QUESTION OF DISPOSITION WESTERN THRACE TODAY COMES BEFORE POWERS

IN CONFERENCE AT LAUSANNE AND WILL BE THRESHED OUT

TURKEY CLAIMS

Everything in Sight Within Her Frontiers in Year 1913

(By The Associated Press) LAUSANNE, Nov. 22.—The question of the disposition of Western Thrace came before the powers today when Ismet Pasha presented to the commission on military and territorial matters Turkey's claim to all territory embraced within her frontiers of 1913. (By The Associated Press) LAUSANNE, Nov. 22.—The Lausanne conference, having organized for work is now ready to take up its task of restoring peace to the Near East. An effort of Ismet Pasha and the Turkish delegation for open sessions complete publicity of all conference programs, have been overruled and news announcements will be limited to formal communiques.

DECLARES ENGLAND DOES NOT NEED GULF STREAM

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Science has come forward recently to destroy another of man's long cherished illusions, but at the same time it has removed a source of constant anxiety to those who would attempt to understand the causes of climatic conditions.

M. Danois, the well known hydrologist, who has made a special study of the waters of the Atlantic, has declared that the temperate climate of the British Isles and the northern coast of France does not depend on the Gulf Stream, and that its diversion would not therefore leave this section of the world in the grip of an Arctic winter. M. Danois claims to have proved that the Gulf Stream, rising to the north of the Antilles, does not pass the Sargasso Sea, and the notion must be discarded that it traverses the Atlantic to bathe the shores of England and France.

He expresses the view that the Gulf Stream is merely the backwash of the equatorial currents. Summer heat provokes dilatation of the heavily salted equatorial waters, which translate themselves into permutations of the more lightly salted Arctic and Continental waters. It is these permutations in the eastern Atlantic which have been mistaken for branches of the Gulf Stream. They are, however, purely local currents and vary according to the season.

The camel, while never a companionable beast, has one human weakness, an insatiable love for tobacco.

Germany Leads the World in Literacy Report

(By The Associated Press) INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 22.—Germany leads the world in literacy, according to a statement today by Garland W. Powell, national director of the Americanism Commission of the American Legion, based upon estimates of the 1920 census. The United States is eleventh in the literacy list of leading nations, Mr. Powell said.

Countries which have fewer illiterates than America according to Mr. Powell are Germany, Denmark, Switzerland, Holland, Finland, Norway, Sweden, Scotland, England, Wales and France. "The 1920 census showing that more than five million persons, or six per cent of the American population, are illiterate, is too low, because a confession of illiteracy to a census taker was necessary to enroll the person among those who can neither read nor write," Mr. Powell declared. "This made it easy for the illiterate to conceal his ignorance, since there was no test of literacy."

Illiteracy in 1913-14 in twelve states during the period 1910-1920, was for the most part, due to those states having received the greatest influx of immigrants during the last decade, according to the statement.

"The American Legion is appalled at the discovery of America's low standing," he said. "The correction of this deplorable state of affairs will be one of the foremost activities of the Americanism Commission." Among the first steps which the Legion will take is the holding of an American Education Week, Dec. 3 to 9, inclusive, and the undertaking of a fight for total exclusion of immigration for a period of five years, it was announced. The Legion's hope is to eliminate illiteracy by 1927, according to Mr. Powell.

In co-operation with the National Education Association, the Legion has adopted as its slogan, "Adopt an Illiterate Today," recommending that its members and other patriotic citizens teach immigrants to read and write and to make them familiar with American history, American institutions and system of government. Army draft tests showed that out of 1,522,250 persons examined, 21.9 per cent could neither read nor write, Mr. Powell declared.

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Edgar Brady, under indictment at Miami on the charge of murdering his wife, recovered sufficiently from the operation and was able to be removed, the home physician said.

French Premier Pictures Another World Contest Says Germany Preparing

CLEMENCEAU DECLARES MILITARISTS ARE PREPARING FOR ANOTHER WORLD CONQUEST

Spoke Fervently Nearly 1 1/2 Hours But Showed No Fatigue

COUPE IS BEING PLANNED BY HUNS

Former German Military Heads Plotting Against Democratic Gov't.

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Georges Clemenceau today prepared to rest after having delivered his first address in the United States, warning the Americans that German militarists were preparing for another war. Although he spoke fervently nearly an hour and a half the tiger showed little fatigue.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The militarists in Germany already are preparing another war, Georges Clemenceau, war premier of France, declared last night in the first address of his American tour. "Don't you read the newspapers?" he demanded. "Don't you know what that means?"

"WETS" PERFECT PLANS FOR MODIFICATION OF "DRY" LAW AND REPEAL OF AMENDMENT

(By The Associated Press) ST. LOUIS, Nov. 22.—Declaring the results of the recent election were a strong indication that public sentiment favors repeal of the Volstead act, a score of state secretaries of the association opposed to the prohibition amendment yesterday perfected plans for modification of the dry enforcement law and eventually repeal of the 18th amendment at the closing session here of a two-day conference. Resolutions providing for the working out of a plan for dispensing alcoholic beverages under the regulation of states and other directing the presentation to congress of bills for legislation favorable to the wets were prepared for submission to the conference which met in public session.

Although the association was formed for the special purpose of obtaining the repeal of the prohibition amendment, its executive committee has adopted a resolution opposing the restoration of saloons in the event of

RARE BLUE GOOSE IN CLEVELAND MUSEUM

Blue geese, among the rarest of birds that migrate across Ohio and the most beautiful of the species have been added to the collection of the Cleveland Museum of Natural History as to the contribution of Chester K. Brooks.

An unsuspecting flying "V" of these wild, grayish blue birds dipped to the waters of the Winous Point Hunt Club near Port Huron, O., with no thought either of glory or gravity. They came close to the boat in which Brooks had been waiting for just such a gathering. There was a series of loud reports and the thin "V" moved on minus eight of its members.

Ordinarily these geese might have forced the piece de resistance at a few dinner parties but Mr. Brooks recognized them as the rare blue geese and preserved them for the museum.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

the situation in Europe, pointing to a rapprochement of the Turks and Soviet Russia as ominous war clouds.

In the meantime, he declared, Ludendorff and other German militarists were planning a coup against the democratic government there. Describing the present as a time "of greatest crisis," he urged the United States should renew conversations with France and England which, without definitely committing this country to any set program, would present to German eyes a picture of the three implacable folks who faced her in the war.

He said sooner or later America would have to interest herself in the post-war affairs of Europe, because she could not continue to be comfortable and wealthy if Europe was covered with blood. He expressed hope that the United States might establish a plan as to what was to be done in carrying out the terms of the peace treaty and join with England and France in imposing it on Germany.

He was frank in his criticism of America's post-war attitude, declaring it had a large share in imposing the peace terms and had a duty to see that they were enforced. Challenging the worth of Germany's signature to a treaty, the Tiger declared that if France had known in 1918 that reparations would have been unpaid four years later, she would have gone on to Berlin!

The Tiger received a great burst of applause for the assertion.

All of the delegates at the meeting expressed jubilation over what they declare were overwhelming victories for the "wet" forces in the November election.

Establishment of a magazine as the official organ of the association also is under consideration. W. H. Clayton, general director of the association, said that Congressman Hill, of Maryland and Senator-elect Edwards of New Jersey would be spokesmen for the association in the house and senate. He asserted that the body has 457,000 members and is in good condition financially.

He said no contributions were accepted from interests formerly interested in the liquor trade.

PENSION OF $25,000 AWAITS BRITISH CABINET MEMBER

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The Lord Chancellor, Lord Birkenhead, is financially the hardest hit of all the members of the cabinet who have to retire from office because Mr. Lloyd George has resigned the Premiership. In becoming an ex-Lord Chancellor he loses 10,000 pounds sterling a year and the handsome suite of apartments which the Lord Chancellor always occupies, rent free, in the House of Lords.

But he does not have to hustle for a living, as is usually the case with an ex-office holder in the United States. Anyone who has filled the exalted office of Lord Chancellor, for however short a period, is entitled to a pension of 5,000 pounds sterling a year for life if he chooses to claim it.

Ex-Lord Chancellors usually live long to enjoy their pensions. At the present time there are five of them in England, alive and hearty. The Law Lords are really the equivalent of the American Supreme Court. They are the highest court of appeal. It is for these services the so-called pensions are paid them.

Citrus Men From West Plan to Visit South Florida

Party Forming To Pay Return Visit To The Sunshine State.

Plans for a visit of California citrus fruit growers to Tampa and south Florida next February, in return for the visit of Florida citrus fruit men to California last June, are maturing at the California end, and communications received from Edward A. Street, editor and general manager of the California Citrograph, published at Los Angeles, show that progress is being made in lining up a representative party for the trip.

According to plans as outlined in Mr. Street's letters, the Californians expect to arrive in Tampa on Tuesday, Feb. 4, leaving Los Angeles on the preceding Thursday, Feb. 1, and traveling by way of New Orleans and Jacksonville.

One of the prime inducements held out for making the trip at the time proposed is that the Native Sons and daughters will be in Tampa for the South Florida Fair and Gasparilla Carnival.

The Californians boosting and return visit, headed by Mr. Street, have published an itinerary, and have obtained reduced rates and other concessions from the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific from Los Angeles to New Orleans, and from the L. & N. and the Seaboard Air Line from New Orleans via Jacksonville to Tampa. Concessions also include a nine-month return limit on tickets, together with variable routes for the return trip.

Details of entertainment after arrival in Tampa have been left by the Californians in the hands of the Floridians co-operating in the effort to make the return visit wholly pleasing, profitable and satisfactory.

In the folder issued by the California committee the advance made by Florida as a citrus fruit producing state is cited, the folder stating that Florida's estimated crop of fifteen million boxes this season will be not far from California's crop. Methods of picking, packing, spraying trees and general grove practice in Florida also are mentioned as worthy of study by the California citrus fruit men.

In his communication to Edgar A. Wright, editor of the Florida Grower, Mr. Street states that many inquiries have already been received from persons contemplating making the long trip, and that reservations already are being made for the journey.

After seeing the great South Florida Fair the visitors from the Golden State are to be afforded every opportunity to see many of the big groves of Florida, to visit the principal citrus fruit growing sections, as well as the big trucking sections, to visit and inspect packing houses and shipping points, and especially to investigate the new pre-cooling plants, coloring plants, and to see the application of the new Broglex method of preserving citrus fruit for long periods of time. This method is being tested in California this season for the first time, having been perfected in Florida within the last two or three years.

Californians, including Mr. Street, anticipate that a party of 100 to 125, or possibly more, will make the trip to Florida next February, although Mr. Street stated in one of his letters that February was a bad time for California citrus fruit growers to be away from their groves and their business.—Tampa Tribune.

Russian Peasants Frame Laws Amid Imperial Splendor

(By The Associated Press) MOSCOW, Nov. 22.—Russia's parliament of workmen and peasants, in their picturesque garb, have assembled in the great throne room of the czar's old palace, within the Kremlin, to discuss new laws designed to benefit the proletariat.

The legislation to be considered includes the labor code of land laws, civil laws, and laws providing for unified courts of justice, all of which require readjustment owing to the new economic policy.

The parliament, known officially as the All-Russian Center Committee, is the highest legislative body in Russia. The throne room where more than 300 members from various parts of Russia have assembled, is virtually unchanged from the days of the reign of Emperor Nicholas except that the throne has been concealed by a white sounding board intended to improve the acoustics. Upon the walls, which are of light blue and gold, and upon the ten immense gilded pillars, still remain the arms of the imperial family, and from ten enormous chandeliers scores of the old imperial double eagles, still look down on the lawmakers, four of whom are women.

The reception hall of the Empress, adjoining the throne room, is filled with telephones and noisy typewriters operated by short haired stenographers. The room of St. George, of gold and white, the largest room in the Kremlin, with six chandeliers supporting more than 3000 incandescent lights, is being used as a smoking room by the peasant lawmakers.

LEGETTE KILLED BY SECTION HAND FOREMAN IN LEON

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 21.—Following the inquest held this morning in connection with the killing of J. V. Leggett, of Cairo, Ga., on Lake Jamaica, early Sunday morning, J. L. Powell, a section foreman of Havana, is held in the county jail without bail to await the action of the grand jury. Hodges and Davis, attorneys for Powell, have waived preliminary examination and the case will be presented to the grand jury next Monday when it meets in connection with the fall term of the circuit court. Testimony adduced at the hearing tended to show that all parties earlier in the night had been at the tent of Powell and that he had caused them all to leave. Subsequently while the Georgians were tussling at their camp a distance of some 150 yards away, Powell presumably disturbed in his rest, approached where they were and when Leggett turned his flashlight on Powell to see who it was the latter opened fire and Leggett received a full load in his abdomen from which he died a few hours later at a hospital in this city.

Two tourists from New York state were visitors to the Sanford Country Club and after playing the course, demonstrated their satisfaction both from a scenic and golfing standpoint, and asking for a date in March when they could bring fifty members from their Trade Association, who will be visiting Florida at that time, for a day's golf and a big dinner at the Sanford Country Club rather than at their own course further south in Florida. This is but the first and again demonstrates frequent prognostications that our country club while only the first is the essential first link in the chain towards our 20,000 population in the near future.

Lake Mary Casino was in full swing Friday night when the management put on a new prize dance called a Spot Dance. The lucky number to win the prize would be standing on a certain spot when the music stopped and the number of the spot was called out. There was a fine crowd out and everyone enjoyed the dance. The following couples won prizes: Mr. and Mrs. Reg Holly took first prize, Mr. Harry Trovillion and partner took second prize and Ralph Hunter and partner the third. Each prize was a beautiful box of candy. The music was great and could not be beaten for dance music, full of life and pep, which all goes to make up a good dance orchestra. The Casino is under new management, Mrs. H. A. Phillips, manager and owner. Next Friday night there will be a big dance at the Casino and if you want to have a good time at one of the cleanest dance halls in the country and where the best crowds go, be sure and go next Friday night.

LITTLE MYRTICE DICKSON PASSES TO GREAT BEYOND

There comes a time, in the life of every person, when human sympathy is craved and appreciated beyond all other material things. That time is the moment when death enters the home and takes a life. The grief that comes at such a time is doubly weighing and heartbreaking. If it is a little child just entering upon the life-career.

The sympathy of this community goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Dickson, who today are carrying a double sorrow. Just ten days ago the spirit of their 4-year-old son, Harry, took its flight, and today their little 8-months-old daughter, Myrtice, was laid to rest.

There is nothing so dear to morals as life. Yet every father and mother would gladly give up their own lives for the sake of their children. That mother who goes down into the valley of the shadow of death and brings up a little babe, goes down into a deeper gloom when she leaves the lips of that little one. And the father who is as the strong oak to his child becomes a shaking reed in that tragic moment when the little ones that are bone of his bone and flesh of his flesh, take an eternal departure.

But these parents who mourn today do not mourn as those who do not know the beautiful faith that they have experienced, and who enjoy a wide circle of friends whose hearts go out to them in sympathy and in a hope that they may to some extent share their grief. It is the thought of these beautiful relationships that will enable Mr. and Mrs. Dickson to bear their grief with resignation to the will of God. The death of sweet little children such as these causes a rift in the home, with the loving grandparents, and in society. But the human fellowships of Christian society always to some degree serves as a balsam to breaking hearts.

The funeral of little Myrtice was held from the family home this morning at 10:30 o'clock. Father Fox officiated. The interment was at Greenwood cemetery, with Undertaker Hand in charge.

For the present, Mr. and Mrs. Dickson will take up their abode with Mr. Dickson's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Dickson, of South Orange avenue.—Orlando Reporter-Star.

MRS. FELTON TAKES OATH IN SENATE

Never During Proceedings Does the Grand Old Women of Georgia Show Nervousness.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Mrs. W. H. Felton, of Georgia, took the oath of office today as the first woman United States senator.

It was true that her term probably will be only for a day, but the ceremony crowned with success the efforts of the 87-year-old lady, made to "blaze" the path for American womanhood in the Senate, and it was indicated that she would be content to step aside tomorrow in favor of Walter F. George, who was elected November 7th as her successor to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Watson. It was to the vacancy caused by this death that Mrs. Felton was appointed last September to serve until the November elections.

The seating of Mrs. Felton attracted a crowd to the Senate which rivaled that which had greeted President Harding a short time before at the House where he addressed congress in joint session. And she was showered with congratulations upon the signal honor.

When she was directed to proceed to the rostrum for the administering of the oath of office, her face broke into a smile. On the arm of Senator Harris, of Georgia, and lifting her gown daintily, she walked down the center aisle and up to the Vice-President's desk where Senator Cummins, of Iowa, president pro tempore, was presiding in the absence from the city of Vice-President Coolidge.

As Senator Cummins motioned for her to raise her right hand, she exhibited her only sign of unfamiliarity with the proceedings, waving her hand to Mr. Cummins and smiling as if receiving a similar salute. Senator Harris nudged her arm, however, and she then raised it, gazing intently at Senator Cummins as the oath was delivered, and giving her response in a low voice.

The seating of Mrs. Felton had been expected in view of the tacit agreement of the Senate leaders to interpose no objection in the face of possible technical precedents as to her status after the election on November 7, of her successor. But for a time today, it appeared as though such objection might be offered and definite assurance that the oath would be administered was not reached until a delay of two hours. In fact, it was not until after President Harding had delivered his address to the joint session that Mrs. Felton was given her seat.

The principal delay was due to an address of Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, in support of his claim to the Senate seat. This address, which was not on the program of the leaders, went into the precedents involved in the proposed course and at first gave the impression that the Montana senator was opposing Mrs. Felton's claim. But later Mr. Walsh swung into strong support of her position, declaring that her title was clear and granting it should not be considered a favor or a chivalrous act.

But at no time did Mrs. Felton exhibit nervousness, sitting with hands folded in her lap and with eyes on the Montana senator.

Before going into the capitol today, Mrs. Felton went to the White House and paid her respects to President Harding. She is expected to be in her seat in the Senate tomorrow but it is understood that Senator-elect George will present his claim to the seat, after Mrs. Felton has answered on roll call and perhaps delivered a brief address. Then it is understood she will retire without objection in favor of Mr. George, whose delay in presenting his election credentials made possible the seating of the first woman senator.

SAYS SHARK FISHING IS MADE IMPORTANT INDUSTRY

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Shark fishing can be made an important industry in this country in the opinion of officials of the Bureau of Fisheries. There are many uses to which various parts of the dreaded "man-killers" can be put and at a profit to the fisherman.

Former Secretary of Commerce Redfield gave prominence during the war days to shoes made of shark skin and it is stated that leather from this skin is as good as that from beef hides. Its use is confined not alone to shoe manufacture, but to the making of other "leather" goods.

Shark steaks also get some advertisement during the war, but the Fisheries Bureau holds that the shark flesh, dried or smoked, also can bring a good price per ton as fertilizer. Shark liver oil, made also in great quantities, while the body oil, prepared by boiling the flesh, also is valuable.

BANANAS IN FLORIDA

By Moses Folsom The banana is one of the most popular tropical fruits and belongs to the plantain family, which is now admitted to be among the most nutritious of all fruits. There are many varieties of which white is the most are grown in various sections of our state. Only the hardy African variety grows in the southern, central and western portions of the state; the fine flavored and more delicate varieties are grown for commerce in southern Florida. In the latter locality they do well and a fairly good trade is being done in this fruit each year. The better market varieties are the fig, dwarf red, cavenish and ladyfinger. With a little care this fruit will ripen in all sections of Florida, and even if it did not, it supplies a place as an ornament, that no other does, in lending a rich tropical appearance to the surroundings of the home.

LOW OR RED-RIND AROUND A NUTRITIOUS PULP USUALLY SEEDLESS.

In the tropics the dried flour of ripe bananas is used for the making of bread and cake. The banana contains about 5 per cent albumin, 20 per cent sugar and 70 per cent water. The banana is a plant of remarkably easy growth and very great decorative appearance. It should have an abundance of moisture and the richer the soil the better the results of growth and fruit. The last report of our State Department of Agriculture says bananas are growing in 32 countries. Its consumption is increasing and it should have a place around every home in Florida; all the wet places on the farm should be planted to bananas, where they will thrive well, requiring only an occasional hoeing to keep the weeds down. Millions of bunches of bananas are annually imported from the countries south of us. Growing bananas is a profitable industry and could be cultivated in many other parts of Florida.

FARMERS WILL ADVERTISE THEIR PRODUCTS SOON AND MAKE MONEY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The day when American farm products will be as extensively advertised throughout the country as the automobile and other manufactured articles will soon arrive, Dr. W. M. Jardine, president of the Kansas State Agricultural College, declared today before the Washington Ad Club.

"The American farmer has been acquainted with only one side of the advertising business," he said. "In the main, he thinks of advertising as a more or less tricky device employed by middlemen to separate him from his money. He probably has somewhat the same opinion of advertising as a target has of rifle practice."

"The signs of the times, however, are pointing in another direction. Bankers and members of chambers of commerce have begun to take the farmer in as a business partner. They are seeing that they must help him earn more money, and they are beginning to see that he needs help principally with his marketing and selling problems.

"The selling end of the farmer's business has been badly and must unfortunately neglected. Circumstances are to blame in part, he is to blame in part and business men are to blame in part. In a certain sense, advertising men are much to blame. Problems in marketing, advertising and selling that need solution much more than many which have been solved, have been neglected.

GRANTLAND RICE PICKS YALE TO WIN OVER HARVARD ELEVEN

George Owen and Charley Buell, Playing Final Game With Harvard Will Fight Desperately to Turn Eli

Grantland Rice, one of the foremost sport writers of the country, in writing for the Jacksonville Journal, picks Eli to win over Harvard this season. Yale has been able to win from Harvard but once since 1900, but Rice says things will be different this year. He says:

In discussing the next case on the calendar or docket, which happens to be the State of Connecticut vs. the State of Massachusetts, represented by the two noted attorneys, Eli Yale and John Harvard, one must go back a few steps further than the last two or three games.

In competitive sport there are frequent cases where a certain individual or a certain team is at its best, or at its worst, against a certain other individual or team over a long period of time.

There are certain major league pitchers, for example, that can trim stronger clubs with ease, but they can't beat certain weaker clubs 70 per cent of their starts.

It is a case of the Indian Sign or the Victory Hunch.

For a long period of time it has happened that Princeton was at her best against Harvard, Yale at her best against Princeton and Harvard at her best against Yale.

The schedule arrangement has something to do with this—but not entirely all.

If you turn back a few years to epochs of Harvard's great teams you will find that when Harvard was beating Yale by 20 or 30 points the Crimson was having a heptagonal time of it beating Princeton at all.

Twice Harvard barely won by a field goal margin, 3 to 0. Again she won by only 4 points, 10 to 6.

And since 1916 Harvard hasn't beaten the Tiger once.

Princeton more often than not has figured she had Harvard licked, while Harvard, peering at old Tiger wounds, has been looking for the worst.

But Harvard facing Yale is entirely a new story. Against Yale Harvard has been at her best—and against Harvard Yale has been at her worst.

Yale has beaten Princeton many times in the last ten or twelve years, whereas Yale has beaten Harvard only once since 1900.

One lone victory over Harvard in the last thirteen years shows how far this peculiar twist has worked its way.

This is the way things have worked for the last dozen years and the past performance chart must always be figured, when entries staff for the post.

Yale last year looked to have Harvard cornered. Princeton had beaten Harvard and Yale had beaten Princeton.

But Yale couldn't beat Harvard. Her game took a terrific slump when the Crimson banner went up above the lines.

"Harvard," you will say, "has been playing much stronger football."

All right. But then why should Yale be able to beat the team that can beat Harvard?

The schedule has something to do with it, of course. Princeton, facing Yale, has usually shown the effects of a hard Harvard game from the Saturday before. And Yale, facing Harvard, has also shown the jarring effects of her playful jamboree with the Tiger.

In the old days this didn't matter so much. Yale was too much better to mind the slump. And there was then no such element of mental strain which the complicated passing game has thrown upon both attack and defense.

Yale's case is slightly different this season. Just as Bill Roper did not have to use a lot of crutches against the Blue, as he did a year ago with Keck, Stinson, Wittmer and other limping, so "Ted" Jones has plenty of fine reserve material in quick cutting distance. Jones is in better shape to send fresh talent to the field wherever it is needed. He is sure to find Harvard far above her form in the Princeton game, for in spite of its poor showing in that contest, the Crimson has first class possibilities—strong line and more than a normal amount of backfield power.

With George Owen and Charley Buell playing their final game for Harvard, they are sure to put in the last touch of desperation, for neither has ever known a Yale conquest.

Cbch Bob Folwell Confident Navy Will Win Over the Army

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 22.—Bob Folwell is confident that the Navy team will again beat the Army in the annual clash. The return to form against Penn State, after the disappointing showing against Pennsylvania, has dispelled the gloom that for a time hung over the student body, coaches and players.

Folwell banks on the ability of the players, plus experience, to bring them through against West Point. On the Navy team this year are more players of previous experience on college teams than ever before in the history of the institution. Barchet, the star halfback, played at Johns Hopkins; Lentz, right guard, was at Rutgers last year; Matthews, center, comes from Colorado College; Dolles, left tackle, attended Billings Poly, and Flippen, who has played some games in the back field, came from Centre.

The Topolobampo broke up during last night. Only floating wreckage and the dead in the mud flats remain as evidence of the power of the mighty wall of water from the Colorado river which overwhelmed the stranded steamer when the tide turned.

"Manslaughter" and "The Ruling Passion" are two more big features that will be seen at the Princess at an early date.

The mere fact that it is a James Oliver Curwood story is enough to make one want to see this picture but when you learn that Alma Rubens takes the leading roll, this makes it a double feature.

"The Valley of Silent Men" is a story of the Northwest, and it is about a man who makes a confession as he thinks he is dying, and then later gets well. This confession was enough to hang, and whether they did or not can be seen at the Princess Friday and Saturday.

Scientists at Chicago university recently made a test of the skulls of the Senegalese tribe, of which Siki is a member, and discovered them capable of standing a great amount of jar and vibration.

All of which bears out the opinion of a champion Dempsey that Carpenter adopted the wrong method, by pinning in the jaw and forgetting the stomach, a far more delicate part of the Senegalese anatomy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The New York National League baseball club Monday announced the release of pitcher Tom Davies to the Toledo club of the American Association.

Davies, a former University of Pittsburgh football and baseball star, is now assistant football coach at the University of Pennsylvania.

It is an interesting fact that all the players on the Navy team this year come from far western and middle states. Neither the southern nor New England states are represented.

The records of the Navy show that most of the football players and wrestlers hail from the west.

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 22.—Edwin L. Scofield, of Stamford, and Pinehurst, winner of the qualifying medal in the annual Carolina tournament here Monday was defeated by E. J. Barber, of New York, at the twenty-first hole in the first round of play.

FOR THE MOVIE FAN

And a 2-part comedy will be shown after this picture.

Tonight our old friend, Charlie Ray, will appear in "Her Mad Bargain."

Much interest is being displayed in the program at the Princess for the balance of this week.

Charles always was a funny kid and draws a large crowd wherever his pictures are shown.

Then the big picture Friday night and Saturday matinee and night, "The Valley of Silent Men" is taken from the story by Oliver Curwood.

WEST PALM BEACH, Nov. 22.—Members of the West Palm Beach Post of the American Legion today asked publicly for a resolution adopted by the Post condemning the sinking of bills for a modification of the Volstead law with proposals for financing adjusted compensation for ex-service men. The resolution reads:

Whereas, the national news distributing agencies report that two bills were presented in the house of representatives and sponsored by Congressman Fred A. Britten of Illinois, and John Phillips Hill of Maryland, providing for adjusted compensation for ex-service men of the great war, and

Whereas, provision for financing said bill is proposed by legislation allowing the sale of light wine and beer, and

Whereas, the American Legion is opposed to any legislation contrary to the spirit of the American constitution, which it is believed to uphold and

Whereas, the American Legion has made a clear fight for the care of the disabled veterans and a reasonable compensation for the men who gave their service to the country in the great war and realizes the justice of its cause, and is, therefore, utterly opposed to aligning itself with any party or parties who profess a desire to oppose the American Legion while at the same time furthering a modification of any law which has for its purpose the upbuilding of a better citizenship in the United States, and

Therefore, be it resolved that the West Palm Beach Post No. 12 of the American Legion, Department of Florida, does hereby heartily condemn the effort to couple the adjusted compensation bill with an act to modify the Volstead law, and

It is therefore resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Congressman Britten and John Phillips Hill, to all representatives in congress from the State of Florida, to Hon. Jerome E. Wideman, state commander, to the newspapers of this city, to the Associated Press, and to the Hon. Alvin M. Owsley, national commander of the American Legion and a copy of the resolution spread on the minutes of the post.

Jack Britton Needs Sleep and Will Pay $10,000.00 For It

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Jack Britton will give $10,000 to any one who will prescribe a remedy that will make him sleep.

Not only his future in the ring, but health depends on getting rid of insomnia which has bothered him for over a year, the former world's welterweight champion declared.

After losing the decision to Mickey Walker, which deprived him of his title, Britton went up into the Maine woods but he found little relief. He returned to the city for a while and he is now back in the wilds again.

"It is nervous trouble and not due to any organic disorders," Britton says. "I have been training for 20 years and I guess the strain was too much.

"My going to bed about midnight and sleeping through late the next morning was the only way I could get any real rest and I got into the habit of remaining up late. When I started hard training which necessitated an early retirement, I couldn't sleep at all until it was most time to get up.

Have you lost or found anything?
