Oviedo Teens Honored For Saving Teacher's Life

Herald Staff Writer

Persistence and a knowledge of their teacher's habits helped two Oviedo teenagers save a life. Erin O'Leary, 16, and Earl Hunt, 17, of Oviedo High School were honored today at their school for their action in saving the life of math teacher and diving coach Jeanne Michaud of Casselberry. Miss Michaud, an athletic woman who often rode her bicycle to school, failed to show up for diving practice Sept. 3, said Erin's mother, Sally O'Leary.

That was unusual for Miss Michaud, and the teenagers became concerned, Mrs. O'Leary said.

They went to Miss Michaud's home but found no one there although her car and bike were parked as if she were at home.

They returned several times over the next four hours and left notes. They also called area hospitals and her friends, but without success.

Around 8:30 p.m. on their last trip they peeked heard what they though was someone inside, Mrs. O'Leary said.

Resisting an urge to break in themselves, they contacted a neighbor who called police.

Officers did not arrive, however, until 9:15 p.m. See TEENS, page 10A

Salute To A Varied Menu

Schools Set International Lunch Tables

By Kathy Tyrity Herald Staff Writer

As part of a salute to differing cultures, Seminole school officials, parents and guests joined children for lunch with an ethnic twist Wednesday.

At South Seminole Middle School, as well as school lunchrooms across the nation, a Hispanic menu graced the long tables. The occasion: National School Lunch Week.

One young diner at South Seminole in Casselberry told why she enjoyed her tacos and Cuban red beans and rice. "I like the meat and cheese," said 13-year-old Kim Morgan of the seventh-grade. "I wish we had this once a week. It's better than what we usually cat." Asked what they usually eat everyday, her dining partner Sipreanne Sands, age 12, said, "pizza." (although many other choices are available.)

It was a meal that took a lot of thought and preparation by Sweetle Williams, food service manager for that school and two hers. She wanted to make an interesting meal - since the school superintendent, the school board chairman and practically all the top administrators were there. But it was her students she wanted to Impress most.

"Some of the Cuban children wanted a Cuban dish so I decided to make red beans and rice," she said. "It sent me out looking for a recipe, but I found one and built it up for the amount we needed."

Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes found the dish quite tasty. In fact the whole Mrs. Williams has been with the county school food service for 23 years and everyday oversees the cooking of 1,700 lunches. Those go to students at South Seminole Middle School, Red Bug Elementary, and Sterling Park Elementary.

Meanwhile, in the kitchen, workers donned sombreros and full skirts and were seen in a video dancing Hispanic dances. Some of the mothers joined in, too and many of the children wore festival clothing as well.

The entire meal consisted of taco casserole, red beans and

Women Upset By Pending Forced Move

By Paul Schaefer Herald Staff Writer

The move of four elderly Sanford women from a two-story First Street home to a one story Oak Street residence six weeks ago was made to make life easier for the women. Instead, they are emotionally drained, upset, often cry, and are not eating well. The owners and operators of their new home were ordered Tuesday by the city of Sanford's code enforcement board to close the home because it is considered a business operating in a residential district.

The home's owner, Charles Cameron, Sanford, had appeals for a special exception to allow the women to remain in the home denied by the Sanford city commission Monday, and the code enforcement board Tuesday. Cameron said he signed a three-year lease with R.J. and Constance Jack to live in the home Sept. 1, but didn't ask if the Jacks would have others in the nome, althoug said he was aware they cared for the elderly.

Cameron said he spent much of Wednesday looking for an attorney to take on the case to defend the right of the home to operate, and may ask the American Civil Liberties Union today for legal assistance. 18th Suspect Arrested in Grenade Attack

JERUSALEM (UPI) - Israeli authorities searched Arab neighborhoods today and arrested an 18th suspect in a grenade attack that killed a man and wounded 69 people - mostly soldiers - after a military swearing-in ceremony at the Wailing Wall.

Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization and two PLO splinter groups claimed responsi-bility for the blasts in a crowded parking lot Wednesday night.

The terror attack, worst in Jerusalem in nearly three years, occurred as newly inducted israeli troops mingled with their families after a swearing-in ceremony at the Wailing Wall, Judaism's holiest alle, inside the Old City:

The gene in question appears linked to retinoblastoma, an eye recessive oncogene, a gene that cancer that strikes about 300 children every year in the United States. Doctors say it can be cured nine times out of 10.

Scientists for some time have speculated about the existence of a gene that if inactive sets the stage for retinoblastoma. Lake Mary Developer Faces Snag

By Eathy Tyrity Rerald Staff Writer

A Lake Mary developer wants to build 37 country homes priced between $150,000-$200,000 on 48.5 acres on Longwood/Lake Mary Road across from Lake Mary High School, but the city engineer is concerned about drainage in the area.

The development would be called Eagle Creek, according to Steve Hardin, president of Energy Development Inc. He wants to buy the property from Heidrich Land Co., and has a tentative closing set for Nov. 10. But the meeting at which the city commission could approve the plans is Nov. 7, and the whole contract is contingent on city approval. At the recent Planning & Zoning Board meeting, Eagle Creek plans were tabled until Oct. 28, and because of time constraints the developer feels he now has a "50-50 chance" of success with the project. If all goes well, he would like to get the lots on the market by March.

Board member Jim Talmadge brought up a number of concerns and was echoed by the city engineer. "I'm concerned about drainage," said Talmadge. "I think we really need to look at that before we move ahead."

Said City Engineer Tim Weaver. "Some of the southern portion of the property is well within the 100-year flood plain." He added that some of the properties need to be elevated above the 42-foot mean sea level requirement. Willing to try to work on the problems, he said he would work with the developer's engineers to see what could be done.

Neighbor Ken King of 347 Rockwell Circle showed the board pictures of standing water around his property during wet seasons. He said the development would be "reasonably well accepted" if those problems could be worked out.

Weaver said the development also needed to provide access for properties to the East and reconfigure lots to meet setback requirements. "They may be able to build on only 33 lots," he said.

Another problem that needs to be solved, he said, is the alignment with driveways exiting across from the high school. "It could cause a traffic problem," Weaver said. Confident that all the problems could be worked out, the developer

Senate Passes Anti-Drug Bill Without Death Penalty Provision

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Senate approval pushed a $1.7 billion anti-drug measure just one step away from President Reagan's desk, but a decision to remove the bill's controversial death penalty provision made that final step a big one.

The final move was expected in the House today, where the compromise bill earlier won approval with the death penalty provision attached. A Senate decision to remove the provision Wednesday night before accepting the bill on a voice vote meant it once again needed House approval before going to Reagan.

Senators replaced the death penalty provision for criminals convicted of some drug-related murders with a mandate for life in prison without parole - saying that would have to satisfy the House.

"I would hope that the House would not allow this bill to die because they would insist on the death penalty,' argued Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., who had supported the Gekas amendment. He and others noted that the entire bill came close to being killed by capital punishment opponents in the Senate.

President Pushes SDI Campaign

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Reagan, continuing his post-summit public relations barrage and bolstered by the polls, is injecting support for his futuristic "Star Wars" defense program into the mid-term election campaign.

On a campaign swing through Maryland Wednesday, Reagan urged voters to ask candidates: "Where do you stand on defending America? Where do you stand on SDI (Strategic Defense Initiative)?"

The president had a full schedule today, briefing his cabinet on the weekend summit in Reykjavík, Iceland, and arranging a meeting with young astronauts who are leaving for the Soviet Union.

Space Camera Snaps Stars

PASADENA. Calif. (UPI) — A 1.5-ton Space Age camera suspended from a huge balloon about 119,000 feet above Earth is taking shots of the Milky Way's mysterious core and the first pictures of gamma rays from distant stars. The first-of-its-kind gamma ray detection camera was launched by a team of Caltech scientists Wednesday from the National Scientific Balloon Facility in Palestine, Texas, aboard a 23-million-cubic-foot, helium-filled balloon.

At the end of the mission, expected some time today, the balloon will be popped in space, and a parachute connected to the camera will lower the instrument to the ground.

It will take about an hour for the camera to fall, and scientists said they will be able to guide it to a landing in an unpopulated area of southern Arkansas or Louisiana. The balloon, which has weights that will bring it back to Earth. is expected to land in an unpopulated area of Georgia.

Effott Abrama, assistant secretary for inter-American affairs, told a House Foreign Affairs Committee panel Wednesday the captive, Eugene Hasenfus, and two companions who died in the plane crash were "brave men engaged in the task of helping the people of Nicaragua in their struggle for freedom."

Abrams vehemently denied widespread reports that the administration was funding the plane or was at least endorsing its delivery of military hardware to the U.S.-backed Contra rebels fighting to overthrow the Sandinista government.

Firefighter Allowed To Die

CONCORD, Mass. (UPI) - Doctors disconnected a comatose firefighter from an artificial feeding system and waited for him to die, fulfilling the wishes of his family in a "right to die" case that reached the Supreme Court.

Fate Of Immigration Bill Lies In Senate

compromise immigration measure faced an impassioned, but unsuccessful, opposition uncertain future in the Senate after it was to the measure. snatched back from what seemed certain death and approved by the House.

The House passed the landmark legislation Wednesday on a 238-173 vote, and Senate Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas was expected to call it up today for final action.

But in an indication the bill could face trouble in the Senate, assistant Republican leader Alan Simpson of Wyoming filed a petition late Wednesday to curb debate normally a precautionary move against a filibuster. A vote on the petition could not come before Friday.

Simpson, the chief Senate sponsor of the bill, predicted "discussion" on the bill but said he filed the petition only "as an insurance policy so there will be a final vote before adjournment.'

The bill would grant amnesty and pave the way for citizenship for aliens who entered the United States illegally before 1982, and it seeks to stem an increasing number of undocumented aliens crossing the border by making it illegal to hire them.

The measure was a compromise between a Senate bill passed 60-30 more than a year ago and one the House passed 230-166 last week after twice refusing to take it up.

House supporters, while agreeing it was not perfect, said the bill offered the last chance to make major changes in immigration laws. Similar bills died in the final days of the last two sessions of Congress.

'If not now, when?" asked Rep. Peter Rodino, D.N.J., a chief House sponsor, when he called it up for a final vote.

Approval also was urged by key Republican supporters, including Reps. Dan Lungren of California and Hamilton Fish of New York.

"Although it is not a perfect bill, it is a fair one that deserves the support of the Senate," Lungren said.

Some Hispanic House members voiced

Rep. Henry Gonzalez, D-Texas, called the amnesty program "a cruel joke," saying some who might qualify would find it impossible to prove they had come before

He joined Reps. Robert Garcia, D.N.Y., and Edward Roybal, D-Calif., in complaining that sanctions against employers would lead them to discriminate against all Hispanic job seekers — including citizens.

But one Hispanic, Rep. Bill Richardson, D-N.M., said he had switched to support of the bill because it would bring illegal aliens 'out of servitude" and into the open.

The bill calls for increased funding for strengthening the U.S. Border Patrol and for both civil and criminal penalties against employers who knowingly hire undocumented aliens.

A key compromise won by Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., helped reduce opposition by politically powerful growers in the western United States who are largely dependent on illegal aliens for harvesting their crops.

It would grant temporary residence to those who worked in agriculture for at least 90 days in each of the last three years or for 90 days in the year ending ending May 1.

A House proposal to retire employer sanctions after 6 1/2 years was dropped and replaced by a Senate plan to end them only if a study by the congressional General Accounting Office showed they had led to discrimination.

A House proposal to reimburse states fully for costs they incur as a result of legalization was replaced with a $1 billion-a-year ceiling on such costs for each of four years. Republican and Democratic sponsors said President Reagan had agreed to the $1 billion annual figure.

Doctor Arrested For Selling Human Heads

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) - A doctor and four hospital workers are charged with snatching human heads and other body parts from morgues and selling them to a laboratory in a ghoulish scheme that netted the physician at least $14,000.

Police arrested Dr. Martin Spector, 70, and the four hospital workers Wednesday and charged them with abuse of a corpse. theft, conspiracy, receiving stolen property, and violating the state Public

The charges came three months after a shipment of five human heads, wrapped in plastic and packed in cardboard boxes. was discovered by United Parcel Service workers in Louisville, Ky. Police said the heads had been shipped by Spector, who is an ear, nose, and throat specialist.

"I know it's pretty gross," said Philadelphia homicide detective Albert Nespoli. "People will always wonder where their body parts will end up if they donate to science."

Police said Spector bought and sold hundreds of body parts since at least 1976, paying the hospital workers to procure human heads, arms, hands, and middle-car bones.

Authorities said the ear bones came from bodies on which autopsies had been performed at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Philadelphia. They said the heads, arms and hands came from cadavers dissected at the University of Pennsylvania medical school and Thomas Jefferson University Hospital.

Police Capt. Robert Grasso said records showed Spector made $14,000 during the past three years by selling the parts primarily to the Colorado Otologic Research Center in Denver.

Nespoli said Colorado officials are investigating statements by center officials that they did not know the parts had been obtained illegally. He said it was not clear if the research facility had committed any crime.

Midwest Shivers As Front Passes

Cold temperatures threatened to put frost on the St. Charles County a major pumpkin from Michigan to Tennessee, while the Missouri River menaced flood-weary Missourians with cresting today of 7 feet above the flood stage.

Frost and freeze warnings were posted overnight across sections of Michigan, Indiana and West Virginia, and as far south as Tennessee and Arkansas.

Cold temperatures Wednesday unleashed light snow in upper Michigan and western Pennsylvania. A record low was set in Springfield, Mo., where the mercury dipped to 31, breaking the record of 32 set in 1961.

Missouri residents along the Missouri River braced for a second but smaller crest today in the wake of severe flooding last week that caused up to $100 million in residential and agricultural damage in the state and was blamed for two

The Army Corps of Engineers said little could be done to halt renewed flooding along the river, as heavy weekend rain in southeast Nebraska, northeast Kansas and northwest Missouri gorged the river a second time.

In two Colorado counties, separate rescue teams failed to find two men who disappeared while hunting during a storm over the weekend that dumped up to 30 inches of snow.

Hopes dwindled Wednesday that searchers would find William R. Lyons, 53, of Glendale, Ariz., who disappeared while hunting in the San Juan Mountains on Saturday.

Another search was conducted about 60 miles east in neighboring Archuleta County. where a group of about 45 people combed 8 square miles of the San Juans for another hunter also missing since Saturday. The hunter's name and hometown were being withheld at the request of his family.

The condition of waterlogged corn and soybean crops deteriorated over the past week as the harvest pace continued to lag behind schedule.

A weekly crop weather report issued by the Agriculture and Commerce departments said Wednesday that rains continued to impede harvest as well as winter wheat seeding from Texas through the central Great Plains and Into the Corn

"The excessive wetness continued taking its toll as soybean and corn crops continued deteriorating in these areas," the report said. Officials said surpluses already on hand were so large that consumer prices would not be affected.

Harvest progressed somewhat over the past week, but the corn harvest was only one-quarter complete. On average, at this time of year, James Hughes DeLong, 28, of St. Cloud, apparently accidentally shot himself in the abdomen with a .25-caliber pistol, while in the yard of Leslie B. Berry, 34, of 2644 Lake Howell Lane, Casselberry, Tuesday.

DeLong was taken by Ms. Berry to Winter Park Memorial Hospital in Winter Park, where he was treated. The bullet, according to a Seminole County sheriff's report, entered his lower right abdomen and went down to lodge in his hip.

DeLong, whose blood alcohol level when checked at the hospital was ,191, almost twice the 10 intoxicated under the law, told sheriff's deputies he was holding the pistol in his right hand and hit the clip with his left hand causing the gun to fire the single shot, which wounded him. He said he then fell to the ground and Ms. Berry came outside and took him to the hospital in her car. Deputies reported finding the gun on the floor of Ms. Berry's car.

British Docs Slash Safe Alcohol Limit

LONDON (UPI) - British doctors have slashed the safety limits on drinking alcohol in a report highlighting drink as a much greater hazard than heroin or cocaine.

The Royal College of Psychiatrists decreed the safe daily limit is 1 1/2 pints of beer a day for men and one pint for women. This compares w recommended limit of four pints a day for both sexes five years

The figures were published Tuesday in a report entitled Alcohol, Our Favorite Drug.

"Alcohol is the major public health issue of our time, overshadowing even that of tobacco and dwarfing the problems of illicit drug abuse," said Dr. Thomas Bewley, president of the Royal College of Psychiatrists. In 1983, 82 people died from opiates and other illicit drugs in Britain. Alcohol is associated with more than 4,000 deaths a year, 50,000 traffic offenses and 5,000 first-time admissions to psychiatric hospitals, Bewley sald.

"It is our favorite socially acceptable drug, and as such it must be acknowledged and placed in perspective." he said.

The report said alcohol consumption in Britain has risen by more than 50 percent in the past 25 years. The average Briton now drinks the equivalent of 439 pints of beer or 31 bottles of spirits annually, the report said.

The number of deaths from alcohol-related liver disease has almost doubled since 1970.

Half the murders and the majority of other violent crimes in Britain were committed when the attacker was drunk, the report said.

People are drinking more because alcohol is comparatively cheaper than years ago; wages have risen faster than the cost of a round in the bar. The cost of drink should not be allowed to fall further, and advertising should be closely watched, the report said.

The report produced a table of the professions most at risk. Bar owners are 16 times more likely to die from cirrhosis of the liver than most people. Seamen have a sevenfold liability, and doctors and journalists are another category at risk, with a mortality rate three times the norm.

The report laid down sobering guidelines:

• Do not drink every day. Two or three days without alcohol gives the body a chance to Consume soft drinks as well as alcohol on a night out. Dilute spirits.

• Do not gulp your drink: sip

 Do not drink alone. Do not use alcohol as a nighteap.

Administration's Media Duplicity

The Reagan administration, which squandered some of its credibility after the president's flip-flop in the Daniloff affair, has suffered another setback with its clumsy attempt to destablize Libyan leader Moammar Gadhafi. Worse still, this latest fiasco could have serious implications for the U.S. campaign to combat international terrorism.

The ill-fated effort stemmed from a memorandum prepared last summer by Adm. John Poindexter, Mr. Reagan's adviser for national security affairs. Details are sketchy at this point because the administration is wary of saying how this Keystone Kops operation got off the ground.

Adm. Poindexter concedes that he prepared the memo, yet denies there was a conscious attempt by the administration to manipulate the American news media as part of a disinformation campaign. But if Adm. Poindexter's disclaimer is to be believed, why did "high-ranking" government sources plant a story in The Wall Street Journal last August that Gadhasi was up to something and the U.S. military move against him was likely? Or why, once the press picked up on the story, did the White House confirm that something was in fact afoot as U.S. warships postioned themselves off the Libyan coast?

When the deception was finally exposed the other day by The Washington Post, government officials tried to gloss over this ludicrous situation. The lamest explanation was offered recently by George Shultz. The secretary of state suggested, with a straight face, that the administration merely allowed the news media to use their considerable imagination in order to keep Gadhafi guess-

Wrong, Mr. Shultz. The administration deliberately deceived the press. The deception is even more disturbing because of its cynical attempt to help create events. Granted, previous administrations have misled the media to prevent the public from learning about a sensitive policy. Richard Nixon's covert bombing raids in Cambodia come immediately to mind. But the Reagan administrations' deceit went beyond a government cover-up. It was designed to use the media as an unwitting accomplice in Gadhasi's elimination either through a coup or an assessination.

One of the hallmarks of an open society is that the press is not an instrument of government policy. In playing fast and loose with this principle, the Reagan administration has earned the distrust of the media about anything relating to Gadhafl, Moreover. the administration's credibility gap will further erode the confidence of America's allies, who often seem reluctant in any case to cooperate in the war against state-sponsored terrorism.

The United States, unlike the Soviet Union, has steadfastly refused to use deceit and duplicity in order to advance its interests. We hope that the Reagan administration will heed that distinction in its future operations.

A 'Pringle' Without Tildes And Umlauts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — I don't know who on Madison Avenue started it, but advertising that looks like a dictionary has been all the rage this

Most probably you've seen ads with words delineated as to pronunciation and definition. The intransitive verb "pamper" is a typical case

Other common words dealt with in this fashion include "leadership," "balance," "manage," and "value." You may think you know what they mean and how to pronounce them. But wait until you see them broken down

Or, if you would like something with more of a foreign flavor, you might try "entrepreneur."

According to a recent ad, "pamper" has two syllables, the first of which is accented, plus a short "a" and means "to be overattentive to someone's physical comfort."

That's not the way my dictionary defines it. My dictionary uses words like "gratify" in the definition and gives "coddle" and "spoil" as

However, being overattentive to someone's physical comforts may be close enough for Madison Avenue work. You may yourself have been pampered, perhaps by someone who was exercising leadership.

That three-syllable word, we are assured by another ad, is pronounced "led-ar-ship" with the stress on the first syllable and is defined as "setting the pace." "showing the way" or "taking the initiative."

It is easy to see how being pampered might be construed pace-setting. None of the ads I have seen make use of such diacritical marks as the tilde and the umlaut, an omission one of my former English teachers, Miss Pringle, might overlook.

But if she has charge of grading, don't expect her to show much leadership. In other words, don't depend on report card pampering to see you through.

Anyway, I think I know a trend when I see one and what's good for Madison Avenue certainly is good enough for me. So, pampered or not, I am adopting the technique exhibited in the ads "Pronunciation," then, has five syllables and is pronounced with the primary stress on the fourth syllable (there's that "a" again) and the

A syllable, according to my dictionary, is a "unit of speech consisting of a single pulse of breath."

Although she might have been willing to overlook the omission of a few tildes and umlauts, I'm not sure Miss Pringle would approve of that definition. She never did like for anyone in her class to breath in pulses, preferring gaspe.

The latter show of leadership, however, may have been more of a personal preference on her part than an academic one. Miss Pringle always was a bit intransitive.

Skull Was 720 Year Youngster

By Delthia Ricks UPI Science Writer

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (UPI) - A skull unearthed in 1866 deep in a Calaveras County mine shaft in the Sierra Gold Rush country was once believed to be a remnant of an Ice

The Calaveras skull, a dark and curious object, now has been determined by an Atomic Age dating technique to be less than 1,000 years old.

"Our result bolts the door and turns the lock on the skull being anything but a relatively recent Native American," said R. Ervin Taylor Jr., professor of anthropology at the University of California, Riverside.

Taylor said in an interview the finding finally lays to rest what was once an intense scholarly debate in the United States and Europe regarding the skull's significance. It also disputes arguments that flourished at the turn of this century claiming the skull could have been hundreds of thousands of years old.

removed it from serious consideration." Taylor said of the skull's place in history, noting that an-thropologists now regard the skull and events leading to its discovery as a trick played on science.

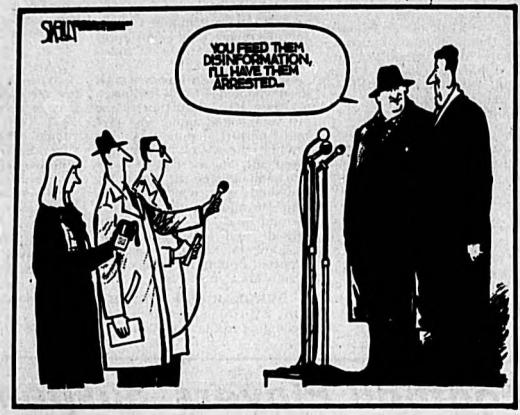

'My thought was, why not get a direct date on it and be done with it," he said.

Using pieces of bone that were part of the original mass of carbonate encrustration of which the skull was a part, UC Riverside scientists in collaboration with researchers at the University of Arizona dated the fragments with a new technique.

The procedure, accelerator mass spectrometry, is a more efficient form of radiocarbon dating that employs a particle accelerator atom smasher - to detect the age of organic matter in the specimen.

Taylor said the portions of bone used in the dating technique were fragments from a hand which were found to be 720 years old with a possible error factor of 200 years in either direction.

But the Calaveras skull, which has been part of Harvard University's Peabody Museum collection since 1897, has such a long and storied past that even a definitive age will not dismiss its importance as a scientific curiosity.

WILLIAM RUSHER

Thatcher Is Best Bet

LONDON - If you get most of your news about Britain from the American media, you have every reason to believe that Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher is on the ropes: that she is not only ally disliked by most British voters, but is leading a party that is doing badly in the opinion polls and one that would, furthermore. gladly replace her with some more agreeable personality before facing the electorate again, if only there were some practical way to do so.

Having sniffed the air here for a week now, I am glad to be able to report that most of this gloom-and-doom stuff is grossly exaggerated — the wishful thinking of reporters, who are as liberal here as on the other side of the Atlantic. Thatcher is quite likely to call an election in the latter part of 1987, and quite likely to win it — thus becoming the first British prime minister in this century to win three general elections in a row.

It is true that her personality is not, in British eyes, her strongest point. She comes across as a kind of righteous scold - perhaps (as Conservative Party chairman Norman Tebbit has suggested) because, as the first woman prime minister, she dares not be misunderstood as being in any way soft. But even today, after seven years in power, her party is only three percentage points behind its only serious rival, the Labor Party - strikingly close, considering that such polls, at this stage, necessarily reflect the usual public exasperation with any government, while the opposition is promising voters (quite irresponsibly) the moon with a fence

The British political scene is further complicated by the presence of a third party: the Alliance, a coalition of the old Liberal Party and a group of breakaway moderate Laborites called the Social Democrats. This conflation, which comes in behind both Labor and the Conservatives in the polls, is currently quite under-represented in Parliament because its supporters constitute a substantial minority in many districts but not (unlike the older parties) a dependable plurality almost anywhere.

If you are in search of gloom and doom, the place to look is at the recent annual convention of the Labor Party in Blackpool. Neil Kinnock, Labor's parliamentary leader and candidate for prime minister, knows very well that his party is far to the left of center in British politics today, and he did what he could to conceal this fact by such devices as changing the traditional red background of the speakers' platform to a more soothing beige. But a motion to pull Britain out of NATO was defeated only by adopting instead a resolution that Labor, when it comes to power, will dismantle Britain's own nuclear weapons, order all U.S. nuclear warheads and their delivery systems (including cruise missiles) out of the country, and close down the nation's nuclear power plants.

WASHINGTON WORLD

Star Wars Breaks Up A Summit

By Helen Thomas UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Two leaders stubbornly held onto their dreams and their fears and passed up a historic chance to halt the nuclear arms race.

In the final hours of the Iceland summit, President Reagan could not relinquish his vision of a "Star Wars" space defense, the Strategic Defense initiative, that would shield his country from incoming nuclear missiles.

Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev could not forego his fears that the SDI would end nuclear parity in arms and make the United States free to attack.

Yet before the collapse, Reagan and Gorbachev agreed to some of the most dramatic reductions in superpower arsenals ever proposed. They approved deep cuts in intermediate range missiles - 100 on each side — which meant that all would be removed from Europe. That includes the Pershing 2 that the United States has deployed and the SS-20s the Soviets target at European capitals.

The two leaders also were willing to reduce the number of long-range strategic missiles to 1,600 and warheads and other delivery weapons to 6,000.

Both sides have enough nuclear weapons for a series of global bombing waves.

All of this went by the board when Gorbachev linked all the cuts they agreed upon to a commitment by the United States not to test SDI weapons outside the laboratory for 10 years.

Reagan felt this meant the "killing of SDI," said national security affairs adviser John Poindexter and he was not about to do it.

The talks in Iceland's capital city of Reykjavik, which started out as a Reagan-proclaimed "mini-summit," underwent a transformation into a full scale summit because the Soviets brought along major concessions.

But the hooker as far as Reagan was concerned was that he would have to give up the testing of defense weapons in space for 10 years, even though scientists believe it will take that long or longer to develop them.

Poindexter contended the SDI breakthrough could be much sooner than a decade away.

Records Prove Secret CIA Arms Deals

By Jack Anderson And Joseph Spear WASHINGTON — The crash last week of a "mystery plane" carrying guns for the Nicaraguan contras shed some unwelcome light on the shady reality of international arms amuggling. The CIA stoutly denied any hand in the incident, but the denial was greeted with widespread skepticism.

It is rare indeed that CIA involvement in the murky world of arms trading can be pinpointed beyond a reasonable doubt. But bills of lading, purchase orders, bank records and other documents obtained by our associates Corky Johnson and Donald Goldberg show conclusively that a respected Maryland bank was caught up in the web of clandestine CIA arms deals.

The documents show that for more than 10 years the First National Bank of Maryland in Baltimore has been the transfer point for millions of CIA dollars used to buy and ship military hardware around the world. Two transactions in 1982 and 1983 alone involved the shipping of about 100,000 rifles, worth $5 million, to ports indicating that the weapons may have been delivered to CIAsupported rebel groups in Nicaragua, Angola and Afghanistan.

The two companies that carried out the transactions were Associated Traders Corp. of Baltimore and the Washington, D.C. office of Sherwood International Corp., a Los-Angeles-based licensed arms exporter. Associated Traders used First National Bank to make payments to Sherwood for handling the arms shipments.

Associated Traders is a CIA "front," our sources have confirmed. It was incorporated in 1969 as a Baltimore firm, but now operates in Vienna, Va., not far from CIA headquarters in Langley. The front company's offices are in a building that houses classified federal government operations.

Robert Maxwell, a former First National senior executive, acknowledged that the bank handled the Associated Traders account with the clear understanding that the company was really the CIA.

·Maxwell told us he was instructed by his bosses to do "whatever Associated Traders requested." The requests included hidden financial transfers of dubious legality. Associated transferred huge sums to offshore banks in the Cayman Islands, then to banks in Panama and finally to Switzerland. The point of the scheme was to make the arms purchases difficult to trace.

Maxwell said the money laundering sidestepped normal banking procedures and may have violated federal laws, including the Bank Secrecy Act requiring that transactions of more than $10,000 be reported to federal regulators. In a memo to his superiors in February 1985, Maxwell expressed his concern, writing: "When Bob Benson (of Associated) dropped off his request he expressed concern at having the comptroller of the currency or any type of federal investigation learning about Associated Traders. He wants us to locate another bank ... in Panama, and he is looking to set up another account for fear of investigation into the Cayman money market accounts.

Maxwell also complained about Associated Traders' practice of transferring large amounts without identifying itself in the authorization. One telex from First National to the Panama bank, for example, ordered the transfer of $5.3 million to a Swiss account "by order of a

For his own protection against charges of violating the banking laws, Maxwell demanded written authorization from his superiors to handle Associateds' "requests." When he falled to get the written authorization, Maxwell resigned. He said one bank official told him the CIA had blocked the request for written authority. About the same time, Maxwell's boss, Senior Vice President John Bond, also left the bank. Another bank official who handled the CIA account, Roy Teather, transferred to the bank's Pennsylvania office.

Bond and Teather's names appear along with Maxwell's on bank records dealing with Associated Traders. Maxwell's name also appeared on the CIA account, but he said it was listed without his

Barron Leads Demo Defectors

From Staff and Wire Reports TALLAHASSEE - Defections

by three Democratic state senators to Republican Bob Martinez in the Florida governor's race doesn't mean they are leaving the party for good. The defections could, however, mean trouble for the man slated to become the next Senate President.

Sen. Dempsey Barron, D-Panama City, Senate President in 1975-1976; Sen. Curtis Peterson, D.Lakeland, Senate President in 1983-1984; and Sen. John Hill, D-Miami, came out for Martinez during a news conference Monday outside the massive bronze doors to the Senate chamber.

The three say they are not leaving the party fold permanently, but only to help prevent the election of Democrat Steve Pajcic, Jacksonville, who they see as being too liberal.

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk, a lifelong Democrat, not only endorsed Martinez for governor last week, but also left the party and became a Republican. Polk reflected the three senators' opinions that Pajcic's philosphy is too liberal.

Only one elected Democrat in Seminole County government remains with Polk's defection. tax collector Troy Ray.

Barron, a leader of the Panhandle's 'Porkchop Gang' has already made at least one north Florida campaign appearance with Martinez. He said crossing party lines won't effect his political future. He said many Panhandle voters are jumping party, at least temporarily, to support Martinez.

Barron gravitated toward Martinez as soon as it became clear that Pajcic defeated conservative Attorney General Jim Smith in the Sept. 30 runoff even lending the former Tampa mayor a horse for a parade in Bonifay.

Smith carried the Panhandle area by about a 2-to-1 margin. and Martinez's forces hope to capitalize on the area's lack of support for Pajcic.

"They've always represented a good, conservative government for the people of Florida and that's certainly what I represent.

He released a list of 19 former day. Smith supporters from the who had worked in the Smith effort.

He noted that Smith led Paicic by wide margins in 20 north Florida counties.

Hill said his Dade County district has seen a significant increase in Republican registration. "I don't think I'm being a traitor (to the Democratic Party)," he said. "I"m trying to represent the people of my district.'

Pajcic campaign spokesmen discounted the cross-over Democrat factor, and said the Panhandle area is traditionally loyal to the Democratic party. Paicic, meanwhile, stepped up his attacks on Martinez' environmental record during a tour of a plant in Cape Coral that turns salt-tainted ground water into drinking water.

Park Program Progressing

By Karen Talley Herald Staff Writer

Sanford's $184,000 transformation of 12 Hidden Lake acres into Lee P. Moore Park and a $21,900 lakefront beautification effort are proceeding on schedule through bid awards city commissioners authorized Monday.

Commissioners on Monday also expressed interest in staffs' proposal for the city's municipal parking lot to be expanded through the closing of Hood Avenue, which lies between the lot and the Seminole County Courthouse. This possibility will be taken up during a coming work session. It would involve staff contact of the county to determine whether the closing would be agreed to and whether the county wanted to participate in the cost of expanding the municipal lot. The municipal lot's expansion would increase county courthouse parking, Simmons said.

Hood Avenue was reopend last month after a two year closing while the county courthouse was being rehabilitated.

City staff has suggested the permanent closing to develop two rows of parking from the Hood Avenue roadway, although the exact number of spaces has yet to be determined, said Engineering and Planning Director Bill Simmons.

If secured, the Hood Avenue area could be added to rehabilitative efforts that were proposed earlier this year for the municipal lot, Simmons

The earlier parking lot rehabilitation was worked up by the city's Scenic Improvement Board. The city's budget contains funds for the rehabilitation, but commissioners would have to formally authorize expenditure of the money before the project would begin.

The scenic board lot rehabilitation would involve $37,000 worth of irrigation and aesthetic improvements. Paving the lot would cost another $32,000, according to Parks and Recreation Department Director Jim Jernigan.

The scenic board also joined with a number of other local representatives to develop the lakefront project, which will be furnished with $21,900 worth of trees and assorted plantings by year's end, following commissioners' approval on Monday of low bids submitted by five area

The lakefront project will run on the north side of Seminole Boulevard, from Memorial Park to Mellonville Avenue, and along the Lake Monroe marina entrance, from Seminole Boulevard to Dock-N-Shop at the lake.

As part of their preparations, grounds crews have relocated certain trees along these routes to other sites in the city.

The lakefront project was planned during a July luncheon by members of the city's scenic board, Woman's Club, grounds maintenance crews, two garden clubs and a representative from Seminole County.

On Monday, commissioners appointed Sanford Chamber of Commerce administrative assistant Virginia Longwell to the scenic board upon the recommendation of Commissioner John Mercer. Mrs. Longwell replaces Jernigan, whose spot on the board was reevaluated by City Manager Frank Faison when he shifted supervision of the grounds maintence crews that conduct scenic projects from the parks department to the public works department. Commissioners on Monday also approved the first series of bids for materials to enable development of the 12 acre Lee P. Moore Park. which was named to honor of the city's former The bids came to $15,500 for materials to install two shuffle board courts, a playground, a "tot lot," and fencing around an area that will be developed into four tennis courts. The park's overall development will be conducted in two phases, with $150,000 in state and federal funds the parks department secured, and an additional $34,000 the city put up. Phase one began earlier this month with parks crews clearing land and laying gradings in preparation for installation of materials supplied through Monday's bid awards. Also planned for phase one is a 40 car parking lot, Jernigan said.

The project's first phase is expected to be complete this spring and come in at approximately $84,000, Jernigan said.

Phase two will begin later this year, and use the remaning $100,000 for construction of a large picnic shelter, paved walkways, basketball and handball courts, rest rooms and a combination baseball, softball and soccer field.

Petitioner Gets Second Chance

By Karen Talley Herald Staff Writer

Communication will apparently play a key role when a property owner gets a second chance to request a rezoning from the Sanford Planning and Zoning Board. City commissioners on Monday told the petitioner and her two representatives to go back to the P&Z and ask for reconsideration of a rezoning request the board denied on a 4-3 vote earlier this month.

Commissioners said the petitioner and her representatives should "talk" with the board this time, not resume the silence that had accompanied their first P&Z appearance.

During Monday's city commission meeting, the representatives made a full presentation of their proposal, which would involve construction of mini-warehouses through a commercial rezoning of residential land near the Sunland Estates community.

However, this had not been the case when the representatives appeared before the P&Z earlier this month. They opted to decline comment on the proposal during this session and the P&Z followed up by declining to offer reasons for their recommended denial.

"Explain your desires, don't just sit there and not say anything," Commissioner Dave Farr suggested as the representative's course of action for the upcoming P&Z rehearing. Commissioners also indicated

Monday the petitioner had been asked to annex into Sanford along with other property owners in the area and also pointed out that the city's land use plan designates that section of the city for commercial office use. The rezoning had also been recommended by City Planner Jay Marder.

Sunland Estates residents had voiced concern during the P&Z session about the warehouse's potential affects on their nearby homes and the warehouse company representatives had said nothing to allay these reservations.

However, during Monday's commission meeting opposition expressed by the Sanford Garden Club was responded to by company representative John Trzcinski.

Jean Taylor, president of the Sanford Garden Club, said 110 club members voted to oppose the rezoning. The club has a facility in the nearby area. Trzeinski countered by saying the structures would have little impact on surrounding properties. He said they would not generate much traffic or use of city utilities and that the company "wants to be good neigbors with the adjoining property -Karen Talley

Dream Match Becomes Reality

Barrett, Bosox Smash Angels In Submission

BOSTON (UPI) — Marty Barpett, his face bathed in a blend of tears and champagne that befitted the American League playoff's Most Valuable Player, becalled an exhibition game five weeks ago that now has World Beries implications.

On Sept. 4 at Fenway Park, the Boston Red Sox hosted the New York Mets in a charity game. Though the Mets won 7.3, Barrett warned that the Red Sox team that played "was not doing it for the standings. It wasn't an omen."

Barrett, Boston's second baseman who led his team past California and into the World Series with a .367 batting average and flawless fielding, paused to reconsider.

"We match up well with the Mets," he said. "They're obviously a quality team and we didn't need that exhibition to know it. I'm certain they'll be ready for us and we have to be just as ready."

Boston certainly appeared just that Wednesday night as Roger Clemens provided seven strong innings that helped give the Red Sox an 8-1 decision over the Angels in the seventh game of the AL Championship Series.

The right-hander, whose 24-4 performance during the regular season makes him the favorite for the Cy Young Award, received plenty of batting support. Wade Boggs lashed a two-run single that capped Boston's three-run second inning and Jim Rice ripped a three-run homer in a four-run fourth.

"it's been a magical year and a great finale," said Clemens, who had a touch of the flu. "I'm glad we were able to come back and win this way at home."

Boston, which won the last three games of the series after

tion in Game 5, will meet New York in the "Shuttle Series" beginning Saturday at Shea Stadium. The Red Sox's Bruce Hurst is expected to face the Mets' Ron Darling.

"It'll be a lot of fun," Rice said.
"The best team wins. Just try to make no mental mistakes and we've got a chance to win."

One tradition was bypassed while another was continued Wednesday night. Boston has participated in just four Fall Classics since winning in 1918, when a left-hander named Babe Ruth was in the starting rotation. This year's Red Sox are the seventh team to rebound from a 3-1 deficit to capture a series.

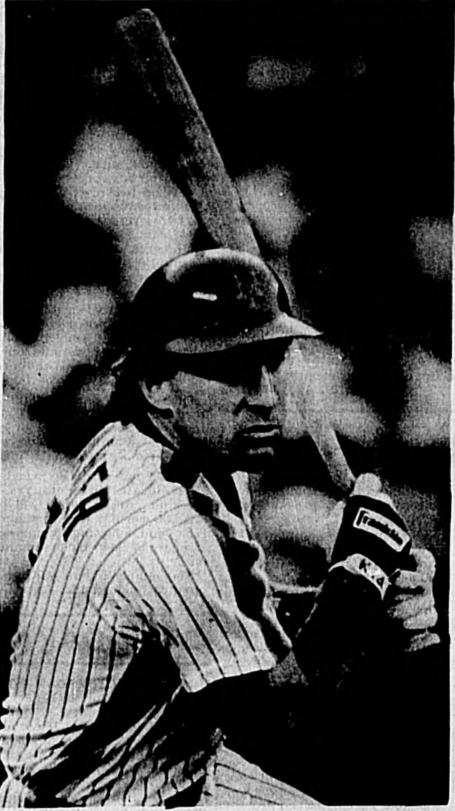

California Manager Gene Mauch continued to be plagued by the curse he has known throughout his 25-year managerial career, as yet another of his teams failed to win a pennant.

Three Mauch-managed teams have had playoff bids disintegrate — the 1964 Phillies, the 1982 Angels and this season's Angels. Just one out from victory in Game 5, Mauch replaced starter Mike Witt with Gary Lucas and the move helped give the Red Sox an eventual 7-6 victory in 12 innings.

"I don't have a whole hell of a lot to say," Mauch said. "I hurt like hell for the players. I hurt like hell for (team owner) Gene Autry. We laid our hearts out there and they got stepped on.

"My situation is something I'll let you guys (the media) handle. You seem to enjoy it so much. I'll let you wonder what will happen to me and I'll let you describe how I feel."

Mets Need 16 Innings To Oust Pesky Astros

HOUSTON (UPI) — This was Da Vinci on the diamond; baseball's version of Bach; Shakespeare performed with strikes and singles.

Game 6 of the National League Championship Series was a classic, destined to hold a special place in the annals of baseball's most dramatic performances.

On a Wednesday afternoon, before a crowd of 45,718 at the Astrodome and millions more watching on national television, the New York Mets edged the Houston Astros 7-6 in 16 breath-taking innings to win the NLCS.

The triumph, coming in the longest postseason game in history, gave the NL East champions a hard-earned ticket to the World Series, which begins Saturday night at Shea Stadium against the Boston Red Sox.

"They said we never played a tough game all year," New York Manager Davey Johnson said after calling it the only game that ever gave him a headache. "Well, the pennant is the toughest thing to get."

For those who need proof this game is fit for your family's videotape library:

— The Mets, who trailed 3-0 after one inning, tied the score with three runs in a desperate ninth inning off starter Bob Knepper — who had allowed just two hits through eight — and ace reliever Dave Smith.

reliever Dave Smith.

— New York took a 4-3 edge in the 14th inning on Wally Backman's RBI single, but the Astros tied it in the bottom of the inning when Billy Hatcher homered off Jesse Orosco, the ball grazing off the screen attached to the left-field foul pole.

"I thought we were going to win," Hatcher said.

— New York scored three times in the 16th, an outburst

N.L. Baseball

that began when center fielder Hatcher misjudged Darryl Strawberry's high fly and turned it into a double. Ray Knight drove in Strawberry with a line-drive single off loser Aurelio Lopez; another run scored on a wild pitch; and a third run came home on Len Dykstra's RBI aingle.

— The Astros scored twice in the bottom of the 16th on run-scoring singles by Hatcher and Glenn Davis, but Orosco fanned Kevin Bass on a 3-2 pitch to end the 4-hour, 42-minute marathon.

Toss in another controversial call by umpire Fred Brocklander, another bonehead running mistake by Bill Doran and questionable strategy by Houston Manager Hal Lanier, and ... well, you get the idea.

"When I saw the last pitch, I was so afraid he would get a basehit and we would be playing all night," Knight said. "I went numb for a second and it seemed my brain stopped working."

So forgive the Mets if their immediate celebration on the field was on a bit tame. They were just too tired to jump on each other.

A long time ago, in a first inning far, far away, the Astros scored three runs off left-hander Bob Ojeda on an RBI double by Phil Garner and run-scoring singles by Davis and Jose Cruz. But they could have had more.

With runners at first and third and one out, Lanier called for a suicide-squeeze bunt. It worked — it meant suicide for the Astros.

SCC basketball coach Bill Payne won't have Tony Roberts to call on this year. The NJCAA ruled the standout wing player ineligible because he played in two games at Western Kentucky after the midway point and negated his hardship.

NJCAA Rules SCC's Roberts Ineligible concerning Roberts. Payne said he is unsure

Herald Sports Editor

Tony Roberts, Seminole Community College's best all-around player, was ruled ineligible for the 1986-87 basketball by the National Junior College Athletic Association, SCC coach Bill Payne said Wednesday.

Payne was told of the ruling last Friday.

NJCAA Eligibility Chairman Wayne Baker ruled that since Roberts had played in two January games two years ago while he was a freshman at Western Kentucky, it made him ineligible for a medical hardship, which the Sunbelt Conference granted him along with four more years of eligibility.

Payne said playing in games past the midway point of the season makes a player ineligible for a hardship or redshirt.

Roberts, who played at SCC last year, has two years of eligibility remaining. Payne said due to the fact that Roberts' first year at WKU counted, he was not eligible to play junior college basketball a second year.

"That's not real good news." Payne understated Wednesday. "SCC is going to hurt as bad as Tony. We're hurting without him because we didn't recruit anybody to play his position."

Roberts, a 6-3 wing player, averaged 13.9 points and 4.6 rebounds and 4.6 assists per game as the Raiders posted a 26-7 record. The flashy sophomore was second in scoring and assists and third in rebounding.

"The NJCAA said Tony should not have been issued a hardship last year," Payne said. "And, the ruling to give him one was incorrect."

Roberts, who played his prep ball at Fort Lauderdale St. Thomas Aquinas, attended WKU as a freshman. Payne said he played in the first and second games of the year, then two more in early December. He then played two games in late January, which was after the midway point of the season.

"What's a shame is that Tony played very little in those two games," Payne said. "Western Kentucky was winning by 40 against Tennessee State and the only reason he played against South Florida was because his mom drove up for the game.

"Five minutes of playing time did him in," Payne added.

Payne said last year he didn't know in which games Roberts had played, and that he assumed all six were in the beginning of the season because former WKU coach Clem Haskins said Roberts had played in "20 percent or less of the games."

Payne said he discovered the mistake this year when he was filling out some forms what Roberts will do but that he does have two years remaining of eligibility and would probably sign with a major college later this year.

Interested schools included Western Kentucky, South Alabama, Stetson, Central Florida and Eckerd. SCC assistant Dean Smith said since Roberts will be a double transfer he needs to graduate from SCC to play at a Division I school.

"it's a big blow to him because he's such an emotional kid," Smith said. "He wears his emotions on sleeve."

Payne said he is unsure of Roberts' replacement. "That's a good question," he said. "I have no idea. We've had just one day of practice without him. It might be James Morris, Barry Dunning or Holly Keller.

"We might play three big guys or we might go with another perimeter player."

Payne said his four other starters right now are 6-9 Vance Hall, 6-7 Claude Jackson, 6-5 Malcolm Houston and 5-8 Darris Gallagher. The Raiders open against the SCC alumni Tuesday, Nov. 4.

Fluorescent lines are useful, however, for night fishing and for line watching in dirty or off-colored waters. If you like to night fish, a black light can be used to make your line glow above the water level. You can spot the slightest nibble, and your line will be invisible underwater because the black light rays cannot penetrate into the water.

Fluorescent lines are also a good choice when fishing under high glare conditions such as when flipping or working a jig and pig.

During daytime hours, fluorescent lines are best only when the water is dirty or off-color. Their high visibility makes them undesirable for clear water fishing.

early to claim your spot. Captain Jack at Port Canaveral reports that offshore trolling is still hat. Good numbers of dolphin, king mackeral, and wahoo are being caught. The action with dolphin and king mackeral can start as close in as Pelican Flats. Wahoo are found from 140 feet of water on out. The busy line is still rated as slow, with only a few small cobia and tripletall. Trout are slow in the Benana and Indian rivers, but redfish are taking up the slack. The fish are moving in big schools, and anglers who are fortunate to be in the right place at the right time are loading up. (Remember that you are only allowed one red per person over 32 inches in length. You cannot keep any redfish under 18 inches.)

The New Smyrna jettles are still providing fast action for anglers who fish live shrimp on the bottom of the north side of the north jettles. Redfish, sheepshead, drum, and a few flounder are waiting for the shrimp to hit the bottom. Live finger millet are a good balt for redtish and flounder. Anchor away from the lettles and cast near the edge of the rocks for the best results.

Seminole Quality Can't Overcome Oviedo Quantity

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

If quality was the only basis for scoring in swimming meets. Seminole High would have had a runaway victory Wednesday

However, in the smaller meets. a team with depth more often than not overcomes a team with a few top notch individuals. Oviedo High used its depth Wednesday to win both the boys and girls divisions in a dual meet at the Sanora Pool in Sanford.

Seminole won all eight events it entered in the girls division Wednesday while the boys won five of seven events they entered.

"If that doesn't speak for quality over quanity I don't know what does," Seminole coach Donalyn Knight said. "It was a great performance for us. I hope that Sanford realizes just what kind of swim team it has. We are a good team for the amount of people on the squad."

Ovledo's depth was most evident in the girls meet as the Lady Lions, despite Seminole winning eight events, rolled up 93 points to Seminole's 58.

Cissy Burgess, Shannon Rivers nad Kristle Keeling won two events each for the Lady 'Noles. Burgess broke her own school record in the 500 free with a time of 5:57.5 and also Seminole also got a first from Chris Sparrow who compiled 94.35 points in the diving competition. The Lady Tribe 200 medley relay team also claimed first as the foursome of Rivers. Tina Kennedy, Burgess and Keeling recorded a time of

In the boys meet, Oviedo finished with 83 points compared to Seminole's 45. Seminole got a pair of firsts from Scott Lewis who won the 100 free (1:03.5) and 100 backstroke (1:13.4). Also taking firsts for the 'Noles were Kirby Swinehart in the 200 IM (2:31.5), Matt Chock in the 100 breaststroke (1:17) and Rusty Keeling in the diving (43.9 points).

In other swimming action Wednesday, there was no report on the Lake Mary-Trinity Prep dual meet.

Magic Kingdom Welcomes Newly Crowned Gonzalez

ORLANDO (UPI) - The Magic Kingdom today welcomes newly crowned Ernie Gonzalez.

The rotund, 25-year-old native of Chula Vista, Calif., won last week's rain-marred Pensacola Open for his first PGA Tour triumph and he now faces the challenge of a unique format in the $500,000 Walt Disney Classic.

A field of 132, including seven of the top 10 money winners, is scheduled to open play today in pursuit of the top prize of $90,000. Bob Tway, who needs just $5,322 to surpass Greg Norman for first place on the 1986 money list, will miss this week's tournament.

One of only three southpaws on the Tour, Gonzalez earned his first PGA triumph with a 14-under-par 128 at soggy Pensacola. Steady rains washed out the final two rounds and Gonzalez used a 63 Saturday to edge Joey Sindelar by one stroke - despite a course-tying 62 by Sindelar in the second round.

The Disney Classic, won by Lanny Wadkins last year with a 21-under par 267, features play on three different courses. Although each course is a par-72. the 6,655-yard Lake Buena Vista Golf layout is considered the easiest. The field will also compete over the 6,917-yard Palm course and the most difficult of the three, the 7,150-yard Magnolia.

With only two more official Tour events remaining after Disney - the Vantage Championship and the Tucson Match Play Championship - success here could salvage the 1986 season for many in the Disney field. Wadkins, who finished second on the money list and second in scoring last year, ranks No. 26 in earnings.

Alumni, Faculty Anticipate 4th Annual Flag Tilt As Tiebreaker

Seminole High's football team may be idle the weekend of Nov. 7, but there will be football at the high school just the same.

The fourth annual Alumni-Faculty Flag Football will be held Saturday, Nov. 8 at Seminole High School. The Alumni and Faculty teams are 1-1-1 over the past three years and both squads are looking forward to this year's tiebreaker.

'Hopefully, this will be the tiebreaker," Tommy Barks, a 1971 Seminole graduate and former quarterback, said Wednesday, "Everyone is looking forward to this game."

All three games have been high-spirited and drawn good crowds. The proceeds of the game go to the Seminole High athletic department. Again this year, Tim Raines is expected to play for the Alumni.

Faculty coach Mike Ferrell, however, said holding the game on Saturday this year will allow more football coaches to play. It is usually played on Friday.

"The coaches are usually scouting on Friday nights," Ferrell said. "This year, with guys like (head coach) Dave Mosure, (assistant) Glenn Maiolini and (assistant) Gee Knight playing we'll be much stronger."

Jackson's Blast Propels TRC

"Steady Eddie" Jackson crushed a three-run homer to highlight a five-RBI night as Tim Raines Connection hammered Bill Knapp's, 16-2, in Sanford Men's Softball League play Wednesday night at Pinchurst Field.

Jackson had three singles and a homer for TRC while Tim Raines, Rodney Turner and Billy Griffth each had three hits. Levi, Tommy and Sam Raines along with Greg Hardy had two hits apiece. Sam Raines had three ribbies.

In Six Flags' win, Mark Whigham led off the seventh with a single and moved to third when Donnie Williams reached on an error. Joe Irvin drove in the tying run with a groundout and Stumpf followed with a fly ball to break the

In the second half, Caraway hit Craig Merkerson with a lateral and Merkerson pulled up and tossed a 65-yard scoring bomb to Reginald Braxton. Jones ran in the PAT for a 19-6 lead.

After Brown scored on a two-yard run to pull the 'Dogs within seven, Caraway struck again, finding Merkerson for a 50-yard touchdown pass for a 25-12 lead. Merkerson capped the scoring with a 45-yard dash with two minutes left for the final 32-12 count.

Lady Rams Relax, Squash Winter Park

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

After an intense, nailbiting game against Oviedo Tuesday night, Lake Mary's Lady Rams kicked back and relaxed Wednesday against Winter Park and cruised to a 15-3. 15-8 victory over the Lady Wildcats at Winter Park High.

"This is the kind of match we needed after playing Oviedo in that loud gym Tuesday," Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry said. "The girls played real relaxed today and never panicked."

Lake Mary upped its overall record to 9-5 and returns to Seminole Athletic Conference action tonight at home against Lake Brantley. The Lady Rams are 4-1 in the league and in a three-way tie with Oviedo and Lake Howell.

In other SAC matches tonight, Oviedo hosts Seminole and Lake Howell has its first home game of the year as it entertains

While the nonconference match gave the Lady Rams a chance to settle down, senior transfer Sharon Bonaventure was fired up for the match against her old school. Henry said Bonaventure played the entire match and had some solid play all the way around.

Volleyball

"She (Bonaventure) really gets a kick out of playing against Winter Park so I let her play the whole match," she said.

Val Smith, who served six points in the first game for the Lady Rams, and Marnie Frey were the top servers while Bonaventure and Angela Capps led the attack against the mistake-ridden Lady Wildcats.

"We didn't play fantastic but Winter Park is pretty weak." Henry said. "We didn't have to do a whole lot because they were their own worst enemy."

Lake Mary's junior varsity won its seventh straight match and avenged its only defeat of the season with a three-game win over Winter Park. Lake Mary dropped a threegame match to Winter Park in the season

Donna Rohr got the JV Lady Rams going with her all-around play and Tammy Scott contributed some strong serving.

Boone Bumps Lake Brantley

Metro Conference leader Orlando Boone found the Seminole Athletic Conference is pretty tough Wednesday night. Boone, unbeaten in the Metro, went up against the fourth-place team in the SAC in Lake Brantley and had to fight hard to come away with a 15-12, 15-9 victory over the Lady Patriots at Lake Brantley High.

Lake Brantley, which fell to 3-12 overall, is at Lake Mary tonight in an SAC match.

Except for a few very hard servers. I was not that impressed with Boone," Lake Brantley coach Stephanie Glance said. "We kept it close despite losing our concentration level and not communicating well on the floor."

Boone scored the first six points of the first game and had an 8-2 lead when Lake Brantley reeled off nine straight points for an 11-8 lead. But Boone came back behind its strong serves to win the first game and kept the momentum going into game two.

Glance said the trio of Dawn Gebhart. Shelly Wittig and Julie DelRusso had good matches for the Lady Patriots.

'Dawn (Gebhart) was strong on the front row and Shelly (Wittig) had some very good serves." Glance said. "And Julie (DelRusso) kept us in the match with her back row play."

Braswell: Reinstate Me

AMES, Iowa (UPI) - Iowa State linebacker Jeff Braswell, declared ineligible in a probe of illegal recruiting, has asked a district court judge to order the Big Eight school to ignore an NCAA ruling and reinstate his eligibility.

Vince Klyn, a Pella attorney representing Braswell, said late Wednesday night he expects a hearing Friday on the request for a temporary injunction requiring Iowa State to play Braswell.

Earlier Wednesday, the NCAA council affirmed a ruling of the NCAA Eligibility Committee that last week refused to reinstate Braswell on the basis ISU enjoyed "significant advantages" by recruiting him illegally.

Braswell, from Riviera Beach, Fla., was the Cyclones' secondleading tackler as a junior last year and was named a UPI honorable mention Big Eight selection, but he never played a down this year.

rain hampers 'canes

MIAMI (UPI) — The top-ranked University of Miami Hurricanes were forced to complete their practice session inside Wednesday when thunderstorms interrupted their preparations for Saturday's game at Cincinnati.

"We worked out inside and outside today due to the rain." Coach Jimmy Johnson said. "We were disrupted a couple of times by moving in the gym and then back outside, but all-in-all it was a good practice." The Hurricanes practiced in the Knight Sports Complex when the thunderstorms hit. In injury news, tight end

Charles Henry and offensive tackle John O'Neill will undergo arthroscopic knee surgery Thursday, and wide receiver Brian Blades will not play this week due to an ankle sprain. Johnson said Tuesday Blades was doubtful for the game.

PERKINS: EXORCISE GHOST Ray Perkins is counting on his Alabama Crimson Tide to play like ghostbusters Saturday.

The undefeated Crimson Tide will be in Knoxville, Tenn., and Coach Perkins knows No. 2 Alabama must first exorcise the ghost of Tennessee upsets before continuing its quest for the Southeastern Conference and national championships.

Alabama has not beaten the Vols since 1981. In 1982, the last season Bear Bryant was coaching, Tennesseee out-slugged the Tide, 35-28. Starting in 1983, the beginning of the Ray Perkins reign, it's been Tennessee 41, Alabama 34; Tennessee 28, Alabama 27 and Tennessee 16, Alabama 14.

HOUSTON (UPI) - The New York Mets will worry about Houston Astros pitcher Mike Scott next year. Today, they're enjoying their first National League pennant in 13 years.

The Mets outlasted the Astros 7-6 in 16 grueling innings Wednesday to win the best-ofseven NL Championship Series

"My ballclub handled the pressure very well," Mets Manager Davey Johnson said. "They said we never played a tough game all year. Well, the pennant is the toughest thing to get. Even if you lost the World Series, you've won the pennant."

The Mets never scored in the first three innings of any game in the series and had to battle back from a 4-0 deficit in Game 3 and a 3-0 deficit Wednesday and won both games in dramatic fashion — on a two-run homer by Len Dykstra in Game 3 and on a three-run rally, ignited by Darryl Strawberry, in the 16th inning of Game 6.

"This is my 16th year in professional baseball and I've never been involved in anything so emotional and under such a mental strain and under such a physical strain as I have been in this series," Mets third baseman Ray Knight said. "There was great pitching and great defense. It was such a well played series. I'm emotionally drained. My legs are still shaking."

The drain was felt in the Houston clubhouse, where most

John Candelaria, picked by Mauch to start Wednesday night, was victimized by poor fielding, as all seven of the runs he allowed were unearned.

"It's very disappointing, but we only have ourselves to blame," Angels catcher Bob Boone said. "We had them at our place and couldn't close the deal. We were capable of playing well, (but) we didn't."

Clemens, coming off a latescason clbow injury, was pitching on three days' rest for the second straight game and had thrown 277 pitches in his two previous appearances. But he was buoyed by an early lead.

Shortstop Dick Schofleld's two-base throwing error on Rice's grounder helped Boston take a 3-0 lead in the second.

Don Baylor, who hit safely in every game, singled Rice to third. After Dwight Evans walked, Rich Gedman grounded to second, scoring Rice. Dave Henderson received an intentional pass and, one out later, Boggs singled off second base to score Baylor and Evans.

Boston improved its lead to 7-0 in the fourth. Henderson reached on a three-base error when center fielder Gary Pettis dropped his long drive and scored on Spike Owen's single. Two outs later, Stapleton walked and Rice belted his three-run

"A lot of little things cost us," said Angels veteran infielder Bobby Grich, who is retiring after a 15-year career. "They all added up and killed us."

Evans homered into the screen in left to give Boston an 8-0 bulge in the seventh and Doug DeCinces capped the scoring with an RBI single in the eighth.

"Coming back to Boston helped tremendously," Red Sox Manager John McNamara said. "In this game, Yogi's (Berra's) quote gets better and better. It's not over 'til it's over."

and Bass was tagged out in a rundown. Ashby then lined out to end the inning.

'Ashby has done it for us before," Lanier said. "He just hit through the pitch. We wanted to get as many runs as we could early. We had the squeeze on and we got the perfect pitch."

Houston blundered again in the fifth. With Doran on second, Hatcher hit a slow roller to third baseman Knight, who fielded the single and feigned a throw to Doran, who had been doubled off second base in Game 5 on a line drive to the outfleld, carelessly rounded third and was tagged out when Knight threw back to Rafael Santana covering the bag.

The Mets, facing the grim prospect of trying to hit the unhittable Mike Scott in a decisive Game 7, railled for three runs in the ninth.

Dykstra, a pain-in-the-Astros all series, began the outburst with a triple beyond the outstretched glove of Hatcher. The Mets had a run when Mookie Wilson's liner nicked leaping second baseman Doran's glove for an RBI single.

Keith Hernandez followed with a booming double to make it 3-2 and Smith entered to walk Gary Carter and Strawberry on 3-2 pitches to load the bases. Knight then looked at a 1-2 pitch that Brocklander called a ball. Smith. Lanier, shortstop Dickie Thon and catcher Ashby screamed at the umpire, whose controversial call had cost the Astros a critical run in their Game 5 loss.

"If that wasn't a strike, then I'm a pitcher's ass," Smith said. Two pitches later, Knight's sacrifice fly produced a 3-3 tie. Backman's RBI single in the 14th gave New York a 4-3 lead. but Hatcher, who had just six homers in the regular season, hammered a 3.2 pitch to tie the

In the 16th, the Mets score three times, the Astros twice. Orosco, 3.0 in the playoffs, throws his sixth straight slider. Bass swings and misses.

"When we were in New York, it felt like the team with the last at-bat would win it," Garner said. "I felt like that here ... It just didn't work out."

Americans In Nobel Sweep Take Home 13th Economic Prize

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) - James McGill Buchanan, a professor at Virginia's George Mason University, won the 1986 Nobel Memorial Prize in Economic Science today.

The economics prize has gone in full or in part to American economists for 13 of the 17 years since it was created by the Bank of Sweden as a memorial to Swedish chemist Alfred Nobel.

Buchanan, 67, a professor at George Mason University in Fairfax, Va., has developed a theory that "goes under the name the 'new political economy' or 'public choice' and lies on the boundary between economics and political science," the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences said in awarding the prize.

Stahl said Buchanan has theorized that day-to-day politics are affected by the underlying fixed rules of economic and political decision-making.

Americans continued to dominate the Nobel prizes, winning outright or sharing in four of the five prizes awarded so far - medicine, peace, physics, chemistry and economics.

Iraq Downs Iranian Civilian Plane

Iran, warning residents of Baghdad and other large Iraqi cities to evacuate "for the sake of their own safety," said today it planned to retaliate for an alleged Iraqi air attack on a civilian airliner at Shiraz airport.

It said three passengers were killed and others wounded in Wednesday's Iraqi air attack. Iraq said the attack was against a military airport in Shiraz and that 23 Iranian military transport planes were knocked out:

The Iranian warning was also broadcast on the Arabic service of Tehran radio beamed to Iraq and its neighboring Arab states.

Iran said its long-range artillery was already in action against the Iraqi port of Basra.

Iranian Foreign Minister Ali Akbar Velayati, in a message sent to U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez De Cuellar, compained about the fraqi attack on the passenger plane.

Aid Reaches Some Quake Victims

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) - Almost a weck after a deadly earthquake ripped through war-torn El Salvador, a third of an estimated 200,000 homeless people have received emergency aid, a private group announced.

Workers from several countries continued the search for survivors late Wednesday at a half dozen places in the capital of 1 million people, but conceded chances of finding anyone alive were bleak.

Meanwhile, Secretary of State George Shultz was scheduled to visit El Salvador today to meet with President Jose Napoleon Duarte and reiterate U.S. support for the Duarte government.

Shultz was expected to announce steps the Reagan administration planned to take to help the Duarte government cope with the earthquake crisis while maintaining the fight against leftist insurgents.

Police Back Anti-Primping Law, Seek Legislation With More Bite

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS (UPI) - Police say primping. reading and pooch petting is risky business behind the wheel, and they want the state's careless driving law amended to prohibit such diversions to driving.

"It's not widespread but it's enough to say, 'Hey, if (a law) prevents one accident it's worth it," said Sgt. Bob Merchant with the Altamonte Springs, Fla., police.

"I've seen literally hundreds of people reading magazines and other things while they're driving," said Satellite Beach Police Chief Lionel Cote.

Cote's department has submitted to the Florida Police Chiefs Association a proposal to add specific violations to the carcless driving statute. The plan has been referred to the organization's highway safety committee for study.

"The majority of our accidents are the result of careless driving." said Merchant.

Merchant criticized the vagueness of Florida's careless driving statute, which merely says drivers must operate vehicles in a "careful and prudent manner."

Historic Hatei Ordereci Clased

ORMOND BEACH (UPI) - The mostly elderly residents of the decrepit Ormand Hotel, once a luxurious retreat of the late oil baron John D. Rockefeller, have been ordered to vacate the building by 5 p.m. Thursday due to safety

Two earlier threatened closings by city officials this year were not carried out. However, the latest order comes as a joint directive from Buddy Dewar, director of the state fire marshal's office, and Kenneth Stuckey, the town's chief building official.

"The structure is in such bad shape that there is eminent danger to the people who live there," Dewar said after an inspection of the 98-year-old building, which is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Across the street, Rockefeller's Florida mansion - built in anger by the Standard Oil magnate when he found out he was paying more than another prominent guest at the hotel - has been saved from decay and years of neglect and turned into a combination museum and civic center.

But the Ormand Hotel, home to 79 people, has not received so much as a new coat of paint. Richard D'Amico. the hotel's principal owner, has been looking for partners in a $10 million renovation plan.

$40 Million In Cocaine Seized

ST. AUGUSTINE (UPI) - Two Hialeah men were charged with cocaine trafficking after police stopped a tractor-trailer truck they were driving for not having tail lights and found 1,100 pounds of the drug stashed in the back.

The cocaine, stuffed into a dozen duffle bags, would have been worth about $40 million. The men were identified as Rene Martinez Jr., 36, and Fidal Sotero Diez. 28. They were stopped 8:30 p.m. Tuesday. Martinez tried to escape in the big rig after police drug-sniffing dogs confirmed the cargo in the duffle bags, Kilpatrick said.

Kilpatrick said officers chased Martinez about two miles down I-95 before catching up to him.

Martinez was charged with trafficking in cocaine and trying to elude officers, and Diez was charged with trafficking. Both men were booked into the St. Johns County Jail. No bond has been set.

Working into the early morning, the House tentatively approved the long-term, $576 billion spending bill needed to finance virtually every aspect of the federal government. It also passed the short-term extension.

But the House also added to the long-term bill some amendments that the Senate does not want - and those disputes could keep the measure bouncing back and forth between the two chambers. Two of the amendments also could provoke a presidential veto.

House supporters argued Wednesday night that the major catchall spending bill, while not perfect, was needed to keep the government operating.

Substandard Nursing Homes Outumber Good Ones By Far

DEAR ABBY: Before the furor dies down on nursing homes (granted there are many good ones but, unfortunately, a few rotten apples have soured the whole barrel), I submit the following: I was a very close friend of a poor, itinerant preacher. He became very ill, and toward the end he was placed in a prestigious nursing home by some well-to-do friends. In his dotage he asked for a wedding ring and a Parker pen. To satisfy his whims, I brought him both, neither of which I bought at the five-and-ten. The next time I visited him, both items had mysteriously disappeared. I promptly replaced them. The replacements also disappeared. I complained to the staff. Nobody knew anything.

Later, my husband was dying in an expensive religiousoriented hospital. At the end he was comatose, but he clutched a small golden crucifix, a small red and gold Bible, and a suede-bound book - the "Rubalyat of Omar Khayyam" - all family heirlooms that I had brought him when he could respond only by touching some-thing familiar and precious. When he died, I went into shock but returned to his room a short time later. The family heirlooms were not there! They were nowhere to be found, and haven't been seen since.

Tell me, Abby, who would steal a golden crucifix from a dying man or a wedding ring

DEAR STUNNED: Before we close the books on nursing homes, let me say that Kirk Douglas was not wrong. According to my mail, there are far more substandard nursing homes than good ones.

DEAR ABBY: I love my husband. Let me tell you why:

I love him for not making any noise when he gets up at 6:30 every morning and knows I like to sleep a little later.

I love him for never asking me why I don't balance the checkbook.

I love him for walking the dog and feeding the cat even though they're both mine.

I love him for not making me pay him off when I lose a bet. even though he always pays when he loses.

I love him for not noticing when the beds aren't made.

I love him for noticing when my hair is done a new way.

I love him for being extra nice to my mom and dad.

I love him for watching a 1956 romantic movie with me even though the Celtics are on the other channel.

I love him for not getting mad when there's not a clean shirt in the drawer.

I want him to know it's the little things that count.

Lapps Lament: Don't Eat The Reindeer

By Mark Schwed UPI TV Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) - You can't see it, nor can you smell it, but as surely as there is air, there is death all around in Lapland.

The rain that brought lodine-131, cesium-137 and 14 other radioactive isotopes began falling along the Baltic coastline north of Stockholm at dusk on April 28, 1986.

Just two days earlier, a massive radioactive cloud had wafted from the Chernobyl nuclear plant in the Soviet Union over northern Europe to hover precisely over Lapland just when the rain struck.

NEW YORK (UPI) - NBC won with a 11.4 rating and 22 share. the prime time ratings race for "NBC Nightly News" with Tom Brokaw was second with a 11.2 rating and 22 share and "ABC World News Tonight" with Peter Jennings stayed in third place with a 10.3 rating and 21 share.

For the season to date, NBC leads with an 18.3 rating and 29 share, CBS is second with a 16.0 rating and 26 share and ABC is last with a 15.1 rating and 25 share.

Each ratings point represents about 874,000 households and a share is the percentage of sets tuned to a particular show.

ABC scored better in the ratings last week, with almost all of its prime time schedule either preempted by playoff baseball and taken up by Monday night football, than it did the previous week with its regular lineup.

In what promised to be a non-sporting rivalry worth watching in the new season, 'Dallas' on CBS came in ahead of "Miami Vice," the hit show NBC moved into the slot opposite Larry Hagman and the Ewing glitz in hopes of knocking off the CBS soap opera. "Dallas' came in 14th, while "Vice" was 22nd, with an 18 rating and a 29 share. None of ABC's new shows survived the network's sports blitz, so the competition was between NBC and CBS. The highest rated new show was NBC's "Amen, in 11th place in the Nielsen ratings. Also in the top 20 were NBC's "Matlock" (13th) and CBS's "My Sister Sam" (20th). Other new shows with healthy ratings were CBS's "Designing Women" (29th) and "Kay O'Brien," the latter fied with NBC's "Easy Street" for 32nd.

NBC had "Our House" tied for 37th and "Alf" tied for 40th.

In the gloom department in the bottom 20 were NBC's much touted but poorly rated "L.A. Law" (tied for 44th), CBS's "Together We Stand" (tied for 51st) and "Better Days" (53rd). NBC's "Crime Story" (56th) and CBS's "Downtown" (57th).

Winner of the week: Sports fans, who had something to cheer every night.

Loser of the week: "1986." which may or may not be followed by 1987. The top 10 prime-time shows for the week ending Oct. 12. according to the A.C. Nielsen Co., were:

1. The Cosby Show (NBC) 2. Family Ties (NBC)

3. Cheers (NBC)

4. Murder, She Wrote (CBS) 5. CBS Tuesday movie, "Last

Frontler" part 2 6. Golden Girls (NBC) 7. Night Court (NBC)

Small Quakes Hit California

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., (UPI) - Two earthquakes within three hours shook Southern California, including one of 4.7 magnitude, but the apparently unrelated shakers caused no injuries or damages, officials said Wednesday.

The two quakes Tuesday were separated by about 100 miles and apparently were not related, said Dennis Meredith, a spokesman for the Caltech Seismology Laboratory In Pasadena.

Police said no damage or injuries were reported in either the Palm Springs temblor. which hit at 7:28 p.m. and was centered at Desert Hot Springs about nine miles north of the city, or a smaller shaker more than three hours later north of Glendale.

The second quake,

Family's Ties Cut By USSR In '56

WASHINGTON (NEA) - An open letter to Ronald Reagan:

Dear Mr. President: Every now and then there is a story in the newspapers, or by the related mass media, regarding an Amerlean resident who is trying to get his family out of the Soviet Union. The resident is usually a defector or a refugee who, on departing the Russian nation, had to leave his family behind.

The stories pick at the heart and the soul. They are sad on the one hand and infuriating on the other. The American residents want only to be reunited with their loved ones, a small enough request, but the Soviets refuse to let go of the spouses. the children or whatever the case may be.

With that in mind, I am writing to bring to your attention another of these stories. Perhaps the most sad and infuriating of them all. Anatoly Michelson, a naturalized American living in Florida, has been trying to get his wife and daughter out of the USSR for 30 years. Repeat: 30

He has pleaded with the Soviet authorities. He has enlisted the aid of U.S. officials. But to no good end. Now he's come to believe, after all this time, there is only one person left who can help him end the separation; that's you, of course, hence the motive for this letter.

I say again: 30 years. Michelson notes that his ordeal began in 1956. He was a prominent Russian engineer at the time, and a member of the Communist Party. But he explains that he became disenchanted with socialism. So, on a visit to Vienna, he asked for asylum at the U.S. Embassy.

He says he knew the Russians would be embittered. But he did not think they would take the anger out on his family. Josef Stalin was dead, after all. The country had relaxed somewhat. He was sure that his wife, Galina, and his daughter, Olga, would be given permission to join him in the West.

He says he sent letters that were rejected by the government. packages that were returned by the government, and when he directed inquiries to the Soviet consul in Vienna he was either ignored or ridiculed.

He says he told her who he was, and that he had many differences with her husband. "but I didn't think that was any reason to keep my wife and child from me."

She may or may not have agreed. In any event, Michelson was thereafter allowed to at least communicate with his family. The letters and packages were delivered, photographs were exchanged, Michelson could even send gifts of money, and he began to talk occasionally with his wife by telephone.

Still the Russians would not let They weren't. Indeed, the wife and daughter emigrate. Michelson says he lost all con- And they have never given a

Some people in your State Department agree, Mr. President. They also say the Soviet purpose in these affairs is to instill fear and create a domestic deterrent. The Russians believe people will be less likely to defect if they know they will be separated from their relations, perhaps forever.

Forever? Anatoly Michelson says 30 years can be forever. Thus, he continues, frantically, to do what he can to free his

Last month, another 1.3 milwas released to the county from the Water Hyacinth Program, and offered to those remaining on the list.

Up to 200,000 gallons of sewer treatment capacity remained unclaimed. County environmental services officials, who conducted a pre-sale of future treatment capacity from July to September, then offered capacity to those who bought the capacity in advance, but all were not ready to participate. Between 150,000 and 200,000 gallons per day remain available.

What's left will be offered to developers with a limit of 50,000 gallons per project.

Gene Discovery Major Step In Muscular Dystrophy Fight

NEW YORK (UPI) - The discovery of the always strikes boys between the ages of 2 gene that causes the most common and severe form of muscular dystrophy was hailed as a major step in understanding and possibly finding a way to treat the muscle-wasting disease.

A research team headed by Dr. Louis Kunkel at the Harvard Medical School. reporting Wednesday in the British science journal Nature, said it had identified the gene responsible for Duchenne muscular dystrophy.

The Muscular Dystrophy Association called the discovery a "monumental breakthrough" that may someday lead to a treatment for Duchenne's, which almost and 5. There is no known cure and few patients survive past their early 20s.

"This is the most important thing in the history of muscle disease," said Dr. Lewis Rowland, a prominent neurologist at Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center who was not associated with the discovery. "They have taken a disease to which we had no clue to the cause and discovered the gene that is responsible for it."

There are 12 types of muscular dystrophy, all inherited, of which Duchenne's is most common, striking an estimated one out of every 3,300 boys. Researchers said the genes for the other forms of muscular dystrophy may be located soon.

So little is known about muscular dystrophy that until now, research had consisted of giving chickens with the disease hundreds of different drugs to see if one of them would work. They never did. said Donald Wood, a researcher for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. "Now we have something very tangible to work with, for Duchenne's and perhaps for other forms," Wood said.

Kunkel said the gene in question is extremely large, and that may explain why Duchenne's is a relatively common disease.

"There's more there to go wrong."

County Readies Higher Development Fees Schedule

By Paul C. Schaefer Herald Staff Writer

Development fees for review of new developments may increase soon in Seminole County. The county commission Tuesday examined new development review fee schedules, presented by deputy county administrator Woody Price.

The new fee schedules, paid for county staff review of new construction projects, could generate up to $200,000 annually, Price said.

He added that most fees for rezoning, subdivision plats, and site plan reviews will be increased, and new fees for Comprehensive Land Use Plan amendment requests and development of regional impact applications will be

The idea is to continue the county commission's desire to make growth pay for itself.

According to Price's report to commissioners. county planning staff can spend up to 200 hours in reviewing developers project applications, and present fees have not generated enough revenue to compensate for the staff's time.

A development is reviewed step by step in the permitting process by the county land management, public safety, health, planning, environmental services public works, and sheriff's

The proposed hikes in the fees may be bad news to developers, but good news to county taxpayers, according to Price.

He said the staff has been "paid out of general tax revenues" and that the time they have spent is "attributable to development review."

"The idea is to capture the costs from the applicants." Price said. As an example of new fees, an application for a development of regional impact which now has no set fee, will range between $3,000 and $9,000. depending on the size of the project. Price said two DRI applications are expected during the new fiscal year, which would generate $11,070 in application fees, if the new schedule is adopted. A total of $263,171 could be generated if the new fees become effective, and projected projects request applications. Commissioners could adopt the new fee schedule later this month.

which lobbies on behalf of central Florida builder's interests, complimented the commission on the new fee schedule, but said while the new fees appear to be developed by "comprehensive materials", the HBA wasn't aware they were being developed. She asked for a meeting between Price and HBA representatives to review the proposed fees, and questioned how they might effect projects which are already in the application process.

If adopted, the new fees will be collected for projects in the planning stages. Later this year, the commission is expected to consider adopting new impact fees, which are used to improve or provide services in areas where developments are taking place.
