Bolivian Revolt Is Reported As Being Successful

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—An army, police and civilian revolt broke out in this rich tin-mining country today and the revolutionists announced they had deposed the military government.

Members of the military government, headed by Gen. Hugo Banzer, fled to the airport, and then, after a brief struggle, were liberated, the announcement said.

The revolt was led by army and police officers co-operating with the National Revolutionary Party (MNR) of Victor Paz Estenssoro who is in exile in Argentina.

Points to Orizaba which was said to have deteriorated so badly that trucks and motorists try to avoid using it.

Reconstruction of the General-Chiluita road which it was declared should be taken over by the State Road Department.

Protest was also raised against the condition of the road on the south side of Lake Jesup north of Orizaba to Hiley's Fish Camp, as one of the finest scenic spots in the state.

Further suggestions for other much needed road improvements in other districts would be made later, Mr. Wheeler said.

Hatch said the two questions "could be settled together." But he did not press the point. And Harrison ignored the hint.

Wednesday's session lasted only 11 minutes. It was one of the longest in recent days.

Later Harrison told newsmen he was convinced the Communists raised the Russian question "only to bargain it against airfields."

JUDY'S DIVORCE

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Judy Garland's final decree of divorce from film director Vincente Minnelli has been entered in Superior Court.

The 29-year-old actress obtained her interlocutory decree March 22, 1951, on grounds of cruelty, saying that Minnelli, 44, secluded himself and would not explain why he left her alone.

Williams, F. G. Kilpatrick, James L. Ingley, John Ivey and other members of the committee who assisted.

Ed Stowe, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce highway beautification committee, outlined a tentative program for planting palms and live oaks on the south side of the lake front boulevard.

At the suggestion of H. H. Coleman it was voted to have Sanford and Seminole County road signs repainted and put in first class condition.

John Krider announced that the "Lori" State League baseball season opens in Sanford in the new stadium next Tuesday and invited the Chamber to help make the occasion the most outstanding in the history of Sanford.

He pointed out that the Chamber had been responsible for launching the movement which resulted in the formation of the Seminole County Baseball Association and thanked the directors for their efforts in behalf of baseball.

More than three hundred were present at the meeting.

Adams Coming

where he said:

"It's pure demagoguery to inject class prejudice into this campaign. I didn't become a financial wizard while drawing a fat salary from the people of Florida for the past 12 years."

"Any man who makes charges such as my opponent made against Dan McCarty is not fit to sit on the Supreme Court of Florida. I am glad he has resigned that post to become a private citizen in this campaign so that he can be retired to private life."

McCarty has extensive citrus and cattle interests in St. Lucie County and so has Adams. Adams also has an automobile agency and he recently sold a large farm he had near Tallahassee.

Campaign receipts and expenditures of McCarty and Adams so far have been about the same.

McCarty referred to Brailey Odham's 24-hour question and answer program and called him "The talk on and on candidate."

"But McCarty said of Odham: 'He is a fine young man and I do not question his integrity or honesty.'"

Odham planned to visit Davenport, Haines City, Lake Wales, Winter Haven, Bartow, Mulberry, St. Petersburg and Tampa today. He planned a meeting with the St. Petersburg Democratic Women's Club Tuesday night and invited reporters to attend a conference he will have with the Negro Progressive Voters League Executive Board in Tampa later in the evening.

Warren Denies Supporting Any For Governor

THE HONORABLE GOV. FULM Warren has issued a sharp denial that he is supporting any of the five Democratic candidates seeking to succeed him.

The governor did not mention Adams by name but left no doubt as to the identity. Warren previously said Adams had tried to get his support, then turned into a campaign critic of the Warren administration when he failed.

Warren said "He himself is the only candidate for governor who has attempted to make a 'deal' for the support of my administration."

The governor maintains his administration is not supporting any candidate. McCarty also denied Warren support but Adams repeated the charges.

Warren's statement Tuesday said:

"I am increasingly frank millionaire candidate for governor alleged in St. Petersburg alongside support that I had made a deal to support another candidate in exchange for a promise to temporarily on the Road Board."

"This millionaire's multiplicity of charges reminds me of rat killing in a Blountstown barn. As fast as one rat was dispatched with a hoe handle another rat would show up. There seemed to be an endless supply of rats, and this accusing candidate seems to have an inexhaustible supply of accusations."

"As fast as his daily falsehoods are exposed he pops right out with another equally absurd accusation."

At St. Petersburg, McKethan declined comment. He said he plans to issue a full statement when he returns to Tallahassee and has read the complete exchange between Adams and the governor.

The situation presents some similarities to the 1948 campaign. That time Warren, campaigning against McCarty, was accused of supporting the outgoing administration of Gov. Millard Caldwell.

McCarty took no public notice of Warren's accusations and Caldwell well also remained silent until after the election. Then he issued a statement that there was no truth to Warren's charges.

Many McCarty supporters felt that his and Caldwell's failure to deny Warren's charges cost McCarty the race.

Now McCarty and Warren are denying Adams' charges where McCarty and Caldwell remained silent.

McCarty's answer to Adams' charges is: "I'm the man who ran against that crowd (the Warren forces) in 1948."

The custom of taking scalps from victims in war was originally practiced by only a few tribes of American Indians but was spread to others by the practice of white governments which offered bounties for scalps.

THIS ad is addressed to husbands—husbands who've yearned for the thrill of sitting behind a broad hood packed with horsepower—and the pride of rolling down the street in a car that tells the world, "Here's a man who knows the best thing on wheels."

But husbands have wives. And wives have been known to say, "No big cars for me. They're too hard to handle."

Well, we have an answer for that one. It's a ROADMASTER with Buick's new Power Steering! And Power Steering takes over any time the steering gets tough—works like a helping hand—reduces the effort of turning the wheel of a car on a standstill to about the same effort it takes to pick up a mink coat.

BUT out on the open highway—with a clear straight stretch before you—your hands still have command of the wheel—you can feel that sure, firm, easy and eager responsiveness that's a part of the fun of driving.

The rest of the fun is in something else that's new this year—the highest horsepower that a Buick Fireball Engine has ever delivered—and an Airpower carburetor that lets loose an extra reserve of power when needed, and still adds extra miles to your cruising range on each tankful of gas.

So we suggest a family demonstration. You'll both like the hushed and restful silence of this superbly able traveler. You'll like the harmonious beauty of its interior, and the deep and luxurious softness of its seats.

You'll like the velvet-gloved grip of its Wide-Band brakes, and the most capacious trunk in Buick history.

You'll like the smooth surge of Dynaflow Drive, and you'll like—but why waste time talking, when you could be finding out more than we can ever tell you? How about making a date to do that right now?

Building Private World Is Seen As Way To Success

By HAL BOYLE
CHICAGO (AP)—One way to success is to conquer the world. Another way is to build your own private world.

That is the way Burr Tillstrom chose a long time ago, when he was a child. Now, at 47, he is America's crown prince of make believe, and millions share his private world.

It is the mad, wistful, happy world of "Kukla, Fran and Ollie," a television show about puppets and people that for five years has been turning children into grown-ups and grown-ups into children. The show has been broadcast through more than 1,500 performances, and its followers are devotees rather than fans. There are some who firmly believe that "Kukla, Fran and Ollie" have done more for Chicago than even Mrs. O'Leary's cow.

Among these, better known boosters are such other stars of the entertainment and literary world as Helen Hayes, Robert Sherwood, Mary Martin, John Steinbeck and Mrs. Trueman.

The day I dropped by to see the show in action, Broadway Producer Leland Hayward and Playwright Russell Crouse also were there to view it. It is put on in a toy theater-studio big enough to hold only a dozen or so people.

The atmosphere was completely

Arguments Due In Fraser's Suit

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—A jury hearing former State Sen. Walter E. Fraser's $750,000 libel suit against the Saturday Evening Post was to hear lawyers' final arguments today.

Testimony was completed Tuesday. Defense Attorney Edward McCarthy quoted a 1937 pamphlet "Fact Versus Fiction" as saying the designation of a building as the "Oldest Wooden Schoolhouse" had been "invented and operated for film-flaming visitors in St. Augustine."

Chester Bedell, attorney for Fraser, recalled several witnesses and read from depositions of others. Mostly he asked the witnesses if they told Leigh White, author of the 1949 article on which Fraser's suit is based, that the St. Augustine Historical Society denied authenticity of the Oldest Wooden Schoolhouse or that a water wheel at a grist mill was operated by an electric motor.

Those questioned denied telling White those things or said they didn't remember.

Fraser claims the article damaged his integrity by implying he faked the antiquity of tourist attractions he operates.

informal. Tillstrom came in, said hello, and quietly disappeared behind a screen. Fran Allison lolled comfortably in a chair. Then one by one the puppets appeared on the stage and began chatting with Fran. When Ollie, the one-toothed dragon came out, Crouse said: "That Ollie—he's such a sweet person."

It is this quality that gives the show its appeal. The puppets not only sturdily regard themselves as people—they manage to make everybody else feel that way about them, too.

After half an hour or so of this "warm-up" conversation, Burr and Fran and the rest of the troupe had a brief consultation about the general pattern of the show. But there was no written script, no tense rehearsal. A few moments later, the show went on—ad lib and relaxed.

Later I talked with Burr. Like many puppet masters he is shy and rather less articulate than the characters he has created. He prefers to speak through them.

"We don't try to get across any special message," he said, "except perhaps a spirit of kindness and group unity."

"It would never enter into the heads of any of the characters to be deliberately cruel. I don't believe I've ever met a deliberately cruel person in my life. If I have, I don't know it."

"People sometimes are unpleasant, but that usually reflects their own insecurity."

Burr is a bachelor. He likes to swim, go to the theater and the movies, do his own cooking.

"There are a million and one things I'd like to do in life," he said, "but mostly I just want to keep the spirit of Kukla and Ollie going."

So far he has resisted the temptation of exploiting his characters commercially. He has turned down offers by manufacturers who want to mass produce little Kukla and Ollie dolls for children.

"I don't want anybody else even working them as puppets," he said, "or buying them as pieces of cloth and cotton."

He has a fine sense of artistic integrity, a complete loyalty to these creatures of his own imagination. He also has a good recipe for universal salvation.

"Being able to laugh at your self," he remarked, "is the only thing that will save the world. It has to start with you."

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE
We automatically judge ourselves. Use charity toward others.
Give them the benefit of the doubt. It shall have judgement without mercy, that hath showed no mercy.—Jas. 2:13.

A friend of ours writes, "What's happened to the hospital?"
The same thing that has always happened to it. We are still waiting to get the money.

Forty million American motorists pay $5 billion a year in automobile taxes, according to the American Automobile Association. That is to say we poor individual motorists pay $125 a year on each car.

Local merchants would be interested in Senator Humphrey's bill to compel newspapers to RAISE their advertising rates in order to save newspaper. We have always said that if ever a dictator should arise in this country he would ride in on a white horse leading a crusade to force people to accept freedom of speech and the press.

We may not be having a land boom in Florida, but when you buy it you pay for it these days.
Some 640 acres were sold at auction the other day in Dade county and brought $76 an acre. According to Secretary Mayo, it would have been hard to get $2 an acre for it eight years ago.
Everybody and his brother these days wants to come to Florida and they all want land, either for cattle raising, citrus groves, or farms.
There must be something particularly good about Florida when so many people want a part of it.

Now we understand why there are so many Russell candidates in the race for delegate to the Democratic convention. About half of them, it seems, are sponsored by former Senator Penner, at least so says the Tampa Tribune. Now if this is so, it would be quite possible for the Pepper delegates, if elected, to support Senator Russell on the first ballot, or even the first two or three ballots, until the Senator is out of the running, and the delegation is released. And then instead of supporting some other candidate for President acceptable to Russell, and to the South, vote for Governor Stevenson, or indeed, Senator Humphrey. Here, it seems to us, is a situation which ought to be clarified before the primary.

Today is the tenth anniversary of the fall of Bataan. On Apr. 9, 1942—remember that year, right after Pearl Harbor—the pitifully small American forces together with their Filipino allies were driven out of the peninsula of Bataan, after some of the bitterest fighting the world had ever seen.
In the comparative, though temporary, safety of Corregidor. About 11,000 American troops were engaged while the Japanese threw against them at least 70,000 trained men seasoned in the Chinese theater. Despite the odds the Americans had held off the Japanese for three months and so delayed their time table as to upset their whole campaign in the Pacific.

Political life in the past few years has been a bit of a mess, but politics here in Florida's newspapers seem to think they are gaining strength faster than any of the other candidates.

How To Make "No" Sound Like "Yes"

In your job or your role as parent, do you find yourself having to say "no" more often than you can say "yes"? If you want to keep friends, customers and peace in the family, it's all in learning how to say "no" and make it sound like "yes," according to a thought-provoking article in the current issue of Pageant Magazine.

There are at least half a dozen different kinds of "no," each tailored to fit different circumstances and temperaments. The trick, says Pageant, is knowing when to use them.

1. The nicest No is the sympathetic negative which so many doctors seem to have mastered. It is particularly applicable to emotional people and emotional situations. It is said regretfully and gives the impression of sincerity and deep concern.

2. Next handiest, says Pageant, is the intellectual negative in which you back up your No with facts, figures and logic. A variation of this one is the No-with-hope which says, "A No is necessary now, but there'll be a Yes in the future."
This presupposes enough intelligence and imagination to foresee that future and for that reason doesn't work very well with small children.

3. Therefore, with the young, the impetuous and the unimaginative, try the No-with-help. In essence, it is this:
If you can't afford a tricycle for Junior right now, at least get him a lollipop—right now.

4. The fair-play No is the one many butchers used during meat rationing. It's an honest, forthright No that's not hard for people to take because they know it is based on justice.

5. If you have a flair for amateur theatricals, use the psychological No, suggests Pageant. Because a No can be humiliating to a man's pride, give your negative answer with vehement protestations, flowery compliments and exclamations of regret. You'll know this one has been successful when the person you said "no" to ends up consoling you.

6. The Yes-No is the one kind of No which can't be justified under any circumstances, warns the Pageant article.
That is to say Yes when you know very well you have no intention of carrying out the promise. Rather than lie, just say,
"No!"

But use the short and ugly word as sparingly as possible, advises Pageant. Remember that whenever you soften its impact, you're being charitable to others and probably bringing profit to yourself.

Easy On Criminals

Capital punishment is infrequent in the United States, according to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. During the eight year period (1941-1948) for which data are available, there were 851 legal executions for murder in the civilian population.

Each year about 7,500 cases of murder and non-negligent manslaughter are reported to the local police in the United States, the company points out. The actual number of such killings is even larger, since undetected slayings may be listed in the official records as accidents, suicides, or as deaths of unknown origin.

According to Department of Justice and the Bureau of the Census reports analyzed by the Metropolitan, arrests are made in about 9 out of 10 cases, a higher ratio than for any other serious examinations. Of those brought before the felony courts on murder charges, one-fifth are released for lack of evidence or other reasons, one-fifth are acquitted by the court or the jury, and three-fifths are convicted.

Of those convicted of murder, only about 5 percent are sentenced to death. Most of the sentences—70 percent—range from 20 years to life. About 3 percent are sent to prison for terms of less than 5 years.

"The prison sentences actually served are much shorter than those given," the company points out. "Of the men imprisoned for murder who were released in the period 1944-1946 (the latest data available), nearly 6 percent had served 20 years or more. Almost a quarter were in prison less than five years before they were released. However, most of those released were placed on parole or had other conditions attached to their freedom."

When Tunis Was Strong

How far does remembrance of past glory explain a country's desire for independence today? It may well account for the struggle of Tunis to get freedom, or a least home rule, from the French.

For centuries, up to 1830, the so-called Barbary pirates of Tunis, Algiers and Tripoli (now Libya) were the terrors of European and American shipping. They dominated the Mediterranean and pirate ships ventured as far as Ireland and Iceland. A corsair fleet burned Baltimore on the south Irish coast in 1690.

Instead of stamping out the menace, the European powers and the United States basely paid tribute to be let alone.
It was one of the glories of Jefferson's administration that he refused to tolerate this state of affairs any longer. Warships under Commodore Edward Preble and Lieut. Stephen Decatur bombarded Algiers, and gained forbearance for American commerce. England followed tardily. Finally in 1830 the French conquest of Algiers ended a black period in modern history.

Tell The Facts On Cheating

When a cheating scandal at the University of Florida was brought into the open last February, President Miller assured the student Honor Court that "politics will not be allowed to interfere" with the course of justice.

The 13 members of the Honor Court now have resigned in protest against action by President Miller and a faculty committee in reversing or modifying sentences imposed by the court on certain students. The court charges this action amounts to favoritism, since students who appealed to the faculty committee and president were punished more lightly than those who did not appeal.

The Honor Court's statement raises very clearly the question whether politics did, in fact, interfere with the workings of justice despite President Miller's assurance in February.

This question is the more pointed because of unofficial information from Gainesville that members of the football squad were among the beneficiaries of the leniency from on high which the Honor Court protested.

President Miller provides no answer to the question by his limited number of cases, the best interests of the university, of the students involved in violations, and of the great majority of students in the university who are in no way involved, may best be served by a change in the penaltities imposed.

Members of the Honor Court have been dealing with this difficult problem for several months.
We cannot believe they would resign in a body unless they felt strongly that a grave injustice had been done and that it did, indeed, present a "threat to the moral welfare of the present and future University of Florida students."

The suspicion of political intervention, if not dispelled, will gnaw away respect for the honor system; it also will inevitably lower public confidence in the integrity of the university administration and its ability to teach integrity to the students.

We think it is time to drag the essential facts of the cheating scandal out of the closet and hang them up in public view.

It is not necessary to name the students involved. But neither is it necessary to talk in generalities about the number of offenders and the nature of their punishment.
