Hometown Crowd Expected To Greet Basketball Trio

A crowd is expected at Seminole Community College tonight to greet returning Sanford basketball trio Willie Mitchell, Fred Miller and Darryl Merthie. Tipoff is 7:30 p.m. at the SCC Health Center.

The three will appear for Daytona Beach Community College in a contest with SCC in Mid-Florida Conference play. There is no charge for admission.

Ray Ridenour, Daytona's coach, said he wouldn't think of coming to town minus the "Sanford Connection."

Mitchell, a center-forward who plays several inches above his 6-3 frame, played at Seminole High School while the 6-1 Miller and 6-0 Merthie both played at Lake Mary. Game details, 9A.

'We Have Always Been Neglected'

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

Prompted by a resident's charge that Sanford has subscribed to longterm negligence of its Goldsboro community, City Commissioner Bob Thomas has come out with strong words against what he contends is the city's "severely negligent attitude" toward all its predominantly black communities.

At Monday night's commission meeting, Thomas called the areas "stepchildren of the city," that have "always ridden the coattails of the community."

"I couldn't agree with you more," Thomas told Peach Tree resident Joe Smith. "We have always been neglected."

Bob Thomas

Smith spent 10 minutes Monday night describing the conditions that exist in his neighborhood. These included inadequate drainage, alleys overgrown with weeds and unpaved roads rendered impassable by rains.

The area is also "infested with snakes," he said. "On Sunday I killed three of them on my front lawn."

"And you've closed your eyes to all of this," he told the commission. "It started many, many years ago and you've allowed it to continue."

Commissioners responded by directing staff to begin immediate efforts to eradicate the conditions and Thomas said he will "keep a close eye on their efforts."

Although conducted in a different tone, the commission addressed several other revitalization measures Monday night.

For Sanford's roads, commissioners voted to receive the city's share of the six cent gas tax option through a formula based on 100 percent of the city's transportation expenditures. The formula is one of three offered to area municipalities by the Seminole County Council of Local Governments. All call for the county's seven cities to split 37 percent of the gas tax revenues on a five-year floating basis. The county will receive the other 63 percent.

Sanford voted to accept the formula that is presently applied for distribution of the four cent gas tax revenues. It involves adding the most recent year's transportation expenditures to the five year floating period and dropping the first year of the five years. In other words, the revenues from 1985-86 would replace those from 1980-81.

The governments council, known as CALNO, will review each city's

Legislators To Ask For Zoo Vote

The Seminole County legislative delegation has taken steps to formally ask its constituents to consider paying property taxes for a new zoo and informally consider a proposal that may expedite construction of the county's toll expressway.

They have also offered positive news to the Seminole County Mental Health Center.

The measures were raised Tuesday during a delegation meeting at Sanford city hall attended by Senators John Vogt (D-Cocoa Beach), Dick Langley (R-Clermont), Tom Jennings (R-Orlando) and Representatives Art Grindle (R-Altamonte Springs) and Carl Selph (R-Casselberry).

In all likelihood, the respective thoroughfare projects faced by the Seminole County and the Orlando-Orange County Expressway Authorities would benefit if the organizations consolidated their efforts, according to Selph.

He asked local officials and residents to mull the proposed joint effort, "and then let us know how you feel. Whether we do it or not will depend on community feedback."

County Commissioner Fred Streetman, who also chairs the county expressway authority, told the delegates he viewed the consolidation as "an interesting and stimulating concept," although he added "I'm glad it's just a suggestion (and) not something that's hard and concrete."

Acceptance of the proposal would necessitate both authorities "discuss it and thoroughly determine its implications from our respective

Balanced Budget Ax Falls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Gramm-Rudman budget-cutting ax begins chopping away at federal spending today with the release of preliminary figures that could require as much as $11.7 billion in cuts from nearly every area of government.

The Congressional Budget Office and the administration's Office of Management and Budget have readied figures that reportedly call for the $11.7 billion cut in spending by March 1.

Every federal agency, from Amtrak to the National Zoo, will face an estimated 4.3 percent cut, with the exception of Social Security and a few other programs designed to aid the poor. The military will have to shoulder a 4.9 percent reduction.

The General Accounting Office has until Jan. 21 to approve the cuts, but the final figures are not expected to vary greatly from those proposed.

The affected programs and agencies have until March 1 to make the cuts.

Release of the figures is the first step in the Gramm-Rudman balanced budget law which requires the deficit to be cut to zero in five years.

Gramm-Rudman is already the subject of a lawsuit charging a key portion of it unconstitutional delegates congressional budget authority to the president.

Transportation Plan Developing

By Paul Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary's Transportation Plan, the sometimes controversial portion of the city's Comprehensive Land Use Plan, will take a little more time to be approved.

The city commission met Tuesday afternoon in a special workshop session to discuss the Transportation Plan, which will determine the land uses of property along East Lake Mary Boulevard.

The plan, when adopted, will become part of the Comprehensive Land Use Plan, which will regulate growth in the city.

The Executive Summary of the Transportation Plan was presented to the commission by Neil Cantner of Reynolds, Smith, and Hill, Orlando, the city's transportation consultant.

Under the plan, portions of Lake Mary Boulevard will eventually be widened from two lanes to four or six.

The most controversial item concerning property owners along Lake Mary Boulevard is potential future use of their land if they are allowed to rezone it from residential to professional office usage. Some property owners could benefit from the zoning change if their land is sold to professional office developers, while other property owners could realize a decrease in property value if their land is not big enough for such development while neighboring properties were rezoned.

Commissioners said review of zoning change requests after the Transportation Plan is adopted will be done on a site-by-site basis. They will take into consideration traffic flow and environmental impact.

It was pointed out that some properties would not meet all the requirements for rezoning, and would be unable to be rezoned, which would decrease some property's value for residential purposes.

Developers would bear the financial responsibility for running water lines to the properties, and taxpayer's money would not be used. If developers cannot meet the requirements they would not be able to build.

The Transportation Plan, which will also dictate the future of secondary roads in the city, will again appear on the commission's agenda at the regularly scheduled meeting on February 13.

Police Complex Plans On Agenda

A representative of the Architects Design Group of Florida, Inc. Winter Park, will meet with the Longwood City Commission at 7 p.m. Thursday in a worksession at city hall to discuss plans for the proposed police complex the firm is designing.

The architect is scheduled to present a scale model of the design, tentative plans and a cost estimate.

Cost of the building has previously been tentatively estimated at $800,000 to be financed over through a 12-year loan at a fixed rate of 8.5 percent. —Jane Casselberry

3rd Graders Tell How They'll Honor King

'I'm Going To Keep His Dream Alive In My Heart'

By Cindy McAfee
United Press International

When Secretary of Education William Bennett asked a third grade class how they would celebrate the birthday of Martin Luther King Jr., some said they would have a cake and others would watch a movie about King's childhood.

Nine-year-old Ronnica James said she'd do something different.

"I'm going to keep his dream alive in my heart," she said.

Today is King's 57th birthday, although it will not be officially celebrated until Monday, which was declared the federal holiday to give workers a long weekend.

In Washington, President Reagan will speak at an elementary school named for King. In Atlanta, there will be a ceremony at the state capitol and later in the day civil rights leader and former presidential candidate Jesse Jackson will speak at the King Center.

This is the first year King's birthday is a legal federal holiday, but many localities are not observing it and black groups are vowing demonstrations in some of those areas. The state of Maryland set aside today, rather than Monday, as the day to honor King, but Baltimore County authorities refused to close schools. NAACP officials said they would picket school headquarters in Towson, Md.

A parade to honor King in Atlanta Monday upset some people because military bands were included and the famous hymn "We shall Overcome," a symbol of King's movement, was excluded.

Bennett taught a third-grade class at John Hope Elementary School Tuesday as part of a "teach-in" on the lessons of King's life.

He told the 20 black children in the class that King worked for the moral improvement of white people as much as he did for improved conditions for blacks.

"Although blacks who had to suffer under segregation certainly did suffer, whites suffered too because when whites practiced this, they became less than they should be," he said.

At a speech later at the King Center

IN BRIEF

Off-Delayed Columbia Coming Home Early

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Shuttle Columbia's disappointed crewmen, 25 days late taking off and ordered home a day early, began wrapping up their experiments today and packing for the long glide back to Florida Thursday.

Commander Robert "Hoot" Gibson and co-pilot Charles Bolden worked through a long checklist to make sure Columbia will be ready for the descent to Earth while their crewmates, including Rep. Bill Nelson, D-Fla., got in a final day of data collection with their battery of experiments.

The astronauts were told Tuesday their off-delayed flight would be cut short a day to help ground crews make up lost time preparing Columbia for its next mission March 6, a crucial astronomy flight that features detailed studies of Halley's comet that must take off within a few days of its launch date.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration faces a record year in 1986 with 14 more shuttle missions on the books and launch processing was tight even before Columbia's launching Sunday, 25 days behind schedule after a record six blastoff delays.

Better Buys

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although home ownership became more affordable in 1985 than any time since the late 1970s, the percentage of Americans who own homes has declined so far this decade to a 17-year low, a new study said today.

The report, by the League of Savings Institutions, also said home buyers were "returning to traditional, time-honored housing expense-to-income ratios and were increasingly relying on shorter-term mortgages — not on inflation — to increase their home equity."

The league report was based on a survey of more than 16,000 mortgage loans made last year.

The study found "significant interest rate declines and moderate price increases" made home ownership in 1985 "more affordable than at any time since the late 1970s."

Court Hears 'Baby Doe'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court, tackling the "Baby Doe" conflict that pits medical judgment against civil rights, must decide this term whether the government can punish hospitals that deny lifesaving care to handicapped infants.

The high court will hear arguments today from the Department of Health and Human Services, which is trying to reinstate a controversial rule knocked down by lower courts. The regulation called for cutting off federal aid to health care providers who withhold care from handicapped newborns.

No Matter How You Spell It, He's Trouble

Khadafy? Qadhafi? Gaddafi?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The media hangs on the words of Libya's leader as he thumbs his nose at President Reagan and threatens to loose suicide squads on American streets.

Editors acknowledge he makes news, but few agree on how to spell his name.

United Press International and The Associated Press spell it Moammar Khadafy, the style followed by several newspapers including The Daily News in New York, the Chicago Tribune and the Chicago Sun-Times, The Boston Globe, The Miami Herald, the San Francisco Chronicle and San Francisco

Examiner, The Dallas Morning News and The Times Herald in Dallas and Atlanta's Constitution and Journal.

But The New York Times has it as el-Qaddafi.

The Baltimore Sun calls him el Kadafi.

The Washington Post and The Washington Times, in rare agreement, identify him as Qaddafi.

To Los Angeles Times readers, he is Kadafi.

In The Wall Street Journal, he is Qadhafi.

U.S. News & World Report also identifies him as Qadhafi. But in Time magazine he's Gaddafi and in Newsweek he's Kaddafi.

Why such a cacophony of Khadafys? How come the quirky chorus of Qadaddafis?

"Everybody does it differently," said W.M. Thackston, a Persian language specialist in Harvard's Near Eastern Language Department.

Arabic speakers "all read and write the same language," Thackston said. The differences develop in transliteration, when Arabic script is rendered in English.

"What's written in Arabic and what actually is said are different," Thackston said, and there can be a major difference in the sound of the spoken word from region to region.

Of the several versions of Libyan leader's name, "Some are acceptable. Some are mistaken," Thackston said. He noted that some Arabic sounds cannot be fully duplicated in written English. Neither "k" or "q" is quite right for Khadafy, he said.

And how would he, as an Arabic scholar, spell Khadafy?

"Q-u-d-h-a-f-i," Thackston said. He then said the name, including some muffled and mysterious "dz" and "th" sounds in his pronunciation.

Testing For Drug Use Makes Sense

More and more U.S. firms are requiring job applicants to undergo urinalysis screening to detect drug use before they are hired.

Some require these tests before promotion — or whenever a worker is suspected of being under the influence of narcotics.

Business has a right to be concerned about illegal drug use. Each year, according to statistics gathered by the Bureau of Business Practice, U.S. companies lose up to $16 billion in lowered productivity and medical costs because of employee drug abuse. Up to 15 percent of the nation's work force is believed to be affected by drug or alcohol abuse.

The search for illegal drug users in the private sector started about five years ago and has been growing. The military services have been using urinalysis tests since the Vietnam War.

There are objections to the drug tests. Critics say they are an invasion of privacy and are sometimes inaccurate. However, if the tests are conducted sensibly, they don't violate anybody's rights. Twenty states ban or limit lie-detector tests in employment screening, but not one state bans urine tests to check for drug use.

The Bureau of Business Practice says urine testing has proved to be 95 percent accurate, if double checked on sophisticated equipment. Most businesses conduct second tests, using a different chemical process. If the primary test proves positive, marijuana can be detected in the urine up to 60 days after use — cocaine for only 48 hours.

Professional sports have a drug-abuse problem. Football players have been cut from their teams for cocaine addiction. Several major league baseball players recently testified in a drug case that they were cocaine users. Baseball Commissioner Peter Ueberroth has asked players to volunteer for routine urinalysis screening, but the player's union has balked at compliance.

Most businesses work their drug testing this way: Applicants are given a conditional job offer and told tests are required before employment. If results show drug abuse, a second test is requested and results are discussed with the applicant. Some companies offer counseling to workers who are found to be drug users.

A recent survey of Fortune 500 companies by the Bureau of Business Practice showed that 26 percent of these firms use urinalysis screening programs and 11 percent say they are considering starting such programs.

The spread of urinalysis indicates growing awareness of the enormous cost of drug abuse. Employees under the influence of drugs or alcohol not only cost their employers money, often they endanger lives as well.

Drug testing is justified to protect the public health and safety.

The Safest?

The head of the Federal Aviation Administration, Donald Engen, called 1985 one of the safest years in aviation history.

That's strange, considering more than 2,000 people died in civilian air disasters last year, more than in any previous year.

Pro-UNITA Projects Protect South Africa

Faced with a serious loss of public support for its now discredited policy of "constructive engagement" with South Africa, the Reagan administration and cold war hard-liners in Congress are trying to provide back-door support for the apartheid state.

They are attempting to substitute U.S. financing for the current South African subsidy to the terrorists attempting to overthrow the government of Angola. This would let South Africa ease external pressures and turn its full attention to suppressing domestic dissent.

Since last year's repeal of the Clark Amendment (prohibiting aid to any rebels fighting in Angola), congressional conservatives have been trying to find a way to funnel support to UNITA (the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola). It's a South African-backed rebel force headed by Jonas Savimbi, which has been fighting the Angolan government with little success for 10 years.

Under the unifying theme of "opposition to Marxist governments" — and following successful attempts to fund so-called "non-lethal" U.S. aid for the contras in Nicaragua — some members of Congress have introduced legislation to make legal what the Clark Amendment had made a crime.

On Oct. 1, Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., who counts large numbers of right-wing Cubans among his Miami constituents, introduced a bill to provide $27 million dollars in "humanitarian" aid to UNITA. Pepper was joined by Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., whose anti-communist credentials need no burnishing. Kemp, however, must convince Republicans that he, not George Bush, is Ronald Reagan's natural successor, and the UNITA bill is one step in establishing a foreign-policy record to counter Bush's experience.

Shortly thereafter, two other related bills were introduced. One, by Rep. Mark Siljander, R-Mich., would make $27 million in direct military aid available to UNITA; the other, by Rep. Bill McCollum, R-Fla., would employ economic sanctions against Angola. Within weeks, right-wing Rep. Bob Dornan, R-Calif., introduced legislation to provide $48 million in military and "non-lethal" aid to UNITA. In the Senate, Steven Symms, R-Idaho, and John East R-N.C., were considering upper-house versions of the Pepper and Siljander bills.

By Nov. 1, the Defense Department and the Central Intelligence Agency were both urging White House approval of a $200 million to $300 million package of covert military support for the Angolan rebels.

This avalanche of pro-UNITA support in the legislative and executive branches parallels other developments in Southern Africa, and a changing Reagan administration strategy toward the alliance with Pretoria.

For American conservatives, fighting "communism" is more important than the battle to free South Africa's black majority from minority tyranny. For Africans, American support for UNITA means a tightened embrace between Washington and white supremacy.

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Savings Incentive Required

The White House strategists who helped salvage the so-called tax reform bill in the House of Representatives demonstrated the administration's political clout. It was a mindless victory, however: winning for the sake of winning.

The spurious reform will do immense harm if enacted into law, as members of the President's own party clearly understood until their arms were twisted by the White House.

A sound view of the legislation passed by the House was that offered by U.S. Rep. Marilyn Lloyd of Tennessee who said: "Basically, it was a change and not reform. If enacted it will cost jobs because the business incentives we've offered for years for capital expansion and the like will be greatly diminished and we'll be back to making ourselves a little bit less competitive."

The key feature of the so-called reform is a $140 billion tax hike for business over a five year period.

In short, the "tax reform" bill would produce disinvestment in the U.S. economy. That's a design for recession and long-term weakening of the American economy and its ability to sustain a good life, including security, for the American people.

Even before the House of Representatives acted, the United States was embarked on a perilous economic course. This was spelled out this fall by Kurt Richebaeher, former general manager of the Dresdner Bank in West Germany.

Addressing the Committee For Monetary Research and Education, Mr. Richebaeher noted that the United States is chronically a low investment country and is today at a point where it has entered a process of net disinvestment and net dissaving. Unfortunately, he said, the savings gap is growing. The "tax reform" legislation would widen the gap. If enacted, less investment will be made in business and industry. American plants will become less competitive.

Many Americans can't see the danger. They point to the soaring stock market as a sign of good times now and better times to come. Mr. Richebaeher, however, noted that high prices for securities don't have their origin in higher savings, higher investment, or higher business profits. All three are down. What we are witnessing is paper wealth, what the nation saw in the late 1920s.

JEFFREY HART

Tunnel Vision Costly

The state legislatures of California and Wisconsin have now passed legislation making it illegal for insurance companies to require blood tests designed to identify applicants who have been exposed to the AIDS virus.

Of course there is a whole can of worms where this issue is concerned. When you apply for a life insurance policy, you normally take a blood pressure test, a doctor listens to your heart, perhaps your weight has to be within shouting distance of the normal. Alcoholics and diabetics can be turned down. People with a serious cancer would have a hard time buying a life insurance policy. Why should AIDS be a privileged disease, and insurance companies prevented from limiting their vulnerability where AIDS is concerned?

In considerable part the answer is ideological. The spirit of the age regards disapproval of homosexuality as simple bigotry, and the liberal mentality is zealous in its efforts to protect homosexuals from any disagreeable consequences of their practice whether social, economic, or medical consequences. Thus we have had a spate of movies and plays that bend over backwards to be friendly to homosexuality. It may be easier to fire a heterosexual than a homosexual, given the way the civil rights laws are currently being administered: the homosexual can plead prejudice, and sue — so, in that sense, the homosexual is in the more favorable legal position.

But, of course, the liberal mentality has not been able to do much about the medical realities of AIDS, despite repeated demands for billions of dollars in research funds from the federal government. So far, men who persist in the promiscuous use of the lower digestive tract as a sexual organ have been paying a price in AIDS or the fear of AIDS, and the number of AIDS victims has been doubling annually in the United States. Estimates vary on the medical costs of an AIDS victim from a low of $25,000 to well over $100,000.

The bottom line, as the insurance companies struggle to get out of the way of AIDS expenses, is that, in one form or another, you yourself are going to have to shell out to pay the AIDS bills.

AIDS thus illustrates, with a vengeance, Milton Friedman's proposition that there is no such thing as a free lunch. The homosexual lifestyle is going to be expensive, not only to its victims but the rest of us as well.

WASHINGTON WORLD

Just Frittering Now

By Mary Beth Franklin
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — All 535 federal lawmakers are due back in Washington Jan. 21 to convene the new session of Congress, but most of them might as well stay home until summer.

That's because the three issues expected to capture congressional attention this year — the budget, tax reform and international trade laws — fall under the jurisdiction of a handful of committees. And until those issues filter through the committee process, there won't be much for the rest of Congress to do.

Besides, Congress is notorious for its late starts, slipping into a holding pattern until President Reagan delivers his State of the Union address on Jan. 28 and leaving little time for any action before its 10-day presidents' day recess beginning Feb. 7. Then the members come back to town for a little more than a month before quitting for a 12-day Easter break.

For those members on less-active committees, the lull may be a mixed blessing in an election year, giving them lots of time to campaign but offering them little to campaign on.

With the passage of the historic Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction bill late last year, members of the House and Senate Budget Committee members will be busier than ever.

The new law, named for its sponsors, Sens. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, and Warren Rudman, R-N.H., requires Congress to cut $11.7 billion from the current fiscal year's budget by March 15 and more than $50 billion by June to bring next year's deficit down to the $144 billion limit. This year's deficit is expected to top $200 billion.

Those budget decisions won't be easy with some congressional leaders estimating that 30 to 50 federal programs will have to be eliminated entirely to meet that goal, particularly since Reagan is wedded to continued defense growth and no tax increase.

As the budget writers struggle to pare the federal deficit, the Senate Finance Committee will focus its attention on its No. 1 priority — tax reform.

Shortly before the end of last session and against enormous odds, the House approved a major tax reform bill that shifts much of the tax burden from individuals to corporations and limits numerous tax deductions.

With the gauntlet at its feet, the Republican-controlled Senate tax-writing panel must now take up the challenge to overhaul the tax system and bring the bill more in line with the president's goals, which include a bigger personal exemption for all taxpayers and is softer on business.

Meanwhile, the same committee will come under pressure to stiffen the nation's trade laws and develop positive methods for dealing with the nation's record trade deficit.

By mid-to-late summer, it will be time to assemble the rest of the Congress so the individual authorizing committees ranging from Armed Services to Public Works can hone the initial budget decisions and rejigger the spending priorities — as long as they do not exceed the overall totals.

JACK ANDERSON

Austria To Sell Khadafy Terror Weapons

By Jack Anderson
 And Dale Van Atta
 WASHINGTON — Libyan dictator Muammar Khadafy is in the process of buying more than 100 plastic handguns that would be difficult for airport security forces to detect.

Incredibly, the pistols are made in Austria — where Khadafy-supported terrorists shot up the Vienna airport during Christmas week.

"This is crazy," one top official told us. "To let a madman like Khadafy have access to such a pistol! Once it is in his hands, he'll give it to terrorists throughout the Middle East."

The handgun in question is the Glock 17, a 9mm pistol invented and manufactured by Gaston Glock in the village of Deutsch-Wagram, just outside Vienna. It is accurate, reliable — and made almost entirely of hardened plastic. Only the barrel, slide and one spring are metal. Dismantled, it is frighteningly easy to smuggle past airport security.

In fact, one Pentagon security expert decided to demonstrate just how easy it would be to sneak a Glock 17 aboard an airliner. He stripped the gun down and disguised the metal parts in his carry-on luggage. For example, he wrapped the spring around a pair of eyeglasses.

The Pentagon man tested his system twice at Washington National Airport, and successfully got past the security checks both times.

The Pentagon official subsequently alerted airport security personnel, and taught them how to spot the elements of the pistol. Security measures have been tightened as a result.

Intelligence sources tell us Khadafy has nearly completed a deal to buy more than 100 Glock 17s, possibly as many as 300. They explain that Austrian arms merchants hoping to sell Khadafy big-ticket items — such as tanks — are using the Glock 17s as "sweeteners" for future transactions.

A marketing official for Glock in Austria assured us that the company has not sold Libya any of the guns — at least not yet. He offered no information on current negotiations.

An Austrian Embassy official made this discouraging observation: "If there had been a deal with pistols to Libya, we would not have a record." He explained that Austria does have a law requiring a government license to export war materiel, but said pistols "are not covered by this law." And even if the government did learn of such a sale, he said, "we could not comment on the private (business transaction)."

Austria's past dealings with Khadafy suggest that even the obvious danger of such a sale would not be enough to bring government intervention. It was the first European country in nine years to entertain Khadafy on an official state visit, in 1982. He used the platform provided by the Austrians in Vienna to denounce President Reagan as a "terrorist" and "destructive person."

The Austrians were rewarded for their supine gemutlichkeit toward Arab extremists in 1981 when Palestinian terrorists assassinated Heinz Nittel, a prominent Austrian Jew and close friend of then-chancellor Bruno Kreisky.

When Kreisky complained to Palestine Liberation Organization chairman Yasser Arafat, the latter pointed the finger at his rival, Abu Nidal, and even offered to send a pair of "anti-terrorist specialists" to Vienna to assist Austrian police. But Kessad, the Israeli secret service, learned that the two Palestinians had actually been sent to assassinate Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in Vienna, and to kill Kreisky, too, if he got in the way.

Austrian authorities arrested the two Palestinians at the Vienna airport, and found sharpshooters' weapons and grenades in their luggage. Follow-up searches of PLO safe houses in Austria turned up maps and plans for the Sadat assassination. The two gunmen were packed off to Beirut. Once again, Abu Nidal was blamed.

Historic Hotel Gets Marker

the hotel stands in the city's Historical District as its oldest building and is on the state Bicentennial Trail. Unveiling the marker are John Hess, right, president of the Central Florida Historical Society and James Sneff Jr., president of the Centennial Company, which renovated the facility. Past notables who stayed at the hotel include President Ulysses S. Grant and 32 governors who met there in 1927. Scenes from the movie, Johnny Tiger with Chad Everett and Robert Taylor were shot at the hotel.

Insurance Guides Available

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Insurance Commissioner Bill Gunter Tuesday released a "shopper's guide" to individual health insurance that he said will help consumers understand the complex business of buying coverage.

The 15-page booklet outlines technical terms insurance companies use, and lists sample prices of the 10 companies in Florida that sell the most major medical, hospital, medical and surgical, hospital indemnity, disability, cancer and accidental death coverage.

It also lists sample prices for the state Comprehensive Health Insurance Plan, which insures people considered high medical risks and who have been refused coverage by at least two private insurers.

Gunter noted that more than 450 firms offer some form of health coverage in Florida.

"Buying health insurance is a complicated business," Gunter said. "In order to get the maximum benefit for each premium dollar, the consumer needs to know what the terms in his policy mean and what questions to ask his insurance agent."

He said copies of the booklet, "Health Insurance Shopper's Guide", are available through his regional offices in Miami, West Palm Beach, Orlando, Tampa, Pensacola and Jacksonville.

Consumers can also request the booklet by calling the toll free Insurance Consumer Hotline, 1-800-342-2762, or the Hospital Cost Containment Board, 1-800-342-0828.

Arson Trial Begins

Trial began Tuesday in the case of a Longwood man charged with the arson of a Pizza Hut.

The trial is for Eugene Ruiz Jr., 26, of 717 Longwood Ave. Prosecuting the case is Assistant State Attorney Kurt Erlenbach.

If Ruiz is found guilty, he faces up to 30 years in prison.

According to an arrest report, a man entered the Pizza Hut at State Road 434 and Interstate 4 in Longwood and ordered a pizza. The exact time was not reported. After finishing the pizza, he went to the men's room and left. A short time later, employees noticed smoke drifting from the bathroom and discovered a small fire inside. The amount of damage was not reported.

Ruiz was arrested at 1:27 a.m. at the Rolling Hills Golf Course on a charge of arson Sept. 3.

Trusted Trusty Escapes After One Day

A Seminole County jail inmate who walked away from his trusty job after being assigned outside duty the day after he was sentenced was still at large early Tuesday, and his Friday escape has brought a change in jail policy.

Jail administrator Jay Leman said now prisoners who qualify as trustys, because a background check shows no indication that they would be a threat to the public, will be held in jail at least 72 hours before being assigned to trusty duty. That will give more time for background checks, he said, and will give prisoners a taste of jail, without the freedom of spending days outside the lockup.

The check on Jonathan T. Shephard, 37, of Orlando, showed he was qualified for the trusty program, Leman said. But Shephard who was assigned to assist in a cheese handout program at the Altamonte Chapel, State Road 436, Altamonte Springs, fled from that workplace at about 12:30 p.m. Friday, a sheriff's report said.

Leman said that after a further look into Shephard's background, after the escape, he didn't appear to be a good candidate for the trusty program, although he has worked as a security guard and had been sentenced on local, relatively minor charges.

His background indicates he has been in jail before, and that he has also violated parole before, which is the offense for which he was sentenced on Jan. 9, Leman said.

Shephard, sentenced Thursday to serve six months for violation of probation on 1980 and 1983 bad check charges, is believed to have used a telephone while free to make arrangements for someone to pick him up at the chapel in a white Ford.

WEAPONS, SUSPECTED
A man arrested on a weapons charge after Seminole County sheriff's deputies noted that the van he was in was similar to one pursued from the scene of an Altamonte Springs holdup on Saturday may face charges in connection with the armed robbery of an Altamonte Spring Tenneco store on Jan. 11.

Sheriff's deputy Keith Ellis and L.C. Magee reported they approached the van parked in the eastbound rest area of Interstate 4 near Longwood at about 5 a.m. Tuesday, because it matched the description of the getaway vehicle in the robbery at 300 E. Altamonte Drive.

The two men inside the van were ordered out and searched. The man arrested was charged in connection with allegedly having a .25-caliber handgun in his jacket pocket and a folding knife in his pants pocket, a sheriff's report said.

A search of the van turned up two bandanas like one the robber was seen with and also clothing, which matched that worn by the robber. A martial arts weapon was also found in the van, the report said.

After the robbery, witnesses reported to sheriff's deputies a description of the van the suspect fled in. The witnesses pursued the white and gray primer van from the scene, but lost it near Maitland Boulevard, a sheriff's report said.

The accused weapons holder, who reportedly matches the clerk's description of the man who brandish a handgun and fled the store with $123 cash and a six pack of beer, was arrested.

Tuesday morning sheriff's deputies were investigating the possible link between the arrested man and the holdup, deputies said.

Gary Len Lowery, 19, of Ocoee, has been charged with carrying a concealed weapon and carrying a concealed firearm. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

RAPE ATTEMPT REPORT
An Apopka convenience store clerk reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies she foiled the attempt of a man to rape her. She said the man approached her when she was mopping the floor of the store at about 10 p.m. Monday. He forced her into a back room, pulled a knife and said, "Don't worry I won't hurt you," a sheriff's report said.

The woman said the man unbuckled her belt and tried to rip her blouse off. She disarmed him and the man ran out of the store and fled on foot running south on Bear Lake Road, a sheriff's report said.

Deputies reported the woman's clothing was not torn and she did not appear to have been injured in the incident. A knife was picked up at the scene, the report said.

SPOUSE ABUSE ARREST
A 64-year-old Longwood man who allegedly held his wife down and hit her with a jacket and his fist has been charged with spouse abuse, battery.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies who questioned Mary Shelton, 57, of 203 Timbercove Circle, at Florida Hospital-Altamonte, where she was being treated and reportedly had a "whelp" on her forehead, arrested the suspect.

The man was charged despite Mrs. Shelton saying she didn't want to press charges, a sheriff's report said.

She reportedly told deputies her husband was upset over the loss of his job and the loss of $10,000, the report said.

Everette Dwayne Shelton was arrested at 4:28 a.m. Tuesday. He has been released on $500 bond.

AUTO THEFT CHARGE
A 19-year-old Manchester, N.H., man was charged with grand theft auto at about 9 p.m. Monday, after a computer check by Seminole County sheriff's deputies showed the car he was sleeping in at the eastbound rest area of Interstate 4, near Longwood, had been reported stolen in Orange county, a sheriff's report said.

Brian Roland Chevalier has been charged in the case and was being held in lieu of $4,500 bond.

DUI ARRESTS
The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Larion Henry Miller, 43, who refused to give an address, was arrested at 11:30 p.m. after he was reportedly driving west in the eastbound lane of Interstate near Lake Mary, and almost drove headon into a Florida Highway Patrol car. The trooper pursued the suspect for two miles, as he drove on the median of the roadway, before the man stopped, an arrest report said. Miller was also charged with driving on the wrong side of the road and without a license.

—Catherine L. Cannito, 28, of 275 Cranes Roost Blvd. #313, Altamonte Springs, at 7:05 p.m. Monday after her car was in an accident on State Road 436 at Marker Street. Police reported she was arrested on Marker Street after allegedly leaving the scene of an accident with property damage, for which she was also charged. She was also charged with violating the right-of-way.

—Beverly Jane Bell, 30, who refused to give an address, at 1:42 a.m. Tuesday on Pearl Lake Causway after her car failed to stop at Bunnell Road. She was also charged with running a stop sign, failing to carry a driver's license, speeding, and driving too fast for conditions.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS
A $3,000 personal computer was stolen from Bert Rodgers School of Real Estate, 1958 County Road 427, #144, Longwood, on Friday or Saturday, according to a report property manager Harriet Cook of Sanford, filed with sheriff's deputies on Monday.

A propeller assembly worth $2,200 was stolen from a boat in the frontyard of Thomas Rogers, 40, of 104 Lake Dot Drive, Sanford, on Sunday or Monday, a sheriff's report said.

A $1,300 outboard motor was stolen from a boat stored in a shed at 204 Celery Ave., Sanford, according to a report owner Robert Ansley, 56, filed with sheriff's deputies. The motor was stolen Saturday or Sunday.

The manager of Vaughn Mobile Homes, 3851 U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that a $1,100 dinette set was stolen from a display home on Sunday or Monday.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Indictments Issued In Miami Police Cases

MIAMI (UPI) — Five suspended police officers, a former police officer and three drug smugglers have been indicted in "The Enterprise," an alleged drugs rip-off scheme that led to the deaths of three cocaine dealers.

A 27-count indictment was handed up Tuesday against suspended police officers Armando Estrada, Rodolfo Arias, Roman Rodriguez, Armando Garcia, Arturo De La Vega and former officer Osvaldo Coello. Also indicted were alleged drug smugglers Ruben Ortiz, Pedro Baez and Rodolfo Cordero.

Charges against the defendants include first-degree murder, grand theft, armed trafficking, armed possession of marijuana and cocaine, conspiracy, aggravated battery, armed robbery and solicitation to commit perjury.

History In The Rewriting

MIAMI (UPI) — The discovery of remains of humans that lived 10,000 years ago alongside now-extinct animals rewrites scientists' theories on how long man has been in South Florida, a Dade County archaeologist said Tuesday.

Before the discovery at the southern Dade County site, the earliest record of man in South Florida was 2,000 years ago, Robert Carr said.

An archeological team working in southern Dade County found the ancient human remains and those of animals, such as 350-pound wolves, that have been extinct for thousands of years.

Town Likes ID Cards

PALM BEACH (UPI) — The Town Council plans to restore the bulk of its identification card system — which a federal judge struck down as being discriminatory — by devising a law while keeping legal appeals avenues open.

The controversial ID cards attracted a lawsuit and raised the ire of civil rights advocates.

Florida Joins Other States Before Supreme Court Opposing Rate Rule

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A new federal rate-making policy could increase local telephone rates by $1 billion a year, a lawyer representing state regulatory commissions opposed to the policy told the Supreme Court.

Lawrence Malone, representing a group of state public utilities, told the Supreme Court Monday that the Federal Communications Commission misinterpreted federal law when it ordered states to adopt a new formula for depreciation, an accounting method by which utilities gradually recover from consumers the costs of such things as telephone lines and poles.

The policy was challenged by Louisiana, California, Florida and Ohio, and other states have entered as friends of the court.

Highlights of other Supreme Court action on Monday are:

Cases accepted

—Agreed to decide whether a California law that orders employers to give women up to four months maternity leave discriminates against men and non-pregnant women (California Federal Savings & Loan vs. Guerra, 85-494).

—At the urging of the Reagan administration, agreed to decide if the United States must impose sanctions on Japan for exceeding international whaling quotas (Japan Whaling Association vs. American Cetacean Society, 85-954; Secretary of Commerce Baldrige vs. American Cetacean Society, 85-955).

—Accepted an appeal by Connecticut Democratic officials of a lower court ruling that said Republicans had a right to open their state primary elections to independent voters (Secretary of State Tashjian vs. Republican Party of Connecticut, 85-766).

—Will decide the constitutionality of a Washington state election law requirement that minor party candidates win 1 percent of the primary vote to qualify for the general election ballot (Secretary of State Munro vs. Socialist Workers Party, 85-656).

—Will consider whether a Massachusetts anti-abortion group violated federal campaign finance laws when it used general funds to print a voting guide (FEC vs. Massachusetts Citizens for Life, 85-701).

—Agreed to decide if some 6,000 U.S. citizens working on the Panama Canal have to pay U.S. taxes, a case that could result in a $100 million refund by the government (Robert O'Connor vs. United States, 85-558; Paul Coplin vs. United States, 85-559; Jack Mattox vs. United States, 85-560).

—Will decide if a murder confession by a man responding to the "voice of God" was the result of a knowing and voluntary waiver of his right to remain silent (Colorado vs. Francis Connelly, 85-660).

Cases Rejected

—Let stand a ruling that an Arkansas statute used to prosecute a nude dancer was not unconstitutionally vague and overbroad (Sonia Young vs. Arkansas, 85-391).

—Refused to consider a challenge to the growing trend by national banks to offer discount brokerage services to the public (Securities Industry Association vs. Comptroller of the Currency, 85-392).

—Opened the way for a black man to sue Cleveland Heights, Ohio, for discriminatory housing practices, even though he had not been barred from moving into the city (City of Cleveland Heights vs. William Smith, 85-653).

—Let stand a ruling that a Houston cable TV franchise won through political bargaining instead of competitive bidding violated antitrust laws (Gulf Coast Cable Television vs. Affiliated Capital Corp., 84-951).

—Cleared the way for a public hearing on charges that two members of the Green Bay Packers football team sexually assaulted a dancer at a Milwaukee nightclub (Certain unnamed prospective defendants vs. Newspapers Inc. et al., 85-903).

—Rejected an appeal by a Pennsylvania union of a lower court ruling that set racial quotas for hiring hall referrals (Local Union 542, International Union of Operating Engineers vs. Pennsylvania, 85-828).

—Refused to hear an appeal by Haitian immigrants living in Florida who say the state's refusal to grant them a home-stead tax credit is unconstitutional (Liphete vs. Stierham, 84-1287).

IN BRIEF

Fighting In Streets Of South Yemen Capital

ABU DHABI, United Arab Emirates (UPI) — The outcome of an attempted coup in South Yemen was unclear early today, with communication links to the outside world still severed following pitched battles for control of the capital.

Forces loyal to President Ali Nasser Mohammed and rebel troops seeking to overthrow him fought with gunboats in Aden harbor and with tanks on the airport road and in the city center Tuesday, Yemeni and other officials reported.

Telex and telephone lines were out and state-run Aden radio in the South Yemen capital remained off the air. It has been silent since announcing an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate the 49-year-old president Monday by his deputy and at least three other government officials.

In Kuwait, the Kuwaiti news agency said life was gradually returning to normal, and that Tuesday's fighting was the result of government forces moving to mop up "pockets" of rebel resistance in the city.

U.S.-Soviet Talks Resume

GENEVA (UPI) — U.S. and Soviet arms negotiators returned to Geneva for their first talks since the November summit, with Moscow continuing to link a reduction in superpower nuclear arsenals to scrapping of the "Star Wars" defense plan.

Soviet negotiator Viktor Karpov said on his arrival Tuesday Moscow stood firm on its demand that no cuts in nuclear arsenals were possible until President Reagan stopped research on the Strategic Defense Initiative, dubbed "Star Wars" by the media.

Chief U.S. delegate Max M. Kampelman, who arrived later, insisted Washington intended to continue the space-based missile defense program and urged Moscow to change its position.

Temple Visits Protested

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Arab merchants in the walled Old City went on strike to protest the second visit in less than a week to the holy Temple Mount by right-wing Israeli politicians.

Hundreds of Arabs threatening "blood and fire" Tuesday surrounded 15 Israeli politicians inspecting the Temple Mount — regarded as holy to Moslems, Christians and Jews — and forced them to flee under heavy police guard.

A commercial strike was in force in Arab markets in the walled city to protest the visit. Police barred most journalists from the scene, saying news coverage might aggravate the situation.

No injuries were reported, but a police spokesman said 19 Arabs were arrested and held for questioning. No arrests of Jews were reported.

Prime Minister Shimon Peres issued a statement condemning the incident, saying it was incited "by individuals whose only purpose was to foul the atmosphere and undermine relations of coexistence" between Jews and Arabs.

During the melee, Arab demonstrators burned tires, and about 600 helmeted police used tear gas and night sticks to disperse the protesters and allow the delegation to leave, a police spokesman said.

Nation Yields To Blockade

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Lesotho, the tiny mountain kingdom encircled by South Africa, has yielded to a virtual economic blockade and agreed to meet and discuss charges it is harboring anti-apartheid guerrillas.

The announcement of Lesotho's decision to discuss border security came as U.S. envoy Chester Crocker ended three days of talks with senior officials in Pretoria Tuesday and described South Africa as a "dangerous place."

Crocker's talks with President Pieter Botha and Cabinet members focused on racial violence that has claimed more than 1,000 lives in two years and on deadlocked peace talks between Namibia and neighboring Angola.

Botha told reporters, "South Africans are receiving training (in Lesotho) over weekends, crash courses in the handling of explosives and hand grenades. We cannot allow people like that to ... come back and kill South Africans."

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT:

Bitterly cold temperatures that forced thousands of homeless into shelters gripped the East again today after spring-like conditions in the southern Plains prompted Texans to mistake a winter respite for planting season. Snow fell early today from the upper Ohio valley to the mid Atlantic coast, prompting travelers' advisories for the Washington, D.C., and Baltimore areas. Snow also fell over the Great Lakes, and winds that gusted to 47 mph on the Pacific coast prompted gale warnings for the Oregon and California coasts. Bitter cold spread across New England and northern portions of the mid Atlantic states early today, with high temperatures below zero in Maine and about 10 degrees in northern New York state. The very cold temperatures combined with winds around 15 mph to push wind chills to 10 degrees to 40 degrees below zero. "Did you ever step into a walk-in freezer in the summer? That's just how it is today to go from a warm house outdoors," said Thomas Say, 85, of Messina, N.Y., where the temperature was 21 below Tuesday. "It's dangerous to go outside without a mask covering your face." Philadelphia social workers combed the downtown area Tuesday night for homeless people as temperatures began dropping from the 20s to the predicted low of 10 degrees. Officials in New York City were expecting highs of about 20 today after two nights of bitter cold that drove record numbers into shelters.

AREA READINGS (9 a.m.): temperature: 53; overnight low: 41; Tuesday's high: 63; barometric pressure: 30.31; relative humidity: 87 percent; winds: NW at 7 mph; rain: .00 in; sunrise: 7:19 a.m.; sunset: 5:51 p.m.

Cook Of The Week

Petite Bea Williamson A Bundle Of Energy

By Dorothy Greene
Herald Correspondent

It's been said that nice things come in small packages and our Cook of the Week is a perfect example of this descriptive phrase. Bea Williamson's petite frame belies her seemingly endless source of energy when it comes to her home, family, friends, professional life and church family.

The daughter of a sharecropper, Bea has come a long way from her roots in Ozark, Alabama. The oldest of 10 children, Bea spent most of her time helping her mother keep house and taking care of the younger children.

"My mother taught me how to make biscuits at the age of 10," says Bea, with a laugh, "but I couldn't make one now if I tried. I haven't done it in so many years. Then they started making those Butter-Me-Not and other refrigerated biscuits that are so easy to pop in the oven."

It may not be biscuits, but other tantalizing aromas that are inviting and special. Peeking into her pantry reveals more than 300 canning jars of vegetables, fruits, and pickled items which Bea has preserved and which offer a convenient choice.

"I hardly ever have to go to the grocery store," says Bea. Her home-canned collection includes green beans, black-eyed peas, squash, butter beans, figs, pears, and "any kind of thing that grows."

Bea's comfortable home, fashioned in the style of a log home, is tucked away deep in the woods south of Sanford and is a picture-perfect delight to any visitor. Bea says that she was directly involved in the design and building from scratch and can tell you where every nail, stud and wire is placed. She shares her little bit of heaven with a faithful guard dog named Flo, eight geese, two chickens and a cat. Although she has been widowed since 1983, Bea's home is never empty as she enjoys the constant company of family, friends and neighbors.

Recalling her marriage to Bill Williamson, Bea says,

"He moved into our neighborhood when I was 12 years old and when I first saw him, I loved him. We were married when I was 27 years old and the partnership spanned 36 years. My daughter, Carolyn, and my grandson, David, are a great source of pride to me, along with many nieces, nephews, great-nieces and great-nephews. The highlight of my life now are my great-nieces and nephews who spent a great deal of time with me on weekends."

Bea is an ambitious, outgoing lady, and has always enjoyed working outside the home. While working for the U.S. Post Office in Miami when she was 21 years old, Bea was appointed a wartime regular clerk in just 3 months instead of the usual 3-5 years it normally took to achieve that position. In 1950, Bea opened the third coin laundry in the city of Miami and operated that business for nearly 20 years. During the time Bea was running her coin laundry business in Miami, she also helped two of her brothers raise their children, 6 in all, and "loved them as my very own," says Bea.

Taking advantage of her talent as a fine seamstress, Bea sewed costumes for many well-known movie stars while they were performing at the Deauville and Eden Rock hotels in Miami.

Then, in 1970, after she and Bill "retired" to Sanford, choosing "a quieter way of life", Bea took on a sewing assignment that would stymie anyone.

"They were just pouring the foundation for the Holiday Inn on S.R. 436," says Bea, "when my daughter met the housekeeper and learned that they were looking for a seamstress." By the time they were open for business, Bea had outfitted 101 employees, including maids, bellhops, waiters, waitresses, hostesses, bartenders and barmaids!

In keeping with her warm personality, her love of being in the business world and meeting people, Bea became a licensed real estate agent in 1974. She has been so successful in her profession that most of her clients have come to her by word of mouth. Bea has earned many awards and deservedly so. An entire wall in her beautiful home displays a countless number of plaques honoring Bea for "Outstanding Sales Performance," "Recruiter of the Year," "Outstanding Listing Associate," and the "Money Bags Award". This from a company of 209 associate agents, and more. No wonder there's enough energy left over to always lend a helping hand to others.

Bea calls herself a "devout Christian" and believes in living by the Golden Rule and the Ten Commandments. An active member of the First Baptist Church of Sanford, Bea enjoys her Fellowship Class at church and is very enthusiastic about a "project" the ladies have just begun.

When it was recently discovered that a 96-year-old lady was living alone, under undesirable conditions, needing food and personal care, Bea's group began taking hot meals to her every day. Pitching in with small tasks, they are helping her to maintain her pride and independence.

"Right now, I belong to the best class at First Baptist Church," says Bea, "and we are working together to be sure this lady gets a good meal every day and knows that somebody cares."

"Our Sunday School class is known as the 'do-gooders' at church," says Bea, "and we have a great group of 31 women. Any time anyone needs anything, or someone dies, we will go and take food."

Bea likes to entertain and just recently had a pre-holiday sit down dinner for 43 people at her home. The guests were members of her fellowship class, their husbands and dates.

"We brought tables from church and set them up on the porch, and it was just great," she says. "I have a friend who is an organist come and entertain us and we had a wonderful time." Again, on Christmas Eve, Bea held a family party for 25 with all the trimmings. "I have company about 3 times a week."

Microwave Magic

Recipes Quick And Easy To Prepare

Usually after the holidays are over most of us are quite satisfied to have simple plain home cooking. Perhaps we're over-indulged in rich foods and plan to eat less. Maybe too, we want to trim our food budget. With those thoughts in mind the recipes in today's column should help. They are for simple foods that are easy and quick to prepare.

Hearty one dish meals, served with bread and salad can be budget-minded and quick. Potato Sausage Soup is such a dish.

POTATO SAUSAGE SOUP

Makes 5 cups
 1/2 lb. sausage
 1 cup chopped onion
 1/2 cup chopped celery
 1 cup hot water
 1/2 teaspoon crushed rosemary
 1/8 teaspoon garlic powder
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 3/4 lb. straight cut frozen french fries. (or make your own from fresh potatoes)
 1 1/2 cups milk
 Parsley

In a 2 quart container microwave the crumbled sausage, onion, and celery on 100% power 4-6 minutes. Drain fat and add water, seasonings, and potatoes. Cover the microwave on 100% power 8-10 minutes, or until potatoes are tender. Stir in milk and heat to serving temperature. Sprinkle with finely chopped parsley.

When I want a simple, quick supper that pleases, I prepare this favorite.

MACARONI AND CHEESE

1 package, 8 oz. macaroni, cooked and drained
 2 cups, 8 oz., grated cheddar cheese
 2 tablespoons chopped onion
 1 beaten egg
 1 can, 13 oz., evaporated milk
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 Dash of Paprika

Grease a 2 quart casserole. Layer half the cooked macaroni in bottom. Top with half the onion and half the cheese. Repeat layers. Combine the egg, milk, and salt. Pour over the macaroni. Sprinkle with paprika and dot with butter. Microwave on 50% power for 12-15 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes. Serve. Makes 6-8 servings.

Cool days make this one-dish meal even more welcome. It's great served with crackers, grated cheddar cheese, chopped onions and sour cream.

CHILI CON CARNE

1 lb. ground beef
 1 large onion, chopped
 1/2 green pepper, chopped
 1 cup celery, chopped
 2 cloves of garlic, minced
 1 (16 oz) can of tomatoes, crushed
 1 (8 oz) can of tomato sauce
 1-3 tablespoon chili powder

Story Of Damsel In Distress Is Tall Tale To Dubious Wife

DEAR ABBY: You once said that you could usually spot a phony letter. Well, today is my 70th birthday, and so help me, this is true. The letter in your column from "Jane," who refused to open the door to a stranger, struck home.
 On a recent Saturday, at midnight, I was still reading when I heard a timid knock at the front door. I peered out, and saw a topless young lady standing there with her arms crossed! Fearing a ruse or a robbery, I opened the door slightly and said, "Yes?"

Dear Abby

 She asked, "Could you please lend me a shirt?"
 I said, "What happened?"
 She replied, "The guy I was riding with took my shirt. Where is the nearest bus stop?" I thought, should I ask her in and wake my wife - she has 99 blouses - no, that might mean trouble, so I reached into the hall closet for an old windbreaker I use in the garden, and handed it out the door. She put it on and tried to work the zipper, but it was broken, so rather than have her stand there fussing with it, I said, "Bring it back; here is my business card."
 She said, "I will. Thank you, thank you, thank you." Then she left.
 The next morning at breakfast I told my wife what happened, and she didn't believe a word of it. Now my wife thinks I lied, and I'm out a jacket.
 How should I have handled the situation?
EDDY HILL, VAN NUYS
DEAR EDDY: I think you handled the situation with gallantry, chivalry and style. Your wife may not believe you, but I do. P.S. Let me know if you ever

Get your jacket back

DEAR ABBY: My wife complains constantly that she is starved for sex. One look at her and you know that's all she's starved for. Since the birth of our second child, she's gained so much weight she refuses to weigh herself. (She must be 300 pounds.) Fat turns me off. That's why there's no sex.

What troubles me even more is what she's doing to our children. They are both very fat. She keeps feeding them cakes, pies, cookies and fried foods that will only make them fatter. Our daughter will be entering her teens soon, and I know the other kids will make her life miserable. Kids can be so cruel. Our son, who is 7, is so fat he can barely walk, let alone run. How will he be able to play sports?

If my wife is bent on destroying herself, why is she doing this to the kids, too? When I mention that the kids are fat, she flies into a rage. What can I do?
NONAME, NOCTE
NO STATE

DEAR NO: The children are not your wife's responsibility - they're yours, too.

Your wife desperately needs to be examined mentally as well as physically. She could be suffering from emotional problems. (One of the cheapest and more accessible mind-altering substances available is FOOD.)

The poor woman is also guilty of child abuse, and if you permit her to continue fattening the children, you're equally guilty. First express your loving concern, then get her to a doctor! And insist that the children get into a weight-loss program recommended by their pediatrician.

Consult Dietitian For Low-Cholesterol Diet

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — Please tell me something about doctors who inject drugs into the spinal canal to cure shingles.

DEAR READER — To my knowledge, this is not an accepted method. I am sure that there are experimental techniques of this type, but they are not generally available or proved to be effective. In addition, the risks of such treatment are unknown. Shingles runs a variable course and rarely becomes chronic, so I would stay away from seemingly easy cures until they have been proved safe. New breakthroughs in treatment are usually promptly reported in reputable medical journals.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Will you tell me what I can and cannot eat or drink to do something about my cholesterol?

DEAR READER — As a general rule, cholesterol comes from food rich in animal fat. Therefore, you would want to avoid milk, cheese, cream, eggs, red meat and saturated fat. Don't eat fried foods. Substitute corn oil or safflower oil in salad dressings. You can obtain more specific individualized low-cholesterol diets by consulting the dietitian at your local hospital or asking your doctor.

To give you more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my newsletter, UNDERSTANDING CHOLESTEROL. Other readers who would like a copy should send 75 cents plus a long self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2597, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on Cholesterol.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My problem is that for some time now, when I take a deep breath, I frequently have a pronounced feeling of pins and needles, mostly in my hands. I am a 52-year-old woman in generally good health, although I am a bit overweight and have a touch of arthritis. What could cause this?

DEAR READER — As you expand your lungs, you may be causing tissue to press against the arteries leading to your hands. This can result in a "falling-asleep" sensation in your upper extremities. Try losing some weight and see if that helps the situation by shrinking the tissues and allowing more freedom of circulation.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Just how healthy are vegetarians? I eat nothing but salads and drink lots of water, so I figure I'm in pretty good shape.

DEAR READER — Vegetarians

are usually very healthy, providing they obtain enough nutrition in the form of protein, calories, vitamins and minerals. Your diet seems overly strict; in fact, I'd say it is inadequate. Try adding more whole grain foods and vitamin-mineral supplements.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Don't think that East lost his mind in today's bidding. His jump raise of partner's overall was pre-emptive, a treatment that has become popular. So East's bid simply said to West, "Hey, I think the opponents can make something and I have heart support, so I'm taking away some of their room to bid. And by the way, I've got a lousy hand." South had a problem over three hearts. He did not want to try three no-trump with what might turn out to be only one heart stopper. Eventually he bid four clubs. North did not know how much strength partner might have, but if South could bid four clubs, North's two aces should make five clubs a good bet. And so it was. A heart lead set up a heart trick for the defenders, and of course they could not be denied their ace of clubs, but North-South scored 11 tricks and their contract.

I am not criticizing the East-West methods, since I use the same kind of pre-emptive raise, but my teammates did not use this sophisticated device. Accordingly, at the other table East remained silent. When North responded one spade, East passed. South now bid three clubs. North bid three diamonds, and South, with a heart stopper and the hope that North might have a protected queen or jack of hearts, bid three no-trump. Although East didn't show his heart support, West led a heart anyway, and the three no-trump contract was doomed. There is no moral to this tale. Sometimes when you win championship events, you have a little bit of luck.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY JANUARY 16, 1986

In the year ahead, several close friends will confide in you and tell you things they would not tell others. Some of this information will prove of benefit to you in material ways.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You'll be able to handle big problems with relative ease today, but minor infractions could put you in a tizzy. Strive to keep everything in perspective. Know where to look for romance, and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It could prove to be a mistake today to let your intuition or hunches override your logic. It's best to deal only with the facts at hand.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Discipline is a must in the management of your resources today. Your budget will be knocked for a loop if you rob Peter to pay Paul.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It won't bode well with your listeners today if you boast about things you have yet to accomplish. Act first and let your deeds speak for themselves.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Refrain from all types of pretenses today, especially pretending you're knowledgeable about a subject where, in truth, you know little.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You may encounter someone today who will judge you by what you have, not by what you are. If this busybody starts asking prying questions, politely change the subject.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Thoughtless behavior could tarnish your image today. Companions won't find fault with the big things, but could with something trivial.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Unless you have something complimentary to say about your co-workers today, it's best to say nothing at all. Criticism will sink like a lead balloon.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't give others tips on ways to make money today, unless you know for a fact they will work. Losers who heed your advice will be angry.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Promises will be easy to make today, but later they could turn out to be difficult to keep. Bear this in mind before making any serious commitments.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Instead of unexpectedly dropping in on a friend you hope to see today, call first to be certain he or she doesn't have other involvements.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Continue to be mindful of your spending patterns again today. Remember buying lots of little goodies can add up to a whopping total.

Soviets Understand Americans Better, Producers Say

COLRAIN, Mass. (UPI) — Organizers of the first satellite talk show between citizens of the world's superpowers said the Soviet participants had a better understanding of the United States than the Americans did of Russia.

Pamela Roberts and her husband, Edward Wierzbowski, and Soviets showed themselves to be more in tune with culture and lifestyle in the U.S., while Americans tended to rely on stereotypical notions of life in the Soviet Union.

Roberts and Wierzbowski, who together run the Documentary Guild Co. in the tiny hill town of Colrain, conceived of the idea for the summit in 1982. The program is being televised nationwide this month through Multimedia Entertainment, a syndicated network owned by talk show host Phil Donahue.

A Boston television station, WCVB-TV, plans to air the show Thursday night.

"The Soviets know more about our literature and can easily talk about American writers," said Roberts. "Very few of the Americans could even name current Soviet writers. They (Soviets) see American movies."

Along with the forum, Roberts said she drew her impressions of Soviet-American understanding from visiting Siberia in the summer of 1982 with her husband. The couple filmed a meeting there between Americans and Soviets, which sewed the seeds for the same project on a larger scale.

"A Citizens' Summit" was filmed Dec. 29 in Seattle and Leningrad. Multimedia syndicated the show in one- and two-hour packages to stations across the United States.

Between 75 and 80 of the stations, servicing 65 percent of the nation, have picked up the show for broadcast. Wierzbowski said.

The show cost $250,000 to produce and Wierzbowski is hoping to cover costs through European distribution. He and Roberts are also producing a forum to air on public television documentary version of the in April, they said.
