Dark Shadow Moves Across Rocky's Future

United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — A dark shadow is moving across the bright political image of New York's Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. It is moving, which is the governor's good fortune. If the shadow comes to rest it could take on the outlines of Gov. Rockefeller's bad-luck raven.

The shadow consists of Rockefeller's spending record. Conservative Republicans will not be happy about that and less so if, as suspected by some conservatives, Rockefeller comes up this time with a deficit.

The governor campaigned last year and was elected to a second term on a solemn pledge that he would not raise taxes. He further assured the voters that he would not resort to bond issues in lieu of a tax hike. Neither would he draw on reserves of state funds to meet expenses.

Pay-as-you-go was the basic note of Rockefeller's campaign. Heavily taxed New Yorkers liked the idea, especially the pledge of no new taxes. Rockefeller had not much more than dummy opposition from the Democrats and their nominee for governor.

But when the returns were in, Rocky had a bulge of no more than 50,000 votes. He and his managers had figured on more than that, a whopping majority would have become Republican opposition to Rockefeller's nomination next year for president. His majority was disappointing.

Even so, Rockefeller's reelection, Richard M. Nixon's defeat in California and some lesser factors seemed the New Yorker to front runner position toward 1964. Not merely front runner, either, but front runner by several laps. Then Rockefeller produced his budget for the state of New York. The voters' anguish was loud and immediate.

Rocky did not propose new taxes. But he laid on a 40 per cent hike in motor vehicle registration fees, license fees for physicians, pool halls and such also went up. The average increase on a New York motor vehicle was $9.50.

Rockefeller explains that these revenue measures are in the area of fees, not taxes. This exercise in semantics verges on a quibble. But Rockefeller has on his side the solid argument that registration fees have not been increased since 1925—and what can you buy now that doesn't cost more than 40 years ago?

The Republican legislature is shaken. The voters are pressuring their legislators to reject Rocky's program. That would be a political reverse of magnitude for the governor. Worse for him, however, is that the uproar over fees has focused attention on his spending record and spending plans.

Crackdown Expected Here

Hunt For 'Blue Suede Shoe' Boys

Crackdown on "blue suede shoe boys" operating the home repair racket in Sanford and Seminole County appeared imminent today.

There has been some reference in official circles of a grand jury probe although city and county officers would not permit their names to be published in this respect.

The Sanford Herald emphasizes that this article does NOT refer in any way, directly or indirectly, to the legitimate firms who do operate here . . . sales organizations, contractors and construction firms, finance houses, etc. It does emphasize the "fly-by-nighters." The Herald has been endeavoring all this week to learn what action is being taken locally.

Paul Lewis, manager of the Credit Bureau of Sanford and Seminole County, said today that Shlyyak and Lockamy parted company about a year ago. He said that, to the best of his knowledge, Shlyyak now is operating his own firm and that Lockamy organized the Continental Construction Company of Orlando.

Another firm under investigation at Gainesville is Nova Builders, Inc., formerly of Sanford. Lewis said the principals of this company "disappeared" last November although one firm member, William Cletus Braden, was known to spend the nights at his home here until "about 45 days ago and we are still trying to locate him."

Sheriff J. L. Hobby said today his department is co-operating with the Florida Sheriffs Bureau, which has asked for information about the principals of the Nova firm. He emphasized he holds no warrants of arrest for the Nova officials from Alachua County Sheriff Joe Cravasse.

Lewis said that he has long been investigating the activities of what he called "blue suede shoe boys" or "high buders" or "fly-by-nighters." He explained these are itinerant high pressure salesmen who do not do any construction work but merely operate a sales organization and usually sub-contract to contractors.

Home Repair Racket Under Probe Friday

(Special to The Herald) By Harold Rummel Staff Writer GAINESVILLE — Ways to cripple the multi-million dollar home repair racket that is making most of Florida will be sought in a special legislative sub-committee hearing here Friday.

Robert S. Brown, Seminole County zoning director, only last Monday unofficially requested the county's legislative delegation to probe into possible legislation controlling the erection of "shell" homes and the repair of existing homes.

Cuban-Based MIG Jets Fire On U.S. Shrimp Boat

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today ordered U. S. Armed Forces to take "all necessary action" against any repetition of Wednesday's Cuban MIG attack on an unarmed American shrimp boat in the Florida Straits. The State Department, acting on orders of the Chief Executive, also fired a strong diplomatic protest to the Cuban government.

The boat and its two crewmen were not hit. The announcement said merely that the MIGs fired rockets near the boat but the implication was that the planes fired at the ship.

THE FIRST OF A SERIES OF 17 stop signs were erected today in the Mayfair section. Shown above is City Worker Hugh Wynn putting one up at Elliott and Eighth. City Manager W. E. Knowles reported that from now on Second and Eighth will be through streets.

fighter planes fired rockets in the vicinity of an American shrimp boat Wednesday in the Florida Straits and were chased off by U. S. interceptor planes, the Defense Department said today.

The U. S. interceptor planes were identified as F4H jets from Marine Corps Fighter Squadron 513, operating out of the Boca Chica air station at Key West.

The Defense Department declined to speculate on whether the MIG's were piloted by Russians or Cubans. It is known that Cubans also have been flying MIGs for some time.

Administration officials put a price tag of nearly $10 billion on the over-all program for its first five years. To pay for hospital insurance for virtually all Americans over the age of 65, Kennedy asked that Social Security contributions by both employers and employees be increased one-quarter of one percent.

Altamonte Council Sets Road Resolution

A resolution adopted Wednesday night by the Town Council of Altamonte Springs recommends to the County Commission and State Road Dept. that any rights of way through the municipality for future widening of Longwood Ave. (SR 427) be acquired from the west side of the road.

The resolution points out that there are only two buildings. One of them the Town Hall which would be involved on the west side but that a total of 10 parcels would have to be brought to suit if the rights of way are taken from the east side.

Sales Jubilee

Sanford merchants join a traditional sales jubilee celebrated in cities across the nation Friday when they participate in the first Washington's Birthday Sale.

Traditionally, items are priced at ridiculously low prices, almost unbelievable in many instances, but the rule is that merchants must tell the absolute truth about any item.

The numbers 22, for Feb. 22, the birthday of the first president often play a big part in the sales with many items selling for 22 cents others for $2.22 or $22.22.

And the customer is the winner, for he can find some fantastic bargains at a real bang-up, all-out Washington's Birthday Sale.

Often, the items offered at the ridiculously low sale price are of a limited number, but of those for which stocks are ample sales will continue through Saturday.

Seven other warrants have been issued for persons associated with Shlyyak and Lockamy Builders, Inc., of Orlando, and Home Designers Associates, Inc., of St. Petersburg. Two of the Orlando firm's men, Eldon Strobel and Paul G. Shlyyak, have been arrested and freed on $2,000 bond.

A third man, Homer Leslie Lashway, hasn't been found. All four Home Designers people were arrested early last week and freed on bond.

The warrants and arrests grew out of an investigation that has been spiced with several calls by public officials for a grand jury investigation. State Atty. T. E. (Ted) Duncan has declined to call a jury so far.

The jury was first suggested by State Rep. A. J. Thomas, of Starke, a member of the legislative sub-committee meeting here Friday.

Recently, the investigation that began here was given a statewide scope by the Florida Sheriff's Bureau. Sheriff Joe Cravasse, of Alachua County, called the Bureau in for assistance in the local probe. It took the investigator two days on the job to decide statewide investigation of the home repair racket was in order.

Cravasse's action against the repayment followed a series of stories in the Gainesville Daily Sun, telling the property owners' sides of 28 mortgage foreclosure suits filed Nov. 12 last year.

MIAMI (UPI) — A Coast Guard cutter docked here today with two lifejackets and other items from the missing Marine Sulphur Queen but the fate of the 39 men who sailed aboard the tanker 19 days ago was still unknown.

Lt. (jg) Tom Troutman of Knoxville, Tenn., commander of the cutter, said boards picked up with the lifejackets had been in the water for at least a week.

"The stuff already had marine growth on it," Troutman said. He said he did not believe the lifejackets had been used. He said that anyone wearing them would have been strapped in securely, and the jackets were found floating free.

Annual Heart Drive Set Sunday

Hundreds of local women will call upon homes in the area Sunday in the annual Heart Sunday Fund Drive, Mrs. Lewis D. Tammy, chairman, announced today.

A coffee was held recently at Mrs. Tammy's home to put the final touches on plans for the 30 area captains who will direct workers' assignments in their locality.

Headquarters for the captains will be at Seminole Memorial Hospital, where Heart Council Treasurer, Howard Hodges, will direct the tabulating of the results.

"Due to the press of personal business, some of our workers will be making their calls on Saturday or at other times during the weekend," said Mrs. Tammy, "but the main drive is scheduled for Sunday afternoon."

Citizens Beware!

Deal Locally! That's a must now. Many of our local citizens are being abused by out-of-town repair men using gimmicks and these unfortunate home owners are being forced to sign away the mortgage of their homes and are being fleeced by these "fly-by-nighters."

We strongly urge all homeowners to "not be taken in by repair men and to deal strictly with local and reliable firms. Watch out for people knocking on doors asking you if they can repair your roof or door at an unusually low cost. Do not sign anything unless it is carefully checked. Check the person's license or, better yet call the city manager's office or police department. You will benefit in the long run.

Letters

To The Editor

Editor
The Sanford Herald
Sanford, Florida.
Dear Sir:

The portrait you have painted of the past several days of our juvenile judge hardly does credit to good journalism, the juvenile court act or the ultimate welfare of our young people.

Two years ago, it was at his request and that of the Sheriff that I prohibited the detention of youngsters in the old county jail. It was through his efforts, combined with that of other interested citizens and a co-operative county commission that a separate county commission that a separate wing for the detention of juveniles was constructed as part of the new jail. Admittedly, a separate detention home for juveniles would be preferable—but an would a new county home, adequate roads, drainage, and infinitum.

It is very easy to pillory any public official, and, of a truth, it is to the best interest of the republic that it always be so, but one must, in fairness, look at any criticism in proper perspective.

In 1951, as a legislator, it was my privilege to co-sponsor the Juvenile Court Act. Just about every state-wide women's organization, the Florida Bar, and several men's civic clubs were the moving forces behind the Bill. We were convinced the bill had come to treat youthful offenders somewhat differently from the manner we treated adult offenders. Under the Act, there is no permanent record made of offenses committed during the age of juvenility unless ordered by the court.

A child under seventeen committing any felony or misdemeanor, unless the offense is punishable by death, comes under the exclusive jurisdiction of the juvenile court. If the child is fourteen or older, the judge, in his discretion, transfers the case to circuit court.

Frankly, I see absolutely nothing so horrible about confining a child in a juvenile detention area for three days. Is it not better that he have three days behind locked doors than that he subsequently spend from three years to thirty years to life behind steel bars?

Is the public aware of the fact that 51% of criminal offenses committed are committed by persons under age twenty-five?

Do you or your readers know that of the young people seventeen years of age or older who appear before circuit court in this county, about six of ten come from broken homes, two of ten from homes where the mothers and fathers are at each other's throats all the time, one of ten from a "sell-to-do" home where the parents believe that by giving Junior "things," such material gifts substitute for parental love and affection? For the past six years, in only one out of ten cases have I been unable to fathom the reason for the offender being there.

It is time that you and your readers know that courts, like school teachers, are having to undertake the unwanted chore of attempting to inculcate within children those attributes of virtue and citizenship best provided in the home. But the homes have not been providing them. We parents have been too busy with our bridge, golf, fishing and hunting, boating, and watching television to attend those duties imposed upon us by Almighty God.

There have been several times during the past six years when I have said parents I felt it was a shame the law did not allow me to put them in jail for the offenses committed by their children. There are just too many parents who do not realize two self-evident truths. Every child of God needs to feel wanted. Every child of God needs to feel loved. Without fear of successful contradiction, if there were greater companionship between parent and child, there would be 25% less prison population than there presently is.

Too, all of us need remember that no judge, worthy of the title, can allow the consciences of others to substitute for his own. Neither is a judge in very good position to defend himself, even when he feels justified in doing so. It is because of my familiarity with this particular judicial tenet that I feel impelled to write you. While I do not know these thoughts are expressive of the views of our juvenile judge, they are some which have coursed their way through my mind as I have dealt with children just a little over the magic age of sixteen.

Any judge is aware that no human being is as thoroughly endowed with wisdom that he is incapable of erring. Any judge must take the case as he finds it, view the offender as an individual soul, loved as much by our Creator as any of his other children, and then take such action as he deems best suited to remind the offender he should not again perform like acts.

All this hog-wash about the rights of adults to bail leaves me cold. No person has a right to bail who has pleaded guilty to an offense, whether he be ten or a hundred years old. Neither does the Juvenile Court Act make any provision for bail.

After all this unwarranted criticism, it will take a big man not to send some kids to the Industrial School for Boys. I believe you will find this juvenile judge a big man.

Very truly yours,
Vollie A. Williams Jr.,

Cuba Military Action Stressed
WASHINGTON (UPI) — A former president of the Cuban Senate told congressional investigators today that only military action led by the United States "can liberate Cuba and restore peace to the hemisphere."

Dr. Manuel de Varona said Cuban freedom fighters on the island and in other countries "await the essential military support to defeat the commies."

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A number of radical foreign aid policy changes are expected when President Kennedy's permanent Committee to Strengthen the Security of the Free World turns in its recommendations about March 1.

This blue ribbon panel of nine big business executives, former top governmental officials, university professors and AFL-CIO President George Meany will hold its second five-day meeting in Washington beginning Feb. 21 to write its first report. Chairman of the group is Gen. Lucius D. Clay.

Preliminary drafts now being circulated for comment from Kennedy administration leaders concerned with foreign policy show much original thinking. The committee has asked Agency for International Development—AID—to justify its programs in every country and all its present policies.

How much the Clay Committee's findings influence Kennedy will be shown when his annual foreign aid message goes to Congress in mid-March.

His budget message calls for foreign aid expenditures of $3.75 billion for next year—$100 million less than is estimated for this year. But new obligatory authority of $4.9 billion is asked, compared with $3.9 billion appropriated by the last Congress. And the new total is too much for many congressmen.

Congressional hearings on next year's appropriations will begin about April 1 with new AID Administrator David E. Bell as principal witness in the hot seat.

He has already begun calling on key congressmen, after a quick trip around the world to visit some of his principal problem countries.

Bell has some ideas of his own on how the AID programs should be run. But he does not plan a complete reorganization — which every other administrator has made —unless the Clay committee comes up with some surprises in that line.

Among proposals that have been put to the Clay committee for consideration is one that the fundamental purpose of all foreign aid programs should be to make the receiving countries self-supporting as fast as possible.

Several countries like Nationalist China, Israel and Greece have for several years been considered ready for a windup of U. S. economic aid. Nobody has had the guts to do it.

Other countries like Libya and Thailand are sized up as having the resources to become self-sufficient in a short time. The solution offered for such countries is to work out three to five-year programs to put them on their feet, then cut off the aid and let them go it alone.

Such a policy would in many cases require much internal political and economic reform in the receiving countries. The trouble is that too many developing countries show no inclination to change. The question then becomes whether to give any aid at all to governments showing no progress.

The Kennedy administration has had the courage to cut off aid to Ceylon because it did not arrange compensation for seizure and nationalization of American-owned properties. Also, aid has been cut off from Haiti because of lack of cooperation from President Francois Duvalier's dictatorship.

No such action has been taken against a big country yet.

AID officials were greatly encouraged by the recent Gallup poll showing 58 per cent of the people approved foreign aid, as compared to 51 per cent in a poll five years ago.

One of the principal problems of the Clay committee is to improve the public image of foreign aid if it is found essential to the national security.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

CASE 0-04: Joel J. aged 20, is the college student who began his stuttering when he asked his 5th grade teacher for permission to go to the boy's lavatory.

"Dr. Crane," he added, "all the children laughed at the word I used."

"For my father was a doctor and taught us to employ technical medical terms."

Our adult generation has been far too prudish about terms to describe the toilet functions.

Many parents are thus accessories to the later humiliation of their children.

Kindergarten teachers can tell you of the wide variation in the toilet vocabulary of youngsters.

Some use "wee wee" and "toy toy" or "potty," as well as foreign language terms that are just as bizarre and evasive.

In the teens, they generalize and ask to go to the bathroom or lavatory or powder room.

So it is high time parents get together on a simple standardized terminology for kindergarten youngsters and all such toddlers.

In poetry, we have the word "onomatopoeia." It refers to the fact that some vocabulary terms have been created to convey the very sounds of the items being named.

Thus, as examples of onomatopoeic words, we have buzz, hiss, gurgle, noisur, tinkle, etc.

So in my Child Psychology courses at Northwestern University, I recommended to my students that parents employ the term "tinkle" for the 3-syllable verb "urinate."

And "grunt" for the 3-syllable medical term "defecate."

These simple words "tinkle" and "grunt" thus convey the ideas distinctly, even to toddlers, and are easy to pronounce.

They are also neither vulgar nor offensive terms.

And it is high time parents got together on such standard vocabulary for children as the youngsters will not be embarrassed at school, as Joel was.

If you have young children or grandchildren, please teach them these simple onomatopoeic terms for their toilet functions.

Many parents also are so prudish or shy about discussing actual sexual facts of life with their older children that they never do get around to this vital phase of child education.

It is a scientific cause for wonder that educated American adults are still fettered by an abnormal fear of anything that pertains to sex or the eliminative functions of the human body.

Such prudery is one reason why this clinical column renders a widespread service, for I have the medical and psychological authority to offer sound advice to parents.

And most of you are grateful to have these lugubrious brought out into the light of scientific analysis.

Strikes . . . Spares

By John A. Spolshi
A Quickie Reminder for all of you lovely lassies!
This coming Thursday, two weeks, on March 7th at 9:30 a. m., Jet Lanes will be hosting the "TINE OUT FOR FUN" promotion direct from New York City.
This show will be free admission, two-hour fashion and variety show and will feature an outstanding fashion show sponsored by DuPont, complete with a well known fashion commentator, and professional models.
There will also be a professional dance team in the show, and an expert who will speak on the subject of new hair fashions. Plan on coming out with your neighbor . . . whether you're a bowler now or not!

The Women's Annual City Tournament is just around the proverbial corner, girls!
The first team entry into the event is the Acry-Ducey team. Martha Kinnard tells me that she'll be at the lanes on Wednesday evening at 8:30 to accept any last minute entries into the tournament.
Tournament dates are the week-ends of March 9-10 and 16-17.
The men's City Tournament will directly follow that of the women's and be rolled March 23-24 and 30-31.
Gee, but they have some live wires on that men's association board.
As an example, they have already contracted for the use of the Civic Center for the night of April 18th. During that time, the trophies and cash prizes will be awarded and the annual meeting will be held, too.
Look for an attractive bowling display in the lobby of the Florida State Bank. The F. S. B. is sponsoring the men's tournament.
The month of March should be called Tournament Time around here. The men's and women's city tournament . . . Sunday Sweeper—1st and 3rd Sunday of each month . . . and this coming Sunday, Scotch Doubles starting at 5 p. m.

Once again we'll be carrying the $500.00 guarantee for first place. If you've never bowled in it, come on out and enjoy yourself.
If you need a partner, give us a call and we'll line one up for you.
Oops . . . almost forgot about that "special" the men's association is gonna offer to you.
That banquet they're having will cost $1.75 per ticket. However, if a team or a group of individuals get together and buy a group of five tickets, there'll be a reduction in price to only $1.25 per ticket. HOW ABOUT THAT, HUH?

Here's a capsule review of the league leaders and their scores from this week's action:
BANTAM (Sat. a. m.) — Darrel Vodopich captured a high game and series with his 158/430.
JUNIOR DIVISION — George Mason had two strong games of 207 and 200 to finish strong with a 662 scratch series. Wouldn't you know it that his brother just didn't want to be missed from the column's notices too, so he rolled hi single, a 211. (Ahem, men . . . he was too many pins behind brother George with his 644 set. All I can say, is hurry up and give me company, Kevin!)
The Friday p. m. Sanford Harold Mr. & Mrs. League (cheese that's a long titled league name) saw Dot Johnson break out of her mild slump by shooting a 203 hi single and Charlotte Bassett's 617 series was the tops for the girls.
The two M's, Marge & Midge took full control of "big ones" in the Sandpura League.
Marge Kipp—203 & Midge Woods—541!
Our Bowler of the Week salute goes to the "friendly league," my friends of the Deltary Spare Ribbers I. G. P. Klom, bowling for the Tender Team, shot a very respectable 195, 221, 211/627 scratch series. I'm real, real proud of that!
Remember, the AVERAGE AGE FOR TEAM MEMBERS is sixty-plus!
We're pleased to see Kay Bowman out bowling again. She's rollin' a real BIG BALL, cause she's always topplin' the ten pins. She wound up high in the Holler Motors Navy Wives League. Mary Jane Gorton shared the spotlight with her 201 game. Why is it that "they" always get hot when they roll against our team?
On Wednesday night, Big John Uhr exploded with a 256/641 series, tops for the entire league. (Yep, that was more than enough to sink us!)
And then on Friday nite, Snuffy Smith goes wild with a 597 and blasts us further into the bottom of the standings. (At least he should show some respect for us strong boys who are holding up the rear of the league!)
That's a pun, son! You know, bottom man on the 'tolem pole holding everyone else up! (Oh, what's the use! Forget it! And I'll try to forget that we're mixed in last place!)
Tournament time coming up! Don't wait until the last minute, O. K. ?

'Big Three' Golf Battle Shaping Up

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—Another battle between golfers' big three — Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Jack Nicklaus — is shaping up in the New Orleans Invitational golf tournament March 1-4.
Player and Nicklaus have already signed to play in the $10,000 event and Palmer has indicated he is "99 per cent sure" of competing for the $20,000 first prize. He has until Monday to sign.

Tournament officials said today more than 100 of the nation's top professionals have signed for the tournament at the Lakewood Country Club on the west side of the Mississippi River.
The entries include 14 of last year's 18 top money winners.

Mays Inks $100,000 Pact

By United Press International
Willie Mays has a $100,000 contract today to prove that San Francisco Giant club owner Horace Stoneham made good on an eight-year old promise.
"Stick with the Giants, Willie," Stoneham told Mays back in the winter of 1954, "and you'll earn as much as any baseball player in history."
Mays saw that promise become a reality Wednesday when he signed a 1963 contract for $100,000—"perhaps a little more"—and thereby joined Joe DiMaggio, Ted Williams and Stan Musial as the only players in history who have earned a straight six-figure salary for one year.
"Willie should have three or four more good years," said manager Alvin Dark, who held a press conference after the announcement of Mays' signing.
"He's 31 now and a ball player really doesn't mature until he is around 28. Willie will play in every game if he can make it."
In his 12th season, Mays batted .304, hit 49 homers and drove in 104 runs. He tied in September and collapsed on the bench during a game in Cincinnati on Sept. 12. But he made a major contribution in the closing days of the race when the Giants outlasted the collapsing Dodgers and won the National League pennant.

Terry compiled a 16-3 record in 1961 and so stands 39-15 for the last two seasons. Yankee slugger Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris are technically unsigned but General Manager Roy Hameyer says both have agreed to terms verbally and will be in the Yankees' Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., training camp by next Wednesday.
Ray Herbert, a 20-game winner in 1962, and pitcher Gary Peters signed with the Lake Monroe Jottings . . .

Mrs. H. L. Johnson I am afraid to say Good Afternoon. It might be a rainy cold day and then there would be nothing good about it. Evidently that groundhog must have seen his shadow because we have certainly had some bad weather ever since. Wonder when it will let up and we will have that Spring weather. A lot of us are getting in the mood to work outside in our flowers. We would be wasting our time probably if we did. But one thing about it, we know that it has got to stop sometime. That is something to look forward to. So very glad that Louise Rushlow is feeling so much better. She was a real sick gal for a while. We missed her at the Home Demonstration meeting the other evening. Also glad that Richard Hittell is home after being in Seminole Memorial Hospital. Richard got home just in time to celebrate his birthday. Richard can now return to school but has to be real careful. Take it easy Richard. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Goevaeck and Mrs. Robert Dorn and children motored to Tampa last weekend to see Bob Born who is ill in a hospital there. Last Saturday was 4-H Day at the Tampa Fair, Seminole County was well represented there. Talking to Patty, Betty and Charlene Baker who went down. They said they had a wonderful time even if it did rain. They said they enjoyed the 4-H program very much. This is their first time to make the trip as 4-Hers. The Monroe Club was well represented. Betty Blackwelder accompanied the Monroe Group. Talking about fairs, the Central Florida Fair opens next Monday in Orlando. Hope you get to attend it. Ed and Olga Hunter returned Monday morning from Charlotte, N.C., where they went to see Ed's sister who is ill. Mrs. Estelle Temple of Lauren, Miss. and her brother Louis Mills of Plant City spent Friday with Mrs. J. C. Sapp. They are the brother and sister of Mrs. Ernest Lee of Loch Arbor. Mrs. Sapp has been on the sick list too. When I talked to her she had a bad cold. Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Johnson, of Cocoa, Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Tarrandell and wee daughter Tammy and Miss Sally Johnson, Orlando, Mrs. Nora Johnson, Mrs. T. V. Brown, daughters Susan and Darlene, Mrs. Patty Harper, daughter Terri and Mrs. Jean Reynolds and son, Stan, were Sunday evening guests of ours. We had an enjoyable evening around the piano singing old time songs. Talking

Lyman Student Makes Finalist

By Jane Casselberry Bill Taylor, Lyman High School Senior and Distributive Education Student, has advanced from semi-finalist to finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Awards by successfully passing the College Entrance Exam. Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Taylor of Forest City. He is in the top half of one per cent of the high school students in the nation from which are chosen and offered merit scholarships. Final elimination is done by taking those who scored the highest on the tests, their high school scholastic record, good character and finally the financial need. Final results will be announced in March and if Bill is chosen he will receive a scholarship for up to $1,000 for his college education. He has been accepted by Michigan State University and hopes to earn a Ph.D. in Mathematics. If engaged in combat, a dove, considered an emblem of peace, will mercilessly peck an opponent to death.

$78 Million Expansion Set By Bell

A quarter of a million dollars is spent on new construction in Florida every working day by the Southern Bell Telephone Company, Sanford Manager Robert Shelden revealed today. Expansion and improvement of telephone service during 1963 will total $78 million, or six and a half million dollars a month. This expenditure will keep telephone service in step with Florida's increased industrial and residential growth during the coming year, Shelden said. Included in construction plans are projects in every city and county served by Southern Bell. Most of the construction projects will be that of increasing the capacity of existing facilities and extending cable and equipment into the rapidly expanding suburban areas. Continued growth and development in Florida during the year is expected to result in the addition of some 98,000 telephones. Here in Sanford, Southern Bell expects to add 600 telephones and spend some $55,000 to provide for growth in the area, stated Shelden. "With the addition of each new telephone," added Shelden, "the usefulness of the service to each of our customers is increased since it enables more and more people to call and be called."

A luncheon preceded the business meeting and members were seated at long tables beautifully decorated with azaleas in varying shades. The program was introduced by Mrs. Tom McDonald, Christian education chairman, who showed slides of art work done by children in church schools in Japan. This proved to be an interesting program due to the fact that the local Churchwomen contribute to the support of a Japanese orphan. About 60 women were present for the luncheon and meeting.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

At Long Last

At long last, it appears that action is to be taken to control dogs running loose in Seminole County. The County Commission and Justice of the Peace Elmer Ashley last Monday requested of the legislative delegation that a bill be put through the Legislature allowing the County to set up a dog pound, with a full-time employe.

JP Ashley summed the matter for the delegation thusly: "Many ownerless dogs... some vicious... gun loose through the county, especially in the southern part. These animals are not only a nuisance but a health menace."

The Judge reported it is necessary for him to hose down his yard almost daily because of the packs of dogs ranging in his neighborhood.

There are reports, too, of dog owners from surrounding counties, especially to the south, dumping their unwanted pooches in Seminole County. Usually, these are female canines about to bear litters.

These unwanted dogs are dropped in this county because the owners' own counties have strict laws regulating control of the animals. To abandon these animals in their own backyards could bring the law down on them. So, Seminole County... without controls at the moment... inherits these animals.

The Commission members informed the legislative delegation the County Attorney has been instructed to draft a bill using the strong Orange County dog law as a pattern.
