By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Who could ever be as naughty as Peter Rabbit? Certainly not his sisters—Flopsy, Mopsy and Cottontail.

For in Beatrice Potter's "The Tale of Peter Rabbit," published 75 years ago and loved by children and adults since then, Flopsy, Mopsy and Cottontail were "good little bunnies" who "went down the lane to gather blackberries." It was Peter who, disobeying his mother, ran straight to Mr. McGregor's garden and into trouble.

Poor Peter! After his adventure he was not very well and his mother put him to bed and gave him a dose of camomile tea. "But Flopsy, Mopsy, and Cottontail had bread and milk and blackberries for supper."

To celebrate the 75th anniversary of the classic tale, Frederick Warne has published "Peter Rabbit's Natural Foods" written by Arnold

Dobrin and illustrated by dozens of Beatrice Potter's marvelous pictures. We could resist trying Flopsy, Mopsy and Cottontail's fresh blueberry cobbler, even though we had to use frozen unsweetened berries because at the time the fresh ones weren't around. The cobbler is delicious. There's only one sad note. Although Arnold Dobrin notes that instead of blueberries other fresh fruit—cherries, raspberries, peaches, apples or rhubarb may be used—not a word does he say about blackberries.

Equipment: colander or strainer; medium-sized saucepan; measuring cups and spoons; baking dish (9 x 9); medium-sized mixing bowl; fork; two dinner knives or a pastry blender; pot holders; hot mat or wire rack.

In the mixing bowl put the flour, brown sugar, salt, baking powder and nutmeg and mix them thoroughly with a fork. Add the butter or margarine,

1 pint blueberries
1 cup water
3/4 cup granulated white or raw sugar
1 cup whole wheat flour
1/2 cup brown sugar, loosely packed
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
Pinch of nutmeg
1-2 cup butter or margarine
Turn on the oven and let it heat to 350 degrees.

Wash the blueberries in a colander or strainer and pick out any stems and leaves. Put the fruit, water and white or raw sugar in a saucepan and bring to a boil stirring so sugar does not burn. Simmer for two minutes. Pour the slightly cooked fruit into the baking dish.

Sanford Landfill Contract Periled; Is The Deal Off?

By MARK WEINBERG
Herald Staff Writer

An end to the five-month controversy surrounding the city of Sanford's plan to operate a sanitary landfill at SR-46A and Oregon Avenue seems to be approaching.

Charles E. Davis, lawyer representing the out-of-state group of investors with whom the city commission agreed in January to buy 85.45 acres near the Mayfair Country Club, has informed city Atty. E. Vernon Mize Jr. by letter that, if the sale is not completed by June 15, "the seller will consider the contract 'reached.'"

The city commission has indicated it will not close the deal until it receives permission from the state Department of Environmental Regulation (DER) to operate a landfill on the site.

The land is zoned residential, which prohibits a landfill, and a city commission hearing on rezoning 23 acres for a landfill is scheduled for June 27.

"The city can't possibly meet that kind of schedule," (to) close the sale by June 15, Mayor Lee P. Moore said this morning.

The sellers are putting us on notice to close or lose our right under the (January) contract," Mize said Wednesday afternoon.

William C. Leskowskyak, 51, of 575 Longwood-Oviedo Road, Winter Springs, was crushed to death Wednesday night when a tractor-trailer loaded with steel beams crashed into trees alongside SR-419 a mile east of Tusculawilla Road, the Florida Highway Patrol said.

House Panel Ready To Kill

Carter's Auto Rebates Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee is ready to kill President Carter's proposed rebate for buyers of fuel-efficient cars but Democratic leaders are trying to salvage his plan to tax big gas-guzzling vehicles. "The rebate doesn't have any support at all," Rep. Al Ullman, chairman of the influential committee, said Wednesday. As the committee finished its second day of work on Carter's energy-tax proposals Wednesday, one opponent, Rep. Joe Waggoner, D-La., said 20 of the 37 members of the panel were ready to vote against the so-called gas guzzler tax.

Cube-Shaped Fruit Trees?

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — A government engineer who has developed a machine to prune, spray and harvest apple trees says fruit trees should be pruned into cube shapes to make harvesting easier. "The shapes we're talking about may seem fanciful... but in the orchard business you either change or cease to exist," says Dr. Bernard Tennes, agricultural engineer with the USDA's Agricultural Research Service at East Lansing, Mich.

Tennes and other Michigan scientists have developed a machine that will straddle 10-foot high apple trees, prune them, spray them, then return to harvest them six months later. It will be easily adaptable for peaches, plums, oranges and other fruits, Tennes says.

Woman's Job: Finding Things

CHICAGO (AP) — Ellen Levine wasn't the least nonplussed when someone called her recently and asked her to find a rickshaw. She didn't bat an eyelash when someone else wanted a windshield frame for a 1932 Ford. She found both items. Ms. Levine, a former medical technician, has been in business for herself since January as the founder, proprietor and sole fulltime employee of Dial-A-Maven, a service for finding the unfindable. A maven is a connoisseur, an adviser and a general know-it-all.

Battery, Larceny Suspects 'Guilty'

Circuit court juries have found three defendants guilty in separate criminal trials before Circuit Judge Robert B. McGroarty at Sanford. A jury found Horace Murray, 42, of Altamonte Springs, guilty of battery and carrying a concealed firearm in connection with the April 5 wounding of his girlfriend, Eddie Lee Boney, at her 306 Teakwood Lane residence.

Ms. Boney told the jury that Murray came into her house with a concealed pistol and shot her in the face and hand during an argument in a bedroom. Murray testified the pistol was already on a nightstand and it fired accidentally when she tried to grab it from his hand after he'd choked her.

Murray said he had the pistol in his pants pocket when he left the shouting scene. He said he took the gun apart and threw the parts out of a car on Palm Springs Road before fleeing to Georgia. The gun hasn't been found, sheriff's deputies said.

Murray was arrested nine days later at Quincy in north Florida where he has relatives, and returned to stand trial.

He was allowed bond during a pre-sentence investigation ordered by the court. Sentencing was set for August 25.

A circuit court jury found Charles Hall Jr., 41, of Tampa, guilty as charged of grand larceny of a south Seminole woman's car last December.

Mrs. Norma Anderson Smith testified that one of Hall's relatives gave her the car's keys at Tampa but it wasn't at Plant City where it apparently had been abandoned. Officials said the 1969 model sedan still Sheriff's deputy R. W. Gregory reported today that a motorist investigating a strong odor Wednesday on the south side of Florida Avenue near U.S. 17-92, at Longwood found the decomposing carcass of a 10-foot-long hammerhead shark.

Deputies theorized that a fisherman may have decided to ditch his catch instead of taking it home. County animal control officers were to dispose of the shark remains.

Car Plunges Into Lake; Woman Driver Is Rescued

A 45-year-old Sanford woman was killed today in a "fairly good" condition today at Seminole Memorial Hospital after being rescued by a sheriff's deputy and a Deland man from her auto after it veered off U.S. 17-92 and plunged into Lake Monroe west of Sanford.

Deputy P. J. Higgins reported damage to the auto in the 1 a.m. accident was estimated at $3,000, investigating officers said.

Hall was ordered held in jail during a pre-sentence investigation. He could get a five-year prison term on the conviction.

Another jury found Klemens Wednesday arrested Claude Bennett Smith III, 29, of 244 Krider Rd., Sanford, on circuit court warrants charging two counts each of felony possession and delivery of controlled substances. He remained in county jail in lieu of $10,000 bond on the charges today.

Billy Darrell Crowe Jr., 19, of 517 Lake Kathryn Circle, Casselberry, was charged in circuit court warrants with two counts each of felony possession and delivery of controlled substance. Bond was set at $10,000 but jail records indicate Crowe was following on his own recognizance following a court appearance Wednesday afternoon.

Jail records indicate the new charges against Crowe are in connection with two separate deliveries of illegal drugs to federal undercover agents in May for $1,900.

Ehrlichman: More Than A Memory?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ghost of Abraham Lincoln that's supposed to haunt the White House may have a rival in the neighboring Old Executive Office Building, which houses part of President Carter's staff.

John Ehrlichman

The new "ghost" that is said to stalk the marble-floored corridors of the EOB, a 1960s century relic venerable enough to house an attic full of spirits, has been given the name of John D. Ehrlichman.

Of course, Ehrlichman also was the name of the domestic policy assistant to resigned President Richard M. Nixon. It should be added that Nixon's Ehrlichman is alive and miles away from Washington, serving a federal prison term in Arizona for Watergate-related crimes.

The "ghost" surfaced a few months ago when Carter's people decided to try out an automatic pen used in the past by administrations by officials called upon to sign more letters than they could manage without help.

Housed in the EOB basement, the pen machine uses a large circular matrix to duplicate each particular signature.

Another reporter asked Powell to repeat exactly what Rosalynn had said to Jimmy. Without consulting notes, the press secretary repeated himself almost verbatim. Asked how he could put on such a facile performance, Powell said: "I listen very carefully when the First Lady's spokesman speaks to me."

Even if you never wandered what Presidents and their wives talk about in private, the following might prove instructive: Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, did not betray a trace of a smile this week as he reported on one such conversation, by telephone, between the President and his bemperberwriting wife Rosalynn.

The President did talk to Mrs. Carter this morning," Powell related. "She was very pleased with her visit to Peru. She told the President that she recognized that the visit to Brazil would be one of the more difficult stops on her trip, but she felt that a frank discussion of various agreements as well as differences would be the best step toward increased understanding."

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Florida Supreme Court Says

Unborn Child 'Not A Person'

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — An unborn child is not a person under Florida law, the Florida Supreme Court ruled today, barring legal action by a Miami couple to recover damages for the death of their seven-month old fetus in an auto accident.

Addressing the issue for the first time, the court said in a 6-0 decision that Florida's Wrongful Death Act does not permit lawsuits to recover damages in the death of a fetus.

The mere reading of the section regarding damages clearly indicates, on the basis of logic, that the legislature did not intend to create a cause of action for a stillborn child," said the opinion by Justice Joseph Hatchett.

Richard and Kathryn Miller were involved in an auto accident allegedly caused by Carolyn Stern. Mrs. Miller was seven months pregnant at the time of the accident, but her baby was stillborn.

Historic Hotel Closing Down

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The Hotel Florida, where Florida's old Pork Chop legislators made political deals, belted down bourbon and arranged romantic rendezvous, is closing.

With its license revoked by the state for numerous safety violations, officials of the now seedy hotel announced Wednesday they will shut one of the landmark buildings in Florida's capital July 1.

Slayer Begs For Death

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The convicted sex slayer of a nine-year-old Fort Myers boy is begging Gov. Reubin Askew to order his execution.

"I have absolutely no remorse whatsoever for any of the boys I murdered or their parents either," Arthur Frederick Goode III said in a letter to Askew.

The governor's office released Wednesday 11 letters sent to Askew by Goode, 22, also of Fort Myers.

"I don't desire to ever change my mind committing my dirty sexual murders on little boys," Goode said. "I am fully satisfied now knowing their dead because I, A.F.G. III, murdered them for fun."

Land Buy

principal noted. Board members said they agreed the price seemed an excellent one for the property, and that the high school needed more space.

However, when the board hesitated to make immediate approval of the land purchase, Reynolds asked permission to speak again.

"We have taken a back seat for a long time," he said. "When you go into the south end of the county and see tennis courts and other luxury items it is pretty frustrating."

Board members, however, insisted they need the information from Layer before proceeding further.

22 Tampans Charged In 'Arson Conspiracy'

TAMPA (AP) — Twenty-two people, including a fire department captain, were arrested today on arson conspiracy charges involving 22 business and residential fires in the past four years.

The FBI said the alleged insurance fraud scheme resulted in total losses of $1.7 million. Those arrested were charged in a 35-count indictment by a Tampa federal grand jury dealing with violation of the racketeering law in conspiracy, arson and mail fraud. The arrests culminated a 17-month investigation into operations of the ring, the FBI said.

The FBI said it was the most arrests ever made in a single racketeering case.

"Overall, I would say the individuals whose buildings were burned knew they were going to be burned," said Phil McNiff, FBI chief in Tampa.

Some of the firms charged, McNiff said, "were aware and sometimes assisted the arsonists, keeping them advised whether law enforcement officers were in the area."

In Council Of Local Governments Vote County Landfill Gains Support Of Cities

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Council of Local Governments in Seminole County's solid waste subcommittee Wednesday night voted unanimously to recommend support by member governments of the county's plan for a centrally-located sanitary landfill.

Delegates from Seminole's seven city members of the parent organization concurred in the support recommendation from Sanford City Manager W. E. Knowles. Absent from the meeting was the county commission's representative, Public Works Director Jack Schuder.

Knowles urged each municipal representative on the committee to explore with the city councils of the various cities not only moral support of the county effort, but also financial participation "if it (a regional landfill) becomes a reality."

He said the cities could also come up with the offer of technical assistance from staff personnel. "If the regional concept can keep cheap rates for customers, why not go regional?" Knowles asked.

"It means money to us (Sanford)," Knowles said. He said that in five months since Sanford closed its landfill at the Sanford Airport Dec. 31, it has gone "in the hole by $2,811" in unbudgeted funds from costs of using county facilities.

"We're looking at a $1.03 monthly increase in fees to our customers," the manager said. Knowles said Sanford may be willing to contribute the $300,000-plus it has been planning to use for the purchase of a new landfill toward buying a new county-regional facility.

Longwood Mayor Gerard Connell said, however, that while he understands Sanford's regional garbage service is provided to Longwood citizens via private enterprise, Connell doubted that the Longwood City Council would be willing to give financial assistance.

Lake Mary Mayor Walter Sorenson said Lake Mary would not support a centrally-located landfill if it is located within or on the boundaries of that city.

The City of Lake Mary had been prepared to go to court to stop Sanford's locating a sanitary landfill adjacent to its borders.

Sorenson said that the best method of creating a "regional" landfill may be through a "countywide" authority composed of county and city representatives.

Knowles said if the cities contribute financially to the county project return on their investment could be gained through discounts to city users or by the cities becoming full or limited partners in the venture.

The Council of Governments appointed the committee to look into methods of resource recovery mandated by state law to be formulated within two years. It recommended as a first step centrally-located landfill which would eliminate transportation costs to the county's main landfill at the old Osceola Airfield near Geneva and thus, bring reduced costs of citizens for garbage collection.

Knowles distributed to delegates copies of a bill proposed in Tallahassee to extend the deadline from two years to six years for a feasible method of resource recovery from garbage.

Knowles predicted a compromise of four years additional time will be agreed upon. He said sanitary landfills as a method of solid waste disposing will continue as long as 15 years into the future.

The committee in recommending the purchase of a new landfill had said that the site could be used as a resource recovery center in the future.

Knowles also distributed to the group copies of the latest articles written on resource recovery centers, noting that no feasible, cost-effective method has yet been found despite more than 100 separate efforts across the nation.

School Board Rejects Telephone Gear Bids

Unable to agree on where to buy telephone equipment for its new offices the Seminole County school board Wednesday rejected bids from three companies.

The three bidders were Southern Bell, First Communications, and Florida Interconnect. The Florida Interconnect system had been recommended by Supt. William P. (Bud) Layer.

School board member Robert G. (Bud) Feather made a motion to approve the bid to Southern Bell, but that motion died for lack of a second.

Mrs. Telson recommended accepting the bid of Southern Bell, and her motion was seconded by Mr. Harper, who then voted against it along with Feather and Keeth.

One concern expressed by the board was whether any of the bidding companies was prepared to properly train employees of the board in using the multi-line equipment.

"I've done a great deal of calling around," said board member Pat Telson, "and one of the major complaints by people actually operating these systems is that they were not trained properly to use the console and other equipment."

There also is some confusion with companies using systems which are not from Southern Bell as to who to call for maintenance.

The board also considered the question of owning or leasing the equipment. If they choose to deal with Florida, the board would own the equipment. Dealing with Southern Bell would be strictly on a lease basis.

"I have become convinced we would do well to own our own system," said school board member Allan F. Keeth, "but I'm a little disturbed because I don't think Florida's recommended company is a regulated firm, not under the Public Service Commission. I predict that, in the long run, this might be a disadvantage."

Keeth said he also was concerned that equipment he had seen by Florida Interconnect was not "quality built stuff. It just didn't look like the other equipment we saw."

Selection of the telephone supplier was postponed until the next meeting with Hugh Carlton, director of auxiliary services noting, "we are not going to be able to move into that new building until there are some phones there."

A Message From Rev. Hay

Twelve years is a substantial portion of one's life. It is within these 12 years of one's education that a person's total life is shaped, character is developed, skills are learned.

REV. HAY

We at Trinity have only seven of these formative years, but they are the most sensitive of the years. The joy of being involved in secondary school education is that we see such dramatic changes taking place. A senior is no longer a little boy or girl, he is a man, or she is a woman. Objectives now become career objectives. We are fortunate at Trinity because our relationship with our graduates is a continuing relationship. We have seen our students mature into men and women, now we watch with concern their establishing themselves in professions. When this is accomplished, the important thing will be character, spiritual values, with the ability to establish a stable home, nation and world. We pray that we may have done our part well in the formative years of these young people's lives. The Rev. Canon A. Rees Hay, M. Div., Headmaster

BEINGS

By KEN ACRE

There is a place where two blue lakes rimmed with reeds are joined by a canal. This canal cuts between a high-timbered island and a group of dwellings on the mainland shore. The land on which these dwellings rest is grassed and green. It is called Trinity. If one were to go into one of these dwellings, he would find many rooms. And in each of these rooms he would find a being making figures on the green walls with a small white stick. These beings are called teachers. They run in a pack, called a faculty. Their natural enemy is ignorance, and they use sharp minds and books to kill it. They are well adapted to tell about their books and make others understand. There is no monetary system in this faculty on the Trinity flatlands. Their wealth is measured by how much they influence the leaders of the future. They are all rich.

JIM MADISON TIMOTHY ELLIS MICHAEL PROSSER CATHERINE FENNER LYNN CROFT

Senior Class Officers

This year the senior class officers are: Jim Madison, president; Tim Ellis and Mike Prosser, vice presidents; Cathy Fenner, secretary; and Lynn Croft, treasurer. They led the senior class in several projects. The senior class, with the help of Father Ellis, held a spaghetti dinner and dance for the graduating class of '76 and this year a senior class. Cathy Fenner has been a member of Trinity's chorus. She is a member of Young Life, Robinson's Teen Board, Keyettes, and has assisted the soccer team as a soccer girl. Lynn Croft, also a soccer girl, is a student assistant to the Dean of Students. She is an active member of the Keyette Club as vice president. She was chosen as a Key Club Sweetheart. She is a member of Young Life and plays on the varsity tennis team.

The officers have done their job with the help of their advisors, Canon Hay, Headmaster; Father Ellis, Assistant Headmaster; and Mr. Fulmer, Chairman of the History Department.

From 'Weenies' To So Many Cherished Memories

By SUSAN SORRELLS

Six years ago Trinity welcomed a group of little people who were to represent the first form (seventh grade) for the year 1971-72. Some members of this distinguished group remained at Trinity to reach the status of seniors, while others have come in later years to join the group. Always looking ahead, we never thought we would reach the pinnacle — that mountain called high school — but here we are; we made it, although we slipped and fell numerous times. In 1974, still classified as "weenies," our class made its entry onto the stage of high school. Some of the stars of the show included: the wet and wild wonder of the JV swim team, Ken Acre; Trinity's own racketeer on the tennis courts, Doug Lanier; those fleet-footed soccer celebrities, Beau Currie, Tom Prince, Cliffe Barnett and Alan Adaire. Also the "old faithful" Norbert Seals tossing the pigskin; a fearless female who dared someone to beat her at tennis, Laurie McNulty; screaming, jumping and burning off the calories were our cheerleaders, Lisa Royer, Allison Muller, Amy Warren and Sheri Saxon. Settling down to more subtle and sedate pastimes were: the champion of the chess board, Chuck Hardwick; readers of man's noble works in the Literary Society, Mary Karres and Stacy Holderbaum. That year we made it through a science which entailed such lovely activities as dissection of slimy earthworms and frogs, compliments of Dean Campbell. Most of us were doomed to remain in our favorite class for another two years — P.E.

As sophomores, our class added 13 new members including Doug Culbert, Mike Denicole, Julie Downs, Debbie Fowler, Lisa Hamill, Logal Lilly, Charlie Madden, Nick Microulis, Ed Murphy, Lisa Stephens, Matt Stevens, David Sutton and Jeff Vann. We now had the status of "graduated weenies," but our bubble of pride was burst when we were chosen to be peasants at a new Trinity "fest," the Shakespeare Festival. As is traditional, we celebrated two important events — Homecoming and Headmaster's Day. Laurie McNulty, escorted by Charlie Madden, was honored to be a member of the coveted court and everyone enthusiastically joined Canon Hay for his namesake day of fun — Headmaster's Day, with the usual tug of war, frisbee throwing and heaven raising. Outside the normal contest, an event was held in which Sue Hecker was chosen as a winner of the "Best Legs" contest. Her runner-up was a most charming personality — Mr. Enoch. Eight new members were added to our junior class — Fess Crockett (a math and basketball whiz), Tim Ellis, Jim Madison, Budge Huskey, Bill McConnell, Sid Stubbs, Julie Walker, Danny Walker, and Allison Wolfe. Lisa Hamill, Betsy Nies and Cathy Fenner gave up their braces and regained their smiles. Just as flowers bloom in the spring, our outstanding class members blossomed in numerous campus clubs and activities. Cum Laude was up to the culmination of much hard work, happiness and high school.

And, of course, 1976 is well-remembered for our Bicentennial Festival, held on a chilly November day. Our class was privileged to be characters from American literature. A costumed procession, one-act plays, country stores, a Thanksgiving banquet, a time capsule and Americana skits would have extracted words of praise from our staid forefathers. I can hear old Ben saying: "Any man that toils hath an estate." Our class chose to perform Americana skits. Doug Culbert and Jim Madison, aptly cast, portrayed Obadiah and Jonathan Tyler, respectively, in a play entitled, of course, "A Pack of Rascals." 1977
As Father Time stroked his beard and plodded on his age-old, year-end journey, the brand new baby, 1977, finally arrived and with it the beginning of the culmination of much hard work, happiness and high school.

The year 1977, our senior year, was full of so many things, good and bad, long to be remembered and cherished. Bill Ruff and Dave Mellinger came to Trinity as new seniors. They, along with others, helped elect Jim Madison president of our class. One of our first few projects was to be a combination of Mr. Clean, the White Tornado and Mr. Muscle as we tackled the "cleaning" of senior rock. As seniors we enjoyed the privileges of off-campus lunches, skip days and Bill McConnell's parties. Kerry Fugleberg added a special quality to the title of Homecoming Queen. After Homecoming festivities, Danny Weaver was seen sending up smoke signals and fighting the evils of litter bugs as he steered his trusty white truck, known to all as the Long Ranger's High Ho Silver. Sid Stubbs found that while Danny was picking up trash, he could pick up speeding tickets. He now holds an unchallenged record of 7. Surely you won't follow the old Las Vegas axiom of '7 to come 11, Sid! During this year's festival — Music from Rock to Renaissance — our class, dressed ala the "Swing Era" had charge of several of the booths on the "Midway" as well as participating in several acts. 1977 is a year, just like any other year, which will have many important events to preserve it for posterity. But 1977 is a most significant year for our senior class. We have made it through term and final exams, parties, theology tests, games, chemistry and physics tests, and hundreds of days of assembly. We have also left OUR mark on OUR school. Good luck to you all and God bless.

Kerry Fugleberg: A special quality as Homecoming Queen.

Good If It's News... But Not Propaganda

It looked like a dark day for freedom of the press when the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization decided last year to mount an attack on the way news is being circulated around the world. UNESCO began discussing a plan to give Third World governments more control over news dissemination at a meeting in New Delhi where Indira Gandhi, prime minister at the time, was giving a graphic example of how a Third World government can muzzle the press.

At a later conference in Nairobi, UNESCO backed off from pursuing state control of news on the Soviet model and ushered in a period of study of Third World complaints. Roger Tatarian, a former editor and vice president of United Press International, suggests that some good may yet come from the UNESCO effort.

There may be some grounds for people in developing countries to feel they are orphans when it comes to news. The world's four largest news agencies—UPI, Associated Press, Agence France Press and Reuters—are based in the United States and Europe. Although they are committed to objectivity, their editors and writers may tend to see the world through Western eyes, both in their judgment of news being reported from the Third World and news they disseminate to the Third World.

This leads some Third World critics to argue that natural disasters, political coups and other developments deemed significant to America and Europe are being reported at the expense of more positive news about the Third World. They want the successes and achievements of developing countries to get as much attention as their problems and failures.

Bad news always tends to crowd good news off front pages and newscasts, of course, but the critics may have a point, and Mr. Tatarian suggests some cooperative efforts to keep our various worlds in perspective.

If there is to be a new Third World news agency, or more home-grown news organizations within Third World countries, the Free World newspaper and broadcast industries and agencies like UPI and AP should not hesitate to encourage their development. With the provision, of course, that government agencies continue to let reporters from outside do their work freely without censorship like the Indira Gandhi.

The Western agencies can provide technical expertise to the Third World and help develop a corps of journalists with a sense of professionalism and a striving for neutrality in their news coverage. If news agencies operating in the Third World are to have credibility their journalists—and their governments—must have closely to the distinction between propaganda and news. That distinction is one which some government leaders prefer to overlook.

Editors everywhere can do a better job for their readers and viewers if neglected but important developments in the Third World can find their way into the stream of the day's news. If getting more balance into the news is what UNESCO really has in mind, the tempest stirred up at New Delhi last year could have a productive outcome.

He's Out Of Step

Judge Archie Simonson of Madison, Wis., has brought down the wrath of the National Organization for Women and a lot of other people for his hostile attitude toward a 15-year-old boy accused of rape, and he deserves it. To say that the boy was reacting normally to sexual stimulation is nonsense.

The judge is right about one thing, however. Society is indeed going through a period of sexual permissiveness. Youngsters are growing up today in an atmosphere of sexual freedom that is a far cry from what prevailed a generation ago.

Advocates of a more relaxed attitude toward sexual subjects insist that less prudery is healthy in the long run. For the sake of adolescents who are growing up today, we can only hope they're right. As for the violent crime of rape, a judge who would shift the blame to permissiveness in society is out of step with the morality of this and any other age.

Parents have their problems — some can't get their kids off "grass" while others can't get their kids on grass... that is when it needs mowing. But for boys and girls looking to earn some money this summer, caring for their neighbors' lawns may be an answer. The Seminole County Agricultural Center is offering a seminar to help them become expert on lawn care, June 15, from 1 to 3 p.m. and June 16, 10 a.m. to noon. The course, free to boys and girls 13 to 16 years old, will be taught by Urban Horticulturist John Mathews and 4-H Program Assistant Fred Roberts at the Agri-Center at 4320 S. Orlando Drive (17-92), Sanford.

Instruction will include a combination of classroom instruction and actual experience on the Agri-Center grounds. Subjects covered will be grasses, lawn types, mower types, mower safety, trouble shooting mowers, trimming, edging and record keeping. Safety will be stressed and a portion of the instruction will even include advice on how to arrive at a fair price with homeowners for services rendered.

Boys and girls in past years have earned hundreds of dollars because of this course, according to Mathews. Those interested in attending should contact the Seminole County Agricultural Agent's office at 322-3233 to register. Who knows, Dad, they might even be willing to try out their new found skills at home sometime... for a price.

If you don't mind paying more for your auto license plate, you can have it personalized by applying to Tallahassee from 90 days to five months prior to your birthdate. The cost is $12 a year plus the regular rate for the license. There can be no more than seven digits and no obscenities, please. Names, Ham radio call letters and CB handles are popular requests. Sanford Camera store owner William Wiebold sports a tag that reads KODAK on his Mercedes Benz, while an area Corvette driver advertizes CHARM. An area teenager tries to project the Fonzie image as he drives around with his pals in his '60's era wheels bearing a license declaring, "HEEY."

Tax Collector Troy Ray says one of his cohorts in Brevard has a tag which asks, "RU-12", whatever that's supposed to mean? he added. Speaking of Ray, his office is now listing the new alpha-numeric tags. He said he still has heard if funds are being appropriated to manufacture more of the plates. Only 2.5 million were available for the entire state so Seminole was issued only a limited amount and receives small supplemental shipments periodically. All though he has only two-three weeks supply at present, Ray said the situation is not yet critical.

Keeping An Eye On The Ethics Code

WASHINGTON — Sen. Harrison H. Schmitt believes the Senate's new code of ethics is unenforceable. Sen. John G. Tower says the measure is "a hoax." And Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr. calls it "a smelly piece of legislation."

Those three men, all Republicans, are members of the small band of 14 senators who thought so little of the Senate's effort to upgrade its ethical standards earlier this year that they either were absent when it was adopted or voted against it. But Schmitt of New Mexico, Tower of Texas and Weicker of Connecticut have another distinction: They comprise the entire Republican membership of the Senate Ethics Committee, which has full responsibility for implementing and enforcing the new legislation. The fox-guarding-chicken-coop analogy is an overworked cliché, but it certainly seems applicable in this case. Without tough but fair oversight on the part of the committee, the highly touted code of ethics will serve as little more than a paper facade for the questionable practices which Congress has allowed to flourish for so long.

Indeed, the recent history of ethics enforcement in both the House and Senate suggests that there is little enthusiasm for consistent, meaningful implementation of the high-toned moral standards which the legislators have rushed to formulate in order to improve their image after every major scandal of the past 15 years.

The influence-peddling controversy surrounding Robert G. (Bobby) Baker during the early 1960s led the Senate to vote on July 24, 1964 to establish a Select Committee on Standards and Conduct. But it was not until July 9, 1965 — almost one year later — that the Senate got around to naming the committee's members. And it took another three-plus months, until Oct. 21, 1966, for the committee to gather for its first organizational meeting.

In its almost 13 years of existence, that committee has conducted a full-scale investigation of exactly one legislator, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn. Even that probe probably would not have been undertaken were it not for the months-long drumbeat of criticism of Dodd's questionable financial activities. The House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct was not formed until 1967 — just after the Senate censured Dodd and the House was faced with the scandal involving Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y.

In its almost 11 years of operation, the House committee has matched the Senate record of inaction by also initiating precisely one comprehensive investigation, involving Rep. Robert L.F. Sikes, D-Fla. That probe probably would not have been undertaken if the Common Cause had not shoved the committee into it.

If that record offers little promise for the future, then the hostile attitude of Republicans on the Senate committee is an even more ominous sign.

The Behind-The-Scenes Fidel Castro

WASHINGTON — Behind the famous beard and the flamboyant style there is another Fidel Castro who the world doesn't see. The hidden Castro operates a worldwide intelligence network, directs a Vietnam-style intervention in Angola and practices imperialism on a global scale. He has transformed tiny Cuba into a world power, of course, with a $3.5 billion daily subsidy from the Soviet Union. Without Soviet support, he would have to close down his operation.

The establishment of diplomatic ties between Havana and Washington will also have its unseen side. With the exchange of diplomats will also come an exchange of spies.

Last year, we identified the Cuban spy chief in the United States as Julian Torres Rizo, who also doubles as secretary of Castro's United Nations delegation. Comment sources told us Rizo, while posing as a diplomat, has been developing contacts with radicals in this country.

Are They Men Of Brains?

Watergate, which we had thought was pretty much a closed chapter, is back on everyone's mind again thanks to the Frost-Nixon television "spectaculars." While nothing has emerged from these interviews to change many people's opinions on the subject, coincidentally and for what it is worth, two researchers at the University of California have reported some interesting results from an analysis of the famous Watergate tapes.

Charlotte Linde, a professor of linguistics, and Joseph S. Goguen, a professor of computer science, spent eight months analyzing key passages in the tape transcripts with the aim of understanding the structure of planning and how decisions are made. At first reading, they say, the transcripts seemed to be sloppy and the work of disorganized minds. But when the conversations were stripped of excess wording (expletives?) and diagrammed on a trellis pattern, they found a "stunningly regular and complex structure" which revealed the work of "highly intelligent and skilled political strategists."

Nixon, for example, has been criticized for rambling. But at least in the planning sessions, he came across as very skilled. "He controlled the facts, and his questions came right to the point."

The researchers also acquired a great deal of admiration for the verbal expertise of H.R. Halderman, the former president's chief of staff. "He liked to have many plans in the works at the same time, even though they were aimed at one goal."

John Dean, who eventually brought the whole complex structure crashing down on all their heads, is also credited having "really done his homework" and presenting "well-thought-out and developed options."

The closer they looked at the transcripts, say Linde and Goguen, the more obvious it became that Nixon and his advisors perceived the Watergate break-in as a public relations problem.

As for the moral implications of their actions, "A small group of acquaintances rarely discuss morality. They know each other's values. The absence of moral discussion on the tapes is not sufficient to prove that they were not moral people."

They just happened to conspire to deceive the American people and obstruct justice in a criminal investigation. The scholars point out that their research interests are scientific, not political. Actually, in showing the cleverness of the Watergate crew, their analysis of the tapes constitutes one more damning indictment — if anybody need another one.

Nixon, Halderman, Dean, et al as "highly intelligent and skilled political strategists?" In the only analysis that really mattered — by the House Judiciary Committee and the majority of Americans — they revealed themselves to be probably the stupidest men ever to occupy positions of great power and trust in the nation's history.

For the Soviets, Castro is worth the $3.6 billion a day he costs them. He is acceptable in the Third World, which would resist overt Soviet support. His Cubans have been able to infiltrate and subvert large tracts of the African continent, therefore, without the world uproar that would have been caused by direct Soviet intervention.

Yet those who have studied Castro closely say he doesn't regard himself as a puppet manipulated by Soviet financial strings. He apparently believes in his revolutionary role and feels a "moral obligation" to aid Communist movements. He views himself, say our sources, as a David who has stood up to the U.S. Goliath. Castro's troops in Cuba and Africa are paid and armed by the Soviet Union.

Castro sent a contingent of Cubans into Ethiopia immediately after the Marxist government expelled some 300 U.S. advisers. Cuban military advisers also helped to train the Katanga rebels who recently invaded Zaire. Cubans reportedly are running guerrilla training camps for blacks who want to fight against Rhodesia and South Africa. The camps

THE LONDON ECONOMIST

It's A Seller's Market

NEW YORK — Being denied auto insurance despite a good driving record is an old story to many residents of poor, crowded, crime-ridden neighborhoods. Now even the relatively affluent are experiencing the humiliation of being turned down.

Example: Career woman, 38, who lives in a suburb of Hartford, Conn., "The Insurance City," receives notice that her policy won't be renewed. No reason given. Angered, but comforted by the knowledge that she has a spotless driving record, she calls her friendly, reliable agent of 10 years.

"Why?" she asks. "You have a Porsche," he replies, "and the company no longer is underwriting Porsches or other sports cars."

Mindboggled, she calls several other agents. She's told the companies they represent aren't taking new customers. Finally, she finds herself in the hands of a major insurer, but at a slightly higher rate than she paid before. She is relieved but puzzled.

For the first time, many drivers are finding that you can't always buy auto insurance like a loaf of bread — or an auto. You may put down your money but the seller, the insurance company — may not want to sell you a policy. It thinks it may lose money on the deal.

Rejected, the irate motorist can turn to the so-called assigned risk pools set up for drivers who can't be insured through regular channels. Chances are he or she will pay more and be restricted to limited coverage.

Sometimes make of car is a factor. Other times it is the age of the driver. But often the safest risks in terms of auto make, age, place of residence and other criteria are turned away.

A recent survey by a brokers group in New York found nine out of 10 people seeking coverage for the first time to or renew with another company unable to buy insurance readily in the open market. In New Jersey a crisis is shaping up as more and more companies refuse to take on new business.

Rebuffed motorists often see themselves as tiny Davids pitted against the insurance Goliaths. Some complain to their state insurance commissions. If they're old customers, companies often are forced by law to give them renewals.

No matter how just or unjust the refusal of a company to do business, it is a fact of life in its 225-year history. Losses added up to $4.5 billion, according to industry spokesmen. Auto insurance accounted for more than one-half of that. Another $2.2 billion loss was recorded for the first nine months of 1976.

are located in Angola, Mozambique and Tanzania. Cuban military missions have also been reported in the Congo (Brazzaville), Equatorial Guinea, Guinea-Bissau, Mozambique, Sierra Leone, Somalia and Tanzania.

CAMPUS IN BRIEF

Edward F. Danowitz and Janet F. Hall, both of Altamonte Springs, were among 4,800 to receive degrees at the Pennsylvania State University, University Park. Danowitz earned a master's degree in public administration; Miss Hall, a bachelor of science in education with highest distinction.

DANVILLE, KY. — Three Sanford area students graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree from Centre College of Kentucky, June 5. They were Ernest Elsea, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Elsea Jr. of 100 Loch Arbor Court; Auguste Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A.B. Peterson, and Amelie Schweizer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Schweizer, Lake Mary.

MEMPHIS, TENN. — Miss Susan G. Bryant, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Virgil Bryant of Sanford, recently received her Bachelor of Arts degree in commencement ceremonies at Southwestern College at Memphis.

ORLANDO — Michael Anthony Denicole has been named a Georgia M. Wilkins Scholar, highest honor conferred on an entering student by the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., "in recognition of his outstanding character, leadership and academic achievement."

The four-year scholarship was announced by The Rev. Canon A. Rees Hay, Headmaster at Trinity Preparatory School where Mike will graduate on June 11. Canon Hay said this is "probably the most outstanding award ever given to a student of Trinity and we are very proud of Mike."

A letterman in both basketball and baseball during his sophomore, junior and senior years at Trinity, he was voted Most Valuable Player in basketball for 1977. During his junior year, Mike was voted the Florence M. Rockwood Outstanding Friendship Award by the faculty. He was also president of the Prom Committee that year. This year he has been president of the Key Club and the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. He was also the alternate for the Lou Frey Internship.

Mike is the son of Col. and Mrs. Anthony Denicole Jr., Winter Park. His father is a member of the history department staff and coaches baseball and basketball at Trinity.

TROY, AL. Troy State University has announced the names of 651 candidates for graduation following the spring quarter.

Graduation exercises will be June 10 to 10:30 a.m. in Smith Hall Auditorium. The speaker will be Judge C. J. Coley, President and Chairman of the Board of the Alexander City Area.

Patricia Anne English of Casselberry will receive a Bachelor's Degree.

GAINESVILLE — John A. Tucker of Sanford has received a second prize of $75 for a paper prepared as part of a class in agricultural law at the University of Florida's Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences (IFAS).

The award, contributed by the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association, was for his paper entitled "An Examination of the Trespass Concept and its Pertinent Conjunction with the Farm Community." It was selected from among 38 submitted papers by Dr. James S. Wershov, IFAS visiting professor of agricultural law.

Tucker, who is majoring in agronomy, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Tucker of Sanford.

FTU — Two Sanford students are among those who will graduate with honors during Commencement Friday at Florida Tech University. Susan E. Charker and Carla J. Jarrell, both 1972 graduates of Seminole High School, will receive their degrees summa cum laude and cum laude, respectively.

SCC Management Course

Small Business Operation and Management is a comprehensive short course offered by Seminole Community College for individuals desiring to start a small business or who already own a business and desire assistance with supervision, managing, and operation problems. The program is co-sponsored by the Federal Small Business Administration, Jacksonville, Florida, which supply student "handout materials and assistance to students.

He's Good For Ponchatoula

PONCHATOULA, La. (AP) — Once upon a time in Chappelle Creek there lived a mean old alligator. One day some boys, swimming in the creek, came upon the mean old alligator. Being country boys, born and raised in the alligator Louisiana swampland, they were not frightened. They got some ropes, lassoed that mean old alligator, and as they say in these parts, drag him home.

By and by, the mean old alligator became the richest old alligator in the whole world. People can't resist throwing money at him. His life, alas, was not always so blessed. The country boys who found him discovered that their mamas did not want a mean old alligator around the house. They looked and looked. Finally they found a lady who said she would take care of him. The lady phoned her friend, Charles Gideon, who was the mayor of Ponchatoula and known far and wide as a wise solver of problems.

"Mayor," the lady said, "do you want an alligator?" "Yes," replied the mayor. The mayor sent a truck. The driver returned with the alligator and asked where to put it. "Put it in the city swimming pool," the mayor said.

The mayor led the alligator chickens. It liked chickens. One morning a city employee, on his way to work, spied an alligator crossing the road. He phoned the mayor. "Mayor," he said, "do you want another alligator?" "Why not?" said the mayor. The city employee tossed the new alligator in the city pool and went about his city work. The new alligator was smaller than the mean old alligator. The mean old alligator was 11 feet long.

Next morning the mayor went to look over his alligator collection. He made a startling discovery. Swimming in the city pool was only one alligator.

Strong men roped and tied the mean old alligator and brought him to the cage. Then the mayor put up a sign on the highway: ALLIGATOR. Tourists came to peek, but the Town Council grumbled. "How, wondered the mayor, can I raise the money to pay for this fine alligator cage and for all the chickens that mean old pretty alligator eats and keep the Town Council off my back?" He had another brainstorm. He put up another sign, this one inside the alligator cage: TWENTY-FIVE DOLLAR FINE FOR THROWING ANYTHING AT THIS ALLIGATOR EXCEPT MONEY.

Now, day by day people driving down the highway see the sign and come to Ponchatoula and stand outside the cage in the middle of the town and throw money at that mean old alligator. The cage is paid for. The chickens are paid for. The Town Council is happy. The tourists are happy to peek at the prettiest mean old alligator in the whole world, and the richest.

Dekle's, Seaboard Nab Metro Softball Victories

In Metro League softball action Wednesday night, Lay's Gulf edged Tanquery Lounge, 21-20; Dekle's Gulf stopped Eldridge Standard, 17-16; and Seaboard Coastline doused Auto Train, 17-2.

Lay's established the early lead with 11 runs in the first inning. Tanquery tied it up in the fourth, 13-13, after holding Lay's scoreless for two innings, but Lay's five-run sixth inning gave it the advantage.

Tanquery was paced by the home run hitting of Freddie Washington and Eddie Jackson, Washington with two and Jackson with one. Other top hitters for Tanquery were Jack Carter, Henry Sanders, and Burnett Washington, each with three hits.

Bob Markos doubled for Lay's only extra base hit and led the parade with 4-for-5. Lay's made use of the sacrifice fly, scoring four runs with it including the winning run on a sacrifice to left field by Mike Galloway. It took nine innings but Eldridge finally succumbed to the mighty Dekle's Gulf. Eldridge lead 1-0 until the seventh when Dekle's tied it up, then fell in the ninth when it was unable to come near Dekle's eight runs.

Top hitters for Dekle's were Joe Benton and Bob Somerville, 4-for-5, and Larry Miller, 3-for-4.

Somerville also claimed a homer. There was actually no contest involved in Seaboard's derauling of Auto Train. The 3 1/2 inning game saw the home team take the overwhelming lead, 17-1, in the bottom of the third.

Glen Robinson and Rico Peterson claimed top honors, each 3-for-4 for the night.

HAT TRICK BY BILL MILLER PUTS RANDY SCHRUM OUT

Top Team Action Set Tonight

By ANDY GIRARDI Herald Correspondent

If you're kind of confused as to what's happening in the Seminole Pony Baseball League, you're not the only one. Even managers and league officials have trouble remembering details.

Only three of the five divisions are still playing regular season games — Brenco, Colt and Pinto.

Championships have been settled in two divisions. ComBank, which won the Pony Division several weeks ago, continues to practice, getting ready for the Top Team Tournament.

Dulando Auto Screens, Mustang champs have already advanced into the final round and will play Saturday for the Top Team Championship.

Sobik's Sandwich Shop, runner-up in the Mustang Division will face the Semoran Yankees for a chance to meet Dulando Saturday night.

Sobik's will be at its best tonight against the Yankees. It is trying to get another shot at Dulando, which trailed it all season, but won every playoff

HAT TRICK BY BILL MILLER PUTS RANDY SCHRUM OUT

Seminole Lineup Is Confusing

By ANDY GIRARDI Herald Correspondent

Saturday night's game will be played at Five Points Field but the time has not been set.

Both Brenco and Pinto Divisions are close to finishing up with just three games to be played by each team.

The Colt Division which started much later in the spring than others, will conclude on June 23. Each division will have an all-star team as well as advance its top two teams in the Top Team tournament.

Each manager will submit five names to the league officials for consideration as all-stars. The all-star manager will then pick what he considers his best 15 players to compete in the tournament.

SCC Announces Tennis Signees

Seminole Community College tennis coach Larry Castle announced five more signings Wednesday.

Mark Emery, of Ormond Beach and a top 20 amateur in Florida, and Fort Lauderdale Piper left Robert Binns join Seminole High's David McCook as three Floridians who will play for SCC next spring.

Phil Richie, of Edinborough, Scotland, is expected to be the No. 1 player, having superb European tournament experience. Also coming will be Toronto's Richard Nakon, that city's top 18-under performer, and Robert Hale, of Jamaica, who has been competing successfully in Toronto.

"Richie may be the best player we have ever had," said Castle. Returning from last year's No. 6 national tourney team are Colin David and Mo Castim.

Five sophomores got scholarships — Steve Cox to Northeastern Louisiana; Stuart Thompson and Peter Roberts to Middle Tennessee State; Buddy Gonzalez to Birmingham Southern; and Kim Ivey to University of Texas at Dallas.

What Is More Insidious?

What can be more insidious than man's ingratitude to man? "It's a question I have to ask myself every day," says Bill Daniels, Denver communications pioneer who took a $4 million bath in a naive venture into big time professional sports — particularly basketball and boxing.

"I am not bitter, just disillusioned," added the energetic head of Daniels Properties, Inc., which has a network of cable television subscribers in 14 cities and five states. "I learned a lesson. I found that faith and trust are scarce commodities in today's inflated sports market.

"Most athletes are out for everything they can get. Few have a compulsion about keeping their word. Contracts and understandings are just things made to wiggle out of.

"For me, it has been a shattering experience. "The experience mainly encompassed the Utah Stars of the now defunct American Basketball Association and two ranking heavyweight, ex-convict Ron Lyle and the recently beaten "white hope," Duane Bobick.

"Lyle was like a brother to me," Daniels said. "I took an interest in him while he was still in prison. He had great potential as a fighter. I saw possibilities of rehabilitating him on the strength of his boxing ability.

"I used all the influence I had to get him pardoned by the governor of Colorado. I reminded him a shot at the title. I fulfilled that promise. Ron had a lead on Muhammad Ali on every official card until he got careless in the 11th round and was knocked out of our contract. It was like a son saying, 'Well, dad, I don't like you any more. I am going away.'"

"The experience with Bobick was every bit as disheartening, Daniels said. "Before the 1972 Olympics, everybody was promising Duane a Cadillac and $200,000 bonus to sign after the Games," he related. "They were sure he would win and be a big pro drawing card. But he lost and, when he returned home, he found that all those fancy offers had disappeared. Nobody wanted to talk to him.

"That's when I signed him. I gave him good training and coaching, paying him $1,000 a month expenses. Then, after his 34th fight, he came to me and said he wanted to go to Joe Frazier. "I figure I lost $70,000 on Bobick alone."

The comic-strip executive took his biggest bath in the old ABA, a venture that he figures cost him close to $4 million. "The Stars were in the cellar some 17 or 18 games out of first place in 1970 when I brought the franchise from Los Angeles to Utah," he said. "We made the playoffs. Then we set a first-year attendance record for pro basketball.

"From there, we went on to win the ABA championship. I thought something was wrong when our star, Bill Sharman, failed to attend the victory party. Two weeks later he advised us he was leaving the team to join the Los Angeles Lakers in the NBA. "The ethical structure of sports is decaying," Daniels insisted. "The courts haven't made a single favorable decision to the owners. They're killing pro sports. A player's word means nothing."

Slew's Jockey: 'The Bank'

NEW YORK (AP) — Jean Cruguet, who has ridden top horses on both sides of the Atlantic but who has ridden in a shadow in the area of public attention, says he is not concerned about any celebrity status he might achieve because of Seattle Slew.

"Ten years ago maybe," the Frenchman said Wednesday morning at Belmont Park, the site of Seattle Slew's bid for the Triple Crown which will come Saturday in the Belmont Stakes.

"When you're 20 you look for the glory. When you're past 30 you forget the glory. You like it but you look for the bank."

Expos Pick Adams Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Give the Montreal Expos credit for this much — they know a good prospect when they see him. The Expos liked Calvin Adams enough to make him the No. 1 over-all selection in baseball's amateur free agent draft last January and even though they were unable to sign the Central Arizona Junior College third baseman-oufielder, that didn't change their opinion of the young man's ability.

Richardson said Adams stayed in school after last January's draft because the Montreal contract offer wasn't good enough to lure him away. "But he wants to go and he's ready to play," the coach said. Ferroni was drafted in January by the Cleveland Indians but didn't think he was ready for professional baseball at that point. He preferred a year of junior college experience and pitched 100 innings for Richardson's division champions, posting an .84 record and 2.79 earned run average in 16 games.

"He was our stopper," said Richardson. "He has average major league velocity and a pretty good curve ball."

The Twins were enthusiastic about the 18-year-old left-hander. "He's a strong, stocky-type kid," said scout Jess Flores, Jr. "His speed and curve ball are exceptional. He has good stuff with exceptional control."

There were four players drafted from Miami-Dade Junior College's three divisions. They were first baseman-catcher Aurelio Cudabala by Philadelphia; right-handed pitcher Byron Ballard by the New York Yankees; right-hander Vic Walters by Houston, and catcher Rodolfo Arias by Seattle.

Seattle Slew A Family Operation At Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — Seattle Slew, bidding to become the only unbeaten Triple Crown winner in thoroughbred racing, lives as though he were the patriarch of a family, a sizable handful of adult people who do his bidding and adore his every move.

And closest to the wonder colt are his owners, Karen and Mickey Taylor of White Swan, Wash., a wholesome-looking, bright-eyed couple who argue frequently about this arrangement and that, but in words liberally sprinkled with "honey's" and "dears."

Also part of the Seattle Slew commune are Dr. Jim Hill, part owner and the veterinarian who helped the Taylors choose the colt; his wife Paula, the horse's groom and other attendants and an assortment of Karen and Mickey's relatives who help out with the evergrowing business that comes with having a winner.

Those duties include answering Slew's considerable fan mail as well as tending off attempts by unauthorized entrepreneurs from capitalizing on Seattle Slew's name.

These days the family of Slew spends most of each day around Barn 54 at Belmont Park, the 3-year-old colt's favorite place, as he prepares to run the Belmont Stakes Saturday in his effort to complete the Triple Crown.

"It's really a family organization," says Karen Taylor, the 32-year-old former airline stewardess who never got over her little-girl dreams of having a horse.

Years ago she begged for a horse from her father, who'd spent his life around horses and wanted nothing more to do with them.

She married Mickey after a seven-year courtship (He says he didn't have enough money to marry her before then, and "besides, she was flying all the time"). He didn't want to get her a horse either — too much work.

In their anniversary five years ago, he bought the Slew, a son of Bold Ransom, for a mere $17,500 at the Fasig-Tipton summer sale two years ago. "He was really awkward. But he's grown into his bones. He's lost that baby, bullish look."

"Now he's getting to act like a professional." Winning may be a habit for Seattle Slew, who hasn't lost one of eight outings, but it's never just easy-going for Karen. She may have utter confidence in her horse but she's a little superstitious and jangled by the end of a race.

"I just get high on liquor, no drugs — I just get high on the horse. I'm always so relieved when it's over, that he's made it in."

For Friday, June 10, 1977

YOUR BIRTHDAY
June 10, 1977

Dealings you have with large groups or corporations could be quite lucky for you this year. Don't be intimidated by the size of the entity you're approaching.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) A busy day is in store for you, but don't let it concern you. The more things you have to juggle, the better you perform.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try not to overplay your hand or be too assertive today. Your advantage lies in letting others come to you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be both hopeful and positive today. If you can maintain an optimistic outlook, things happen the way you want them to.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Luck may play an active and fortunate role in your affairs today. This plus your tenacity and imagination should make you a winner.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Where others may see only the dark side, you see rays of sunshine. Thus, you can bring hope into people's lives.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Ally yourself with powerful associates and depend on them to lead the interference today. They'll get you over the goal.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Doing what comes naturally today and being tactful and cooperative with others will get you just about anything you set your mind on.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Dedicated work toward the achievement of some goal can be fruitful for you today. The possibility of large gains is very promising.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If there's someone influential who could be an important contact try to mix socially with him today. You'll benefit from a closer relationship.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Initially things may not go exactly as you programmed them. Don't let this dismay you. You're a far stronger finisher than you are a starter.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Just because people do things a certain way doesn't mean that you should follow suit. Be imaginative and creative and you'll think of something better.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Several channels whereby you can get things you really want are open today. If you find one door closes, hasten to knock on another.

Fainting Is Very Common

DEAR DR. LAMB— Today I had a blood sample taken. They took a rubber hose and made my vein stick out. When they gave me the shot, I started seeing colors and would have fainted if I hadn't put my head between my knees. I have fainted or nearly fainted every time I get a shot, cut my finger or one time when I moved my leg just after a cast was taken off.

It's embarrassing when you have to get a shot from the school nurse and faint. What causes me to faint? Can I stop fainting?

DEAR READER— This is more common than you might realize. Almost anyone will faint if given sufficient provocation. Even men in top physical condition and superior health, such as candidates for the astronaut program, would faint if run on a treadmill first and then put on a tilt table to strap them upright.

I presume you are fairly young. You may be happy to learn that the reflexes involved change as you mature and fainting is less likely to happen. By the time you are 25 and don't need to see the school nurse there may be no problem.

Most of the faints as you describe are caused by reflex actions. The arteries dilate so blood runs to the lower half of the body. The heart may slow or even stop momentarily. The combination of events leads to a lack of blood flow to the brain and that is what causes the faint. That is also why putting your head between your knees makes you feel better. It helps increase the blood flow to the brain.

Being in good physical condition helps. Learning to relax helps too. You would be less likely to have a fainting episode if you were lying down when you had your blood drawn. I am sending you the

East-West vulnerable
Opening lead—Q♥

West couldn't do himself any good by ruffing so he chucked a diamond. Z was in dummy with the king of clubs and led back the 10. Now East had a Hobson's choice. If he played his queen, South would eventually get to discard a losing diamond on the nine of clubs; if he ducked, South wouldn't lose a club trick. Z was sure of 10 tricks and a top score.

Note that if Z had not played that club at trick two he would not have been able to make the contract.

Ask the Jacobys

A reader asks what you respond to a Blackwood four no trump when you have one ace and are void of a suit.

This is a very sticky question since it depends on partnership agreements. The straight Blackwood rule is to just bid five diamonds to show one ace, but most experts respond six diamonds if they think that their void will be a valuable one.

Under no circumstances do they respond five hearts to show two aces.

SEMINOLE HIGH SCHOOL CLASS OF 1977

The Principal Speaks

School spirit, accomplishments, awards, togetherness, loyalty and not knowing the meaning of quitting, characterized the class of '77 and made it one of the most successful classes ever to graduate from Seminole High School.

The faculty and administration will sincerely miss the Class of '77 and hope that we have done our part in preparing these students for our constantly changing, threatening society.

We thank the class of '77 for creating a change at Seminole High School from a negative situation with poor school spirit to a positive situation noted for its school spirit. From a situation of losing to a situation of winning, from a don't care situation to a situation of pride.

The class of '77 has set an example that we hope is emulated by the classes in the future.

Class of '77 — We will miss you!

CLASS OF 1977

The End - It's Really Only The Beginning

Text By Lynn Heard and Stephanie Sears

In September, 1973, we entered high school at the bottom of the ranks. As freshmen, we were scared, unsure of ourselves and cursed with being "one of those" for an eternal nine months. Ask directions from an upperclassman and you may very likely have ended up in D-corridor bathroom. Such were the struggles of ninth-graders. Despite these, we had a whole new world opening up to us — waiting to be experienced — and the Class of '77 "went for it!" Schedules, lockers (bottom ones of course) and learning our way around campus was just the start of four exciting years ahead of us. Officers were elected shortly after school began. Those heading up the freshman class were: Kevin Kain, president; Charlotte Besecker, vice president; Becky Connert, secretary; and Paula Myers, treasurer. Greyhound spirit was high as the Freshman

Cheerleaders led the group at pep rallies and games. Those for the 1973-74 year were: Lindsey Howe, captain; Sandy Piloian, co-captain; Kathe Leure, Cathy Franklin, Louise Mills, Melissa McDonald, Valerie Graham, and Vicki Vandolouten. Babyhound gridders were: M. Seminelli, R. Esch, D. Beaver, S. Latham, W. Jackson, J. Seminare, M. Kieppe, A. Kashman, B. Milonovich, A. Schwieger, D. Andriano, S. Penney, J. Flores, A. Johnson, C. Godschawk, R. King, B. Poe, T. Burns, D. Duffy, S. Thomas, B. Sull, J. Whitworth, T. Cacciaputti, C. Germano, B. Swearingin, H. Felder, S. Wolderski, J. Osborne, D. Lang, R. Duncan, M. Wilson, R. Myera, E. Edwards, and G. Walker. The upcoming class also was well-represented in track. Bruce Caldwell, Bob Burkhardt, Jeff Hill, Rob Esch, Kevin Kain, Tim Burns, John Osborne, and Chris Germano were freshmen thinclads. Veterans of the 1973 swim team are Tom Seibert and Brian Artman. Managers, taking responsibility for teams were: Doug Wilson (swimming) and Brian Artman (basketball). Other freshmen participating in sports were: Bob Burkhardt (basketball), Jimmy Withrow and Donnie Andriano (J.V. baseball). Our ninth-grade year was highlighted by first dates, senior crushes, wearing your favorite jersey, and movies such as "The Way We Were," "American Graffiti," and "The Sting." Platforms and desert boots were "in" and long, as was straight hair for the girls. Parties were big — getting down to hits like "Hooked on a Feeling" and "Taking Care of Business," or just listening to favorites like "Sunshine on My Shoulders," the theme song from "The Way We Were," and "I honestly Love you." John Denver, Bachman-Turner Overdrive,

Chicago, and Olivia Newton-John were popular names among singers. Summer rolled around and we were finally released from the shackles of the freshman "image." No more ninth-grade grammar classes, or having mom or dad pick up the "gang" from dances. Now we would be found in Vocabulary Development and helping our parents through the nightmares of a restricted license. We were sophomores now. "Almost older."

Friday nights were spent seeing movies like "The Exorcist," "Jeremiah Johnson," and "Blazing Saddles," or going to see the ever-so-spooky "Orlando Lights." The 74-75 year brought the van into popularity among the Lyman crowd, and on the radio times like "When Will I See You Again," "Rock the Boat," and "Kung Fu Fighting" were always to be heard. Music saw a change as a new group called K.C. and the Sunshine Band came into existence somehow we managed to get through the year and have fun at the same time. Sure to be seen on most girls were "wings," japp-laps or saddles, longer skirts, and glitter shirts. And guys who were "in style" wore platform shoes, Levi cords, and the all-time favorite straight-legged jeans. We were sophomores now. "Almost older."

'In-Betweenness'

The 1974-75 year was one of "in-betweenness" for the class of '77. We were "too old" for the activities carried on by freshmen, yet our independence was limited by the fact that we weren't old enough to drive without the guidance of Mom and Dad. But

See 'A Little,' Page 6

The end of 12 long years is only the beginning. High school is ending for the Class of 1977 and life is waiting just around the corner.

As we "go for" the future, special memories of our past four years stay with us. Looking back and smiling, we see how we grew from unsure freshmen, climbed through the ranks of sophomore and junior days, and finally reached the goal of being a senior, only to find that in a matter of weeks we'll be set free in an open world as inexperienced as we were as 9th graders. We leave Lyman a little older, and a little wiser and surely rich with memories...

'Never Again'

"I expect to pass through this world but once; any good thing therefore that I can do, or any kindness that I can show to any fellow creature, let me do it now; let me not defer or neglect it, for I shall not pass this way again."

THE FOOTBALL TEAM

'GO FOR IT!'

Living is only possible if you really "GO FOR IT!!!" Don't hesitate... live your every moment to its fullest, only then will you really understand true happiness. Look forward to each new sunrise, each new challenge that you may face, hold your head high and know that if you can imagine it, you can become it! And if you can dream it, you can achieve it!

THANKS...

The 1977 Senior class of Lyman gives a big thanks to our little brothers and sisters of 1978. This year's prom was one of the best ever and we thank them for giving us a most special experience in our last year at Lyman.

THE 'MIGHTY SENIOR WOMEN'

...AND GOOD LUCK

The Seniors of Lyman wish the 1977 graduating class of Lake Brantley and Lake Howell a special good luck for the future. As a freshman class, many of us were one, but now as seniors, we are divided among three schools. But although separated, we have memories of our days together, and express our thanks for sharing a special part of our lives.

'A Little Older... Wiser...'

and brought with them a new music called Disco. Other singers enjoyed were Elton John, Seals and Croft, and Helen Reddy. The Watergate scandal headlined many papers across the nation, and the United States was filled with tension.

And as we grew older, we also grew in number. Lyman's Class of 77 received many new members from rival school Lake Brantley as we underwent a change of boundary lines.

Because of our new friends, the class of '77 still remained the largest class at Lyman. Leading the class as spirited sophomores were J.V. cheerleaders Bonnie Harvey (captain), Monica Callan, Mandy Toole, Sandy Piloian, Karen Henley, Debbie Dorfman, Valerie Graham, Katrina Dvorsky, and alternate Kelly Price.

On the varsity football lineup, we were represented by Bob Burkhardt and Richard Beary. But the bulk of our enthusiasm went to J.V. gridlers which included Tim Handford, Steve Peavay, Ross McClellan, Chris Germano, Wyman Jackson, Scott Wolderski, Rick Haines, Dennis Lang, Jim Franklin, Danny Williams, Bret Poe, Mike Sumner, Rollie Helser, Larry Clark, Barry Swearingen, Darryl LeClair, Jeff Laterno, Ed Christianson, Gary Bradley, Joey Malson, and Dwan Handorf.

Representing the sophomores in track were Tim Burns, Bret Poe, Steve Rohrbach, Mark Betz, Jeff Hill, Kevin Kain, Barry Swearingen, Danny Williams, and Bruce Caldwell. The 1974-75 wrestling team saw much action with sophomore participants Luis Payas and Mark Schuster on varsity, and J.V. grapplers including Dennis Lang, Mike Godfrey, and Brian Bentley.

On the J.V. basketball team we had Dave Schmidt, Jeff Fletcher, Bob Burkhardt, and Bill Morrell. Making up the swim team for that year were Bonnie Blamick, Ginger Dyer, Debbie McCarty, Diane Bohala, Cindi Blake, and Dan Hartman.

Participating in other sports were Brian Artman (soccer), Alan and David Hanley (golf), Denny Low, Elaine Neville, Monica Callan, and Bob Smith (tennis), Cheryl Souey, Hattie Johnson, Linda MacLeod, Susan Blair, and Debbie Stevens (girls' basketball), and Kathe LeSure, Katrina Dvorsky, Debbie Dorfman, and Karen Berry (girls' track).

With memories of a winning ski at homecoming, having the first sophomore on homecoming court, and going bananas at pep rallies, our sophomore year came to a close. Thoughts turned to the summer months and favorite spots, like the Mafia house at New Smyrna. In three short months we were to once again return to the Lyman campus. But this time as juniors. We had finally reached the upper class status.

Almost There

"Official Upperclassmen." We were almost there! The 1975 school year opened with preparations for the coming Bicentennial. Blue and gold, sprinkled with red, white, and blue were colors worn by Lyman during our big junior year.

The first day of school was a big event for many juniors. During the summer most had attained what every teenager dreams of...that necessity of life - a driver's license. Cars of every make, year and color could be found in our own fenced south parking lot. Schedules were received and the Class of '77 began its 11th year of school. The year that was supposed to be the best. Just old enough to drive, but not yet old enough to worry about college entrance exams.

Homecoming proved exciting for the junior class. Wednesday, according to Lyman tradition, was skit night. The junior class sang a Bicentennial rendition of the 13 days of Christmas entitled, "On the first day of America." The skit included fans cheering, voters voting, five great men and a star spangled banner. Second place went to the juniors for their terrific performance!

Thursday night was the big event for the powderpuff teams. The junior girls practiced long and hard for the game and really showed their talent on the field. Unfortunately the final score was not in our favor but the night was exciting and the undefeatable spirit of the "Tuff Stuff" juniors carried on.

Friday was the climax of Homecoming. The week had been a busy one for all and had left us with valuable memories.

As the year progressed, the class worked together to prepare the Junior-Senior Prom. Squeezing oranges for punch, making decorations and ordering hors d'oeuvres were just starters.

Money for the dance was earned by the Junior Class Carnival in January. Each club had a booth and donated part of its earnings to the treasurer.

As the year came to a close many juniors sported class rings, little reminders of our high school days for later years. For remembering...MacDonald's after the games...straight-legged jeans...earth shoes and "jap flaps"...short hair for the girls...when sneaking out to lunch was a "biggie" or Dunkin' Doughnuts for breakfast...hanging around the mall just for fun...and "rolling" buses was crazy and daring. Remembering our junior summer, which brought our first college entrance exams, lots of beach days, summer jobs and the Senior Portrait - that proof that we were finally nearing our "big" year; the last high school days of our lives... that experience of being a SENIOR!!

Lake Brantley High School Class of 1977

DARVIN A. BOOTHE

THE PRINCIPAL SPEAKS

TO THE CLASS OF 1977: Congratulations to the first class of the third century of the United States of America. This is a milestone in your life and in the life of Lake Brantley High School. We look with pride upon your accomplishments here.

I leave these thoughts with you. Education is a continuous process, not ending when you pass through the school doors for the last time. Commitment will pave the way to success in your life. The values which have made our country strong and noble should guide your thoughts and actions as you move through life. Those who made it possible for you to enjoy this achievement should be remembered.

The faculty, guidance department, staff, and administration of Lake Brantley High School join to wish you continuing success in your future endeavors. To parents we give thanks for the assistance given to us through the years and we share their joy on this occasion.

Sincerely yours,
Darvin A. Boothe
Acting Principal

Class of 1977

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

KEITH STONE
'GOOD LUCK'

TO THE CLASS OF '77' — Each year it becomes my privilege to offer a parting statement to those of you who are completing your requirements for graduation. It is difficult for me, year after year, to say something uniquely appropriate to the class of the hour.

I know that I share with our entire school staff a hope that each of you will commit yourself to worthwhile goals throughout your life, and experience the success of their fulfillment.

Certainly in today's society with all of its challenges, unlimited possibilities exist for rendering service to others through your family, church, government, community, and business or profession. We hope that you will not be apathetic, but will search for opportunities to be positive and helpful in all your endeavors. We are sure that your enjoyment and satisfaction will be immeasurable.

In closing we feel that as you leave Oviedo High a part of us goes with you, and we will look with both hope and pride at the growth and successes you experience in the future. Good luck!!

The Sanford Landfill Saga: From Birds To The 'Breach'

By MARK WEINBERG
Herald Staff Writer

It began with a pesky flock of sea gulls bedeviling airplanes using Sanford-Central Florida Airport and ended quietly with the delivery of a two-paragraph letter to Sanford's city attorney.

Charles E. Davis, lawyer for the sellers of the 85.45-acre tract, which is located near Mayfair Country Club and the city's main water wells, informed Sanford City Atty. C. Vernon Mize Jr., last Wednesday the sellers would consider the city in breach of the January contract to buy the land if the deal isn't closed by drop, but Mize doesn't feel Davis will go to court to force the land sale. Mize also thinks the city can get back the $10,000 deposit it paid in January.

How did the Sanford City Commission, which includes two realtors, wind up pushing a plan to put a landfill in one of the best residential neighborhoods in the city?

"We acted in haste and ill-advisedly," Commissioner John Morris put it bluntly. Morris made a motion at Monday's commission meeting to withdraw the offer to purchase the land. The motion, supported by Mayor Lee P.

Moore, went down to defeat. Mize felt at the time the city would be open to legal action by the sellers forcing the sale if Sanford moved to break the contract.

Bud Davis' letter means the sellers made the first move. And the city certainly took every action it could to speed the rezoning of the land from residential to agricultural, the first step in legalizing a landfill for the land.

The gulls congregated in great numbers at the city's former landfill near the airport. The landfill was shut down last year when the Federal Aviation

County Seeks Delay In Funding Battle With State Attorney

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

The current legal hassle over alleged funding cutbacks of the state attorney's office by Seminole County Commissioners has taken a new twist.

"The commission, according to court records, is asking a circuit court judge to hold up any further action in the matter until the State Supreme Court rules on a similar case from Brevard County.

The action stems from a court order that the commission furnish a record of how it has funded local expenses for the state attorney in conjunction with a lawsuit filed by a former state attorney accusing the commission of illegally cutting back on expenses for his office.

Abbott Herring, then Seminole-Brevard State Attorney, filed the local civil action in September 1975 accusing Seminole county commissioners of violating state law in cutting his 1975-76 local budget request from $18,750 to $4,850. State Atty. Douglas Cheshire has continued the lawsuit.

Herring filed suit against Brevard county commissioners also on local budget funding for 1975-76. Circuit Court Judge Richard Madsen upheld Brevard commissioners' denial of Herring's request for postage expenses, gasoline, maintenance and auto liability insurance and additional telephone expenses on the grounds that the commission had no duty under state law to provide the requested items which were costs for services which the county prorated among units of county government.

The Fourth District Court of Appeals, West Palm Beach, affirmed Madsen's decision last April 7, and Cheshire is now seeking review of the case by the State Supreme Court.

Seminole County Atty. Joe Horn Mount says until Madsen's decision is reversed or modified the state attorney isn't entitled to similar expenses in Seminole County. He has asked Judge Williams at Sanford to stay proceedings in the local lawsuit until a higher court rules on the Brevard case.

No hearing date has been set on the county's motion to stay proceedings in the local lawsuit.

On May 6, Judge Williams ordered Seminole County commissioners to explain within 30 days a record since 1973 of repeatedly funding less than the requested local expenses of the state attorney's office.

The reply filed by Mount states that the local commissioners' budgetary judgement was based on an interpretation of state law that has now been upheld by the appeals court in the Brevard funding lawsuit.

"In addition, an analysis of the previous budgetary requirements and the actual expenditures of the state attorney in Seminole, together with a similar analysis of the funds available to him for similar purposes from the state, compelled the former Seminole Board of County Commissioners to find that additional appropriations of county funds to the state attorney would have been an improper exercise of its budgetary responsibility," according to the county reply to Judge Williams.

Judge Williams' interim ruling in May has indicated that Seminole county commissioners must reconsider their funding of the prosecutor's office for the 1975-76 fiscal year.

Mount notes that the state attorney's office that year had a $1,834 cash balance at the end of the year and says the county commission believes that it would be improper for it to appropriate any additional funds for the state attorney's 1975-76 budget.

A 1976 change in state law on local funding for the state attorney required that the 1975-74 budget year be the reference year for determining what centralized non-prorated services would be furnished the state attorney by the county.

The county reply says Seminole County budgeted $17,545 for the state attorney in 1973-74 and Herring returned a $14,734 surplus to the county at the end of the year. The county budgeted $20,463 for Herring in 1974-75 and he returned a surplus of $6,972 at the end of the year. Mount says these two budgetary years formed the county commission's decision on funding the state attorney's office in 1975-76.

The county commission also notes that in 1974-75 that Herring anticipated moving offices out of the Sanford courthouse and was funded $8,000 for rent and $1,200 for janitorial service. The office wasn't moved and county commissioners allowed Herring to use the $9,200 for "other purposes."

In justifying its budgetary actions, the county commission reply also notes that Herring returned to the state surpluses of $30,207 at the end of the 1973-74 and 1974-75 fiscal years.

CRASH INJURES DEBARY PAIR

Two DeBary residents were seriously injured Thursday afternoon when the auto in which they were riding entered SR-46 west of Sanford from C-15 at Upsala Rd., and crossed three lanes of traffic before colliding with a car driven by Eva Fennell Pittman, 46, of Winter Haven. Mrs. Pittman and a passenger, Beatrice Reed, also of Winter Haven, were not injured. Mrs. Gracebelle McCombs Weber, 72, of DeBary, was listed in "good" condition today at Seminole Memorial Hospital, Sanford. Florida Highway Patrol Trooper T.R. McIntyre said she was charged with violation of right-of-way in the accident. A Winter Park Hospital spokesman today listed Mrs. Martha Newell, 78, of DeBary, in "fair" condition with head injuries.

Returns Revenues To Cities

Hattaway Offers Tax Proposal

BOB HATTAWAY

State Rep. Robert Hattaway (D-Altamonte Springs) is to take to the floor of the State House of Representatives today an amendment "acceptable to the Republican members" proposing an increase in state sales taxes of one cent and earmarking 30 per cent of the resulting revenues for return to local government.

Hattaway said the $300 million in revenue would be earmarked under this plan, probably most acceptable to the public.

— $20 million to fund those items in the overall budget which exceed current revenues.

Lake Mary Police Chief Seeks U.S. $ For Department

BENSON

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

The Lake Mary Police Department in light of inevitable growth in the four-year old municipality must be beefed up with additional personnel and equipment.

That's what Police Chief Harry Benson, in his third year with the young department, says. And, he added, he isn't looking to the city council to increase taxes for the expansion he sees as both necessary and inevitable.

Benson sees his budget for fiscal 1977-78 beginning Oct. 1 increasing only by a five to 10 per cent cost of living salary increase for personnel.

With the already underway annexation of the Heathrow Planned Unit Development (PUD) and the possibility of the annexation of Green Belt PUD additional personnel must be brought aboard, according to Benson. The Lake Mary Police Department is operating this year on an $81,100 budget and has six sworn officers including Benson on the payroll and five reserve officers.

The reserves are all sworn part-time officers, who serve without pay. All five have gone through the 320-hour police standards minimum requirement courses at Seminole Community College and all are certified by Tallahassee.

Benson sees his budget for fiscal 1977-78 beginning Oct. 1 increasing only by a five to 10 per cent cost of living salary increase for personnel.
