The Community Masses To Honor Dr. Starke

By DORIS OETRICH
Herald Staff Writer

Slow drizzles and dark low clouds shrouded the atmosphere this morning. But the sun came shining brightly through before the 11 o'clock service for George Henry Starke, M.D. Dr. Starke's friends and admirers began arriving at the Sanford Civic Center about 8 a.m. The vast entourage represented all walks of life — both white and black. They filled the center.

The large delegation to its feet. Songs were shared, a few tears were shed. Before the eulogies the choir sang Dr. Starke's favorite song, "Goin' Up Yonder." The speakers remembered, including Rev. G.L. Sims, Dr. Starke's pastor who presided over the service. "The church, community and Seminole County has lost a great man — great friend — one who will be missed dearly," he said. Dr. Russell Shaw added his reflections. "Dr. Starke was a respected physician and gentleman," he said.

"He left a giant pair of shoes that will never be filled again. All of us who knew him loved him and respected him." Dr. Starke, who died Monday at his home at the age of 86, opened his first practice in Sanford 51 years ago after graduating from Meharry University Medical School in Nashville. He later was accepted by Harvard University to serve his residency at Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston.

He was the first black doctor admitted to the Seminole County Medical Association and the Florida Medical Association and the second to the American Medical Association. Dr. Starke was on the staff of Seminole Memorial Hospital and was on the board of directors of Good Samaritan Home. As the long black hearse led the lengthy procession to Glenn Haven Memorial and Mausoleum, Winter Park, onlookers might have surmised that Sanford was being evacuated.

Sanford Candidates Face The People

Rats, garbage, street lighting, police department. Some of the subjects broached Thursday evening at a meeting of the nine candidates vying for seats on the Sanford City Commission. The forum was sponsored by SISTER (Sanford's Interested Sarahs to Encourage Rejuvenation) at the Sanford Civic Center. The hour-and-a-half meeting featured questions from the audience of about 80 people drawn by the candidates at random. The same questions were not asked of all candidates. Both incumbent John Morris and his opponent for the district two seat James Coddington, drew questions about refuse and rats. "One solution would be for the proper authorities to look into the matter and put out the chemicals are needed to eliminate them," Coddington said of the rat problem. "There are a number of areas around town where there is garbage blowing around. If there was a community effort to put trash and debris in its place we would all benefit from it." "This is a question I can really clean-up on," quipped Morris. "As far as the city goes we had some people bring this to our attention and we instructed staff to research and handle it." During a session in which questions were asked from the floor, Morris noted an incinerator plant for the city was not feasible because of the cost involved. "The price for a plant that would do what you want would start at about $18 million here

School Bus Drivers Get New Contract; Ratification Next

By LEONARD KRANSORF
Herald Staff Writer

Five months of contract negotiations between bus drivers and the Seminole County School Board ended Thursday with the help of a federal mediator. The new contract, which affects 158 bus drivers, most of them women, has an Oct. 2 effective date. The new contract calls for a $4,120 base salary for a first-year bus driver, up from $4,015 to a $178 increase. However, depending on the number of hours per day the drivers drive, the raise can be greater. Most of the drivers drive six hours a day, according to Roy Wright of the transportation department. A six-hour per day driver with five years' experience will receive a $280 increase with the salary going from $4,683 to $4,963. A six-hour driver with 10 years' experience will get a salary increase of $234, going from $5,281 to $5,515. The second highest number of drivers are on the road about six and a half hours. In this category for a first-year driver the salary will increase $183 from $4,549 to $4,732. For five year's experience, the salary increases from $5,029 to $5,212 or $183. A driver with 10 years' experience will increase $237 from $5,814 to $6,051. The 10-year driver has a $234 increase from $6,000 to $6,234. For a first-year driver in that category the salary increases from $4,884 to $4,892. A five-year driver increases his salary from $5,426 to $5,607 or by $181. A 10-year driver will increase from $6,149 to $6,412 a $273 raise. The next category of driver is seven and a half hours per day. For a first-year driver in that category the salary increases from $5,018 to $5,151 or $133. A five-year driver will have an increase of $237 from $6,014 to $6,251. The 10-year driver has a $234 increase from $6,000 to $6,234. The final category is the eight-hour drivers who transport Seminole County handicapped children to school in Orange County. In this category the first-year salary will increase from $5,253 to $5,500, an increase of $127. For the five-year driver there

Who's Due The Dues?

The latest development in the split between members of the Seminole Educational Clerical Association (SECA) has brought still another matter before the courts — who should get dues collected from the members? County school board lawyers have filed a complaint in county court asking the court to help settle the matter. The clerical workers' association has split over the past several months over a 10-point disagreement and at present there are two factions — each claiming its board of directors and its president officially represent the 400 or so SECA membership. The school district has been deducting from members' pay dues for the SECA organization and in the past turned over those dues to the official SECA administration. Now that the group is split, however, the school board is faced with the problem of which of the two factions to turn over $484.15 in dues. School board lawyers ask the court in their complaint: — Explain either of the two factions from using the school board to collect the dues; — Have the two factions settle their differences in court and issue a ruling on which board of directors officially represents SECA members; — Decide which of the two factions should receive the collected dues from the school board if the two factions are unable to resolve their differences.

Robbed

An individual who had apparently just completed a transaction at the Flagship Bank of Sanford on First Street was robbed at gunpoint today at noon.

The victim was identified as Leroy Hardy, 27, who was making the transaction on behalf of the Goldshore Bar in Sanford.

The robbery occurred in the vicinity of the bank.

In Sanford Armed Robbery Clerk Shoots At Fleeing Bandit

By DENNIS FEOLA
Herald Staff Writer

About one year ago, an armed robber stuck a shotgun in Brantley's back. "Something like that happens a man," her husband, Ray Brantley said today. Last night Brantley's grocery store was robbed again, the fourth time in less than two years. This time, Brantley fought back. He fired his .32 caliber pistol five times at a fleeing man who had just robbed Paper Grocery, 261 Poplar Ave., Sanford. Police said they are still uncertain if the robber was hit. "I have a right to defend myself," Brantley said. "I didn't want to kill him, but if I did kill him, it wasn't neither me a bit. "I wasn't brave or anything," he said. "But I've been robbed so many times I just wanted to catch one," he said. There were seven persons in the store when the incident occurred at 7:19 p.m. The man, wearing two hats, a black beanie topped by a maroon cap, pulled a revolver on cashier Ann Byrd, 27, of Sanford. He ordered her to get all the money in a bag, which she did. In the meantime, Mrs. Brantley, 27, walked to the rear of the store where her husband was and told him the store was being robbed. Brantley, 27, told her to call police and he took his .32 caliber pistol from under the counter and headed towards the front of the store. Police said Brantley saw a youngster coming in the store and backed off, opting instead to leave the store through a rear entrance. "I peeked around the corner to see if somebody was waiting for him," Brantley said.

"There was nobody waiting and when he came out of the store carrying the gun, I loaded over the head of a car and told him to stop," he said. "He turned around and looked at me, and ran. "I shot at him five times. I heard him fall and he was running down the road kind of wobbly," Brantley said. Police said the man dropped $47 cash, $89 in food stamps and his gun across the street from the grocery store. "I should have had this guy," Brantley said. "I told him to stop. I did give him a chance to stop. "It was very dark and the .32 isn't very accurate. He was running and weaving and there was a house and tree in the way," he said. "If I could stop the guy without shooting him, I would," he said. "I'm going to do the same thing if it happens again," he said.

WORLD IN BRIEF

New Hope For Agreement In Mideast Peace Talks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A set of new proposals has given another spark of life to the Mideast peace talks...

Israeli Defense Minister Ezer Weizman left Washington late Thursday to take part in an Israeli cabinet debate on treaty provisions.

After a two-hour meeting with Egyptian Vice President Hosni Mubarak and a brief meeting with Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, Weizman said: "The peace process is inevitable. I hope it will succeed in the near future."

Egyptian sources said a meeting between President Carter and Mubarak went "extremely well" and left the officials encouraged. Earlier in the day, Carter had expressed disappointment the talks were not going faster.

Plane Crash Death Toll Up

COLOMBO, Sri Lanka (UPI)—The death toll climbed past 200 in the crash of a jumbo jet carrying 200 Indonesian Moslems hoping on a pilgrimage to Mecca.

The official Sri Lanka Broadcasting Co. said three victims who survived the crash of the DC8 airliner died of their burns in Colombo hospitals, increasing the death toll to 203.

There were 56 survivors, which an aviation official said "passes all understanding." Witnesses had said the plane "came down like a ball of fire from the sky."

...Bus Pact

(Continued From Page 1A) for budget and finance. Both sides in the dispute raised the work of Margaret Rose, the mediator who has also helped settle the contract negotiations with the teachers and non-instructional personnel.

"We feel it is a good vehicle to use as the mediator because he is neutral and more objective and does not get as emotional and wrapped up in the issues," said Gene Grooms, spokesman for the bus drivers.

...Candidates

(Continued From Page 1A) "Sanford is sleepy to a certain extent in that we won't wake up and get involved in what we have," said Nancy Thomas Menfort, district three candidate, said he felt more merchants downtown need to be involved in the issue.

Questioned about flooding problems in the city, David Farr, third district candidate, said the city has too much pavement.

"We can use the water," said Farr. "We can control it and delay it. It may not be the most desirable thing to say, but as I say my background in planning and I think we've tried to pave too much."

"I might want to rethink that and try to increase the amount of buffer we have. It's a problem caused by the water running off the pavement. The rain that falls in yards does not run off."

Declaring the desirability of having a woman on the commission, Jean Manning McLean, district three candidate, said: "A woman has a different point of view than a man and I think the commission needs that different point of view."

Mrs. McLean also endorsed the idea of changing the city's slogan to "Train Town USA."

"Why not?" she said of the slogan change. "I think it is a good idea."

However, she pointed out, she would like the wishes of voters on the change as reflected in the Dec. 5 election. The slogan change is an advisory issue on the ballot.

Casselberry Cyclist Hurt, Hospitalized After Chase

By DENNIS FEOLA Herald Staff Writer

Four law enforcement agencies were involved in a chase with a motorcycle early this morning which ended when the young cyclist crashed into a Sheriff's Dept. vehicle — which was attempting to get out of the path of the two-wheeler — on N. Winter Park Drive in Casselberry.

The cyclist is in intensive care at Florida Hospital, South, in Orlando.

Seminole Sheriff John Palk said the incident began at approximately 1 a.m. in Winter Springs, continued through parts of Langwood, as Duane L. Brumley, 18, of 671 Hibiscus Road, Casselberry led police on a chase as he drove without his headlights and approached Seminole Boulevard and Highway 17-Alt.

Two Casselberry units as well as one sheriff's patrol car were at the intersection positioning themselves to take part in the countryside pursuit.

As those three units proceeded on N. Winter Park Drive, all three took evasive action to avoid a head-on collision with the motorcycle — still driving without any illumination, deputies said.

The cyclist slammed into a slow moving sheriff's vehicle, causing him to lose control and fall. He was treated for head and neck injuries, deputies reported.

The Florida Highway patrol is investigating and said their charges would include reckless driving and no license law. Additional charges are pending from Winter Springs and Langwood Police Departments, deputies added.

STOLEN ROBBERY Two men robbed the LI Champ convenience store at Third Street and French Avenue in Sanford and got away with $68.

The two men entered the store at 5:40 p.m. Wednesday and one of them behind the counter while the second man stood at the end of the counter.

The man behind the counter was carrying a .22 caliber blue steel revolver, according to records. He ordered 31-year-old Joyce Baker of Sanford to come to where he was standing, records indicate.

He grabbed the woman with his left hand and told her he wanted the money: "all of it."

He shoved her towards the register and she opened it and he grabbed the money and put it in his pocket as the clerk opened a second cash register.

At this point the robber became impatient. "You're not moving fast enough," he told the woman as he shoved her and took the money from the second cash register. The man then escorted the woman down the next to last aisle and shoved her to the floor and told her to stay put, authorities reported.

The man was last seen heading west on Third Street. PLANE BURGLARY An airplane belonging to the law firm of Gerald Fogarty and Larry Roth of Casselberry sustained $2,000 damage during a burglary.

The plane was parked at the Flying Seminole Ranch in Chulavita. William Spiller, 28, Mary Ann English, 26, of 1000 Marston Drive near Apopka reported the theft to sheriff's deputies. The woman also said there were eggs thrown at the door of the motorhome.

FRIBS REPORTED Three separate "motorists" wood fires were discovered by Sheriff's Deputy Randy J. Pittman in a wooded area northwest of Butler Place in Casselberry.

Arms is suspected, according to records. Seminole County fire fighters shot out the three fires, however a wooden fort used by area youths was reported destroyed.

The incident was reported Wednesday at 5 p.m. MAN ARRESTED An Altamonte Springs man has been arrested for possession of stolen property. Jerome Hampton, 26, of 223 Marston Dr., was arrested Wednesday at 3 p.m. by sheriff's department detectives. He was allegedly in possession of television sets taken in an Altamonte Springs burglary on Oct. 28.

RETI, DRAGGED A Geneva man told police he was hit in the head with a bottle and dragged from a bar by his hair. Sheriff's department reports do not indicate the reason for the attack. Constantine Tsalakis, 43, told sheriff's deputies he was at the Breeze lounge on State Road 46 East Thursday at 2 a.m. when the incident occurred. He said the man hit him with a beer bottle, cutting his scalp and dragged him outside the lounge by his hair, according to records. The man then drove away, records indicate.

Tsalakis was treated at Seminole Memorial Hospital's emergency room, records indicate.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General Griffin Bell, in perhaps his most sharply worded letter since taking office, says Sen. Edward Kennedy's challenge to his major antitrust decision could have "unfortunate implications" for their future relationship.

But Kennedy, who argues Bell's approval of the proposed merger of the Lykes Corp. and STE Corp. could seriously hurt competition in the livestock industry, is not backing off of his position.

The dispute arose after Kennedy asked the Federal Trade Commission to conduct its own investigation of the proposed merger of the nation's seventh- and eighth-largest steel companies.

Kennedy, who will become chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee when the 96th Congress reconvenes, advised Bell in a brief letter last week he felt such an inquiry was "in the public interest."

He also sent a biting five-page letter to FTC Chairman Michael Pertschuk, saying Bell's decision in the case could have "a possibly devastating effect" on future enforcement of the Clayton antitrust law.

Bell, in a letter made public Thursday, replied in no uncertain terms that he does not appreciate the meddling. "If this evidences your concern over my ability to discharge my responsibilities," he wrote, "such an attitude would have unfortunate implications for effective future cooperation between us."

Bell said the proposal for an FTC probe "seems particularly inappropriate" because "it would be intolerable for the two agencies to undertake a course of action leading to review of each others' enforcement decisions."

Bell also said such duplication would lead to "unacceptable confusion and uncertainty in the business community."

Bell advised Kennedy that if the FTC conducted its own investigation and decided to oppose the merger, he "would feel compelled" to have Justice Department lawyers argue in favor of the "dead in any legal proceedings."

13 Dropped From Meals; SCA Irked

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer Thirteen elderly poor in Sanford who have been receiving one hot meal daily from the Meals-on-Wheels program since Oct. 1 when Project OASIS of the Federation of Senior Citizens Club took it over from Seminole Community Action (SCA).

And the SCA board of directors is angry about it. Thursday night to bring this problem to the attention of whatever state and federal agency necessary to see that those 13 persons begin receiving their meals again.

Federal funding through the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council's Area Agency on the Aging (AAA) was withdrawn from SCA to OASIS for this Meals on Wheels (MOW) program providing six meals daily on Oct. 1.

Rev. Amos Jones, SCA executive director, requested by the board for a status report Thursday night, said OASIS had promised when it took over operation of that specific MOW program that all persons then receiving meals would be continued in the program.

Rev. Jones said he has brought to the attention of AAA and Project OASIS several times and in several ways the plight of the 13 persons for whom MOW service had been discontinued.

The motion adopted by the board of directors was that attorney Bill Carpenter as acting SCA chairman is to address letters concerning the matter to all appropriate agencies and press.

In other business, the board voted unanimously to favor a U.S. Department of Agriculture pilot program for breakfast for neglected children.

"I can't think of anything more horrible than a child going to school hungry," said Sanford City Commissioner Julian Stromstrom, a member of the board.

"I'd like to see us support the transportation to get the majority of the school lunch to this matter."

Rev. Jones said new officers will be elected at SCA's December meeting.

Young To Dr. King Panel: No Proof Of FBI Conspiracy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young told the House assassinations committee today he has no proof to support the idea that the murder of Martin Luther King Jr. was part of an FBI conspiracy.

Young, a close aide to King, was with the black leader in Memphis when he was shot April 4, 1968.

The committee is reviewing the case because convicted assassin James Earl Ray has claimed he was the "fall guy" in a murder conspiracy. He initially confessed to King's murder.

MARGARET BARNES

Better Health Department Is Social Workers' Goal

By MAX ERKILETIAN Herald Staff Writer Resources for Human Needs Committee, a group of social workers in Seminole County, plans to work toward upgrading the Seminole County Health Department, according to the group's president, Margaret Barnes.

Mrs. Barnes said the group had originally planned to address the need for better housing in Seminole County, but she shifted its emphasis to the health department. Her comments came following a Thursday meeting of the committee with Troy Todd, director of human services for the county.

"I plan to bring this up for consideration at our next meeting," said Mrs. Barnes. "We may want to make this our project for this year. We'll have to go to the county commission and let them know our concerns."

Todd was questioned by the group about the health department and its level of staffing.

Todd conceded the department does not have as many nurses per capita as most other Florida counties. However, he contended population is not the only criteria for determining how many nurses a health department should have.

"We have to determine how many nurses we need, based on the demand for services," he explained.

The demand for health services does not require more than the eight full-time and one part-time nurse employed in the health department at present, he said.

Todd noted that attendance at the health department's prenatal clinics has declined since applicants for such treatment have been screened for income.

He explained applicants for pre-natal care are now screened to determine if they can afford the care. He said income requirements are the same as those used by the federal government.

"Since we began screening, the use of the prenatal clinic has dropped. That leads me to believe some people had been using it before who could have afforded to pay for the service," Todd told the group.

Todd maintained his function as director of human services is to make money and policy decisions, but not to make medical decisions.

Asked what he thought the health department needs most to serve the health needs of the county, Todd responded, "that's not my job to determine what programs are necessary. My job is to determine if the county can afford the program."

"Touching on the resignation of Dr. Hamada Battia as county health director last September, Todd said it was "a case of an employee being dissatisfied with her working conditions, pure and simple."

Although Todd said he would like Battia's resignation "played down, so we can get on with business" he claimed he had constantly resisted his supervision.

Battia had maintained the health department was understaffed, according to Todd. She had asked for 18 new positions in the department prior to county budget hearings

Todd maintained his function as director of human services is to make money and policy decisions, but not to make medical decisions.

Asked what he thought the health department needs most to serve the health needs of the county, Todd responded, "that's not my job to determine what programs are necessary. My job is to determine if the county can afford the program."

"Touching on the resignation of Dr. Hamada Battia as county health director last September, Todd said it was "a case of an employee being dissatisfied with her working conditions, pure and simple."

Although Todd said he would like Battia's resignation "played down, so we can get on with business" he claimed he had constantly resisted his supervision.

Battia had maintained the health department was understaffed, according to Todd. She had asked for 18 new positions in the department prior to county budget hearings

Brezhnev Relents, Will Meet 'Frank' Senators

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev's on-again-off-again appointment with a dozen visiting U.S. senators was again this afternoon.

The senators had resigned themselves to the fact they would not have the opportunity to meet with Brezhnev, following two long hard days of discussions at the Kremlin with Soviet parliamentarians and Premier Alexei Kosygin.

The Soviet explanation for the earlier cancellation had been that Brezhnev was tied up with the state visit of Ethiopian leader Mengistu Haile Mariam.

The senators, led by Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., and Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., had two days of difficult and, at times, heated talks with Soviet officials and hoped to gain their week-long visit to the Soviet Union with a meeting with Brezhnev.

In addition to exchanging blunt words with Kosygin, the senators presented Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko with a list of about 200 demands for Soviet arms seeking permission to emigrate.

The official Soviet news agency Tass appeared to be quite emphatic in reporting Thursday: "Today deputies of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet ended the second and last day of talks with members of a U.S.A. Senate delegation."

The 10-minute meeting with Kosygin turned sour when Ribicoff warned him Soviet actions in Africa and the Middle East affected U.S. public opinion, and Senate thinking, said Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Nev., who described Kosygin as "quarrelsome."

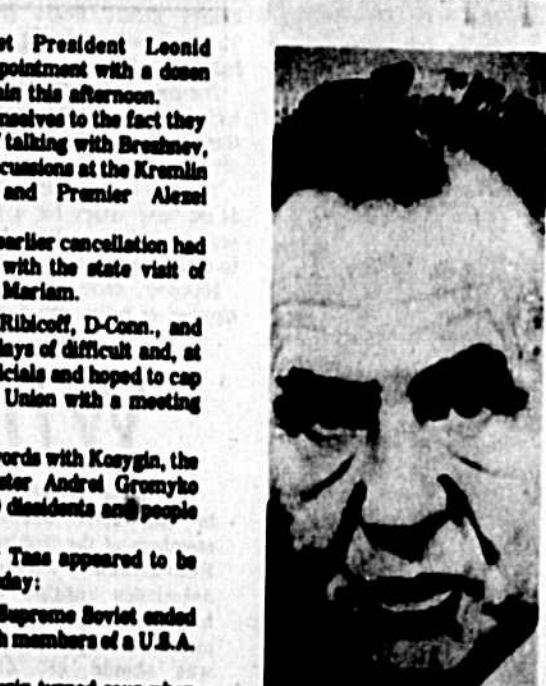

"It was very, very tough," said Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y. "It was the most frank of all the frank discussions I've had in 10 years," said Sen. Arthur D. Bunker Fletcher.

When Ribicoff mentioned Soviet transfers of modern weaponry to Cuba, Laxalt said Kosygin's response was "blatant."

Laxalt said Kosygin replied that such things as weapons transfers to Cuba were not open for discussion and accused the senators of going into too much detail.

Much explaining was needed on both sides before the meeting ended on a fairly cordial note with Kosygin promising for Senate ratification of a new Strategic Arms Limitation Treaty once the arms negotiators reach agreement, Javits said.

"This thing is bigger than all of us," Javits quoted Kosygin as saying.

Election Spending Needs Review

One thing certain that can be deduced from the recent elections and the campaigns that preceded the voting was the high cost of running for office. Costs are going beyond all bounds and there should be some sort of limit established.

History has painted our pilgrim ancestors in the somber tones of formality and austerity. Yet they were really a bold and vigorous band—a society of brave believers who lived their beliefs.

Thanksgiving Day in 1621 marked the reaping of their first harvest in what they quaintly called New England.

But never forget: it also marked their filling of the barns and stocking of the larders for what men still describe with awe as a "New England Winter."

Thanksgiving is not just a look back in gratitude. It is a look forward in faith. It is a people remembering their dependence on God!

Once Blind, Now She Sees

By MELENDA EDMISTON Herald Correspondent. "If you see a shadow standing before me, it's Jesus. I don't do anything without him," stated Betty Davis to Community United Methodist Women in Casselberry.

Three days later she was healed of her blindness at a Kathryn Khulman Crusade. As Miss Khulman called for healing Mrs. Davis opened her eyes and began to look down toward the platform and could count people. She was sitting 100 yards from the platform and had 2 feet vision. "God said, Open your eyes and you will see" and I saw Miss Khulman's features," Mrs. Davis testified.

After attending services at Calvary Assembly, her son, John and Bert advised they could accept Jesus Christ as their Saviour. When she explained what was going on to her husband, who suffers from nerve deafness, he asked, "Can I?"

In November 1973, Mrs. Davis was taped on national television with Kathryn Khulman in Los Angeles. "God has healed relationships and looked after us financially," said Mrs. Davis. Someone once said to her mother, "Preacher's bids aren't supposed to have these problems." "I haven't noticed any halo around my children's heads," replied Mrs. Branscomb.

As she went forward to pray she met a young preacher who had known and was verified everything to the audience. Her medical case is recorded by doctors here and in Atlanta, she said.

While teaching school in Jacksonville, she met Milton Davis. They married and moved to Atlanta, Ga., where they lived for 14 years. Their children, Janette and Bert had serious medical problems. The financial burden from medical costs and employment problems weighed heavily on Mrs. Davis. "Because of my emotional problems, I turned to alcohol and drugs as crutches," she said.

In 1973 the Davis family moved to Oviedo. When Mrs. Davis' daughter, Janette dropped out of high school to get married in the Spring of 1974, she could no longer cope and she unsuccessfully attempted suicide. "My friend, Connie Ecton, Dolphins, Oilers Gear For High-Scoring Encounter?

Houston (UPI)—If the theory that the Houston Oilers have played to the level of their competition this season holds up, their Monday night game against the Miami Dolphins will be their highest scoring contest of the season.

Houston trailed in the second half. The Oilers ability to overcome deficits was extended one week ago when they beat New England after falling behind 24-0.

It's been said that the Oilers operate on the level of their opponents' play, good against good teams and poor against the not-so-good. Oilers Coach Bum Phillips wishes he did not have to agree.

Phillips said, "You can do one guy, I don't care who he is, even Bruce Nagarkki."

The Dolphins beat Houston last season as badly as anyone has in several seasons by taking a 21-0 first quarter lead. Oilers players said the Miami beat caused them to huddle early.

Three seasons ago in the Astro dome, the two teams played a thriller over by Houston 26-19 on Ronnie Coleman's 7-yard touchdown run in the final 10 seconds.

Coleman, although Houston's fourth running back to start this season, could be a factor Monday night because of an injury to Rob Carpenter. Coleman probably will see considerable playing time as Campbell's backup.

Redskins Biggie Vs. Cardinals

Before the Washington Redskins travel to Dallas for their Thanksgiving day game with the Cowboys, there is another matter of business at hand—the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cardinals, it should be remembered, were last eliminated into the Mississippi mud halfway through the season. They lost their first eight games and it was not the kind of welcome back party Bud Williams envisioned for himself.

The Redskins are not coming off an especially impressive victory. They beat the Giants 16-13 in overtime (thanks to a 48-yard field goal by Mark Monday, QB), quarterback Joe Theismann had a strong afternoon. He completed a career-high 25-of-36 passes and helped lead the offense to its first 200-yard game in seven weeks.

The Redskins are especially tough. They have won five straight at RFK Stadium this year and 49 of their last 54. This has not occurred since 1945.

"The Cardinals are playing their injured people back to the lines," Washington coach Jack Parsons said. "They have the offensive line back together and (wide receiver) Mel Gray is back playing with 40 catches (led for the team lead with wide receiver Pat Tilley), so he's ready to go."

At this stage, the Redskins cannot afford to hold back against anyone. They are 6-3 and lead the NFC East by one game over Dallas. After a Thanksgiving Day win in Texas, Washington concludes It's White Knuckle Time...

At McDevie, former head-bulldog coach at Marquette University, used to have a catchphrase for the anxiety he felt while awaiting a bid to the NCAA tournament. He called it "white knuckle time."

That phrase is applicable this Saturday to most of the college football coaches whose teams are ranked among the top 50. They will be feeling plenty of anxiety as they await bids to the 16 post-season bowl games.

Only second-ranked Nebraska, which clinched a berth in the Orange Bowl last week as the Big Eight Conference representative, knows for sure where it will be playing in the post-season competition.

By 9 p.m. Saturday, however, most of the post-season openings will be over. Naturally, the four major bowl games—Rose, Orange, Cotton and Sugar—are the ones which create the most national interest and two of a good chance that two of these will be completely filled by Saturday night.

If Nebraska beats Missouri Saturday, as expected, then top-ranked Penn State will probably accept an Orange Bowl bid to meet the Cornhorns on New Year's Day. Penn State is scheduled to play a game remaining against 11th-ranked Pittsburgh on Nov. 24.

Georgia, ranked eighth, needs only a victory over Auburn to wrap up a berth in the Sugar Bowl as the Southeastern Conference representative. An opponent for the Bulldogs would likely be the fourth-ranked Oklahoma, which closes out its season Saturday against Oklahoma State.

Third-ranked Alabama is probably going to wind up in the Cotton Bowl and Houston, Houston, late Saturday, needs only one victory in its last two games to clinch the Southwest Conference's berth in the Cotton Bowl and Alabama, which closes out its season Saturday, will have to take the Cotton by virtue of elimination.

Alabama has only an outside chance of representing the SEC in the Sugar Bowl. The Crimson Tide's chances hinge on Auburn beating Georgia Saturday then losing to Alabama on Dec. 2. A date with Houston seems more likely for the Tide.

At least one half of the Rose Bowl will be filled Saturday when 10th-ranked UCLA meets fifth-ranked Southern California for the Pacific Ten title.

"I don't think there's any doubt that it'll be close," said Trojan Coach Jim Robinson. "UCLA is as good as any team in the United States."

Palomino Vs. Benitz

World Boxing Council underweight champion Carlos Palomino will defend his title in January against Wilfredo Benitz of Puerto Rico, the WBC's No. 1 147-pound contender. Alton Eaton said Thursday.

The fight will be held in Puerto Rico in January but the specific date and site have not been selected. Mrs. Eaton is promoting the fight with Bob Arum of Top Rank Inc. of New York.

Palomino, 28, of Huntington Beach, Calif., will be making the eighth defense of the crown he won from John Serrano in London June 10, 1976. His record is 21-13 with 14 knockouts.

Benitz, 29, of Baton Rouge, La., is a two-time former WBA 147-pound world champion. He has a record of 21-13 with 14 knockouts.

Seminole Vs. Brantley Tonight At 8; Basketball On Tap Saturday At SCC

It's a weekend for everyone in sports. You name it, it's up for grabs. Perhaps the most significant game of the high school football season will be staged tonight at 8 o'clock in the Lake Brantley Stadium when the host Seminole Community College competes in a battle for Seminole County supremacy. A Seminole win sends it to the Nov. 25 Rotary Bowl.

FSU Opens Three-Game Homestand Vs. Gobblers

TALLAHASSEE. (UPI)—Florida State begins a three game home stand to wind up the 1978 football season Saturday night against the Gobblers from Virginia Tech.

The Seminoles, 4-4, are heavy favorites to whip Tech which is 3-4 on the year. Coach Bobby Bowden is confident of victory but says the Gobblers can't be taken lightly. "They are good enough to beat you. I know their record isn't that good this season, but I'm sure that is because the players have had trouble adjusting to the new coaching staff," Bowden said.

Hear, Watkins Ready

It will be a double feature night at the Orlando Sports Stadium Tuesday starting at 8 p.m. Cowboy Jimmy Hear, a new face to local boxing fans, will star in one of the main events. Hear, who has won 19 of his last 20 starts, meets cocky Kevin (Spoon) Jackson, in a 10 round affair between waterweights.

Cardinals' Otis New Questionable

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—The St. Louis Cardinals Thursday upgraded the status of running back Otis Armstrong, who was listed as questionable Thursday against the Redskins.

Otis, who leads the Cardinals in rushing with 184 yards in 184 carries, has a leg injury.

Earl Monroe Magic Show Floors Cavs

By United Press International The Earl Monroe magic show — once in danger of not opening this season — was in high form Thursday night in Richfield, Ohio.

Monroe, who has sprained and whirled his way through 11 captivating seasons, scored 17 points coming off the bench in his second game back to send the New York Knicks to a 97-82 victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

"When I started playing again Tuesday night, I felt how much I really missed the game," said Monroe.

At the start of the season the Knicks were looking to rely on their young players. And that left the 34-year-old Monroe out of picture. He was designated as the club's fourth guard and asked to take more than a $100,000 pay cut.

He refused — and sat out the first 13 games. But when Willis Reed was officially removed as coach last Saturday, Red Holzman and Monroe were both recalled from inactivity.

"Let's just say I got what I asked for," Monroe says of his contract settlement.

Perreault Paces Sabres Victory

By United Press International Lately, Gil Perreault has been reaching into his magic hat without results. No rabbits, no birds — no goals.

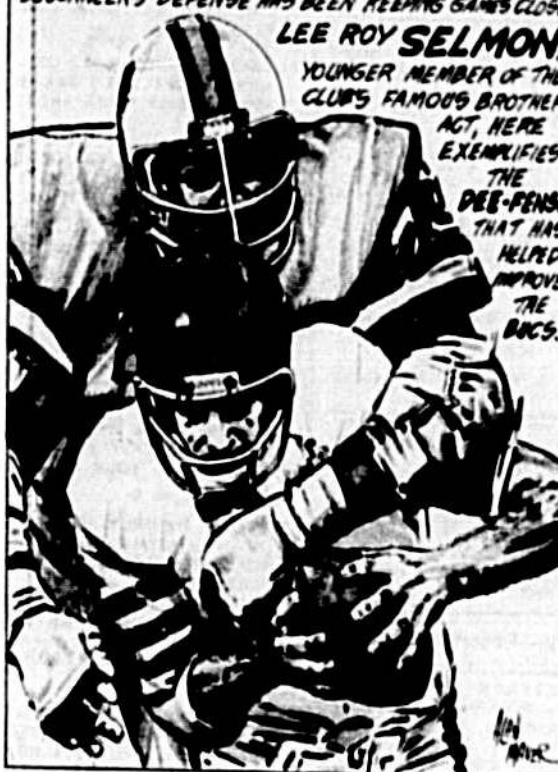

But the gifted Buffalo center hiked up his sleeves and reached deep down last night, finding a pair of goals that gave the Sabres a 6-1 victory for the St. Louis Blues to signal the end of a season-long scoring slump.

Perreault has averaged 34 goals per season over his brilliant eight-year career, but had only two entering last night's game with the Blues.

The Sabres stretched their advantage to 4-0 by the middle of the second period on goals by Danny Gare and Gary MacAdam, but wary Buffalo fans couldn't relax. They had seen the Sabres lose a four-goal advantage in an earlier 7-2 tie with the Blues.

It was different this time however, as the Sabres coasted the rest of the way. "I think it was a pretty even game except for the score," wisecracked Gerry Unger, who scored both of St. Louis' goals.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
November 18, 1978

This coming year an older friend might figure in helping you bring into reality an extraordinary dream you've been harboring. It will be of a lasting and beneficial nature.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Something you learned that you never dreamed you'd have any reason to use will surprisingly work well for you today. Find out the secrets of getting along with others by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You do your best thinking today when you're under pressure. You'll be surprised at how quickly you come up with the answers.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your realistic approach to things today is a far cry from yesterday. You're now able to figure out practical ways to benefit yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Sick by your guns, no matter how unusual your ways appear to others. Once they see the type of results you achieve, everyone will jump on your bandwagon.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone may offer you something today that you've been wanting for your home. This person no longer needs it. You'll be able to put it to good use.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A chance to reestablish a bond with one with whom you've had a disagreement will be presented to you today. A stronger friendship will result.

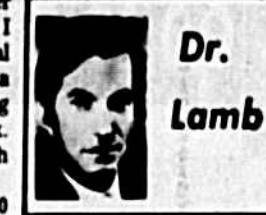

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A sudden opportunity to play that ace-in-the-hole you've been holding will be yours today giving you the advantage over your opponent.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll be able to pick up the loose ends of a project left undone, due to something unusual that occurs today. The completed task greatly advances your interests.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you make and follow certain guidelines you'll not only be able to keep a difficult promise,

It's Not Calories But Kilocalories

DEAR DR. LAMB—I suffer from gassy bowels very much. I read your article on cereal without milk and I bought a quart of ProSobee. It is helping me, but there is one drawback. I am wondering if it is too rich for me at age 67.

Each quart contains 640 kilocalories, and one kilocalorie equals 1,000 calories. Does that mean that a single quart contains 640,000 calories? I noticed also that it contains 0.1 percent of lecithin, which is egg yolk, and I am not supposed to use any of that. I have had open heart surgery and am very worried. If you can help me I would be very grateful.

DEAR READER—As far as worrying about calories and lecithin in ProSobee is concerned, you can pack up your troubles and quit worrying. You have fallen into the trap that so many people will do about the meaning of calories.

In engineering circles, one calorie is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one milliliter of water one degree centigrade. That's not a awful lot of energy. For that reason, the calories we speak of in terms of our daily diet, foods and so forth, are kilo-calories. If you were to eat a whole pound of lean, raw round steak with all the fat removed, it would only be about 600 kilocalories. That really means 600,000 calories. So when you talk about food and nutrition and you use the word calorie, remember everyone is talking about kilo-calories. If you say a person consumes 2,000 calories a day, you really mean he should consume 2,000 kilocalories a day.

So ProSobee and other milk substitute products are not excessively high in calories. They compare favorably to milk. Incidentally, I am not recommending milk substitutes for everybody, just for those who have symptoms of milk intolerance and problems with consuming natural milk.

REHEARSING IN FINE ARTS BUILDING

'Gum, Wire And A Prayer'

There is a small group of musicians at Seminole Community College which may have been born 600 years too late.

They use no electric instruments, no amplifiers — the music they play is from the early Middle Ages through the late Baroque.

They are called the Collegium Musicum, which is Latin for a gathering of musicians. The group was formed in 1972 with three musicians under the direction of Barbara Muller, who is a member of the music faculty at Seminole Community College.

Miss Muller, a graduate of Oberlin College with a master's degree from Stetson, says she has held the group together with "chewing gum, baling wire and a prayer." With close to a dozen in the group, the music is played on instruments of the period, (e.g., recorder, krumhorn, harpsichord, psaltery, shawm, and viola da gamba.

While not exactly household instruments, many of these are the ancestors of modern instruments.

"If you can play a modern instrument," says Miss Muller, "it is quite possible to make the switch." The school has a large collection of these instruments which members of the Collegium may use.

Singers are also included in the group says Miss Muller: "I can use a bunch."

'Pirate': Can't Believe It, But You'll Watch It

By JOAN HANAUER
UPI Television Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — There is nothing believable about the televised version of Harold Robbins' "The Pirate," which does not prevent it from being a kind of fun — definitely not of the good clean variety.

This is the kind of show you hate yourself for watching — but find yourself watching anyway.

The most unbelievable part of "The Pirate," which goes on CBS Nov. 21-22, 9-11 p.m., Eastern time, is its entire premise.

Somewhere in the Arabian desert, a Jewish couple on muleback appears out of the dusty storm, riding up to an Arab encampment. The Arab man, played by Eli Wallach so you know he'll turn up later in the plot, begs for help for his very pregnant wife.

As Allah, or anyway Robbins, would have it, the rich Arab's wife also is about to give birth. The Jewish wife dies in giving birth to a live son; the Arab's wife lives but delivers a stillborn daughter.

So, most natural thing in the world according to Robbins, Wallach gives his son to the Arab to raise as his own. And if you believe that, perhaps I can interest you in buying a used car, driven only on alternate Sundays by a little old lady from Pasadena.

Franco Nero as Baydr Al Fay; Olivia Hussey (front), his rebellious daughter, Lella; and Anne Archer, U.S.-born wife, Jordana in "The Pirate."

Hirsch: Happy Hacking

Alex Rieger is a New York City cabbie. He's not insane about the idea, but he accepts it. It's less degrading than welfare, less demanding than unemployment, and it has its own peculiar psychic rewards as well.

Hence, he's chosen hacking rather than hand-outs.

Portraying Alex is an outstanding stage and television actor named Judd Hirsch, who most recently starred in the critically acclaimed television series, "Delvecchio."

Hirsch left the Neil Simon Broadway play, "Chapter Two," to lead the "Taxi" ensemble.

A native New Yorker, Hirsch attended local schools before studying engineering at the City College of New York.

His artistic bent led him to transfer to an architecture program at New York's Cooper Union College.

Next, Judd exercised a yearning for the footlights by studying acting at three different schools, including the prestigious Academy of Dramatic Arts, while supporting himself with odd jobs.

Judd began his television career with the portrayal of Murray Stone in the Emmy Award-winning movie, "The Law," and subsequently starred in his own series, the aforementioned "Delvecchio."

He has also guest starred in such series and TV motion pictures as "Hillbilly," "The Keegans," "Medical Story," "Valentine" and "Fear on Trial."

Hirsch recently completed a starring role in the feature film "Dancer or Loner" and will be seen in the soon-to-be-released film, "King of the Gypsies."

During the past 10 years, he has been active in Broadway and off-Broadway productions including "The Hot L Baltimore," "Knock Knock," "Barney in the Park," "Barney" and Bruce Jay Friedman's "Scenic Drive."

Judd Hirsch is single and lives in Los Angeles.

TV Commercials: Laffers, Groaners

By DAVID HANDLER
Commercials should be subjected, from time to time, to the same sort of scrutiny as the programs they substitute.

GROANER: Jimmy Stewart croaking his way through the story of Harvey Firestone's pursuit of the perfect tire. It ranks a nose ahead of Clarence Birdseye's seven-day-old crusade for the ultimate frozen pea.

LAFFER: The Great Miller Life Controversy. I find these celebrity saloon soliloquies consistently hilarious.

Currently making the rounds are Rodney Dangerfield vs. a bartender and bowling great Don Carter tackling the easy-opening can. My all-time favorite is the one with Joe Frazier and the Knockouts.

GROANER: The endless, lifeless campaigns for the 1979 cars. It's ludicrous to hear celebrity pitchmen boast about down-to-earth slicker prices, high efficiency and fine craftsmanship while they're parading those ugly, expensive clunkers right before your eyes.

LAFFER: Poloroid One-Step spots with James Garner and Mariette Hartley as quibbling spouses are delightful. In 30 seconds they manage to convey more intimacy and humor than most sitcom couples.

GROANER: Somehow, 300 infantrymen running along, clapping their hands and grinning from ear to ear can't convince me that the new Army is all for fun. Nor do the Navy spots persuade me that a litch is just like being handed a paid vacation.

LAFFER: The new Pioneer stereo campaign, with voice-overs by Burgess Meredith, is classy and tasteful. One that wraps the life story of a superstar drummer around the phrase "Ralph, please!" is also very funny.

GROANER: Flo Henderson singing the Wesonality jingle is enough to make me pour my Weson all down the drain. Edges out McDonald's "Menu money man!" campaign as most inept.

LAFFER: I can readily identify with the Federal Express spot about business people making promises they can't keep. There's also one where a guy hides under his desk to avoid his boss. I do that all the time. In fact, I'm under my desk right now.

SPECIAL MENTION: Hearty praise goes to Hawaiian Punch for sticking with the same slogan for 26 years. There's a strange comfort in knowing that the guy is going to get decked every time when he answers affirmatively to that age-old challenge: "Hey, how about a nice Hawaiian Punch?"

Burton Tries The Quiet Life

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Richard Burton sighed deeply in the Polo Lounge of the Beverly Hills hotel and sipped at a glass of orange juice without gagging. The orange juice is symbolic of his new temperate life style.

Burton, whose heroic drinking bouts and romantic entanglements are legendary, has opted for the quiet life since his divorce from Elizabeth Taylor.

'What we would like to see is more women police officers and men in clerical positions'

'Private industry can afford to pay so much better and they hire them away'

Wanted: Sanford Women, Minority Job Applicants

FOR THE GOOD DOCTOR

 Herald Staff Writer

The search is on in Sanford for minority and women applicants to serve in managerial and professional positions in city government.

But not for immediate employment, Richard Quigley, assistant to the city manager, makes clear.

"We don't have any positions open on these levels right now," informs Quigley. "But what we want to do is build up a file of applicants."

According to Frank Flapp of the Civil Service Commission, there are no applications on file from blacks to fill such top positions in the city.

An executive secretary of the city's civil service board, Flapp maintains the file on such applications.

"I call on Bethune-Cookman and the community college regularly and we just can't get anybody," said Flapp.

Some officials believe the city has trouble recruiting women and minority applicants for high positions because they are in such great demand by private industry.

"I think the city has trouble getting the kind of applicants we need because private industry can afford to pay so much better and they hire them away from the area," commented Quigley.

Francie Wynalda, city equal employment opportunity (EEO) officer, agrees.

"I know a lot of people who would like to hire figures, why stay around here when they could get paid more and have their own future?" she said.

Wynalda, who is in agreement with a big company, said Miss Wynalda, "but Sanford is a nice place to work and the benefits are good."

FRANK FLAPP

When she was hired about one year ago, Miss Wynalda noted two black women were also interviewed for her position.

Both decided they could get better pay in private industry. The city currently has one black in a management position with the parks and recreation department and two women in management positions, including Miss Wynalda.

As EEO officer for the city, Miss Wynalda is responsible for drawing up the goals and timetables for the city's affirmative action plan. That plan is a blueprint for bringing more women and minorities into positions in city government.

"We don't have any trouble recruiting minorities for laborer positions and women for clerical," commented Miss Wynalda. "What we would like to see is more women police officers and men in clerical positions."

Quigley has one method of attracting more applicants from the groups the city wants to see in its workforce.

"We advertise in minority and women's magazines locally.

To that end the city has broadened its advertising of openings to include such publications.

"We've got to try and reach the people we're interested in and that is one way of doing it," Quigley said of the advertising effort.

Another idea the city is looking at calls for promoting women and minority workers from within the city's workforce. However, Quigley pointed out, the city cannot make promotions simply based on race or sex.

"It takes some time to train a person to the point that they can take on a supervisory position," commented Quigley.

The city recently began a training program designed to help city employees get their General Educational Development (GED) certification and improve their management skills.

"Obviously any part of management relies on good verbal and written communication," noted Quigley.

THE SHERIFF DEPARTMENT'S MANUAL

'No-No's' For Police, Deputies

By DENNIS FEOLA
 Herald Staff Writer

Everybody has to live by a set of rules. In the home, in school, on the job or military. Even policemen and sheriff's deputies.

And a glance at the general orders manuals for the Sanford Police Department or the Seminole County Sheriff's Department, will convince anyone the rules are many and, in some cases, interesting.

For example: A Sanford policeman can be fired for failing to report he has contracted a social disease.

Or for refusing to give name, badge or identification number, or to display ID card in a courteous, gentlemanly manner when requested.

A sheriff's department deputy can be fired for accusations of abnormal sex behavior.

These are just two of the facts gleaned from the general orders manual for the respective departments. Virtually all police agencies have a general orders manual.

The manuals, which are generally confidential and for agency personnel only, contain the rules and regulations for each department.

In Sanford, the four-year-old police manual was described as "outdated" and is being re-written by Sgt. William Burmester. "The modern concept of law enforcement demand revision of the manual," Burmester said.

At the Seminole County Sheriff's Department, Sheriff John Pelt said there was no manual when he took office ten years ago. The first manual was written in 1969 and is

More Training The Goal

SCC: We Want To Keep Nurses Here

By LEONARD BRANDENBURG
 Herald Staff Writer

Because many nursing students who finish a one-year program at Seminole Community College (SCC) leave the area to get on-the-job training and eventual employment in other counties, SCC is attempting to establish extended training designed to keep the students closer to home.

Many students who graduate and want to further their education may have to go to educational institutions outside Seminole County and then transfer to the county where the students intend to work. When the students return to Seminole County, they usually end up finding permanent work at that hospital, and not coming back to Seminole County.

The new program would give the SCC graduate a chance to get that additional training in Seminole County.

The SCC Board of Trustees has given approval to submit the new program proposal to the state board of education for review.

There are still several hurdles to overcome before the program becomes a reality, said Suzanne Tinsley, director of the program. She said the program will be developed in partnership with the state board of education.

"This opens up new working on in building upon there are enough facilities in our hospital to handle our students as well as the ones from other nursing programs in colleges in the area," Miss Tinsley said.

The new program, which has a September 1980 target date, would be open to those Licensed Practical Nurses (LPN) who have been working for at least a year.

"What we are trying to do is provide general mobility for nurses," Miss Tinsley said, in noting the student would spend one year in the program before receiving an Associate Degree in Nursing (ADN), and before a registered nurse.

"What we have found in the past is that many of our students graduate from our program and go to the programs in other counties to get further training and employment," she said.

Additional funding has been found in Seminole County and the program has the support of local hospitals, she said.

"We have a lot of registered nurses in the area," said Kay Hester, nursing education coordinator at Seminole Memorial Hospital.

"We now really have to recruit registered nurses from outside the county and so it would make it easier to get nurses if there were such a program in the county," Miss Hester said.

She said that she did not currently have a shortage of nurses "but the more hospital there will be people there of the year when we are a little short, and the availability of these nurses could help that problem."

After the proposal is submitted to the state nursing board, it is then submitted to the state department of education for a final review.

After that department gives its recommendation, the proposal would then be recommended by the college trustees which would have the final say in its implementation, Miss Tinsley said.

The one-year program would accommodate a maximum of 24 students a year. Even though the program may be a year off, Miss Tinsley said students can now get some of the program requirements completed.

"Because it is a one-year program, there is a lot pushed into it, and someone interested in going into the program can now take some of the required courses such as psychology and English which are available," she said.

Additionally, the concept of working one year in the field before going back to school is not common in Florida, and so SCC will be providing the problem of duplicating other programs, Miss Tinsley said.

Currently, the LPN program at SCC has three full-time and three part-time teachers. If the new program is approved one full-time and one part-time teacher would be hired.
