

PLO Vows 'No Peace' In Mideast

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The Palestine Liberation Organization today rejected the Camp David agreements and threatened to step up its war on Israel, heightening friction in battle-torn Lebanon.

In the latest fighting, Israeli-armed Christian militias swapped weapons fire with Syrian peace-keeping troops in Beirut Sunday and with Palestinian guerrillas in southeast Lebanon, reports from the areas said.

The right-wing Phalangist Party radio said at least two people were wounded in the Beirut flare-up that it said was provoked by the Syrians "for no apparent reason." No casualty reports were immediately available from the south.

Earlier in the day, twin Israeli jets crossed over Beirut, cracked a single sonic boom and headed home, witnesses and official Beirut radio said. The reconnaissance flights have become near-daily occurrences in recent weeks.

PLO sources said earlier that both the guerrillas and Syrian troops were on "protective alert" in case Lebanon — for three years the Middle East's most volatile flashpoint — exploded in escalated violence after Camp David.

But PLO Beirut spokesman Mahmud Labadie, reacting to the signing of two Egyptian-Israeli agreements at the end of the summit in Maryland, said "there will be no peace in the region without the PLO."

"The PLO will carry on its armed resistance inside the occupied territories, and (Egyptian President Anwar) Sadat does not speak for the Palestinians," Labadie said.

"The Middle East will remain tense and a flashpoint and this agreement will not contribute to any just settlement in the Middle East."

The agreements made no provision for any PLO role in the future of the occupied West Bank and Gaza Strip.

Syria's official Damascus Radio joined in the denunciation of the Egyptian-Israeli accord, saying they "would not bring peace to the Arab nation and would not solve any problems."

In a related development, a Lebanese correspondent in the southeast of the country said Israeli had mounted "a 48-hour operation" ending Saturday, bringing reinforcements of main armored vehicles and rockets toward its northern frontiers with Lebanon and Syria.

The correspondent dismissed an Israeli denial of the reported build-up and statements from unidentified official Lebanese sources in several Beirut newspapers Sunday said there was no unusual military activity.

Begin: U.S. Will Build Two Airbases In Negev

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin said today the United States pledged to build two air bases in the Negev desert to replace the two installations Israel will surrender to Egypt as part of a peace agreement.

Begin made the remarks in a news conference with Israeli reporters in Washington broadcast live to Israel.

"The United States will build two alternative airfields in the Negev, not far from those in Sinai (that Israel is giving up)," he said in the first disclosure of details of the accord signed with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat Sunday.

"We will not leave the Sinai airfields as long as the new ones are not fully operational," Begin said.

The prime minister said the first Israeli withdrawal from Sinai would begin three to six months after the accord is signed. He said the pact could be signed in less than three months from now, possibly by Christmas.

Israeli troops would withdraw to a north-south line running from El Arish on the Mediterranean coast to Ras Muhammad at the tip of the Sinai peninsula in the first phase, he said.

In the second stage, Israeli troops would pull back to the old international boundary that runs southeast from the Rafah area to near Eilat on the Red Sea.

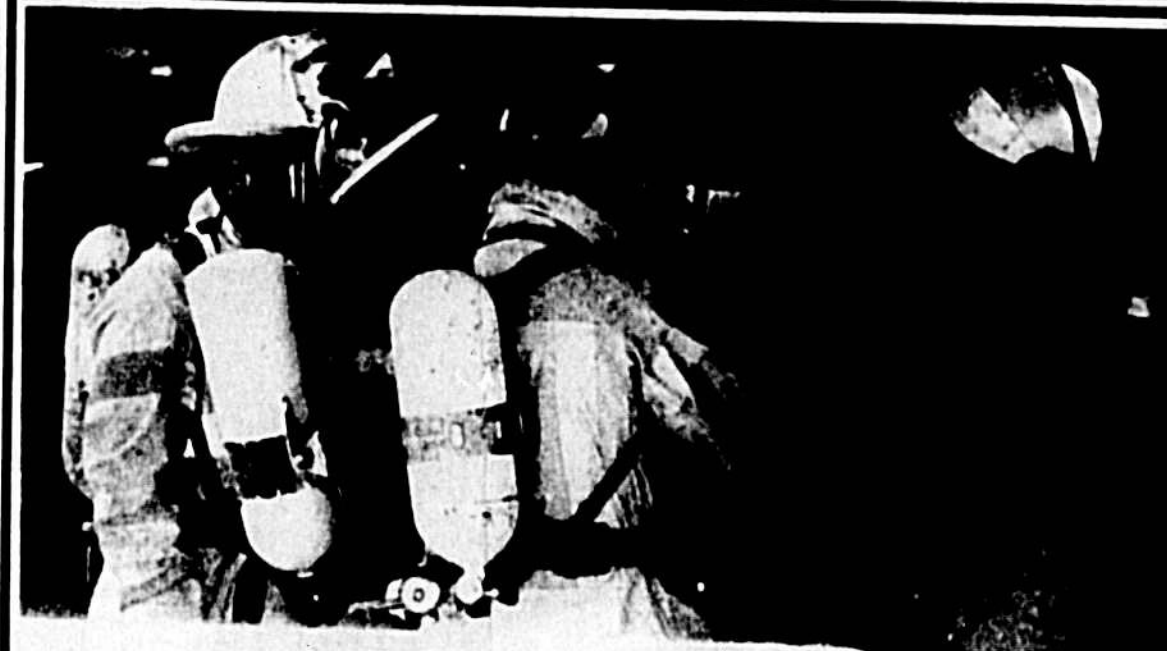

But Begin and Foreign Minister Shimon Peres before him made it clear the border now rested on the people of Israel to make a "crucial decision" whether peace is more important than Jewish settlements in occupied Arab lands. A tough battle lay ahead in the Knesset which will convene Sept. 20.

"Everything the Knesset decides will be carried out," Begin said. "We are in the hands of the Knesset. We must accept the verdict of the Knesset as it is the very soul of democracy."

He said he and Sadat exchanged documents about Jerusalem and that the Israeli position in the Holy City "will remain inseparable forever as the capital of the state of Israel. This position will never be changed."

Begin denied news reports saying Israel agreed to halt settlement activity on the West Bank for five years. He said there only was a promise to stop building expanding or building settlements during the period of peace negotiations.

"There is no such commitment and none would have been given," he said. "It is inconceivable that we would give such a commitment for five years. We did commit ourselves for the duration of the peace talks."

GAS LEAK...At Teague; 2-Block Area Evacuated

By LEN KRANSDORF
Herald Staff Writer

School was cancelled today for the 1,64 students and 34 faculty of Teague Middle School and a two-block area was evacuated when a chlorine leak was discovered about an hour before school started.

"Apparently the leak was found in the tanks which purify the school's water and when it was found school was cancelled," according to Ralph Ray, information officer for the school board.

Responding to the scene were about 25 rescue and firefighters from Altamonte Springs, Apopka and Seminole County.

The one reported injury was to an Apopka fireman Lee Brown—who inhaled some of the gas despite the fact he was wearing his equipment, and was transported to Florida Hospital North for treatment.

The sheriff's deputies were on the scene to handle traffic control and evacuate the area, according to John Spolaki, sheriff's department spokesman.

There were about 30 to 40 homes evacuated in the Villa Brantley development at Camden Road.

PROTECTIVE CLOTHING AT TEAGUE MIDDLE SCHOOL

Buses arriving at the school at 8 a.m. with the students were turned away, according to Ray.

The leak was discovered by school custodians when they arrived at the school early this morning.

The two 100 pound cylinders are used to treat the well water at the school.

Allied Chemical suppliers of the tanks, arrived at the scene and patched up the holes, according to Spolaki.

The middle school on Sand Lake Rd. in Forest City is located across the street from both Forest City Elementary and Lake Brantley High School but operation of the two schools was not affected by the leak.

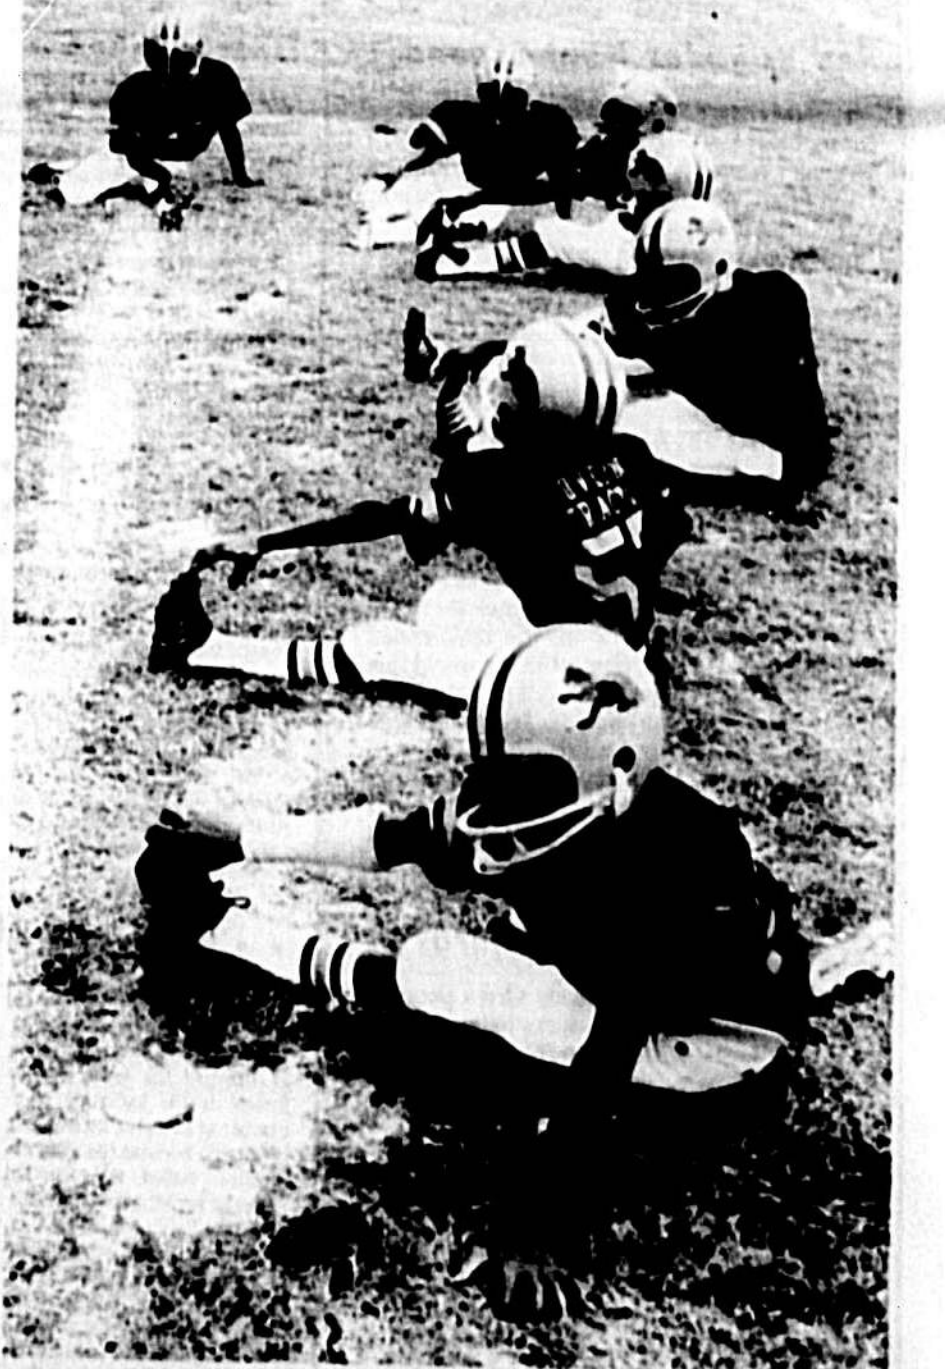

Chlorine is considered a deadly gas and if excessive amounts are inhaled into the system it could result in paralysis and eventually death, fire department spokesman said.

The Camden Road residents are expected to return to their homes today while the students are expected to return to the school tomorrow.

Indialantic Candidate Promises Lawsuit In Primary

By DONNA ESTER
Herald Staff Writer

A lawsuit protesting last Tuesday's primary election and requesting the circuit court to call a new election will be filed by unsuccessful Democratic senatorial candidate Woodrow Wilson Storey of Indialantic, Storey said today.

Storey, who lost a berth in the Oct. 3 second primary by 12 votes to Glenn Turner of Goldenrod, said he will first exhaust his administrative remedies by making a request of the election in Seminole County through the elections canvassing board which was headed by County Judge Harold Johnson. The canvassing board also included Elections Supervisor Constance Brown and County Commissioner Bob French met and certified the election Thursday.

Turner and former Osceola County Commissioner Bill Beck, according to the official results in the four-county senatorial district of Seminole, Orange, Osceola and Brevard counties, are to vie for the Democratic nomination in the second primary.

The basis of Storey's protest is the "numerous irregularities in the voting machines in Seminole County" on election day, he said. "We are relying on a report from Roger Johnson, the maintenance man for the machines," said Storey.

Johnson gave a report to the county commission Friday morning, showing that a total of six polling places were down on election day from periods ranging from a few minutes to as long as two hours and 10 minutes. Total down time, Johnson reported in those six precincts, was eight hours. In all of the other 61 precincts while problems may have been encountered with one or two machines the other machines were in operation.

Storey said he plans to subpoena Johnson as a witness. He said he also hopes to have unsuccessful Democratic legislative candidate Cal DeVeny in on the ground and "one or two other candidates who had a close race."

"I was not re-elected for everyone," said Storey. "The machines in Seminole were in such bad shape that it was not really a valid election," he said. "While DeVeny wasn't available for comment, Mrs. DeVeny, who had served as her husband's campaign manager, said that his position remained the same as last week. He will not get involved in a protest of the election, she said, and will not have his name on the ballot in any new election if one is ordered held again, if he can help it."

DeVeny said last week that those wishing to protest the election should find "another way."

Tom Holman, Winter Park dentist, who lost his bid for the Republican nomination for the county commission, by 936 votes to Altamonte Springs City Commissioner Sandra Glenn will be joining Storey in the effort for a new election, Storey said.

"At the present time it appears we will join with Storey if we can solve the logistics of his being in one county and me in another," said Holman today.

While Storey said he is "exhausting my administrative remedies" before going to court, Holman said he is not sure that they have to go through the administrative remedies.

"My concern is to have a constitutional, legal election information together before I go to court," said Storey.

"I have to get some more information together before I go to court," said Storey. "I am going to see that the next election is run properly. That there is a possibility that it could turn my election around," said Holman.

Storey said he has also contacted about the matter and Gov. Reubin Askew's office will be notified today.

"The problem is that other candidates are so far behind that a new election will not necessarily change the results in their favor," said Storey.

Storey said he has also contacted about the matter and Gov. Reubin Askew's office will be notified today.

Dozens Die As Tornado Hits Iowa

KELLOGG, Iowa (UPI) — Delmer Stone looked over the rubble that once had been his home. The yard was littered with debris, yet Stone was thankful to be alive.

Stone was among the dozens of victims of the worst tornado to strike Iowa in a decade.

The storm twisted down into Jasper and Poweshiek Counties from driving thunderstorms Saturday night, cutting a narrow 26-mile swath that killed at least six people, injured 50 others, and caused an estimated $1 million in damage.

The storm was the deadliest to strike Iowa since 14 people died in Charles City and the west barn," he said as he surveyed the damage — overturned corn crib, a roofless barn and a house that literally exploded when the twister hit.

Not far from the Stone farmstead, Darrin Achtemeier, his wife, Marie, and their daughter, Suzanne, supervised cleanup operations at what had been a sprawling farmstead.

The tornado demolished the house and flattened three grain bins, a drying system, two barns, two corn cribs, machine sheds and a large wooden house. The Achtemeiers were gone when they spent Saturday in Iowa City at the Iowa-Northwestern football game, then decided to dine there rather than return home.

"Thank God we were all together," Mrs. Achtemeier said. "When we got here it was all wiped flat. But at least we were alive."

At the Motel Grinnell, work crews moved tons of debris from the site and began a service station next door.

Nab Escapee After Chase

SALEM, Ark. (UPI) — Tennessee prison escapee Larry Chiam emerged from the northern Arkansas woods wearing only sunglasses and underwear to take still another bicycle, valued at $80, was taken from the stairwell of an apartment building over the weekend, according to Sanford Police Department reports.

Chiam crashed the truck into a hastily drawn roadblock at Viola, Ark., and was captured. Four days had passed since Chiam, 29, and three other inmates blasted their way out of a bowing alley through the prisoners were on a monthly outing. Since then, they had taken nine hostages and commandeered six cars and an airplane.

Only one of the men, Richard Lyons, 28, was still at-large after Chiam was caught Sunday. Lyons was being sought in Ohio and Kentucky, near his hometown of Loveland, Ohio. George Bonds and Floyd Brewer were caught Thursday when, too, crashed a stolen pickup truck into a roadblock in northern Arkansas.

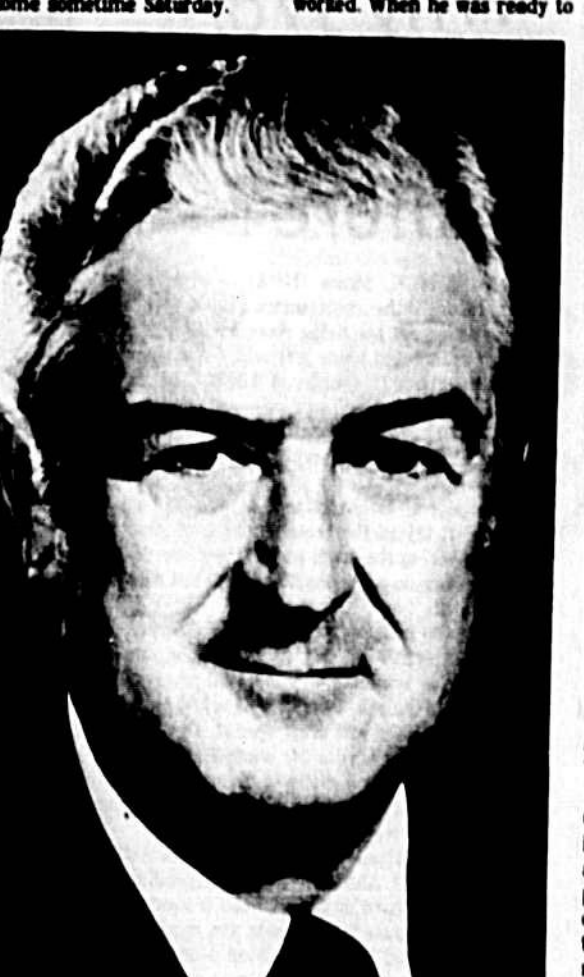

The search for Chiam began in the Arkansas woods Thursday when he crashed yet another pickup taken from three hostages, who escaped from him at the wreck scene. Capt. Bob Ward of the Arkansas State Police said a woman called just before noon Sunday and advised a subject wearing dark glasses and concealing shorts and extremely scratched up had walked out of the woods near her home — eight or 10 miles north of Calico Rock.

The man took the woman's husband, Carl Hinshaw, hostage and drove away in Hinshaw's pickup truck. Ward said Hinshaw was released not far from his home and Chiam continued on in the truck.

Hinshaw's father, Mr. J. Hinshaw, alerted by Mrs. Hinshaw's call, spotted the truck a few minutes later and chased it through the rugged Ozark Mountain country.

"Trooper Houston spent six rounds, one of them grazing Chiam's right temple," said Kell, special agent-in-charge of the FBI's Little Rock office. "He (Hinshaw) just did a magnificent job. Chiam had said he would not be taken alive and it would have a really bad situation. Chiam's right temple was grazed and he had three stitches."

Chiam was in prison for 40 years for armed robbery and selling drugs. Lyons 50 years for robbery. Bonds 38 and Brewer 35 for rape. Prison officials said the men arranged to have guns left for them in the men's room at the bowling alley and mailed their mail. They said they had a magnificent job. Chiam had said he would not be taken alive and it would have a really bad situation. Chiam's right temple was grazed and he had three stitches.

WORLD IN BRIEF
14 Killed, Several Hurt
But It's Called 'Calmer'

WAYNE D. DOYLE, Publisher
NORMAN H. OSHRIN, Editor
RONALD G. BECK, Advertising Director

Public Defender Needs A Look

The right to a fair and speedy trial with adequate legal representation is a basic right guaranteed all citizens by the United States Constitution.

This often means the need for government to provide legal counsel for those unable to fund such counsel on their own. And in Seminole County, as in many—if not most—other areas, this translates into a majority of indigent-declared defendants facing a variety of charges.

This is the primary reason of the office of Public Defender. It has but one purpose: to serve indigents in need of legal help.

Unfortunately, as has been depicted in the special series that ended Sunday in The Evening Herald, the Public Defender's office serving Seminole and Brevard counties has been lax in meeting this purpose and responsibility.

A "lack of supervision" and/or an "indifferent attitude" have been cited as possible reasons.

Which or whatever it is, there is strong evidence that the Public Defender's office headed by David Porter just has not been doing the job.

This has been the case particularly here in the Seminole portion of the office's area of responsibility. Seminole has been treated as a stepchild, as an afterthought, by Mr. Porter's office.

Cases were cited, for instance, where a trial attorney has failed to see his client until four days before the trial; where a key witness in a felony trial was not subpoenaed; where a man sat in jail more than a month just waiting to meet and see his appointed counsel.

There is evidence of a cavalier attitude by Mr. Porter's office to the plight of indigents in need of legal care. There is even evidence from a local businessman and a Sanford lawyer that Mr. Porter himself has only been in Seminole once in two years. What kind of supervision is that?

Circuit Court Judge Volie Williams, an outspoken critic of the performance of Mr. Porter's office, doesn't pull any punches in his observations. "If they don't like the part-time work," he says, "they should pay for it."

It is not surprising that Mr. Porter's office is being criticized. It is not surprising that the biggest problem might be understaffing for trial work in Seminole. But Judge Williams suggests that the Public Defender office "can properly staff the Seminole County part of the 18th Judicial Circuit office."

Mr. Kelley seems to acknowledge the need for the additional legal help, but places the blame for its absence on the government. Says Mr. Kelley: "I sure would like another lawyer for Seminole County, but the state budget has been pretty tight since '76."

We wonder just how hard Mr. Kelley or his boss have tried to make a case for such added representation for Seminole. Or whether they have been content to perpetuate the system whereby three public attorneys from the Brevard office—all of whom live in that county—rotate visits to Seminole.

The situation is deplorable and inexcusable. We have a couple of suggestions: First, we urge a thorough investigation into the operations of David Porter's Public Defender's office to determine if it is doing the job it is supposed to do.

Second, we urge our legislative delegation to look into the entire matter and determine why adequate funding cannot be found to correct the injustice.

Third, we urge that thought be given to breaking Seminole off from Brevard and giving an office here with sufficient personnel to do the job that is needed.

"I'm getting tired of it," comments Judge Williams, referring to the short shrift Seminole has been getting.

So are we.

WASHINGTON — The average homeowner mowing his lawn on a weekend afternoon probably doesn't realize he is pushing a piece of dangerous machinery. Power lawn mowers cause more than 150,000 injuries a year. Most of these are nasty accidents in which a person's fingers or toes are cut off by the blade of the power mower.

For years, the Consumer Product Safety Commission has been tinkering with a proposed safety standard that would make lawn mowers safer to operate. Now that the agency is about to approve the new standard, the industry has launched a last-ditch lobbying effort to knock it out.

BY DORIS DIETRICH
OURSELVES Editor

Cecil Herring wears jewelry—lots of exquisite ornate jewelry.

But Cecil does not buy her jewelry—and it isn't given to her. She designs and creates the beautiful objects of art.

Cecil's outstanding "growing" sculpture and jewelry has earned her the cover page of the September issue of "Plating and Surface Finishing," a journal of the American Electroplaters Society.

"It's a great thrill to be recognized by the technical people in the plating field," Mrs. Herring said. "It's a national publication and I've received congratulatory letters from plating specialists throughout the United States."

Three color photos of Mrs. Herring's unique neck ornaments, 24 karat gold plated and set with semi-precious jewels, are featured on the cover page. The accompanying story "Electroforming for Artistic Effect," explains the complex technique used to make the sculptural body jewelry and large scale copper sculptures.

The journal release also captures color photos of "Minutemen", a three-quarter lifelike sculpture, realistically rendered sculpture of a historic Minuteman, complete with a three-cornered hat, powder horn and musket. The sculpture was commissioned by Ocean Beach High School class of 1978 and now stands at the school.

Until Cecil took up sculpture about nine years ago, she took painting seriously. "But painting didn't seem quite enough," she said.

Having exhibited in dozens of art shows throughout the United States, Mrs. Herring is no stranger to art buff. Her lengthy list of awards is impressive.

Her public and private collections are on exhibit at the 8 m illi on a s Institution, the Air Force Space Museum, Cape Canaveral, and the University of Florida Medical Center.

Mrs. Herring's eagle pendant is the Smithsonian was commissioned by Mrs. Gerald Ford, when Mrs. Herring donated as "a vibrant inspiring poem."

The attractive bronze, a former newspaperwoman, has many admirers. Art lovers speak of her as animated, creative, ebullient, friendly, innovative. Electroplaters admire her skills in electroforming for creating unique art forms.

Mrs. Herring spends from 18 to 18 hours daily in her workshop, which is located in an 18 acre in Geneva, where the family has made their home for two years. They formerly lived in Beverly

How Does A Single Meet Men?

DEAR ABBY: To get right down to the nitty-gritty, how does a reasonably intelligent, fairly attractive 28-year-old single woman meet men? I'm not frantically searching for a husband—or even a "meaningful relationship," but I wouldn't be adverse to it either.

I don't want a man who's interested only in one-night stands, but it would be nice to connect with a guy who shares some of my interests and could brighten my dull, boring life. (I'm a 6-foot office worker.) Any ideas?

ROBIN

DEAR ROBIN: I received no less than 100 letters this week asking the same question, so I'll bill you "Robin" with one stone and prefer the following:

The best way to meet decent men is through one's work, church, friends and interests—

DEAR ABBY: I know that most small boys have natural

3 September Children Celebrate

The three children of Mr. and Mrs. Connes Mantovani celebrated their birthdays within a five-day span this month.

Linda celebrated her 16th birthday on Sept. 3 at a surprise party. Michael's friends helped him celebrate his 11th birthday at an overnight get-together on the 5th.

And it was a significant birthday for Theresa. On the 5th, she became a teen-ager. Joining her in dinner and a swim party were Maria Caporaso, Susan Bergman, Laura Caporaso, Patty Kuhn, Lisa Madson, and Ellen Volk.

"She's really a sweetheart," says Mrs. Brenda Klum of her first child, a little girl, born on Aug. 29 to her and husband Richard.

"Richard and I are only young children," says Mrs. Klum, explaining one reason why the birth was such an exciting event for maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blanks of Maitland, and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Klum Jr. of Orlando.

And Tobby Huber turned 13 on the 12th! She was quite surprised when she visited good

It was also the first grandchild for her grandmother, Elizabeth Colledge, who lives in Altamonte Springs. The baby was named Elizabeth Marie after her great-grandmother, a distant cousin of Theresa's. Colledge was born in 1892 and died in 1978. And the little one, who weighed in at 8 lbs. 8 oz. looks "just like her daddy."

George and Mary Gustin (he's captain of the Altamonte Springs Fire Department) have a new son, George S. Gustin Jr., who arrived Aug. 21. He's 16 inches long and weighs 7 lbs. and 8 oz.

Linda and Dell Hatfield of the Recreation Department also had a little boy, Kevin David, born Aug. 21. He was a baby 8 lbs. 9 oz.

City employees having birthdays recently are: Fran Schwartz, 18th; Freddie Hall, 19th; Chris Hill, 20th; Jerry Gustin, 21st; Freddie Hill, 22nd; Stephen Bergman, 23rd; Norman Kapplide, 24th; Rosemary Wilkings, 25th; and Charles Randall, 27th.
