YOUR clothes may look all right when you buy them; new clothes usually do. But "looking all right" after six months' wear requires all-wool and good tailoring.

You get them both here in Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes, with live style and economy in the bargain.

The Squamish Sex.
Mrs. M. had asked two little boys for luncheon, their respective mothers being far from home. During luncheon the delicate question of baths was discussed.
"Say, Freddie, do you like to take baths?"
"Gee whiz, no! Why?"
"Well, I don't either, but I think you have to."
"Oh, I take them when they make me, but I would never take 'em if they didn't make me."
"That's all right, but I think you have to take them even when they don't make you."
"Why?"
"Well, when you go to dancing school you want the girls to dance with you, don't you? Believe me, they wouldn't if you hadn't had a bath. Women are all that way!"

Sitka Pine Comes into Its Own.
A steamship that arrived in Seattle recently brought the first shipment of Sitka spruce from Alaska for use in making airplanes. This wood is superior to any other for lightness and strength, and rods 60 feet long without a knot or blemish are easily obtained. Much of this spruce has already been shipped to Europe from British Columbia, Oregon and Washington. Sitka spruce is the dominant tree of the Alaska coast region, and was for a long time regarded with contempt by lumbermen and used only for fish boxes. Now it is the hope of the United States for paper pulp and airplane frames.

Too Hot For Him.
Arthur Feust, consulting engineer, from Utah, breezed into New York and attended a banquet at the Engineers' club. Several of the guests were the McLean Klitties of Canada.

A feature of the menu was squab on toast, and one of the Scotch veterans, after asking what it was, proceeded to cover it well with tabasco sauce. He ate a couple of bites of the burning liquid and then with a low cry put down his knife and fork.

"Lay thaur an' bu-r-r-n," he said. Then turning to the waiter called: "Aye mon, I've had enugh o' this. Gie's a shellin's wath o' ham vie ye? An' say, laddie, bring a bucket of ice water."

PUBLICITY PULLS PROGRESS

"PRODUCING NOT PROMOTING" BOARD OF TRADE RESULTS
(BY THE SECRETARY)

Next Meeting at Oriedo
The December monthly meeting of the Board of Trade will be held in Oriedo Tuesday, Dec. 11th at 7:30 p. m. This will be a formal business meeting. It is urged that a large delegation go from Sanford and from other Seminole county towns. Automobiles to accommodate all who wish to attend will leave the Carnes Hotel promptly at 6:30 p. m. The ride is complimentary and all who wish reservations will kindly phone 123, the secretary.

Orlando Interested
The Orlando Board of Trade is very much interested in transportation and traffic matters and realizing the importance of adequate railroad facilities and rates have combined with the Sanford Board of Trade to have their interests represented should further application be made by southeastern railroads for increased freight rates. DeLand is also vitally interested as well as Apopka, Eustis and Leesburg. It is the desire to aid and assist the railroads all possible and provide them with incomes sufficient to perform normal service, but it is not felt that with the heavy tonnage they are now receiving, a tonnage greater than their capacity, that an increase in freight rates would benefit them except in increased dividends. It is the policy now of the organizations named to withhold expansion requests, to eliminate the needless expenditure of monies by railroads and to this end the shipper will cooperate with the carriers, on the other hand, it is not felt that in view of the heavy earnings of carriers, greater than ever before in their history, that it should devolve upon the shipper to pay an increase in rates to put his product into northern and eastern markets and to the end of his interest this Board of Trade will work at the proper time.

Pulling For The St. Johns
Mr. E. T. Woodruff, official delegate to the Deeper Waterways convention at Miami, left Sanford by auto yesterday morning. We are pulling for a deeper St. Johns river and along with other Central Florida delegates it is hoped that Mr. Woodruff will be successful in the undertaking.

The Sanford Board of Trade is doing all possible to increase the demand for Seminole county products Saturday, through the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce and their A-1 secretary, B. R. Kessler a request was sent out to all railroads operating dining cars into and out of Jacksonville to show Seminole county products on their menus. The idea is not one originated by the writer, but comes at the suggestion of Mr. Kessler, who is not only working in the interest of Jacksonville, but Florida at large and Seminole county and its Board of Trade is glad to know that in the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce we are finding such noble cooperation.

At the Shriners dinner, held in Jacksonville the other day, prominent on their bill of fare was labelled by name Sanford's leading products.

Whether or not you are a member of the Board of Trade, the organization is advertising you and your business. For the producer and shipper we are successfully representing your traffic interests to the merchant we are increasing your sales by bringing many tourists to your door and because of their stopping here you are benefitting directly. To the hotel and boarding house, your business is being increased and the incoming people. After the holidays your business will double. Who is doing this? Not the president, the governors or the Board of Trade secretary, but the combined membership of the organization, the men of Seminole county. Their money is paying for this. Many of them have no interest to benefit but they represent that calibre of mankind who are big and broad and who are unselfish and ready always to do something for the town and county that affords them their living and a home. If you, the reader, wish to cooperate in this way we shall be glad to have you. If you are not able to pay the $10 annual dues, then for heaven's sake help us by boosting SEMINOLE COUNTY.

Every Seminole county minister is invited to join the Board of Trade. Our work is directly along the lines you advocate and in and through this organization you will find a channel that will assist you in accomplishing many of the things you wish to accomplish. We represent no particular creed or politics but we do represent the brotherhood of man and the idea that cooperation along the right lines serves to build bigger, better men and women. In this work you can help and if you see fit to become a member we have a place for you and work that you can successfully carry on.

We need builders not iconoclasts so to knock your Board of Trade is to knock your own home town and county.

CHARLES HOWARD PLATTENBURG

After Charles Howard Plattenburg, the preacher, editor and orator, had delivered his famous lecture, "Loyalty to the Home Town," in several representative Kentucky cities the Kentucky Retail Merchants' association printed several thousand copies of this lecture and scattered them broadcast throughout the state, thus demonstrating the universal appeal and popularity of Mr. Plattenburg's work on the platform.

Mr. Plattenburg's articles on this and kindred subjects have had a circulation of more than a million copies for the past ten years.

um and Chautauqua platform. He has lectured in every state in the Union save two and everywhere receives but the highest commendation. Before he went on the platform Mr. Plattenburg was a successful editor of a weekly newspaper in a leading Iowa town, and there came in daily contact with people, lived their lives, studied and helped solve their problems. He speaks from experience and first hand knowledge gained by years of study and wide travel. Mr. Plattenburg will leave each town with its people thinking broader, cleaner thoughts. His personality and words will be impressed on their minds.

To determine the exact age of eggs, dissolve about four ounces of common salt in a quart of pure water and then immerse the egg. If it be only a day or so old, it will sink to the bottom of the dish, but if it be three days old it will float; if more than five, it will come to the surface.

Her Best Wishes.
It was the last day of school. The teacher was giving a farewell party for her class, as she was to be married in the near future. Doris said: "I hope you will get as good a husband as my papa is."

UNCLE SAM LANDLORD

May Have to Build Homes for War Workers.

Great influx of laborers at "War-Bride" Cities Puts Living Space at a Premium.

Washington.—With thousands of workmen crowding into the "war-bride" cities of the nation, Uncle Sam faces the proposition of becoming a landlord or having his important war work crippled. The crowded conditions in many industrial centers already are hampering the work of munitions manufacture, especially with additional plants being built to employ more workmen.

The great demand for laborers in many sections has been followed by the demand for houses. Companies have built houses for their own workmen, and real estate men and builders have done their best to relieve the situation. However, the onward sweep of workmen has defied all efforts toward proper housing.

The use of beds in eight-hour shifts has been resorted to in such cities as Youngstown, O.; Erie, Pa.; Bridgeport, Conn.; Chester, Pa.; Newport News, Va., and many others. All of these cities were crowded even before the United States entered the war. In Erie 45 munition workers procured room and board in one five-room house, with cots in every room and in the cellar and attic. Conditions in all of these cities are becoming worse each day. One shipbuilder procured 200 badly-needed workers and lost them the next day because he could find no place for them to sleep.

A CAMOUFLAGE ARTIST

Here is a soldier who makes himself look like a wire screen so that the enemy will think he is nothing but wire. Some camouflage. The French polu who is seen here has succeeded in weaving about himself a wire entanglement and after completing the job is at work putting together a dead tin grenade in a trench the French had taken from the Germans.

MOVES HOUSE 1,850 MILES

Los Angeles Family Goes to Edmonton, Can., and Takes Home With Them.

Los Angeles.—It is not an uncommon sight to encounter a house upon rollers in the middle of a street and in the process of being transported to a new location some distance away, but it is seldom that a house is taken to pieces, the parts transported more than 1,850 miles, and once more put together again. This is exactly what has happened, however, with the residence of J. E. Storer of this city. The Storer family recently decided to make its home hereafter in Edmonton, Canada, and for some reason, not generally known to the public, they took their house with them. A corps of workmen was engaged, the house taken down piece by piece, each carefully marked and done up in neat bundles and loaded upon a steamship for transportation to Vancouver, and thence by rail to Edmonton. It will not be long, therefore, until an American frame house, built of American lumber from floor to shingles, appears in a Canadian city as the residence of the Storer family.

RURAL SCHOOLS ARE CLOSED

Higher Pay in Business Pursuits Causes Shortage of Teachers in Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo.—Score another one for Mars! School authorities in Wyoming say 25 rural schools are closed in the state because teachers cannot be secured. More financial reward in the business pursuits connected with the war are taking many women and men teachers away from their profession, according to the state superintendent of instruction.

AMERICA IS PUT ON MARKET

Ancient Yacht, Winner of Royal Squadron Cup, Is For Sale—in Good Condition.

America, which won the Royal Yacht Squadron cup 66 years ago, August 22, 1851, is offered for sale by her present owners, Paul Butler and Mrs. Blanche Butler Ames.

She is now laid up at a wharf in Boston, and is in first-class condition. That she will not go to the junk heap is practically certain, for before the war several yachtsmen tried to induce the Butlers to sell without success, and members of the New York Yacht club have been anxious to have her.

Furthermore, an examination of her hull showed her to be in first-class condition, and although she has been outbuilt by modern designers, she is still able to sail, and sail at a good rate of speed, if there is ample wind to drive. She never was a good drifter, but, given a gig whole-sail breeze, she will show her heels to many much younger.

Held on Wrong Woman.

The street car stopped and a man accompanying a woman got off the front end of the car. As he stood holding out his hand to assist the woman in alighting he looked down the street.

Just then something bumped into the outstretched hand and he caught hold, as he kept his eye on an automobile that was approaching.

"Let go my arm, man," cried the colored woman who was getting off the car.

"I beg your pardon," stammered the surprised man as he looked at the colored woman and saw that she, instead of his companion, had followed him off the car.—Indianapolis News.

The High Cost of Illness.

It is estimated by the United States public health service that 3,000,000 persons in this country are ill at any one time, that each of the 80,000,000 wage-earners loses on an average nine days of work from illness yearly, involving a total wage loss of $500,000,000, while their doctor and medicine bills amount to $180,000,000.

Quality of Love.

Let our never ceasing care be to better the love that we offer our fellows. One cup of this love that is drawn from the spring on the mountain is worth a hundred taken from the stagnant well of ordinary charity.—Maeterlinck.

Anticipating a Slump.

The Victim—"And why should you be so much concerned even if I am losing my hair?" The Barber—"Why, sir, anyone is annoyed to find his business falling off."

Sufferings of Rich.

"The poor are often overworked; but they suffer less than many among the rich, who have no work to do, no interesting object to fill up life and to satisfy the infinite cravings of man for action."—William Ellery Channing

Yes, We Had Some Cold Last Winter But the Citrus Industry Survived it

The cold weather in Florida last winter did some damage and some of our best friends suffered as a result of it. We, too, sustained some losses, and we have no disposition to minimize the effects. Yet we are disposed to look upon the cold as perhaps a blessing in disguise, and to believe that it taught needed lessons.

A country in which there were never encountered natural obstacles to complete prosperity, such as the vagaries of the elements provide, would indeed be a heaven on earth. The records show that Florida has no more than her share of these climatic disturbances—in fact is more favored than many other sections of the world.

Really good citrus fruits can be grown only in a limited area, even in Florida. Were it not for occasional cold, trees would be planted so far to the north as to make the over-production of fruit a menace to the citrus industry. A freeze in Florida has the effect of discouraging planting in sections outside the citrus belt.

A Wonderful Testimony to the Stability of the Citrus Industry of This State

Sometimes we allow our own temporary losses to cause us to lose sight of the greater gains that have come to us for long-continued periods. To an extent some of us fell into this error when contemplating the damage last winter's cold did in Florida.

Now that it can be looked back to with proper perspective the event reflects the real stability of the citrus industry of the State. This year's crop promises to be more than half the normal size and is likely to sell for as much money as an average full-yield one would—indicating quick recuperating capacity of the citrus industry.

The grove owner who has kept at it, given his trees proper protection if in exposed localities and replaced promptly any that were killed has been given a highly profitable return for his investment and labor.

The wheat crop of a large area of the northwest was almost a total failure last season by reason of drought. This fall thousands of acres of late corn in parts of the north and west were destroyed by early frosts and tobacco was badly damaged in some parts of the country. Yet no person would advocate ceasing to grow wheat, corn or tobacco as staple crops in these sections.

Our new catalog is a worth-while book. If you have it not, let us send you copy.

And Carrier, editor of the Arcadia Enterprise is the progenitor of a new kind of grass. We can now look for Andy to wear a grass suit and play the ukulele.

Since Seminole county will not have any fair this year it would be well to investigate the idea of having an exhibit at the state fair at Jacksonville. This will be the great place to reach many thousands of people.

Let us forget we want to call your attention to the fact that the Sanford Herald will print one of the best Christmas editions that has ever been issued in Sanford. It will do much to stimulate business of all kinds and every merchant in Seminole county should have an advertisement in it. Give us your copy today.

Did you ever stop to think that the Sanford Herald has been at the forefront of every good movement for the public welfare in this county. That the Herald takes an active part in every one of them, boosts them by printer's ink, by money, by time and effort. The Herald is known by its works, by what it has done and is doing every day. Are you helping the Herald with your support?

Arcadia won the aviation school by good consistent boasting and the backing of the Board of Trade. Seminole county can have a gun school by the same kind of boosting but Seminole county will never get anything by pulling back and standing outside of the Board of Trade. It takes team work to get results and there is no team work without the Board of Trade.

The Sanford Board of Trade is not a Sanford Board of Trade but a Seminole county proposition, as the recent trip to Geneva demonstrated. The Board of Trade is good for 500 members by the first of January - Sanford Herald.

There is no organization that can do so great a good for any community as a real live Board of Trade. And surely a membership of 500 workers could remove a mountain - Behring White Wey

At a recent meeting of the Board of Control of State Institutions Chairman Joe Earman sounded a note that will accord with the idea of the general public in the manner of transacting public business. Joe protested against "executive sessions" of the Board of Control, and declared that all public business should be transacted openly and above board. Joe is absolutely correct. There may be rare occasions when the public interests would be best served in a secret meeting of public servants, but such cases are so few and far between that the good that might result from them is far outweighed by the official dodging of responsibility and sometimes downright crookedness that comes from the secret or "executive session." Public servants like any other servants do not have to hide from the master in order to render him the best service, and those who practice this in the everyday affairs of life usually get canned the first time they are caught in the act. -Arcadia Enterprise.

THAT'S US
So far only one man has stopped his Herald on account of our outspoken Americanism and to him and any who are contemplating such a move we send this Holiday Greeting from the Bainbridge Searchlight:

A weak kneed ass asked the editor of this paper if he was not afraid that our caustic references to slackers and pro-Germans would cost us the patronage of some folks. If it does we want to pay that cost as quickly as we can. If there is a man that takes this paper that does not like the fact that it is straining every nerve to uphold the constituted authorities of our native land, the quicker he will withdraw his patronage the better we will like it. All we want him to do is to be manly and say why he did it. One or two simps who haven't the man in them to take open issue with it, have done so, and like a fool ostrich have stuck their heads in the sand, thinking that none could see their reason. Like all simps they are so thin that a boob can see through every move they make. When this paper can't live on the patronage of loyal Americans we will let it sell for junk and jump in the river and be glad to get out of such a country. We don't want to trade with enemies, be they Janus-faced or otherwise, for a disloyal man can't have an honest dollar. That's US.

THANKSGIVING DAY
Next Thursday is Thanksgiving Day and never in the history of the country since the civil war has this country celebrated Thanksgiving Day under arms in which so many of our men were in camps waiting for the ships to transport them to foreign lands, there to battle for the right and for the upholding of democracy and the freeing of the world from the shackles of military despotism.

There are great and varied reasons why America and Americans should give thanks this day. There should be more people in the churches on Thanksgiving morn than ever before. There should be more American families engaging in family prayer and home thanksgiving than ever before. And each and every one of us should give thanks that the Lord has spared our country the ravages of a foreign foe and the despoliation that other countries in battle scarred Europe will and have undergone in this great battle that has almost engulfed the world.

We will give thanks that our boys on land and sea are safe and will send up our prayers for their salvation and safety on this day. For their preservation in the camps and trenches not only from the foe without but the insidious foe within and the many temptations that beset them on every side. We shall give prayers for our great leader, President Wilson and his cabinet and all the men who have our boys in charge and keeping. We shall pray for a speedy end to this war and a lasting peace that shall be everlasting.

Thanksgiving Day 1917 should mark an epoch in our lives and we should be found that day giving thanks for the many blessings of the year and especially should the people of peaceful and prosperous Florida observe this day as it should be observed.

"Over The Top"
was the title of the oration given by Dr. Lincoln Hulley at the Baptist Oemple Sunday night. This oration depicting the trials and tribulations by Sergeant Guy Empie, a machine gunner of the Royal Fusiliers in the front line trenches on the French border was filled from beginning to end with nerve racking recounts of ghastly experiences. Dr. Hulley is an orator that is equal to any occasion and while he has thousands of admirers in the city, not one of them ever saw or heard him in better condition than he was in this delivery. Beginning at seven in the evening with the music, song, Scripture and prayer services the meeting lasted until nine o'clock and not one of the some five hundred in the audience was a bit tired for this great man had his audience with him and never through the whole length of the time ceased to interest the entire congregation - even the little boys and girls were wide awake and will never forget the tale of the rats. The pulpit committee of the Baptist church are actively engaged in getting just the right kind of a preacher to serve in the absence of Dr. Hyman and in the interim have arranged these special services each Sunday at the Temple. Dr. Hulley has been secured for next Sunday and will preach at both morning and evening hours. At these services the Doctor will deliver two of his special sermons on timely subjects and every one in Seminole county should avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing this great man.

Wants Grocers and Hotel Men to Meet in Orlando

Things are to move rapidly in the work of the Federal Food Administration as is shown by the call sent out by U. S. Food Administrator Braxton Beacham of the Florida Division, who has notified all wholesale and retail grocers of the state, and also all the hotel and restaurant men of Florida to attend a conference to be held in Orlando on the 19th of December.

Although this date is close to the holiday season, it will allow sufficient time for all parties to attend and return home before the real Christmas rush. Mr. Beacham has indicated in his letter to the dealers and hotel men that it will be greatly to their interest to be at this meeting, as there will be some important things brought out that will have a bearing on the future business of all.

The food administrator of Florida is about to put into effect some new rulings, and these are not to be undertaken without consulting the grocers and hotel men who will be first and largely interested, and more in need of knowing what is to be done.

While there is nothing in Mr. Beacham's notice of the meeting that gives a hint as to what is proposed, he states that there need be no alarm among the dealers and hotel men for the policy of the Food Administration to ask cooperation will be observed until such a policy may prove ineffective and void of desired results.

There is one thing, however, that the people of Florida can be assured of, according to information given from the office of Administrator Beacham, and that is a closer watch of all dealing in food products. Authority has been given him to appoint the necessary inspectors and reporters to cover the entire state and there will be no section slighted by the official investigator, whose duties will be to furnish prices made by retailers for goods sold in small quantities and purchased by a consumer.

Grocers will have these plans fully explained to them and will be told of many other things directly effecting business at the meeting in Orlando.

Tax on Motor Boats
Collector of Internal Revenue, James M. Cathcart has received from the Department, forms for the return of tax on pleasure boats imposed by the Act of October 3, 1917. The act imposes the tax on all pleasure boats, based on their length over all, except motor boats of less than five tons net with fixed engines, in which case the tax is $5.00.

All owners of boats affected by this tax should at once make application to the office of the Collector of Internal Revenue, Jacksonville, Florida, for forms upon which to make returns as to this tax. The forms will also be available at the office of Tucker Savage, Deputy Collector at Tampa, and J. L. Lester, Deputy Collector at Key West. A supply of the forms has also been sent to the deputy collectors of customs in charge at Pensacola, St. Andrews, Apalachicola, Carrabelle, Fernandina, St. Augustine, Miami, Boca Grande, Tarpon Springs and Cedar Keys, and persons owning boats subject to this tax may obtain the forms at these offices or by direct application to the collector's office at Jacksonville.

These returns should be immediately secured and carefully filled out in accordance with the instructions contained on the return, and the original and duplicate at once forwarded to the collector, with the remittances to cover the tax in cases where tax is shown to be due. The law imposes severe penalties for failure to make the return and pay the tax as required.

Bumper Crop of Staples
Washington, Nov 26 -Bumper world crops of corn, oats, potatoes, rice, sugar beets and tobacco for this year are shown by estimates compiled by the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome, made public today by the Department of Agriculture. Wheat, rye, barley and flax seed, however, have fallen below the five year average of production from 1916 to 1916. The production of wheat in seventeen counties, not of wheat in seventeen counties not including the central powers will be 1,868,000,000 bushels, 85 6 per cent of the five year average. Corn raised will amount to 3,812,000,000 bushels, which is 14 1 per cent greater than the average production for the last five years. Other crops are estimated as follows:

Rye, 147,000,000 bushels, 92 2 per cent
Barley, 587,000,000 bushels, 96 per cent
Oats, 2,682,000,000 bushels, 113 9 per cent
Rice, 70,000,000 bushels, 115 6 per cent
Flax seed, 38,000,000 bushels, 69 8 percent
Potatoes, 719,000,000 bushels, 112 4 per cent
Sugar beets, 10,000,000 short tons, 106 6 per cent
Tobacco, 1,186,000,000 pounds, 120 5 per cent

Enjoyed His Sanford Visit
The Citizen was remembered in souvenir postals by George J. Smith, while he and Mrs. Smith were in Florida, last week, and the editor was in Millford plugging away eighteen hours a day doing a hundred different things, or trying to, rather. Mr. Smith, who is a past president of the Millford Business Men's Association, was entertained at Sanford at a dinner given by the Sanford Board of Trade, given a ride through the farm trucking section of Sanford, and met the mayor who is a former Connecticut man and who treated him very kindly.

Sanford is a wonderful and fertile city on the St. Johns river, and raises celery by the thousands of tons. The editor has pleasant recollections of a visit there some years ago after an unpleasant experience in his home town with an irate and drunken reader of the paper who called at his home and knocked down at his front door, and which caused him to take a southern trip to recuperate. The air of Sanford, coupled with a drink from Ponce de Leon's Fountain of Youth at St. Augustine, and the delights of Daytona and Ormond resulted in a lasting recuperation, never to be forgotten. -Millford (Conn.) Citizen.

Campaign Director Thinks Seminole Has Great Record
The great record made by Seminole county is recognized in the following letter to Chairman Stevens who had charge of the campaign in this county:
Mr. H. R. Stevens, Sanford, Florida.
My Dear Mr. Stevens:
I take this, my first opportunity of expressing to you our deep appreciation for the excellent work done in behalf of the National War Work Council.

The total amount for Florida reported is $115,000 and the National total is about fifty million. The people of Florida did marvelously well, and I am confident that a great blessing will be received in every community where the campaign was conducted. I am personally most grateful for the valuable cooperation that the men of your community gave, and in behalf of the council, kindly extend to all those who took part our

The Polk county commissioners are to be commended for ordering 250 guns for the home guards of Polk county. At their last meeting they made an appropriation for this purpose and asked Captain T. W. Gary to go to New York as soon as possible and select same. Mr. Gary kindly consented and will leave shortly. He is also instructed to buy "45" Colts revolvers for officers and 10,000 rounds of ammunition. Mr. Gary will examine each gun and revolver, so that no one need have fears that defective weapons will be brought here. The guns will be shipped at the earliest date possible via water to Tampa, and from there proportioned to the various companies in the county - Bartow, Lakeland, Winter Haven, Fort Meade and Mulberry.

The scarcity of labor is a very serious condition that is confronting the truck growers of Dade county and other sections of South Florida. Where an increase in the labor supply is to come from is a problem that the growers are up against and one that is going to be hard to solve. In account of the stringent immigration laws it is almost impossible to get labor from the Bahama Islands as heretofore.

Telling of the organization of the Volusia county farmers' association the County Record, published at DeLand, last week presented a full report of the meeting and gave some interesting pictures to show the

UNDER FIRE IN FRENCH TRENCHES

Correspondent Describes Visit to Battle Line in Argonne Forest.

NOISIEST THING IS BIRDS

Germans Drop an Occasional Poorly Aimed Shell—Officer Calls it Dull Life—Visit Acceptable Break in Monotony of Daily Life.

Somewhere in France—Just now the Argonne forest is no place for a man aching for a scrap. Vauquois Plateau, where thousands of French and Germans met death in bloody combat, is as quiet on these sunny autumn days as the Polo Grounds in midwinter. Barring an occasional thunder roll from far away batteries, and an hourly reciprocal bombardment by French and German guns, the noisiest thing that aurs the valleys is the twitter of the birds.

A young French officer, returning to his trench sector from a village a short distance behind the front, escorted three correspondents to a position from which a wide stretch of the Argonne front could be easily seen. Our car sped through an utterly deserted village, devastated by the retreating Germans after the battle of the Marne and more completely ruined by later bombardments.

The road led straight out into a great amphitheater bordered by wooded hills, criss-crossed by the ruins of old trenches.

Batteries in Woods.
"See those sticks?" said our escort, pointing to a row plainly visible to the naked eye along the top of a hill to our left. "There are the Boches' barbed wire and trenches. He has a few batteries in that woods. If he was energetic he might give us a few shells."

The German positions were getting uncomfortably nearer. We left the car under a slight rise in the ground that hid it from German observation, and started on foot across a field to seek cover behind a hill held by the French. We had barely clambered out of the car when a shell burst 600 yards ahead in a field near the road over which our car had been speeding.

"Well, he did try one on us," laughed the French officer, "but it was a bad one. I'll wire the Kaiser to take away his Iron Cross."

Over in the dugouts behind the French trench line an assortment of polius were whittling away at kitch-nacks, playing cards or taking cat naps. The dull boom of guns came across intervening hills from the Verdun front, only a few kilometers away. Our escorting officer led the way on up over the hilltop past an anti-aircraft gunner who wished us "bon jour" and lamented because he hadn't seen a German for many days.

Calls it Dull Life.

At an artillery observation post our coming was an event. The officer in charge confided that it was a dull life. The Germans hadn't sent a shell his way for a long time. He was glad to meet newcomers and mighty glad to break the monotony of a day's work by pointing out the Boche trenches in the valley below and the great Vauquois mine crater on the yellow side of Vauquois plateau. No sign of life came from trenchland. At one point where a Y-shaped German trench seemed almost to run into a V-shaped French trench—only 60 feet separated them—there had been a little grenade tossing a few hours earlier, when polius and Boches needed warming up exercises after breakfast. That was all.

Back we went to the officers' dug-out for quite palatable war bread and wine.

"War out here," he said as we were leaving, "moves like molasses."

FEEDING SOLDIERS IN CAMP ENORMOUS TASK

Chicago.—Soldiers in training at the 16 National army cantonments in the United States require approximately 2,500 carloads of food daily, according to statistics given out here by the railroad war board. It is estimated that at least five pounds of food is needed each day for each of the 1,000,000 men now training for the National army and National Guard divisions.

Railroad executives are giving close attention to transportation problems presented by the task of moving this great quantity of foodstuffs.

The task involves the supplying of all the necessities of life for 16 non-productive cities of a population of 40,000 each, and 56 smaller cities ranging in population from 300 to 3,000.

Golden Eagle Killed.
Elwood, Ind.—A golden eagle, measuring 7½ feet between the tips of its extended wings, was killed southwest of Elwood, near Aroma, recently, by Arza Leeman. The bird was brought here to be mounted. Leeman was sowing wheat when the eagle flew over his head and alighted in a nearby wood. Running to the house, he obtained a shotgun and brought down the bird at the first shot.

SHE HAD HEARD OF TY COBB

Old Lady Confuses Ball Player's Name With Coscob—Waits Long for Train to Be Called.

One day a few months ago a wisened old woman, clad in a quaint fur coat, sat for two hours in the lobby of a New York hotel, clutching a leather grip. Several bell boys attempted to relieve her of the bag, but she motioned them away with a frightened gesture. Finally one of the managers approached and asked if he could aid her in any way.

"Yes. Tell me when the train for Ty Cobb goes?" she asked with a sigh. "I've been watching that man for two hours, waitin' for him to call a train, but he hasn't called once." And she pointed to the resplendent door man who stands at the top of the steps inside the main entrance of the hotel.

"But this is not a station; it's a hotel," the manager told her. "Ain't this the Grand Central station?" the old woman asked. "I got off the subway and walked where they told me, and I ended up here."

The manager assured her that she had wandered into the wrong building, and then he asked again where she was going.

"I'm going on the New Haven railroad to Ty Cobb, Connecticut," she said. "I live in Brooklyn, and I'm going to see my son-in-law."

AMERICANS GO THE LIMIT

Speed of Motorcycles Used by United States Soldiers Attracts Attention in Paris.

All Paris is familiar now with the sight of huge motorcycles ridden by big fellows in campaign hats and gaided through the streets at alarming speeds by sure and steady hands, says a war correspondent. It seems that the ordinary French motorcycle has something like three horsepower, while these American military motorcycles develop 11 horsepower. This leads the French to observe that Americans love power and a lot of it. In their machines they must have it.

One of the Paris papers has been at pains to look up a record made in a 24-hour race on the Sheephead Bay track not long ago. Somebody on a mechanical red devil with two wheels maintained during that period, it seems, an average speed of a hundred miles an hour. The French commentator notes the figures, and hopes that the American staff motorcyclists who carry dispatches between American officers and the various bureaus of the French war department will not make it a point of national honor to equal the Sheephead Bay record on the Boulevard Saint-Germain. One fancies that the Frenchman who makes the suggestion—mildly, as he says—really thinks that the mad Americans are quite capable of going anywhere as fast as their machines will let them.

Educated Women in Russia.

The educated woman in Russia, even prior to the revolution, enjoyed a position of freedom equal to that of any other country in the world. She was frequently found as owner and manager of large factories and estates; she got her degrees at the universities along with men; she was given posts as teachers of all kinds, including professorships at men's universities, and she practiced medicine and dentistry. There was a marked tendency to encourage her entering the legal profession, and the constitutional democrats in the duma wanted to admit her to the duties of jury service. When women teachers and professors had served twenty years they were entitled to retire on a government pension, and if they died and were survived by husbands, the pensions continued during their husbands' lives.

Backward.

James was standing beside the cradle of his month-old brother, trying to quiet him, when his mother came in and picked the baby up. After picking him up, she said to the father: "I really do not know what is the matter. Joseph will be eleven months old tomorrow and he has only two teeth." James said: "Gee, that ain't nothing. Grandma's eighty years old and she only has one."

Acquitted.

When a young man eloped with a Springfield girl not yet of age, the father of the young woman caused his arrest on a charge of disturbing the peace. When in court it was shown that father was asleep when the elopement occurred and that he did not waken for some time afterward, the young man was acquitted.—Kansas City Times.

A Full Order.

A high-school girl recently inquired of a librarian: "Have you a book on 'American education in the twelfth century'?"—Christian Register.

The Gentle Cynic.

"Few men are reformed by marriage, although many are regulated," is the deliberate opinion of the Milwaukee Daily News.

First Newspaper Woman.

It is said that the first newspaper woman was an American, Mrs. Anne Royall, who was not only the first woman journalist, but the first woman to own and edit a newspaper. It is also curious that she is said to have originated the idea of "Interviews." She was born in Maryland in 1760, put her first printing press on Capitol Hill in Washington, D. C., and published a small weekly, first called the Washington Paul Pry and later the Huntress.

Preserving Worn Surfaces.

There are sometimes places on the exterior of a house where the paint gets worn off and which cannot be retouched without making a "botch job" of it owing to the difficulty of mixing the new paint to match the adjoining color which has faded. To preserve the wood in such spots until the house can be repainted, apply two coats of linseed oil with a rag. This will improve the appearance also. — Popular Science Monthly.

Radium in Dew.

An Italian university professor claims to have found radium in ordinary dew.

Lead Pencils Spread Disease.

An outbreak of diphtheria in an English town was traced to the habit of schoolchildren wetting lead pencils in their mouths?

Food and Health Value of Oranges and Grapefruit

It is an exceedingly fortunate thing that there has come about in the past two or three years a better understanding of the food and health values of citrus fruits.

In this period of great scarcity of staple food products, the knowledge that oranges and grapefruit possess the elements of food and health value will cause them to be eaten freely by many people who formerly regarded them as luxuries.

This not only will have the effect of keeping the American public in better health and able to do more of the work now demanded of it but also will release vast quantities of staple foods for shipment across the water for our soldiers and their allies.

That citrus fruits have a place as foods and in preserving health has been made known to the people of this country by the educational work of cooperative organizations of growers, led by the Florida Citrus Exchange. Now the facts have been recognized by high authorities and the government officials are teaching them.

The housewives of the nation have learned to look for the Sealdsweet trademark and the name of the Florida Citrus Exchange as their guaranty of quality in Florida oranges and grapefruit. Growers who ship through the Exchange will benefit in larger degree than those who do not, from the broader field of consumption now open to citrus fruits. Join the Exchange and feel these benefits in bigger net returns for your fruit. The Exchange also will market your vegetables.

For further information consult the manager of the Exchange packing house or sub-Exchange nearest you or write the business manager of the Florida Citrus Exchange at Tampa, Florida.
