

Cardinals Rally To Defeat Clermont 12-10 For 5th Win

Balkey Homers, Cardinals Tie For Third In CFL

By TOMMY KUHN
Aided by Fulton Haxley's first home run of the year, with nobody on base, the Sanford Cardinals won their fourth straight baseball in the Central Florida League when they defeated Clermont 12-10.

The win gave the Cardinals a 5-5 record and gained them a tie for third place with Longwood in the CFL. Clermont has a 0-6 record.

The game was close from start to finish. Sanford didn't take the lead until the top of the eighth inning. Clermont jumped to a 3-0 lead and after five innings of play had gone by, the score remained in the favor of the Highlanders, and this time it was 9-5 Sanford called in the top of the sixth and tied the game up 9-9. In the top of the eighth Sanford scored three more runs to lead by a 12-9 margin. Clermont rallied in the bottom of the eighth, but was only able to push across one run. Sanford ended with the score being 12-10.

Clermont Scores Heavily
Jimmy "Jack" Krider, former Seminole High School hurler, pitched for two complete innings and then was relieved by Charley Thomas. Krider allowed eight hits and gave up five runs in the two innings. Sanford rallied in the top of the third inning to make the score 5-0, and when they were retired in the top of the fourth they were behind by only one run. Clermont, however, increased its lead in the bottom of the fourth and fifth by scoring two runs each inning.

During the first five innings Clermont had 15 base hits and runs on eight hits in the five.

Sanford Ties Score
The Cardinals suddenly came to life in the top of the sixth and tied the game up at 9-9. The first Cardinal batter, Haxley, tied out. Then Randy Reynolds singled and went to first. He later rolled up on third on an error and sacrifice. With two out and one on Hill Crabtree singled and Reynolds scored. George Kena then singled and Crabtree went to third. Fulton Haxley slapped a double into deep right field and Crabtree and Kena each scored. Hubba Hisee then doubled and Haxley scored to tie the game at 9-9. The next batter struck out and the side was retired.

Cards Take Lead
In the top of the eighth inning, with the score still tied at 9-9, the Sanford Cardinals put on a double or die rally and scored three runs.

The first batter walked and then scored on Hill Crabtree's triple. Crabtree scored when George Kena grounded out to the second baseman. Haxley then hit his first home run of the year into the right field woods. In the bottom of the eighth Clermont made a last minute strike for the lead but failed and the game ended with Sanford winning 12-10.

CARD CAPERS: Hubba Hisee got rapped for a home run. Jimmy Motts played for the first time on the team. Charley Thomas hit a double. Crabtree hit his second triple of the year. Haxley hit his third double. The contest lasted 2 1/2 hours.

Nixon Replaces Bartley As Top Batter In Florida State League

The Florida State League has a new batting king this week to succeed Daytona's Don Bartley who was on top for four weeks. According to those news bureau figures, Russ Nixon, Jacksonville Beach catcher, lifted his average from .391 to a healthy .418, a rise of 24 points to move up from his runner-up position to take over the lead from Bartley who dipped to .412, a drop of some 24 points. Nixon has blasted 50 hits in 124 at bats to earn his top spot. Bartley continues to accumulate the hits, and this week leads all others with 73, while he also deadheaded his batting average, 54 Levy, in doubles at 13. Allen Meyer, Jacksonville Beach speed-merchant, rolled up 30 additional total bases this past week to substantially increase his total to where he now is in command of that department of slugging. Allen has amassed 96 all told. He also retains his 3-base hit lead with 9, a gain of 3 over last week, and continues to pilfer the bases, adding one more to move over him 13, tops for the league. Bob Kracker, Daytona lead, has tallied the most runs, 47. Levy is the big man in RBI's with 50 to his credit. Roy Chambers, Jacksonville Beach, takes over as home run leader, supplanting the recently released Pat Mullen of Cocoa. Chambers has the same number as Mullen lead, 7. John Blodgett, Daytona, rolls on in hit piling up of nine, adding 2 more to extend his lead to 11 with carry a defeat. He has pitched 10 complete games well, and leads in innings pitched and strikeout artist, has whiffed with an even 10. Donnelly, Lakeland, and catcher, 62. Don Bartley has failed to hit safely in but 5 of the 36 games he has participated in.

Cards Edge Seminoles 3-2 Errors Tell Tale

Sanford Cardinals scored three unearned runs on six errors to defeat the Seminole High School baseball team 3-2. The game was close from start to finish with each team getting only six hits.

The Cardinal pitchers struck out ten men. Lake fanned six and Kena struck out four. Lake allowed the only walk of the game. For the losers Krider fanned four, and Hawkins fanned two. It was the first time that the Seminoles had some nine innings.

The Cardinals drew first blood in the game in the bottom of the first inning when they scored one run. With two out Bill Crabtree singled and went to second with a stolen base. Then George Kena lifted a high fly to center fielder-loss Hamann. He dropped it and Crabtree came in to score the first run of the game.

The Seminoles evened things up in the top of the second. Bisee singled and went to second on an error by Pennington. He then stole second. The error caused the Sanford pitcher rapping and stole home to tie the game 1-1.

In the top of the fourth the Seminoles led the bats. Bisee doubled and then scored when Jack Krider singled. Larry Bates then singled and moved Krider to second. The rally was cut short as Gene Krider hit into a double play. Krider ended up on third. Randy Farrell then hit out to the pitcher.

In the bottom of the fourth the Cardinals took advantage of two hits and three errors to score two runs and take the lead again. Carlton singled to start the inning off. The next batter fouled out to be catcher. Then Fulton Haxley singled and Carlton moved to second. Bill Haxley hit a slow roller to Bisee. He picked the ball up and threw it to second hoping to get the force out. The throw was wild and Carlton came in to score and tied the game at 2-2.

John Kening hit a second ball to Jimmy Butler, Seminoles short stop, who nicked it up and threw it home to put out Fulton Haxley. Haxley was heading for third and Johnny Jones overthrew the third baseman. Haxley came in to score and the last run and winning run of the game.

For the next five innings neither team was able to score. Buddy Lake replaced Kena on the mound, and Jim Hawkins replaced Krider. While Lake hurled he allowed no hits or runs. Hawkins allowed two hits and no runs.

Animal Ordinance is Put On First Reading

City Commission Passes Action, 3-2; Audience Participates In Discussion

The City commission last night after considerable debate, placed an ordinance on first reading, which narrows the distance between livestock and the nearest residence from 500 to 100 feet. The matter has been before the commission for several weeks.

Much comment concerning action which should be taken in the matter came from the audience. Frank Ashdown, who has served on City bodies for several years, said the matter was the "worst thing" he'd seen come before the commission in years, and that the 500-foot restriction meant there was no place in the city for livestock.

Lengthy discussion followed as to whether or not the ordinance was feasible. The commission went off on a tangent when the question arose whether or not either of the ordinances were enforceable. The commission thought so, but Com. John Kramer asked, "Who's going to enforce it?" and asked Chief of Police Roy Williams if he had enforced the old ordinance during the past 15 years.

The chief replied, "We haven't had much trouble with it, unless we received complaints."

At this point Com. John Kramer asked the chief if he had a complaint before it can enforce the ordinance. The chief replied that he "preferred it" to keep the ordinance on the books, but he would not enforce it unless he had a complaint.

Com. Kramer stated that he thought the 500-foot restriction unfair and unreasonable. Com. Williams responded, "There should be a happy medium somewhere. Let's get the ordinance out of this. It's not a case of whether you are for or against the mayor. It's a case of whether or not you want livestock in the city or not."

Here, it was stated from the audience that 100 feet would not bother neighbors. Mrs. Fred Russell commented that the "whole issue has been brought about by some woman who has a grudge against a city official. Com. J. Denver Cordell replied, "I don't believe personal matters should be brought before the commission."

Mrs. Russell stood and commented that "if people don't want to live in the city, they can move out. (Continued On Page Eight)

Speech Presents His Views Recommends Truth Crusade

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower last night placed emphasis on American how-to-fight communism. He called for "more knowledge and intellect and less prejudice and passion."

A "crusade of truth" is needed both at home and abroad, he told a dinner highlighting the 50th anniversary of the founding of Columbia University.

Though Eisenhower said under-standable, he said he was not a "truth crusader" in the sense of the anti-communists.

"I am not a crusader," he said, "but I am a crusader of truth." He said that the "truth" is needed both at home and abroad, he told a dinner highlighting the 50th anniversary of the founding of Columbia University.

Official Returns Show Collins Won Nomination By 66,127

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—State Sen. LeRoy Collins won the Florida Democratic gubernatorial nomination over Acting Gov. Charles Johns by 66,127 votes, complete official returns showed today.

The official returns from the 67 counties, tabulated in the office of Secretary of State R. A. Gray and ready for formal certification by the state canvassing board, gave Collins 380,323 votes to 314,196 for Johns.

The total vote of 694,523 was 24,163 more than in the first primary Mar. 4.

Official returns, with absentee ballots added, differed little from those gathered unofficially and tabulated by the Associated Press election night.

Johns carried 41 counties in only 23 for Collins, but Collins took the more populous ones.

Collins' majorities of 57,145 in Duval County and 11,154 in Hillsborough were more than his margin of victory. Combinations of his heavy majorities in several other counties—Pinellas and Polk with Duval or Palm Beach and Broward with Duval for example—would show the same result.

Collins took every county which was split in the primary except Orange, Oklawaha, Glades and Monroe. Johns carried every county wholly north of Orlando except Volusia, Seminole, Jefferson and Collins' home county of Leon.

The two counties straddling the middle line went to Johns by small margins—Orange by 1,077 votes out of 22,021 cast, and Broward by 81 out of 6,913 cast.

Analysis of the figures indicated successful campaigns in Collins' stronghold to get out a high second primary vote played a part in his success.

Of the 28,000 extra votes cast in the runoff, 25,000 were in Duval, Hillsborough and Pinellas counties, which were overwhelmingly for Collins. In the three big Johns counties—Duval, Orange and Escambia—there was a net gain of only 1,752 votes.

Collins won all three of the counties where Bradley Odham led in the first primary and picked up big blocks of Odham votes throughout the state. Odham supported him actively in the runoff.

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP)—Tornadoes cut a swath across northeast Nebraska last night killed four children and injuring at least 18 other persons.
 The Weather Bureau said there were two confirmed tornado reports and three unconfirmed reports in a 30-mile path. Damage to telephone lines made checks in the area difficult.

children and the parents injured. Hospital attendants said when the injured revived sufficiently to talk they said there were only four children in the family.

The dead: Nell Klawons, 8; Cindy Carberry, 4; George Kohl, about 6; Robert Kohl, about 8.
 All deaths and injuries were in an area about two miles wide and four miles long some 10 miles southeast of Norfolk. At least seven farms were known to have been hit. The area is about 130 miles northwest of Omaha.

The list of dead was revised downward this morning when hospital attendants accounted for all members of the Ben Kohl family. Earlier it had been reported four Kohl children were killed and two

CHAPTER THIRTEEN
 JOAN was in a dream. It was a dream that she wanted to fix in her memory. The church had been a beautiful in a single flashing moment she had seen it. The walls a pale dusty pink, the windows panes a deeper rose, with here and there a square of aqua or deep purple. All the woodwork alabaster white save the mahogany pews and the pulpit. And that long scarlet hanging, gold embroidered, suspended above the altar. Diane had been so right to keep the flower decorations white. She had banked potted white rhododendrons at the base of the pulpit. In the windows, one the deep sills, she had put white roses and up on the altar there had been more white roses against the scarlet hanging, with tall white candles in tall brass holders on either side.

And a million thanks for all the help you've given me. Today and yesterday and the day before. She gave Betty a quick little squeeze. "I don't see Diane—and I won't, I guess, because we'll dash for it—do please tell her for me how perfectly beautiful I think she made the church and the table out on the grass, will you?"
 "Yes, I will."
 "And be sure and save me a piece of my own wedding cake. I didn't have a crumb."
 "You were too excited. And too busy."

"Mother!" Joan called suddenly. "Yes, darling?"
 "Good-by, Mother! Thank you for everything! All the years—"
 As she had been in the entry of the church before the ceremony, so now Joan was suddenly overcome by an unexpected rush of emotion. What had she been trying to do, anyway? Make a speech? Crazy! None was needed. Her mother knew. She always knew. Blowing a kiss across the space between them, bearing Todd's "Steady, Jo-Jo," she grew calm; and, lifting her arm, she flung her bride's nosegay out over the heads of those below her. It flung it without plan, not caring where it went. Diane caught it. With a cry she jumped high into the air captured it and came back on her feet with her small face all a-spit.

Men Trade Battle Recollections

TOKYO, U.S.—The two men had finished dinner and begun to talk slowly because each word needed translating.

They were trading recollections of battles in the air over the Pacific, battles in which they had tried to destroy one another.

The lean man with six rows of ribbons on the breast of his navy blue-grey U.S. Air Force uniform, Col. Frank Kurtz, pilot of the battle-tested B17 called "The Savoie," which fought bravely in the early Pacific war and now awaits a final honored place in the Smithsonian's National Air Museum in Washington.

In a blue serge suit, looking younger than his 36 years, is Saburo Sakai, Japan's greatest living war ace, who shot down 44 Allied planes.

The warriors were discussing the end of Colin Kelly, America's first hero of the war who was killed after his B17 attacked Japanese warships off the Philippines.

"Japanese pilots were sent up to engage B17s which had bombed Japanese shipping off Luzon," said Sakai. "I don't remember exactly, but I think we opened fire on them at about 8,000 meters."

"That would be about right," Kurtz replied. "Tell him our B17s normally bombed above 20,000 feet."

Sakai recalled that one of the B17s was losing altitude and "dipping first one wing and then the other as if the pilot had been hit."

There were 10 Zeros in the attack. The B17 gunners were firing back furiously. Every Zero but mine got a hit. We kept pressing the attack until I saw a white film stream out of the bomber's fuselage. I thought he was jettisoning gas.

"That wasn't gas," Kurtz said. "It must have been smoke."

"Yes," nodded politely, then went on.

"I always thought it was gasoline. I stayed on the B17 until it went down to about 3,000 feet. Then I saw three parachutes open. I wondered why they were jumping because it looked as if the plane was going to make it home. I didn't know it was on fire. I watched it disappear into the clouds below. Then I broke off and headed for Formosa. I didn't see it crash, and so the Imperial Navy did not give me credit for shooting it down."

Kurtz said nothing for a moment.

"The day Colin was shot down, I was in the tower at Clark Field," he began. "I saw him coming in, and you're right on that point. Three open chutes came through the overcast. I thought that cloud deck was about 2,500 feet."

"Three chutes came through the overcast," Kurtz continued. "The five more opened beneath it. Anyway, that's how it looked to me from the angle I was watching. He paused. "The ninth didn't."

Capt. Kelly's body was found later and buried near where he fell. An erroneous report at the time said he dived his plane onto the deck of a Japanese battleship.

Col. Kurtz first told the story of Colin Kelly's death in the best-selling "Queers Die Proudly," published in 1942. He wrote then that Kelly's crew was the only one hanging out in the vicinity of Clark Field.

Sakai recently wrote a book on his war experiences. He took part in the first raid on Clark Field and led the attack on what apparently was Kelly's B17 group.

Comparison of the recollections of Kurtz and Sakai presents what seems to be reasonable evidence that Sakai is the man who shot the last burst of fire into Colin Kelly's plane.

"Why did you always attack B17s from the rear?" Kurtz inquired.

"At first that seemed to be the most vulnerable place. It became an order from the high command."

"We thought so. The first B17s didn't have a tail gun. But after about three months we got that old stinger in the tail. Your pilots never seemed to change their attack, though. At the beginning they always came in from the rear."

"Later we changed," Sakai replied. "We found out it was better to attack head on. Once over New Guinea I was in a formation of nine fighters. We attacked five B17s head on. They all dropped."

"What was the toughest plane you fought?"

"The P51 wasn't tough at first, but later on it became a very difficult plane to fight," Sakai said. "But I believe the B17 was the hardest plane to fight of all. It had so much firepower."

Kurtz asked Sakai what impressed him most about the American Air Force.

"Teamwork," Sakai replied immediately. "The Japanese pilots were brave and fought as individuals. But the American pilots always fought together as a team. That made them great."

Sakai said he was one of three survivors of 130 points in his original outfit on Formosa when the war started.

Sakai now owns a print shop in Tokyo. Asked if he thought he could fly again, he replied, "Flying is like swimming. You never forget."

"Have you considered joining up with this new Japan air defense force?"

Sakai shook his head. "I couldn't leave my business. By the way, where did you go after you left New Guinea?"

"Europe. That was a different war. We had the tools by then."

Sakai replied: "I knew when we went to war with the United States it was a lost cause. I expected to be killed."

Soviet Athletes Are Warned To Produce Winning Results

MOSCOW, U.S.—The Soviet Union's men track and field performers outclassed by athletes of the United States and other countries in the 1952 Olympic Games, are warned they have only two more years to learn to run faster than anybody else in the world, throw the javelin higher and jump higher and farther.

This call is sounded by Komsomol Pravda, newspaper of the Soviet Communist Youth League, which demands immediate reorganization of track and field athletes in the Soviet Union to win glory for the motherland.

Komsomol Pravda, in an article titled "To Overcome our Lagging Behind," gives track and field athletes one of the worst scoldings ever given any sport in the Soviet Union. Even the women catch it in some extent, although they did fine in the last Olympics.

Komsomol Pravda criticizes all branches of the sport:

1. The sprinters for running with anchors in their pants and failing to come anywhere near world record class.
2. The jumpers for doing even worse.
3. The coaches and trainers for not knowing their business or not attending to it.
4. Sports clubs and collectives for not encouraging track and field.
5. Industry for not providing enough sports equipment, and not sound quality equipment either.
6. The stadia for not having sufficient facilities for the sport.
7. The umpires and officials for not knowing how to stage a track meet.
8. The sports administrators for not encouraging athletic competition or enticing spectator interest.

This critical article calls upon the athletes to be on their toes in "this season which will be rich in great and responsible competition."

It remarks Soviet athletes will compete for the European championships and also participate in the international student games and in various dual international matches.

S. Presbyterians Vote To Combine With Two Churches

MONTREAL, N.C.—The 8th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the United States (Southern) yesterday voted to join with the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the United Presbyterian Church.

Assemblies of the two Northern branches had voted for union last week.

The move for union of 3½ million Presbyterians was started by the Southern Presbyterians and represented 18 years of planning. Plan after plan had been submitted and rejected.

This General Assembly might well become the most outstanding in Presbyterian history. Only last Saturday it landed a blow at Jim Crowism and asked its churches to let down racial bars.

It thus became the first major denomination to endorse with action the recent decision of the U.S. Supreme Court on segregation. Before other action becomes effective, it must have approval at the presbytery level.

The desegregation matter is left up to individual churches and the union plan needs the approval of three-fourths of the 84 presbyteries in the 16-state section. In the other two branches it requires two-thirds approval.

Commissioners favoring union gave much credit to Dr. James A. Jones, pastor of Charlotte's Myers Park Church, for a favorable vote on the minority report from the Committee on Interchurch Relations.

The committee had split 16-22 on its recommendation.

Dr. Jones told the assembly that "if Jesus Christ meant business when he taught his disciples to love, 'This kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven,' he sure of our decision today."

Later, on a proposal for a secret ballot, Dr. Jones said, "There is no secret ballot from God. It now is the time to stand up and be counted."

Dr. John R. Richardson, pastor of Atlanta's Westminster Church, headed forces against unification. He said such a step would cause the individual churches to "lose their present reality."

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—A board of Air Force officers met today to investigate the death of Maj. Mark R. Belcher Jr., 34, whose body was found in a parked car near his home yesterday.

Preliminary reports indicated he died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Belcher was an education and training staff officer in the 120th Air Transport Wing at the Palm Beach Air Force Base.

His wife and two children were living at the home.

Eager To Begin

June is the month when graduates come swarming out of our schools and colleges, eager to embark on their careers, just a bit cocky, a little impatient with their elders who try to detain them a moment with advice. It is good to note their eagerness, their undaunted desire to get started, even their cockiness, in the face of the world of turmoil and insecurity that awaits them.

These are difficult days for young people to emerge from the relative tranquility of our schools. There are also days of unlimited opportunity. The tasks that must be done are so great that they will call for tremendous courage, persistence and faith.

As Americans they will take their places in a country which has inherited, however reluctantly, the leadership of the free world. They will be entrusted with the preservation of their own liberties as well as the liberties of people in far off lands. They will have to make momentous decisions in the face of those liberties and although we pray God it will not be necessary, some of them may even have to die in the name of liberty.

That is why it is good to see their self-confidence as to the future, their determination to get on with their tasks. As they saunter out into the world with their diplomas in their hands, eager to roll up their sleeves and begin, their elders look on with pride and with a new kind of confidence that reflects their own.

Crumbling Colosseum

The Italian government is taking new steps to preserve the Colosseum, one of the oldest and most historically significant buildings in the world. Steel scaffolding has been erected along some portions of ancient walls and repair work will go on throughout the summer. The office of the Superintendent of Antiques and Fine Arts in Latium is studying ways to do the necessary restoration work.

It would be sad indeed if this old building were to be allowed to crumble. It was in the Colosseum, built in the years between 72 and 80 A. D., that gladiators saluted the

McCarthy Challenges Ike's Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — Who's in charge around here? Sen. McCarthy didn't ask the question. But he raised it by challenging President Eisenhower's authority to run the executive branch of the government as he thinks best.

McCarthy urged all federal employees—in spite of an Eisenhower order not to give out classified information—to turn over to him any information they might have on graft, corruption, communism or treason.

This didn't just happen suddenly. McCarthy has been leading up to this, although there's no sign he planned it step by step.

Last Sept. 9 he showed newsmen 10 pages of a 75-page "classified" Army intelligence pamphlet on Siberia. He described it as "clear-cut, all-out Communist propaganda."

This was a case of McCarthy deciding he knew better than the Army what should be kept secret and what revealed. There are laws against revealing secret information. The Army said he had violated them. Nothing happened.

During the Senate hearings on his fight with Army officials he produced a document on spying in the Army. It was a condensed version of a much longer one which FBI chief J. Edgar Hoover had sent to the Army, marked "confidential." Some unknown person had copied parts of the original and given them to McCarthy.

McCarthy proposed to make it public. Again, McCarthy was deciding what should be released to the public.

Army Gen. Brownell said it should not be released because national security was involved. McCarthy said: "No human . . . or any other directive which is designed not . . . for the security of the nation but to prevent embarrassment for those responsible for covering up Communism . . . will keep me from making available this type of information."

He said an Army officer had given him the document, but refused to reveal the man's name, although it would appear the man had violated the law by giving McCarthy the document. McCarthy assured all federal employees he'd have their names in confidence if they came forward.

Sen. McCarthy (D-Ark.) said he would not reveal the name of the man who gave McCarthy the document. He said he would not reveal the name of the man who gave McCarthy the document.

Cassars with the very. "We who are about to die, salute you." It was here that the early Christians went singing and praying to their martyrdom.

It is to be hoped that the job of restoration will be carried out successfully. It is entirely proper that the best methods of modern age should be employed to preserve a great landmark of the past.

Where The South Stands

A striking fact about the Supreme Court decision outlawing racial segregation in schools is that the unanimous decision received the concurrence of two Southern Justices. Hugo L. Black of Alabama and Tom Clark of Texas voted to ban segregation. So did Stanley Reed of Kentucky, where in the past segregation has been a policy commanding much support. It might be added that a few years ago a lower court decision, which opened the way to Negroes voting freely in South Carolina, was rendered by another Southerner, Judge J. Waties Waring of the federal court in that state.

This would indicate that while many Southerners dislike the new decision, others have been numbered. The chances are that the first flurry, the white South will adjust itself with grace. The black South has been advancing in these last few years to a point where it will make its useful adjustments with less difficulty than in years gone by.

Live Long And Like It

Reaching the age of retirement from business need not be a time of dread. A new movement for making the lives of the elderly more worth while has been undertaken by some public libraries. It creates a club with live programs, meeting weekly or fortnightly at the library. Sometimes films are shown, sometimes there is music, sometimes there are talks on interesting subjects. These bring interested listeners.

Other libraries could do this, too, with volunteer help. They should, however, bear in mind the importance of an attractive name for the group. "The Borrowed Time Club," one name that has been used, does not seem so happy. It suggests that the members' chief preoccupation is the short time remaining before death. "Live Long and Like It," "The Golden Age Club," "Live Embers" are more names that have been used and seem suitable.

This is worth while movement which should be encouraged.

Human Faults In Russia

Communism has done many things to the Russians, but it has not eliminated human frailty. The authorities are launching a campaign against drunkenness, gate-crashing and ticket-scalping at Moscow's football games. One method used is to print the names of offenders, and when possible, their photographs caught in the act.

This would hardly happen in this country. Newspapers are quite properly afraid of doing people injustice by printing wrong names. No one has yet been found with enough hardihood to sue the Russian government for misstatements.

Mother Makes Visit

NEW YORK (AP)—Two weeks ago my mother wrote me she wanted to make "a last visit" to Lorraine close to her heart who live far away. Although she came all alone to this country from Ireland as a slender girl of 16, Mama—as she herself says—is no longer "the same spring chicken." She is 66, quite stout, and though summer still rains her heart, she feels a twinge of late autumn in her legs.

I phoned the old family home in Kansas City and asked whether I could come to get her, she would fly back with me. Mama, who had never been up in an airplane, hesitated only a moment, then said cheerfully: "I'll go anywhere with you except on a department store escalator. Those things make me nervous."

"What is all this last-visit talk? You're like Sarah Bernhard," the French actress. Every year she announced a grand final farewell tour and she went on making them for 20 years.

"I don't know about her," said Mama. "But lately I've been going to the funerals of people younger than me. So I decided I'd make this trip while I still feel strong enough."

"I've got it all figured out. I'll spend a week with you and Frances in New York, and a week in Philadelphia talking with my four sisters about old times in County Mayo, when we were all young together. Then I'll be glad enough to go back home and—she laughed—"die when I get around to it."

Mama was cheered the next morning at the airport terminal by an old lady of 77 who said: "You're first flight? Why, I've been flying for 30 years. Nothing to it. The last worry vanished for Mama when she boarded the plane. I found all the windows were closed."

"I was afraid they'd be open," she confided. "I just got a new hairdo, and I didn't want it blown before I even got to New York."

The flight was smooth and pleasant, leading Mama to give cautious approval of the flight age. I was nervous myself. Nearly 10 months ago Frances and I adopted a baby girl, Tracy Ann. Mama was one of nine kids, dad one of 16. They had five offspring themselves, but the five have so far given Mama only two grandchildren. How would she react to the first adoption in an Irish family that had dwindled so quickly in only three generations?

Knowing my mother's love of children, it was unworthy of me even to harbor a doubt. I felt ashamed when Mama kissed Frances and then, without waiting to remove her coat, went over to the baby's play pen and said: "Oh, the darling. She looks like a picture. Let me hold her."

Tracy looked up solemnly for her first view of her grandmother. But she broke out in chuckles as Mama taught her a new patty cake lyric: "Patty cake, patty cake, till daddy comes home, but mommy has none."

"Daddy has money, but mommy has none." The two soon became inseparable. I found no desire to see the city sights.

Once I did ask her outright whether the fact Tracy was an adopted child troubled her in any way, and she immediately named three members of the family she had decided Tracy resembled.

"Mind?" she said. "You should have done it 10 years ago. But, of course, if you had, you wouldn't have Tracy. You're lucky the way things have worked out."

Nine Killed, Four Hurt In Crash

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—A Minnesota National Guard plane, bucking low visibility in a heavy fog, plummeted into a gravel pit near the Duluth Airport last night, carrying nine troops to their deaths and injuring four others, three critically.

"We heard the roar of the plane's engines so close and loud we thought it was coming down our chimney," said Mrs. Russell Westberg, who lives about a city block away.

"Then there were a couple of terrible crashes and everything was quiet." Lt. Col. Ralph M. Jerome, commander of the 17th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron, said the ship was returning from a practice flight in Indianapolis, where the 14 aboard had seen the annual Memorial Day speedway race.

Jerome said bodies of five men were taken from the scattered wreckage and that four more had died en route or shortly after reaching hospitals. All but one of the victims was attached to the squadron and lived in this area.

Some fast trains in England carry "slip" coaches which are dropped at stations where the trains do not stop to permit passengers to get off.

War Almost Past Mortal Memory

By CHARLES MERCER
VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP)—The War Between the States had almost passed from mortal memory on Memorial Day.

Here on the bluffs above the Mississippi, Union forces under Grant finally took Vicksburg on July 4, 1863 after one of the most tortuous campaigns of that war. Here, to the north of Vicksburg National Military Park, stretches a vast national cemetery containing the graves of 16,727 Union soldiers, 12,723 of them marked "unknown."

If the men in Blue and the men in Grey could rise here, and from the country cemeteries both North and South where the small flags flutter and the rains wash the dry wreaths, if they could return to such a battlefield as this and recapture the freshness of their youth in the other century . . . they would not say it is the grand style of the textbooks, threading through the maze of political economies. They would say it like their sons in Cuba and their grandsons in the Argonne and their great-grandsons at Iwo and Saipan.

Vicksburg, Bull Run, Antietam, Gettysburg, Chancellorsville, Chickamauga, Lookout Mountain, Stone's River, Nashville, the Peninsula, the Wilderness, American names American places. The valor displayed there, the fear experienced there cannot be distilled in words. It has become a part of the American dream, even though the original dreamers are dead. But if they should rise, might not they talk like this?

"I don't know just yet how I'm going to handle this," he said displaying a telegram from a West Coast amusement park operator anxious for information on "the largest sized merry-go-round" available.

In the face of stepped up demand and increased production, Parker is finding it difficult to tool up for the bigger horse.

No longer are the jeweled and gaily decorated steeds painstakingly carved from wood by skilled hands. Today's creatures of the "rearing heads, shaggy, straining legs and flaring tails" are created from an aluminum alloy in a modern foundry.

In the first quarter of this year, the C. W. Parker Amusement Co. turned out 16 merry-go-rounds. Last year the company's entire production was four.

Its working force, which totaled 10 men last year, has jumped to 25. Production is on an 80-hour week basis; last year it was 40.

The company currently produces a machine 30 feet in diameter and mounting 20 32-inch cast aluminum horses two abreast. It also makes a 37-foot machine with 37 horses three abreast.

The smaller machines sell for about $5,000.

Parker has in his possession a newspaper story which relates that an Abilene youth—Dwight Eisenhower—once was employed to help sandpaper wooden horses in the Parker factory.

Looking back, Parker says the automobile has helped bring about changes in the merry-go-round business.

Now, he says, the bulk of his orders come from operators of "kiddie lands," small neighborhood amusement centers.

"We moved out before dawn, and as the sun came up they deployed us along a snake fence just below a ridge."

But what was the strategy, what was the plan? "Lord, son, I wouldn't know. I was only a soldier."

What about the generals? Go read the books. They explain the generals as the generals could not explain them. . . . I'd like to remember generals as brief bright images in the dusty mirror of war . . .

Here before Vicksburg Grant galloped full tilt, the man a compact flowing part of his horse, and he was off the horse before it stopped, and he stood there, calm, unharmed, the smoke rising from the clear between his teeth.

Jackson rode on the Shenandoah beside the winding grey column, eyes burning in the shadow of his wide-brimmed hat, a leg crooked on the saddle pommel, thoughtfully sucking a lemon peel.

Lee rode out before Richmond, his hat brushing the flank of his carefully sleeping mare, nodding with deference and compassion to the men who soon would die.

Longstreet, Meade, Beauregard, McDowell, Sheridan, Stuart, Sherman, the list goes on. The list of the generals is long, their friends and critics numerous to this day. They're all dead, but the things they did—or did not—live after them.

"Pl. Sumter in Charleston harbor surrendered April 14, 1861. That's in the books. That was the beginning. The next day Abe Lincoln called for volunteers. So did Jeff Davis . . ."

A lot of men didn't want to go, did they? "You went with the boys from your own county then. You lived with them and fought with them and—if lucky—you came home with them."

"There was a hard trick to learn. You had a column marching ahead and you wanted to swing it into a line. It had to be in the line and joined up with another column coming from another place at a certain time. That's a trick to learn. It was the way we fought our war."

The Yankee congressmen rode out from Washington in their fine carriages to see the great victory at Bull Run. The drums beat and the files drilled "Yankee Doodle" and the ladies held up their fine parasols. Everybody marched and marched and got confused and finally ragged lines of Southern boys came on and kept coming, firing leisurely, as if they were shooting tired possums in Carolina. The congressmen ran all the way back to Washington and everybody knew it would be a long war.

Hurry up and walk. Sweat on the dusty roads. Shiver in the cold rain. The men and horses drank from the same stream here back of Vicksburg and a lot of the men turned sick. Full field equipment weighed 60 pounds—in the morning; by nightfall it weighed 150. They issued flour and fatback and let you cook your own. Diarrhea was the worst complaint. The set-back followed everywhere in their wagons, selling sweets and whiskey.

"Sometimes we roasted a pig. Do you remember the MISISSIPPI roasting over an applewood fire? There came a day—only one to some men, but many to others. Then you stayed and fired until you were shot. Or you moved ahead when the officers gave the word—out of the flimsy shelter of the trees, up a hill, doggedly determined to risk the bitter pain and chill mystery of death in some distant inland pasture."

"The first time, I remember the first time. We were in a maple grove. It was hot and bright. And then I heard hail. I wondered how it could be hailing on a sunny day. Then something spun me around and I didn't know anything else."

Was it hideous, as war always is? "I reckon it was bad. But I remember a night by the MISSISSIPPI when we were rested. We'd roasted a haunch of beef and somebody found a jug. We passed the jug and the fire leaped up and we sprung that old one. 'Whodunnit Comes Marching Home,' and 'Tenting Tonight,' and—and that one that went, 'Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory.'"

Helen Farina Weds D. L. Helms In All Souls Catholic Church

Miss Helen A. Farina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Colombo A. Farina of Longwood, recently became the bride of Delton E. Helms, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Helms, also of Longwood. The couple spoke the vows in All Souls Catholic Church in Sanford before the Rev. Richard Lyons in a setting of palms, lighted candles, and baskets of lilies, gardenias, and gladioli.

Mrs. F. E. Rounhill of Sanford presented the traditional wedding music at the organ.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of white Pean d'Ange lace and crystal-pleated tulle over satin featuring long-molded sleeves, heart-shaped neckline, and hands of tulle with applique lace medallions. The brilliant skirt of lace edged with crystal pleating was fashioned with a butterfly back terminating in a chapel sweep. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom, and her fingertip veil of tulle was attached to a tiara of tulle edged with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and baby breath centered with a white orchid and satin streamers tied with stephanotis.

Miss Nicholas Barabak of Lansdale, Pa. was her sister's maid of honor and wore a white length strapless gown of pastel green nylon net with a white lace bodice and peplum, lace mitts and matching stole. She wore a coronet of pastel green net studded with white pearls and carried a bouquet of spring flowers centered with roses.

Mrs. Henry Freeman of Longwood was bridesmaid and Miss Virginia Mason of Winter Park acted as bridesmaid. They wore gowns identical to that of the matron of honor and carried identical bouquets.

Miss Deanna Farina, niece of the bride, and Miss Susan French of Longwood, and Miss Vivienne Brown of Daytona Beach were junior bridesmaids and wore lustrous gowns like that of the matron of honor and carried miniature bouquets of spring flowers centered with rosebuds. Their centerpieces were of nylon net and on their hands were lace mitts.

Melanie Ann Shaw, niece of the bride, was flower girl in a floor-length dress of white organza and tulle, fashioned similar to the bride's gown. She wore a lace headpiece and carried a basket of spring flowers. Gary Brown of Daytona Beach was ring bearer.

Miss Helen's wedding, like her father's, was a happy one. Her bridesmaids were Charles Shaw, the bride's nephew, and Bobby French, Mrs. Farina's nephew. Her bridesmaids were Charles Shaw, the bride's nephew, and Bobby French, Mrs. Farina's nephew.

Mrs. Farina chose for her daughter's wedding a blue lace dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The mother of the bridegroom selected a white lace dress with navy accessories and a similar corsage.

Johnny Jones Wins Most Valuable Player Award

Seminole Catcher Wins Sanford Herald Trophy, Bisbee, Krider Given Consideration

JOHNNY JONES, Seminole High School catcher on the baseball team, was awarded the Most Valuable Player award today at SHS. Jones had been an outstanding player on the team both offensively and defensively.

It was the first time that a baseball trophy had been given at the school. The Sanford Herald awarded the trophy. It is a large stand with a baseball player swinging a bat on the top in gold.

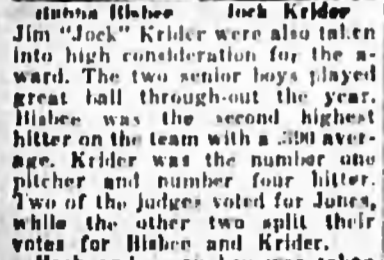

Jones received the award because of his superior playing ability. He called the right pitches, made a lot of put outs, picked many runners off bases, and did not allow many stolen bases. Besides this, he led the team in hitting. The 17-year-old junior has an even .400 for his first year with the team.

Throughout the year, Jones played good baseball and was considered the best catcher in the East Florida Conference and the main spark of the Seminoles. He aided them in many a tight spot. Jones missed only three of the 16 games this season.

Bisbee, Krider Considered
Jones was not the only one taken into consideration by the judges, who were a group of town people who supported the high school team. Bulbia Bisbee and

JOHNNY JONES
Outstanding Baseball Player

Jack Krider
Jim "Jack" Krider was also taken into high consideration for the award. The two senior boys played great ball throughout the year. Bisbee was the second highest hitter on the team with a .380 average. Krider was the number one pitcher and number four hitter. Two of the judges voted for Jones, while the other two split their votes for Bisbee and Krider.

Each and every boy was taken into consideration on the team. Although this does not count and nothing is given away, here is how other awards could have been made:

Best pitcher—Jimmy Krider
Best relief pitcher—Ed McCall
Best long ball hitter—Jim Hawkins
Fastest—Jim Butler

GREAT NECK, N. Y. (AP) — Clud, the man who made the sand wedge popular, is serving his 15th year as president of the Long Island Professional Golfers Assn. Clud, pro at the Fresh Meadows Country Club, also is a national vice-president of the PGA.

October Carl Kawabuchi of the Chicago White Sox previously was named on waivers last December.

Big Crowd Expected For Opener

DAYTONA BEACH—A tremendous crowd of between five and six thousand is expected for the opening of the Volusia County Kennel Club's 1954 racing season Friday night.

A 10-race card, featuring star greyhounds from most of the nation's top tracks, will get underway at 8:15 as the VGRC launches its seventh annual summer meet. The 90-day campaign will extend through Sept. 17.

Racing is held nightly except Sunday with charity matinees again slated each Wednesday afternoon at 2 p. m. The traditional Inaugural Handicap, on tap in the ninth race, will highlight the first performance of 1954.

Other probable entries include Willie Payne's Minto, Palm Beach champion with 22 wins in 29 starts last winter, and Tumbling Pat, leading greyhound of the Saratoga track with 15 wins in 23 tries including a Derby triumph May 27, are expected to head the Inaugural Field.

Other probable entries include Harry McKimney's Society Blue, a standout here last year; Crated Gentry, a top greyhound at Miami Beach last winter and winner of all three schooling starts last year; John Prescott's Fort Wine and Peggy Pat, start at both the Miami Beach and Orange Park tracks, and Surf Girl, another Fasig speedster, who holds a perfect schooling record of three for three.

Pre-season crowds for qualifying events ran over three thousand last year, far exceeding schooling turnouts in the past. This could mean that the VGRC is headed for its fourth straight record season, putting last year's amazing netted haul of over $8,000,000 within reach.

Lulu Perez Wins 10 Round Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Kilbane featherweight champ from 1912 to 1924 rates Lulu Perez, current contender, "a very good boy who still has a lot to learn."

Grey-haired Johnny, now 63, watched the flashy Brooklyn kid easily whip Cleveland's Mickey Mars last night on a unanimous decision after 10 fast rounds at St. Nicholas.

"Both Lulu and Mars had better learn how to move," said Kilbane. "They're both too easy to hit. The only way to beat Perez is by leading."

Perez goes to training camp Friday to get ready for his 12-round elimination bout with Percy Danzell June 25 at Madison Square Garden. The winner has been promised a title shot at champion Sandy Saddler in the fall.

At Perez had been out of action for three months, due to a glandular condition, since he stopped ex-champ Willie Peas in two rounds. Feb. 26, his handlers were more than satisfied.

Lulu breezed home as a 3-1 favorite should, 100 on the card of Eddie and John, who were out of action in the first, third, eighth and tenth.

You have a winning team and still no people come and see you play. That is the case of the Sanford Cardinals. The crowds they have been drawing to their ball games have been so small that the money amounted to nothing but peanuts. The Cards have been on the winning side ever since two weeks ago Wednesday. They have won their last four ball games in a row and are now tied with Longwood for third place in the Central Florida League.

All the home games that the Cards play will be played Wednesday night and will begin at 8:00 p. m. The Sanford team will take on the league leading Pinecastle Airmen at Memorial Stadium tomorrow night. The game should arouse much interest so why not come out and support the local team. Remember, it is the only baseball in town this summer.

LEGION GOSSIP

The local Sanford American Legion baseball group looks like they will again have a championship team. Red Hires, coach of the team, thinks that Sanford will make a repeat performance of what has happened in the last two years to the team, and that is to go to the state tournament.

The team is composed of local boys who are sophomores and juniors. Also Longwood has sent in a couple of players, one named Ralph Patton, in try to make the team. This is one of the best things that the Longwood boys could do. The boys love baseball and look like they might turn into good players this year.

TID HITS IN SPORTS: Mel Fletcher and Junior Metts have returned from Florida State University with an athletic letter. Metts made his letter in football, while Mel earned his in golf. . . . Jim "Jack" Krider plans to play for the Sanford Cardinals. . . . Randy Reynolds, Bulbia Bisbee, and Jim Krider are going to try and get into the Lake-Orange League. . . . Vukovich Wins 500-Mile Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Without taking any credit from a great driver in Bill Vukovich's second straight 500-mile auto race yesterday, the cold statistics show that his pit crew deserves a big chunk of cash when the purse is distributed tonight.

Jack McGrath, who holds the Indianapolis Motor Speedway qualifying record, set out to run off from the field like Vukovich did last year. He was scrambling down the track at an almost impossible 140 miles an hour early in the contest.

Vukovich won and McGrath finished in third place behind hard-driving Jimmy Bryan of Phoenix. Vukovich was 1:59.50 ahead of Bryan and 1:37 ahead of McGrath.

Vukovich had made two pit stops for fuel and tires and his crew got the full job done with a total loss of 1:42. Bryan had to make three stops and lost 2:06. McGrath stopped three times and lost 3:30, including once when his engine stalled.

Friend friends of the short, dark and untalkative Vukovich probably will contend, with considerable reason, that Vukovich hadn't held a full job over Bryan late in the race, he would have been pushing his fuel injector special even faster than his new record of 130.87 m.p.h. He certainly wasn't in the race when it was out that long before in 19th place.

McGrath, from South Pasadena, Calif., had a phenomenal average speed of 120.00 for the first 30 miles and Bryan was hardly a car length behind him at that point.

McGrath reported later he was forced to abandon the torrid pace because of a magnetron. He said he was faced with the choice of speeding time in the pit while the part was changed or giving up the all-out speed.

Vukovich got ahead of Bryan during one of the latter's pit stops and stayed in front till the end. Jimmy Daywalt, later involved in a spectacular accident, led 8 laps; McGrath, 53; Bryan, 65; Sam Hanky, Burbank, Calif., 11; and Art Cross, La Porte, Ind., runner-up to Vukovich last year, 2.

Cardinals Face Pinecastle Tomorrow Night In Stadium

MOON IN TUNE By Alan Mauer

Pinecastle will bring its superb baseball team into Memorial Stadium Wednesday night and battle the Sanford Cardinals. The Airmen are currently leading the Central Florida League with an 8-0 record. The Cardinals are tied with Longwood for third place with 5-3.

Pinecastle has played every league game except 8 in a row. They did defeat the Cardinals in practice games twice. Once by a 11-1 margin and then by a 9-0 score. The Cardinals are a much improved ball club and the Airmen will be in for quite a surprise. The game will start at 8:00 p. m.

A huge crowd is expected to turn out for the game. It should be one of the best games played in the CFL this year. In this game the public will form their opinion about the Cardinals.

Sanford won its last four straight ball games and are now on top of the league. If Sanford could win a couple of games, they would be right behind them and it will be in a second place.

Black Bass Fishing Contest Scheduled

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Want to get away from it all? Then pack your fishing gear, grab Mom and the kids and head for Orlando, Fla., center of the world's best black bass fishing and home of the Third Annual $5,000 Black Bass Fishing Contest which will be sponsored by the Orlando Chamber of Commerce through August 31.

Leading a list of valuable prizes to be awarded anglers during the ninety-day event, is a beautiful lake front home in Orlando's lovely Pine Hill. The suburban lot will be given to the fisherman catching the "lucky black bass" as determined by the contest rules. Other prizes to be given away monthly include 14' 2" aluminum fishing boat, boat trailer, Evinrude Fleetwin Aquasonic 7.5 H. P. outboard motor, as well as approximately $2,000 in additional sporting goods.

Last year 2,770 were entered by fishermen from 42 states and Canada, making it the largest fresh water black bass fishing contest in the United States.

Fishing contests officials have ruled that any black bass weighing two pounds or over, that has been caught in Florida waters by hook and line may be entered in the contest. Fishermen must have their entries weighed and recorded at any one of 17 official Orlando Chamber of Commerce weighing stations located throughout Central Florida. The contest is open to everyone living or visiting in Florida and no entry fee is charged.

Low summer rates will be in effect and a check on accommodations and fishing camps reveals that additional units have been added to take care of the expected influx of the summer vacationers.

For further information regarding this contest anglers are requested to contact H. Stuart Johnson, Manager of the Greater Orlando Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 1918, Orlando, Florida.

Eisenhower

"then indeed we are approaching the end of freedom's road."

He also warned against confusion with disloyal subversion, saying that "we are descended in blood and spirit from revolutionaries and rebels—men and women who dared to dissent from accepted doctrine."

Turning to global matters, the President said America is committed to two far-reaching policies: "First and foremost, we are dedicated to the building of a cooperative peace, based upon trust, justice and fairness."

"Second, to insure this effectively, we seek the strengthening of America—and her friends—in love of liberty, in knowledge and comprehension, in a dependable prosperity widely shared, and in a military posture adequate for security."

In such policies, he said, "there is no iota of aggression, no intent to exploit others or deny them their rightful place and space in the world."

He said his administration knows that "every negotiation with the Communists would be fraught with traps and pitfalls." But he said, "Positive, determined day-to-day toil will pay real dividends among free nations."

WHY MERCURY'S NEW V-8 ENGINE IS THE FINEST IN ITS FIELD!

MORE RESPONSIVE (unique, new 4-barrel carburetor) — Only 2 barrels are used for normal driving. But the 2 extra barrels cut in instantly, automatically when reserve power is needed. They are vacuum-controlled for smoother response and greater economy.

MORE EFFICIENT (special high-turbulence combustion chambers) — Wedge-shaped chambers, the result of 5 years' research, swirl the fuel-air mixture past the spark plugs in a miniature cyclone for fast, complete combustion—for more power from less gas. This is the most powerful yet the thriftiest Mercury ever—with 629 hp for every inch of its 256 cu. in. displacement . . . the highest ratio in Mercury's history.

UNMATCHED FOR SHEEN (new deep-skirt block) — Mercury's new block extends almost 3 inches below the crankshaft's center line—gives far greater crankshaft support. New short-stroke (3.1") pistons cut engine wear, give 29% more mileage for same amount of piston travel.

QUIETER OPERATING (precision balanced) — All major parts are balanced separately, then each engine is individually balanced in operation after assembly — a manufacturing process reserved until now for only the most expensive engines.

THE SAME HIGH HORSEPOWER IN EVERY MODEL — Unlike some cars with optional, extra-cost "top-of-the-line" engines, Mercury's new 161-hp overhead valve V-8 is standard on every model.

COME IN AND SEE FOR YOURSELF — You don't have to be mechanically minded to understand the benefits of these new engine features. You can feel them on a trial drive. We invite you to stop in at our showroom today and let this great new Mercury V-161 engine speak for itself.
