted on a murder charge last night by a jury which refused to believe the testimony of Ambrose Ross, three times temporarily reprieved within a few hours of his execution, who implicated Klvana in the murder of a band salesman, during a holdup at the Bellmore National Bank in 1924.

Klvana was held in $25,000 bail as a material witness of the robbery. Ross is condemned to die the week of Feb. 15 for murder.

The jury was out only an hour and a half. Ross was brought to trial from the death house under some of the underworld would take vengeance. The court room was guarded by numerous officers armed with pistols and repeating rifles.

Value and Beauty Enhancement assured through careful restrictions

Nothing enhances values more than insurance of pre-erections of beautiful homes, homes on par with one another in which the architecture treatment is harmonious throughout. A development is as beautiful as its homes, and as valuable as it is beautiful.

Throughout the development of Loch Arbor this one important factor is ever present during the improving and developing. The idealistic vision of the developers have been carried out to the letter, without thought of cost. Nothing enhance values more than insurance of preserved natural beauty, the handwork of landscape experts are adding much to this natural beauty spot. Homesites are of ample size to allow abundance of air and sunshine—a play ground where the children can romp and run—and a spot where the lovers of natural beauties can grow their most choice plants. All these pleasures are possible in Loch Arbor for it is, as originally planned, a development of country estates.

Of Two Funerals

PAMPERED PEKINESE at the Burial of Ping Pong

... This is the first time that a Pekinese dog has been buried in a funeral home. The dog was the pet of a young man who died last week. The funeral was held at the home of the mother, and the dog was buried in a casket with the young man. The dog was very pampered and was the center of attention at the funeral.

A PUNY CHILD at the Burial of Rosetta

... out on Long Island, or over in Jersey, or up in fashionable Westchester county, where sunlight and fresh air are plentiful, just for Rosetta's sake. So Rosetta, still smiling, still as much as possible, still friendly with all the other "kids" in the Mulberry Street neighborhood, got worse and worse, and finally died. Her illness lasted about a week. The mother wept quietly because there couldn't be a mere funeral. But nice funerals are expensive. The casket cost $24, a pine box $10, a car to the cemetery $12. And though the burial plot was free, it cost $1 to get a permit and $5 to have the grave dug. The neighbor children supplied the only flowers. There was a pretty bunch of these, though they were wilted somewhat. So Rosetta died and was buried as she had lived—in deprivation and shadow.

Fair At Tampa Has Auspicious Day When Gates Open To Thousands

TAMPA, Feb. 5.—The eleventh annual South Florida Fair received an auspicious opening today, with thousands of visitors flocking to the grounds. The fair is held at the University of Tampa and is one of the largest and most popular in the South. The grounds are beautifully landscaped and the exhibits are of high quality. The fair is expected to run for several weeks.

... From the exhibition of new models of automobiles, to the display of the latest in fashion, the fair has everything to offer. The exhibits are arranged in a logical and attractive manner, and the fair is well attended. The grounds are clean and well maintained, and the fair is a pleasure to visit. The fair is a great success and is expected to be a record breaker.

COSTLIEST APARTMENTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—The most expensive apartments in the world are to be erected on Fifth avenue. The latest expensive sales in this new building, which is twelve stories high, will contain ten rooms. The most expensive, with twenty rooms, will cost as much as $400,000.

OPERA COMPANY MOVES

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Final authorization for moving the Metropolitan Opera company has been given. After a long fight between Otto H. Kahn, chairman, and certain members of the board of directors, permission has been granted for the erection of a new building of 400,000 square feet, probably to be completed in 1928.

Saw Harry Thaw, who reappears on Broadway at intervals of ten days or less, and this time he was with a blonde. Saw Ruth Conley, a clever young dancer, and she was limping. Inquiry elicited that she suffers from "Charleston knee," an ailment which may become as common as the "housemaid" variety if the turbulent new dance continues its popularity. Saw James Walker, the new mayor of this village, "licking the ivories" for the newspaper geese at the annual high links of the Newspaper Club. For "old times sake" the mayor played the composition that gave him his start in life: "Will You Love Me In December As You Do In May." Saw Max Hoffman Jr., the dancing young offspring of the famous Gertrude, and he appears both in theaters and night clubs, thus carrying on the theatrical tradition, since his father leads an orchestra and produces musical shows.

Saw Mac Samuels, known across the continent as the "blue streak of vaudeville," and I am minded that it was just about 15 years ago that he was "discovered" singing in a Chicago nickelodeon.

IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—Saw up and down Broadway 1 all but collided with Frank McIntyre, the elephantine comedian whose 300 pounds, more or less, occupy the major portion of almost any sidewalk.

In the course of chatter he sprung the grand old line: "I was a newspaperman once myself." And, sure enough, he was once an infinitive splitter on the Ann Arbor (Mich.) Argus.

It so happened that a prominent citizen had died and a headwriter jotted down the words:

PASSES AWAY IN THE NIGHT

It also happened that, on the same day, a young man left town without saying good-bye to his landlady and several others. Another head was written, which went something like this:

YOUTH

Old times, gold times, Times when we were young, Where's the song that can compare With the songs we sung?

Old times, bold times, Times before a care, Had come in to weigh us down, Oh, but they were fair!

Old times, gold times, Times of mirth and play, But the songs would still be sweet, Could we sing today?

Old times, bold times, Dearly are they kept, Of our heads have bowed to carve, Often we have wept.

Old times, gold times, When these girls dance the Charleston we don't see how these rolled stockings can stay up.

Old times, bold times, When you can't understand what's coming over the radio, it's static or someone singing in Spanish.

Old times, gold times, Being a congressman isn't so bad; a Georgia representative recently received a dozen fresh eggs from one of his constituents.

Old times, bold times, "Ma" Ferguson is getting to be more of a politician every day. Now she has entered suit for libel against a Texas paper for attacking her public record.

Old times, gold times, There are still some people who write anonymous letters to newspapers with the request that they deposit such letters in the waste-paper basket.

Old times, bold times, The third edition of Frank Parker Stockbridge's book, "Florida in the Making," will soon be in the press.

Old times, gold times, I craved to add a third to the list of wheelbarrow jokes.

Old times, bold times, I craved to add a third to the list of wheelbarrow jokes.

Unfriendly Rivalry

The Tampa Tribune and the Miami Herald, two of the leading papers of the state, in fact two of the largest and best papers of the entire country, have been saying spiteful things about each other which threaten to do harm not only to their own communities but to all of Florida as well.

The argument seems to have started with more or less friendly rivalry concerning the population of their respective communities. Actually Miami annexed adjacent territory as she very properly should; Tampa did the same.

All this is very well. But the trouble seems to have gone further. Unpleasant things have been said by both papers concerning "epidemics." The Herald says that a smallpox "epidemic" has been raging in Tampa for weeks.

We have made no personal investigation of the alleged "epidemics" but we do not believe that a very serious condition exists in either city. We are fully convinced that as a general rule Florida cities are the healthiest communities in the whole world.

Florida newspapers which knock one another, even if what they say should be true, make a serious mistake and are deviating considerably from the true spirit of this state.

A Bad Egg

If Osborne Wood has never done anything worth while during the course of his whole worthless life, at least he has provided a moral lesson which it is well to learn and which may help to prevent others from allowing themselves to degenerate into the class of ne'er-do-wells.

Osborne Wood was favored with opportunity and environment. He came from an old and noble family. His father was a great and illustrious general and statesman.

But apparently he couldn't stand the monotonous routine of army life. He couldn't wait to work himself to the top as his father did. He speculated on the markets in Wall Street and was lucky.

But he went to France and lost everything he had at Biarritz and Monte Carlo. He issued bad checks and was hunted by the authorities. He made his way back to this country and went into the real estate business in Tampa.

The last we have heard of him he is in Cuba, but he is wanted in Palm Beach where the sheriff says he will put him in jail for issuing bad checks if he can find him.

Do Americans Hate To Think?

In one of his piquant and pithy paragraphs appearing recently, Arthur Brisbane says that millions of Americans dislike H. G. Wells because he has made them think. Americans as a rule hate to think, Mr. Brisbane adds.

Is this altogether true? We think not. One great trouble with the American today is his tendency to spend hours thinking lightly on a multitude of matters, seeking always to get something new, something different. He thinks altogether too much sometimes, too much of scientific, moral and ethical matters instead of confining his thoughts to business affairs, but we are indebted to this method of thinking for the cotton gin, the steamboat and any number of American inventions that have revolutionized the industries of the world.

The same enthusiasm and vim that characterizes us physically prevails in the average American intellect, which is usually an ambitious if not a very remarkable intellect. The American may lack the stolid concentration of the Englishman. His thoughts may be forever flying off on tangents in search of new fields, but while he is essentially practical, these mental sorties have often resulted in opening up great visions with subsequent invaluable contributions to the world.

Thinking is on the whole a queer process that no two people do alike. Some think intelligently and comprehensively, omitting no detail, while others less fortunate roll the matter over in their minds and it comes out as undigested as a pickled oyster.

To this latter class of people thinking is something that they are really incapable of doing; it is more than a burden, it is an impossibility. Those blessed persons who can think well either from inheritance or training find in thinking the key to worlds of happiness. Thinking is to the mite Aladdin's lamp for every occasion. It is their greatest legacy, a never failing source of comfort and pleasure without which life amid the most luxurious surroundings would be comparable to dwelling in a palace surrounded by desert wastes.

So we don't agree with Mr. Brisbane when he says that thinking is a burden which the average man hates. Those who know how to think delight in thinking, while those who consider it a burden really don't know how to think at all.

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

Wheelbarrows have been the subject of at least two standard anecdotes. There is the stock story of the Irish laborer who angrily yelled at an Italian coworker: "Here you, quit monkeying with that there wheelbarrow. What would an ignorant dago like you know about machinery?" And there is the other dependable standby which nearly everybody has heard of the visitor who was being escorted over the grounds of the state lunatic asylum and came to where a squad of the inmates were trundling material for a building job.

I craved to add a third to the list of wheelbarrow jokes. The man who told it to me vouched for its authenticity. He said that in a little town in Georgia there was a cotton-mill hand who, on account of the closing down of the mill, was given a summertime job of cleaning and repairing the village streets. He had no associates, and undoubtedly the work grew monotonous, yet he stuck to the task because he needed the money which the municipality paid him to tide him over the dull season.

One blazing hot morning a passer-by noticed that he was dragging his barrow behind him as he passed through the principal street. To the onlooker this seemed an especially laborious way of moving the unwieldy vehicle.

"Say, Bill," he called out, "what's the big idea? Why not push your wheelbarrow instead of pulling it?" "Well, Mr. Durison," answered the languid operative, "I do get so tired that I can't even think of pushing it till it's full of bricks."

As Brisbane Sees It

$50,000,000 For Canal; Second Coolidge Election; Eating Hard Alcohol; Diamond Blazing. By ARTHUR BRISBANE copyright 1926, by Star Publishing Co.

MR. MADDEN of Illinois, chairman of the house appropriations committee, announces that fifty million dollars will be used to develop inland waterways. The amount was increased ten millions by President Coolidge's recommendation.

That is a start, although small. A complete plan should be mapped out and put through, as fast as engineers, men and machinery can be found to do it, no matter what it costs.

A nation that could oblige its neighbors in Europe with ten thousand million dollars in a hurry to finance their job of building each other's roads, and each other's land, should find money to develop its own nation and its own resources.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE, the people to remember as they read speeches made in congress that some speeches are for political effect. That is reasonable. Statesmen talk with another election in view.

SENATOR HARRISON of Mississippi, highly indignant, denounced the president for a statement "unworthy of a president of the United States." That is less reasonable. Free speech is part of our government doctrine, although our statesmen, did suppress it for a while in war time. The senators may say what they think in the senate and start their campaigns there. It is the right and duty of the President to say what he thinks and knows.

IT IS natural and proper that the President should talk and frankly. In 1928 he will be elected president again. For the second time.

That being so the people want all possible information about his mental operations.

MR. VOLSTEAD, now legal adviser of prohibition, has a plan to wipe out all legalized production of alcohol. He demands an end of all preparations for rubbing the body, hair, etc. Taking the moral ground that alcohol through the pores is almost as bad as alcohol through the mouth.

THIS, SAY the "body rub" manufacturers, would be confiscation of property, worth millions of dollars. However, prohibition confiscated property of brewers worth hundreds of millions and at the same time made bootleg whiskey the national drink. It has been set forth that the people have a right to confiscate property where it is not wanted.

Objection to the "body rub" is based on the fact that thirty men drink the "rub" and some do worse. In one great steel manufacturing city a local rule forbids selling alcohol made into solid cakes for use in the streets. Some men ate those cakes. Changing old habits is slow work.

KING GEORGE and Queen Mary opened parliament sitting in a blazing glory in the house of lords and peers and perceiving around them correspondents' desks and reporters' desks, the king's pearls as unusually brilliant. The court is in mourning for Queen Alexandra, Mother of King George, and black dresses made the diamonds seem more brilliant. Queen Mary wore "a huge stonemason of diamonds, pearl and diamond collar and a diamond crown which must represent a million of diamonds." Princesses and peeresses all did their best.

DIAMONDS THAT the Romanoffs carried off in 1917, are now sold by the Bolsheviks, the money used to buy American plows for Russian peasants. But this doesn't worry King George. War has the scars, British royalty follows where the people lead. In a country where the right to think, say and write what you please is still taken seriously, the king is a free country, even for kings and their diamonds.

FAILURE OF another effort to control the strike coal so much nearer to control by the government. Coal under ground is owned by individuals, only through public consent, a practical lockout. Absolute public necessity, air, water, coal, railroads, must naturally be subject to public control. Mine owners are said by union leaders to be forcing a practical lockout. The unions brought trouble on themselves in the beginning by defiant refusal of arbitration. Unions and owners are working here as they have done in England toward government control of mines. It will come in England before long. It will come here eventually. The people will not forever consent to a "strike" while "capital and labor" fight about the terms on which the people may have heat.

ROAD building in the United States has made tremendous progress in the last ten years. Ten years ago the whole country was experimenting. The public had just awakened to realization that the automobile was to become the universal mode of transportation. A period of road-building hysteria followed upon this realization. It was haphazard. Some of the early roads held up, but many crumbled under traffic. Michigan's own experiment in gravel on main trunklines was an expensive error. Now, however, looking back at the achievements made known in the annual international convention of road men in Chicago, we discern the great progress that has been accomplished.

Ten years ago Michigan was trying to piece together serviceable roads between its larger cities.

Today Michigan is crossed and criss-crossed by paved trunklines and in the nation, trunkline roads link east with west. The whole country has profited by the early experiments. Road Austin P. Bonnet, vice-president of the Lincoln Highway Association, said recently: "Road building is no longer a rule-of-thumb enterprise. It has become a science with definite data as its basis."

Yet, with all this progress, there still remains one weakness in our highway engineering. In Michigan at least, we have yet to learn how to salvage highways which have not served out their usefulness but which cannot stand modern heavy traffic. It is folly to attempt the saving of money on maintenance of roads which cannot immediately be replaced and which must be used.

ABSORB THESE FACTS

TAMPA TELEGRAPH

To our visitors. Tampa the home of the South Florida Fair in giving you glad welcome urges that you become familiar with Florida's varied resources.

This fair gives you ample opportunity to investigate as to what Florida is doing along agricultural lines. There is not a county in Florida which does not offer peculiar advantages for safe investments. There is not a county that is not growing in prosperity, and everywhere there is proof of added wealth.

L. M. Rhodes, state market commissioner for Florida, is the best versed man in this country as relates to agriculture. He says that Florida grows a greater variety of food products than any two states in the Union.

Mr. Rhodes goes further. He says that no other place on the globe can produce greater profits per acre than Florida.

It makes no difference what state you are from you never saw finer vegetables and other soil products than are now on exhibition at the South Florida Fair.

Back home you have friends and relatives who are wrapped in blankets waiting for the gentle spring time whereby they can get into the fields and plow, hopeful for 1926 of one crop. The things you see at the South Florida Fair are growing in abundance all over the state. The citrus fruits you see as to quality are in competition with none. Nowhere else are such oranges, and grapefruit grown—nowhere else can they be grown. You have heard some knocks about Florida soil back in your own states. You heard many infamous lies from these deam-

ers. The Telegraph is proud that you are here. You can go back home and brand the infamy. Better still write back while you remain to become a part of this great prospect.

See the fair—and know all about Florida. As added information, The Telegraph would have you fire back home the following facts:

Florida—produces the menu for America's table from fruit to nuts. Florida—produces 85 per cent of the grapefruit of the world. Florida's cantaloupes and watermelons are the first on the market.

Florida—has 250 different varieties of crops, nuts, fruits and vegetables. Florida—has 85,000,000 fruit and nut bearing trees. Florida's strawberries lead the world in time, quality and price. Florida's potato crop, packed in barrels, sides touching, would reach from Tampa to St. Louis.

Florida—leads the world in tomatoes, producing one-third of the world's crop. Florida—is in the market center of the world and has 6,242 miles of railroads. Florida's citrus crop sold for over $55,000,000 last year. Florida's winter green vegetable sold for over $60,000,000 last year. Florida is spending $35,000,000 for good roads.

Florida's pecan and orange groves pay the largest interest of any investment in the world. Florida—has no sunstrokes, no fogs, needs no irrigation. Florida—farms have the purest soft water in the world. Florida—has summertime in the wintertime; pleasant all the time. Florida's lakes and streams abound with fish. Florida—cattle and hogs grow to maturity at one-half the cost of any other state. Florida—poultry can be raised cheaper and has less disease than any other state.

Power And Push Make For A Greater City BRADENTON HERALD

Value of verbal boasting and the push that impresses the casual visitor was brought out at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce with force, for those men know the worth of advertising.

Florida, as a whole has come to the front faster than any of the states developed in the past, simply because the men who came here to make a success of a gigantic undertaking had the right spirit, and the fight that could not be still.

The west coast of this wonderful state has yet to reap its full share of prosperity. This is a critical year in the history of Bradenton, according to speakers at the trade board meeting, for it means greater success or a drop. And if we are to continue our rapid pace of building a great community, now is the time to fire away and continue to fire away.

Bradenton, backed by all the magnificent resources of Manatee county is the garden spot of the west coast, literally and in fact. There is no market vegetable that cannot be grown here. Fifty-three varieties of vegetables are on display at the Tampa Fair, all grown in Manatee county. Surely, we have something to boast and let's get at it right.

Mary Browne Will Concentrate On Tennis During Approaching Season

NEW YORK, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Mary K. Browne intends to devote more of her time this year to tennis, as she thinks that no woman can expect to win honors consistently in tennis and golf at the same time.

She qualified in last year's women's national golf tournament and in 1924 she stepped from the semifinals of the National Tennis championship to the National Golf tournament and reached the final round.

"Golf imposes by far the greatest strain for the two games," says Miss Browne. "There is not reaction to the game such as one gets in tennis, and the change from the court to the links is difficult for the reason that timing one's stroke against a ball in flight is much easier than hitting a sphere not in motion.

"Golf pupils are asked to fuss over many details which are really not important. Keeping your head still, starting your stroke from the left ankle and all such injunctions should be put aside."

"The important thing to do is to keep your eye on the ball until you have hit it, and that's the hardest thing in the game to do."

Miss Browne regards the prospects of a match on the Riviera, between Helen Wills and Suzanne Lenglen as "a game of hide and seek," saying that "the delays cannot be altogether excused by Suzanne's fiery temperament."

Miss Browne spoke of Jack Dempsey's failure to defend his title against Wills and said "both champions are suffering from a silly complex."

Miss Browne thinks that odds of 2 to 1 on Suzanne Lenglen to defeat Miss Wills and 3 to 1 that they never meet are about right.

Fashionable women of London now provide their pet dogs with fancy hoods or bonnets to protect them from the winter cold.

Authority Says Too Many Theaters Are Causing Poor Plays

NEW YORK, Feb. 5, (AP)—Crosby Gaige, the producer, believes there are too many theaters in New York because there are not enough good plays to fill them.

"Nothing hurts the theater more than a sorry production," he said. "People spend their money expecting to see something good and the disappointment is so keen many stay away for some time."

"If we could fill our sixty theaters with sixty good plays it would be a wonderful accomplishment, but the fact is we seldom

Build Permanent Roads for Present-Day Traffic

POUNDRING trucks, rushing busses, speeding automobiles—disasters to highways, a constant problem to the road builder and an unending cost to the taxpayer. How necessary that, when built, a road represent the three fundamentals of road-permanence: Sturdy, durable base, proper surfacing and scientific drainage. And the lack of any one spells early ruin to the best of roads; but, as foundation is important in any construction project, base is the life of a highway!

Lime Rock Solves the Problem

History of roads with a Lime Rock base, the most severe of scientific tests, and the rigid requirements of the Government itself, all testify to the worthiness of Lime Rock.

Lime Rock has the endorsement of leading testing laboratories as a material of exceptional permanence, when drainage is right and surfacing properly spread.

Lime Rock has the approval of the Federal Bureau of Highways, as base material for Government roads.

Such is the chemical composition of Lime Rock, it is its own binder and substance under pressure, an economy of special importance in building long-lasting roads rapidly.

Road life largely depends on its base—and the choice of a base should depend on facts!

One of Florida's most-traveled highways skirts SANFORD MANOR

The Dixie Highway, forming a daily pathway for thousands of automobiles, from as many different localities, skirts the boundaries and passes the beautiful entrance of Sanford Manor.

Traffic Makes value, because it indicates that on certain occasions the continual coming and going of people, which is of powerful public appeal. Concerning highways, if it is not the excellence of the road itself, it is the desirability of that to which it leads.

The Dixie Highway, through the Sanford Manor section, falls under both these headings. The road itself is not only excellent, and a designated National Highway, but leads to the beautiful and bustling City of Sanford, a freighting and passenger steamship port, surrounded by ten thousand of the world's richest producing acres.

Sanford Manor was created to fill the need of this section for a community of homes of the character it deserves. Twelve days of selling activity have witnessed a tremendous buying. Early-development prices, still in effect, offer unparalleled opportunities, both to investors and residents seeking to build.

been obscured by the "feverish" gambling which has been constantly magnified by the newspapers, bankers, and others who yet fail to realize that the world's economic activities are fast becoming a unit, no particular part of which can be exceptional longer. These gentlemen should also recall that the knocker community, itself the knocker individual, has but one shaft returning to it as activity is the roof garden upon the real Florida building, with the relatively flimsy character usually found in such places.

Some thoughtless folks seem to think that the whole gambling world must have adjourned to Florida. That the ticket-machine room club gamblers, the bucket shop frequenters, the oil men and the mine speculators, all suddenly found in Florida the acme of their deams as a table on which to exhibit their skill at the game of chance; that many have even come from foreign countries to ply their trade.

An author, recently returned home from a visit to Miami, remarked to his friend: "You should immediately go to Florida. You are in the selling game and anything may be sold in Florida."

"But," said his friend, "how do you know this? Did you sell anything yourself?" "Yes," said the writer, "I sold my dog."

"Sold your dog?" exclaimed his friend. "What did you get for him?" "$50,000," said the writer. "$50,000?" "Certainly," said the writer. "How did you do it? Did you get the cash?" "Well, no, I didn't exactly get the cash, but I got the equivalent."

"Well, that beats all the Florida stories I have heard to-date. Say just how did you settle for that dog, anyway?" "Well," said the writer, "I got the equivalent of cash all right and saved income tax besides. You see, I took two $25,000 cats."

Florida's second story is the recreation and diversion which the state furnishes in such generous measure—not merely to the old, who find there renewed health and strength, and greater longevity, but to many of the young and middle aged who turn to its beautiful beaches, its yachting, hunting, golfing and fishing for surcease from the nerve-racking speed and monotonous machine-like activity of many modern businesses. Yet, despite the numerous old people who flock to Florida for the winter, it remains, according to state, insurance and federal statistics the healthiest state in the Union.

The third floor of the building is Florida's climate, the exceptional desirability of which is everywhere conceded and nowhere denied. It makes certain that the state will become the American Riviera, the winter playground of the United States. So long as the icy blinza sweep the great lakes; so long as men and women grow old; so long as northern wheels of industry create dividends the old will recuperate and the young recreate in Florida.

Thus far, the structure is sound to the core. This is real Florida, about which untold volumes of praise will be written when the effervescent, all-knowing knocker has been forever smothered by growth and progress, which he had not eyes to see.

To most minds, real Florida has

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv)

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"WELL! WELL! WELL!" said Phicky Mister Havalook. "So everything is settled at last! There isn't going to be a revolution and nobody is to be arrested, either. My nerves are going to have a good rest."

"Then we may go home and tell the Fairy Queen that everything is settled, may we?" said Nancy. "Yes, my dears, soon," said Mister Havalook. "But I am so happy today that I feel like doing something for somebody."

"Hurrah!" cried all the dolls, and Teddy and Sniff Whisker, and even the Gingerbread Man said "Hurrah!" out of his one-sided mouth.

"I am going to let you all into a secret," said Mister Havalook, looking around mysteriously. "I am going to show you into my treasure room."

"What! Your treasure room! Do you have a treasure room?" cried the dolls in such excitement that the ladies almost, but not quite, fainted again.

"Sh!" said Mister Havalook. "Not so loud! My enemy, old Snoospy, may hear. And I wouldn't have old Snoospy know for anything that I even have a treasure, much less a treasure room. Follow me on your tippy-toes, and be as quiet as you can."

Mister Havalook put his spectacles into one pocket and took his ear-trumpet out of another, and beckoned to them to follow.

He went to the wall of the dining room and pushed on a little button. And what should happen then, my dears, do you suppose? The whole wall folded up like a jack-knife, inside itself, and behold, there was another room as dark as a cave.

Then Mister Havalook pressed another button, and behold, about a thousand electric lights appeared.

"Old light bulbs that people throw out," he explained proudly. "They all come to Hidy Go Land and I repair them and put them to use."

"Look at the barrels!" whispered Miss Bobb to the Tin Soldier. "They must have the treasure in them!"

"Right you are," said Mister Havalook. "Follow me, ladies and gentlemen. Step within and I will tell you all about them."

He took the lid off the nearest barrel. "Pins," he said. "All pins. Millions and millions of pins come to Hidy Go Land every day. I gather them up, and now I have nine hundred and ninety pounds, ten ounces, and six hundredweight. All varieties—English hand-poled tin; American brass to be had for ten cents a paper; and the five-cent kind not so fine. Safeties also, and right here are the brooches with sets.

"This next barrel is collar buttons come to Hidy Go Land. Over fifty pounds of them came last month alone. This box is full of lost handkerchiefs. And that old chest is full of umbrellas. If you ever miss an umbrella, you'll know that it has slipped off to Hidy Go Land."

"Have you any jewelry?" asked the Twins curiously. "People lose rings and watches sometimes."

"Sh!" whispered Mister Havalook. "Not so loud. Old Snoospy may hear you. Yes, I have a chestful. Over in that corner."

"Ah, ha!" said a voice which made them all jump. "I heard you that time. I knew that I should find out about your treasure some time. Here I am, your old enemy, Mister Snoospy."

State Surveys The World's Longest Of All Tunnel Projects

SEATTLE, Feb. 5. (AP)—Survey of a proposed thirty-two mile automobile and railroad tunnel through the Cascade mountains has been undertaken by the state of Washington and a committee authorized by the last legislature will report next January on the feasibility of the plan.

The tunnel would be financed with national, state and railway money. The Sijon tunnel through the Alps, for trains only, now is the longest, with a length of 12 1/2 miles. The Moffat tunnel in Colorado being dug under the main range of the continent, divide is six miles long. It will be used by both trains and automobiles and also is designed for carrying water from the western to the eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains.

General H. M. Chittenden, who died here in 1917, conceived the idea of the thirty-two mile Cascade project. He was the original tor, too, of the idea for the ship canal which now links Lake Union within Seattle, and Lake Washington, on the city's inland margin, with Puget Sound and the Pacific Ocean.

The Great Northern railway already is starting an eight mile tunnel through the Cascades to eliminate grade difficulties, cut operating costs and reduce operating time of trains between Chicago and Seattle, several hours.

REPRIEVE TOO MUCH

ROSSINING, N. Y., Feb. 5.—News of a stay of execution was too much for Ambrose Ross, sentenced to die in the electric chair for murder during a bank robbery on Long Island. Ross was eating his last supper, and contemplating the dozen cigars which were to last him until he went to the chair, when the keeper informed him of the reprieve. He became hysterical and was taken to the prison infirmary.

TOY FAIR HELD IN NEW YORK GIVES IDEAS TO SANTA

Hundreds Of Buyers Present For Opening Of Big Show At Which Kris Kringle Gets Kids Christmas Toys

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Miss Sybil Bauer, world's greatest back stroke swimmer, and Miss Ethel Lackie, Olympic 400 meter and national 100 yard free style swimming champion, chaperoned by Mrs. Charles Dean, arrived here today to begin practice for the women's national swimming championships to be held in the Alcazar pool Feb. 9-13.

These two mermaids, who scored so heavily for Uncle Sam in the last Olympic games, will represent the Illinois Athletic Club in this meet. Miss Bauer will defend her title next week against the country's leading mermaids in the back stroke events, while Miss Lackie will defend her title as national 100 yard champion and will compete in the 50 yards and 220 yards free style championship races.

That Costly White Collar

LAUNDRY CHARGES ARE THE CHEAPEST THING ABOUT IT IF YOU WORK FOR A LIVING

NEW YORK, Feb.—To the initial price of your white collar and the cost of having it laundered from time to time, add as an expense charge a permanent decrease in your earning power—if you are one of the "white collar workers" of America.

Since 1890, the decrease has been five per cent, according to Prof. Paul H. Douglas, of the University of Chicago, in a report to the American Economic Association here.

Simultaneously, the earning power of manual labor in manufacturing has mounted 28 per cent, Prof. Douglas said.

He bases his percentages on changes in "real wages"—or the buying power of the amount of money received.

The downward trend of "white collar" wages will reach its end, thinks Prof. Douglas, only when pay for clerical work in non-executive positions is virtually on a level with the pay for manual labor in which skill is required.

Education has brought about the financial handicapping of, the white collar toilers, the economist holds.

Hordes of candidates for white collar jobs—many of them sons and daughters of manual laborers—have been poured into America's economic crucible by the high schools of the country.

The field hasn't been able to absorb them all.

In the "real wage" changes since the 1890-1900 period, according to Douglas, ministers have fared even worse than clerks, with a decrease of 8 per cent.

Teachers are a shining exception to the economic rule, which has been making the white collar a millstone.

Their "real wages" have mounted 104 per cent.

Government employes, including postal workers, are indicated by incomplete figures in Prof. Douglas's report to have suffered worst of all.

While wage earners in manufacturing were lifting their earning power 28 per cent, those in transportation were bettering themselves 22 per cent.

Prof. Douglas has no tears to shed for the white-collared victims of the wage trend he describes.

"The changes have been in proper keeping with the best economic theories," he says.

Pershing To Arrive At Key West Monday

KEY WEST, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Gen. John J. Pershing will arrive in Key West Monday, Feb. 8, aboard the U. S. S. Denver.

General Pershing comes by way of the Canal Zone from Arica, Chile, where he was forced to give up his work on the Tacna-Arica plebiscite because of ill health after an extended trip in South America for some time in the countries of Peru and Chile.

He will stop off in this city for a few hours to await the Florida East Coast train north, which he will take to Washington. General Pershing has been in ill health and will confer with physicians in Washington.

Henderson Is Named U. S. Commissioner

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Elias H. Henderson, of Daytona Beach, has been appointed a U. S. Commissioner for the southern district of Florida, by Judge Rhydon M. Call, of the federal court for the district.

Commissioner Henderson was admitted to practice before the bar of the U. S. district court for the southern district of Florida on Monday, and Judge Call signed the order appointing him commissioner yesterday.

Before coming to Florida Commissioner Henderson practiced before the supreme and district courts of Illinois and the district courts of New York.

Telephone Service Expands To Meet Growing Needs

THE unprecedented growth experienced by the State of Florida last year was reflected in the rapid expansion of the telephone service.

Thousands of new telephone stations were added to the Bell System in Florida, thus widening the scope of the service and increasing its value to the individual customer.

This phenomenal growth has also resulted in an enormous increase in the number of local and long distance calls—at times the load has tested the capacity of the machinery and the skill of the operators.

It is estimated that more than 151,963,500 originating local calls and more than 1,943,900 long distance calls were handled in Florida alone last year. This was an increase of approximately 35 per cent over the previous year. This was at the rate of 400,000 local calls and 5,885 long distance calls a day.

That such a largely increased volume of traffic was handled so well under the difficulties prevailing in many cities is due to the loyal efforts of 815 highly trained operating room employes, who serve you continuously day and night.

The considerate co-operation of subscribers encourages the telephone workers who are responding cheerfully to your needs and endeavoring to maintain quick and dependable service

What a paradise this is for the sportsman!

In the SOLID CENTRAL SECTION of Florida

Swimming

The farthest house in Mount Plymouth will be only a minute, or two, or three from this beautiful lake where bathing facilities will be provided for those who dwell in this marvelous pleasure-city.

Boating

With 4 1/2 miles of shore line gliding this natural lake, fed from springs underground, boating will be a charming diversion for every member of the family so fortunate as to own a home in this borough of loveliness.

Fishing

With rod and reel the angler with his cane will find all the thrill in Plymouth lake the enthusiast could desire. Stocked with gamey black bass, he will not likely be disappointed any day with his catch.

Hunting

Foot-footed deer in the Wekiwa River forest; wild turkey, quail and other game native to this region, are plentiful enough to give any sportsman all the shooting he can desire in season. It is only 3 miles from Mount Plymouth to this happy hunting grounds.

Tennis

Tennis courts near the club house will be one of the features of this marvelous playground place among the hills and lakes of sunny Florida. It is never too cold in Mount Plymouth to indulge in outdoor sports of any kind.

THE man who would come with his family to live in Florida will find no place more inviting than Mount Plymouth. Men who selected this highland-lake region for a pleasure city and invested their own money in its development, are regarded as foremost in business and financial circles in Orange county, Orlando, and the state of Florida.

This is not a promoter's dream nor manipulator's scheme to lure the unwary into a speculator's trap. It is sound to the core.

Your investment in Mount Plymouth lots is not solicited on promise of a fabulous fortune to be made overnight. To be sure, there will be profits—big profits, no doubt—but what is really wanted most is the substantial man of family who will buy here, . . . and build.

This entire region is so very substantial, the country surrounding it so fertile and prolific of fruits, ferns and garden truck that it always has and always will be the "Solid Central Section of Florida."

Lots—both business and residence—are offered now at such surprisingly low prices that rapid enhancement is assured.

The devotees of sports,—golfing; tennis, rowing, swimming, motoring, angling, hunting,—all will find at Mount Plymouth the veritable outdoor elysium of which Florida has no champion in the whole of these United States.

The men whose vision and money is developing in Mount Plymouth a pleasure city of the first magnitude have given to sports the widest latitude for those whose proclivities call them into the open hills and dells the whole year round.

They are building now (it is in course of construction) a magnificent club house surmounting the highest knoll in this expansive arena of beautiful homes—to be, that will border an 18-hole golf links and a turquoise lake with 4 1/2 miles of an entrancing shore line, stocked with as gamey fish as bass are known to be.

Not in some remote section miles away, but right at your doorway is the sporty golf course of 18 holes that will afford you the fullest enjoyment of such a game. Engineered by one of the foremost golf architects and maintained by a special reserve fund for that purpose.

From your front or back piazza, in sound of your voice, is a lake as picturesque and alluring as one will see in this state. Swimming, canoeing or motor boating in these waters will furnish residents of Mount Plymouth a rendezvous as select as one could wish for in a private estate. The nimrod who angles for bass will count his day's catch a treasure seldom experienced outside of Florida waters. For several years this lake has been stocked with small and big-mouth black bass, and fished but little.

Free to Property Owners

No fees or dues are assessed the property owners. The privilege of the clubhouse, the golf links, the lakes, the tennis courts, is extended freely to every resident here. A special maintenance fund for the upkeep of house, grounds and waters is set aside from the sale of lots, hence no assessments.

Hunting 3 Miles Distant

The Wekiwa River forest is only 3 miles from Mount Plymouth, which very soon will be reached by a paved boulevard right from your doorway. Deer, wild turkey, quail, possum, squirrel and other native game provide shooting for any huntsman properly armed.

g Prepares port Season Stars Present

February 8 and continuing until the 17th, Mossman, the clubhouse, is already here, practicing along with scores of others for the big event of the pitching season. A convention of the National Horseback Pitchers' Association will be held during the tournament. The Yankees, arriving here February 21, will launch the training campaign the next morning at the new Yankee Field here. On March 1 the New York regulars and the Boston Braves will get going at their respective parks, and from March 9 to April 1 the city will be treated to a score of exhibition games which will bring ten major league clubs to St. Petersburg.

America's championship girl swimmers will make another onslaught against existing world's records when they appear at the Spa on February 23 and 24. Seven mermaids, all Olympic or national titleholders, will take part in a program of sprints, distance events and diving.

The Florida West Coast open golf championship, at the Pasadena club on March 12 and 13, will draw another field to Hagen's home course. This same tournament last March saw Hagen, Bobby Jones, Barnes, Sarazen, Diegel, Cruikshank, Abe Mitchell, George Duncan and other leading professionals struggling for prizes.

Hagen is now busy lining up another all-star field and promises to produce at least a hundred of the country's best lineymen.

BILLY EVANS Says

BILL MEHLHORN, famous pro golfer, who recently came in for much criticism because he talked too loudly, while Bobby Cruikshank was trying to sink a short putt that would have tied Macdonald Smith for the Texas open, is in the limelight again.

Mehlhorn recently announced that he intended to disconnect himself from golf clubs as a professional.

Other famous golfers like Walter Hagen and Leo Diegel, have for a time tried the free lance game, but have always returned to the fold. Unless I am mistaken Diegel is once again a free agent in golfdom.

Mehlhorn, however, insists he is through. It is hardly believed the unpleasant circumstances in the Texas open, had anything to do with the decision.

It is just possible that the action of Mehlhorn is a forerunner to the fact that in the near future the high salaried golf professional will be a thing of the past.

Under present conditions the position of golf professional at one of the big clubs is a mighty lucrative one. All the golf concessions are his.

I KNOW one crack golfer who seldom has taken part in any but the biggest tournaments, simply because he found there was more money staying at home attending to the wants of the club members.

The municipal golf links throughout the country are indirectly hurting the golf professional. These clubs charge a very moderate fee. Smaller golf clubs have felt the influence of the municipal owned courses more than those located in the larger cities.

Already a number of the smaller clubs have taken over the operation of the club house, getting the receipts from such operations as polishing and shining clubs as well as many other like jobs.

The profits of the concessions, according to many of the smaller clubs, have done much lessen the

LUQUE HARD LUCK PITCHER

BY BILLY EVANS

In baseball certain pitchers are known as tough-luck twirlers. They don't get the breaks. The breaks are a large part of a pitcher's success. He must have the smiles of Dame Fortune if he is in perch at the top of the heap.

Adolfo Luque of Cincinnati stands out as the jinx performer of the National League, while Stanley Coveleskie has had his share of woe in the American.

In the spring of 1923 I dropped into the spring training quarters of the Cincinnati club at Orlando, Fla. The genial Jack Hendricks, manager of the Reds, was the first person I met. We started right in fanning.

"What was the matter with Luque last season?" I asked.

"Always a great admirer of Luque's pitching cunning, I was surprised at the poor showing he had made during the 1922 campaign.

"Not a thing," replied Hendricks, "if he got the breaks he would have been right at the top of the heap."

"When he pitched my club always seemed to be off its stride. If Luque held the opposition to one or two runs, we usually managed to be shut out. The team seemed to go into a battine or fielding slump just as soon as he was announced to pitch."

In 1922 Luque, despite the fact that he ranked fifth in effectiveness as far as earned runs, was twenty-third in the matter of games won and lost. He managed to win 13 games while he lost 23. He led the league in games lost.

"If Luque just gets the breaks he will have a big season," was Hendricks' parting comment on his pitching possibilities.

Luque started to win at the outset of the 1923 race and kept it up all season. He got the breaks. His team always delivered behind his usual excellent pitching.

The close of the season found Luque not only leading in earned run effectiveness with the remarkable average of only 1.33 runs per game, but also the champion pitcher of the major leagues with 27 victories against eight defeats.

"Luque was a great pitcher last

Bill Tilden's Views Given On Professional And Amateur Sports

NEW YORK, Feb. 5. — (AP) — William T. Tilden, American tennis champion, states that an interview appearing in this week's Harvard Crimson, accurately presented his views as to amateur and professional sports.

"The Crimson quoted Tilden as saying that college football is a professional sport and the players might as well be paid for their efforts, Tilden writes the he really said:

"I saw no reason for all the well about amateur and professional sports; that the line of demarcation is paid or not and that under the present system it seemed to me that since organizations are getting the return on sports the players might as well be paid, too."

"I remember (which doubtless the interviewer forgot) that I did not approve of professional sport in theory, but the open professionalism is superior to commercialized amateurism if it evades the law. Strange though it may seem, I am a great believer in amateur sports."

Noed Jockey Asks That Son Be Taught Boxing And Riding

LONDON, Feb. 5. (AP) — Steve Donoghue, England's premier jockey, is raising his boy to be a boxer and a horseman.

"Boxing makes a boy quick and nimble, and such qualities are the very life of a jockey," said the veteran rider, known chiefly in America for his failure to ride Papyrus to victory against Earl Sande on Feb. 19, 1923.

Young Pat Donoghue is a stableboy at Epsom, where his father has raced home winners of the classic Derby four times. Recently the boy won a boxing contest at the National Sporting Club, where well-to-do Englishmen, always in evening dress, by rules of the club, watch the best pugilistic talent Britain can muster.

Miami, Fla. — Benny Touchstone, Miami, knocked out Jack Mulholland, New York.

Hot Springs — Tommy Freeman, Hot Springs, beat Norm Genet, Barberton, Ohio, 10-2.

Peoria, Ill. — "Babe" McGoggin, St. Louis, defeated Larry Soback, Milwaukee, 10.

Leslie Decamera, Springfield, won from Jack Huffman, Peoria, 4.

A lumber factory at Tacoma has made more than 2,000,000 wooden doors, which is said to be a world's record for the industry.

Bowling Tournay Again Under Way

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 4. — (AP) — Delayed again yesterday because of rains, participants in the National Lawn Bowling tournament were ready this morning to go on with their doubles and singles. Three postponements since the tournay opened will probably shove finals in both events into next week.

Aquatic Meet Will Be Held At Tampa After One In St. Augustine

TAMPA, Feb. 5. — (AP) — The Tampa Tribune says today that the national A. A. U. swimming championship for women will be held here from St. Augustine, Fla., and that three day competition in this class is to take place Feb. 21, 22 and 23.

The regular national A. A. U. championships will be held at St. Augustine with the exception of the diving events and the junior 40 yard relay races which, the Tribune says, will also be held here. The announcement said the change was made because of better facilities here for this class of events.

Too Many Golfers Stress Of Driving But Star Pros Adjust Game To Course

(By N. E. A. Service)

The dream of a great percentage of golfers is to learn to drive 300 and 325 yards. And, after watching professionals get out such long drives, many wonder why they cannot get the long distance in their driving.

And yet, when it is all said and done, long driving really is not necessary in order to play good golf and stay in the lower 80's.

The average golf course presents barely more than two long holes of the 600-yard length. Most of them have but one such long hole. The majority of holes run between 300 yards and 450 yards. Those figures indicate that an average drive of from 200 to 250 yards is sufficient and that too much time need not be spent trying to get longer drives.

On the average golf course holes a drive of around 175 yards, straight down the fairway, should get one around the links close to par.

In the 400-yard holes, two average drives of 175 or 200 yards and a mashie or chip to the green is all that is necessary.

In trying too long a drive, the dangers of hooking or slicing are too numerous to encounter. More strokes are wasted in trying to get the long drive than long driving is really worth.

When professionals shoot strange courses they play the cards—taking distance of each hole from either the card or sand box and regulating their drives accordingly.

Professionals play on many a strange course during the course of a year. If they tried long 300-yard drives on every course their scores would be embarrassing.

Their judges of distance, the ability to throttle down to a short drive of 175 or to 250 yards, and the length of the hole may be, what enables them to often shatter course records, even though it be their first time around that particular course.

Old followers of the game are convinced that shorter and straighter driving, with attention being placed to lengths of each hole, are of greater importance in the fight to beat Old Man Par than is attention spent on trying to outdrive the professional who gets 300 and over on the longer holes.

Hon. Ed. Wallhall,
c/o Seminole Hudson-Essex Co.,
Sanford, Florida.

DEAR ED:—

Something is always coming along to take the joy out of life. One of the helps that a poor man has had in the past has been the slow mail service.

If a fellow owed a bill up in New York, he could send along a slow check and live in hopes that the money would come in from some where in time to protect the check.

In fact, plain and fancy "kiting" has been one of the standbys of distressed financiers who were skating where the ice was thin.

But this last straw that the man who was sinking into financial distress has had to grab will soon be taken from him. These slow checks which have saved so many lives will soon be so speeded up that a fellow will be afraid to mail a check unless he has the mazzetta in the bank to protect it.

The airplane mail service, now being so rapidly extended, has "sounded the knell of the parting day" for this sort of financing.

A man in Chicago mails a check to New York. It goes over one night and comes back the next. Soon a check from this neck of the woods will reach New York the morning after the slay your bank account in the face the following morning.

And thus it happens that another hardship will be imposed on the poor fellow who is trying to make one dollar go where two dollars ought to go.

The old world is just naturally speeding up. I wonder if they could make the money just a little faster up there in Washington and speed up its distribution so it would not take so long to reach the right-hand pants pocket.

These are wonderful times we are livin' in, Ed. A man lives longer in a day now than he lived in a year when Hannibal crossed the Alps. True a dollar won't go very far these days unless you invest it in an Essex Coach. Then there's no telling how far it will go. It goes the limit.

Yours,
BILL.

The Store Where Quality Counts

"As Satisfactory as any Gas Stove"

That's the opinion of C. J. Knab, 1805 Ionia Street, Jacksonville.

Read this letter:

"After having used a gas stove for fifteen years I thought I could never get used to an oil stove.

"However, after getting a Perfection Stove, I could see no difference in performance. I experienced no oil odor or anything distasteful in any way. In my estimation the Perfection is the best of all oil stoves."

C. J. Knab

All sizes from a one-burner campstove to the finest five burner range. Prices from $7.00 to $120.00.

Don't long for a gas stove if you live in a no-gas district, or where gas rates are high. Buy a Perfection Oil Stove. You will agree with the writer that it is as satisfactory as a gas stove.

Thousands of Florida women are getting gas stove satisfaction plus from their Perfections. For Perfections are absolutely dependable. They do the cooking on time. With them, the dish that's successful today will be successful tomorrow.

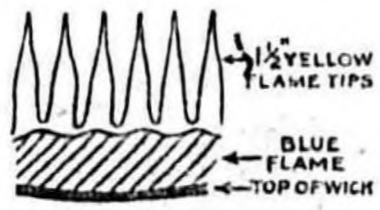

At the touch of a match to the wick Perfections start to cook. Perfections burn only kerosene, that safe, cheap fuel. Easily extinguished, too. Merely turn the wick 'way down.

As to heat—you can have it in varying quantities, for each Perfection burner is independently operated, and gives every range of heat. For the very hot flame used in frying tempting steaks, turn the wick high enough to produce yellow tips 1 1/2 inches long above the blue flame. For a gentle simmering flame, lower the wick. You can easily adjust each wick, for any cooking process.

For fluffy biscuits, dainty puddings, toothsome roasts, or juicy steaks, use a Perfection. You'll be more than satisfied with the results.

Any stove dealer will gladly show you Perfection models. They are equipped with from one to five burners, and vary in price from $7.00 to $120.00 for our finest range with built-in oven.

"Dcm," the mongrel mascot of the U. S. naval area base at South Boston, Mass., doesn't know the general orders of a sentry, but he can go on post and keep out undesirable. His regular post is at the main gate of the base. When his tour comes he sits up, salutes the corporal of the guard, and trots to duty. He is shown here returning the salute of Corporal Andrew E. Broderson.

Doctors Say Trench Mouth Is Caused By The Petting Party

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5. (AP)—A new charge against "petting parties" has been brought by Dr. Allan J. Smith, professor of pathology at the University of Pennsylvania.

These occasions, he contends, probably are one of the important methods of spreading pyorrhea, particularly the type known as "trench mouth," introduced during the war and becoming an increasing cause of infection.

Dr. Smith's statement was based upon research conducted by his associate, Dr. M. T. Barrett, instructor in oral pathology at the university. Dr. Barrett said that while before the war bacterial infection caused not more than 2 or 4 per cent of the pyorrhea infections, at present at least 25 per cent is due to the germ causing "trench mouth."

A small percentage of pyorrhea also is caused by another type of bacteria, known as streptococcus vincenti, but the majority of it still is caused by a kind of amoeba, he said.

Dr. Smith and Dr. Barrett agreed that pyorrhea conditions of the mouth could be removed through proper treatment.

STATE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IS AGAINST PUFFING

Hermann Dann Says Local Bodies Give Too Much Time To Publicity; Not Enough To Development Of Industry

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 5.—The Cal., Feb. 5.—Take your jobs-serious in Florida are not Chambers of Commerce at all but rather publicity bureaus, and the cities and towns, in which all energies are devoted to publicity work are suffering, according to Herman A. Dann, of St. Petersburg, president of the Florida State Chamber of Commerce. Insofar as a local community is concerned, more would be gained if the Chamber would forget the seeking of publicity entirely, declared the State Chamber executive.

"As an example I might cite the small industry," said Mr. Dann. "There probably is not a town in the state of 1,500 population without one or more small industries, operated by local people. In four out of five such places the Chamber of Commerce is working overtime to induce the location of 'industrial plants' there. The little local plant is forgotten entirely, Chambers of Commerce could do nothing better than to conduct a survey of local industries. Some of these might be expanded, their operators might be in position to serve a larger market if they had more capital. The Chamber of Commerce should find ways and means to bring the situation before the people of the community and induce investment in the plant. Suppose a small town had a broom manufacturing plant? Every broom sold in that town should be manufactured right there. If the operator hasn't the money sufficient to expand to the point, where he could meet the local demand the Chamber of Commerce should find it for him; in this one field, the encouragement of small industries, the local Chambers of Commerce in Florida have something to which they cannot devote too much time.

Scenes Publicity Craze

"To the Chamber of Commerce which specializes in publicity and little or nothing else, it must be apparent that cities will grow and develop as they are made more attractive to prospective new residents, or business men. The new resident is always seeking an opportunity to better himself in a business way, or to locate in a place where he will have a better opportunity to accumulate a competence and a better place in which to rear his children. If rents are reasonable, the purchase of a modest home not too difficult, and work at good wages is available, the new resident or business man will be drawn as a bit of steel is drawn to a magnet.

"I believe that a local Chamber of Commerce should be the clearing house for everything that pertains to its community. It should turn more toward building up that community and get away from the idea that all necessary is publicity. Publicity, however, should not be entirely neglected but in the majority of Florida cities and towns now it seems to be regarded as the principal thing for which the Chamber was organized. There is no question that the towns and cities which offer the best advantages to residents and business are the towns and cities growing most rapidly. The Chamber of Commerce, which devotes its energies toward making its city a better place in which to live will gain for the community, one hundred dollars for every dollar in cash or energy expended locally while it probably will not gain one dollar for a dollar spent solely for publicity.

"It is true several cities are spending hundreds of thousands of dollars annually for publicity, and enjoying the benefit thereof, but if one will take the trouble to investigate, he will discover that the Chambers of Commerce expending these huge sums are doing a great deal more than operating a publicity bureau."

Old King Cal

American art would be better if there were more pomp and ceremony in government, according to Frank O. Saulsbury, English painter who is visiting in this country. The lack of color and dignity in official circles creates a corresponding lack of material for artists, he believes. This picture shows President Coolidge as he would appear in the state robes of the King of England.

rier contributed nearly half. Miss Perier bought things wholesale at every booth. Her most expensive purchase was an old Spanish shawl that had belonged to Marie Antoinette and was another of the wonderful things that were given to the bazaar by Mr. Karl Whitney.

Mrs. Hamilton, although not quite so lavish, proved a good second to Miss Perier in her purchases.

Today all those who worked so hard for the success of this wonderful charity entertainment, are resting, but tomorrow Miss Perier and the John Alden Prescotts and their friends will be interested in the shooting of the much talked of an awaited "Hot Steel" at the Graves Hamilton Steel Plant.

The rush for tickets has been enormous but only about a hundred and fifty of Mrs. Prescott's special friends could be admitted.

State Puzzled Over Execution Of Negro

TALLAHASSEE, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Governor Martin today referred to Attorney General J. B. Johnson the question of determining what further executive action should be taken in the case of Abe Washington, negro, sentenced to be hanged in Duval circuit court, but whose execution has been held up because of establishment of the electric chair.

The Governor recently signed the warrant for Washington's execution, fixing the week of Feb. 15 as the time. It read, however, that the supreme penalty must be paid by electrocution, when the court had sentenced the negro to be hanged.

Judge Gibbs, in Duval circuit court a few days ago granted a stay of execution for Washington, on the ground that the warrant did not conform to the sentence, and ordered the negro remanded to the keeping of the sheriff until the case could be disposed of.

Washington was convicted in 1923 for the murder of a negro.

The telephone cable recently completed from New York to Chicago—851 miles—is the longest in the world. It cost $25,000,000.

Modified Prohibition Act To Be Proposed At Second 'Face To Face' Conference

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—(AP)—A modified prohibition system as a happy medium between the "evils" of "Volsteadism" and of the saloon trade will be proposed at the second "face to face" conference called by the association against the prohibition movement to meet here on George Washington's birthday.

The definite plan for government control under a modified form of prohibition designed to end the reign of the bootlegger and abolish the other evils which the association's statement charged to Volstead law, will be proposed by William H. Slayton, chairman of the Volstead League of Washington. The call for the conference comes as new impetus for the perennial debate on prohibition and it follows closely the declaration of the Christian Temperance Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church for modification.
