

Jimmy Johnson Talks Of Ring Champs While Giving Plugs On His Own Boys

By FEED BROWNING
 NEW YORK, July 21—(AP)—"You probably think I don't want to talk about anybody but my boys, Simon and Pastor. I'll fool ya." Jimmy Johnson, the boxing manager, as usual was out a half mile ahead of the nearest conventionalist. He likes to get the jump on a guy—like that sign on the door: "Thirtieth Century, Inc. Mike Jacobs' door, says Twentieth Century Club." Jimmy's 10 centuries ahead.

Nobody had mentioned a possible subject for discussion but Jimmy was already rounding the first turn.

"Let's talk about former heavy-weight champions."

Someone in the group lounging about his office tried to say "okay" and was choked off at once.

"Yeah, I've seen 'em all since Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Jeffries, Johnson—on down the line. But you couldn't find one in the bunch could take a punch better than that big Abe Simon or Mike Jacobs in ring craft. I've seen 'em all since Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Jeffries, Johnson—on down the line.  saw Jim lick Corbett. Fought him for 23 rounds without ever hitting him. Twenty-third round started the same way, Jeffries starting out with those left hooks—about 20 a round he'd throw—and bang, one to the belly connected, he followed it with one to the chin and the fight was over.

"That Jeffries, now. My boy Abe Simon six-foot-five weighs 200 gonna fight Buddy Baer Aug. 21 in the Garden is a lot like Jeffries. Pastor, I'd say, is more like Tunney. Baer? Oh, he's the Willard type."

"Now after Jeffries I'd list Fitzsimmons, a freak of a middle-weight—only weighed 158-60 pounds—who won almost all his fights after he'd kissed the canvas twice. Sullivan I'd put next."

"Braddock was a game battler. Baer, Schumacher, Schwartzer and the rest you can put in a bag, shake 'em up, and your choice."

"Oh, yeah, almost forgot. About that Baer-Simon fight. That's gonna be the damndest thing ever seen in a ring. Quarter of a ton of fightin' men in that ring at one time. My boy Baer, Baer about 240."

"And they've both been going great. Both put up great battles against Louis. Abe's a mortal cinch to knock him out if he gets another crack at him. Oh, he'll finish Baer within 10 rounds. He had a bum right hand against Louis, know that? Clipped bone on the thumb joint. All ready to go now, though. Gotta great left jab."

"Gotta go, huh? Well, drop in again some time when you feel like talkin'. Wanna tell ya about Abe Simon. He's fightin' Buddy Baer Aug. 21 in the Garden. They fought back in 1927. Buddy won on a TKO in the third but Abe shoulda had him."

that the Dodge dealers collectively have held West homers in the 4 Boston-Brooklyn games played in Ebbets Field so far this year. In '29 Max hit 5 homers in Brooklyn, more than he hit in his home yard, or in any other orchard in the League. Only two Brooklyn players—Camilli and Lavagetto—topped Max as a producer of boundary lines against the Brooklyn skyline.

If Max makes it at Forbes Field next week, he'll get his 7th objective until Aug. 1.

clance for the whole works at the Brooklyn barriers Aug. 5. Thus it is possible for West to beat the earliest previous date of all-around homer completion—Aug. 12, when Johnny Mize and Frank McCormick both chalked up their 8th city in the 1940 race. Littlefield needs St. Louis and New York and can get them both by Aug. 5, the Phillies launching a series at the Polo Grounds the same day Boston invades Brooklyn. Dangerous Dandy can't make his 7th objective until Aug. 1, however, 3 days later than the Big 5's next swing at the Philadelphia parapets.

Daligra's next shot at his two blank spots in Cincinnati and Brooklyn, come on Aug. 15 and 21 respectively. DiMaggio's objectives, the Polo Grounds and Shibe Park, Philadelphia, will be exposed to his fire in series starting Aug. 21 and 27.

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Special)—Success secrets in baseball are fascinating when you can get to the inside story. Mel Ott, number 1 hero of New York Giant's fandom, had a problem as a rookie back there in '26 and '27. He couldn't master the knack of reaching a base full speed without overrunning. Time and again he'd either go past the bag and have to scramble to get back, or else he'd slow up two or three steps too soon before reaching the base.

"Out" instead of "Safe" was Mel's lot on a lot of close ones. With Manager McGraw racking his brains to find a solution, Mel solved it himself.

Namely, he took up home run hitting, so he wouldn't have to stop at any base all the way around. This method of coping with the situation made the schoolboy of 1927 the grown-up National League all-time record-holder for home runs. Nowadays every time he hits one, the interrupting Louisiana sets a new lifetime record for National League sluggers of the future to shoot at.

Maybe, if he'd been more expert at holding the bases in his youth, his name wouldn't be in the all-time book of baseball records today.

West Holds Edge On National Power Hitters

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—(Special)—Max West, tall young Californian who passes the Boston Braves in run-driving, holds the edge on all rival power-drivers throughout the National League in the race for the 1941 All-Around Homer-Hitting championship. Five long-rangers—Bill Nicholson, Vince DiMaggio, Babe Dahlgren and Danny Littwiler, in addition to Max—have hit homers in 5 cities. Max gets the first chance to forge out in front.

Bucky Walters Can Hold Hitters In Middle Of Game

NEW YORK, July 21.—(Special)—The middle of the ball game is when Bucky Walters is most mysterious. Tom aways, president of the Baseball Writers, analyzed the Cincinnati ace's mound performance for the first half of this year, developing that the Red's ace held the collective opposition to no runs in 184 out of 188 innings pitched.

In his first 25 games of the season, only one run was registered against Walters in the fourth inning of any game. Oddly enough, the day this happened, May 1, it was the only run Brooklyn scored off Bucky in 11 tight innings. Buck himself drove home the winning run for the world champion in the second overtime round.

The 34 is also a tough lining to make anything on Bucky. Only two runs were scored on him in the fifth this year. Nearly one-third of the 67 runs tagged against his mound were first-inning eruptions. It is noted, however, that the strength yielded eight runs in 184 innings.

Gasoline Men Here To Co-operate In New Closing Time

Dealers Declare It Is Up To Public To Do Its Share In Conserving Gas

Rationing Seen As Possibility Saving To Be Effectively Held In Doubt By Some Officials

Gasoline dealers in Sanford, requested by Petroleum Coordinator Harold Ickes to close their stations from 7:00 P. M. to 7:00 A. M. each day, expressed themselves today as willing to co-operate 100 percent though many said they did not believe much gasoline would be saved.

Wholesale distributors, who serve most of Central Florida from Sanford terminals, said their industry will continue to work with the government to conserve gasoline, but added that it is largely up to the public to do most of the saving.

An official of the Standard Oil Company said he anticipated rationing later, and that Ickes' request would test the reaction of the public to measures of this kind. His company, he said, had been making weekly reports to Mr. Ickes on gasoline consumption, and he put into effect when consumption figures could be obtained.

This same official said that the real pinch of the nightly closing would not be felt until winter, when Florida is filled with tourists.

Oil Company, a spokesman said it remains to be seen if the order will save gasoline. Most wholesale deliveries, except during emergencies, are made in the daytime, he said, and the closing measure will affect the terminal points. There is a State law against deliveries of gasoline after sundown, though this is not rigidly enforced.

What effect the closing order will have on trucks, many of which run during the night, was discussed by an official of the Sinclair Oil Company.

"Most trucks have auxiliary tanks and can carry from 60 to 150 gallons of gasoline," he said, "which will take them through the night." Rationing of gasoline, he added, may depend on the amount of gasoline saved by the closing measure but he pointed out that Florida was comparatively close to the oil fields and was not in much danger of a fuel shortage.

Service stations operators in general were found willing to co-operate with the closing request, though they must await orders from their companies before taking any action.

One operator, who usually closes his station open all night, said he was willing to lock his gasoline pumps at 7:00 o'clock, but that he might remain open until 9:00 P. M. to repair tires, service cars and repair his accounts.

Another service station manager said "it was a good thing" and that the stations would benefit because their light bills would be reduced. "I'll have time to make the early show now," he added.

A. P. Confirms $215,000 Fund For Airport

Higgins Says Other Sums For Improvements Will Follow

Confirming an unofficial advance announcement made in The Sanford Herald last Saturday by City officials, the Associated Press reported from Washington today that the new Sanford municipal airport had been allotted $215,000 by the Civil Aeronautics Administration for improvements.

The Associated Press bulletin said: "The list of construction or improvement projects on 284 airports officially designated as necessary to national defense was announced today by Brig. Gen. Donald H. Connolly, administrator of civil aeronautics. It included: Sanford, Class 3 (runways from 3,500 to 4,500 feet) $215,000.

In addition, Congressman Joe Hendricks at Washington wired The Herald as follows: "Sure you will be glad to know the Civil Aeronautics Administration has allotted $215,000 for the Sanford airport."

The sum appropriated by the CAA does not represent all the money to be spent on the airfield, according to Edward H. Chamberlain, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce who has been pushing development of the airport. He said other funds will probably be allotted by the government later.

In addition to the City is the development of the airport to a Class 3 field is the engineering. WPA will furnish the labor.

The two runways, which will be 150 feet wide and from 3,500 to 4,500 feet long, will make it possible for large planes to land and take off at the airport, Mr. Higgins explained.

The government will build taxi strips, light the field when it is developed, grade, drain, clear and plant grass on the property. In addition to erecting a fence and necessary roads inside the enclosure.

Work on the new project is expected to get under way in several weeks.

All work on the 288 airports shortly after the first of the year, according to Brig. Gen. Connolly. Lieut. Lucius D. Clay assistant to Brig. Gen. Connolly, said in a letter to the Associated Press said. The total expenditure involved will be $80, 810, 110.

Townsend Campaign For August Discussed By Club

"Townsend congressional strength has reached its highest peak in history and a nation-wide campaign has been launched to win the battle during the month of August," according to a report circulated to the Townsend House today.

The report, which was prepared by the Sanford Townsend Club last night, said: "W. J. Townsend, candidate of the Townsend Club, has been elected to the United States House of Representatives in the past few years and his influence in important legislation. There is Senator Robert La Follette of Wisconsin, Senator Tom Connors of Texas, Senator Thomas F. Green of Rhode Island, Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, Senator John H. Cattlemen To Make Plea For Proper Flood Drainage Through Ellis Canal Cattlemen of this county are asked to attend a joint meeting of other counties to make an organized effort to get some immediate relief from flood conditions through a meeting to be held at the Kissimmee Court House at 2:30 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, C. R. Dawson, county agent, said in a letter today.

The opening and widening of the Ellis Canal, to connect the St. Johns River with the Indian River at a point two miles south of the Cheney highway, is now being considered by the United States engineers, Mr. Dawson said. The cattle men are urged to attend the meeting and show their interest in the project.

Making a survey of Brevard, Indian River, Seminole and other nearby counties via automobile and airplane last week, Ralph Wright, local cattle man, said pastures were flooded so badly the owners would have to sell their cattle for a low price if left to die.

All through the upper St. Johns River valley the flood covered the pasture land, Mr. Wright revealed. About two-thirds of Indian River County and about half of Brevard county was under water at that time. He estimated about 100,000 acres of pasture land was covered by water.

Cattle men have no place to move their cattle as they had in the old days when there was plenty of free range, Mr. Wright explained. Now they must sell their cattle quickly at a low price or allow them to die.

The Ellis Canal would drain the land in that area and let the water run off into the Indian River, Mr. Wright explained. As it stands now the water will come down the St. Johns River and take Monroe is due to rise much higher than it is now.

Japanese Said To Have Asked Thailand Bases

London reported authoritative today that Japan has demanded military bases in Thailand and control of that country's rubber, rice and tin production in exchange for the province of Laos and the ancient city of Angkor, both in Tokyo-dominated French Indo-China.

London believed Thailand's only alternative to granting the bases would be forcible Japanese occupation of them.

Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, announced last night the United States had accepted official apologies of the Japanese government on the bombing of the U. S. S. Tutuila at Chungking, China, and that the incident was regarded as closed.

Welles made the announcement after consultation with President Roosevelt.

The official apologies of the Japanese government, together with an offer to pay indemnities for the bombing of the gunboat and to take measures to prevent such incidents in the future, were made yesterday by Admiral Nomura, Japanese ambassador.

In answer to queries concerning the embassy's visit, Welles said the ambassador had called on official inquiries and had expressed the regret of the Japanese government.

He added that the Japanese government viewed the incident as entirely accidental.

The Tokyo government, Welles said, had informed the United States of concrete and detailed measures which it has taken to prevent a recurrence of such incidents.

In addition, Welles said, Japan offers to pay indemnities in full for any damage as soon as the necessary investigations have been completed.

As the ambassador left the State Department, after conferring 10 minutes with Welles, he told newspapermen he was making every effort to improve relations between the United States and Japan.

"I'm doing my best," he said, "to iron out difficulties and maintain good relations between your country and my country."

Earlier, he had hurriedly expressed regrets but, until last night, the United States government had taken the position the incident was not closed.

Building Boom Is Under Way At Casselberry

A small building boom is reported in progress at Casselberry, center of Florida's asparagus industry, which is being built between Sanford and Orlando.

O. E. Weaver has opened a grocery in a new concrete building just completed by Hibbard Casselberry, and other shops are being put in the new building.

In addition, three more modern structures will be put up by Mr. Casselberry. These will house his drug store, soda fountain and barber and beauty shops.

Mr. Casselberry said that he will give the 1,500 people living within a 10-mile radius of Casselberry nearly all the services of a larger town.

The Casselberry development has extended the Winter Park-Maitland roadside beautification program eight of 10 miles along the Sanford-Orlando highway north. The parkway on either side of the highway is kept with the care of a private lawn and all the streets and drives are marked with characteristic green and white sign posts. Three express trains stop daily at the Casselberry railroad station.

The program of the next institute reports on all phases of poultry raising as well as a report on the state of the poultry industry. Mrs. Andrews said she will have the use of a dining room, kitchen, shower baths, electric lights, and running water.

Extending Army Time Eighteen Months Studied

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Senator Hill (R-Ala.) said today that sponsors had agreed to provide a maximum of 18 1/2 years of service for citizen soldiers.

This 18-month extension, Hill said, would be in addition to the 12 months selective trainees, and reservists now are required to serve.

Opponents continued yesterday their fight against legislation extending the service periods of all Army personnel, but Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), an opposition leader, expressed doubt that Congress would have the courage to defeat the measure.

As the chamber tilted yesterday through its second day of debate, leaders conceded that passage of the legislation is unlikely, but they said they would continue to fight for it.

Wheeler, taking the floor for a desk-thumping speech which lasted about an hour, told his colleagues that General Marshall, the chief of staff, had urged upward several times his estimate of the number of men needed for defense.

"What do they want them for if they don't send them out as an expeditionary force?" the Montanan shouted. "If you break faith with millions of boys; if you break faith with their mothers and wives and sweethearts, I fear for the welfare of the United States of America. And that is far more important than other military men in the army should have their way."

Thrust Is Reported Nearly Exhausted; Communiqué From Nazis Lacks Detail

Hopkins Voices Faith In Reds

Leningrad's Fall Is Not Imminent, Say British Quarters

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Sumner Welles, acting Secretary of State, accused Germany today of barefaced impudence in urging Mexico to protest to the United States over the blacklisting of Latin American firms catalogued as pro-Axis. He added Mexico did not require any advice from Germany.

Adolf Hitler's invasion of London reports today as stalled along the whole 2,000-mile Soviet war front in the past 24 hours and near the point of exhaustion.

In Moscow, Harry L. Hopkins expressed "even more confidence that Hitler is going to lose."

The German Führer's headquarters came another communiqué of extreme brevity and barren of detail.

"Battles on the east front continue to develop in our favor," it said.

Authoritative quarters in London asserted today was "another timely indication" that the fall of Leningrad or a Soviet defeat on the vital Smolensk central front was imminent.

Hopkins, U. S. head-level administrator, was believed to have told Premier Joseph Stalin that American production of war materials would surpass any foreign country.

The Red command declared early today that the Germans again had been thrown back in the Smolensk sector before Moscow in new Soviet counter-attacks.

The Russian success in the battle for the great decision at the center—claimed in the face of such German assertions that the Soviet armies were being further encircled there, had been defeated in the south—and reported in an early morning Moscow communiqué.

As to the remainder of the front, the Soviet war bulletin completed a 100 percent detail of the Nazi version by insisting that fighting was proceeding in unbroken sectors.

Unofficially, the Germans declared that the drives from north and south on Leningrad, were proceeding as successfully, although against a stubborn and most tenacious sort, that the city might soon be put under actual siege.

Unofficially, the Russians insisted to the contrary that they were still holding against unyielding walls but that the defense was in fact turning into a war of attrition.

Florida And New England Troops Reach Louisiana For War Games

BENTLEY, La., Aug. 1.—(AP)—Motorized contingents of the Thirty-First and Forty-Third Divisions, numbering about 6,000 officers and men, camped 20 miles north of Alexandria, La., last night and were setting up headquarters in a wooded section they'll call home until late in September.

D detachments of the New England Division, numbering 3,000 men and 305 vehicles reached bivouac area at 4:20 o'clock, and units of the Dixie Division poured in from Waynesboro, Miss., where they had bivouacked the night.

The Dixie Division had pitched headquarters just east of the United States Highway No. 165 late yesterday, and Maj. Gen. John C. Parsons, division commander, indicated that the situation was satisfactory. The chief concern of the divisional and regional officers is preparation of the area which will be a base camp for the 35,000 troops of the two divisions for the next two months.

This was obviously a strenuous task. Troops of the 104th Engineer Regiment of the Southern Division, as well as those of the 118th Engineer Regiment from New England, have been here since July 18 and had about completed a lengthy series of roads over which huge transport trucks and heavy artillery weapons carriers will rumble when the maneuvers start.

Troops leaving on Saturday and Sunday, from both divisions, pulled in this afternoon, and the first echelon of train movements will arrive here sometime Friday. The first train of 20 which will bring in both division rail elements left Camp Blending this morning.

The Forty-Third and Thirty-First Divisions are both strong along a six-mile stretch of highway and oak studded woods off two principal federal highways, 165 and 107, and only a skeleton of what will eventually be the area now exists. Fourth Army Corps headquarters from Jacksonville was arriving through the afternoon and it was a corps umpire system was in phase of establishment yesterday.

SILVER KINGDOM

(From The Christian Science)

The tide departed, leaving in its trail
A silver pool in which a kingdom shone.
A fragile township, tremulous
and pale
Under the water when the sea
had gone.
And we, the driftwood gatherers, looked where
The sea had been to find beneath the bright
And burning stars of the summer air,
A smaller world half water and half light.

Below, upon the shingle, the tide stirred
The scattered shells; but in this little world
No ripple woke and not a sound occurred.
The townships slept forever
there imperaled
As if no laughing tide would ever rise
And take a silver fortress by surprise.

Baroness Chatterbox
Once in a while to portray a

John Ford has created an able offshoot of his own, thereby great-ening his appearances.
A little while ago he encountered
a character who he knew

the character was better than he was. My

War Aims!

When British and American statesmen get around to considering war aims, it might be well for them to decide in advance what they are going to do with Hitler after the war is over. Of course there will be some hot heads who, if they can get their hands on him, would shoot him before any of the peace societies, or the S.
P. C. A.'s could intervene or any of the office-seekers could make political capital out of him.

There was a great deal of agitation after the last war over what to do with the Kaiser even though he escaped to neutral Holland and technically at least there wasn't anything any of the Allied nations could do. And yet there were many persons who believed that Holland should be forced to surrender the Kaiser for trial by the Allied powers and at least one expedition headed by an enterprising Tennessean, made an effort to kidnap him.

There were just as many persons after the Battle of Waterloo who thought Napoleon should have been guil-lotined or at least shot for his crimes against the peace of Europe. And for some time many of them had a feeling of considerable insecurity as long as he lived on St. Helena.
His return from Elba and his quick raising of another mighty army was too fresh in their memories to be easily forgotten.

It has been suggested that after this present war is over and the leading Nazis have fled to neutral countries where they have already sequestered private bank accounts, that Hitler be seized and placed somewhere on a desert island with Madame Perkins. This seems a little too much like "cruel and inhuman punishment," however, to appeal very much to the sense of justice of the better class British or Americans.

The final disposition of such men as Hitler will present a delicate problem for whoever happens to be controlling the destinies of the world when the war is over, unless perhaps they are killed or take their own lives. There is bound to be a strong protest against their summary execution and yet no one in any of the European countries will feel safe as long as Hitler is alive.

What to do with Germany is going to present another nice problem. There are those who maintain the present war is due to the severity of the Versailles Treaty and the carving up of Germany after the last war. But nobody in his right mind would allow Germany to retain the territory of the Czechs, the Poles, or even the Austrians, and it is hard to see how these lands can be returned to their rightful owners without cutting deeply into Germany.

As for Italy, it might be a good idea to give that country to Switzerland and let her run it. The Swiss seem to be about the only people in Europe with any aptitude for making democracy work.

How's Your Diet?

If you have an elderly person in your home or anyone else who suffers from indigestion, you can materially improve their comfort and general health by giving a little more than usual attention to their diet. Such persons require almost as many vitamins and minerals as younger persons though they often try to get along on a piece of toast and a cup of tea.

According to Miss Edith M. Shapcott, nutrition consultant of the Visiting Nurse Association of Brooklyn, a great deal of benefit can be had from observing the following rules:

- 1. Serve smaller and more frequent meals (four to six meals instead of three.)
2. Chop or strain the meats and vegetables.
3. Provide a hot drink—hot water, broth, boudillox or even tea or coffee—before the meal.
4. See that there is plenty of water, as the elderly person often must be reminded to drink fluids.

With the simple meals, taken four to six times a day,
Miss Shapcott is quoted as recommending that a hot drink be provided, especially in the morning, to stimulate the gastric juices before any other food is eaten. A hot drink, such as either cocoa or tea, in mid-morning or mid-afternoon, is also advisable, then warm milk before going to bed. Sometimes it may be well to provide something for during the night. A vacuum bottle with milk or soup or even hot water can be at the bedside, accompanied, perhaps, with a cracker or two.

The chief problem of elderly people is chewing the food, for the teeth may be out, or they may have false plates," Miss Shapcott comments. "Often an older person refuses food—particularly vegetables—simply because he cannot chew it. Their food should be of a type easily chewed and digested. It should be based on milk as a good source of protein and other vital nutrients, and so prepared that it can be eaten easily.

Miss Shapcott adds that vegetables may be chopped up or even forced through a strainer to make them more easily chewed and digested. Fruits are important and should be taken every day in the form of fresh fruit, fruit juices or stewed fruits. Stewed fruits are, moreover, easily chewed and are a good food to stimulate the intestinal tract to help prevent constipation. Ripe bananas are a very good choice, and almost always well liked.

Defense Bond Quiz
A man in a suit is shown in the photograph, likely a participant in a defense bond quiz.

What is the procedure of redeeming a defense savings bond, if I need the money before the bond matures?
A. You may secure payment by signing the request for payment in the presence of an authorized officer, who must add his certification; you then forward the bond in accordance with the instructions printed on it. On all U. S. savings bonds appears a table of redemption values, showing the amount you are entitled to receive on demand at any time.
Q. Will I be able to get my money quickly?
A. Normally, a treasurer's check is mailed to registered owner shortly after receipt of bond with frequent for payment property directed, either by the treasury or a Federal Reserve Bank. Funds cannot be cashed at any office.
NOTE.—To buy defense savings bonds and stamps go to the nearest post office or bank, or write to the Treasurer of the United States.

Mullet Conservation Sought By Official

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 1
(AP)— The prediction that mullet may become almost extinct in Florida waters unless rigid conservation is provided was made Thursday by S. E. Rice, State conservation commissioner.
"In two more years without closed season restrictions during the spawning period we will be faced with almost an extinction
of mullet," Rice declared.
Because of what he described as the present emergency, Rice
inquired whether the State Board of Conservation could do-

clare a state-wide closed season on mullet fishing. Attorney General Watson said the board did not have the authority.

Price Of Georgia Peaches Falls Low

ATLANTA, Aug. 1—(AP)—Fruit growers were losing thousands of dollars yesterday because the bottom had fallen out of the Georgia peach market.

Losses of the state's biggest crop of peaches at the present orchards were being sustained and some cars could not be sold to the United States Agricultural Marketing Service.

The slump began last week when the price on two-inch peaches fell from 85 cents a bushel to 65 cents, and today fell to 55 cents a bushel.

Agricultural Commodities Commissioner L. C. Hester said the drop was caused by Georgia's peach bumper crop and the fact that the market was saturated with peaches.

Miami Studies Hiring Sholtz As Ambassador

MIAMI, Aug. 1—(AP)—The city commission took no action Thursday on a proposal to employ former governor Dave Sholtz as $25,000 a year as Miami's representative in Washington.

Commissioner Hosen had proposed the establishment of an office in Washington to publicize the city, induce private capital to locate industrial plants here, and to help in acquiring federal aid.

Eccles said Miami's lack of representation at Washington had cost the city at least $10,000,000, and that Jacksonville and Tampa, which maintained such offices, had obtained federal projects out of proportion to those given Miami.

F-M HORIZONTAL EJECTOR

Give you an extra volume of water at low pressure

● Here's a new type of pump which fills a definite need by supplying an extra volume of water at low pressure and also provides an ample supply at normal tank pressure. Extremely quiet in operation, the F-M Horizontal Ejector pump has but one moving part. It produces greater water capacity for its motor size than any other design of pump. An ejector jet and tube, built into the bottom side of the motor, increases the capacity of the pump and develops a high pressure discharge. A heavily constructed bronze impeller makes the pump impeller of wear from sandy water. Come in today—see this and get the full complete details on the F-M Horizontal Ejector Water System.

Baker Will Be Retained As Tiger Manager

DETROIT, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Detroit's David Baker will be back next year as head man of the Detroit Tigers, it was established authoritatively Thursday, even though the club should continue its power drive and lodge for the first time in the American League cellar.

Out of the club's current losing streak have grown rumors that the 49-year-old pilot, who somehow got his team last year into the world series, would be replaced, possibly before the end of the Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees season.

The Detroit front office still has profound respect for Baker's reputation as a sound baseball manager. That's why almost three years ago to the day, they turned to the relatively unknown baseball coach as successor to

Alsab Snatches Season End Win At Arlington Park

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—(AP)—Arlington Park closed its highly successful 94-day meeting today as Alsab snatched his fourth stakes victory of the season in winning the $5000 added Hyde Park stakes in five lengths. The colt earned $4790 by his victory, bringing his total earnings this season to $33,095.

T. D. Buhl's Sweep Swinger, a recent arrival from Detroit, closed well to nip Valinda Orphan for place money. Fourth in the nine-horse field went to W. C. Stroube's At Liberty.

The winner returned $2.80, $2.40 and $2.20. Sweep Swinger, coupled with Tominto, paid $5 to place and $2.40 to show, and Valinda Orphan paid $3 to show. The time for the six furlongs over a good track was 1:12 4-5.

When the winner of the last race today flashed that he was a total of approximately $15,500,000 had been wagered during the 94 days—the daily average of $460,000 compared to an average of $392,000 last year, making the season the biggest in 11 years.

the hard-driving Mickey Cochran.

When Cochran came along the following year to lead Detroit to its first pennant in 25 years, Baker was on the scene as traffic cop to third base, waving home the rejuvenated Tigers. There he stayed until Aug. 3, 1933, when Briggs designated him as the new Tiger pilot.

The club finished fourth that season and in 1939 slipped into the second division for the first time in years. Then with an over age team that was the ridicule of Spring training camps, Baker came bounding home in front last year and pushed the Cincinnati Reds to seven games in the world series.
